Pony League Sign-Up To End

With Monday, March 28, being the deadline for boys to sign up to participate in the Pony League baseball program this year, Ronnie Onstead, player agent for the league announced that 36 boys had signed up through Wednesday.

Onstead said that boys interested in playing are to bring their birth certificates to Onstead's Furniture Store on PHELPS AVE. not later than Monday to be eligible to play.

and asking them to join in the efforts. There are possibly others who were not contacted,
we would encourage you to hear these WTCC representatives out and then join in the work helping West Texas grow.

One choice bit of information
we ran across in an Almanac
the other day concerns the currency of the United States. Since you never know when someone may ask you whose picture is on the $100,000 bill, and you happen to have left yours at home or in the bank, you can tell them it's a good likeness of President Wilson.

WORKERS NEEDED

Work On U.S. 385 Camper Park To Begin

Earl Luce, who is coordinating efforts to establish a camper park on U.S. 385 in the eastern portion of the city, said Wednesday work will begin on the facilities Thursday. In making his statement Luce said to hold down the cost, and to expedite the work, volunteer labor was being sought. The first phase of the project which is being coordinated with the county, city and Chamber of Commerce is the establishment of barbecue pits and covered picnic tables. Material for the project is being donated by various Littlefield firms.

Luce said the proposed park,
adjacent to the youth baseball fields, will have eight spaces for campers, with each space being sponsored by a local merchant.
The spaces will have lights,
water and gas available for the visitors, as well as the picnic tables and cooking pits.

"Anyone who has a little time and is interested in working to help improve our city, is invited and welcomed to come out and help get the project started," Luce said.

"The rest site is being constructed as a convenience to travelers who are passing through our town. We feel like it will be used to great extent,
and could be a factor in encouraging these people to spend more time in the Littlefield area," Luce stated. The tourist business is becoming one of the most sought after industries in the nation, and we think Littlefield is in a prime position to get its share providing it can offer something to the visitors,
this comment from the sponsors

The winners of purple ribbons denoting first place ratings in the junior and high school divisions will have their displays
entered in the Lubbock Science Fair later this year.

Scouts Going To Crafts Show

More than 125 Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts from Littlefield will participate in the District Camp and Crafts Show of the George White District Saturday afternoon at Levelland.
The Camp and Craft Show will start at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Texas National Guard Armory at Levelland and is scheduled to run until about eight or nine o'clock Saturday evening.

Cub Scouts from Littlefield
Packs 666 and 641 and Boy Scout Troops 638 and 641 will all have displays on exhibition at the show.

This year for the first time the shows are being held on a district basis rather than one show for the entire area.

Science Fair Set Saturday

The annual Science Fair for Littlefield students will be held Saturday, March 26, at the Senior High School cafeteria.

Jim Robertson, Junior High School science teacher, said that the judging will be done early Saturday morning and the display will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Robertson said that all students in the Littlefield school system from the primary grades through senior high school are eligible to enter displays in the science fair competition.

Entrants must bring their display to the cafeteria between 4 and 6:30 p.m. Friday evening and then pick up the display later Saturday evening or between 1 and 5 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

Full details about the test
will be found in the bulletins of information, available at the boards. Purpose of the test is to furnish information to the students' draft board.

Postal Increase Set Saturday

Increases in money orders, insurance, registry, certified mail and C.O.D. rates will become effective March 26, 1966
Postmaster T.A. Henson said today.

The cost of operating these five special services now exceeds revenues by $60 million annually. The fee increases will narrow the cost-revenue gap by $36 million, based on business handled in Fiscal Year 1965.

Fees for money orders, registry and C.O.D. were last changed in 1961; insurance and certified mail in 1957.

The fee changes, announced in the January 11th Federal Register and confirmed in the register on February 25th, are put into effect under the existing administrative authority of the Postmaster General.

The increases include:
MONEY ORDER FEES: Domestic and international money order fees will be increased by 5 cents.

INSURANCE FEES: The minimum fee bracket will be increased from $10 to $15 and the minimum fee will be 20 cents instead of 10 cents. The revised insurance fees will be as follows: $0.01 - $15 ... 20
cents; 15.01 - 50 ... 30 cents;
50.01 - 100 ... 40 cents; 100.01
- 150 ... 50 cents; and 150.01
- 200 ... 60 cents.

REGISTRY FEES: The present 60 cents and 75 cents fees will be combined into a single fee at 75 cents for values up to $100. Registry fees for articles valued in excess of $100 will remain unchanged.

Chamber Committee Studies Agricultural Diversification

Diversification in Lamb County...why not??

This pertinent question was the topic of discussion of the second meeting of the year of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce Agricultural Development Committee, Tuesday afternoon.

The committee is seeking an answer to this rhetorical question which has been asked more and more each year as interest in new irrigated acreage becomes available from cotton reductions.

In the past couple of years,
circumstances have brought the problem into closer focus,
as the declining cotton prices and stringent controls tend to discourage cotton production.

Another compelling factor is the success growers in neighboring counties have had with a cash crop other than cotton and grain.

One possible answer to the question was presented by Sam Thomas, manager of agricultural development for the Southwestern Public Service Company, who reported to the committee on the possibility of cattle feeding operation.

As a specific Thomas pointed to the growing of ensilage as a feed for cattle and the actual feeding operation, by area farmers, Thomas said, "As a cash crop, coupled with a feeding operation, silage has returned a net income of $300 to $700 per acre for the grower." "The cost," Thomas said, "of conversion can range depending on at what scale the farmer wants to operate. Several growers have gotten into the business for as little as $2000, others have gone as high as $8000 for an operation that would feed 200 head of cattle." While Thomas did not make any recommendation, as to the route the committee might investigate, he suggested that tours be arranged to see what has been done in the area of cattle feeding.

The committee is headed by Troy Armes, and is designed to investigate various areas of diversification that can be recommended to farmers, as the cotton production becomes less appealing.

Should the committee be successful with coming up with a pilot program it is hoped some growers will devote some acreage to investigating the possibility of other cash crop.

The committee plans to meet again next week and hopes to have some proposal to make for the consideration of the farmers.

Track Team Sets 4 Records

The Wildcat track team broke four meet records and tied a fifth as they scored 89 1/3 points last Saturday in the Levelland track meet to finish
second behind Snyder.

The new meet records set by the Wildcats were in the 220 yard dash, the 440 yard run and both the sprint and mile relay events while Fred Koontz tied the pole vault mark with a leap of 12 feet.

Billy Wayne Henderson accounted for the new 220 yard mark with a timing of 22.5 in the preliminaries than romped home in 22.6 to win the final.

Larry Schovajsa broke the 440 yard run mark by a full second as he won the event in 49.4 and then anchored the two relay teams with their breaking record marks of 43.3 in the 440 yard relay and 3:29.8 for the mile relay.

On the winning mile relay team with Schovajsa were Henderson, Bernard Wall and Wil-
mar Williams while Henderson, Steve Lewis and Richard Wright were the other members of the 440 yard team. Wright also picked up additional points for the Wildcats with fifth place finishes in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes.

Other point getters for the Cats were Mike Grissom with a fifth place finish in both the low and high hurdle events, Hank Thompson fourth in the mile run and John Nail with a fifth place finish in the 880
yard run.

Coach Hal Stanislaw will split up his team this week with part of the team going to the Kermit Relays and other entered in the Springlake track meet.

Among the lamb entries,
which total 41, the fine wool division accounted for all but 14 of the entries as 27 lambs have been entered in the fine wool class with seven to be shown in the Southdown division and four and three respectively in the Crosses and Medium wool divisions.

In the calf competition the Hereford far outnumber the Angus entered in the show as 22
will be shown in the Hereford competition and only eight Angus calves.

The judging for the show will start at 5:30 p.m. Friday evening with the lamb judging the first on the agenda. A champion will be selected in each class and a Grand Champion
lamb will also be selected.

Following the lamb judging,
the five area boys who received gilts from the Sears Foundation will show their animals with the one judged the winner
to go to a Lubbock show later in the year.

Also scheduled for Friday
night will be the swine judging.
A lightweight and heavyweight division winner will be selected in the Duroc, Crossbred and Hampshire classes.

The winners in each class will vie for the Grand Champion and Reserve Champion Awards.

The calf judging will get underway at 9 a.m. Saturday morning with a Grand Champion and Reserve Champion to be selected.

The owner of each Grand Champion will receive a trophy with plaques going to the winners in each breed and ribbons to the other winners.

FFA Sweethearts and Flow-girls will present the trophies and ribbons with the Spade Sweetheart, Sue Holly and Flow-girl, Debbie Hall presenting the swine winners with their awards; Darlene Peel, Amherst Sweetheart and Darlene Dysart, Flowgirl of the Amherst FFA presenting the lamb awards and the Littlefield Sweetheart and Flowgirl, Jennie Turner and Jan
Holder will present the awards
to the winners in the calf competition.

Roy Neal Jones, of Olton and a Texas Tech graduate will judge the lambs with Buddy Winters, a Hampshire hog producer near Idalou will select the swine winners and Dr. Dixon Hubbard, beef cattle expert for the Extension Service in Lubbock has been selected as calf judge.

Commercial bidders will submit bids on the stock following the steer judging and the auction sale for individual animals, conducted by Luther Hill and J.W. Bitner Jr. will start promptly at 1 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

Donald Carr, Stock Show
president said that everyone is encouraged to come out to the show and participate in the auction. "The Board of Directors of the show feel that if the merchants and individuals come out to back the boys and girls that have entered animals in this year's show the show will continue to grow with each succeeding year."

An additional attraction for the children, young and old, will be a barnyard of baby farm animals and their mothers;

Some weeks nothing seems to right, and then there are other times when everything falls into place. This has been one of the latter ones when no matter what we did just didn't turn out as it was supposed to. First we got several meeting days missed, then we got several things wrong then we had the fortune of saying the author of the time honored poem
"Trees" was a lady.

About the only good thing to come out of a week of errors, advertisers take note, was many letters, calls and com-

many readers we have. Sometimes it's like someone was reaching you and looking over grateful.

According to the men who get it will be in good shape when the

Also, mothers of children four to six years of age who would like to participate in the Children's Story Hour are asked to register in the next few days, so it can be determined how many groups to prepare for and how many days a week will be needed for the Story Hour.

LIKES MOTHER'S COOKIES - Jay Neal Walker, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Walker is sampling his mother's cookies and thinks they are the greatest. Linda Joyce loves to cook and especially enjoys trying out new meat recipes. The Walkers live on a farm south of Littlefield. He is attending Tech and goes to South Plains College at night. She is sharing several of her favorite recipes with our readers this week.

SHARES RECIPE

Cooking Is Favorite Activity Of Mrs. Walker

Linda Joyce Walker believes in trying to keep her family healthy and happy and two ways of doing this is by preparing and serving nutritive meals and getting plenty of exercise.

Linda Joyce is the wife of Neal Walker and mother of three year old Jay Neal. They live on a farm about four miles south of Littlefield. Neal farms with his father, O.L. Walker, and attends Texas Tech three days a week. He will receive a BS degree in agriculture this spring.

Believing that education is important, Mrs. Walker has managed to arrange her time so that she can attend South Plains College, Levelland, two nights a week while Neal keeps Jay Neal. She is majoring in education.

Some nights after school or just a day of routine work around the house Linda Joyce finds herself pretty tense or tired. Her aunt in California, who had taken a course in layman's yoga, suggested she try some of these exercises. She sent her diagrams and instructions on a number of exercises and Linda now is really "sold" on them. No matter how tired she is she always exercises before retiring at night and finds it relaxes her and she rests much better.

She and Neal also get quite a bit of exercise riding bicycles. They sit Jay Neal on one of the bicycles with them and take off down the road. A few times they have ridden to town and back.

In the summer a favorite pastime of the Walkers is water skiing, a sport that Linda Joyce just learned this past summer. They also like to snow ski, and go to Russia for this occasionally.

Both Neal and Linda were reared in Littlefield, graduated from high school here. She went all three school here until her senior year when she stayed with her brother and family in Manhattan, Kansas and graduated there. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Wagner.

They are members of a First Baptist Church.

Linda Joyce spends a lot of time in the kitchen preparing meals and loves to try new recipes. She says it's pretty hard to resist eating or watch your weight when you enjoy cooking so much.

She is sharing with the readers three of her favorite recipes, one for chicken, one for meat loaf and one for cookies.

Monsieur Jean Bauchet is an art collector and a connoisseur of fine automobiles. He understands that quiet in a car means quality. After driving a '66 Ford XL, he said: "They would not have to make Paris streets so smooth if all cars rode like this."

Who says a '66 Ford rides quieter than Jean Bauchet's $12,000 Facel Vega?

Jean Bauchet!

Ford's Quiet Man, who recently toured Europe demonstrating the exceptional quality of the '66 Ford to owners of some of the world's most expensive cars, here discusses a '66 Ford XL with Monsieur Bauchet outside of Monsieur Bauchet's Paris home.

"Such smoothness, such silence," says Jean Bauchet. "Your Ford is quieter, M'sieu."

Ford's quiet quality is the result of advanced engineering features like a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" road vibrations. The strongest body ever on a Ford. But the quiet ride is just one of many reasons why you're ahead in a Ford all the way. Only Ford in its class offers a Stereo-Sonic Tape Player option that brings you over an hour of uninterrupted music of your choice, on each self-threading, snap-in tape cartridge. Magic Doorgate for wagons (standard equipment) that opens out like a door and down like a tailgate, depending on whether you are loading kids or cargo. Silent-Flo Ventilation (on 4-door hardtops) that brings in fresh air and gets rid of smoke and stale air with the windows closed. Even Ford's keys are special—they're double-edged so they fit in locks either side up. Visit your Ford Dealer and test-drive a '66 from Ford. See how many ways Ford can put you ahead in '66.

Chemicals Can Aid Fight Against Weeds In Crops

Weed control in cotton, always a major problem, may be even more so this year in parts of the state because of the moisture situation. Wet fields have kept land preparation at a snail's pace and weeds and grass growing, says Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist at Texas A&M University.

But, he adds, chemicals are available which can be used at planting time or later after the cotton is up and growing. Still one of the best machines for fighting weeds and grass, he says, is the rotary hoe equipped tractor and more than 15,000 were used last year. As for the pre-emergent chemicals, Elliott says the following are recommended for use in Texas: caparol, CIPC, dacthal, diuron, herbam, monuron and trifluralin. In the recommendations on the amounts to use and the kind of soils each works best on, available from the offices of county agents, Elliott emphasizes the effectiveness of the materials depend upon a proper application job and the use of the proper amount of the chemical.

The post-emergents recommended for use in Texas include caparol plus a surfactant, diuron plus a surfactant, DSMA plus a surfactant, herbicidal naphthas, sodium dalapon, and various oils for spot treating Johnsongrass. Elliott says flame cultivators may also be used on small weeds after the cotton is 8-10 inches tall and the stalk diameter around 3/16 of an inch.

Because of the complications involved in using chemicals in agriculture, Elliott recommends that producers contact the local county agent for details on their use. He adds that in all instances the recommendations from the manufacturer of the product as well as those based on research be followed to the letter.

Allen Roberts' Parents Honored On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Allen T. Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. H.H. Roberts, Lubbock, were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception in their home Sunday afternoon.

Hosts for the reception were their sons and daughters-in-law and their grandsons.

Granddaughters presided at the table covered with a lace cloth centered with yellow chrysanthemums. The anniversary cake was topped with miniature rings.

Approximately 75 guests attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts were married March 18, 1916, in Winters. They moved to a farm east of Lubbock in 1927 and into Lubbock recently.

Social Security Officials To Be Here March 29

An estimated 200 area persons age 72 or older who can qualify for social security payments under a recent change have not yet applied, according to Mr. John G. Hutton, social security district manager in Lubbock.

A little-known amendment allows persons now 72 or older to qualify for a special benefit with less work credit than is required for regular benefits. For example, a man who was at least 76, or a woman who was at least 73, in 1965 has to have only about nine months of covered work credited. Also, a widow who was at least 72 in 1965, whose husband either died or became 65 in 1954 or earlier, is eligible if her husband had about nine months of covered work.

This special benefit is a flat $35 a month, Mr. Hutton said. Wife's benefits of $17.50 a month are payable at age 72 to a woman whose husband is entitled under this provision, if she reaches 72 before 1969.

Mr. Hutton advised these persons to get in touch with the Lubbock social security office as soon as possible. They can apply for payments and enroll for Medicare at the same time.

Russia, which experienced another poor agriculture crop last year, purchased more than 9.8 million metric tons of wheat from Canada, Argentina and France.

A representative of the Lubbock Social Security Office will be in Littlefield on Tuesday March 29th in the County Courtroom at 9 a.m.

New cotton weed control cuts cost, risk and weather-worry

Shell announces Planavin* Herbicide. Read the 12 ways this remarkably efficient new pre-emergence control works—to help you make money on cotton and save money on weed control.

1. Planavin works with proved effectiveness. Kills germinating weeds by attacking growth cells in roots.
2. Planavin controls weeds month after month. It's chemically stable in soil, can't be diluted by water.
3. Planavin protects your fertilizer investment and soil moisture reserve right from the start. Controls most annual grasses and broadleaf weeds that compete strongly with cotton. (See weed list below.)
4. Planavin gives you the weed control you pay for—even if weather goes against you. Works in spite of drought or showers.
5. Planavin helps you cut control costs. Has measurably reduced the need for follow-up practices like hoeing, and cultivation. Gives weeds few opportunities to break through.
6. Planavin lets cotton grow more profitably. Keeps weeds from slowing down young growth needed for an early, heavy bottom crop. First class weed control also minimizes staining, guards quality.
7. Planavin stays put in the top layer of soil where most weed problems start.
8. Planavin is still effective even if you must replant. Will maintain its weed control as long as soil disturbance is kept to a minimum during replanting.
9. Planavin can be incorporated any time up to several hours after planting if something prevents you from working it into the soil immediately.
10. Planavin is ready and able to control weeds as soon as you apply it. Its weed control power works no matter if dry weather or rain follows application.
11. Planavin keeps on working if you have to come in with a touch-up cultivation. Actually works with shallow cultivation, killing weeds turned up by the cultivator so they can't reroot.
12. Planavin takes the guesswork out of your program. Takes the risk and disappointment out of weed control.

Grass Makes Its Own Food

BY BAILEY MAYO
Soil Conservationist can hold

Perhaps to gain a better understanding of how plants grow we can better understand the problem of producing grass. Now is the most critical time of the year as far as good management of grassland is concerned. Plants which have been dormant are beginning to green up and now shoots will soon be appearing. The plant has been drawing upon stored food reserved throughout the winter to live on and now is using up the last of these stored reserves to produce new leaves so that the food making process can begin anew.

Plant food is manufactured in the leaves and not, as many people suppose drawn from the roots. Grass can draw from stored reserves much like we draw from a bank account, we can do it for a short time but our money like stored plant food is soon depleted. We must add to our account or we, like the grass plant have nothing left to draw on.

Water entering the soil forms a film around each soil particle and dissolves some of the minerals present. Tiny root hairs come in contact with these films of water and absorb the mineral solution. These small roots carry the solution to larger roots, and these larger roots carry it to the stems and it is then transported to the leaves. The leaves take in carbon dioxide from the air through tiny pores. Using energy from the sun the leaves recombine the carbon with oxygen and hydrogen to make sugars, starches and fiber. Unused oxygen and water vapor escapes through the leaf pores.

The plant uses sugars, starches, proteins, oils, and fats to grow and reproduce itself. Animals get these food when they eat the foliage or seeds.

Repeated removal of green foliage causes a corresponding reduction in the plant root system. Top growth that is kept small cannot feed a large root system; neither can a stunted root system supply enough raw materials to support a large growth of stems and leaves.

A grass cover that is weak does not make efficient use of soil moisture and nutrients. As a result it does not provide the maximum amount of livestock feed. And it is not able to protect the soil from erosion by wind or water.

Good grass management means more grass, and good management usually provides a better quality of forage. Consider these facts and see if the more successful livestock enterprises are carrying out many of the suggested practices of rotation grazing, proper fertilizing and the timely application of irrigation water on improved pastures. Good management is easier after you understand the needs of the grass plant. If you value your grass keep plenty of leaf growth so this food factory can work properly.

The Women's Viewpoint

BY MRS. L.E. DUDLEY, Abilene
Too long in West Texas the woman's role has been visualized as the decoration of the banquet hall for the annual Chamber of Commerce meeting and to participate in the campaign to beautify our communities.

If this is all you are expecting from the women in your home town, you are failing to take advantage of one of the greatest reservoirs of available talent. Women will be able to help you in every phase of your community life and work as partners in your home town not only to make it a better place in which to live, but to make it more attractive to industry and the traveler.

Let me say at this point that I am not advocating that women be anything but women because therein is their greatest value, and to all of the "fairer sex" in West Texas, I say again and again -- "First of all, remember you are a lady."

But I do say that every community in West Texas should have a "Participation Team" and that on it should be the finest brains in that locality -- female and male.

What positions can the women of West Texas play on this team? They should be full partners in the field of industrial development because there are many important jobs a woman can perform in encouraging home grown industry to expand and in attracting outside industries to West Texas towns.

Women can help dig out the facts so badly needed by a community in search of industry. The compilation of necessary statistics is a time-consuming job, yet they are essential to industrialists and industrial prospects. Women are good at research and they should be called upon to assist.

Women should serve as equal partners on your "Participation Team" when market surveys are being done for prospective industry as well as making surveys of the available labor force.

Any industry which is considering moving to your city is interested in one thing above all. Is it a good place for its employees to live? Is it attractive? Does it have good schools? Does it offer cultural and recreational advantages? And does it have a good, wholesome atmosphere for children? The role for women here is obvious. Men may build cities, but women make them fit to live in.

Many cities spend money and talent on industrial foundations that should be spending it for improving the town...its appearance...its cultural, educational and recreational facilities. Women can organize, motivate and provide leadership for beautification projects. Attractive homes, well-kept lawns and beautiful flowers are certainly an asset in a community's industrial development promotional program.

West Texas women can play another important role in industrial development...entertaining of wives of industrial prospects who visit your city on site selection and inspection tours...so call on the female part of your "Participation Team" to entertain these visiting ladies and show them your community in depth. There are many examples of where this has meant the difference in an industry coming to town.

After you get an industry, you want to keep it and see that it gets started off on the right foot. Women also can be of material assistance in their field because they can work with the newcomers in introducing them to the schools, educational, cultural and civic life of your communities. They can sponsor receptions, coffees, teas, help them find find dentists, doctors, music teachers, scout troops.

Women's God-given perception of evaluating prices and determining what will or won't be bought can be of great assistance to your existing industry in helping them to find customers, popularize products, and attracting attention to things they are making. Too many of us forget that it is necessary for industry to make money if they are going to continue to operate.

Women can help establish small industries. In fact, women can run them. Such things as craft and hobby shops, staffing retail outlets of existing industries...these small industrial payrolls can be important to a town.

Many West Texas cities have called upon women to assist in the investigatory aspect...when an industry is prospecting...others have used them when employees of an industry have come to a city, but I know of no city that has set up a continuing appreciation program for existing industry whereby constant visits are made with wives and families to be sure that they have taken advantage of those initial contacts that were made and have thereby become a part of the mainstream of the community. West Texas women could do this project without the help of men.

Women can more than carry their part of the responsibilities on your "Participation Team" as it works to develop the vital and lucrative tourist industry in West Texas.

Other INFOCADE '66 speakers will tell you that one of the greatest barriers we have to combat is to be sure that local people understand and appreciate tourist attractions, our ability to draw the travelers to them and to give some positive reason why they should be visited.

West Texas women can be of great assistance in this program because they have the time and the talents to get this story across on the local level and we all know that word of mouth advertising is important to the tourist development field. I know that all of you have heard the old gag "telegraph, telephone, tell-a-woman."

The travelers to your city must be made to feel at home. There must be a friendly feeling prevalent and they must know that they are welcome. Here, again, women can excel.

We have a compelling necessity in West Texas of dispelling the image that our region is one of the vast desert wastelands. Every single West Texan should know about, talk about, and write about the thousands of swimming pools and lakes we have, the mountains and streams, the beautiful parks, the year-round air-conditioned hotels and motels, as well as all of the scenic, recreational and historic attractions. Women could furnish leadership in mailing out millions of picture postcards or brochures that would dispel this image. They could write letters and give speeches.

West Texas does not have to take a backseat to any place in the world on things for the traveler to see and do and this includes natural and man-made attractions.

Give thought to calling upon the womanpower in your commuunities to work on attractive maps, lists, brochures, arrange tours, and don't forget that students have shown that women make a great percentage of the decisions as to where the traveler will go and where he will stop. So consult these experts you didn't know you had and use their intuitive talents to help make your communities ready for the traveler.

Now, let's talk about politics. I think our West Texas women should be and I think most of them are interested in the science of government from the precinct level on up and are willing to participate in the mechanics of good government within the framework of the political party of their choice.

Here again, woman's intuition, her keen judgment of character, and her ability to sweep aside the irrelevant and get to the center of the issue is not being fully utilized in West Texas. Too many of the men leaders think that politics is still a man's game, but I say that West Texas women could be of great help in seeing that their respective communities get a fair shake in the political field and they would approach it as ladies.

In my work as President of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs and now as Legislative Chairman of the General Federation, I have observed the excellent work that women have done in getting better government.

My experience on both the State and National levels convinces me once again that grass roots participation in public affairs as envisioned by our Founding Fathers is the only way we are going to be able to preserve our democracy.

So, as you go about working closer with your partners on your local "Participation Team," may I suggest that male and female alike give thought to the fact that each community should approach every political race and every political issue by applying the these "What is good for my home town?" This may seem at first to be selfish, but then when you project this to everyone else's home town, those people elected and the legislation that will be passed will actually mean that a majority of the people were favorable.

In Legislative races, we should all realize that if we expect Legislators on the State or National level to work after they are elected, we had better work to help get them elected. But women and men should also realize that campaigns cost money and that the citizens in each community of West Texas should be prepared to contribute their pro-rata part of these expenses.

In dealing with the many facets of public affairs, it would be well to ask the women in your respective communities to make a study of the old Town Hall that was used so successfully in the early days of our country, whereby every citizen would have a right to voice his opinion. Modern innovations of these sacred institutions have been tried in several West Texas communities lately...Fort Worth has done great work in their field as has Hamilton, and here again, women in your communities could take care of all the details.

I also recommend for the consideration of the officials of Chambers of Commerce present the fact that the leadership of women is needed in these organizations. You will find their positive thinking a real asset in your planning and project activities. They also would serve you well as ambassadors of good will.

Many Chambers in West Texas have a women's division. Others have women's advisory committees and still others have women's committees. In the event that none of these are appropriate for the needs of your particular communities, may we suggest that the Chambers of Commerce furnish the leadership in forming a Women's Presidential Council, whereby the heads of the women's organizations would be able to supply their ideas and suggestions through this vehicle.

Your business communities and particularly the retail merchants in your respective cities should be vitally concerned with the opinion of female leadership. Women control 82 percent of the buying power of this nation and last year alone women in West Texas spent 5.7 billion dollars.

Progressive towns that attract industry and the traveler must have attractive retail stores and merchants must practice good merchandising procedures. Women can be most helpful in achieving this goal and should be called upon for advice and counsel.

As spokesman for the 1,651,302 women, I urge the male leadership of this great region to begin immediate consideration of a full partnership for a more complete utilization of all community manpower.

Work as partners with women in your respective communities to create economic opportunities, attract industry, travelers, and to help create a spirit of civic responsibility. If you expect West Texas to grow and prosper, it is absolutely essential for the women to like to live in West Texas. It's just that simple.

So put us on your "Participation Team" whether we be in the home or in the business world, to share with you a responsibility of making West Texas communities better places in which to live, more progressive, more friendly, and more attractive to business. Together

Precautions Listed On Interplanting Crops

Texas cotton producers have many things to consider, including planting patterns, under the 1966 cotton program. Among the alternate planting patterns are skip row planting and the interplanting of certain crops.

Limitations are often placed on the harvest date of a crop as so many days after the last application of chemical control measures. There is a serious problem here when you consider that grain sorghum is normally approaching the harvest period at the time when most late season cotton insect pest populations reach their peak.

Under some conditions, certain pesticide residues will remain in the soil a year or longer. In rotation systems involving several crops, and several growing seasons, caution should be used with the pesticides that are known to leave such residues.

Federal regulations restrict the use of certain agricultural chemicals to specific crops. These regulations, problems of application and the manufacturer's recommendations concerning the use of pesticides on crops which might be interplanted should be well understood by the grower as he makes his planting decisions, the Extension Service explains.

Producers must also normally exercise caution when using chemicals to avoid drift and residual effects on other crops. Prevention of drift is more difficult where two crops are grown close together, and is usually impossible on the adjacent rows, or where interplanting is practiced. The contamination of a feed or food crop, with chemicals not registered for use on that crop or with residues above the established tolerances set by the Food and Drug Administration, can result in condemnation of the crop or livestock products associated with that crop.

In addition to residue problems, certain insecticides and certain herbicides, although registered for one particular crop may cause considerable damage to another crop.

There are other matters cotton producers should consider at this time. Castorbean seeds are poisonous to man and to animals. Contamination of other crop products, at harvest time, should be avoided. Castorbean seeds also have allergenic substances that can cause strong allergic reactions to some people. The protective precautions for these allergic people are relatively easy to follow in solid plantings, but may present more problems when interplanted with another crop.

Another consideration concerns the actual harvesting of a cotton crop that has been interplanted with grain crops. The harvesting and ginning of cotton, harvested after the vesting of the grain crop, may be adversely affected by trash or excess plant parts in the field from the other crop.

One final consideration also a matter that affects cotton producer at the time of harvest. Growth rates and maturity of the cotton between outside and inside row (four-row pattern (multiple alternative) differ and create harvesting problems.

For specific information on the safe use of pesticides and other assistance in your production planning, visit your local county agricultural Extension agent.

● Card of Thanks A-10

In appreciation for the many acts of kindness expressed in our bereavement, the family of Virgil C. Davis would like to share a poem in memory of him, written by his grandson, Gary Davis, age 17.

How can it be expressed to one
 That their care in a time of need
 Is more than appreciated - and to some
 Could mean that love has planted its seed?
 How we need others in a time as these
 Is unanswerable, but others ease the pain.
 Our loss can never be forgotten as soon as we please
 And in our hearts we know that death must come again.
 How can we ever repay those who show their care?
 We could never sustain the burdens of our load
 If it weren't for those we knew would be there.
 Our never-ending thanks to those whose kindness was shown.

We are sincerely grateful to friends and neighbors for food, flowers and cards that were sent and for their many kind acts of sympathy during our sad bereavement. Our appreciation cannot be adequately expressed.

Mrs. W.A. Epperly and families

Q - Is all the interest I get on my savings account taxable or just the amount over $10?

A - All your interest must be reported as taxable income. Banks and other savings institutions are required to report to us the payments they make of $10 or more to any person during a calendar year.

Q - Do men in the Armed Forces have to pay tax on their pay?

A - Unless they are serving in a combat zone -- Vietnam -- their pay is subject to income tax. Members of the Armed Forces serving in Vietnam or hospitalized as a result of such service, are entitled to an exclusion from gross income. All compensation to enlisted men and warrant officers for such service is excludable. For commissioned officers: the first $200 per month of such compensation is excludable.

Q - I have a company pension. Is it taxable?

A - The full amount of pension received is taxable if you did not contribute to the cost of the pension. If your company contributed to the pension, that portion paid by the company will represent taxable income to you.

The instructions for Schedule B (Form 1040) explain how to handle pensions. Copies are available at local IRS offices.

Q - My uncle gave me $200 last Christmas. This money brought my income to over $600. Does that mean I have to file a return?

A - The gift from your uncle is not taxable income and does not have to be reported. A return is therefore not required since your taxable income was under $600 for the year. However, if any tax was withheld from your earnings, a return has to be filed to obtain a refund.

Q - Someone told me that when you drive your car to a doctor's office or hospital you may deduct your travel costs as medical expenses. Is that right?

A - Transportation costs to obtain medical care or treatment are a deductible expense if you otherwise qualify for medical expense deduction, may deduct 5 cents a mile for this purpose when you are allowed to obtain treatment. You don't get this deduction if you are going to visit someone in the hospital or if your doctor has advised a change of environment for you.

Q - What is the general rule on bond interest? Which is taxable and which are not?

A - Generally bonds issued by private business and by U.S. Government yield interest that is fully taxable. Interest on bonds issued by states, municipalities, the District of Columbia or U.S. possessions is not taxable.

Q - What is the maximum on which you can compute credit against tax for retirement income?

A - The maximum is $12,000. However, under common property law in Texas, retirement income is community property. When both husband and wife are 65 or over (or the income is public retirement income) they can deduct a maximum of $1,524 even though the retirement income may have been excluded by only one spouse.

Q - I lent money to a friend of mine. He's lost his job and it looks like he won't be able to pay me back. Can I deduct the amount I lent?

A - If there is no likelihood that the debt may be covered even by going to court, then you may deduct the amount of the loan as a short-term capital loss. This should be reported on Schedule D.

Note that loans to children and other relatives generally are not considered legal debts and cannot be deducted. Should you recover the amount of debt at any time in the future, it should be included in your income, subject to special rules.

Q - I've got a new job worth hundreds of miles away from home. Until I get my first move I've been commuting weekends. Can I deduct my travel costs of what I pay on these costs or hotel bills?

A - Your home for local tax purposes is your principal place of employment. In the situation you describe, it would seem that you would not be able to deduct either your travel or lodging costs.

If your company had assigned you temporarily to another location, your travel and lodging expense costs could well be deductible items. This subject is discussed at some length in Publication 463, "Travel, Entertainment and Gift Expenses." A copy of this publication may be obtained free from local IRS offices.

Q - Is there any limit on what you can take when you file the minimum standard deduction?

A - Yes there is. The limit is $500 for married persons filing separately and $1,000 for single persons or married couples filing jointly.

Q - How much can you pay in dividends before you have to pay taxes on them?

A - The first $100 in qualifying dividends is not taxable. Since dividends are community income in Texas, the husband and wife may each exclude $50 regardless of which spouse earned the dividend.

Q - My wife was ill for several weeks last year and we had to get someone to come in and look after her. Can we deduct that cost?

A - The illness would have to last at least 90 days before you would be eligible for the child care deduction. For other details on this subject may be found on page 9 of Form 1040 instructions and IRS Document No. 5052, "Child Care." These publications are available at no charge from local IRS offices.

Q - Can I deduct the fee paid an accountant to help me prepare my tax return?

A - Yes, you can. If, however, you are a cash-basis taxpayer, note that this expense is deductible in the year it is paid. If the accountant did this work and was paid in 1966, the expense won't be deductible in 1967, when you file your return.

Q - I've heard that students get a double tax exemption. Is that right?

A - In one sense it is. A full-time student who files his own return claims an exemption for himself. If his parent provides more than one-half the support then the parent may claim an exemption for him. Providing other dependency exemptions are met,

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

Both Democratic and Republican state party leaders have emphasized that victory in the U.S. Senate race is their top objective of 1966.

"We are ahead and we plan to stay ahead," Sen. John G. Tower told the GOP state executive committee.

"I am told the Senate election in Texas is the No. 1 race in the nation this year," said Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, one of the top Democratic senatorial nominees, at a meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Democrats selected Austin for their September 20 state convention, at which control of their party for the next two years will be decided.

Republicans, who have no serious convention controversy in sight, will meet in San Antonio.

Both party executive committees will return to Austin on May 17 to canvass first primary elections, and Democrats will certify run-off candidates, if any.

Democrats rejected a proposal by gubernatorial candidate Stanley C. Woods of Houston to hold a May 7 referendum on whether Texans prefer "annual" or "permanent" registration.

SDEC Chairman Will D. Davis held that a group petitioning for a referendum on a constitutional amendment to legalize pari-mutuel horse and dog race wagering did not have its papers in order by deadline.

A Democratic committee resolution was designed to bring delegate strength in district caucuses at the 1966 state convention in line with new senatorial reapportionment. Another would discourage manipulation of county convention voting strength of new and recently-altered precincts.

Republicans named John Go-lsbee of Jacksonville and Roy L. Jindra of Alice to the GOP committee to fill vacancies.

Democrats picked Mrs. Gilbert Theriot of San Angelo to succeed Mrs. S. St. George Tucker, also of San Angelo, on SDEC.

OIL INDUSTRY ON UPSWING -- Texas Railroad Commission, concerned as to how industry would operate in a national emergency, postponed setting statewide oil allowable until it can evaluate "the escalating market demand and underproduction."

State reached 33.2 per cent of potential factor this month, highest since May, 1959, and the sixth straight increase.

Major oil company spokesmen painted a bright picture for the industry at the proportion hearing, predicting demand for petroleum products will go up three to 3.5 per cent this year. Those who complained a year ago about surplus oil and gas stocks emphasized need to build up reserves.

MINING BATTLE -- A Houston-based firm claims Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler is wrong in rejecting its sulphur mining claims in West Texas area (Pecos County) and has asked State Supreme Court to enjoin further action under a scheduled sale of state leases on May 3.

Duval Corporation says a 1919 law gives it the right to stake claim on land to which the state has sold surface rights on payment of 50 cents an acre annual rental plus one-sixteenth royalty if minerals are produced.

Sadler claims the 1931 sealed-bid law nullified the 1919 act and that to allow leasing under the 1919 act might deprive the state permanent school fund of millions of dollars.

Sadler said he carefully considered all aspects of law and rights of three million school children before refusing to file mining claims of the Duval Corporation.

APPOINTMENTS -- Gov. John Connally named Randall C. Jackson, Abilene attorney with ranching and banking interests in Callahan County, to State Securities Board, Jackson succeeds Everett Fulgham, former Houstonite who moved to Arkansas.

Connally appointed Clifton W. Cassidy Jr. of Dallas, feed mill and savings and loan association official, to Texas Public Safety Commission. He succeeds W.E. Dyche Jr. of Houston.

Joseph A. Potts of San Antonio will succeed Don Marshall as director for San Antonio River Authority.

Dr. R.C. Jordan, Austin, has been appointed director of medical care administration services (medicare) in the state; Dr. Albert C. Randall has been named director of the state's consolidated tuberculosis control services; and Dr. Robert B. Skinner has been appointed director of tuberculosis hospitals at Sanatorium, Harlingen, San Antonio and Tyler.

CATTLE QUARANTINE -- A cattle scabies outbreak resulted in quarantining of interstate shipments of cattle from six Northwest Texas counties.

Counties under U.S. quarantine effective March 8 are Floyd, Briscoe, Castro, Hale, Lamb and Swisher.

Epidemiology work and tracebacks on cattle involved are under direction of Texas Animal Health Commission and U.S. Department of Agriculture animal health division. A U.S. inspector has been assigned to each county.

AG RULES -- An attorney appointed to represent indigent defendants in criminal trials is entitled to full compensation, whether or not he appears in court for a full day or part of a day, and he is entitled to compensation for each court appearance he makes for his client, Attorney General Carr held. However, if the attorney represents more than one defendant on the same day, he is entitled to compensation only once on that day.

In other opinions, Carr concluded that:

* A county judge or clerk can't collect, impose or record costs assessed by a corporation court in criminal cases and a court can't tax any costs against a defendant in a criminal case.

* Witness fees must be filed with the Comptroller's Office within 12 months after they become due and payable and, if they aren't filed, the fees are barred. Also the Legislature has the authority to appropriate funds for the fees.

* County attorney of Matagorda County does not have duty to act as "prosecuting attorney" under uniform reciprocal enforcement of support act.

* A surety will be considered in default on a bail bond after judgment of forfeiture has been made final and is unsatisfied.

WATER COMMISSION BACKS DOWN -- Texas Water Rights Commission backed down on a proposed new rule withholding water bond approval in unprotected coastal areas.

Instead, future bond approval orders relating to such areas will include a warning of possible danger from high water or hurricane storms. These warnings will become part of land abstracts within such districts.

Opponents of Commission's proposed new rule claimed it would discourage real estate development along coast.

Joyce Thompson Receives Honor

Joyce Thompson, junior at Texas Technological College, was honored Sunday at a special recognition ceremony in the Student Union.

A special recognition service was held on the occasion on which college pays tribute to those students who, during the year, have contributed with distinction to the college in the fields of scholarship, athletics, leadership.

She attended North Texas State University on a music scholarship the fall semester of 1962, which she transferred to Texas Technological College as a sophomore in mathematics.

Immediately following the recognition service, an informal tea was held in the Tech building, honoring the students receiving recognition.

Gen Telephone Develops New Microwave System

Development of a laboratory model of a light-weight microwave communications system capable of short-range transmission of television signals has been announced by General Telephone & Electronics Corporation, parent company of General of the Southwest and Southwestern States.

The experimental system's low-power microwave beam is generated by a tiny solid-state device which is powered by a standard 30-volt battery. Together, they represent approximately 1/50th the weight of comparable equipment presently used to produce a microwave signal in commercially available systems.

Dr. Lee L. Davenport, president of General Telephone & Electronics Laboratories, which designed the laboratory model "represents a first step toward development of low-cost, closed-circuit direct TV communications between schools, hospitals and other facilities without the need for underground wires and cables."

The experimental system will be demonstrated in March at the annual convention of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers in New York City. Dr. Davenport noted, however, that at least two years of further development work will be required before application on a commercial basis can be considered.

"The Light Was Green"

At busy corners all over the country stand familiar machines, designed to help automate justice. We call them traffic signals, and they deliver a clear and simple rule of law: green means go, red means stop.

Unhappily, justice is far too complicated for total automation. The signals do help, but they cannot give a final answer. In fact, they are sometimes no more than a starting point in the process of telling right from wrong.

For example: A motorist, sued for knocking down a pedestrian, offered this defense in court:

"The light was green when I entered the intersection, so I had a right to go through."

But the pedestrian too had started across lawfully, on a green light. The motorist was held liable for relying blindly on the signal, not giving the pedestrian a fair chance to complete his crossing. As one judge phrased it:

"A green light is not a command to go, but only a limited permission."

In another case a motorist was held negligent, again in spite of a green light, for colliding with an ambulance. Evidence showed that the ambulance had its siren on, that others heard it plainly, and that the motorist's window was down and his radio off.

Nor does a green light, beckoning in the distance, justify bad driving in an effort to get there before it changes.

One motorist, with that in mind, crowded close behind the car ahead of him. When the light changed to amber, the front car was able to make a proper stop. But the following motorist could not. Result: a bad crash, for which the impatient driver was duly held liable.

Just as green doesn't always mean go, neither does red always mean stop. For instance, emergency vehicles are often given the right by local law to go through a red light.

Yet even this special right is not clear-cut. Thus it was held negligent for an ambulance driver to race through a red light at a dangerous corner, without sounding his siren, when there was no medical need for haste.

The court held that even an ambulance must respect the one bedrock rule that underlies all the rest: SAFETY FIRST.

If you take a minute to check our list of winning vehicle identification numbers, you may know how it feels this week.

The contest's in its last week. So hurry. Here's how it works. Look at the first symbols (the prefix) on your vehicle identification slip. Then look at the symbols listed above. If you find yours on the list, you've taken the first step toward being a winner.

Now go see your Buick dealer. He has a list of 72 winners posted in his showroom. If you see your entire vehicle identification number on the poster—the symbols plus the rest of the numbers—$2,332 cash is yours. (If your prefix isn't listed in this ad, don't give up. Your numbers may have been posted during the past six weeks. Every week 72 winners were posted on the showroom wall.

You may have missed your number before.) No slogan to invent, no puzzles to solve. In fact, you don't even have to own a Buick to have a winning number.

Contest Rules: Residents of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska may, if they prefer, send a postcard to R. L. Polk and Co., P.O. Box 1347, Detroit, Michigan 48231 and receive the weekly list of winning numbers by mail for comparison with their own vehicle identification number. An official entry form will be included. Sweepstakes limited to persons over 21 living in the continental U.S. Not valid in Florida or states where prohibited by law.

Hurry. Buick's $1,000,000 Sweepstakes is in its last week.

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See his Double-Checked used cars, too.
