game. That also goes for Ebbets Field in Brooklyn and some of baseball's other antiquated parks.

The demand of baseball officials to see this annual classic is so great that when the game moves to a small park hardly more than 15,000 fans can get tickets. Parking facilities also are poor around Shibe Park. And taxicabs are as scarce as tickets.

Baseball owners left here grip-ing over the transportation situation. Lou Perini, boss of the Boston Braves, had to take a trolley car back to his hotel. There wasn't one cab in sight when the rains came and many suits of clothes were ruined.

People throughout the country
are wondering why Brooklyn's no-hit pitcher, Carl Erskine, failed to be chosen by the National League

managers for the All-Star game.

Fact remains that even Dodger
pitcher Charley Dressen failed to pick Erskine. The reason: Dressen made his eight pitching selections the morning Erskine pitched his no-hit game.

Each NL pilot picks eight pitchers and the lists must be in the NL office eight days before the game. What's the rush? The days of the pony express have long departed.

Dressen could have requested NL
president Warren C. Giles to substitute Erskine for one of his other selections, but Charley didn't think of it. As a result, when Preacher Roe begged off to visit his ailing dad in Hardy, Ark., Durocher substituted Jim Hearn, one of his Giant pitchers.

Why everybody was surprised with the great three-inning pitching of the Phillies' Curt Simmons is a surprise in itself. Simmons is one of the greatest three-inning pitchers in baseball because he did not have to pace himself and his fast ball.

Simmons happens to be pitching better than in 1950 when he won 17 games for the Phillies. He finished only 11 of 27 starts that year and turned in but two shutouts.

This time at the All-Star game
he had a 7-2 record and four of his triumphs were shutouts.

"We had Jim Konstanty in 1950 and he was going real well," said Simmons. "If we didn't have him
I would have finished a few more of those close games."

Vic Wertz, the Detroit slugger, was one of the players peeved at deposed Tiger Manager Red Rolfe
and Coach Dick Bartell.

"Red didn't talk much but when he did he was sarcastic," said Wertz. "I didn't get to play much because Red thought I couldn't hit left-handed pitching. Seems I hit both kinds in 1950 when we finished second."

Wertz hit .304 in 1949, playing in 155 games and in 1950 he hit
.308 in 149 games.

Switching ball players in two-platoon fashion is one of the big reasons for dissension on the big league clubs today.

Bible Words to Live by

ROMANS 8:28 is the verse.
"For we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to His purpose."

For the reason that it affirms a positive philosophy of life, certified by every finding of human reasoning and underwritten by the promises of God. I found this the most difficult verse to accept, but once accepted, I find it the most reassuring, and after 50 years as a trusting Christian, I have never had one reason to doubt it.

Fish Take "Taxi" Around Dams

AP Newsfeatures

HARRISBURG, Pa.—Pennsylvania
is trying to win back part of its one-time million-dollar shad industry by offering a unique fish taxi service around three huge power dams.

"Operation shad" is an experiment hatched up by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission to see if the valuable food fish can still live in their old natural spawning grounds—the headwaters of the Susquehanna River.

A hundred years ago the annual spring shad run in the Susquehanna River from the Chesapeake Bay was one of the largest fish migrations in America. Construction of the first dam 40 years ago, ended that.

Living Habit Change

"We're trying to see if it's possible to make 'Mr. Shad' change his living habits and propagate in the Susquehanna instead of heading again for salt water," said Charles A. French, state fish commissioner.

So far, there have been reports that some of the 4,000 tagged fish used in the experiment already have been found downstream from the dams.

"I don't know how it's possible unless they swam right through the turbine intakes," French said.

If the shad insist on finding their way through or over the dam going downstream, French explained, a way must be found to bring them back up each spring. In that case, there is a possibility the "shad taxis" could be made a permanent operation.

The fish used in the experiment
were netted in the Chesapeake, hailed in special tank trucks to a destination upstream from the dam and released. The tank trucks can safely carry only about 20 fish each trip. The shad used ranged in size from 17 to 22 inches and weighed between 2½ and 4 pounds.

Gordon L. Trembley, chief aquatic biologist for the commission, explained that the taxi system is an extremely delicate operation.

Temperature Must Be Right

"The temperature of the water where the fish are netted, in the tank trucks and at the destination must all correspond or the fish will die," he said.

The commission is primarily anxious to learn whether the temperature and waterlife of the Susquehanna is still acceptable to the shad. The commonwealth is in the midst of a multi-million dollar clean streams program aimed at ending pollution.

Trembley said the commission,
working with fisheries biologists of the U.S. Wildlife Service, will make surveys later this summer among commercial fishermen in the Chesapeake to find out how many of the tagged adult shad survive.

"This will be some barometer of the program," he said.

Special Fishways

If the shad taxis prove too expensive or unworkable, the only other way of getting the fish up past the dams is the construction of special fishways—mechanical devices which permit the shad to climb over or around the dams.

Two fishways constructed at the Holtwood Dam prior to 1915 proved unsuccessful. Newer types, such as used for salmon on the Columbia River, may cost more than the shad
program is worth, French added.

TAXI RIDE—At top, shad are taken from "live tank" at right and placed in metal carrier for trip to tank truck. At left, fish are tagged at the back of tank truck. At right, fish are deposited in Susquehanna River.

Control Of Fly At Top Of List

The control of the fly menace comes at the top of the list of necessary public health measures which should be applied by every city, community, and individual in the state, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The most effective measure for fly control is to prevent their breeding. Flies breed in filth and about eight days are required to complete a life cycle. During her life time of several months, one fly lays from 500 to 1,000 eggs.

To eliminate flies, the breeding places must be destroyed. Manure piles, garbage, and other organic filth furnish the requirements of warmth, moisture, and food necessary for the propagation of the fly. Flies should be kept from contact with food or drink or utensils in which such food and drink are prepared and served. Likewise, they should be kept from access to privy vaults where they pick up the infections, which they later spread to humans by contact with the food and drink, and by unwashed hands and utensils.

See that your windows, doors, and porches are screened so that the stray fly from some careless neighbor will not molest your family. See that your grocer keeps meat, vegetables, and fruit screened from flies.

The use of DDT and other sprays for the control of all varieties of adult flies and fly larvae have come into wide usage. However, their use should be, after all trash and breeding places have been eliminated. Otherwise, spraying will give only temporary relief and a false sense of security.

Spacing Of Wells One-Half Mile Apart Suggested At Santa Fe Water Meeting

A group of Texas water conservationists paid a good-will visit to the New Mexico state engineer, John Bliss, in Santa Fe last week.

The visitors included Tom McFarland of Lubbock, president-manager of Hi-Plains Underground Water Conservation District; Willis Hawkins of Hart, C. J. Taylor of Lockney and George Broome of Anton, precinct directors of the district, and Arthur F. Duggan, Jr., of Littlefield, legal adviser.

They talked at length with Bliss, E. G. Minton, a Portales water engineer, and Clyde Conover, head of the U.S. Geological Survey in New Mexico, on the two states' mutual water problems.

Texas High Plains farmers and Eastern New Mexico farmers both draw water from the Portales underground water basin, but under vastly different conditions. New Mexico has a rigid state ownership-control law which requires permits for using water wells, prorate the amount of water pumped for irrigation purposes, and provides stiff fines for all offenders. The Texas law, recently put into operation through the newly-organized district, gives each man uncontested title to the water under his land and puts him on his honor to abide by conservation rules set up by locally-organized water districts. The rules may be enforced when necessary by court injunction to prevent such practices as waste and harmful spacing.

One suggestion advanced at the meeting, to avoid any possible conflict over pumping rights, was the spacing of wells one-half mile apart in a half-mile strip on each side of the Texas-New Mexico line.

The New Mexico geologist expressed the tentative opinion that well spacing in the mile-wide border belt would insure against any measurable drawdown from heavy pumping on either side. The matter will be investigated further before any action will be taken, Hi-Plains district officials said.

Bascom Giles Candidate For Re-election

Bascom Giles, Commissioner of the General Land Office of Texas, stated that the $100,000,000 Texas Veterans' Land Program which he sponsored has far exceeded his expectation both in number of applications and accomplishments to date.

As originator and administrator of the Texas Veterans' Land Program, Commissioner Giles has supervised the purchase of thousands of farm and ranch tracts for Texas veterans. Giles proposed the veterans' program in an unprecedented address by a state official before a joint session of the legislature.

The personable Giles, a native of Travis county, points out that during his administrations the two Texas school funds have been increased by more than $260,000,000.

Social Security Official To Be Here July 30

Mrs. Juanita Short, field representative of the Lubbock Social Security Administration office will visit Littlefield on July 30 at 1:30 p.m. She will be at the post office at that time to give information and service in connection with phases of the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance program.

Many newly covered workers who were brought under social security on January 1, 1951, are now eligible for benefits for the first time, provided their earnings have been properly reported. Included in the newly covered groups are regularly employed domestic and farm workers, certain state and local government employees, employees of certain nonprofit organizations, and most self-employed individuals.

Workers who are already age 65 or over, and those who will reach age 65 before July 1, 1954, need only six quarters of coverage in order to qualify for old-age and survivors benefits in the event of retirement from employment or self-employment.

If you are 65 years of age or nearing that age, and plan to retire soon, consult your local social security field office for official information.

BASCOM GILES

Commissioner Giles' experience in the General Land Office dates back to his graduation from Austin High school; he was employed by the state department almost immediately. With the exception of a two year span, when he was seeking promotion from the ranks by the Texas electorate, he has given continuous service. His election in 1938 was regarded as the biggest political upset of the election.

Since then he has never had serious opposition and has received the highest vote given any candidate for any office in a Democratic primary.

When Giles first became land commissioner the Permanent Public Free School Fund was $56,000,000. It is now almost $200,000,000. The University of Texas and A&M Permanent Fund has been increased during his tenure from $27,000,000 to $144,000,000.

Giles is active in the Methodist church, the Lions Club and is an ardent sports fan.

TAXES

and telephone service

Taxes are necessary. Without them, local, state and federal governments could not exist. Today, under the pressures of a world emergency, taxes must be high.

Telephone service is a necessity also. Yet, in many instances this necessary service is being taxed at rates much higher than those imposed on luxury items—furs, jewelry, luggage, cosmetics and even cabaret entertainment.

Some 15 separate taxes are levied on the telephone company's operations and income. These taxes amounted in 1951 to over a million dollars.

In addition, Federal Excise Taxes add roughly 20% to your monthly telephone bill. The excise tax is levied directly on you, the customer, but collected for the government by the telephone company. Over half this payment represents a tax on tax money!

You, as a telephone customer and as a citizen should know these things.

Attend Floral Convention At San Antonio

J. E. Chisholm, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Odell Matthews of Chisholm Floral Co. attended the thirty-ninth annual convention of the Texas State Florists Association in San Antonio, July 14-18.

More than 1500 florists throughout the state and many out-of-state florists were at the four-day meeting which is the largest state or regional convention held in the nation, according to Johnny Goldt, chairman of the convention. Anyway, it took two hotels to hold the crowd.

The Matthews had accommodations at the Plaza Hotel where rooms for all the delegates had been reserved. Social activities and the floral designing schools were staged at the Gunter Hotel.

Meetings of the convention covered both phases of floral operations—esthetic and financial. During the sessions of the two schools of floral designing, the Littlefield florists were shown newest methods in the use of materials and flowers. A business clinic featuring nationally known business leaders took care of the financial side of managing a florist shop.

The florist association convention featured many social activities which included a two-hour water ballet, a Mexican dinner and all-Spanish floor show; but Mrs. Matthews said from a woman's point-of-view, the highlight was the ladies' luncheon. This was held Thursday noon at the Menger Hotel. The big attraction of this affair was the fashion show presented by Joske's of San Antonio. All the ladies had corsages, of course; this was a florist's convention, remember!

Funeral services were scheduled to be held at Cleveland Wednesday.

Mr. Dailey is expected back to Littlefield about Sunday.

Amherst Methodist Church News

Sunday morning at the Amherst Methodist church will be Pledge Sunday. A Christian Stewardship Emphasis has been carried on for the past four weeks. A letter by different individuals has gone out each week, a "minute man" has spoken each Sunday morning, and the pastor, Rev. Darris L. Egger, has preached on the subject of Christian Stewardship. The pledges for the budget of the church for this conference year will be dedicated Sunday morning in a special service. One of the main things stressed in this campaign has been tithing. The people are asked to try tithing from now until Easter.

The building committee of the Amherst Methodist church will soon meet with an architect out of Lubbock to discuss plans for building. J. S. Harmon, is chairman of the building committee, I. N. Griffling is the treasurer. It is the hope of the building committee to have definite plans for building by the end of the summer.

Rev. and Mrs. Darris Egger, and sons, Darris Jr. and Charles Frank are vacationing in the mountains of New Mexico this week. Accompanying them are Rev. Egger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Egger of McAdoo, Texas. They will be home Friday of this week.

Thursday night the Littlefield delegates attended a ball and banquet.

Mrs. Matthews recalled that "the convention kept us hopping from morning till night."

Motorists Must Get Cars Checked

Little more than a third of the registered vehicles in Lamb county have passed the state safety inspection, according to information released this week.

The official agent of the Department of Public Safety said that 9,000 vehicles were registered in this county and as of July 14, 3,524 had been inspected. This leaves 5,476 to be inspected by the September 6 deadline.

Seventeen inspection stations have been set up in Lamb county for motorists. Ten are in Littlefield, three in Olton, two in Amherst, one in Earth, and two in Sudan. The department is hoping to be able to set up an inspection station in Springlake this month.

TWINKLE TOES—Her "taffy apple" nail polish is a perfect complement to her white, brown and yellow outfit.

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

If you want to have the prettiest toes in town, twinkling in the sand or dazzling in summer sandals, a weekly pedicure will do the trick. If you've never given yourself a real pedicure or have forgotten the routine, here's how:

1. If old polish is on the nail, moisten a piece of cotton with an oily polish remover and press it against the nail for a few seconds, then wipe down with a single stroke toward the nail tip.

2. File your toe nails straight across with an emery board. Use scissors to cut your nails if they are exceedingly long, but take care not to cut them too close. Never file or cut your nails away at the corners—just shape slightly oval at the tip.

3. Soak your feet in warm water and scrub them with a soft brush, then dry feet thoroughly.

4. Apply oily cuticle remover with an orangewood stick wrapped lightly with cotton. Work gently back away from the nail, starting from the base of the nail at the center and working up and out. Wipe away loosened cuticle with towel or tissue. Go under the nail with cuticle remover to help loosen dry skin there.

5. Go over your nails with oily polish remover once again to remove any trace of oil, which makes it hard for polish to adhere. You are now ready to apply polish foundation and your favorite shade of polish. Be careful to use but very little polish on the brush so that it will not run back on the cuticle or around the sides of the nail.

6. After the polish is dry, you may apply a cuticle softener to help soften cuticle and keep nails from becoming brittle.

Massage your feet and ankles with hand cream to help keep your skin smooth and soft.

Use a gay polish for summer. "Pink spangle" with fuchsia and lilac tones or a "cotton candy"

BEST VOTE FOR THE BEST QUALIFIED MAN

Lamb county and surrounding citizens never go wrong voting for the best qualified man in any race. In the recent poll taken among the lawyers of the 46 county district by the State Bar of Texas, to ascertain their views as to the qualifications of the various candidates for Associate Justice of the Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals, Judge Joe S. Moss of Post, received 176 votes to 161 for all three of his opponents, a clear majority over all of them.

Judge Moss has devoted his twenty years of civil practice to the simplification of the law so the average citizen can understand it. Even the lawyers themselves have endorsed his program.

Let's vote for the best qualified man. Vote for Joe S. Moss, A civil judge for a civil court.

FOLKS—

For the fine vote you gave me 3 1/2 years ago—and for the encouragement you have given me since.

During my tenure of office I have worked hard to secure for my Precinct paved roads and other advantages. During this time included in the accomplishments are:

- the purchase of $30,000 worth of New Machinery and equipment to better serve and maintain the roads of the Precinct;
- Many miles of roads have been built, and in addition a number of Bridges and lake dumps, including 17 miles of paved farm-to-market roads within the precinct, and additional 17 1/2 miles of paved farm-to-market roads have been accepted by the State for Maintenance.

If you favor a fair, honest and economical administration of the affairs of Precinct 3, and the County, no person will appreciate your support and vote on July 26, more than

Two Pioneer Families Receive First Two Autographed Copies Of Book

Two pioneer families of Lamb county received the first two autographed copies of a book about pioneering and settling in this county. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Clint Griffin were given personally autographed copies of R. C. Hopping's new thriller, "A Sheriff-Ranger In Chuckwagon Days."

Mr. Smith is one of the oldest living cowboys in this part of the country. It seems especially fitting that the first and second copies of Judge Hopping's book should go to these "first settlers."

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

Thinking of buying a house? Before you sign anything, be sure you know the effects of your action. Many legal problems are involved in such a transaction. This column, and those to follow on this subject, will attempt to point out and explain some of the legal angles connected with your purchase.

For the average person, the buying of a home is the largest single transaction of his life. It is also, in most instances, the most permanent or longest term investment he will ever make. Whether or not he bought wisely will be determined by his ability to resell without difficulty, or to enjoy the use of the premises without annoyance or interruption.

Possibly the first legal problem you will meet will be when you are asked by the seller or his agent to sign a contract of sale or earnest money contract. In connection with the latter, you will be asked to deposit a sum of money which would be forfeited to the seller and agent for damages in event you do not fulfill the contract. Although no forfeit money may be required with the former, you may still be legally liable for damages if you renege. Be sure, therefore, that you know exactly what your obligations are.

The next legal problem would probably be to determine the status of the title to the property. Many persons become confused during this stage, thinking that securing possession of an Abstract or Title Insurance Policy will afford them complete protection against title defects. This is not necessarily true in either case.

Keep in mind that an abstract is merely an outline of public records on the tract. Any person may purchase an abstract covering any piece of land, whether he owns it or not. A Title Insurance Policy indemnifies you only up to a certain maximum sum of money, and contains various exceptions to the specified coverage.

Following this would be the problem of transferring the title from the legal owner to you, as purchaser, in such manner that no legal question might later arise concerning your sole and exclusive ownership.

Incidental to your title problems is that of ascertaining what restrictions exist upon the lot you are buying and upon the neighborhood generally. Municipal zoning ordinances and restrictive covenants placed upon the tract by previous owners or developers of the subdivision may prove a protection or a hindrance, according to the plans you may have for future use or improvement of your property.

Other legal questions may arise in arranging the method of payment for the house. The fact that most people need years in which to complete such payment makes this a matter to be considered carefully.

These are some of the major legal problems you are likely to encounter in purchasing a home. Of course, a number of others may arise in some cases due to peculiar individual circumstances.

Subsequent columns on this subject will seek to explain these and other interwoven legal considerations.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

BOYS RANCH TO BE HOST TO CLAY COUNTY BIT AND SPUR CLUB

America's first boys' ranch, located 40 miles northwest of Amarillo, will be host over the Labor Day weekend to the renowned Clay County Bit and Spur Club of Kansas City.

The world-famous riding club has made appearances all over the nation and will make the trip to the Texas Panhandle and Boys' Ranch to assist in the festivities and performances of the eight annual Boys' Ranch Rodeo. A special train with two Palace horse cars will carry the 70 club members and 48 horses to Amarillo from Kansas City.

The blue ribbon parade horses and silver mounted equipment, together with the colorful costumes of the riders, will add much to the young Boys' Ranchers' big event. It is estimated that the value of the 48 horses with equipment is about $336,000.

Also featured in the Boys' Ranch Rodeo will be movie star Chill Willis who is famous for his voice characterization of Francis the mule, Minnie Pearl of Grand Ole Opry fame, Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight boxing champ, and the Whippoorwills and Georgia Brown, who are featured with Roy Rogers in all his movies.

The actual rodeo events will be handled solely by the boys from Boys' Ranch. The young cowhands do a fine job of riding and will put on a show Labor Day weekend equal to, and possibly better than, professional performances.

Present plans call for four complete shows—matinee and evening performances both Sunday, August 31 and Monday, September 1.

The Boys' Ranch Eight Annual Rodeo will be held in Amarillo to accommodate the expected crowd and the boys are looking forward to seeing all their friends in the tri-state area.

For A Second Term ALLAN SHIVERS FOR GOVERNOR

THE TRUTH ABOUT OLD AGE ASSISTANCE

Governor Allan Shivers wrote and helped pass the first Old-Age Assistance Law in Texas.

He stands for equitable distribution of funds for the needy.

Two years ago he was one of the leaders who tried to get more money for the aged, a cause that failed because the voters disapproved a constitutional amendment.

Governor Shivers has, in the past and will in the future, advocate making available to our deserving aged citizens not merely enough for a meager existence, but sufficient funds to carry them through the evening years of life as proud, dignified citizens.

An increase of $5 in each pension check is due next October.

Together we will continue to build a greater Texas
Allan Shivers

THE TRUTH ABOUT COUNTY ROAD FUNDS

Farm-to-market road building has been the greatest in history during the Shivers administration.

During Governor Shivers' administration, Lamb county has received $928,739 rural road benefits from state highway user taxes as follows:

License fees $308,053, road bond surplus $120,008, bonds paid $2,677, construction of farm-to-market roads $397,500, authorized but not under construction $100,500.

In this county, 40 miles of farm-to-market roads have been built, and an additional 15½ miles have been authorized for construction, for a total of 55½ miles.

Governor Shivers' administration has consistently supported the Lamb county road building program and will continue to do so in the future.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

Those animals or creatures which lack a backbone, the class of life called invertebrates, have an extra set of teeth in their mouths, the rear row (or rows) being used to replace the front ones as they are lost.

And different types of animals have different types of teeth, one brand or other usually predominating, depending on the life that the animal leads.

Birds have no teeth and the largest teeth of any animal are the tusks of elephants.

An elephant's tusks are like the human incisor teeth, those eight front teeth in the mouth which are used for cutting. The elephants use these modified incisors as weapons, not as food choppers. The beaver's big cutting teeth are also like human incisors, but the tusks of the walrus, the wild boar and the wolf are not like incisors; they are like the human canine teeth, the eye and stomach teeth. The canines are the sharp pointed teeth, two uppers and two lowers, also called the cuspid teeth.

These canine or cuspid teeth have only one point, one cusp on them. That gives them a sharp tearing ability, and beasts of prey usually have comparable sharp pointed teeth.

In the permanent teeth, the bicuspids are those which have two points on a broad base and are used more for gnawing than for tearing, and the molars are the grinders, the teeth used to make food smaller and easier to swallow.

Teeth as an instrument of getting food and then chopping or grinding it into particles small enough to be swallowed are pretty much the same for both animals and humans. But teeth as an aid in speech, as an instrument to help in the formation of word sounds, is strictly a human characteristic.

An incisor tooth can be imaginatively pictured as a calla lily with the tapered white outer petals like the enamel of the tooth, the open space inside the lily comparable to the ivory of the tooth (called the dentine) and the yellow center of the lily being the inside of the tooth, the dental pulp.

The part of the tooth that shows in the mouth is called the crown.

Mother Of Mrs. Don Bryant Passes Away

Death Tuesday of last week claimed Mrs. J. J. Frizzell, Lockney, mother of Mrs. Don Bryant.

Mrs. Frizzell, 85 years old, died at the home of Mrs. Bryant following a stroke. She had been a long-time resident of Lockney and was here on a visit.

A native of Tennessee, she was born April 18, 1867.

Survivors include three sons, Leo Frizzell, Floydada, Elko Frizzell, Lockney, and Askew Frizzell, Globe, Ark.; three daughters, Mrs. Will Workman, Lockney, Mrs. Bryant and Mrs. Elmer Warren, Dougherty; a brother and sister, 22 grandchildren and 36 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon in Lockney Methodist. Burial was in Lockney Cemetery under direction of Carter Funeral Home of Lockney.

That part which is hugged by the gum is called the neck of the tooth, and the part that lies below gum level is the root.

The enamel that shows on the crown of the tooth is slightly different from the cement that forms the top layer of the neck and root of the tooth there under the gums. The enamel is a barrier to germs but once its defense is broken through, the softer ivory underneath, the dentine, undergoes decay. When the cement of the teeth becomes inflamed, it is known as pyorrhea, a disease which causes the teeth to loosen and eventually drop out.

The bite of the mouth, the manner in which the top row of teeth meets the lower row of teeth, is called occlusion. And it is not supposed to be a perfect meeting with each upper tooth meeting its twin straight away. The top teeth are supposed to jut out further than the lower teeth with the four front incisors, top and bottom, usually failing to meet in any "bite" at all.
