criminal court which will convene Monday, August 15, in the courtroom of Judge Pat Boone's 154th District Court.

In addition to the three rape cases, the jury will be called to hear one murder case, one DWI case, one charge of worthless check passing, one bur-glary charge, one case of assault with intent to murder. one theft case, and one case of forgery and passing.

District Attorney Jack Young will prosecute all the cases for the state.

Judge Boone said he hoped that most of the criminal action could be heard before it became hard to get a jury for the trials, and indicated he felt this term would just about complete the cases that have been pending. He indicated he did not feel a grand jury would be called this summer, but said he did not know what the district attorney might decide.

Indictments on most of the cases to be heard were handed out during the last two sessions of the Grand Jury, held in July of 1965 and January of this

Firemen Attend Fire School

Littlefield Volunteer Fire Chief, Leon Durham, said three members of the Littlefield Volunteer Fire Department were taking part in the annual fire fighting school being conducted at Texas A&M this week.

Taking a 50 hour course in the duties of Fire Marshall is Mac Humphries, city fire marshall. Bill Weige and O.B. Graham are taking courses in advanced fire fighting techniques.

Durham said that by having our firemen attend the school the city gets a five point credit on the Key rate. The week long course will be completed Friday, with the firemen returning to the city sometime Saturday.

Earth Calls $155,000 Bond Election

The city council, of Earth, met in special session last week, to discuss the city's need for additional water and sewer facilities, and concluded the meeting by calling for a bond election on July 31, to let the voters decide on the estimated $155,000 issue.

The measure was taken after it was decided the city was in need of more adequate water and a sewer system that would meet the needs.

Before calling for the election, however the council decided to include additional paving in the election, in the hopes that the voters would approve the measure and take care of all phases of the improvement program at one time. The water and sewer imrovements will consume about $120,000 of the total which would be placed in revenue bonds, the additional $35,000 would be used for paving improvements, using general obligation bonds. $35,000 to improve a 30 block area. Scheduled sewer impro-vements, include extension of existing mains, a lift station and repairs to the disposal plant. Water improvements would include an overhead storage tank, ground storage tank, well pump, motors and other miscellaneous items. City officials said that property owners, in the city are currently being penalized on insurance cost because of the existing storage system, the additional storage tanks should rem-edy the problem.

According to the Mayor and council, passage of the election would in no way affect the present tax evaluations or rates.

LITTLEFIELD'S LL ALL-STARS -- Littlefield will play host to eight teams, beginning today as the Little League playoffs in District 26 A get under way at the local park. The Littlefield entry is expected to stand a strong chance in taking the tournament and advancing into the area tourney at Levelland. Coaches and players representing Littlefield are: Front row left to right; David Friday, infield, outfield, Lupe Rendon, outfield; Mike Carter, pitcher; Jim Cawthon, outfield; Rickey Sanchez, short stop; Dayton Kennemer, outfield; Gary Moore, catcher. Second

Sidewalk Sale, Set Friday

When the sun comes up on Littlefield Friday morning, an air of the old days will prevail, as the merchants of the city go all out to lure shoppers

The event is the second annual City Wide Sidewalk Sale with the merchants of the area em-ploying the "Old-Fashion" motif in their dress, advertising, decor, and most important, in the prices of their merchan-

The event, sponsored by members of the Retail Council of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, who began the event last year.

Members of the council said there will be more participation this year than last, and they felt the bargains would be even greater. A number of merchants indicated they had made special purchases for the sale and intended to pass the savings on to the customers.

indication of what can be ex-pected this year, merchants say it should be a sale to end all

One of the merchants said people enjoy a sale and we plan to give them one they won't forget for some time, "It's seldom that almost every merchant in town goes along with the various promotions, but it looks like the sidewalk event has caught on and most of the stores age going to join in the fun."

Not only has the idea caught on in the downtown area, merchants in the area's surrounding downtown are joining the promotion. At press time all of ne city's grocery stores had been contacted, and urged to participate, and many were making plans to join the city

The city council meetings though out the summer remain light as most of the activity is slightly curtailed, and very few requests are made to the coun-The agenda tonight, at press time, included only three or four items, with the discussion of bids being the largest single item.

City Manager, Richard Bean, said the council would open bids on 6000 feet of water pipe to be used in laying new lines in certain sections of the city, and the council would consider bids on materials for the street sign program. Bean said the machine for making new street markers arrived a couple of months ago, but the program has been delayed due to not having the material. When the bids are let, and the material received the plans call for a gradual change out of markers on all of the city's streets, with a new reflective base green and white sign, which would correspond with the markers now in use in the downtown area.

The only other item on the agdnda at press time was a request from the Lamb County Sheriffs Posse to hold a parade in downtown Littlefield, sometime in August.

If last year's event was any Quarterback Club To Meet Tuesday

Frank Thornton, president of Littlefield Quarterback has announced the club would hold its first meeting of the year Tuesday at 8, in the High School Cafeteria.

Thornton said the meeting is being called to lay plans for the club's activity for the coming year and to see filmed highlights of the coming National Football League year.

The president of the club urged all members to be in attendance and said the mempership would lay plans for this year, and discuss a membership drive to be carried out before the start of the football passes and the farmers of the area continue to look skyward for the needed rains, agricultural observers in the area are beginning to make predictions on this year's cotton and grain yields, placing the cotton harvest at about 130,000 bales, some 63,000 under last year's production.

Lamar Aten, head of the Lamb County ASCS office, said he predicted the 1966 yield would be a little over a bale per acre from the county's 121,536 planted acres.

Last year the farmers of the county harvested 193,700 bales from an estimated 184,000 planted acres.

The dollar figure for this year's cotton crop was predicted to be about $21 million gross and net. Aten said that his office would, this year, pay out a total of $3,646,970 to farmers who had reduced their acreage, all of which would be net income since there is no expenses of planting and growing involved, which, coupled with the subsidy would swell the total income from cotton production to $21,446,000. To this would be added the grain income, that would pour another $8 million into the area's eco-

Aten said he felt the net income for the farmers will be about equal to that of 1965 but the money will be in fewer hands, since the reduction in acreage has brought about a reduction in the number of hired hands for the farms.

An estimated 90 point mic average loss is expected to hurt some on the average price per pound for cotton, however Aten estimates the price will be about payment. Like Aten, officials of the various lending institutions of the area are most optimistic about the prospects of this year's crops, saying that the rains fell at the proper time and that the general conditions look good. "One of the most favorable things about this year's crops is the lower cost of production, and the smaller amount of capital needed to get the crop in and up," one banker said. Aten admitted the need for rain is reaching the critical point, but said if we get a good inch or inch and a half rain within the month we will be in good shape. Grain, which suffers from the heat more than cotton, is the most severly hit. Observers in the dry land area are beginning to feel the effect of the searing heat and no rain combination that is causing the sorghum crops to burn at the bottom and stunt the growth of the plant. In the irrigated areas all crops continue to prosper with estimates on grain production running up to 9,000 pounds per

Aten said that if we get a rain by August 20th it can help our cotton make more than the estimated bale, plus figure, otherwise we will have to stay with

"At this time it looks like only one per cent of the total grain acreage is in any trouble, and this amount can be helped by a good soaking rain," Aten

One of the confusing things in most of the stories about the cotton picture is the talk of the cotton that was hailed out, to which Aten said most were misstatements. "There were a number of acres hit hard by hail, but only about half of them were planted. The only thing that got hurt on the lay-out land was grass and weeds. The cotton that suffered hail damage has been replanted and if we get a rain in the next month the late planting will not hurt at all." The ASCS man went on to say he realized that some farmers were hit by hail, es-pecially grain crops, which could not be replanted but point-ed out this did not constitute a

We tried the patience we had preached. Honest, we did. We tried so desperately that seven policemen were shot the other night, two of them through the back. So, in the end, we resorted to methods more brutal than yours. But, don't you see, we had to!

And our mayor listened to the Negroes' leaders, as he so often admonished you to do. He had listened, he had made compromises and consessions and he had offered sacrificial police officials and school officials — but they kept com-ing from so many directions with so many demands — and then -- demanding to keep the fire hydrants gushing for their playing children during the city's most critical drought --

PONY LEAGUE ALL-STARS -- Arthur Hedges and Randy Whitson are coaches for this year's Pony League All-Stars who will play their third game today (Thursday) at 6:30 p.m. in the tournament at Nazareth. On the team are boys from Littlefield, Amherst and Sudan. They lost to Hereford Monday night, 5-3, and were victors over Anton Tuesday night 14-2 in a game that was called in the fifth inning. Back row (L-R)

There could be a new look around many Texas county commissioners courts under a reapportionment opinion laid down by the Texas Supreme Court in the case brought by Mayor Hank Avery of Midland.

Avery maintained that it isn't constitutional for one Midland County Commissioner to represent 95 per cent of the county's population -- the City of Midland -- while the other three commissioners represented only 5 per cent of the peo-

Supreme Court agreed, 8-1, but with reservations. It held that the ratio was not fair representation, but that the re-division of county precincts. which it told Dist. Judge Joe B. Dibrell of Coleman to order, could consider factors other than population.

Declining to extend the population-only rule which the U.S. Supreme Court has applied to state legislatures, Supreme Court held that a commissioners court is not a legislative body. Court's majority wrote that the road, bridge and tax activities of the commissioners courts have more concern to rural residents than to city dwellers. In recent years, such courts have concerned themselves mainly with non-urban areas, leaving city matters to the city governments. Supreme Court concluded that not just population, but also factors such as miles of county road, taxable values and geography, plus the "convenience of the people" set out in the Texas Constitution, can be taken into account by a commissioners court in dividing the county into four precincts. High court agreed with Judge Dibrell that the present Midland County situation obviously is arbitrary and should be declared invalid. Case either will go back to Judge Dibrell for final decision or will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court by either Mayor Avery or Midland County -since neither won a clear-cut victory.

INTEGRATION WARNING --Sixty-four Texas school districts have received letters from the federal Office of Education warning of slowness in faculty integration, reports Leon R. Graham, assistant state education commissioner. Graham said 33 other districts around the state were notified that they had violated federal law by failing to submit plans for integrating teachers. He said the Office of Education expects districts to employ at least one Negro teacher for each school which was previously all-white and at least one white teacher for each previously all-Negro school. Some flexibility, however, is allowed, he added.

No federal funds will be given schools which fail to comply with the regulations of the Oifice of Education, Graham noted, and the federal government wants full-time teachers integrated, not part-timers or substitutes.

NEW EGG REPORT -- Texas Department of Agriculture's Marketing Division begins publication of a new one-market egg price report July 19, Ag-riculture Commissioner John C. White said.

Formerly, quotations from six separate state egg market areas were used in reporting egg prices. "Advantage of the new policy," White said, "is that the single state-wide price quotation for each grade rep-resents a true market for the state, so the information is ter Plan proposed by the Texas Water Development Board. The Texas Water Plan is being formulated by the Texas Water Commission and the Texas Water Development Board at the request of Governor John Connally. It is "a flexible proposal for the protection, conservation, development, redistribution and administration of and beyond," A major portion of the plan as now laid out in the TWDB report is concerned with the impounding and redistribution of surplus surface waters in

needs for all purposes throughout the state to the year 2020

But the High Plains and the rest of West Texas is specifically excluded from the redistribution plan. Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., says the plan, in effect, declares West Texas an "ineligible receiver," and allocates all surplus water to South Te-

State Senator Joe Kilgore, chairman of the water board's Consulting Advisory Panel, has stated that the most urgent water requirement facing the state is an adequate surface water supply for irrigation on the High Plains and in the El Paso and Trans-Pecos areas.

That statement and the rest of the quote is contained word for word in the TWDB report. It continues: "There is not enough surface water in the rest of Texas, excess to foreseeable requirements, to provide for the present level of water use in these West Texas areas. If excess water were available, under the concept that each user and those who benefit directly by such use should pay the cost of water delivery. West Texas irrigators could not pay the price, estimated to be at least $168 an acre-foot, to develop and transport East Texas water

TALKS

The report goes on to say that West Texas will have to rely on water imported in a regional plan from such out-of-state sources as the lower Mississippi or the northwestern United Sta-

It makes no allowance for the fact that a decline in irrigated acreage is predicted for West Texas beginning in 1980, less than 15 years hence. water resources to meet water

G.H. Nelson, Chairman of the Water for the Future Committee of the West Texas Water Institute, is one of those who feels West Texas is not getting a fair shake under the plan.

He agrees there isn't enough surplus water in Texas to supply all of the needs of both South Texas and the High Plains until the year 2020. But he points out that the plan proposes to furnish irrigation water to some 830,000 acres of land which has never before been irrigated, and some of which is not even under cultivation, in the Coastal Bend and Lower Rio Grande areas.

And he questions the justice of using the state's available surplus water to build a new economy on newly irrigated land while allowing the Plains eco-nomy, already established on irrigation, to decline.
Also, Nelson takes exception to the report's statement that only two-and-a-half million acre feet of surplus water is available from East Texas. He says in the first place, the Water Board in its determination of the amount of excess water has used the lowest runoff period rather than taking an average runoff over a period of years.

Second, he thinks it likely that the East Texas area has padded its foreseeable requirements for water.

As to the cost of the water transported to West Texas, Nelson notes that no economic study has been made for West Texas comparable to that made for South Texas, And he calls attention to the fact that the total cost of irrigation projects is never charged to growers, but is partially subsidized by federal reclamation laws in the interest of assuring sufficient food and fiber for national needs.

He contends a thorough study of the cost factor should be made, and that West Texans should then be allowed to determine whether they can afford

He says: "The water plan will be in cars, while the bic-ycles are being brought back should provide for the more im-mediate and pressing needs of all of Texas, not just a part of it, pending the day in 25 or 30 years when out-of-state water sources can be made available to the state."

The PCG committee is expected to study the plan in its entirety, attend the various hearings being held across the state by the Water Board, and to work closely with Nelson's Water for the future Committee and others toward correction of any inequities before the plan is finally adopted.

Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., is advising growers who for one reason or another sold part of their 1965 crop in 1966 to take a careful look at their income tax situation this year.

A big part of total cotton in-come this year will be in the form of government payments. And while there has been no official ruling from the Internal Revenue Service, accountants in the area have said IRS may consider all payments earned in 1966 as 1966 income, even though actual receipt of the payment might be deferred until

If this is the case, Johnson says growers may want to carry over until 1967 a larger than normal part of this year's crop. In any event, he advises pro-ducers to check closely with their tax accountants to get the most advantageous treatment possible under the income tax

"If cotton durable press makes a strong showing this fall in dress shirts, it may seriously challenge the polyester-cotton blends for supremacy by spring, 1967."

So says the Daily News Record, bible of the U.S. textile and apparel industries.

The DWR says two recent developments have drawn sharp lines for a collision course between all-cotton and blends in dress shirts.

HD Agent Gives Tips On Pickling

Pickles made now from gar-den-fresh produce promise taste treats when cold weather comes this winter. Pick the top quality vegetables and fruits for pickles and relishes. Preserve the taste, color and taxture of freshness with the best possible pickling method.

Heat process all pickle products with the boiling water bath, says Lady Clare Phillips, Co-Home Demonstration Agent. Pickles require heat treatment to destroy organisms that cause spoilage. Another reason is to halt the action of enzymes that may affect the flavor, texture and color. This adequate heating is best achieved by processing the filled jars of pickles in a boiling water bath for ten minutes.

There is always danger of spoilage organisms entering the food when it is transferred from kettle to jar. This is true even though extreme caution is taken andit is the reason open-kettle canning is not recommended.

3000 Vets Apply For Loans

Nearly 3,000 applications for home loans under the new GI Bill program have been received from Texas veterans, the Veterans Administration reported

A VA study to determine what impact the Veterans Readjustment Act of 1966 (new GI Bill) has had on the nation's economy also showed 7,157 Texas veterans have applied for certifi-cates of eligibility for loans, Jack Coker, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco said.

The number of applications for GI home loans is considered important because the lender usually makes the application, indicating the loan has gone through the initial, or interviewing stage, Coker said,

Nearly 42,000 applications for home loans under the new GI Bill have been received nationally, the VA manager said, Throughout the country 135,000 veterans have applied for certificates of eligibility.

OLTON -- Olton Volunteer Fire Department has three representatives at the State Firemen's Training School at College Station the week.

The sending of firemen to this school affects the insurance rate in Olton in addition to further training the firemen in modern fire-fighting methods.

Tom Smith, local Fire Chief, is taking the Fire Marshall's course, which includes the methods of fire prevention, the investigation of causes of fires, Taking the courese in Fire fighting No. 1 will be Harold Jordan. This course covers most phases in modern fire fighting, including some actual experience as the school sets up special fires and uses proper equipment in controlling and extinguishing the blazes.

Joe Chester will take the advanced firefighting course. City of Olton pays $600 toward the expense of these men making this trip.

Providing the course in gen-eral firefighting is passed, the city will continue to receive a three percent credit on fire insurance rates and if the fire marshall's course is passed an additional one per cent credit. David Maxey, local Fire Marshall, underwent surgery recently and was unable to attend the training school. Fire Chief, Tom Smith, is taking
