Father of Mrs. Dick Edwards Dies Sunday Morning

Funeral Services For J. B. Hobson, 75, Held At Denton Monday P. M.

J. B. Hobson, 75, father of Mrs. Dick Edwards of Littlefield, passed away at the home of another daughter, Mrs. J. M. Faggard, at Denton early Sunday morning. He had been in ill health about a year.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church, Denton, by Rev. Elliott, pastor, assisted by the pastor of the First Baptist Church. Interment was in the Denton cemetery, by the side of his wife, who passed away ten years ago.

Born in Kentucky, Mr. Hobson came to Texas when he was 18 years old, and settled in Denton, with his widowed mother and several small brothers and sisters. A year later his mother died, leaving him to rear his younger brothers and sisters.

He was converted and joined the Baptist church when he was 19 years old, and has lived a consistent christian life. He was married to Miss Ida Barter, September 23, 1896, to which ten children were born. Two preceded him in death, one in infancy, and his oldest son, Darrell B. Hobson, passed away two years ago.

The eight surviving sons and daughters are: Baxter, Atwood, Oklahoma; Joe and Floyd of Denton; Mrs. Dick Edwards, Littlefield; Mrs. H. D. Hill, Dallas; and Mrs. W. M. Martin, Mrs. J. M. Faggard, and Mrs. S. W. Adams, all of Denton. Brothers and sisters surviving him are, P. O. Hobson of Flint, Mich.; E. G. Hobson, Atwood, Oklahoma; Mrs. C. H. Stith, Las Cruces, New Mexico; and Mrs. F. E. Savage, Canyon. Eleven grand children also survive.

All of his children and brothers and sisters attended the final rites. Mr. Hobson visited several weeks in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Edwards the past summer, and those who knew him here learned to love him.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards and children left for Denton Sunday morning and returned home late Monday night, after the funeral services. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Stith returned

Where Early Settlers Got Their Mail

Above shows the Land Company building, where in March, 1913, C. J. Duggan was established as Littlefield's first postmaster. The post office consisted of a four foot square space in the northwest corner of the Land Company's office.

An opening was left to get in and out with no door thereto, and a small hole was cut in the south wall through which mail was handed. A kerosene lamp furnished light for mail deliveries when the carrier was late. Such was Littlefield's first post office. The first mail arrived March 14 by horse and buggy team.

All scenery in "This Land of Ours" is in full natural color. It has sound and musical accompaniment, and the guide explains all points of interest.

Cotton Crop Will Exceed Last Year By 700,000 Bales

The 1940 United States cotton crop will exceed last year's harvest by one million bales and stand only 700,000 bales below the ten-year average, the Agricultural Marketing Service reports.

From this source prospects for a yield of 12,847,000 bales is reported, exceeding the Department of Agricultural's October 1 report by 100,000 bales. Factors responsible for the increase shown in the Nov. 1 forecast include maturing of late bolls in the Carolinas due to unusually favorable weather in October. This resulted in an increase of 105,000 bales in the two states over prospective production a month ago. Favorable weather also boosted yield prospects by 115,000 bales in Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma. Large crop outlook in the five states more than offset poorer prospects in Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi, the Agricultural Marketing Service reported.

Ginning is behind the corresponding period of last year over much of the cotton belt, but the crop's quality, on the basis of cotton ginned, is showing somewhat better than that at the same time in 1939, the Service reports. A large portion has stapled at medium lengths, and there has been some increase in the proportion stapling at 1 1/16 inches and longer.

All Cotton Farmers Are Affected By Referendum

The outcome of the cotton marketing quota referendum Saturday, December 7, will have a direct effect on every cotton farmer in the state and the rest of the South. The votes of the hundreds of thousands of cotton producers in every state will determine whether the farmers who operate with the Agricultural Administration program will be protected from those who do not comply, and whether non-compliers will be penalized for failure to plant within their allotments.

For more farms or in 2 or more communities, counties, or states. In case two or more persons were engaged in producing cotton in 1940 not as members of a partnership but as tenants in common or joint tenants or as owners of community property, each such person is entitled to one vote, the committee declared. No poll tax is necessary. After the balloting the votes in each community will be reported to the county committee which will then transmit them to the State AAA office where they will be tabulated and reported to Washington. A two-thirds majority of all votes cast favoring quotas is necessary to be in effect in 1941.

That's what the Texas AAA committee meeting in College Station, Texas, led out to the cotton producers, all of whom are eligible to vote in the referendum, in a statement before the voting at 9 a. m. Saturday.

It is not necessary at this late date to point out again that we have a two-year supply of cotton on hand that the war has deprived us of. Nearly all of our export market for every cotton farmer should be familiar with these important facts in mind when he goes to vote, the committee said. "Ample information has been supplied all farmers in the state to these factors. All farmers already are familiar with quotas and how they operate. Understanding these matters, they will know why it is so important that they are eligible to vote do so."

The committee reminded farmers everyone who shared in the production of a cotton crop in 1940 to vote, regardless of whether he is complying with the program. Two exceptions to the rule were mentioned: (1) producing cotton 1 1/2 inches or more in staple length, which is subject to quotas, and who are producing other cotton, and (2) such as husband, wife and children, who participate in the production of cotton under a single or cropping agreement or in the latter case, the person who entered into the agreement or lease is eligible but the absentee voting by mail, proxy vote will be permitted, but the person who is outside his own district on referendum may deposit ballot in any authorized market-quota ballot box.

A farmer, whether an individual, partnership, corporation, association or other legal entity shall be eligible to more than one vote, even if he may have been engaged in the production of cotton in 1940 on two

Bond Election Is Topic At C of C Meeting

Approximately 45 Attend Luncheon Tuesday At Noon

Approximately 45 business and professional men and farmers attended the Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday at noon. Women of the church served the meal.

S. M. Patterson, newly elected secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was introduced by president John A. Price.

Discussion of the election, which has been called for December 21, for the issuance of $300,000 in bonds, in Road district 1-A, which comprises the southwest part of Lamb county, was the main topic discussed on the program.

E. A. Bills, Clyde Hilburn, Pat Boone, Jack Brannen, and J. S. Hilliard were among those making impromptu talks on the east-west highway, which will be built from the Hale county line through Spade, Littlefield, and to the west to the Bailey county line.

These men stressed the need for this highway, and urged the cooperation of every citizen in the new road district No. 1-A, which comprises all of the south part of Lamb county, by voting in the election.

Ten men volunteered to serve on the steering committee, and in a meeting Tuesday night, the entire program was planned. Members of this committee include Pat Boone, W. J. Chesher, E. A. Bills, Mancel Hall, H. T. Bartley, J. M. Stokes, J. C. Hilburn, Van Clark, J. W. Emfinger, and E. S. Rowe.

SETTLE THE TRACTOR QUESTION NOW

A large number of you will decide on a new tractor within the next two or three months . . . and we would like to offer you this helpful suggestion . . . that you first ask those who have been using the Ford Tractor during the past year . . . let them tell you how much they save on fuel—and discover, too, that a new Ford equipped with lights and rubber tires, and all two-row equipment can be had for just about one-half the price of other two-row Tractors.

"It's a great day in Littlefield," and we join the entire citizenship in extending congratulations to the Post Office personnel, and to all who contributed their efforts toward the building of this wonderful new Post Office Building. It is an achievement for which the whole South Plains area may well be proud.

CHAPTER XII

Audrey Swan, nicknamed "Cygie" is the daughter of a highly respected horse trainer whose farm adjoins the estate of Judge Castle. The Judge's only son, Jeff has been Audrey's friend since childhood. He is educated to go into his father's law office in Parville, but marries Olive Cooper, who scoffs at the idea and refuses to live in the beautiful home given to them by Judge Cooper as a wedding present. Jeff's friend, Vic Quinn, in love with Audrey, who does not reciprocate, becomes the Judge's partner. Jeffrey tired of idleness, gets a job with Olive's father. He starts as a subordinate to be promoted on merit, Olive feels humiliated that he is not given an executive position. Audrey and Vic Quinn are invited to a party at Judge Castle's home.

Audrey laughed softly as she said: "I don't wonder, Mr. Quinn. She's been a pretty constant bother to you, I say. But since you've been so uncomplaining about it all, Miss Swan is going to ask you to come in for a few minutes.

A few moments later they were standing at the sideboard. A little feeling of constraint came over them as they hesitated with their glasses poised. The atmosphere seemed charged with a sudden change in their relationship. Victor felt it keenly. He knew that in some way they were closer than ever before. There was a gentleness in Audrey's eyes when she lifted them to his that gave him a new thrill of happiness. "Many happy returns, Vic."

"Thank you, Audrey. It's all been very beautiful, but I'm afraid it's late." Audrey followed him into the hall without speaking.

Before saying good night, Victor paused for a last look at the slim white figure in the dim glow of the hall lamp. Never had Audrey appeared so beautiful in his eyes, so altogether desirable. "Tell me something," he demanded in a low impetuous tone, "have I... I'm not slipping, am I?"

Audrey slowly shook her head. "No, Vic. You've been very sweet." With a swift movement he caught her nearest hand and pressed it softly to his lips. As if unable to trust himself he turned without a word and left her standing there.

He was whistling happily when he let himself in his own front door and was about to extinguish the lamp on the table when he caught sight of a bit of paper. A note in his landlady's precise handwriting.

"Mr. Quinn, "Dear sir, the long distance wants you. Even if it is late when you get in she says.

Respectfully, Mrs. Caroline Asher." In a few moments a familiar voice came to his ear. "That you, Vic? Hope I didn't get you out of bed."

"No. You caught me getting in. What's up? Anything amiss?"

"Plenty, Vic. I've got to see you, and under the circumstances I can't very well come down. Can you get up here by tomorrow evening? Or I'll meet you part way, if you'd rather."

rather. "I was planning to come up in the next day or so. I can make it tomorrow. Where shall I find you?"

"Make it bar of the Adams. About six. I'll be hanging around."

"Jeff, you're all right."

"Sure. A trifle sloppy. Just another case of the well-known jam. Thanks a lot, old man. Be seein' you."

When Victor Quinn hurried into the Adams House bar he glanced apprehensively along the line of men at the mahogany. When Jeffrey called him he sounded as if he might have been drinking, and by this time he might not be in shape for a satisfactory conference.

To Victor's relief, Jeffrey was impeccably dressed and apparently sober. He grinned cheerfully as his friend approached, but he looked haggard in spite of the attempt. "Saw you sizing up the bar flies," he laughed. "All ready to drag me

There was a moment's silence, broken by Victor's sympathetic, "I'm sorry."

"But not surprised," Jeffrey finished bitterly. "I guess I asked for it. I went contest, of course. And there you are."

"But I can't get it yet," Victor pondered. "I know that Olive was very much averse to coming back to Parville. But I supposed she would be delighted to have her father take you in."

"That's the whole point, Vic. The vice president's jobs were all taken and I elected to start in and learn the business. I couldn't see my way clear to take every other afternoon off and play around all night. Any way, matters kept getting worse and worse until the big bust came. I could have bought salvation any time by turning gigolo or something. And I couldn't."

"Naturally not. May I ask what Mr. Harrison thinks?"

"He practically threw me out," Jeff said

"Reno. In residence." "Out, weren't you? Sit down. Mighty glad to see you."

"Glad to see you," Victor returned, scanning his face closely. "You look as if you'd been working hard. What have you been doing with yourself?"

"Me? Oh, I'm in the way of becoming a captain of industry. Been working for my daddy-in-law for quite some time. He turned out to be a very decent chap after he was convinced that I was done with the fleshpots and wanted to settle down. I'm in the sales. Strange to say, I've been getting quite a kick out of it."

"That's great."

"Maybe. The old gentleman has a notion at the moment that it might be a fair idea to send me abroad for a change. There's an opening in the Brussels office and I can speak French well enough to argue for our product."

"That sounds fine. What does Mrs. Castle think? All set to go with you, I suppose."

"Not exactly. As a matter of fact, Vic, she isn't here for a time."

Victor felt his heart sink. Something wrong between Olive and Jeff. That accounted for his summons. "Do you care to tell me where she is?" he asked quietly.

"Oh, he took my side right from the start. He wants me to stay on as if nothing had happened. That Brussels idea was sort of an easy out for me. But I can't see it, of course."

"Why?" "Oh, maybe there is no good excuse. But I can't quite down it for some reason or other."

The waiter arrived at that point and the subject had to be dropped for the time being. The two men ate in silence until Victor remarked in a casual fashion: "Had a very pleasant time last evening at your house."

"How are the folks?"

"Your mother didn't look so well, Jeff. I knew that she had rather a difficult winter of it, but she insists she's much better."

"Listen, fella," Jeffrey laid down his knife and fork and looked steadily into his friend's eyes. "I know what you're leading up to and you may as well understand now that there's nothing doing. Don't get the idea that I don't know what I've done to my people. You'll never know what I've paid for that, or how I dreamed of making it up to them by becoming a success at something. And now that's all washed up along with everything else."

"Listen, Jeff. You belong there. I don't Oh, I know you're getting ready to spring that one about not knowing any law. All that takes is a little horse sense, no professional wizardry. What's more, Miss Annie seems to be getting well. It wouldn't surprise me much to see her back looking for her old job. It would be a cinch for you. I don't want to seem to be going soft Jeff, but I can't help thinking of your father and mother. You've no idea what it would do to them... for them, I mean. Think it over."

"Not necessary, old man. It's decent of you. Just what I would expect. But that's out. No matter what you do. For the present I'm staying away from Parville. After it all blows over that will be something else. I have no plans. But believe it or not, this experience with Harrison's has given me a lot of confidence in myself."

"Look here, Jeff, we seem to have the cards mostly face up. Why did you call me last night. Did you merely want to spill. Or are you willing to have me help you if I can?"

"Guess it was partly habit, Vic. I was beginning to feel pretty ragged and I thought maybe you could brace up the old morale a bit. You have."

"What about your father getting in on this?"

"I don't know. I've never told anybody about our last session. He practically threw me out even if it was done with a fine gesture."

"Let me tell your father. He's going to find out sooner or later. I believe it will give him a big lift"

Jeffrey drained the last of his ale and sat staring in deep preoccupation at the empty glass.

"On one condition," was the final judgment. "Exactly one, Vic."

"Say on."

"That you don't pull any fine gestures on your own account... about easing out of the picture and that rot."

"Maybe he'll ease me out."

"Hardly. You can make it plain that I'm not coming home to stay, now or in the future. I should like to feel free to visit, on my mother's account, you know. And in your diplomatic fashion, you might drop a gentle hint that the first move is up to him."

"O. K."

"I have your word for it?"

"My word of honor."

Victor had attended to the one errand he had in the city and daylight found him on the road to Parville. He stopped en route for a hasty breakfast and was in the office five minutes after Judge Castle arrived.

He walked into the latter's room, closed the door after him and plunged into a situation that he had been attempting to rehearse as he drove. "Good morning, Judge. I have some information that I believe I should share with you. I have just driven down from the city after spending an evening with Jeffrey."

The Judge tugged off his spectacles and frowned. "Well?" he demanded harshly.

"Jeffrey looks fine... been working hard. He is with the Harrison office and by all accounts is doing well."

"Humph! And did he ask you to submit that report?"

"He did not ask me to tell you anything. Not even that Mrs. Castle is residing in Reno at the present time."

The Judge sat back weakly in his chair. "Good God!" he ejaculated. "She's divorcing him! When will he be here?"

"He's not coming back, sir. Made it very plain. In fact, he's talking about going abroad. But you will be able to find him at the office or at Mr. Harrison's house. He's still staying there."

Judge Castle fumbled his massive watch from his waistcoat pocket. "I can make the ninety-four. Quinn, will you phone Mrs. Castle that I have been called away? She will hear from me this evening."

Victor Quinn put in a disquieting two days during Judge Castle's absence, unable to overcome a vague foreboding that made him as restless as a caged animal. This last turn of affairs might affect his future almost as much as Jeffrey's.

It was a queer thing. His affection for Jeffrey was genuine; he believed that he had proved it. Jeff had said that he would not return to Parville under any circumstances, but that was before he had seen his father. By this time the two Castles would have had their encounter. The Judge would bring great pressure to bear on Jeffrey in order to induce that young man to come back. He just might succeed. And then what?

The answer seemed rather obvious. Of course Jeff would be taken into the firm. He should be.

But the practice would not warrant the addition of both young men would be subsisting on Judge Castle's charity to some extent. In time it would be apparent that Victor was the odd man in the combination.

"Build-Up" Relief Explained to Women

A simple method has saved many women a lot of suffering! It is based on the fact that headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain are often symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition. Help for this condition so often follows the use of CARDUI, because it usually increases the appetite and the flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion and helps build physical resistance. Usual result is less periodic distress. Many who take CARDUI a few days before and during "the time" have found this helps ease periodic discomfort. Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years!

read in full, it was moved by Commissioner G. M. Vann, and seconded by Commissioner M. D. Abbott, that it be passed. Whereupon, the question being called for, the following members of the Court voted "AYE": Commissioners Crawford, Lewis, Vann and Abbott and the following voted "NO": None.

Regulations Under AAA Farm Program

As requested by the A. C. A. of Amherst, this newspaper is publishing again the regulations as prescribed by the AAA on the 1940
farm program as follows:
1. All benefit payments in 1940 shall be divided between the share-croppers, share tenants and landlords in the same proportion as the depleting crops are divided.
Side trades or contracts cannot be accepted under any condition).
2. Any rental agreement between the landlord and tenant whereby

Where Nine Were Blown to Death

WOODBRIDGE, N. J. . . . This scene of desolation met the eye after a terrifying blast leveled the United Railway and Signal Co. plant at Woodbridge, N. J., killing nine persons and injuring 33. Though the plant manufactured torpedo signals for railroads, it was said to be working on a device of "great importance" to the army and navy. Sabotage was suspected.

a bonus of any kind is charged in excess of the regular rental is a violation of the regulations.

3. Any reduction in the number of tenants below the average number of tenants on any farm in the last three years that would increase the landlord's share of the benefit payments is a violation of the regulations.

4. Benefit payments cannot be divided on any other basis except on the basis described by the AAA.

5. If any person files a complaint relative to violation of the above regulations, it will become necessary to cancel both the tenant's and landlord's 1940 government payments and all future payments until such violations are corrected. All complaints filed in the County Office in regard to a bonus of any form are being investigated by the County Committee and if it is found that the landlord is requiring of the tenant a bonus after regular rent is paid, payments to the landlord may be cancelled until the landlord has paid the amount of the bonus back to the tenant.

6. Also, if it is reported that any producer is mis-using soil-conserving crops in any way, it may require a refund to the AAA or payments to the farm may be cancelled if the

Lamb County AAA committee determines that the producer is carrying out a practice for defeating the purpose of the program. Complaints that some producers are thrashing sudan, cane and millet from non-depleting acreage have been presented to the County Committee. This is a practice for defeating the purpose of the program and all producers should be wise and not thrash crops from non-depleting acreage.

Return from Hunting Expedition Monday

Several Littlefield men returned Monday of last week from a hunting expedition to Rio county, including J. E. Brannen, who bagged a fine deer, and who contributed venison for a barbecue held Thursday night at Oddfellows Hall.

Others who made the trip were:
John Neystle of five miles southeast of town; Clyde Taylor, Jess Freeman, Mr. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Terrell of Needmore, Bailey county; Mr. and Mrs. Sumner of Idalou, and Mr. and Mrs. R.
R. Wallin of McKinney. Judge M.
W. Brewer also joined the group after they had been hunting several days, and returned to Littlefield ahead of the others.

Dr. William B. Irvin, superintend-1937, was chosen president of the Texas State Teachers Association to succeed Charles H. Tennyson of Wichita Falls.

Irvin was the only nominee for the office of president.

Mr. Hemphill, Morgan Layfield,
Mrs. Audie Collins, Miss Martella attended the state teachers meeting.

The theme and discussion at the meeting was "Education For National Defense," and many outstandthe United States were on the program.

Such educational leaders as A.
J. Stoddard, superintendent of the schools of Philadelphia, Pa., and W.
A. Sutton, superintendent of the

(7) Spade: In the office of Dean's Gin at Spade.

Voting places will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 7:00 p. m., on December 7, 1940. The number of farmers who vote will indicate whether or not the farmers actually have a personal interest in the farm program and especially the marketing quota part of it.

FRIENDLY CONTACTS

Community building is the concrete result of men and women working together for the good of each and the advancement of the interests of all. In thus working together we gain from life many of its joys.

We, as a company and as individuals, are united with this city and territory for the advancement of everything that is in the interests of all.

We are proud of Littlefield's new Post Office, which marks another milestone in the development of this progressive city.

LAMB COUNTY FARMERS CO-OP ASSOCIATION, INC.

V. S. CASSEI, Manager

The question to be decided on December 7, 1940, is whether marketing quotas will be used in connection with the 1941 cotton crop. If two-thirds of the voting farmers approve, quotas will be in effect and will apply to all States, counties, and communities where cotton is produced.

Whether or not the farmers have cotton marketing quotas for 1941, they will still have the Agricultural Conservation part of the farm program. Quotas will effect every cotton producer; therefore, it is the duty of every cotton producer to vote his or her convictions on December 7, 1940. All eligible growers should cast their ballots to make the vote as representative as possible.

Marketing quotas will be in effect only if approval by at least two-thirds of the cotton producers voting in the referendum on December 7.

The 1941 marketing quota for a farm will be the cotton acreage allotment multiplied by the actual or normal yield, whichever is the larger, plus any carry-over which could have been marketed without penalty in 1940.

Marketing quotas have no effect on the cotton acreage allotment or normal yield for any farm nor in the rates of conservation or parity payments.

Lamb Places Second In 1940 Cotton Ginnings For South Plains

Amherst Gins Handle 5,890 Bales
At noon Wednesday, November 14, there had been 5,890 bales of cotton ginned from the present crop by the three Amherst gins.

TO BUILD WAREHOUSE
R. B. Grindstaff recently bought 40 acres of land from Morton J. Smith, just outside of the city limits east of Morton, and started work on a new cotton warehouse and storage building last week.

Hockley Leads Area With 45,893 Bales; Lubbock Is Third

1940 Ginnings Exceed That Of 1939 For Corresponding Date

For the first time this season 1940 cotton ginnings exceeded those of 1939 for the corresponding date, when totals up to November 14, showed 322,157 bales compared to 315,808 for last year.

Hockley county leads the area, with 45,893 bales to place 14th in the state; Lamb county is a close second with 41,174 bales to place 16th in the state and Lubbock is third with 39,036 bales to rank 19th.

Net increase is 7,077 bales. For this year, ginnings were 2,728,505 this year compared to 2,544,264 a year ago.

Eleven counties in this area show increases over 1939; Bailey, Briscoe, Cochran, Dawson, Floyd, Gaines, Hockley, Lamb, Motley, Scurry and Terry.

Lynn county ranks fourth in the area; Dawson fifth; Terry sixth and Bailey seventh. All of these counties ginned more than 20,000 bales.

Leading the state is Ellis with 65,064 bales compared to 71,274 a year ago; Collin is second with 64,879 bales compared to 58,628; Fort Bend is third with 60,751 bales compared to 32,851; Fannin is fifth with 56,641 bales compared to 49,805; Nueces is sixth with 53,915 bales compared to 78,615 and Wharton is seventh with 53,126 bales compared to 36,470.

Jones county ranks 12th; Runnels 21st; Haskell, 23rd among other West Texas counties.

Approximately 50,000 bales was ginned over the area during the first two weeks in November. The Dec. 1 totals will not, it is believed, show that much of an increase over the mid-November total.

A higher portion of cotton now being ginned is going into the open market, as rains have reduced grades to below that acceptable to the Commodity Credit corporation except with a penalty that puts the loan below the open market.

Ginnings on the South Plains prior to November 14, compared with 1939 are:

County	1940	1939
Bailey	20,082	8,672
Briscoe	3,592	2,292

Last Rites Held For Truck Crash Victim Thursday

Funeral services were conducted at Sudan Thursday afternoon for William S. White, 35, of Muleshoe, who died in the flames of a burning gas and oil truck early that day.

The victim was cremated shortly after midnight when the heavy six wheel trailer-truck he was driving struck highway embankment guard posts and plunged approximately 25 feet over a culvert into a canyon—a mass of tangled, burning wreckage. Highway patrolmen and citizens of the area who went to the scene of the tragedy were unable to remove the charred remains of the driver until daylight because of the heat from the still smoldering wreckage.

Observers surmised that White had fallen asleep, allowing the truck to skid against one of the wooden posts, thus losing control.

Site of the crash was on a straight-away portion of the highway shortly after a dangerous curve had been negotiated.

Small cans of oil carried on the truck were hurled 100 yards ahead of the scene of the crash. Investigators, who had to scramble down into the canyon-like cranny where the trailer portion of the truck had landed right side up, reconstructed the tragedy as follows; White had reportedly refueled and reloaded at Wichita Falls about 8 o'clock and started his run back to the South Plains. Shortly after passing the dangerous curve, scene of several serious accidents the past few years, he probably dozed off, allowing the wheels to "kiss" the highway banister guard, thus throwing the truck out of control. The heavy vehicle skidded and crashed through about five of the posts ripping away the steel ribbon which they support, then plunged some 25 feet down an embankment catching fire.

Douglas Meador, editor of the Matador Tribune, who rushed to the scene of the crash described the scene as one of the worst such accidents in the history of the section. Parts of the victim's skull and ribs were visible as was a portion of a broken arm, the flesh having been burned completely off those portions of the body.

White is survived by a wife and three children.

White was employed by J. C. Holt, Muleshoe distributor for the Panhandle Refining Company, it is reported.

There is a lot of difference in grasses. Some have as much as seven times more feeding value than others.

Rev. C. T. Jordan Called To Austin

Rev. C. T. Jordan, Pastor of the Earth Baptist Church since May, 1937, has received a call from the Hillcrest Baptist Church, Austin, which duties he will take over January 1.

The Earth church has made great strides with Rev. Jordan as pastor. On taking over the pastorate, services were being held in a small frame structure. Shortly thereafter Rev. Jordan was instrumental in sponsoring a building program, and between the fall of 1937 and the spring of 1938 funds were collected, and the present beautiful church building erected, which is indeed a credit to the Pastor, congregation, as well as the community.

When Rev. Jordan took over his duties at Earth the church membership numbered 225. At the close of the associational year in September last there were 382 members on the church rolls, with an enrollment of 200 in the Sunday School.

During the time that Rev. Jordan has been pastor at Earth he has baptized 125 into church membership.

The Leader joins with the residents of Earth in regret at Rev. and Mrs. Jordan's removal to Austin, but wish for them happiness and progress in this new field.

Rev. C. T. Jordan Called To Austin

Rev. C. T. Jordan, Pastor of the Earth Baptist Church since May, 1937, has received a call from the Hillcrest Baptist Church, Austin, which duties he will take over January 1.

The Earth church has made great strides with Rev. Jordan as pastor. On taking over the pastorate, services were being held in a small frame structure. Shortly thereafter Rev. Jordan was instrumental in sponsoring a building program, and between the fall of 1937 and the spring of 1938 funds were collected, and the present beautiful church building erected, which is indeed a credit to the Pastor, congregation, as well as the community.

When Rev. Jordan took over his duties at Earth the church membership numbered 225. At the close of the associational year in September last there were 382 members on the church rolls, with an enrollment of 200 in the Sunday School.

During the time that Rev. Jordan has been pastor at Earth he has baptised 125 into church membership.

The Leader joins with the residents of Earth in regret at Rev. and Mrs. Jordan's removal to Austin, but wish for them happiness and progress in this new field.

Oddfellows And Rebekahs Enjoy Thanksgiving Program

The Oddfellows and Rebekahs gathered Thursday night at the Lodge Hall to enjoy their annual Thanksgiving program, which included a barbecued Venison dinner.

The venison was contributed by J. E. Brannen, who had just returned from a deer hunt. Other members furnished the balance of the dinner.

Visitors were present from Sudan, Circleback, Muleshoe and other places.

A large attendance is reported, numbering about 125, with about 75 visitors.

Judge M. W. Brewer acted as Toastmaster, and the program included tap dancing by Billy Carroll Mitchell, daughter of Mrs. Alma Mitchell—a reading "Little Paul's First Thanksgiving" by Madelyn Wade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wade and a skit of Fibber McGee and Mollie over the radio, in which Alph Wright was Fibber McGee and Mrs. Tommie Lowe was Mollie, and in which also assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Etter.

Music was furnished by group of CCC boys.

County Attorney Billy Hall gave the address of welcome to the visitors; and Judge Miller of Muleshoe responded. Rev. Cole of Sudan also made a talk.

In charge of the program were: Mrs. Tommy Lowe and Mr. A. C. Harrison.

"I am greatly disappointed because I cannot be in Littlefield December 5. Yesterday, Speaker Rayburn wired me that on Monday the House would vote on an important measure.

The SNOOPER SAYS . . .

You've heard of people breaking cameras, etc. . . This actually happened Friday, and I don't know who was to blame—but—when pictures of the local post office staff—the clerks first—were made, and the woman behind the camera told the carriers to "get set", the "picture-takin'-machine" refused to snap! Please note—no names mentioned.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Frazier and pretty little daughter, Betty Ruth, former resident of Littlefield, entertained with open house recently, in their beautiful modern brick home, northwest of McKinney Texas.

A story telling about the open house and a description of their home was published in the McKinney Weekly Democratic-Gazette.

The low rambling ranch style house, painted white, is a thing of beauty on the little hill, where Mrs. Frazier's grandparents home stood years ago. She inherited the farm from her grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Charley Moore. Friends called during that Sunday afternoon of the open house, who were past 85 years young, and who visited her and her grandparents there in the early days.

Their home has six rooms, two baths, two porches and a built-in double garage. The bathrooms are lined with tile, and the rest of the house is plastered in light green, blue, and white. The home has all modern conveniences, including electric lights, butane gas, and electric water system.

Mr. Frazier taught vocational agriculture in the local high school two years, and resigned last summer, and moved to this farm in Collin county.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hemphill and daughter, Jean Anne, were guests in the Frazier home during the Thanksgiving holidays, and Mr. Hemphill attended the state teachers convention in Fort Worth.

Fan mail increases each week for Miss Martella Graves, charming teacher in the Littlefield Elementary school!

Saturday she received a letter with her picture drawn on the envelope. Underneath the picture was printed, "The Fiesta Queen." The letter came from Miss Mary Slaughter, Wortham, Texas, who is not acquainted with Miss Graves. She asked her to send a photograph of herself, as Miss Slaughter was making a scrap book of "The Little Great."

Miss Graves was homecoming queen at West Texas State College, Canyon, in October, and pictures of her, dressed in the queen's costume, were printed in several state papers. Miss Slaughter saw one of the pictures, so she wrote for a photograph.

Do your Christmas shopping early.

Eleanor Roosevelt wrote recently in her column, "My Day."—"It seems that a committee has been formed in Washington, D. C., to suggest to people that, instead of giving Christmas presents this year, they should send Christmas cards and give their money to War relief organizations. It is a fine idea and I am sure that many people will join happily in such a movement.

"However, there is another side to this Christmas buying which should be considered. Christmas shopping provides jobs for many people and turns the wheels in many a factory. Those of us who are in the habit of spending a definite sum at Christmas time, might perhaps exert a little extra self-sacrifice and find some money for the relief organizations.

"I do not think that gifts should be withheld from children, or from people who need and can enjoy things which are given . . ."

Mrs. Roosevelt's columns every day contain an inspiring thought that is well-worthwhile, and her days are filled with exciting, interesting things, among all classes of people.

Read in the Lynn County News: "W. Lee O'Daniel is giving every evidence that he is going to try to get along with the legislature this coming year, better than he did with the last one. And likewise the Legislature will probably try to get along better with the Governor in view of the fact that the people gave the Governor a roaring vote of approval last summer and elected so many of the members of the last Legislature to stay at home."

Mrs. Maude Thompson was a caller at the office Friday. She is the mother of Lloyd G. Thompson, one of the seven men who left Lamb county recently for a year's military training.

She had such a pleasant smile when she talked about her son . . . she realizes she has made a sacrifice, but she can say, with thousands of other mothers, "America, I Gave A Son To You."

Incidentally, Lloyd Thompson and Ernest Douglas Cope are at Fort Bliss in El Paso.

I haven't heard where any of the other young men are.

That's All Now.

"THE WESTERNER" TELLS FLAMING STORY OF ADVENTURE; COMES TO PALACE WITH GARY COOPER AS HERO

Against the colorful and adventure-filled background of the Old West, in the days when justice was administered at the point of a gun and roistering Judge Roy Bean reigned as the "Law West of the Pecos," Samuel Goldwyn's "The Westerner," with Gary Cooper in the title role, will have a gala premiere at the Palace Theatre on Saturday midnight, Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday.

Directed by William Wyler from the screen adaptation by Jo Swerling and Niven Busch, "The Westerner" features in the cast which supports Cooper such notable players as Walter Brennan, Fred Stone, Fred Davenport, Lillian Bond, Forest Tucker and Paul Hurst. The setting of the story is Vinegaroon, Texas, in the roaring days of the '40's when there raged a bitter and long protracted battle between the cattlemen, original settlers of the land, and the homesteaders, who sought to till the land which they had made under to law.

Just when this battle is reaching a peak, the Westerner, a roving cowboy named Cole Harden, drifts into town and finds himself entangled in the vicious "Law West of the Pecos." But the Westerner is a bold adventurer, fearless and bold, and when he comes to grips with the law, he proves a worthy opponent. Discovering that Judge Bean's idol is the fabulous and beautiful Lily Langtry, the stranger tells the Judge that he has met the Jersey Lily and knows her well. This news intrigues the Judge and he manages to have Cole re-arrested until further evidence in the trumped-up case against him is brought in.

"A Dispatch From Reuters" At Ritz

A picture as timely and exciting as the latest news bulletin will come here this week end when Warner Bros. "A Dispatch From Reuters" starring Edward G. Robinson, starts its local run at the Ritz Saturday midnight continuing thru Sunday and Monday. The screen has brought to the front the stories of many famous people but never before has it revealed the tale of a person so widely heard of, but so little known.

Robinson plays the part of Julius Reuter, whose speedy dispatches held within them the fate of empires and who did more to form the ethical credo of news gathering than any man in history. He first had the idea of finding some way to speed up the traveling of news when he was a child. Never forgetting his childhood ambition, he and his friend, played by Eddie Albert, open a news agency and use pigeons to carry the news between towns which have no telegraph. As years go on the Reuter's News Agency becomes more and more associated with dramatic and far-reaching events despite attempts to place obstacles in his path.

Edna Best portrays his sympathetic wife who drives home the lesson that the duty of a reporter is first to his people and secondly to his paper. Others in the cast include Albert Basserman, Gene Lockhart, Otto Kruger, Nigel Bruce, Montagu Love.

Speculate Reason For Stopping Gold Shipments To U. S.

The sudden unexplained stoppage of gold shipments from Portugal to the United States led financial circles in this country to the belief Saturday that something "big" was brewing abroad.

Portugal, last European shipping outlet to the United States, has been sending approximately $3,000,000 in gold each week to this country on liners of the American Export line.

This gold, from the Banca Portugal to the Federal Reserve bank, was believed to have been funneled into Portugal from Switzerland, the Balkans, Spain and northern Africa. The liner Exambion arrived without gold as did the lined Excalibur a week ago.

Company officials said they knew only that the company had contracted to bring $30,000,000 worth of gold to America and that the shipments were to continue until January.

Financial circles offered this speculation:

Hitler might be ready to make another peace offer and financiers, particularly Swiss bankers, were awaiting its outcome.

Hitler might be ready to begin his long-rumored big push across Spain to Gibraltar and the Spanish had stopped such shipments.

Perhaps European countries still able to send gold to Portugal had been milked dry of the metal.

Millions have flowed into this country since the threat of war spread over Europe.

Federal Reserve bank officials kept their customary silence.

For west Texas the Western Schley and Burkett varieties are good to plant, while Success and Moore are good varieties of pecan trees for the Gulf coastal and eastern portions of the state, she says.

Congressman Mahon
Able Statesman and Loyal Friend

BIG CROWD EXPECTED FOR POST OFFICE EVENT

Special Program For Cornerstone Laying Thursday

Dr. Jack Lewis Is Among Main Speakers; Luncheon At Noon

Preparations are underway for a great day in Littlefield Thursday, when large numbers are expected here to help celebrate with the city the cornerstone laying of the $70,000 Federal building. Barnes Construction Company were the contractors in charge of erection of this beautiful structure.

Mahon Unable to Attend

The cornerstone laying was delayed for sometime in the hope that Congressman George Mahon, who was instrumental in securing this new building for Littlefield, could be present for the ceremonies. The date was set for Thursday on Mr. Mahon's report that Congress was expected to adjourn, and it did adjourn. Mr. Mahon made a trip to the South Plains immediately, making his headquarters at Lubbock, but, unfortunately, he was called back to Washington by wire Saturday morning as announced by Postmaster W. D. T. Storey, and hence will be unable to attend the ceremonies Thursday. The decision of important legislation necessitated the Congressman's return to the Capitol.

Many Visitors Expected

Out of town guests for the day's activities will be: Rev. Jack Lewis, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Lubbock; Hon. W. L. Clampett of Fort Worth, representative.

Guest Speaker

Dr. Jack Lewis

Dr. Jack Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Lubbock, will be the guest speaker for the new Littlefield post office cornerstone laying ceremonies Thursday, December 5.

Down through the years Littlefield has visioned the day when this city would have a Federal Building.

That dream has become a fact... a beautiful, adequate post office in line with present needs and anticipated growth of Littlefield, is nearing completion.

Outstanding civic accomplishments are infrequently achieved without the united effort of the citizenship... the leadership and cooperative effort of men and women who visualize existing needs and anticipate the requirements of the future. Such is true of the new Littlefield post office. It stands today a symbol of progresssive, co-operative effort... an expression of the faith of each of us, and of our government, in the land which is ours to cherish and nourish... to go with as true, honorable, and loyal Americans.

At this time it is particularly fitting that we recognize the friendly, active interest in Littlefield and section of Congressman George Mahon through whose co-operation and assistance this city now enjoys the special distinction of possessing a new, modern post office. In recognition of Mr. Mahon's special service to Littlefield we dedicate this Post Office Edition to our able congressman... a man who it is a joy to honor.

Farmers To Vote On Marketing Quotas Saturday, Dec. 7

Chairman A. C. A. Committee Urges All Farmers To Vote

Farmers will go to the polls Saturday and vote their opinion whether or not marketing quotas will be enacted in 1941.

"Every Cotton farmer who believes in democracy should go to the polls and vote," says C. W. Smiley, Chairman of the Lamb County ACA Committee, who added that the cotton marketing quota referendum is part of the democratic process.

Last year in the referendum, 800 of the 2,700 county farmers who were eligible to vote participated in the election, 71 percent of them favoring quotas. The majority favoring quotas in Texas was 82 percent and in the nation 83 percent, the committee chairmen declared.

Voting Important
"Voting in the referendum is as important as voting in any other election," Smiley said. "The outcome of the marketing quota referendum will effect every cotton farmer in the county, so every cotton farmer should vote."

Polling places in Lamb County will be located at the following places:

- (1) Amherst: In the Amherst American Legion Hall.
- (2) Springlake and Earth: In the office of the Earth Co-op Gin.
- (3) Olton: In the District Court room of Lamb County Court House.

Postmaster General Sends His Regrets

In response to an invitation to Postmaster General Frank C. Walker, to be present at the ceremony Thursday in connection with the cornerstone laying of the Littlefield Post office, Postmaster W. D. T. Storey received the following letter from Mr. Walker Tuesday expressing his regrets at his inability to be present.

"My Dear Mr. Storey—
This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated November 18, 1940.

"I greatly appreciate your fine consideration in inviting me to be present on the occasion of laying the cornerstone of your new Federal building on December 5, 1940. (Continued on Editorial page)

Legislative Duties Call Mahon To Washington

Expresses Regrets At Inability To Attend Littlefield Post Office Cornerstone Laying Ceremony.

Congressman George Mahon, member of Congress from the 19th District after spending five days in the South Plains territory, was obliged to return to Washington Saturday.

One of the main reasons for Congressman Mahon making the trip to his district at this time was that he hoped to attend the cornerstone laying of the Littlefield Federal building, which event had been postponed until December 5 to allow the Congressman's attendance. However, he was suddenly called back to Washington on account of important legislation.

Enroute to Washington on the "Sunshine Special" train, Congressman Mahon wrote the following letter to the Publisher of the Lamb County Leader (postmarked Fort Worth) which will be of interest (Continued on Editorial page)

New Post Office To Be Ready For Occupancy Jan 1

Structure Is Being Built At A Cost Of More Than $70,000

Construction on the new Littlefield post office is nearing completion, and following the cornerstone laying this afternoon, the structure will be rushed to completion. It is expected that it will be ready for occupancy by Jan. 1.

Bids were opened on March 26 in Washington for the construction of this building, adjoining the City Hall, on a site donated by the City of Littlefield.

Contract was thereafter awarded to the Barnes Construction Co., of Springfield, Ohio, who were given seven months in which to complete the structure.

The new post office is being constructed at a cost of more than $70,000, and will take the place of the present inadequate quarters on Fourth Street, occupied by the post office since about 1929.

The launching of construction of the building marked the culmination of a dream of Littlefield's citizenship down thru the years, and was brought about by the continued efforts of Congressman George Mahon, and others who worked diligently to secure for this city this much needed structure.

On Monday, May 6, Mayor Homer Hall, at the ground breaking ceremony, turned the first shovel of dirt, which marked the starting of construction, and with Arthur E. Strey, superintendent of the Barnes Construction Co., in charge, the (Continued on back page)
