$100,000 TO BE SPENT IN ADVERTISING SOUTH PLAINS IN A COMMUNITY MANNER

Initiated by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, an organization known as the "South Plains, Inc.," has been effected for the purpose of telling the world at large the many opportunities and advantages to be found in this particular section.

Under direction of the Southwestern Advertising Co., of Dallas, a plan has been worked out covering three years activity and involving the expenditure of more than $100,000.00.

While the company will operate out of Lubbock, yet the plan is far from being a selfish one, rather it involves the publicity of every town and community on the South Plains.

The plan is based on the fact that if advertising will sell beans, soup, automobiles and chewing gum, it ought to also sell land. This is well proven by community advertising campaigns which have already tried it out.

California from her community advertising is said to have reaped 125 per cent increase in population. The Dominion of Canada, in an advertising campaign to attract farmers to her vacant lands, has added 28,472 during the past five years. Railroads everywhere are using the community advertising plan and getting big results.

And just as the feasibility of community advertising has been well proven in these and numerous other potent instances, so it is thought the same results will accrue through advertising of the South Plains section.

At present there are approximately 2,500,000 acres of land under cultivation on the South Plains, but there are also 5,000,000 more acres just as fine and fertile that ought to be productive. Statistics show that the population of towns and the amount of acreage was doubled between 1920 and 1927, some of these sections being tripled and quadrupled, and it is believed that under this systematic advertising campaign there should be even greater development in this section.

Not only will this community advertising proposition rapidly increase the population, but it will also hasten development, the proponents of the plan declaring that it will bring about in five years time what it will take 15 or 20 years to accomplish in the ordinary course of development.

It is well known in advertising this particular section there can be set forth a variety of appeal such as can be equaled by very few other sections so situated. Here is a healthful climate, there is bright sunshine, pure water, cool nights, a vigorous attitude Here is diversity of crops. This section will appeal to the cotton farmer, the wheat farmer, the truck farmer, the livestock farmer, the farmer who wishes to engage in a medley of crops.

Advertisements setting forth the virtues of this section are to be placed in such specific and trade farm papers as The Country Gentleman, Wallace's Farmer, Farm and Ranch, Hoard's Dairyman and the Dairy Farmer. These advertisements are to be of good size space, well illustrated and carrying a copy appeal such as has already proven resultful in other similar campaigns. These advertisements will be followed up by a system of letters and literature sent out by the head office designed to clinch the results initiated by the printed pages.

In commenting upon the newly inaugurated campaign, Mr. A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, declares it will be of untold results. While the expense of the campaign is being carried on by the Lubbock chamber, yet he declares it will be far from individual in its activities, but rather community in its nature. Every town will have opportunity for representation and obtaining results.

THE FARM FLOCK OF 300 HENS

By F. W. KAZEMEIER, Bryan, Texas

The question of farm poultry raising has been given much thought and consideration. Some claim that on every farm there ought to be a flock of chickens. We do not care to make any definite statement in regard to this at present. We believe the question of a farm flock should be answered, by asking the question, can every farmer keep a flock of chickens at a profit. We will state that the farm is an ideal place for a flock of chickens, there is probably no better place. The question we cannot answer, is the human factor, that enters into this problem. Some farmers that I know, would be better off without any chickens, or any other kind of livestock.

It undoubtedly can be proven, that more than 80 per cent of the people living on farms in Texas and Oklahoma are not farmers at all, they just think because they are living on a farm they are farmers. What they really are, is miners in the same sense we use this word when applied to coal miners or gold miners. The old saying "gold diggers" could be changed to "dirt diggers" and be truly descriptive of the majority of so-called farmers. A real farmer recognizes live-stock as the most important factor in his farm operations. A real farmer after he has worked his land 20 years, leaves it richer in fertility and in better shape than when he got the farm. To our observations, there are not a dozen farmers of this kind in the average neighborhood.

In making this statement we will be liberally criticized, but that is alright, the world will go on anyway. It might be interesting to state that we were reared on a farm, that when my father sold it was a better farm from standpoint of soil fertility than when he bought it.

300 Hens on the Farm

We believe a good farmer should keep at least 300 bred-to-lay hens of some standard variety. Not all farmers however should keep chickens, because they don't know the first principles of managing chickens or live-stock. They don't seem to be able to learn to love good chickens, thorough bred horses, pure-bred cows and swine.

A flock of 300 layers, should net at least $300.00 over all expenses per year after supplying the home table with fresh eggs and meat 365 days in the year, in the case of an average family of five people. The $300.00 a year, will go a long ways to paying the grocery bills and also the clothing store bills.

House for 300 Hens

One house 30x30, is large enough to house this flock. The house may be located where the flock may be allowed free range. To do this it may be necessary to fence the garden.

It will take no longer to take care of 300 hens, than 25 or 50 especially if the house is properly equipped with dry mash hoppers, drinking fountains and nests.

We believe a 300 hen unit to be a profitable unit. A flock much smaller than this is not a profitable unit. Such a flock, will produce a case of eggs every three days, which permits of frequent enough marketing to assure getting the eggs to the consumer in good condition. From such a flock the returns would be sufficient to give the flock the necessary care.

Feed Hoppers

At least one running foot of hopper space to every ten hens should be provided, in fact the hoppers should hold at least a three days supply of mash. This would necessitate filling up the hoppers only twice a week. The water fountains may be large enough to hold a day's supply. With equipment of this kind such a flock will be a very profitable investment.

Breeds

We do not care to recommend any particular breed. We do not know which is the best breed. We do know that breeds like the Barred Rocks, S. C. R. I. Reds, Wyandottes, and others are an ideal breed for such a farm flock. If you should be primarily interested in producing large quantities of eggs, then such breeds as the White Leghorns and Anconas, would appeal to you. You will not make a mistake in selecting any one of these.

Specializing on one Breed

If it were possible, it would be a distinct advantage for a community to specialize on one breed. Such a practice has never been put over satisfactorily, yet it undoubtedly would solve at least part of the marketing problem. Suppose one neighborhood had 10,000 White Leghorns, all producing the same colored eggs, all the fryers of the same color. On such a proposition it would be an easy matter to work out a marketing deal. How much more difficult the marketing problem becomes, when you keep Reds, another breed, another Rocks and another Minorcas, etc.

By following a simple system one member of the flock is held responsible for feeding of the flock. The work will reduce to a minimum. A half hour in the morning and a half hour in the afternoon is sufficient to manage 300 hens, excepting on days when the house, which should be cleaned weekly. The fertilizer cleanings will more than make up for the extra work. On this basis it is all that is necessary to this flock.

Neglect most assuredly brings trouble, disease, loss of money. It is far better to have a flock, than to neglect it.

AN EXTRA BOTTLE

A bottle of Iodine on the home is like having a doctor all the time. It gives the digestion gets out of the bowels fail to act. One of all that is necessary to the restoration and buoyancy of the system only to perfect health. Sold by

Base Ball Game
 A practice game with the Anton Independent Base Ball club was played last Saturday, even though damage nature had scheduled a rather brisk just storm. Due chiefly to the wind five home runs were marked up during the course of the game, three for the high school lads and two for the town boys. The game was quite interesting and afforded some needed practice for both teams. The final score stood at 9-9. J. B. Belew, superintendent of the Anton school, was umpire.

Hardy vs. Anton
 The first base ball game of the season was played on the local base ball diamond between Hardy and Anton. Our team showed a great fighting spirit from the first inning to the last winning over the opposing team with a score of 8-1. The following were the line-up for Anton:

Carter Belew, C; Wesley Davis, P; J. B. Harper, 1st B; Clarence Matthews, 2 B; Otto Stevenson, 3 B;

Edgar Roach, S. S; Robert Askew, R. F; Ralph Davis, C. F; J. C. Arnett, L. F; Charles Smith substituting for pitcher.

Chapel Exercises
 Chapel was held in the High school auditorium Thursday at 11:15 o'clock. The following program was given: Saxophone Duet—Atmar Atkinson and Mr. Rhodes with Miss Denham at the piano.
 Declaration—Grace Conner.
 Saxophone Solo—Atmar Atkinson with Mr. Rhodes at the piano.
 Declaration—Gracie Harrell.
 Saxophone Duet—Atmar Atkinson and Mr. Rhodes with Miss Denham at the piano.
 Declaration—Elizabeth Sanders.
 C. S. Denham awarded a Literary Letter sweater to Alvis Ellis, who is one of our most promising debaters. He was a member of our debating team last year, which won the district contest. We were indeed proud to award Alvis this letter which we think he fully deserved.

School Briefs
 Due to the overcrowded condition of the Anton grade school it was necessary to add a new teacher, Miss Mercedes Allen, Tuesday of last week. She recently moved to Anton from Littlefield, and when Mr. Alves, of the State Department of Education, recommended another teacher, she was immediately employed.

Miss Everheart, teacher of English in High School, passed the weekend in Lubbock at the home of her mother.

Misses Loula Denham and Velma Bernard shopped in Lubbock, Saturday.

C. S. Denham went to Slaton Saturday night to hear the famous Simon's Cowboy band, which was on its return trip to Abilene from the Cattle-men's Convention in Amarillo.

School authorities at the suggestion of State Inspector, Mr. Alves, have planned considerable addition of library and laboratory materials. Orders have been placed for a complete collection of History reference and source books, and biography. The library for the English department will be likewise fully equipped. During the past week a complete line of laboratory equipment for both General Science and Physics was purchased. The addition of this equipment will mean one more great stride forward for the Anton schools.

 Army vs. Navy

The Army and Navy will clash in a hotly contested battle, Friday, April 13th, at 2:30 P. M., on the local high school gridiron.

The navy is being led by William Lowmore. Red is not alone, he is backed by some heavy huskies who are determined to down the Army.

The Army is being whipped into shape, by their triple threat man, captain, quarterback "Fly" Thornton, and is predicting a hurricane for the thirteenth.

The captains will give the probable line up in the next issue.

WHITES BUY TURKEY EGGS
 AT $10 PER FOR SETTING

Ten dollars per egg sound like some money, but that is what Mr. and Mrs. James White, at the Happy Hill farm paid for turkey eggs last week. The eggs were purchased at the Martin & Laney poultry farm located eight miles west of Dallas, and are from national prize winning birds.

The Whites now have birds on their farm ranging in prices from $50 to $250 each. This spring they sold over $900 worth of turkeys for breeding purposes.

AUXILIARY MEETING

Mrs. A. C. Chesher and Mrs. Bessie Baze entertained the Presbyterian ladies auxiliary at Mrs. Chesher's home Tuesday afternoon.

The business meeting was opened by prayer by the chaplain, Mrs. Chas. Barber.

The program committee submitted the program for the coming six months which was accepted.

The devotional was led by Mrs. E. A. Bills.

At the close of the devotional a social hour was enjoyed, it being the birthday party for the members having birthdays in February and March.

Dainty refreshments of angel food cake, ice cream and coffee were served by the hostesses to the following members: Mesdames Albright, Barber, Cobb, Baze, Wieman, Bills, Cook Hilliard, Wright, Wharton, Yohner, and Miss Hambright, a visitor.

The meeting next Tuesday will be at the home of Mrs. Bills.

LFD. TEAM TO JUDGE

A stock judging team from the Vocational Agriculture Department, Littlefield schools, will go to Plainview this week to attend the dairy show held there and to take part in the stock judging. The team is composed of Parker Burford, J. G. Berryman, Jr., Jack Braunen and Burness Lowmore.

Prof. Donges states he will also enter a poultry judging team in the Lubbock event, April 14. Littlefield school now holds the poultry honor cup for highest awards in judging last year.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE

Harmon Gravelee was arrested at Arch, New Mexico, last Monday, on a charge of selling poisoned whiskey to citizens around Earth and Spring Lake. Sheriff Len Irvin was notified and brought him back to Olton where he was lodged in jail in lieu of bond.

It is alleged that several people had bought whiskey from Gravelee which made them sick.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. L. G. H. Williams, Episcopal rector at Lubbock, will hold services at the Presbyterian church Sunday night in Littlefield. The public generally is invited to this night Easter service.

Texas produced in crop values in 1927, 77.9 per cent of the total crop values of Iowa and California, the two states next in rank.

Texas is second only to California in production of mercury. The mining is done in Brewster and Presidio counties.

The crops of the United States in 1927 were valued at $676,388,000 more than they were in 1926. Of this increase Texas provided $103,244,000, or 15.2 per cent.

The United States census shows a great variety of articles manufactured in Texas from artificial limbs to structural iron. The total value is $1,237,952,469.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own?—Matt. 20:15.
 Our material possessions, like our joys, are enhanced in value by being shared. Hoarded and unimproved property can only afford satisfaction to a miser.—G. D. Prentice.

HOW PARENTS CAN AID

☛ We have as few auto accidents around Littlefield as in any other community of like size in the country, and yet there is as much need here for exercising care as anywhere else. The season is here when children can again play outdoors, and this means more of them will be on the streets and highways. They are apt to grow careless in their play and take dangerous chances. Only by warning them of the danger that lurks in carelessness, and by impressing them with the deadliness of an automobile, can we hope to keep them out of fatal accidents. Parents who neglect this are in a way responsible for any mishap that befalls their offsprings. Warn them in terms they can understand—make it as strong as you possibly can. Point out that the motorist cannot avoid injuring them if they are careless. We've a pretty fine record in this community so far as the prevention of accidents is concerned. Help to keep it so by warning your children against using the streets or highways for playgrounds.

The people have nothing to do with cooking up a presidential candidate, but they have a lot to do with settling their hash.

GLOOM MAKERS

☛ Anybody who doesn't know any better might concede from reading a few daily papers that it's about over with America, and that she is "going to the dogs" in a hurry. And the professional gloom maker is back of it all. There's more happiness than misery in the world today; more good people than bad people; more kindness than cruelty; more sympathy than censure. But the papers print the crimes instead of the kindness; the gloom maker seizes upon this, and with drawn face starts in to tell how fast America is "going to the dogs." Don't you believe it. If a gloom maker meets you on the streets of Littlefield and starts to pour out his story of woe and to wonder "what the world is coming to," dismiss him with a smile. Tell him it's the best world you've ever lived in, and that it suits you, since you are not in position to change it. Then suggest that he take a spring tonic, or a good liver stimulant.

If skirts ever get so long they don't have to be pulled down every six seconds the nose will get powdered off-ener.

NO TIME FOR ALIBIS

☛ Along about this time of year some people begin to use the alibi of the little boy whose mother ordered him to wash his neck and ears. "What's the use in washin' 'em," he whined, "they'll get dirty agin." That's the alibi some property owners advance when the season arrives for cleaning up their premises and putting their house and surroundings in shape for spring and summer.

We're again around to the spring season, and there is no excuse for dodging or offering alibis. Good health and a more attractive community demand that everybody clean up their premises. Dead leaves and grass piles of ash and tin cans, along with other rubbish accumulated during the winter months must be disposed of, and without further delay if we are to safeguard the health of Littlefield residents and prevent what might prove a deplorable epidemic. Cleaning up doesn't merely mean making our surroundings more attractive, though that alone is sufficient reason to justify it. Cleaning up means ridding the community of disease germs that are certain to bring disease and death if left to breed in dirty and stagnant places.

As a usual thing our people need but little warning along this line, but always there are a few who lag back and offer alibis for not joining in the annual clean-up. It is to them we make this appeal. You wouldn't deliberately wreck your neighbor's health, then why jeopardize it? Why expose him to disease and death by your failure to clean up your premises? Now let your conscience be your judge.

No matter how flashy they paint a new auto, it'll never look surprising

THE MERCHANT'S SIDE

☛ "The buying at home" idea has two sides. Merchants who neglect to advertise, who fail to shout their wares, cannot complain when buyers, wanting something, order it from a catalog where they can see instead of tramping all over the town to find if Mr. So and So has it.

LITTLE LEADERS

We can imagine a Littlefield woman having a spite fence put up, but not one that hasn't got a knot-hole handy.

The greatest faith any Littlefield woman can show in her husband is to sit quietly in the back seat and let him do the driving.

We heard the other day of a Littlefield man who is on the verge of a nervous breakdown because his wife is always telling him how nervous she is.

Child Millionaire

John Mortimer Coward, Jr., aged five, who has just become one of America's richest children. He will inherit at least two-thirds of the four million dollar estate of his father, John Mortimer Coward, New York shoe manufacturer, who headed the Coward Shoe Stores, who died recently in Havana.

The Littlefield man who can't see anything in his job should stand off and take a peek at himself. Then he will know what is the matter.

Most Littlefield women get as much satisfaction out of knowing they are not behind the times as their husband get in knowing they are ahead of their bills.

What has become of the old-fashioned Littlefield boys and girls who could enjoy an evening spent playing Old Maid or Authors?

It's getting so that instead of Littlefield parents thinking their children need a chaperone the children think the parents should have a guardian.

The grease spot on a man's vest may worry a Littlefield man's wife, but it's the bald spot on his head that worries him.

Kitchen ranges can now be had in bright colors. But it will take more than a pink stove to make some Littlefield girls love a kitchen.

If you think the sea is restless, you ought to watch Hemphill and Wiseman when they get in sight of a show window full of fishing tackle.

It used to be a Littlefield woman could make her husband a necktie out of one of her silk skirts. Now she can make a silk skirt out of one of his neckties.

The average Littlefield man wouldn't object to having company for Sunday dinner, if he could sit so far away from his wife she couldn't kick his shins under the table.

Golf is said to be good treatment for the insane, and the State Board of Control of the Insane Asylum at Wichita Falls has just ordered $40 worth of clubs for their patients. We have often wondered why some Littlefield citizens were so interested in golf.

Speaking of sweet music, there's the sound of an exploding tire heard by pedestrians who are never invited to take a ride.

THINK IT OVER

Would you like to live in a town where they had no local newspaper? What difference would you notice should Littlefield become a town without a local newspaper?

What paper would the Littlefield community read to get the local news if Littlefield had no local paper? If the Littlefield community read a paper published in some other town to get the community news, whose ads would they also read? Think the above questions over sincerely; then think the following questions over: To whom are you giving your job printing? What are you depending on to give your business the publicity you have to make you successful? What do you say for the in your conversations? What are you saying in your conversations? What are you doing to town of Littlefield of keeping community newspaper here? You might think these reasonable time in doing it happen when things are hurriedly.

D. 1928 in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 358, wherein Fred Mason is plaintiff, and Riverside Cotton Oil Co., G. E. Dilley, C. V. Dilley, W. A. Hollifield, Rockwell Bros. & Co., J. Burleson, O. C. Summers and V. C. Summers are Defendants, and a brief statement of plaintiff's cause of action, being as follows:

Plaintiff alleges that on the 24th day of October 1927 he was lawfully seized and possessed, and at all times since has been and is now seized and possessed of the following described land and premises situated in Lamb County, Texas, at all times holding and claiming the same in fee simple, to-wit: In the town of Littlefield: Beginning N. W. Cor. of a field same being 20 ft south of the center of a 40 ft roadway running east and west, and 26 ft east of the center of a roadway running north and south, the intersection of the center lines of those two roadways being the original northwest corner of a survey of 177.2 acres in Lamb County, about eight miles S. 120 east from the center of the county, same being Labor No. 20, League No. 664, Abst. That the reasonable annual rental value of said land and premises is the sum of $1000.00.

That this action is brought as well to try the title as for damages.

DOCTOR FRANK CRANE SAYS

A NEW START

HONEST MEN

There are some people who are just naturally honest. They live up to their contracts and do not seek to break them. They are not always considering the letter of the law, but have an inward letter that they obey.

It is refreshing to meet these people. They renew your faith in human nature.

Some one has said the honest man has the advantage over the dishonest one because the honest man knows there is one honest man in the world, while the dishonest man does not know there are any.

A lawyer named Gavin McNab died the other day in San Francisco. In his will we find two bequests, one to Mrs. Elkins of thirty-five thousand dollars and another of five thousand dollars to Joseph Fennell.

The money was bequeathed in each instance because the people had lost money on account of advice given them by Attorney McNab.

He was under no obligation to return this money, but he just felt better for doing it.

The explanation is simple. The man was honest.

And he wasn't honest because he had to be, but just because he was.

The other instance is that of Reuben H. Donnelly, millionaire head of a publishing company.

Twenty-two years ago Mr. Donnelly's company passed through bankruptcy. He afterwards made good, is now sixty-three years old, and has some money.

He voluntarily made good all the debts that were wiped out by bankruptcy.

Some of the creditors held claims for only small amounts, but they were in the humbler walks of life and in many cases a little money meant a good deal to them.

Now he is taking care of those little fellows.

There was one man who had a claim of eighteen dollars when the house went into bankruptcy. That was in 1905. He got his check for $38.75 which is plus interest for twenty-two years.

Mr. Donnelly said in his letter to the old creditors, "While the unpaid balance does not constitute a legal claim, I have always considered it a moral one."

It is a comfort to know that there are some people in the world who cannot rest easy until they have discharged all their obligations.

ple a great event, and hinders them from sleep, yet friendship, like immortality of the soul, is too good to be believed.
The laws of friendship are great, austere and eternal, of one web, with the laws of nature and of morals. We seek our friends not saceredly but with an adulterate passion which would appropriate him to ourselves. Almost all people descend to meet. All associations must be a compromise and what is worse, the very flower and aroma of the flower of each of the beautiful natures disappear as they approach each other.
Everyone should be equal to every relation. It makes no difference how many friends he may have and what content he can find in conversing with each, if there be one to whom he is not equal. If he has shirked unequal from one contest instantly the joy he finds in all the rest becomes mean and cowardly. He should hate himself, if then he had made his other friends his asylum.
There is no need to treat friendship daintly, but with roughest courage when they are real, they are not glass threads or frost-work, but the solidest thing we know. "Happy is the house that shelters a friend, and happier if he is a true friend." A friend is a person with whom one should be sincere. To stand in true relations with men in a false age, is worth a fit of insanity.

The other element of friendship is tenderness. One is held to man by every sort of tie, by blood, by pride, by fear, by hope, by hate, by administration, by every circumstance and badge and trifle, but one can scarcely believe that so much character can subsist in another as to draw us by love. When a man becomes dear to us, we have touched the goal of fortune. If friendship should have feet as well as eyes and eloquence it would plant itself on the ground before it walks over the moon.
The end of friendship is a commerce the most strict and homely that can be joined; more strict than any of which we have experience. It is for aid and comfort through all the relations and passage of life and death. It should never fall into something usual and settled, but should be alert and inventive, and add rhyme and reason to what was drudgery.
Friendship requires that rare mean betwixt likeness and unlikeness, that pique each with the presence of power and of consent in the other party. It also demands a religious treatment. We talk of choosing our friends, but our friends are self elected.

Help Your Children Go To College

Now that Littlefield is to have a real sure enough college of her own, every parent with a growing child is looking forward to its receiving a higher education.

It takes money to send the youngsters to college away from home—some $600 or $800 per year, but if they can attend college at home it means a saving of four or five hundred dollars per annum.

A dollar saved is a dollar made, and the best way we know of providing money for the children's college education is in making the dollars stretch out as far as possible.

So far as the farmers and stock growers are concerned, we are in a position to help them make their dollars do greater duty than they have been doing heretofore.

Everyone who has had any experience in stock raising knows that a well balanced ration, properly ground means a saving of feed and greater results from the feed that is fed. And here is where we come in—

We are prepared to furnish you with stock feed that is accurately blended and scientifically ground at such a low cost that your profits may be greatly increased, thus giving you more dollars for the children's college expenses. Why not start in now saving money for their future higher education!

COMMITTEE SAYS MONEY-RAISING CAMPAIGN IS SLOW

The financial campaign to locate the college in Littlefield is steadily, though slowly progressing this week, notwithstanding the committees have been diligently working.

Many citizens have gone their limit in donations, but there are several whom the committee feel should make donations who have not yet done so. As this paper goes to press there is still lacking $3,500 which may be paid in notes of one, two and three years time, and $8,500 which must be raised in cash to immediately use in land purchases. Some cash is being received, but mostly in small amounts which totals slowly in the aggregate.

There has been some confusion and hindrance in the campaign during

In order to raise the necessary ready cash for land purchasing, it has been found necessary by the committee to recover some of the ground asking citizens to increase their donations. Some have been unable to do so, but many, in a spirit of sacrifice, have done so in order that the project may not fall through. It is urged that those who have not yet made contribution toward the college do so immediately, and any who have contributed, if they can see their way clear to add further to their amount that they promptly do so. Some member of the committee will be glad to see their good intentions.

So we'll be here every Thursday with Sawdust and Splinters in which we will talk about:
