JESS. MITCHELL,

Editor and Publisher

Subscribers who change their addresses, or fail to get their paper, should immediately notify this office, giving both new and old addresses.
Communications of local interest are solicited. They should be briefly written, on but one side of the paper, and must reach this office not later than Thursday noon of each week. The right of revision or rejection is reserved by the publisher.
Advertising that does not show in its text or typography that it is paid for must be marked as an advertisement. All local advertisements remain in this paper for the time specified or until ordered out. All notices, matters not by whom nor for what purpose, if the object is to raise money by admission fee or otherwise, is an advertisement and when sent in for publication must be paid for at the regular advertising rate per line for each issue printed.
Obituaries, cards of thanks, and resolutions of respect will also be charged for at the same rate.
Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of the Littlefield Leader will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

IMPROVEMENT NEEDED

One of the drawbacks of every new community is the land that is just bought for investment—some one who has more money than he has immediate use for, will put it into land and then let it lie idle, accumulating a value through the improvements of the farms surrounding him. The Leader has always advocated that there should be a law requiring every land owner to improve his land in accordance with its increased valuation.

In this vicinity there has already been considerable land bought from this standpoint. Some of it has already been lying idle for several years the owner just waiting for his neighbor to increase its value to a certain point, when he will turn loose at considerable profit. That man is of no value whatever to the community in which the land is located.

Any of the land surrounding this town is capable of producing year after year from twenty to thirty bushels of wheat to the acre, from a half to three quarters or more of a bale of cotton, and from two to three tons of feed stuff per acre and would prove a much better investment if put in cultivation than if left idle.

The demand for rented farms in his vicinity is increasing daily. Never a day goes by now but there are from two to a half dozen or more farmers here looking for land to rent. Many of them are not able to buy now, others wish to farm for a year or two on rented land and then buy. Several instances are already on record of where renters have become so favorably impressed with the land they rent that the owner has been able to sell it to them the next year at a good profit on his investment.

During the next year there will be probably 500 or more farmers coming to this section of the country looking for land to rent. Five hundred more families would mean considerable addition to the trade territory of this town; it would also mean considerable increase in farm values. Every land owner who will put his land in cultivation, thus accommodating some of these renter farmers, is also helping to increase the value of land, besides receiving a good rental from the crops that are raised on it, which will pay the taxes, interest on the investment, and still leave a handsome margin for the owner.

This would be a good movement if the Chamber of Commerce would sponsor it. If the matter was taken up with each individual land owner, and presented to him in the true light, it would no doubt be productive of results which would be of mutual good.

ADVERTISING SUCCESS

In the business world it is necessary to watch the success of others and then profit by them. No one holds a monopoly on success. This is true in the field of advertising. Any successful business man will say that advertising not only is a necessity, but that constant and consistent advertising is imperative to marked success.

Results of advertising are manifest everywhere. Advertising does not have to be "checked up" because it checks up itself, with high quality goods, genuine service and backed up by honest dealing, the business man can make known to his prospective customers their own needs through advertising. This creates a demand. Supply without demand is commercial stagnation.

Advertising helps to supply the demand. It is not good business to wait until the customer wants something; for there might be too long a wait. In creating this want by fair and legitimate means through the printed page you have actually contributed to the world's progress as well as your own, and you have done your bit to supply the needs of humanity.

PAYING FOR SCHOOL

The Leader is a strong believer in higher education, but not to the extent of crippling that of the lower, since the big majority of pupils never get above the tenth grade of schooling.

It is not in favor of appropriating $500 per student for higher education and only $13 or $14 per capita for the boy or girl in the common school. The A & M college is asking for the next two years, the sum of $1,928,923 per annum, which means about $550 per pupil for its approximately 3,500 students in attendance, yet the Leader has never heard of any candidate advocating the doubling the apportionment for the common school boy or girl. If there is any increase in apportionment it should be for the common schools. Such inequalities as this, are schools. Such inequalities as this, are some of the reasons why citizens get disgusted and vote for an inexperienced and unqualified woman for governor of the state. They "grasp at straws," willing to try almost anything in a hope for a change for the better.

THE CACKLING HEN

Almost unbelievable is the fact that hens all over the United States are busy turning in their share of the one billion, forty-seven million dollar poultry industry.

Government statistics show that last year the value of poultry products in the United States exceeded the value of the entire 1923 wheat crop.

The egg business forms a part of the economic structure of our nation, and eggs as a food are highly nutritious.

Almost everyone has a few hens, who like dogs, are very faithful dumb creatures. Long live the chickens. This country needs more of them.

Little Leaders

A broker is a fellow who helps you go broke.

The greatest enjoyment of the political speeches comes after they quit.

One difference n a politician and an umpire, the umpire HAS to make decisions.

Very often a newspaper has to print things it does not like, but the public does.

"Safety First," is a good motto for some people, but the candidate's motto is always "safely first."

Some of our local voters now understand that they can lead a woman to the polls but they can't make her vote.

Statesmanship in this country has got to be about five per cent work for the country and the other 95 per cent press agent and publicity stuff.

People who worry so much about how many folks there are that are bigger and richer, ought to spend a little time thinking how many are smaller and poorer.

A college education is a good thing to be desired, but it is more important to be able to make a good living. The world has plenty of educated fools.

Perhaps the reason some folks drive so fast down the street is because they are afraid their gasoline will all burn out before they get to the other end.

MORTON

R. H. McCasland as moved to his new home in Morton.

INJURED MAN TAKEN TO FORT WORTH HOSPITAL

R. L. Brown, Lubbock manager of the Magnolia Petroleum Co., who was injured in an automobile wreck near Littlefield August 1 has been taken to Ft. Worth for special treatment.

Brown is reported to still be in a serious condition, but has a fighting chance for his life. He still remains unconscious most of the time.

Brown and E. L. McKenzie, of Amherst were enroute to Amherst to attend the celebration there, when the car in which they were riding turned turtle, severely injuring both parties.

ORDINANCE NO 2

An ordinance prescribing fire limits and establishing a building code requiring permits for the construction of buildings and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof.

Be it ordained by the city council of the city of Littlefield, Texas.

SECTION ONE: That the following shall be and are hereby declared to be the fire limits, all lots in block 16-17-23-24-30-31-39 and 40 of the original townsite of Littlefield, Texas.

SECTION TWO: Every building hereafter or altered within the district shall be enclosed on all sides with walls constructed wholly of stone, brick, Portland Cement, concrete or other hard combustible material of good heavy grade of iron or steel of not less than 28 gauge, any existing building within the limits which may hereafter be damaged by fire, storm decay or otherwise to the amount greater than one-half of its value may not be repaired and must be removed as provided by ordinance.

SECTION THREE: No frame or wooden structure shall be built hereafter in the city within the fire limits as herein given, or as from time to time may be established except:

(a) Temporary one story frame shed to be used by builders within the limits of lots whereon the buildings are in the course of construction or on the adjoining lots, to be removed after the building is completed.

(b) Fences of wood not over 10 feet high and in no case shall said fence be used as one side of any building or shed.

(c) Small out house not over 8 feet high or over 50 square feet of ground may be built of frame and wood.

SECTION FOUR: That in any building hereafter erected, altered or repaired, all chimneys shall be built of brick, stone or other incombustible material. Brick chimneys shall have walls at least four inches thick lined continuously on the inside with well burnt terracotta or vitrified clay pipe from the bottom of the flue continuously to its extreme height.

All chimneys shall be topped out at least three feet above the point of contact if a flat roof and at least two feet above the ridge of a pitched roof; no chimneys in any building already erected or hereafter to be built shall be cut off below, in whole or in part and supported by wood, but shall be wholly supported by stone, brick or iron starting from the ground or foundation; and all chimneys in any building already erected or hereafter erected which shall be dangerous in any way whatsoever shall be repaired and made safe or taken down; All wooden beams or framework shall be separated at least ten inches from the chimney and no wood furring shall be used against or around chimneys but the plastering shall be directly on the masonry or on metal lathing; the fire backs of all fireplaces hereafter erected shall be not less than eight inches thick of solid brick work, not less than twelve inches if stone or concrete; when a grate is set in a fireplace a lining of fire brick at least ten inches in thickness shall be added to the fire back unless soapstone tile or cast iron is used and filled solidly behind with fireproof material; no smoke pipe shall pass through any floor or roof of any building; all heater pipes from hot air furnaces, where passing through partitions or floors must be double tin or metal pipes with at least one-half inch space between, and no steam or hot water pipes shall be nearer than one inch to any woodwork.

SECTION FIVE: That all stud-walls, partitions, furrings, stair carriages and space between joints in all buildings erected shall be effectively fire stopped in a manner to completely cut off communication of fire through concealed places.

That all roofs of any buildings to be built in this district must be covered with steel iron or fire resisting composition roofing or other combustible material, and any roof on any building already built that is to be renewed must be covered in like manner.

SECTION SIX: No person or corporation shall erect or cause to be erected within the city any structure of any kind or enlarge or add to the outside dimensions thereof, or relocate any building or structure already erected or which may hereafter be erected without a building permit being first obtained therefor from the city officials, the application for such a permit shall be made and permit obtained before the work is commenced upon the foundation of such building or structure, or before the removal of any building begins, and such application shall state the exact site occupied, the material, dimensions, and estimated cost of the proposed building, structure or addition, the purpose for which the same is intended to be occupied, the number of flues to be constructed within the same and the probable time in which the work will be completed.

Sold Her Baby on Installment Plan

Mrs. Agnes Mack, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is held with Erwin Dathe, (both shown above) the man to whom she sold her 10-months-old baby for $300, fifty dollars of which was paid down, and the balance to follow in installments. The mother tearfully admits she wants her baby back.

SECTION SEVEN: That the fees for building permits shall be as follows: One dollar for buildings costing over $100 and not over $1,000, for buildings costing more than $1,000 $1.00 for the first $1,000 and fifty cents for each $1,000 or fraction thereof. Such fees prescribed thereof shall be credited to the city general fund.

PENALTY: That any person or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not less than $5.00 or more than $100.

The fact that there is no ordinance governing fire limits and building restrictions within this city which is protection to the life and property of this city at this time creates an emergency, and this ordinance shall be passed at the meeting of its introduction and shall be in effect immediately after its passage as approved by law.

Signed:
B. L. Cogdill, Mayor.
L. R. Crockett, Commissioner.
J. M. Stokes, Commissioner.

Beauchamp Puts Rayborn to Mat Two Out of Three

Littlefield athletic fans last Saturday night witnessed the first local wrestling match in the town's history when H. R. Beauchamp, of Littlefield and Grover Rayborn, of Munday met in the squared ring for a three fall bout.

Beauchamp won the first fall in about 10 minutes, using the arm-scissors hold; Rayborn claimed the second fall after another ten minutes of wrestling, clamping on a body scissors, but Beauchamp came back eight minutes later and pinned his opponent's shoulders to the mat with an other arm scissors grip.

Beauchamp is a young man at the game, but he is rapidly winning his way as an artist. Recently he put John Wheeler, the Planview Middleweight wrestler to the mat with his famous toe hold in four minutes time.

The attendance at the match was good, many experienced fans declaring that Beauchamp with a little more training and experience has the stuff in him to make a national reputation.

OPENING NEW TAILOR SHOP IN LITTLEFIELD

Blaine Odom and Grover Rayborn are this week opening a new tailor shop in the building just north of the Gold Star Cafe.

They have installed a splendid equipment, both men are experienced cleaners and pressers, and no doubt will enjoy a lucrative business as Littlefield climbs on up towards a city like Dallas.

Littlefield Schools Will Open Next Monday, Sept., 8

Once more the school teachers have gathered in Littlefield. This week they are all in attendance at the institute, held in Lubbock and next week they will take up the year's task of instruction to the young of the district.

Littlefield is proud of her schools proud of her teachers, proud of her pupils and proud of the records made in all departments. Anything that is for the betterment of her schools the citizens of this district are always ready with a big bunch of cooperation.

Assuring the teachers of the fullest cooperation of the Leader during the coming school year, this newspaper also heartily commends the following call of allegiance issued by Superintendent R. L. Speight, as appended hereto.

Suprintendent's Statement

Littlefield Public School will open Monday, September 8, at nine o'clock but since the new building is not completed and the old auditorium has converted into class rooms, there is no place for the general community meeting the first day of school.

All the pupils of the community are urged to be present however, to get enrolled and to obtain books. School will be held the whole day the time being taken for enrollment, classification, organization, and assignment of lessons...

The school work will be carried on under a great handicap due to the lack of room, but we expect to do the best we can. The teachers earnestly solicit the help and cooperation of the parents of the community in making this year's work the most successful in the history of the school.

The success or failure of the school depends largely on the way in which parents cooperate with the teachers. As superintendent, I want to invite you to visit the school. If you are not satisfied with the progress your child is making, come and discuss your child's progress with the teacher. Each teacher is eager to succeed, and it is by making your child a success, that the teacher succeeds.

Again, let me urge you, fathers and mothers, to visit the school.

R. L. SPEIGHT, Supt.

COMMUNITY MEETING

A community meeting has been called at the Gold Star Cafe, for Friday night, at 8:00 o'clock prompt. All business men and farmers interested in the development of Littlefield are urged to be present. Light refreshments will be served by the management. Come and boost for your home town. Important matters will be discussed.

Olton, consideration about $20,000.

ORDINANCE NO. 3

Traffic Ordinance

Be it ordained by the City Commissioners of the city of Littlefield, Texas.

SECTION ONE: No person shall operate or drive any vehicle within this city other than on the right side of the street or alley upon which such vehicle is being used; no person shall turn any vehicle on any street or alley within the city except at the intersection of two streets and in turning such vehicle said person shall always keep to the center of the street and to the right of the center of the intersection of such streets, and no person shall turn such vehicle without having immediately prior to turning thereof, extended the hand and arm at right angles to the vehicle which such person is driving and toward the side of which such person is intending to turn, so that such hand and arm shall be clearly visible to person in front of or behind such vehicle, no vehicle shall back except when leaving the curb.

SECTION TWO: No person shall park any vehicle except on the right side of the street and against the curb and in leaving the parking position shall only back such vehicle only for enough to clear such other vehicle as may be stopped or parked, and immediately proceed on the right side of the street; parking shall be done only at an angle of forty-five degrees to the left of the curb, with the front wheel against the curb, and not closer than two feet to any other vehicle; no person shall stop vehicle within the intersection of a street or an alley, nor shall any person stop or park a vehicle within twenty feet of the following places. (a) the intersection of two streets, (b) the intersection of a street and an alley, (c) a fire plug.

SECTION THREE: State laws regulating speed limit shall be enforced within this city.

SECTION FOUR: Any person violating any provision of this ordinance shall upon conviction be punished by a fine of not less than five or more than two hundred dollars.

SECTION FIVE: The fact that there is no ordinance governing the traffic of this city which is sufficient protection to human life and property creates an emergency and this ordinance be passed at the meeting of its introduction and be in effect immediately after passage and publication as provided by law.

Wonderful Walls of Worth

SHEETROCK
The FIREPROOF WALLBOARD

You can build solid, permanent walls and ceilings at low cost with Sheetrock, the different wallboard.

Sheetrock is made of pure gypsum, and its use assures dense, durable walls of exceptional quality. It is fire-proof, non-warping—takes any form of wall decoration.

Sheetrock is extensively used in homes for new walls and ceilings. It withstands years of wear and tear. Its moderate cost and excellent quality make it standard wall material for the modern dwelling.

Sheetrock also lends itself admirably to alterations and remodeling. Its broad, standard size sheets—3/8-inch thick—are quickly and easily erected. It saws and nails like lumber. Once in place, Sheetrock is up to stay, and its life is as long as the building itself.

Come in and let us show you what Sheetrock is, how it differs from ordinary wallboard, and how it may be used in new construction or alterations.

TIME FOR BUSINESS

With Ma Ferguson elected for two years and the Democratic party safely enthroned again for two years in Texas, with the Nation almost sure to go Democratic, and with everything the farmers raise selling at exorbitant prices, we certainly have lots to thank the good Lord for, so let us now forget that we ever had a fight August 23rd and get down to business.

WE HAVE THE THINGS TO MAKE YOU FORGET ALL YOUR TROUBLES

BINDER TWINE, the good old Deering kind, Tractor Engines, the best made—the kind that won't make you lose your religion when you take them out to the field, and they will turn sod the same as land. Naturally, we are just rearing to sell them, and we don't want to double our money on them either. Let us figure with you.

GROCERIES? Well, I should say so! The kind that will keep you from bolting the Democratic ticket; and that will tickle your throat and your pocketbook at the same time.

DRY GOODS? Well, I should say yes! The kind that makes your dollars go farther.

Shoes that cure the corns instead of cultivate them. Get the habit of being comfortably dressed. Come early and avoid the rush.

HUMAN HONESTY
 By Jess Mitchell

It has always been the belief of the editor of this newspaper that most people are honest, notwithstanding the assertion of the ancient Psalmist that "all men are liars;" of his son, the vainglorious and perfidious Solomon, "that all is vanity and vexation," and the mealy mouthed mutterings of some of the modern Gentile disciples to the contrary.

Ever since we have been old enough to reason and observe we have noticed that every once in a while we come across some person with a disposition of distrust for nearly everything and everybody. If one lawyer is a pettifogger, they are inclined to think the whole profession pettifoggers. If one doctor is a quack they would warn folks of the whole medical fraternity as inclined to incompetency and insincerity. If one preacher is a failure they are ready to pounce upon the whole clergy as mercenary and deceitful. If one business man is dishonest they are ready to involve the whole commercial circle in wholesale charges of generalities of such nature, yet too cowardly to be specific in their declarations, lest some specimen of genius home with a fist like a nail keg, backed up by 200 pounds of corporosity, make a meeting point with their physiognomy.

People like this, no matter their profession nor position, are generally the ones who take high glee when a new scandal comes to light. When a fresh bit of gossip gets started thru a town it affords them a fresh morsel to roll between their sanctified perfidious tongues. Notwithstanding they hold their hands in holy horror, they are more inclined to believe evil than good report. No matter their loud mouth professions and frequent exclamations of "The Lord being my judge," they are merely human vultures preferring a diet of social caron and corruption to that of wholesome food.

It is freely admitted by all reasonable thinking people that there are deplorable facts existing in the world but they should be minimized rather than magnified. The enlarging upon crime, the elephantizing of perfidity, the inflating of corruption and the magnifying of wrong is no aid whatever toward the purification of either social, moral or business conditions. There might have been some excuse for some of those olden Jews to get the mulligrubs and grouches, but for the modern pessimistic pilferer who cynically persists in a propaganda of smash-up and tear-down, of vilification and vituperation, of depreciation and destruction, there can be no excuse whatever that would be acceptable to fair minded people. And any man in any community who attempts to take hold of his own boot straps and lift himself into the realm of public favor and usefulness by lambasting his fellow creatures, no matter what their life, trade or profession may be, only chivvies his own self, blights his own prospects, mitigates his personal usefulness and brings upon himself the condemnation of humanity in general.

It is our belief that the majority of people in this country are doing the best they can under the circumstances. It is our belief that the majority of United States, state and municipal officers are honest; that the bulk of our bank presidents and cashiers are men of vital integrity; that by far the largest percentage of merchants and professional men are true to their trades and callings; that the most of mechanics and other tradesmen are true to the responsible positions they hold. It is not often that men attain responsible positions and hold them in this world until they have been tested and proven competent to occupy them. Yet if the expounded theory of some posy people were permitted as correct, society would long ago have gone to pieces, barbarism would have superceded civilization, and the spirit of the dark ages would have cast its mantle of crepe over the shoulders of the living century. What this old world needs today more than anything else is the spirit of optimism in both public utterances and private musings, and for this spirit to be sounded aloud until all the world will catch the music of its echo, and the miasmic lugubrious groan of the parasitical pedant would be forever drowned in the slough of his own despondency.

It is a generally accepted fact that folks who judge any given class of people through the actions of a few individuals of that particular class are not worthy of posing as judges. Most of the world's loud mouthed critics are not capable of constructive criticism at all. They are either naturally shallow pated or have in their after life developed a kink in their mental machinery which renders them incapable of imparting reasonable justice. It is also a fact that the man with a negative creed seldom makes any advancement, while the public speaker who has to resort to four-flushing and "playing" to the galleries for popularity, generally admits his own deficiency, tho it is seldom he has sufficient grey matter in his cranium to recognize the fact.

It is an unfortunate fact that a great many people of this country have the habit of accepting general conditions through the criterion established by a few specific instances. For example, if a bank goes defunct, a cashier defaults or a merchant goes broke, you hear about it within 24 hours; tho you give no thought whatever to the hundreds of thousands of financial institutions all over the country which are doing an honest, careful, conservative and successful business year after year. If a divorce case gets into the courts, the public is quickly apprised of it; tho no special thought is given to the fact that most marriage relations are happy and contented, and that the great majority of husbands and wives have for each other a great affinity and affection. While there may be an occasional eruption or disagreement, yet the general quietude and happiness of these homes will be broken up only by death, and it is only the cruel hand of fatal illness that can separate these two loved companions.

How often it is that human nature gets little praise for doing well, yet it is frequently excoriated for doing wrong! How frequently denunciation takes the place of appreciation! How often people will discourage instead of encourage, or at least assume an attitude of nonchalance when some glowing account of successful achievement is poured into their ear. And, alas, how frequently is the tendency for bilious minded people to puke the bile of their peevish, personal and pernicious experience upon the pitiful public in a peremptory, poignant and pusillanimous manner, with the indicated intention of purloining a ponderous popularity that is unworthy to the nth degree.

While this old world is not moving along in the right direction as rapidly as it might, yet it is our candid belief that it is really growing better. Of course, there are hundreds of occurrences ever day of which the better thinking and better living people cannot approve, yet the man who can not see the steady approach of the human race toward beatific felicity has something wrong with either his brain, his heart or his liver. According to our ideas, the man who goes along promulgating the idea that humanity is bad, and that society and business are on the road to destruction—that man is of no value to the world whatever, other than to enhance the price of lots in some cemetery. Groans, sighs, frowns, threats and intimidations will never make the world any better. The human race just naturally has too much Missouri mule in it. The things that go to make humanity and human relations better are sympathetic pleas, heartfelt encouragement, seasoned with plenty of smiles and laughter.

It is time for the arrogant, domineering publicity panderer with his vitriolic utterances, his gaseous and imbecilic speeches to give the band a chance to play.

YELLOW HOUSE LAND SALES FOR THE WEEK

The Yellow House Land Co. enjoyed a fine business last week, about 30 sales and contracts being made by new purchasers. Since the company never counts its eggs before they are hatched, only the actual sales closed up are reported this week as follows:

Indications now are that hogs will be 10 cents per pound by the first of October.

In England, a microphone, artfully voice of the nightengale broadcast throughout the country. That is a beautiful idea. The Pennsylvania State College sends out by radio the rattle of a rattlesnake. The snake, purposely annoyed, rattled obligingly for 15 minutes and the hearers shuddered. That was extremely interesting, for it reminds you that old nature used broadcasting methods in the snake's rattlers, the lions roar, thousands of centuries before any human beings were on earth.

 A subway train in New York was crowded. Suddenly it stopped with a jerk—and all the lights went out. When the lights came on again a young man started through the car shouting "Who lost a purse?" There was a chorus of "I did." Then advertise it in the Times, "he said. I am an advertising solicitor and can give you a special rate."
