Lieut. Johnny Starkey, 23, of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Starkey, five miles north of Spring Lake, arrived home recently from the Philippines, after spending 44 months overseas.

Starkey was missing for over 2 1/2 years during which time his parents heard nothing from him; and they only knew their son was alive when they received a letter from him in the service June 17, 1942, and was connected with the crew of the Air Corps.

the Japs, later, in Dec. 1942, joining the Guerilla army. Lieut. Starkey stated that their biggest difficulty, until the Guerilla forces were organized, was the procuring of food. He said the Natives were good to them; and that although they saw some "sorry" country a great deal of it was very beautiful, and that they lived in homes that cost all the way from $5000 to $10,000; and that he saw many homes that cost $200,000. He said it was timber country, growing lots of rice, corn, vegetables and fruits.

The Guerilla forces were made up of a number of bands, with over a thousand men to a band.

In interview with a Leader reporter, among Americans fighting with the Guerilla forces, Lieut. Starkey recalled the following: 1st. Lieut. Kenneth Bailey of Plainview; 2nd. Lieut. Lee Rutherford of Plainview (who returned home in January); 1st. Lieut. Timothy Casey of Akron, Ohio; Capt. Jack L. Samples of Loveland, Colo., who is still with the Guerillas; Capt. John F. Wood of New Mexico; 1st. Lieut. Louis C. Roybal of Albuquerque. (Continued on Back Page)

Payments Will Not Fall Due July 31; Be Subject to Call

Repayments Made On 202,669 Bales Of 1944 Cotton Crop

Maturity date for 1944 crop cotton under CCC loan has been extended for an indefinite period and will not fall due July 31, E. C. Munro, acting district representative, Commodity Credit Corporation's office of supply, USDA, has been advised.

All loans will be carried in past due status, subject to call by the Corporation. The extension gives farmers an opportunity to repay their loan and take possession of the cotton or sell their equity after July 31. Lending agencies also may continue to hold certificates of interest in producer's notes and cooperative marketing associations to carry loan cotton for their members. Interest on certificates held by lending agencies will be one percent per annum.

Of the 815,700 bales of Texas cotton which went into the loan from the 1944 crop, repayments have been made on 202,669 bales leaving 613,031 outstanding, Munro said.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGED (Special to the Leader)

Manter, Kansas.—A Texas harvest hand was killed and his wheat field buddy, who comes from the same town, faces fourth degree manslaughter charges in Stanton county district court after an alleged argument whether one wheat truck could pull another from a mudhole on the W. Hen Exchanged for Pressed Khaki on Iwo Jima

EGGED TO REVENGE

RYUKYU ISLANDS (Delayed)—A group of Leathernecks with a Second Marine Air Wing unit have an extra score to settle with the Japs, reports Technical Sgt. Gerald D. Gordon, Marine Corps combat correspondent.

When they first landed at this advanced base, they procured a hen that laid not less than five eggs every week. The little group was envied by everyone on the island. Then a Jap plane strafed the area. The Marines got to their foxholes in time, but not the hen.

pressed khaki on—of all places—two Jims.

It began when a Japanese hen escaped from an enemy pillbox under attack by men of the Third Marine Division's Third Tank Battalion. After a hectic chase around the front lines, the cackler was captured by Marine Sgt. Billy Wade of El Dorado, Texas.

The lanky Texan tethered the hen 'n his foxhole that night. Next morning the first noiseless "shell" burst near the fire where 12 other Marines were heating their C rations, and a beautiful gold and white egg sizzled merrily in a meat pan.

For six successive mornings Wade gulped his golden breakfast while 12 mouths drooled nearby. On the seventh day, Wade was absent. So was the egg. So, for that matter, was the chicken.

The following morning there were 13 Marines beating C rations over the fire. Wade had returned.

"Stopped layin'," the Texan said laconically.

But in his foxhole beside a few crumpled hen's feathers, rested a package. It contained two suits of pressed khaki. That's what the cackler was worth to an Army observer from Tennessee who boasts an amazing capacity for fried chicken.

Stolen Equipment Found in Sand Hills

Deputy Sheriff V. L. Smith, acting upon a tip from a cowboy, range riding in the sand hills, Tuesday of last week, set out by himself to make an investigation, and discovered hidden behind a high sand hill, about $2100 worth of oil well equipment, consisting of twenty-one Rock Steel Drill bits, 13 of which are reported to have been stolen from the Hughes Oil Well Company of Benjamin, Texas; and 8 are believed to belong to Clark & McCollum of Wichita Falls; all of which are reported to have been taken from a truck enroute to some production center.

The bits are said to weigh about 95 lbs. each, and Deputy Smith had to carry them on his shoulder about 160 yards to his truck.

Smith is reported to have a happy faculty of making such investigations alone, but he says now that he sure wished for some help while recovering this stolen property. The offenders have not been apprehended as yet, but Smith is working on a clue, and hopes to be able to make a report soon. He has the reputation of "getting his man."

Scrap Salvaged By Navy Fights Again

Close in the wake of the battles it fights, the U. S. Navy is recovering millions of dollars in vital scrap materials to fight again.

Material Recovery Units of the Navy pick the giant junkpile after each invasion to salvage everything from salt-pitted landing craft to pea-coats and fireplugs.

Examination of a typical month's salvage by a Material Recovery Unit indicates the vast savings effected. During April, 1945, Unit No. 14 saved for reissue materials worth $597,681 and sent critical scrap valued at $259,060 back to the States.

Breakdown of the figures shows that 400 tons of steel pipe fittings, steel plates and steel structurals and 286,000 board feet of lumber were saved.

Scrap returned to the States included 100 tons of used rubber tires, 380 tons of fired brass shells and 10,028 tons of prepared heavy-melting scrap. Issues of usable material were made to 63 ships and to 124 shore bases.

In the Pacific, the Material Recovery Units have handled quantities of supplies abandoned by the Japs. A unit at Espiritu Santo gathered so many airplane spare parts it came to be known as "The Graveyard of the Pacific."

Material Recovery Units are supervised by officers specially trained in packaging and preservation. For this reason they have the new and important role of assisting in the "roll-up" of rear bases no longer needed in the prosecution of the war.

Damaged equipment is disassembled and stripped of all usable parts. Collected materials are screened to recover parts that may be reused without reworking, those which require minor repairs and those which can only be used as scrap.

The units also assist in packaging and preserving items requiring special handling because of deterioration in storage. These are restored for future use, shipped to another base or prepared for sale as surplus.

Sergt. Climer Sends Uncle German Sword

Sergt. Royce Climer, serving with Putch's army, recently sent home a German general's sword to his uncle, A. D. Short of Littlefield.

This weapon has a gold handle with a lion's head in gold, and is elaborate in design and manufacture. The eyes of the lion appear to be set in rubies, at least the setting is the color of a ruby and shines like a ruby would be expected to shine.

Mr. Short has exhibited the sword to a large number of friends. Some time ago Sergt. Climer sent his uncle a German rifle. Climer has been overseas 32 months.

Gems of Thought

Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people.—Matthew 4:23.

My heart has always assured and reassured me that the gospel of Christ must be a divine reality.—Daniel Webster.

The shifting systems of false religion are continually changing their places; but the gospel of Christ is the same forever.—Cuyler.

The divinity of St. John's Gospel brings to view overwhelming tides of revelation, and its spirit is baptismal; he chronicles this teaching, "A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another."

Mary Baker Eddy. There is not a book on earth so favorable to all the kind and to all the sublime affections, or so unfriendly to hatred, persecution, tyranny, injustice, and every sort of malevolence as the gospel.—Beattie. So comprehensive are the doctrines of the gospel, that they involve all moral truth known by man; so extensive are the precepts, that they require every virtue, and forbid every sin.—Warren.

H. D. News

Eggs are becoming more important in meal-planning, and while the supply is plentiful, they are welcome additions to the diet, as they are rich in vitamins, minerals, and protein. They are adaptable, too, and may be served in a variety of ways. Though they are regarded as a breakfast dish, they are easily adapted to lunch and dinner menus.

Try making a vegetable souffle—use minced onion, finely chopped green pepper, chopped celery and a diced cooked vegetable such as peas, asparagus, or snap beans folded into beaten eggs, and baked in a buttered casserole.

Custards make a good main dish, too. Leave out the sugar, vanilla and nutmeg, and use meat broth or vegetable liquid in the place of part of all of the milk. Then serve with a vegetable plate.

Eggs make a good stretcher for meat when used in quick egg nood-lets cooked in meat broth. Beat one or two eggs with a little salt until they are foamy. Blend two tablespoons of flour for each egg, and pour the batter in a steady stream into the simmering broth. Cook the noodles just two minutes.

Other recipes which may be used are shirred eggs, scalloped eggs, creamed eggs, egg sandwiches, deviled eggs, and fruit whips.

Homemakers will find that with planning and ingenuity on their part, their families will enjoy these egg dishes, and at the same time get their required daily protein requirement for good nutrition.

Upholstered furniture should come in for its share of refreshing when housecleaning time comes.
For this job try dry suds, which works like magic. The method is simple and effective, and the results satisfactory.

To make the suds, dissolve ½ cup of neutral soap flakes, beads, chips, or bar soap shaved in small pieces in one quart of hot soft water. When the soap solution has cooled to a jelly-like consistency, beat it with a rotary egg beater until it looks like cake icing. When suds die down, rebeat them.

Remove the dust from the upholstered furniture either with a vacuum cleaner or whisk broom. Before shampooing the fabric with dry suds, test in an inconspicuous place to see whether it is washable. If so, then apply the dry suds to a small area with a brush, sponge, or cloth. Use a light circular motion.
Scrape off the soiled suds with a spatula. Rinse with a sponge or cloth wrung from clean lukewarm water, using a circular motion.
Rinse several times. Be sure no soap remains in the material. Use at little water as possible so that the foundation will not become wet.
Work quickly and wash a small area at a time and let each new area overlap the last one a little. Place

Jack Power, who some time ago resigned the pastorate of the Fundamental Baptist Church, has returned to the local church. The resignation of Rev. With South Plains Men In The Armed Forces

Lt. Henry J. Koke was awarded the Silver Star in ceremonies at the foot of Mount Suribachi, Iwo Jima, for his part in repulsing a banzai attack on a Seventh Fighter Command area on Iwo Jima.

The following release has been received from the 7th Fighter Command Headquarters on Iwo Jima:

Three Jap planes badly damaged and one 100-foot boat destroyed was the record of 2nd Lt. Henry J. Koke, Littlefield, Texas, on a VII Fighter Command P-51 strafing sweep on Kagamigahara airfield, Haashu, on June 9.

The 25-year-old Mustang pilot, who was among the VII Fighter Command 'Sun Setters' to fly the first escort mission for XXI Bomber Command Superfortresses on April 7, was making his sixth mission to the Japanese empire.

Coming in on Kagamigahara Airfield at "400 miles an hour plus," Lt. Koke spotted and strafed a Betty (twin-engine bomber).

"I fired about 700 rounds into it but it didn't burn," he said. "If I didn't destroy it, I certainly left it badly damaged."

Leaving the target he strafed high tension power plants and, reaching 6,000 feet, he saw a single-engine Jap fighter.

"I made a head-on pass at him, he said, "and I observed hits, but I had to break off when another Mustang pulled into my line of fire. The Jap got away then."

After firing at gun positions as he made his way down on another airfield, Lt. Koke also got in some hits on a Nell, (twin-engine bomber). Like the other bomber, it didn't burn but he "damaged it."

Shortly after leaving the coastline, he saw a 100-foot boat in Tokyo Bay. "I made one broadside strafing pass with two other Mustangs," he said, "and then we made a pass from front to rear. We really 'lobbered' it. It was smoking when we pulled off."

Lt. Koke had previously shot down one and possibly two Japanese aircraft over the Japanese empire on May 29, while escorting XXI Bomber command Superfortresses on a Yokohama strike.

He was making his fifth mission to the home islands of Japan when seven or eight enemy fighters attempted to attack the B-29's returning from their target. Lt. Koke, with his wingman, made a pass at an Oscar, a single engine fighter.

"I saw hits in his cockpit," Lt. Koke said, "and then he spun in."

As Lt. Koke flew on out from Yokohama and over the water, three more Nipponese sneaked in behind the flight.

"We scissored back and forth and in the evasive action, I managed to get one in my sights," he related. "I was firing from a stalled position so I didn't see him after I away, I observed hits on his cockpit into a spin. But before I fell pit and engine."

Lt. Koke's wife, Dora, lives at 1313 Ave. N, Lubbock. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Koke, live on Route 2, Littlefield. Prior to entering the Army in January, 1941, he was a trucker. He arrived in the Pacific Ocean areas in August, 1944, for the second time. Before returning to the States for pilot training, he served with a cavalry outfit in the Southwest Pacific.

With The 7th Infantry Division On Okinawa, July 12.—Sgt. Jesse C. Dalton, 22, Anton, Texas, helped to repulse a Japanese counter attack by killing seven of the enemy with his automatic rifle during the closing days of the Okinawa campaign.

A total of 60 Nips died in the two hour battle, and Dalton and two other Americans were credited with forcing a withdrawal of enemy troops.

Several Japs encircled Dalton's foxhole while he was firing at other targets in front of him. The Texan became irritated after many near misses and left the hole to open up on the Japs surrounding him, killing 7 and sending the others scurrying to cover.

Dalton entered the army in November, 1943 and is a veteran of the battle for Leyte Island in the Philippines.

His wife and son, and his parents,

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Dalton, reside near Anton.

Pfc William T. Hall, Jr., husband of Mrs. W. T. Hall, Jr. of Olton, is a member of the 3rd Battalion of the 339th "Polar Bear" Regiment, which discovered a vast collection of priceless art treasures that had been taken by the Germans from all over Italy and hidden in a 15th Century castle in Italy. The 339th, part of the 85th "Custer" Division, fought as a unit of the Fifth Army.

Tank-mounted troops of the battalion entered the castle and found a number of large sealed crates with German lettering on them. Inspection of the crates revealed that they contained 350 pieces of art—paintings, sculptures, carvings, antiques—all properly tagged and in good condition.

These were works by Rembrandt, Rubens, Raphael, Michelangelo, Botticelli, Holbein and Valasquez.

S-Sgt. Ernest Grigg and Pfc Howard Grigg, sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Grigg of southwest of Anton, are both at home on furlough.

Ernest, who is just back from overseas, has a thirty day furlough. He is stationed at Fort Sam Houston at the present.

Howard, who is stationed at the Pampa Army Air Field, has a fifteen day furlough.

S-Sgt. Ernest Grigg has a regular "story book" record. He carries German shrapnel in his flesh, was several times wounded and decorated, captured by the Germans and escaped.

Pvt. James E. Kyzer, son of Adele P. Kyzer, Box 105, Bula, Tex. and husband of Betty B. Kyzer, Gen. Del. Littlefield, Tex., is now attending a school for training of various engineer personnel in different categories of specialized skills, such as Carburetion and Ignition, Machinists, Construction Equipment Maintenance and Repairs, at the Engineer Maintenance and Supply School, Granite City Engineer Depot, Granite City, Illinois.

The school, which is under the direction of Engineers, has as its purpose, refection of the Office of the Chief the training of personnel to become highly skilled mechanics and supervisors of mechanics. The school has earned itself an enviable record and has been awarded the Meritorious Service Unit Plaque for outstanding services.

At the close of the course, Pvt. James E. Kyzer will return to Fort Lewis, Washington, where he was on duty prior to entering the school at Granite City.

Two Texas girls, Miss Marguerite Stuart of Houston and Miss Antoinette Bracher of Fredericksburg, were members of the first class commissioned in the WAVES.

One of the first radio broadcasting stations established by newspaper was WFAA at Littlefield, owned by The Dallas News.

Waiting for Wounds To Heal at McCloskey Hospital, Temple

McCloskey General Hospital, Temple, Texas. — Back in February of this year, PFC William J. Collier, Littlefield, Texas, rifleman with A company, 391st Infantry Regt., 80th Division, had his hands blown off by a hand grenade in Luxembourg.

The infantryman was advancing toward an enemy strong point and preparing to cross the OUR river in an assault boat when a piece of shrapnel or a bullet hit a hand grenade tied to his belt. He made an attempt to snatch it off but the grenade exploded and blew both of his arms off below the elbow. The explosion also tore a hole in his right hip and right leg.

"They may amputate their limbs but they'll never amputate their spirits," says Charlie McGonegal, handless veteran of World War I, who came to McCloskey General Hospital, Temple, Texas, recently to meet Collier and other patients, to show them the ability of the disabled soldier.

Back in February 1918, Pvt. McGonegal, B Company, 18th Infantry, 1st Division, had his hands blown off by a hand grenade in the Seicheprey-Toul sector. He had just pulled the pin of a five-second grenade when a shell fragment hit him in the head, knocking him out. The grenade dropped from McGonegal's hands, exploded, and blew both of his arms off below the elbow.

Visiting McCoskey under the auspices of the American Legion, whose Field Service representative he now is, McGonegal showed victims of World War II what he did about the wounds he received in World War I.

With two ingeniously contrived steel hooks operated by shoulder harness, McGonegal does about everything a man with two human hands can do.

McGonegal visited with individuals and talked to McCoskey patients in groups. Able to tie his own tie, light his own cigarette, type a letter, comb his hair, wipe his brow, and "handle" the table ware with ease, were among the many acts he demonstrated.

Since World War I, he has been a traveling salesman, Civil Service employee, rancher, postmaster, assistant department adjutant of the American Legion of California and national field secretary of the American Legion.

He lives a happy, normal life. A jovial, robust middle-aged man, married and has two boys. One son is in service and another is in school. He drives his own car, rides or drives a horse and has 300 hours of solo flying to his credit.

Assigned full time to amputation centers, both Army and Navy, it is his job to show what he has done with his life since the day the doctor told him, "a cripple is a man who has something wrong with him but fails to do anything about it."

Engaged in farming when he was called into service in January 1944, Collier is not worried about his future. He knows definitely what he wishes to do.

His interest is in farming and livestock. When he gets properly fitted with his prothesis and rec-

Little-Rutherford Store Is Occupying Additional Space

The Little-Rutherford Department Store is now using the additional space provided by an extension of their building.

An extension 50 x 35 feet has just been completed, giving the concern a building 50 x 125 feet and extending from Phelps avenue to XIT drive.

The extension made possible additional space for all departments, but much of the increased space will be given over to enlarged ready-to-wear and shoe departments.

Observing the enlarging of the store, Little-Rutherford have reduced the price of a number of items in the store, including summer dresses and some items in shoes. These "Store Expansion Specials" are announced in an advertisement in this issue of the Leader.

United Shows To Open Here Monday For Week's Carnival

The Greater United Shows, who open a week's engagement in Littlefield next Monday, July 30th, under sponsorship of the Richard New Post, American Legion, on the showgrounds on West Clovis Highway near the Football Stadium. Residents of Lamb County will remember the Greater United Shows, on account of previous exhibitions in Littlefield.

The carnival, under the personal direction of the veteran Texas show man, J. George Loos, is presenting a number of new rides and attractions for this season's tour; many of them never before seen in this section of Texas, ranging in miniature rides for the tiny tots to the honest-to-goodness thrillers for the lovers of the sensational. Show attractions of a meritorious nature, headed by the Monty Beehler dog, monkey and pony circus and the Mystic Oddities show of Prof. Clarence Johnson and nearly two score of quality amusement attractions comprise the glamour packed midway.

Members of the American Legion will be present at all performances to man all gates and ticket boxes, as well as acting as guides to the various attractions.

of Samples took to the hills to overtake four more of our own companions, who were about 12 hours ahead of us. We six made it safely to the hills, and our biggest job, until the guerilla forces started was to procure good food stuff.

"During the time while we were in the hills another American came to see us by the name of Lt. Col. Frank D. McGee, who was later made our Commander.

"The Guerillas broke out in October, November and December of 1942. Our party of six joined Dec. 26, 1942. Later approximately 30 odd Americans joined in the Philippines with the Guerilla in that area. There were more than 100 Americans over the Island.

"The organization grew, and carried on the normal functions of an Army. Commands were distributed throughout the Island, which function through a central command.

"We received supplies from Southwest Pacific by submarine the latter part of 1943 and all through 1944, and in 1945 until the Americans returned.

"We were subjected to numerous Jap attacks at any time. Through the goodness and patriotic spirit of the Philippines, and keeping our wits about us, the larger portion of us, who did not surrender, managed to exist."

Lieut. Starkey was a patient in the Payne-Shotwell Hospital several days last week for treatment for Malaria, but is reported better, and has been released.

Lt. Starkey has a brother, Andrew Starkey, 22, with the Field Artillery, who arrived back in the States from the European area July 10, landing in New York.

He had been overseas a few months, and took part in combat service in Germany before Germany surrendered. His parents received a telegram recently from their son at Camp Kilmer, N. J., to the effect that he would see them soon.

Lamb County Men Reported Coming Home

Two Lamb county service men, Cpl. Clyde R. Coffee, formerly superintendent of schools at Amherst, and Pfc. Billy L. Ott of Spring Lake, were on the list of those embarking for home on the Queen Elizabeth, which docked in New York Friday.

The giant liner brought 14,576 soldiers of the famed 44th Infantry Division home amid the deep-throated roars of harbor whistles and the jubilant cheers of the men themselves.

SAFEGUARDING THE EYES OF TEXAS

Why glasses alone can't correct faulty vision

Your eyes are marvelously complex organs. That means the causes of faulty vision are complex, too. They can be detected accurately only by one who is professionally trained in the problems of eyesight. Correcting faulty conditions with the right procedure in each individual case is likewise a delicate task requiring professional services and high technical skill. That's why glasses alone — glasses without professional services — can't correct faulty vision.
