

Contemplated Public Work Projects In This Section Are Reported

The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce has received a request from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce calling for the various contemplated public works projects in this immediate section.

The West Texas body is securing this information for the advisory engineer of the Reconstruction Finance corporation of the Dallas office, and it is likely that it will be used in connection with formulating the gigantic public works program being contemplated by the national administration.

A request has also been made to list all of the unsold bonds in this territory. Dr. Ira E. Woods, president of the local Chamber of Commerce said that an investigation failed to disclose any unsold bonds.

Bill Before Congress
A public works program bill is now pending before congress calling for a $500,000,000 fund for direct unemployment aid. The funds would be raised by the Reconstruction Finance corporation through additional borrowing.

Of the total fund, $200,000,000 would be used for advance to States up to one-third of the public money expended by them and their political subdivisions for relief during the preceding three month period.

The remaining $300,000,000 would be allocated by the relief administrator upon the basis of need.

Additional Plans Considered
Administration officials already are working on the third phase of the Roosevelt relief plan—a gigantic public works program that may run up to a billion dollars.

Dr. Woods said that the contemplated projects that would be reported from this section today would be highway paving projects, additional pavement in Littlefield, and enlarging the city water system. It is likely that other projects will be added at a later date.

WILL VOTE ON TRUSTEES FOR SCHOOL HERE

To Select Two in Election Saturday; Four Candidates

Two trustees for the Littlefield Independent School district will be selected at the election Saturday, April 1.

The choice of the voters at this election will succeed to the places on the board of E. A. Bills and R. E. McCaskill, whose terms expire.

There are four candidates: J. F. Howton, Dr. J. D. Simpson, C. O. Robbins and R. E. Biles.

J. H. Ware, who was announced as a candidate, has stated that he will not make the race.

J. W. James, who was appointed to the board and later elected president, will, under the school laws of Texas, continue as a member of the board until the expiration of the term of Senator Arthur P. Duggan, which will not expire until April, 1934.

It was announced some time ago and later corrected, that Mr. James' term of office would expire at this time.

The two following letters have been received by Mr. James from Senator Duggan relative to Mr. James continuing in office until April, 1934. Both these letters should be carefully read by each voter in order that they may understand the matter clearly. The voters should also read the portion of this article which refers to the laws governing Independent School Districts.

Mr. Duggan's letters follow:

"Extra" Issued by Leader

Publishing an "extra" is not an unusual event with daily newspapers. But, with weekly newspapers—well extra editions are few and far between.

Within less than 15 minutes after the announcement was made late Friday afternoon that the First National Bank would reopen Saturday morning, the Lamb County Leader was "on the street" with an "extra."

Several hundred copies were distributed free of charge in the downtown section of Littlefield, and several hundred more copies were distributed free in Amherst, Sudan and Antton.

The publication of an "extra" by the Leader quickly spread the news throughout Littlefield and Lamb County that the bank would reopen Saturday morning.

The Leader was glad to be of special service to the people of Littlefield and Lamb county.

CITY ELECTION WILL BE HELD HERE TUESDAY

Two Candidates for Mayor, Three for Commissioner

Five candidates will be voted on in next Tuesday's city election. There are two candidates for mayor and three for city commissioner. A mayor and two commissioners are to be elected.

Mayor T. S. Sales is a candidate for re-election. His opponent is L. R. Crockett, who served as mayor of Littlefield several years ago.

Pat Boone is a candidate for re-election as city commissioner. The other candidates for commissioner are L. E. Davanay and Carl Wolf.

There is much interest in the election, and interesting contests are developing.

STUDYING AGRICULTURE
A farmers night school has been instituted in the West Side community. J. W. Hulse, vocational agricultural instructor in the Olton schools, is in charge.

Farm Group Names Delegates to Austin In Interest of Farm Holiday

A delegation of six farmers of this section were named at a meeting of the Agricultural Business association held in Littlefield Saturday afternoon and left for Austin Sunday morning in the interest of the Farm moratorium bill now before the legislature.

The body voted to oppose the bill as it stands. The bill being considered at the present, in the event of a foreclosure of farm property, leaves the matter entirely up to the district judge. In the discussion at the Saturday afternoon meeting, the association favored a complete farm holiday for two years and "with no strings attached," and the only bill the association would consider would prohibit the foreclosure on any farm property during that time.

The committee sent to Austin was composed of F. L. Scott, Morton; T. W. Moss, Levelland; W. S. Strain, Littlefield; C. W. Smiling, Littlefield;

Checks Are Received On Crop Production Loans

Treasury Secretary, William H. Woodin, and Assistant-Secretary, James H. Douglas, visited the Bureau of Engraving at Washington to inspect the new currency being printed by the order of President Roosevelt to relieve the financial strain and place more money in circulation.

DEPOSITS GAIN $20,000 FIRST DAY OF REOPENING OF LITTLEFIELD BANK

The First National Bank of this city reopened at 9 a. m. Saturday with a volume of business far in excess of that which was enjoyed previous to the bank moratorium.

With the reopening of the bank, business in all lines in Littlefield showed a substantial increase. This increased volume has been maintained, and there is every indication that the merchants and other businesses in Littlefield will continue to enjoy an improved volume.

One of the outstanding features of the reopening of the bank was an increase of $20,000 in deposits Saturday over the total deposits when the bank closed for the moratorium.

Deposits of the bank previous to the moratorium totaled $220,000. At the close of business Saturday night the bank's deposits had climbed to $240,631.70.

Some indication of the substantial character of the First National Bank of this city is gained from these figures taken from a statement of the bank as of Saturday night, March 25: Loans and discounts, $91,127.85; cash and due from banks, $126,195.42; deposits, $240,631.70.

Legion Sponsoring Dance Thursday Night of Next Week

The local post of the American Legion is sponsoring a dance at the Legion hut, Thursday night, April 6. The entertainment committee in charge of the dance is making plans for a large attendance. Music will be furnished by the Lone Star orchestra, a seven piece organization.

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS TO BE RELEASED HERE

Checks Are Expected Soon On General Purpose Loans

Approximately 60 checks, averaging $200 each, have been received by farmers of the Littlefield territory on the 1933 crop production loans.

At least 100 applications have been sent in from the Littlefield territory and approximately 250 from Lamb county seeking loans. None of the applications sent in from the Littlefield district have been turned down however, a few have been returned for corrections.

General Purpose Loans Accepted
J. C. Hilbun, on the committee in charge of accepting applications for the Reconstruction Finance cooperation general purpose farm loans, said that several checks from these applications are expected within the next few days.

About 75 of the applications sent in from Littlefield have been approved. Approximately 300 applications have been sent in, of which less than one per cent have been refused.

An average of about five per cent has been cut from the amount applied for in the applications. The loans, will average $250 each.

Carnival Under Auspices of Boy Scouts Friday

A good time is promised all who attend the boy scout carnival Friday evening, March 31, at the high school auditorium; with a splendid program, featuring colorful glimpses of Old Mexico, character sketches of "How to Know Yourself," and many other attractions, will be presented.

The public is urged to attend and enjoy the evening with the Boy Scouts.

ACTUAL WORK TO BE UNDERWAY BEFORE APRIL 15

Location Undecided; Representatives of Company Visit Here

It was learned from reliable sources here late Wednesday that actual construction on a cotton oil mill for Littlefield will be under construction before April 15.

The Littlefield mill will be the tenth in the string of the Abilene Cotton Oil company.

Representatives of Ross Richardson, president of the Abilene Cotton Oil company, were in Littlefield Wednesday considering various locations for the mill. The company owns a 20-acre tract of land adjoining the Farm Bureau gin properties on the east, but are considering other locations.

Other mills in the company's string are in Abilene, Ballinger, Winters, San Angelo, Munday, Seymour, Slaton, Lockney and Plainview.

NEW LODGE TO BE INSTALLED AT PEP SUNDAY

SONS OF HERMAN OF TEXAS CHAPTER TO BE ORGANIZED

The Sons of Herman of Texas lodge will install a chapter of the order and officers at the Pep auditorium Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. Grand president Fritz Schilo, of San Antonio, will be present.

C. L. Naegelin, field representative of the order, has spent several days in this section making plans for the organization of the order.

All members of the lodge and their families are cordially invited and urged to attend.

House Passes Farm Aid Bill

In an effort to stabilize the agricultural markets, a bill is now before the United States Senate after passing the lower house by a large majority, which would give the President and Secretary Wallace unprecedented powers to deal with the farm situation.

The measure would grant the Secretary of Agriculture powers to apply any of several methods of controlling surpluses and reducing acreages, including features of the domestic allotment plan, rental of lands to retire them from production and the Smith plan of reducing cotton planting by giving in exchange options on government-owned cotton.

The plans seemingly most favored by the President, in the event he is granted the power, would be for a government to lease approximately 30 per cent of the lands in cultivation and retire them from production for a period of at least one year.

Medal Lost Years Ago Is Found

Back in 1917 City Commissioner Pat Boone, then a High school student, won a gold medal in the New Mexico Interscholastic League meet. He made the 440-yard dash in 53 1-5 seconds, establishing a state record. And it was several years before that record was broken.

The medal, while being worn as a watch fob, was lost two years later in a dipping vat scum at Kenna, New Mexico.

Mr. Boone offered $25 reward for the recovery of the treasured medal. But it was not found.

A week ago a man living near the site of the corral found the medal—14 years after it was lost. Today it bears the marks of having been stepped on by the feet of many cattle.

The medal is now in Mr. Boone's possession.

THE EAST AND WEST HIGHWAY

One of the most important projects in the interests of Littlefield, Lamb county, and a large section of the South Plains is the proposed east and west highway extending west from Floydada into New Mexico.

The matter has been discussed in a general way for some time, but other projects, which required immediate attention, have necessitated the deferring of active efforts. We have been directing our attention to the paying of Highway No. 7 and to the obtaining of the designation of a north and south highway. Success has been achieved in both matters.

We do not say that we should plunge into the east and west highway matter to the neglect of other projects, but we do say that we should not lose sight of the importance of the proposed east and west road and the necessity of action in the matter at the earliest possible time. Those who are working in the interests of highways for this section are doing excellent work, and should receive the commendation, praise and whole-hearted support of the entire citizenship of this section.

We who live in Littlefield and immediate section should bear in mind that if we are to succeed to the degree which we desire that we must develop a system of good roads that will make Littlefield increasingly accessible. Good roads are essential to the maximum achievements in marketing and merchandising.

LET US ALL WORK TOGETHER FOR THE EAST AND WEST HIGHWAY.

BANKS

You have no doubt often heard this old saying: "We never miss the water till the well goes dry."

The same is true as regards our relations with banks. Few of us give much thought to banks until the city in which we reside is without a bank for a brief period or several months. In fact, we take our banks very much as a matter of course; most of us have had some relations with banks almost from the time we were old enough to affix our signature to a check—or a note.

A bank is the heart of our commercial life. When a bank in a community ceases to function then it is hard to keep that particular community alive. We should never lose sight of the importance of banks, and we should at all times render them the greatest possible co-operation.

The citizenship of Littlefield and district has demonstrated in many ways that they recognize the importance of our bank. Such co-operation is what has built Littlefield. This same spirit of working together will continue to build Littlefield.

LET US CONTINUE TO WORK TOGETHER FOR A GREATER LITTLEFIELD AND LAMB COUNTY.

SANDSTORMS

Sandstorms have been raging on the Plains the past week. Even the old time residents do not appreciate these dust-storms, but even at that they are willing to accept them rather than the earthquakes, cyclones and floods which have visited other sections of the United States.

Maybe the reason some people don't laugh at radio jokes is because they only remind them of the days long ago when they heard the same thing in a medicine show.

Next Tuesday the citizens of Littlefield will be called upon to vote the issuance of $75,000 worth of municipal bonds for the construction of a waterworks system here.

ENGINEERS BEGIN SURVEYING ON NORTH AND SOUTH HIWAY

A crew of engineers under direction of District Highway Engineer H. N. Roberts last Tuesday began location and surveying of right-of-way for the authorized highway leading north and south between Muleshoe and Morton, expense for such survey to be borne by Bailey and Cochran counties.

It is understood that later on when this road has been well established and the full 100 foot width of right-of-way has been obtained, it will be taken over and designated as a state highway, thus connecting State highways, 7, 28 and 24.—Muleshoe Journal.

The Women of Littlefield and Lamb County Point The Way THEY TELL YOU WHY!

Great numbers of the women of Littlefield and Lamb County submitted answers in the letter writing contest, "Why I Should Buy From A Home-Owned Store," which was conducted by Renro Bros. Grocery & Market—A 100-PER CENT LITTLEFIELD INSTITUTION.

Printed herewith are the letters submitted by the winners of the First, Second, Third and Fourth Prizes.

- The Winners of These Prizes Were—
First—Mrs. W. P. McDaniel, Littlefield.
Second—Miss Georgia Kirkpatrick, Littlefield.
Third—Miss Ruth Snow, Littlefield.
Fourth—Mrs. F. T. Williams, Littlefield.

FIRST PRIZE

Littlefield, Texas, February 18, 1933

Renro Bros. Grocery & Market, Littlefield, Texas.

Dear Sirs: In reply to your statement, "Why I should buy from home owned stores," I am glad to state that the reasons are many, obvious and true. Your contest should be more or less educational to the people in this vicinity; at least it should be interesting since it is a matter of benefit and progressiveness both socially and financially.

In the first place, Renro Brothers, I would ask you, who are the pioneers in every city, who pay the way for development, to whom do we look for its credit, its stability, its basic foundation? Who in the beginning and in the continual growth of a metropolis, be it great or small, is the axle around which its constructive activity falls?

The credit can be justly given to no one but the home owned concerns. Chain stores never establish themselves at mere crossroads, they wait until commerce and trade have been organized to a degree of safety. After all these have become a certainty they locate in some prominent district and reap the harvest with constrictive methods.

The man who owns his business employs home town help; he owns his home and where a man's home and business are, there you will find his personal, social and civic interests. People who work for large chain stores never purchase homes for they have no proof that their job will be permanent or that they will not be transferred.

When we trade with our independent merchants we pay ourselves interest on the money we spend, for that money is in turn spent at home and not sent out to corporation heads.

Wishing you the busiest of seasons and lasting success in every attempt for our city's improvement, I am,

Yours very truly,

MRS. W. P. McDANIEL

SECOND PRIZE

"WHY I SHOULD BUY FROM HOME OWNED STORES"

In the first place, I chose this particular town for my home because I expected to reap the benefits and advantages to be obtained from such a location, and I'd be a poor citizen indeed, if I expected to get more out of a citizenship than I'm willing to put into it.

Second—I feel obligated to patronize my home owned stores because of the fact that I like to see my town grow and prosper, and it can do this only in proportion to the way each and every one of us co-operate and keep our money in circulation at home. Money spent at home remains at home, thus making my town a more desirable place in which to live.

Third—It is my duty to buy from home owned stores because these stores pay rent, taxes and license in order to operate. So by giving money back to the town in this way they are a great factor towards the up-keep of my town.

Fourth—These people who operate the home owned stores help our town in many ways other than by paying taxes, rent, etc. For instance:

If any rural people wish to erect a church or school house these men who operate the home owned stores are immediately called upon for donations. They are also called upon to assist in all sorts of worthy drives which are put over by the Red Cross, American Legion, Salvation Army, Chamber of Commerce, etc, for aiding in relief work for unfortunate humanity.

They also stand behind our high school ball boys, our municipal band, and are instrumental in making our Trades Days a success.

In fact, there is no progressive movement undertaken in which the men who operate our home owned stores do not play a very important role.

Therefore, I'm going to spend my money with him rather than send to some mail order company for goods which are often priced cheaper and are usually of cheaper quality than you could buy at home for the same money.

The mail order houses does absolutely nothing to foster the growth and development of my home town and when they receive our money, our home merchant suffers the loss just to the extent of the size of our mail order.

So let's practice the golden rule—"Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

Yours very truly,

GEORGIA KIRKPATRICK

THIRD PRIZE

"WHY I SHOULD BUY FROM HOME OWNED STORES"

Our national well-being depends largely upon the prosperity of the thousands of smaller cities and villages scattered across the country. Our large industrial centers have been able to develop only because of the existence of these smaller communities which being prosperous in themselves, have been able to make vital contributions to the progress of the large cities. The prosperity of the smaller cities and villages is largely dependent upon the prosperity of their local businesses.

In the great majority of these smaller places, retailing and wholesaling make up the larger part of the business. In many places, retailing is the only business. Then any development which disturbs the prosperity of small business is a serious threat to our general prosperity. Profits from local businesses buy new furniture, clothing, automobiles, and countless other articles whose production and distribution are essential to our economic welfare. Profits from local businesses develop new enterprises within the community. Lack of support of each citizen to local businesses will not only disturb the small community; a serious reaction will take place in the large cities as the profits in small communities become impaired.

Home owned stores pour their profits back into the community, thus creating more wealth for each and every citizen of the community and placing the local banks on a sound economic footing instead of economic feudalism. They could not exist if we did not support our home owned businesses.

The capital of home owned stores is many times small, but enough to carry on the business quite well; if the stores have the support of the community they should maintain, we must spend our money with them instead of mail order houses and chains.

One of the great contributions of home owned stores has been that it has offered ambitious and efficient young people opportunity to receive training in executive capacity and business responsibility, that they might fit themselves to establish their own enterprises. Home owned stores share the problems of the community, and often those who are sick, or out of work, and carrying accounts. Remote control can never render any service to the community.

It is our duty to buy from home owned stores, that they may prosper, maintain their status in the development of national prosperity, and carry out their civic obligations toward local interest with definite, well formulated policies.

Yours very truly,

RUTH SNOW, 716 East Fifth St. Littlefield, Texas

FOURTH PRIZE

Littlefield, Texas February 13, 1933

Renro Bros. Littlefield, Texas.

Dear Sirs: We, of the smaller towns and communities, are fortunate in being able to do our dealing with home owned stores. At the present time, in many towns and all cities, it is almost impossible to find a home owned store of any size in any of these communities.

Whom shall we decide is at fault for this state of affairs? It might seem, at first thought, to be the large corporations, who took the business, but is it not, in truth, the purchaser. We, as consumers, are free and independent to buy as we choose and it might be better if we would try looking into the future a little, than just saving a cent today.

Perhaps someone will say we should have been warned sooner but, have we not been taught from childhood to spend our dollars at home, and that couldn't mean to buy from a store which is owned by someone in another state or even another town. Our decision then should be based on what we wish to become of the profits from our purchases. Shall they remain in our community as additions and improvements or shall they be immediately sent away to—no body knows where—and used for—no body knows what?

As parents, or those interested in young folks, there is another important subject for consideration. When a young man grows up and is ready to go into business for himself, with likely only a small amount for investment, what shall his chance be? Will it be possible for him to start a little business of his own and grow with the outlook of his always having a job and let the most of his profits of his labors be placed in the bank to the account of the large concern to whom he happens to belong.

The good reasons for patronizing home merchants might be multiplied almost indefinitely, but I would say there is one thing on my mind, and that is whether we want the home merchant or not, as, at the present rate, he will shortly be a thing of the past and it will be too late, and, whether purposely or not we shall have cast our lot against him.

Yours sincerely,

MRS. F. T. WILLIAMS

AWAKENED WOMAN

by ELINORE BARRY

Third Installment SYNOPSIS

When Joyce opened her eyes one morning to see a fruit-laden orange tree from the end of the luxurious peeping porch where she lay in bed, she couldn't decide what had happened to her, for the last thing she remembered was a skidding taxicab in Chicago on a sleeting November day. And when she saw the circlet of diamonds on her wedding finger and then a man who called her Frills, she came to bid her an affectionate goodbye before leaving home for a hurried business trip, warning her to be careful after her fall from her horse the day before, she was even more puzzled. The gorgeous house that was evidently her home, the faint brown stains on her fingers—she had never smoked—and the initials on her toilet articles, F. L. P., added to her bewilderment. But—"it's heavenly," she said, "I'd be perfectly happy to spend the whole day right here."

SOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

There were also several letters lying about in this litter, Joyce, picking one up, glanced around at the door feeling an almost irresistible impulse to look it before she read the letter. Then she forced herself to remain seated. "You've a perfect right to read these letters," she said to herself out loud, "don't be a fool! Even if any one did come, I guess . . . I guess . . . I'm Mrs. Neil Packard!" Yet the uneasy feeling persisted that the girl named Frills Packard might at any moment come in from the other room and scornfully demand an explanation of her actions. "Oh, what's the matter with me? There can't be another Frills. Frills Packard is as dead now as . . . as Joyce Ashton was yesterday. She can't come in."

Joyce opened the first letter resolutely. A newspaper clipping fell out. On the heavy, pale lavender paper with deckle edges was a short note in a sprawling feminine hand. It began without preliminaries: "Looks as if you had some party! Wish I'd been there. You might hand this clipping on to Laurine. I hear she's trying to find out where Mait was while you were at Nita's. Watch your step, Frilly! C."

Not trying to digest the meaning of this note, Joyce hastily read the newspaper clipping: "A great deal of righteous indignation is being felt among the citizens of the Valley Road district at the actions of a certain prominent society woman and her weekend guests. When all other amusements failed to provide the necessary thrills, a new game was instituted and carried out between two and three o'clock Sunday morning. This game was a species of follow-your-leader, played in motors with no headlights, and only the usual rear lights on. The bright moonlight was presumably responsible for the fact that there were no casualties among the players, for the driving was undoubtedly of the most reckless character, and the leader led the party a merry chase over banks and sidewalks, across fields and lawns with utter disregard for the property of other people.

"It is understood that the hosts of this party paid liberally for the damage sustained and that the matter was satisfactorily adjusted so that it will not be taken into the courts. The young woman who originated the sport and drove the leading car is the wife of a well-known Manzanita citizen. Her partner in the game was a man from the same place whose name is said to be frequently mentioned in the same breath with hers."

As Joyce finished reading, a wave of horrified shame flooded her. "How perfectly disgusting! I suppose they were all drunk as lords, Frills worse than the rest. No wonder Neil is worried about 'reckless stunts' . . . I should think he might be! I'd like to know who 'C.' is and who's 'Mait'?" This, she thought, "is a pleasant revelation! All the signs have pointed to Frills being a bit lively, but this is a little too much."

And then Joyce hung up her own receiver, breathing a sigh of relief at her escape.

Just then the telephone rang. There was an instrument on the desk, gray-enameled like the furniture, and Joyce quietly lifted off the receiver and listened in. After a moment's silence, she heard the maid answering on the instrument downstairs. A man's voice inquired, "May I speak to Mrs. Packard, please?"

"Mrs. Packard gave instructions that she didn't feel up to seeing or speaking to anyone today."

"Oh? Well, listen, Roxie, tell her it's Mr. Maitland, will you, and ask her if I can't speak to her just a minute."

"All right, sir." Joyce hastily but cautiously replaced the receiver, and getting up, went out onto the sunny sleeping porch. In a moment she heard the woman's voice at the bedroom door, and going in, listened to her message.

"Just . . . just tell him I—" she hesitated.

"Tell him 'm asleep," she said finally, looking down at the carpet and feeling a guilty reluctance to meet the maid's eye. Then, when the woman had left, she returned to the desk telephone and listened again.

"Mrs. Packard is asleep, sir."

"Oh, she is? Well, when she wakes, tell her I called. And ask her to call me, please."

"Yes, sir." Click . . . click. And then Joyce hung up her own receiver breathing a sigh of relief at her escape.

Hardly had she leaned back in the chair, when the bell rang again. She listened anxiously. A rather coarse feminine voice replied to the maid's quit "Yes?" saying, "How's Mrs. Packard this morning, Roxie? Can I speak to her? Tell her it's Kate Belmain."

"Sorry, Mrs. Belmain, but Mrs. Packard is sleeping and gave orders not to be disturbed."

"Oh, well, I'll call again later . . . Say, Roxie," in a conversational tone, "wasn't she the lucky girl not to get smashed up in a fall like that? I felt sick when I heard about it. Didn't break a thing, did she?"

"No, ma'am, she hit her head, but I guess it wasn't a bad blow."

"Well, I'll tell the world she's lucky! Well, tell her I called, will you, Roxie."

"She seems on intimate terms with the family. Her voice sounds middle-aged and . . . fat . . . uncultured," thought Joyce, critically. "I wonder who else will call up? All I need to do to learn who are the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Packard is to sit here and listen to the telephone conversations! I'm finding things out, anyhow. I know now that the maid's name is Roxie and that 'Mait' is Mr. Maitland and that there's a couple named Art and Kate Belmain."

She continued her explorations, which disclosed three more bedrooms, each with its own bath—one decorated in green, one in orchid, and one in pale yellow. "I'm lucky, there aren't any guests in the house," she thought thankfully, finding nothing but unoccupied rooms. "I'd hate to run into somebody staying right in the place. Well, I'll go back to my boudoir and see if I can dig up any more news of what the charming Frills has been perpetrating. Wish I could discover what the date is and how long it has been since I . . . I left Philadelphia."

She sat down on the chair at the desk again and picked up one of the letters. The postmark on the first was too blurred to decipher, but the second one was clearly stamped. She stared at it bewildered, a sudden feeling of faintness seizing her. "Why, I left Philadelphia in November . . . That means . . . Oh, it can't be possible! April—nearly two years! Where have I been all that time? I don't like it. . . . Oh dear . . . Oh dear . . ."

Suddenly her overwrought nerves gave way, and slipping to her knees in front of the couch, Joyce buried her face in her arms and began to sob desperately, terror and loneliness possessing her entirely.

When Joyce awoke, she lay for some moments collecting her thoughts.

So it had not been a dream. It was something actual and inescapable which she had to face.

She sat up on the couch, wide awake now, and soberly tried to decide what to do next. As she stared about the room, she realized that the sun was no longer shining in. How long had she slept? There was no clock in the room. She remembered having seen, however, among the contents of the blue leather case on the dressing table a small diamond-set wrist watch. Returning to the bedroom, she caught sight of herself in the mirror. Her dress was badly rumpled, her hair stood up in curly confusion and her face was streaked from the tears she had shed.

Four o'clock. "Phew, what a long nap! I feel a lot better, anyhow. I wonder if anyone else called up. Oh dear, that Belmain woman said they were coming over this afternoon. They'll probably be here so . . . I think I'll put on a different dress and see if I can get anything to eat and perishing with thirst, too." She pulled the crumpled dress over her head and went to the closet door to pick out something to wear, when, suddenly, she heard voices downstairs. Stopping short, she tiptoed softly over to the door which stood ajar. She could hear a woman speaking.

"Well, I'm glad she's been able to sleep, Roxie. . . . No, I'll just run up myself. She'll want to see me, if she's awake, of course . . . I just want to find out how she is and if I can do anything for her. . . . Did you say she'd had anything to eat today?"

That must be Laurine! The voice moved nearer as if its owner were approaching the stairs. Joyce, in a panic, looked wildly about for some escape. Couldn't she have one day to herself? She thought of locking the door. Then, afraid to delay another second, she dashed out to the sleeping porch, pulled down the covers of the neatly-made bed, and slid between the sheets. With thumping heart she half-buried her face in the pillow, shut her eyes tightly and tried to compose herself into a state where she could breathe quietly.

Firm steps sounded approaching the door, and a voice said, "Frills? Where are you? . . . Oh!" The voice trailed off into a soft murmur as the speaker evidently discovered the sleeping form in the bed.

The caller stood quietly by the bedside for such a long time that Joyce grew nervous. Why didn't the woman go away? Couldn't she see that Frills was asleep? Or did she guess that she was shamming?

Just as she felt that she could not stand it a minute longer, and must either giggle or choke, she heard her unseen caller depart.

"Thank goodness! . . . My, I'm roasted!" She threw off the covers, got up cautiously, creeping into the room to listen to what happened downstairs. She heard the same voice speaking but could not distinguish the words. Finally, however, the front door opened and closed.

So rested and so much more confident did she find herself that she decided to go downstairs, risking the meeting with any callers who might appear.

Roxie was by one of the windows reading a newspaper. Seeing Joyce, she stood up.

"I slept longer than I expected to," said Joyce, "and I'm sort of hungry," she said, finding it impossible not to slip into a conciliatory tone and attitude. "Is there something to eat I could have, I wonder?" "Why, of course, ma'am," replied Roxie promptly, "would you like a regular lunch or just tea?" "Tea, please." The very thought was luxurious.

"Certainly, ma'am. Would you like sandwiches with it, or just cake?" "Oh, sandwiches, please. I'm so hungry. And I wonder if . . ." she went on, uncomfortably convinced that Frills never asked for anything in this apologetic fashion. "—er—I'd like some orange juice to drink, too."

"Yes, ma'am. Will you have in out on the terrace or up in your room?" Joyce decided hastily that she would take a chance. "On the terrace, please."

She enjoyed the food almost more than her breakfast, reflecting with half-ashamed amusement that her appetite was good in spite of the shock of awaking to find herself Mrs. Neil Packard! Ought any one in her terrible predicament enjoy food so enthusiastically?

She was just draining the last drop of orange juice and wishing regretfully that she had more, when a man's voice at the doorway startled her so, she nearly dropped the glass.

"My Lord, Frills, since when have you taken to drinking orange juice?" A man crossed the terrace with quick steps, sat down on a chair close beside her and leaning forward looked at her with an expression of lively concern.

"Did I startle you? Sorry! I guess your nerves are jumpy after what happened. How do you feel, sweetheart?"

Joyce had been completely taken by surprise and, in her condition of excited apprehension, his entrance upset her so thoroughly that she could scarcely speak.

SIDELIGHTS

By MARVIN JONES

I feel that the people of our section would be interested in the program on which a number of us have been working during this session of Congress.

We have been doing everything possible to get the members of the House and the Senate to realize just how serious conditions are. Ordinary remedies will not be sufficient, for these are not ordinary times. We are face to face with grim facts which call for emergency action.

In the first place, there should be a stay of foreclosures until such time as the necessary legislative program can be worked out. The House has already passed a measure of this kind. I hope the officials of the various states will take such action as is necessary to supplement the work of the Congress.

In my judgement, it is absolutely essential that a program of refinancing and, if possible, a scaling down of principal and interest rates and a refinancing of farm mortgages on a long-time basis be accomplished. A number of us have been working in every possible way toward this end.

This republic is anchored in the farm homes of America. Wholesale foreclosures on the part of mortgage companies would be detrimental to the companies as well as to the farmers and others who are interested. I hope they are beginning to realize the truth of this proposition.

Another matter that needs immediate attention is a complete revamping of our entire currency system. The price of the American dollar is too high when measured in the terms of commodity prices. There should be a readjustment in such a way as to make our unit of money a true measure of values. This would automatically increase commodity prices and enable people to pay debts.

Every thinking person realizes that taxes bear too heavily on the farm and ranch. While this is largely a local matter, depending upon action of state and local authorities, nevertheless, the expenses of the federal government should be reduced in every possible way. Many bureaus should be abolished and the activities of others curtailed. I have repeatedly urged this before the economy committee and have offered numerous amendments to accomplish this end.

Freight Rates

Our freight rate schedules are too great a burden on the products of the farm and ranch. Freight rates at the present time are all out of proportion to the value of commodities.

I am also glad to know that the President-elect has declared that something must be done in reference to the excessive short selling and gambling in the stock market. He has declared for a correction of these evils, and I shall be more than happy to join him in supporting such a program.

The individual members of Congress are sometimes criticized for not taking action more quickly. Some of this criticism is just. However, I think it is but fair to detail some of the difficulties under which we who represent farming districts are working.

There are 435 members of the House, each representing a different district. A majority of these members consuming rather than producing districts. Again, a clear majority, 228 of the 435 members of the House of Representatives, live north of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi river. It takes a majority of the members of the House to pass any kind of legislation. I mention this fact to show the complications which any program must face.

Practically all of the members of Congress who represent farming and livestock districts have been earnestly working toward a solution of the grave problems which confront the country, and I feel it is but fair that the public should know this fact.

Again not all of the difficulties will yield to legislative remedies, but certainly there are some conditions that can be helped. Most certainly our financial system can be revamped in the interest of the people, and the long-time discriminations in our tariff barriers and freight rates which have had the effect of paralyzing the agricultural sections can be removed, and thus an unhindered opportunity given for equality in the operation of the laws of our country.

Good Returns From Dairy Cattle

For every dollar's worth of feed Roy Smalley of Shallowater in Lubbock county gave his nine dairy cows last year he received back $3.33, he declares in reporting the results of 10 months' records of a dairy herd demonstration in co-operation with R. N. McClain, assistant county agent. He says a 300-pound butterfat cow will return three times as much, and a 400-pound cow eight times as much for a ton of feed as a 200-pound cow. Two of his cows produced more than 300 pounds of butterfat and the herd average was 276 pounds. Records enabled him to dispose of one cow not making her expense.

It cost from 8.2 cents to 14 cents per pound for feed for the production of butterfat, with five cows producing fat for less than 10 cents per pound feed cost. Rations ranged from 1,575 pounds to 3,350 pounds of dry roughage, and 1,722 pounds to 3,208 pounds of grain. Cows were on pasture from 174 to 275 days at grazing costs of from $4.25 to $7.50 per cow.

"It took mighty fine dairy husbandry on the part of Mr. Smalley to clear $570 above feed cost from his herd in this time," said Mr. McClain. "His production was about double the average herd which explains his low costs. The demonstration shows the possibilities open to dairy farmers who can become highly efficient. It cannot be done without records."

Mrs. Ray Jones, Mrs. H. W. Wiseman, Mrs. J. M. Stokes, Mrs. W. G. Street and Mrs. G. M. Shaw visited Mrs. E. S. Rowe at the Lubbock Sanitarium Tuesday, and report Mrs. Rowe not so well as usual.

West Texas Is Ready For Decentralization of BUSINESS....

The people of this country learned from their recent experiences which made it necessary to declare a Nationwide bank holiday that it is a waste of time to discuss the merits and demerits of the unit bank, the branch bank, the group bank, the big bank and the little bank. As a result of the events of the past few weeks, the public knows that the big bank and the so-called liquid bank is in the same class as the frozen asset bank when the people generally decide to keep their own money and start a run on the banks. Neither the size of the bank nor diversification of investment, nor the two combined, can keep the banks open when millions of depositors decide to keep their own money. The nationwide bank holiday made both the banker and the depositor realize that the policy of bankers in the past, with respect to saying to the public that a depositor, who as a rule never deposited anything but checks, could get the amount of his deposit in currency on demand, is all wrong. The bank holiday has made both the banker and the depositor realize that money is intended to be used solely as a medium of exchange and as such must not under any circumstances be hoarded. The public fully realizes today that all banking, like all business transactions, must be bottomed wholly upon the confidence of the public in the soundness of the banking system and business methods.

The Banks Are Sound In The Plains Country

According to the best information available at this time, out of approximately 6,891 Federal Reserve Member Banks in the United States, 5,342 were re-opened prior to March 25th, or about 77 per cent.

In Texas there are approximately 529 Federal Reserve Member Banks and 516 opened prior to March 25th, or about 95 per cent, which was 18 per cent higher than the general average of the Federal Reserve Member Banks in the United States.

There were approximately 12,432 non-member banks operating in the United States before the bank holiday and approximately 10,570 re-opened prior to March 25th, or about 85 per cent, although some of the non-member banks were under restriction. In Texas there were approximately 535 non-member banks and 534 were re-opened prior to March 25th, or approximately 100 per cent, although a small number of these were restricted.

In towns supplied by the Plains Division of the Texas Utilities Company with electric service, out of 18 Federal Reserve Member Banks 18 have re-opened. This is 100 per cent.

In the Plains Division of the Texas Utilities Company there were 22 non-member banks operating before the bank holiday and 21 re-opened prior to March 25th, 16 without restrictions and 5 under certain restrictions. The two banks that have not re-opened will, according to reports at this date, resume business within the next few days.

In the towns supplied with electric service by the Southwestern Public Service Company located in the Panhandle of West Texas, out of 7 Federal Reserve Member Banks, 6 have been re-opened. There were 7 non-member banks operating in the territory supplied with electric service by the Southwestern Public Service Company before the bank holiday and 7 have re-opened or about 100 per cent.

According to the most reliable information obtainable the banks operated in the Plains Country above referred to have all shown substantial increases in deposits since the bank holiday. The average increase in deposits since the holiday in the above banks is conservatively estimated to be approximately 5 per cent.

The above comparison of the banking conditions in the Plains territory supplied with electric service by Texas Utilities Company and Southwestern Public Service Company clearly shows that the banking and business conditions in West Texas are as sound as can be found in any section in the United States.

The World Is In The Throes Of A New Birth

We hear on every hand the statement that "The world today is in the throes of a new birth". The economist, the statesman, and the business man in every walk of life is occupied in studying and discussing the several factors that can be identified as those most likely to determine the character of the change that is going to take place. It is generally conceded that the trend toward decentralization in our business structure is by far the most important factor.

Decentralization Made Possible By Development And Use Of Electric Power

According to the economist, "The use of electric energy is about to reverse in certain fundamental respects this whole century of evolution toward centralization and concentration". All congested centers are suffering from the movement, which is now worldwide, to abandon the large city as a manufacturing center. The modern factory, in the opinion of the present day economist, will move as rapidly as possible, under existing conditions, from the large cities to the smaller communities where an adequate and dependable supply of highline electric power can be made available for manufacturing purposes at reasonable rates.

West Texas Is Ready For The Change In Business Conditions

West Texas offers the finest agricultural opportunities, the best transportation facilities, and the most advantageous power service to the modern factory seeking a new location, in order to meet changing conditions, that can be found in the United States. The above analysis of the banking conditions of the country discloses the fact that the banks of the Plains Country are as sound as the banks in any section of the United States and that West Texas banks are today in a position to provide adequate banking facilities to meet all the requirements necessary to take care of the development of the territory.

A Comparison Of Electric Rates

According to the November 1932 issue of the Public Service Magazine, the average rate per Kilowatt Hour for electric current in the United States at the end of 1931 was five and eighty-two hundredths cents (5.82c). The average rate per Kilowatt Hour for electric current sold by Texas Utilities Company for the same period was three and eighty-two hundredths cents (3.82c). Manufacturers seeking new locations will be interested in knowing that Texas Utilities Company supplied electric power to a number of manufacturing plants located in several different communities on the Company's highlines in West Texas during the year 1931 at the average rate of from one and thirty-five hundredths cents (1.35c) per Kilowatt Hour up to two cents (2c) per Kilowatt Hour, depending entirely on the class, quality, and quantity of service used by the particular plant under the manufacturing rate schedules during said period. The above mentioned power rate is available to any manufacturing plant desiring the same class, quality and quantity of service at any point on the the highlines of Texas Utilities Company in West Texas, and the Company is prepared to furnish an adequate supply of dependable service at any point on its highlines to any manufacturing plant desiring a location on its highlines immediately upon request.

Confidence And Courage Are The Chief Assets

Confidence, courage and co-operation are far more important during the troublous period of readjustment through which the country is now passing than all of the gold and other tangible assets in this country. The hope of West Texas today is the courage of West Texans to DO, and the willingness to take it on the chin whenever necessary, to make sacrifices for the general welfare. No outside forces can arrest the development of West Texas as long as the spirit of Wst Texans to DO lives.

ENOCHS' BREEZES

Methodist conference was held at old Bula Monday and everybody reports a good time.

Asa Dunavant, Fred McQuary, Jim Vietry and Ray Allen went out Saturday evening and brought in another big wolf.

Friends of Ray Carter, our commissioner have probably accused him of having a lot of money hoarded up, but we will have to defend him. Ray brought down a nice little check for Bula school last week, which was very much appreciated. This money was very much needed. Ray also turned in a $2.50 gold coin to the post master here. Please mark him off the hoarder list.

Superintendent of schools P. O. Smith is very proud of the records of his pupils. Most of those who were in-contents at Muleshoe placed, and much credit is due Mr. Smith and his able teachers.

Mrs. P. F. Woody, and Mrs. H. H. Snow shopped in Lubbock Thursday. A number of folk in our community attended the show at Littlefield Saturday night.

Walter Strickland and Miss Maggie Dell Cox went to Fortales Saturday, and were married. Miss Cox is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doc. Cox, who came here recently from Memphis, Texas. Mr. Strickland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Strickland.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Patterson were entertained by them Thursday night and Sam was tricky enough to talk them out of throwing him in the tank. They are newly-weds.

Ray Nelson took a truck load of eggs to Lubbock Saturday night.

The Baptist meeting at Wilson is progressing nicely. They have just finished a new building over there.

TOMORROW

A FRANK STATEMENT OF OUR OUTLOOK ON THE FUTURE

We, the residents of Littlefield and Lamb County, have every reason to look out on TOMORROW with a degree of optimism that is unsurpassed.

And to go forward with such GOOD WILL toward other sections of the country that they will catch our spirit of great faith in TOMORROW and will want to become one of us.

Our faith is well founded. We have a county of progressive, substantial farmers; an agricultural and stock raising program that is bringing increasing recognition to our county; soil and climate that assures success in a great variety of the branches of farming and stock raising; business concerns that strive at all times to better serve their patrons; and substantial financial institutions fully qualified in every respect to assure the increased development of our county and who, at all times are leaders in all matters for the upbuilding of this county and district. Our strong financial institutions are one of our greatest assets.

We—the residents of Littlefield and Lamb County—have truly a wonderful TODAY—a TOMORROW that all the world could justly envy.

Many Yards Made Beautiful by H. D. Clubs in 1932

March is not too late to start making a beautiful lawn, according to the records of 1932 home demonstration club women and girls who made this improvement in their farm yards last year. Plowing, manuring, leveling and watering are the necessary steps before transplanting bermuda or other grass roots, say Extension Service authorities at Texas A. & M. College. They point out, however, that drawing a complete landscaping plan should be the first step in any yard improvement in order that a harmonious effect may be produced, and nothing done that will later have to be done over. Often it is necessary to remove some of the trees and shrubs and flower beds which sometimes dot a yard because the beauty of a lawn depends on an unbroken expanse of grass.

Yards were beautified by 6850 women and girls in home demonstration clubs in Texas in 1932, according to reports of county home demonstration agents. Chief among the improvements were lawns, doorstep and foundation plantings, screen and border plantings, and the making of rose gardens. Improvements cost an average of $1.13 per yard.

FOR A LIMITED TIME we can give you the McCalls and the Lamb County Leader, both 1 year, for the small sum of $2.00.

PIG CROP REPORT

The Texas fall pig crop was about 9 per cent larger in 1932 than in 1931 or 1,010,000 head compared with 924,000 head in the fall of 1931. The total combined spring and fall crop for Texas was 2,186,000 head during 1932 compared with 1,873,000 head during 1931.

Increases of about 4 per cent in the total United States fall pig crop for 1932 over that of 1931 and of 3 1/2 per cent in the North Central (Corn Belt) States are shown by the December pig crop report of the United States Department of Agriculture. Because of the decrease in the spring pig crop, the total combined fall and spring pig crop of 1932 is 3 per cent smaller than that of 1931 for the entire country and 6 per cent smaller in the corn belt. The report also shows increases in the number of sows to farrow in the spring of 1933 over the number farrowed in the spring of 1932 of 1.8 per cent for the United States, 1.6 per cent for the corn belt, and 4.0 per cent for Texas. These estimates of changes are based largely upon the returns from the December and June pig surveys made in co-operation with the Post Office Department through the rural mail carriers.

ADVANTAGES OF POULTRY RAISING BY FARMERS IS TOLD BY E. S. BILLINGS

By E. S. BILLINGS Spade Community

What are we going to plant or try to raise in 1933 to try to get the most out of it what the farmers are trying to decide.

Let's not forget to look at the poultry outlook.

A case of eggs was equal in value to one average acre of corn.

A case of eggs was equal in value to two average acres of maize.

A case of eggs was equal in value to one and one-fourth average acres of wheat.

A case of eggs was equal in value to four-fifths average acres of cotton.

A case of eggs was equal in value to 225 pounds of pork.

A case of eggs was equal in value to 138 pounds of beef.

Statistics show that poultry is today the most profitable farm product, and during the past year has been one of the leading sources of cash income.

And affords one of the quickest farm cash returns.

The Department of Agriculture says this will be a profitable year for poultry. The soundness of this statement is verified in view of the following facts:

A shortage in excess of three million cases of eggs in cold storage.

A shortage in excess of more than nine million pounds of poultry meat in storage.

A tremendous shortage in farm flocks.

An increase in consumption. Farm poultry raisers have increased their normal consumption of poultry.

During the stress of hard times thousands of farmers have been forced to cut down their poultry flocks in order to produce a daily cash income.

While nearly all other agricultural products were suffering, poultry was able to maintain its position and advance to a point where it was the second most valuable farm product.

Today poultry is the most profitable farm product and the farmers can easily raise chickens.

During the year 1932 there was a greater spread between the farm price of chickens and the farm price of poultry feeds than during the years of 1928, 1929 and 1930, and there will probably be a greater spread in 1933. Farmers in a great many instances already have the brooding houses, laying houses and a large percent of the grain already on hand when coupled with supplements to supply a proper ration affording economical production.

Farmers the country over know the value of keeping chickens, and are being kept from raising them early this year only by lack of funds with which to purchase baby chicks to replenish their flocks.

If you want an opportunity to produce food stuffs for your own table with a nominal surplus for sale, the purchase of one or more brooders full of baby chicks this coming spring will insure your worthwhile employment and in all probability a profitable return. Now is the time to get chicks.

Make Profits in Turkey Raising

Because they balanced their turkey rations by feeding mash, prevented worm outbreaks, and graded carefully to get top prices, 983 farmers and club boys cooperating with Texas county agents in turkey demonstrations made an average profit last season of 93 cents per bird. There were 137,039 turkeys in these flocks, according to Paul Cunyus, assistant poultry husbandman in the Extension Service at Texas A. & M. College, and 93% of them sold as No. 1 birds. Profits were less than half those of demonstrators of the preceding year due to an extreme drop in price, he says, but were decidedly higher than the average of the State.

Turkeys are Tripled in Value by Canning

"Killing, dressing and canning turkeys by the extension method more than triples their value" said Mrs. A. Clark of the Ruby Home Demonstration Club as she explained that they had sold 31 number one turkeys on the market and received $31.02. All number two birds were kept as they were too cheap to sell. These were good quality meat birds but had crooked breasts. Mrs. Clark decided to standardize the canned turkey. This was done by using a standard recipe and submitting a can of each of the products to the County Marketing Association and to the Extension Specialist in Home Industries, at A. & M. College for their approval. The turkey is prepared as "Cubed" which is choice breast meat cut in one-half cubes, and the ground meat which is a mixture of the dark and light meats.

One day recently Mr. and Mrs. Clark dressed four turkeys weighing 68 pounds, which would have brought 5c per pound on the market or $3.40. From these birds she had ten No. one cans of cubed, and 42 No. one cans of ground meat, which sold for $11.40. Deducting the following expense of $1.30 for cans, 28c for labels, and 70c for labor—total $2.28 they made $9.12.

Mr. Clark remarked when they had finished that there was lots of hard work to dressing and canning turkeys. Mrs. Clark said, "Yes, but all farm work is real labor and we are realizing something from this."

Mr. and Mrs. Clark were in a drug store to get a small box for shipping some of the canned products. Mr. Sadler picked up one of the cans and remarked "This is just as good as cash for anything we have in the store." Mrs. Clark has prepared 139 cans of ground meat which brought $27.80 and 13 cans of the cubed for $3.90 or a total of $31.70 from ten turkeys.

Mrs. Clark will prepare 500 cans of turkey.

LITTLEFIELD STORE ANNOUNCES NEW SALES PROGRAM TO INCREASE BUYING OF PEOPLE OF THIS SECTION

Interesting Lecture Delivered at Legion Hall Monday Evening

Under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers Association and the American Legion Auxiliary, Prof. Degore, Eminent Food Chemist, Psychologist and Humanologist, delivered an interesting and beneficial lecture at the American Legion Hall Monday evening.

Mrs. W. D. T. Storey, President of the American Legion, presided, and introduced Mrs. F. H. Lawson, sister of Mrs. F. M. Burleson, who has been visiting in the Burleson home for the past two weeks, and who is studying food science. Mrs. Lawson, in turn, introduced the speaker for the evening.

Prof. Degore had on display fresh green vegetables and luscious fruits, which she claimed were necessary in the daily dietary to make and maintain a clear pure blood stream to insure radiant, vibrant health, 365 days in the year.

The importance of balancing the sixteen chemical elements, of which the human body is composed, and proper combinations of food, were emphasized, as essential, not only for physical health, but also for emotional balance, mental clarity and spiritual poise and power.

"How to know one's chemical type and temperament" and the foods suitable to each were touched on, as also the basic principals of charm.

Following the lecture, a cornet solo was rendered by Jack Norman, which was much enjoyed, after which a quartette, composed of Misses Lucille Aven, Fleeta Eagan, Eloise Collins and Genevieve Mason, sang, accompanied by Miss Marie Knowles at the piano.

By reason of the fact that many have expressed a desire to know more about food and body chemistry, Prof. Degore has announced that she will conduct a series of classes the early part of next week, and those interested with Prof. Degore, may do so by getting in touch with Mrs. Lawson at Phone 77 or 61.

One of the most interesting merchandising events in Littlefield and Lamb county is that announced in the Lamb County Leader this week by J. H. Ware Dry Goods.

The Littlefield store is announcing their new sales program as "A New Deal," and it is in keeping with the general program throughout the United States of taking all steps possible to increase the buying power of the Nation. The price of a large number of items in the store have been reduced.

"The entire Nation is in the midst of 'A New Deal,'" says Mr. Ware. "President Roosevelt has vested himself with war-time power in order to bring about the return of prosperity—he is seeking the aid of everyone in restoring the buying power of the people. And we are doing our share," the Littlefield merchant said.

Large Crowd Attends West Plains Workers Conference Tuesday

Perhaps the largest crowd ever to attend a meeting of the West Plains workers conference gathered at Spade last Tuesday for the all day meeting. The program for the day opened on time with pastor Wilson acting as Moderator, and L. W. (Happy) Jordan in charge of the singing, with Mrs. Jordan at the piano. The program was carried out as published last week in the Leader with the exception of the address by Rev. Cole, who was kept away from the meeting.

At the noon hour the ladies of the Spade church spread an old time basket dinner and though the congregation numbered in the hundreds, there were sufficient left to feed another congregation of equal size. After the usual conference meetings in the afternoon, Rev. C. A. Jones from Post delivered a wonderful lecture on the subject of Prohibition. Rev. C. A. Joiner surrendered the time given him on the program for the closing message of the day to Rev. Jones.

Rev. J. F. Grizzle, one of the attendants from Littlefield reported the lecture so good that he wished every man, woman and child in the Association could have heard it. Representatives were present from Plainview, Anton, Amherst, Harts Camp, Amherst, Fieldton, Post and other places.

Among those attending from Littlefield were: Rev. and Mrs. Joe F. Grizzle; Mr. and Mrs. E. Mueller; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Jordan, Mrs. Acree Barton, Mrs. C. O. Roberts, Mrs. Bostitch, Rev. W. J. Jackson, Emzy Hobbs; Misses Edna and Sybil Byers, Miss Nora Belle Grizzle, who is attending Wayland College at Plainview also attended the meeting.

The next meeting of the Council will be held at Bula, Tuesday, April 25.

"LEADER ADVERTISING PAYS" DECLARES HEAD OF STONE'S 1c TO $5 STORE

No, Not an Auto Crash—A Buggy Smashed

When two or three automobiles crash—well, that's most generally just more work for a garage, a body and fender works, or both.

But in these days of motor transportation, a runaway horse and a buggy broken to pieces in a crash with a fire hydrant—well, that's extra special news for any newspaper.

Several boys, an old buggy, and a horse that was supposed to not even switch his tail if a cannon exploded beneath him, figured in a buggy crash Sunday afternoon.

The buggy was being pulled by sort of remote power, that is to say, there were no shafts for the buggy. A rope was attached to the buggy and to the horse, and ropes were used to guide the buggy. One of boys went up on the back of the peaceful horse, but he had mounted to the "hurricane deck." The other boys preferred the "carriage." The Sunday afternoon journey through the streets of this fair city was underway.

It wasn't long before the horse left the boy and the buggy left them all.

But the great spill took place when the "carriage" in making a left turn at the post office hit a fire hydrant.

The buggy went into "a million pieces," the horse went on down the street, and one boy who had "stuck" with the weaving chariot skidded on his nose.

Thus endeth the recital of a weaving, tottering Sunday afternoon journey.

School Election—

week states that the School Board made a mistake in their first order regarding your appointment. The statement is made that you will not make the race this time but will attempt to hold over, filling out my unexpired term as school trustee.

Your attention is directed to Article 4, the last part of section 12 of the Constitution of Texas, which reads: "Appointments to vacancies in offices elected by the people shall only continue until the first general election thereafter."

You can see by this very plain provision of the State Constitution, that no appointment to an elective office can hold longer than the next regular election following appointment. Unless you are re-elected as a school trustee at the election in April, your office will be absolutely void and you will have no place whatever on the school board.

If you doubt this statement, I suggest that you submit the matter to the County Attorney or the Attorney General and get their rulings on it.

My interest in the schools at Littlefield is just as keen as when I was a member of the board and I would dislike very much to see any trouble over the above matter and that is why I am writing you at this time.

Yours very truly, ARTHUR P. DUGGAN, State Senator.

Austin, March 27, 1933.

Mr. J. W. James, President Littlefield School Board, Littlefield, Texas.

Dear Mr. James: Some days ago I wrote you stating that the Constitution of Texas prohibits any person holding an elective office by appointment any longer than the next general election.

That is the provision of the Constitution and applies to all state, county or district elective offices. The Attorney General has ruled however, that it does not apply to school trustees. I was, therefore, wrong in my statement that you could not be appointed to fill out my unexpired term.

I desire to make this correction before the election so that if you in any way acted on my former letter you may know that the Attorney General has stated that I was wrong in my view in this matter.

I certainly hope that the people of Littlefield may elect the best possible

Local Merchants Greet Spring With New Merchandise; Style Review Set for Tonight

SPECIAL PICTURE IS SCHEDULED FOR REVIEW AT PALACE

"Ladies They Talk About" Is Feature Picture Tonight

Barbara Stanwyck, in a new type of role and with a new leading man, will make her appearance on the screen of the Palace Theatre on Thursday evening, as a special feature in connection with the Spring Style review, in "Ladies They Talk About."

This picture was secured as a special attraction by W. J. Chesher manager of the theatre, to be used for the review. The picture is running this week in many of the leading theatres of the larger cities of the state.

As a dashing and attractive bank bandit, cool, worldly wise and hard boiled, who matches her wits against police and prosecutor, Miss Stanwyck interprets a role far removed from her recent characterizations.

For the first time in her life also, she appears as a platinum blonde, although this is in but a few sequences where she uses a blonde disguise while holding up a bank.

Preston S. Foster, who played a crook part in "I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang" and killer Mears in "The Last Mile," has been graduated from heavy parts to play his first leading role for Warner Bros. opposite Miss Stanwyck. He has the role of a young evangelist, who is infatuated with the beautiful young bank bandit he is trying to reform.

The story is a revelation of the life of women prisoners in the California prison and is based upon actual prison experiences of Dorothy Mackaye, the actress and co-author of the play. She served a term in the institution after the death of her husband in a tragic brawl that stirred Hollywood and the theatrical world a few years ago.

For the accurate and colorful background for the unusual scenes within the prison walls, a replica of the women's section of the institution was constructed on the Warner Bros. lot. In order to make both atmosphere and action correct, a former inmate of San Quentin prison, a woman of high intelligence, was engaged to act as technical advisor throughout the picture.

The story is that of a beautiful girl who turns crook, robs a bank, is caught and sent to prison. She holds a fatal fascination for a young evangelist, whom she uses as a tool to assist in the jail break of two of her pals. The plot foiled, and believing the

MRS. J. C. HILBUN HOSTESS CHURCH OF CHRIST LADIES

Ladies Bible class of the Church of Christ met in the home of Mrs. J. C. Hilbun, Monday evening.

The hour spent was very pleasant and profitable in a lesson on the last two chapters of Revelation. This has been a wonderful study and we are sorry more have not been with us.

Those present Monday were: Mesdames C. C. Beebe, Vinther, A. L. Hood, V. Shelton, Jim Davenport, Miss Bassett of Corsicana; Bigham, Mr. Walker and the hostess. We urge every lady who can to be with us at Mrs. Jim Davenport's next week and begin the book of Hebrews. Brother Walker will continue teaching for us. Come, you'll enjoy it.

MRS. RAY JONES HOSTESS MEMBERS THURSDAY CLUB

Members of the Thursday Bridge Club were entertained by Mrs. Ray Jones Thursday afternoon at her apartment on East Sixth Street, when four tables of contract bridge were enjoyed.

Purple and pink hyacinths added charm and color to the entertaining rooms for the occasion.

BOWELS need watching

Let Dr. Caldwell help whenever your child is feverish or upset; or has caught cold.

His simple prescription will make that bilious, headachy, cross boy or girl comfortable, happy, well in just a few hours. It soon restores the bowels to healthy regularity. It helps "break-up" a cold by keeping the bowels free from all that sickening mucus waste.

You have a famous doctor's word for this laxative. Dr. Caldwell's record of having attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby is believed unique in American medical history.

Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your drugstore and have it ready. Then you won't have to worry when any member of your family is headachy, bilious, gassy or constipated. Syrup Pepsin is good for all ages. It sweetens the bowels; increases appetite—makes digestion more complete.

Dr. W. B. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN A Doctor's Family Laxative

At the close of the games Mrs. J. M. Stokes was awarded the traveling prize.

Contract Bridge

Submitted by Mrs. C. E. Cooper

It has been said that as soon as a contract player learns to spot sign-off bids he is on his way to the expert ranks and that until he is able to do this, he ought to content himself with playing marbles. This recommendation is a little severe but there is no doubt that the new sign-off bids are one of the outstanding aids in perfect bidding and all players who wish to gain a reputation as safe partners will learn them as early as possible.

A sign-off bid is the only possible "rescue" at contract. It is an instant warning to partner not to push the bidding farther, and was created to take care of such situations as arise when the partner of an opening no-trump bid finds himself with a six or seven card topless suit and less than one honor trick in the hand. Until the sign-off bids were recognized every take out of a no-trump promised either a biddable five card suit and at least one and one-half honor tricks or a pre-emptive distribution. Such bid usually encouraged original bidder to bid farther if he had any added strength or could support the suit bid of his partner. Now, however, a hand that is perfectly valueless except at a given suit bid can be shown because of the safety catch—the "sign-off."

This bid may be recognized by the fact that the responding hand bids the same suit twice after an opening bid by partner (usually a no-trump bid but sometimes a suit bid.) and the re-bid is exactly three in the suit.

Examples
South	North
1 no-trump.	2 hearts.
2 no-trumps.	3 hearts (sign off)
1 club.	1 heart.
1 no-trump.	2 hearts.
2 no-trumps.	3 hearts (sign off)
1 heart.	2 clubs.
2 diamonds.	3 clubs (sign off.)

In each of these examples the bid made by the responding hand may be taken to show strength until it is repeated.

The sign-off bid must not be confused with the inferential force when the opening hand after responding hand has bid as high as two no-trumps either at once or by degrees, reopens the bidding. Remember sign-off bids are always made by the responding hand.

Answers to Questions

No. 1: Yes. There are two situations in which a pass is forcing. First, when 2nd hand doubles the one no-trump bid made by 1st hand and 3rd hand redoubles to show the balance of strength leaving it up to 4th hand to rescue the doubles by naming his best suit. If 1st hand now passes, 3rd hand realizes that his partner expects him to bid or double the suit named as a rescue. Second, if after strength showing bids by two partners, the contract has reached a bid of six and is overcalled by a bid of 7 by opponent, one of first pair of bidders pass, it is a command that his partner make the decision as to whether they double or bid seven in their suit.

No. 2. A player who has learned the Culbertson method can play with those who use the official system if he will take a little time to study the difference in the bidding methods and asks his partner and opponents which system they use before play begins.

No. 3. It is my plan to give the readers of this column some of the trick hands you ask for a little later.

Exo. 3, 7 And The Lord said, I have seen the afflictions surely of my people which are in Egypt, and have heard their cry by reason of their taskmasters; for I know their sorrows Isa. 38; 1,6. In those days was Hezekiah sick unto death. And Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amos, came unto him, and said unto him, thus sayeth the Lord, set thine house in order: for thou shalt die and not live. Then Hezekiah turned his face toward the wall and prayed unto the Lord, And said, Remember now O Lord, I beseech thee, how I have walked before thee in truth and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in thy sight. And Hezekiah wept sore. Then came the word of the Lord to Isaiah, saying, Go and say to Hezekiah, thus sayeth the Lord the God of David thy father, I have heard thy prayers, I have seen thy tears: behold I will ad to thy days fifteen years. Jer. 23; 23. I am a God at hand saith the Lord, and not a God afar off. Can any hide himself in secret places that I shall not see him? saith the Lord. Sometimes we feel like God is in a far country, that hasn't been heard from in a long time, and that he doesn't seem to know much what is going on, and maybe not knowing anything of us at all. But from the above scripture we learn that God sees our afflictions, he hears our cry, he sees our tears in sorrow, is always at hand, he fills the heavens and the earth, he is not far from every one of us. 2nd. The First Baptist Church in a called session of Conference last Sunday evening voted to invite Rev. C. E. Matthews of Fort Worth to lead in a revival during the month of November. Rev. Matthews has held two meetings with this church, and has many friends in Littlefield, who will be glad to know that he is to return for another meeting.

Every branch of the B. T. S. report gains for the month. The church has received the greatest number of new members for many months past and has been able to meet every bill, including salary and Sunday School literature. Is this not enough to make every member pause long enough to offer thanks to the giver of every good and perfect gift, and resolve to make April even better. Sunday services will be:

Many Seeking 1934 W. T. C. C. Convention

Although the Fifteenth Annual Convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Big Spring to be held on May 11, 12, and 13, is more than a month and a half away, several West Texas cities are making their plans to seek the Sixteenth Annual Convention to be held in 1934. Among the cities expected to make bids for the 1934 convention are Mineral Wells, San Angelo, Amarillo, and Plainview. Previous conventions have been held in each of these cities. Mineral Wells was the scene of two previous conventions, 1919 and 1925. Amarillo entertained the 1926 convention, San Angelo was the scene of the 1923 convention meeting and Plainview entertained the 1922 convention. It was at the Plainview convention that the band contest originated, that for many years was an outstanding feature of the West Texas Conventions.

Selection of the convention city is the final activity scheduled for the Big Spring convention.

For Spring there is no material more attractive than brightly printed crepes, so to those planning new frocks we suggest the choice of a slenderizing frock like the one above, which has smart lines but is very simple and inexpensively made.

Buttons and pointed details on the blouse are repeated on the modish sleeves, while a softly draped collar in white or some other contrasting color is a smart fashion note.

Size 16 of this simple and attractive Kay Boyd model requires 2 1-2 yards of 54-inch material. Collar and tie requires 1-3 yard, 35 inches wide.

Mrs. W. E. Logan of the Blue Bonnet Club killed, dressed and canned 46 chickens weighing 143 pounds with a value on foot of $11.52. From these chickens the following products were made: Cubed chicken 27 No. 1 cans, ground chicken No. 1 cans 160, Giblets 18 and broth 31, or a total of 236 cans which sold for $45.90. The expense of cans, labels, labor, materials, etc., was $22.95, leaving a profit of $22.95. Mrs. Logan has the imprinted "Texas Better 4-H Products Label" to use on her products. This is the green label used only on standardized products, and carries with it a guarantee of quality.

Mrs. Harris Brantley of the Blue Bonnet Club has recently made a rose garden of 30 two-year old rose bushes as a part of her yard improvement demonstration which she is conducting. In addition to this the following native shrubbery from central Texas has been planted according to landscape principles: Red-Bud, Shuttlesworth, Dogwood, Sycamore, Elm, Button Willow, Walnut and Chinaberry. Previous to this Mrs. Brantley had drawn yard plans and made pictures before the improvement began. Mrs. Brantley has also assisted cooperators in their yard work by pooling their order for 100 two-year old rose bushes. These plants have all been placed in the yards of cooperators.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Powell of Amherst have recently finished a hot bed 6x12 feet. The pit was dug 3 feet deep and filled about 24 inches with barnyard manure, then a layer of garden soil about ten inches deep placed on this. The bed was allowed to heat and cool before any seed were planted. On March 9, cabbage, tomatoes, and pepper were planted. All plants are up and the bed has only been watered one time which was on March 27. The hot bed is covered with cello-glass and glass cloth and the total cost was $10.65. "I think the hot bed is excellent for early plants, and I expect to have green vegetables all next winter from it," said Mr.

A demonstration in the canning of sausage was given by June Campbell and Hazel Miller from Sudan.

Edna Packard and Marie McClure of Spring Lake 4-H Club demonstrated the canning of beef roast.

The proper preparation of equipment and products was given by Mildred Garten and Opal Turner of the Amherst 4-H Club.

Miss Lola Blair, Extension Specialist in Nutrition and Miss Izora Clark, County Home Demonstration Agent of Dimmitt placed the teams as follows: Amherst first, $250; Harts Camp second $1.50 and Spring Lake third, $1.00. Misses Mildred Garten and Opal Turner represented Lamb County in the District Meat Show at Lubbock March 23. The demonstration was the canning of chili and the girls placed third out of fourteen counties represented. Their reward was $6.00. The girls were complimented by the judges on their efficiency and the very pleasant way in which the demonstration was given.

Large Number are Buying Standard Six

A surprising public response to the first showing of new Chevrolet "Standard Six" models last Saturday was disclosed by wires from dealers received by H. J. Klingler, vice-president and general sales manager of the company.

Despite the existence of a national bank holiday, dealers almost uniformly reported attendance beyond expectations and all reported retail sales in limited volume, many deals involving payment in gold or bills of the old large size denomination.

FARMS INCREASE IN NUMBER

The number of farms in 50 West Texas counties increased 98 percent from 1920 to 1930, according to Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head of the department of agricultural economics of Texas Technological College. During the same period the number of farms in 50 East Texas counties of the same area increased six percent. From 1920 to 1925 the increase in the number of farms was 39 percent in West Texas and a decrease of six percent in East Texas. From 1925 to 1930 the increase was 42 percent in West Texas and 13 percent in East Texas.

Enthusiasm Helps Win Trophy

Enthusiasm works wonders for many boys and girls. It went a long way in helping a 4-H boy win one of the most coveted trophies offered last year. This was the President's Trophy awarded in the name of President Herbert Hoover to Donald N. McDowell of Montello, Wisconsin, for making the finest record of achievement in club projects during the year. For seven years Donald battled with the problems which arose in completing with high scores 24 different projects in eight separate subjects. He did them so well they grossed him a total of $3,409.48. While he did all this he carried his regular school work and assisted with the farm work.

The boy's scrapbook tells how enthusiasm helped him keep on going. On one of the over 100 pages the judges found a letter pasted down in folded form and on which the boy had written: "This letter helped me a lot. I tried to keep neater records and do all of my work better." Opening the letter this is what the judges read:

"Dear boy Donald: I have examined your records and am tickled to death with them. They are not complete in all details and could be somewhat neater, but they are good for a little fellow and give evidence that you did some very good work.

The Most Beautiful

Dorothy Wilcox had the beauty appeal which caught the attention of a noted group of artists who judged her the most beautiful mannequin of the twenty selected for final awarding of honors.

You have an enthusiasm that is fine. Enthusiasm is a most valuable asset. It makes up for a multitude of other weaknesses. It hastens progress and drives one through difficulties that would stop others not possessing it. Feed the fires of your enthusiasm and you'll be the best club member the state ever had some day."

The letter was written from Donald's state club leader, W. McNeal. It was dated early in 1927. It is probable that Donald would have made a good record without such fine encouragement, but again he might have let some of his failures throw him off the track.

to be oked by the State Superintendent, L. A. Wood, but in the past the recommendations made by the State Aid Inspector have been approved, so we feel that the amounts set down here will be the amounts we will eventually receive."

"Just as soon as these figures are oked by the department warrants on the Treasury of Texas will be issued, but, of course, they may not be paid for some little time as they are paid in rotation of numbers."

"We believe the new Educational Department is going to give us excellent service."

Littlefield has already received a portion of this state aid.

Plans Approved For Reopening Wingfield Banks

Approval by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Washington of the reorganization plan of the recently closed Wingfield banks in Nevada was announced recently.

George Wingfield, who operated a chain of twelve banks in Nevada, controlling 70 per cent of the bank deposits of that state, is a distant cousin of J. I. Wingfield, jeweller, of this city.

Wingfield was at one time a cow puncher and later possession of a fortune valued at $100,000.00. Last fall the bank's surplus of $2,000,000 was wiped out, and $6,000,000 in mortgages frozen so stiff as to be no assets at all. Then Wingfield rode the range again rounding up his depositors in an effort to get them to allow part of their deposits in the buying of new capital stock.

The Denver Post makes the following statement:

Reconstruction Finance corporation approval has been given for the loans to the Stockholders Mortgage corporation and reorganization steps, including a new state bank to be organized under revision of the Nevada banking laws now in progress in the Nevada legislature will be carried out."

Besides approving the plan of self-help and outside aid from San Francisco business firms, the Reconstruction Finance authorities approved a loan of federal funds. This loan was assumed to be 2 million dollars, as that was the sum asked by the chamber of commerce committee.

The committee's plan proposed pumping $2,700,000 of new funds into twelve banks. Besides the two million dollars from the reconstruction funds, $200,000 was to be raised by subscriptions in Nevada and one-half million dollars was to be furnished by deposits of outside interests. These deposits were to be left in the banks at 2 per cent, none of the money to be withdrawn for six months, and then only 50 per cent. Half of the
