CHURCHES

METHODIST CHURCH
 Rev. Marvin B. Norwood, Pastor
 I am greatly rejoiced that the conference has returned me for another year of service in Littlefield. The past year was a good year, and very profitable in many ways. The church has made progress along all lines, both spiritually and materially. A splendid report was made to the annual conference, with every item of the church's responsibility "paid in full." That is a record that this church should strive to maintain each year from now on, and I believe it will be done.

 As we face the beginning of a new year, we are looking forward to an even greater advance. During this year the Methodist Church around the world will be celebrating the two hundredth anniversary of the "heart warming" experience of John Wesley. We are praying for such an experience in the lives of our people that we can go again out into the highways and hedges and bring men and women and boys and girls into the fellowship of Christ.

That shall be our main objective this year.
 To do this it will mean that all our people will have to take the services and work of the church and "Put first the Kingdom of God." I am expecting an increasing attendance upon both the morning and evening preaching services. Especially will the officials and leaders be expected to be in their places on Sunday, for we cannot do anything without our leaders.
 May I say again, that I am here to be of service to the church and community, and if I can help any one at any time, I am at your call. I will appreciate being notified of any one who is sick or in need, or of any one who is interested in finding a larger fellowship with Christ or membership in the church. May God give us the greatest year possible.

BE A GUEST OF LITTLEFIELD

Christmas shopping has always been a serious business. We crowd the family budget to buy something of value for the loved ones, and many of the finest stories of human kindness have been inspired by Christmas shoppers.

Because of this desire to give the best and to present something that is not common, we spend hours and hours searching for the unique.

With this thought in mind, the merchants of Littlefield have each year improved the quality of the Christmas goods and have made the greatest selection possible. This season the people living in the Littlefield trade territory will find that the business men have made larger and better purchases than ever before.

Saturday, December 4, has been set aside for the entertainment of every person living in this section. We know it will pay you to be with us that day if you do not purchase a thing. The merchants invite you to come into their stores, look over the goods in stock and compare them in quality and prices. There is no doubt but what you will be surprised at the efforts expended for your happiness.

The children will enjoy the Santa Claus parade and the free movie—everyone will want to witness the most unique and spectacular fireworks program ever to be staged in West Texas—Littlefield sincerely wants you to be its guest.

NUMBER FROM LITTLEFIELD ATTEND DEDICATION SERVICES FOR NEW SALVATION ARMY CITADEL, LUBBOCK

A number from Littlefield were among the 200 who attended dedication services for the new Salvation Army citadel, at 1112 Seventeenth St. Lubbock, conducted Friday night by Lieut. Commissioner E. I. Pugmire, Southern Territorial Commander of the Army.

From Littlefield attending the dedication were: Mrs. Oscar Wilton and Mrs. Warren Rutledge, officers of the local advisory board; Capt. Trummell and Cadet Bridges, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McCurdy, Mrs. W. L. Koehler, Miss Irene Weschke, Miss Viola Koehler, Misses Doris and Alta Dean Sevier, Fred Slaton and Miss Leora Curry.

After a brief concert by the division staff Red Coat Band, the program began with the singing of "America." Rev. L. N. Lipscomb, pastor of the First Methodist church, offered the opening prayer. Durwood Bradley, Lubbock City attorney and chairman of the Army property committee, told briefly how the building site had been acquired.

Senator G. H. Nelson, one of the main speakers of the evening, lauded the Salvation Army on its work throughout the world and complimented the Lubbock post on its new citadel.

Mrs. Ernest Pickering, wife of the state young people's secretary, sang a solo, and immediately afterward Commissioner Pugmire delivered the dedicatory address. In his address, the territorial commander related sketchily the history of the Salvation Army. He also outlined the purpose of the organization which he termed a "social movement with a spiritual aim."

The prayer of dedication was offered by Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Lubbock, R. F. Bayless, president of the advisory board here, gave a brief response to speakers that preceded him.

Dedication of the citadel culminated 15 years of Salvation Army work in Lubbock and vicinity. The building was erected at a cost of $5,200 and is now valued at more than $7,500. Besides the main auditorium with its stage and rostrum, the building contains class rooms and rooms and showers for transients. Adjoining the citadel is a five-room house which serves as officer's quarters.

Those present for the dedication included Commissioner and Mrs. G. Pugmire; Major and Mrs. W. G. Gilks, Texas divisional commander; Major John A. Morrison, Texas divisional secretary; Adjutant and Mrs. Ernest Pickering, Texas divisional young people's secretary; Envoy Fred Lange, public relations secretary; and the Texas staff band.

Heathman; Chapter Scribe, Howard Latimer; Chapter Steward, Edwin Coffman; Chapter Custodians, Glen Burleson and James Mitchell Stokes; Chapter Herald, J. G. West.

"Merry Go Round of 1938" At Palace

Hollywood's Wildest, million dollar laugh bombardment of the year—Merry Go Round of 1938—starring Bert Lahr, Jimmy Savo, Billy House, Alice Brady, Micha Auer and Louise Fazenda and supported by Dave Apollon and his orchestra will be shown at the Palace Sunday and Monday.

This lavish production presents the howling laugh stars of Broadway's funniest musical comedy successes—presenting the Four Horsemen of Hilarity in a thoroughly screwy, rib-cracking comedy, this picture has been acclaimed the tops in presenting vaudeville and floor show talent on the screen.

Sparkling new smash song hits by Hollywood's top-flight melody makers and a dazzling chorus of dozens of dizzy, delicious, dancing darlings intermingled with the funniest comedy angles of the year will keep the audience in an uproar from the very start of the picture.

The management announced a change in booking on the Sunday, Monday date from Thoroughbreds Don't Cry to Merry Go Round of 1938 since it is a much better picture and they were very fortunate in obtaining a quick date on this picture.

WILDCATS BEAT LAMESA 7-0 HERE THANKSGIVING

Contest Offers Some of Best Thrills of This Season

One of the best football contests of the season for two high school teams was witnessed by at least three thousand fans on Thanksgiving Day here. The game, between Lamesa and Littlefield, offered some of the best thrills that could be given when at the end of the third quarter, neither team had scored a point.

Then the quarter was up, and those two teams realized one must fight doggedly onward to their opponents zero line. Things began to pop for Littlefield, a first down here and a first down there. "Rip" Elms and Earl Burleson teamed up for a ten yard pass that put the Wildcats out in front. First down, gained 1 foot, 2nd down, gained nothing and on the third a terrific center plunge for a good legal touchdown. The extra point pass between the posts and the score was 7-0.

During the rest of the game, Lamesa began coming down the field for about three first downs, but the staunch Littlefield eleven held until the final whistle.

It is believed that the bonfire pep rally held at the school house on Wednesday night helped bring about the victory of the Littlefield Wildcats.

Brownfield Wins First Place By Beating Levelland

After playing 9 conference football games, of which three were lost in scores, Littlefield turned out to be second. Brownfield won first place by beating Levelland, who became fourth. Lamesa had the best chance to win the District title, since she had not been defeated by the victors of the Littlefield Wildcats, but the Wildcats pushed those Tornados back to third position.

Since the Wildcats lost the bi-district title, the locals are sincerely behind those Brownfield cubs. Success to them.

Spring Lake Basket Ball Tournament Set For Dec. 3 and 4

For the first time in the history of Spring Lake School, an invitation basket ball tournament will be attempted by the grade school in the gymnasium during Friday and Saturday, Dec. 3 and 4.

"Invitations will be mailed to schools that are within a radius of thirty miles," was the remark made by Mr. Hopkins when asked about the plans for the meet.

Mr. Hopkins, director of grade school athletics, plans to use the tournament in building up the interest in the winter sport.

A squad made up of 26 players, lead by four squadmen and one regular reported to Mr. Boedeker for training in the coming basketball season. "We hope for a good season," was the comment the coach made.

Palace To Feature "Perfect Specimen" Saturday Midnight

Errol Flynn, that handsome young Irish actor who leaped to fame overnight in "Captain Blood" a couple of years ago and then carried on with "The Charge of the Light Brigade," "Green Light" and "The Prince and the Pauper," comes to the Palace Saturday Midnight in a modern American comedy-drama called "The Perfect Specimen."

The story deals with an eccentric old lady possessed of many millions who has an ambition to see her grandson raised as an altogether perfect young man, and who for that reason supplies him with an abundance of tutors but keeps him confined to the limits of the family's vast estate.

A young village girl—Joan Blondell—manages to break into the virtual prison and meet the young man. She succeeds in getting him outside of his bounds, and he begins to understand and love the world without.

That gives you a general idea of the possibilities of the story. It was written by Samuel Hopkins Adams, who authored "It Happened One Night," and was adapted into screen form by the quartet of Norman Reilly Raines, Lawrence Riley, Brewster Morse and Fritz Falkenstein. Michael Curtiz was the director. Mike is the same man who guided Flynn through "Captain Blood" and "The Charge of the Light Brigade."

Others in the cast of today's local premiere include May Robson, Hugh Herbert, Edward Everett Horton, Allen Jenkins, Beverly Roberts, Dick Foran and Dennie Moore.

Junior Social A Success Prizes Given For Best Dressed

About fifty members of the Junior class attended the "Kid" party at Friday night at 7:30. Under the direction of the sponsors, Miss Naomi Robinett and Mr. Morgan Dayfield, games and different contests were held.

Most of the boys costumes consisted of short pants, bow tie, and childish cap. A prize was awarded to Jerry Montgomery, for he was the best dressed "kid." Ribbons, pills, and short skirts were familiar to the girls contest. To decide the winner each had to do or say something childish. Geraldine Robinson captured first award of the girls. "Flying Dutchman" and other games dominated the evening which was topped off by radio or movie impersonations. Miss Minnie Kate Grissom won the prize for imitating Mae West.

Formality was taken up by the students who were to call each other by "Miss" or "Mr."

Extra Reading Rushes Library

Outside literary reading, compulsory in the schools, is being evidenced by the rush on the library. Most of the good, interesting books are out and in the hands of studious pupils who are trying to get the number of points required to pass their English courses. The average amount of points are 10.

F. F. Association Objective Started

Ranging from cotton-raising to a father-son banquet, fifteen things to do or have are the goals for the Future Farmers of America in Littlefield. Several have already been carried out such as, sending a delegate to the National Convention, setting up an exhibit at the County Fair, and planting and experimenting with different seeds.

Future items might be, to send two delegates to the State Convention, to sponsor a F. F. A. picnic, and attend the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth, Mr. Liner, the vocational agriculture instructor, said.

Aside from the above objectives, others are: to feed pigs cooperatively; to sponsor a judging team and cotton raising; to have each member take part in a leadership contest; to discuss one aim of F. F. A. each meeting; to post honor rolls; and to present awards to outstanding F. F. A. members.

COTTON SEED FOR PLANTING

D. & P. L. No. 11

Here Is the Answer To Our Cotton Problem; A Cotton the World Wants and Demands

D. & P. L. No. 11 cotton is not a stranger in West Texas and the South Plains. There are acreages planted to this variety near Lubbock, Tahoka, Littlefield and Amherst. The producers of this cotton were agreeably surprised at its turnout, lint yield and its earliness. The staple is that in most demand, 15/16 to one inch, good character, strong fiber.

This cotton has a turnout like HALF & HALF, averaging 39% to 43% lint. This same cotton under irrigation is making from one to two bales per acre. Three-fourths to one bale on dry farming.

All producers contacted say that D. & P. L. No. 11 opened as early or earlier than their Half & Half in adjoining fields planted on the same date. The foliage on this cotton is light, allowing early maturing. It has the thin burr like the Half & Half which allows it to dry out and open up well after a freeze. It stays in the boll and does not fall out like some other varieties that have high turnout.

Another important thing to note is the fact that D. & P. L. No. 11 does not color or stain in the boll like most of the better staple varieties. When most of the better stapled cotton was making Middling and Strict Low Middling spotted cotton, this cotton remained white.

We know you will be pleased with D. & P. L. No. 11. It has staple, turnout, yield per acre, and is an early variety. These seed meet the requirements of all Texas Seed Laws.

Speaking as a ginner I know something about cotton as to its ginning qualities, and we find that this cotton gins out and cleans up like Half & Half, which every one connected with cotton ginning knows is the easiest cotton yet to gin.

The following is an experiment station report given me by the Lamb County Agent, Mr. Donald Turner, and I would be glad if any one interested in a better cotton would contact Mr. Turner and get his findings on our seed.

Yard Demonstrators' Report on Accomplishments During Past Year

YARD DEMONSTRATORS IN THE VARIOUS HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUBS IN LAMB COUNTY HAVE STATED THEIR EXPERIENCE IN THIS WORK AS FOLLOWS:

STORY OF MY YARD

By Mrs. J. M. Whitfield

When the Amherst Home Demonstration Club wanted some one to be yard demonstrator I was glad to take it. Yard and garden are hobbies of mine. I just love to work outside, I like to plant things and watch them grow. I always planted flowers each spring, but I had nothing permanent. After frost came I hadn't anything left for winter.

The county home demonstration agent drew my plans and helped me select the plants that were best suited for my needs. I had to get my plants as cheaply as possible, so I bought the small sizes and ones that were not well shaped. I find that the small plants grew better than the larger ones. My phytizer junipers were not the best in shape, but now they have shaped up all right and are just as pretty as if I had bought the best ones.

I put out all my shrubs last year except my roses, also built my walks in front and back. I have used plenty of rich soil and water and haven't had any trouble getting my shrubs to grow. This spring I had one plant where the soil was easy to take around it and it wasn't growing like it should so I dug out the soil from around it and filled in with rich soil, watered it good and in just a few days it began to put on new leaves. This spring before the grass began to grow I had some rich soil and the yard and the low in. I had some Chinese Elms in the yard that had come from seed. This spring I put those out around the street. We also put out grass at the back to hold the sand and to keep it from coming in the yard and in the house. It also helps to keep weeds down. I would much rather mow grass than have to cut weeds. The Chinese Elms are fine for shade trees as they are fast growing. They are also good for screen planting and windbreaks. I have found vitex, golden elder, and bird of paradise very satisfactory for screen plantings.

Pyracantha Landi is a fast growing evergreen and is beautiful in the winter with its orange berries.

We all enjoyed our yard this summer for several reasons, and more especially the back yard. It is a grand place for the young daughter to entertain her friends, both in the afternoons and evenings. It is grand for picnics. When it was so hot this summer we surely enjoyed our evening meals out in the yard. Grass all around the house makes it cooler in summer and helps make your work lighter by keeping the sand out of the house. It makes a fine place for children as well as the grownups to play.

The total cost of my yard improvement for the two years is $21.-89 and I feel it is worth more than $100 to me and my family.

COMPLETES 2ND YEAR AS YARD DEMONSTRATOR

By Mrs. P. S. Hanks, Yard Demonstrator For Sunnydale Home Demonstration Club

The aim of every home-maker should be to make her home and its surroundings as attractive as possible; a place in which her family is proud to live and to invite their friends to visit. With this aim in view, I chose to be yard demonstrator for the Sunnydale Home Demonstration Club in 1936. After studying our home and yard as it was the Home Demonstration Agent drew a plan showing the selection and correct location of the various plant-

As Cleveland Fights Auto Toll

CLEVELAND . . . Jaywalkers on the Public Square here are reminded that by using the red flag shown above they "might" dart across the street against traffic lights. It's all a part of a traffic safety campaign to reduce the mounting number of auto deaths.

The yard was already fenced and since it is rather large a good part of it was left in native buffalo grass. That next to the house was fertilized and leveled and then set with bermuda grass. The two grasses resemble each other so there is not too great a contrast where they join.

We secured some leonade sumac from the sand hills and these interspersed with lilacs were set at the back of the yard for a screen for the out buildings. The annual flowers and rose garden was located to the north and west of the house, leaving a smooth and unbroken lawn in front. This spring we purchased several of the evergreen shrubs selected for the foundation plantings but as it was late in the season when we set them only a few of them survived.

We had no porch in front of the house so we built one of cement and then built a flagstone walk to the front gate. There is a stepping stone walk from the kitchen door to the back gate. Our greatest problem has been an inadequate storage tank, causing a shortage of water when it is most needed. The size of the lawn also makes it quite a task to mow, but we find it is easier and more satisfactory to mow frequently. Another hinderance has been that while I want the children to enjoy the yard, their play and their pets are often disastrous to the grass and shrubs.

The expense has been very small as most of my plantings have either been native shrubs, to be had for the digging, or were given to me by friends. Only six dollars was spent for nursery shrubs. The porch and walks were constructed by my husband and son so the only cost was $5.00 for material.

While we have fallen far short of the goal set in our original plan, we have enjoyed planning and working and working in our yard and we feel that even this small beginning is worth while. By continuing our work, as we can, we hope to eventually achieve a really beautiful yard.

MY YARD

By Mrs. A. C. Barton, Spring Lake

I became yard demonstrator for the Spring Lake Home Demonstration Club at the beginning of 1936 with the aid of the Extension Landscape Specialist, Miss Onah Jacks and the Lamb County Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Bernice Westbrook. I was very much interested in yard work at this time and had nothing but a barren yard from which to start, so we decided a fence must come first. We really wanted a heavy grade of lawn wire with iron piping to be used as posts and these to be embedded in concrete. We knew, too, this kind of a fence would be rather expensive but at the same time we wanted a fence that would be durable and lasting as well as attractive. When this was completed it cost $100.

The next step was to have the yard spaded. My husband spaded the entire yard, hauled in several

New 1938 Fords Are Now On Display Here

OFFERED AS TWO DISTINCT LINES FOR YEAR 1938

One is Standard Ford Line. Other Newly Designed DeLuxe

Ford V-type 8-cylinder cars for 1938 go on display today in Ford dealer showrooms throughout the United States. They are offered this year as two distinct lines, differing in appearance and price. Both are in the lowest price field.

Hall Motor Company, of which Mancil Hall is manager, are the local dealers for the Ford Automobiles.

One is a newly-styled standard Ford line, in coupe, Tudor and Fordor body types, powered either with the 85 or the 60 horsepower V-8 engine. The standard cars are designed to meet requirements of the many motor car owners, whose means dictate maximum economy in first cost, as well as in maintenance and operating costs.

The other is a newly-designed de luxe line for owners who desire additional style and appointments. Powered only with the 85 horsepower V-8 engine, the line includes eight body types, the coupe, Tudor and Fordor sedans, as well as the club coupe, convertible cabriolet, club convertible cabriolet, convertible sedan and phaeton.

The two lines of cars have the same improved V-8 chassis, but their styling is distinctly different.

The de luxe cars are larger in appearance. The hood has been lengthened. Its nearly vertical front is carried in a "V" well down into the radiator grille, with the familiar V-8 emblem at the tip of the "V". Horizontal lines of the grille bars and the louvers are echoed in a bright rustless steel hand which is carried along the belt of the rear.

The new standard line cars also present a larger appearance, with a newly-designed front end, grille, hood and fenders. The front end is formed in a "V", with the horizontal grille bars extending unbroken along the hoodside to form the louvers.

Fenders in both cars are massive, formed lower to provide more complete coverage of the running gear and extending farther back. Headlamps are again recessed in front fender aprons, new type tail lamps in the tips of rear fenders.

Interiors of the two cars are roomy and attractive, styled in keeping with the exteriors. The de luxe sedan interiors are larger.

A new instrument panel adds measurably to the beauty of the front compartment. The panel of de luxe line cars is in walnut grain finish, that of the standard line cars in mahogany finish.

Instruments are arranged in two groups directly in front of the driver. In the middle of the panel is a grille, for radio speaker installation when specified. At the right is a glove compartment. In de luxe cars a lock is provided for the compartment and a clock is recessed in the compartment door.

Instruments in both cars are lighted by improved fringe illumination, designed to provide safer lighting for night driving. Interior lights are located on the right and left pillars of the sedans and over the rear windows of coupes.

Steering wheels of the deluxe cars of flexible multiple steel spoke type, with hubs of rich brown baked material and rims of lighter contrasting color. Standard car steering wheels are of three-spoke type, finished in beige. The upper spokes are widely spaced to give the driver unobstructed view of the instrument dials.

Night driving safety is also increased by addition of a headlamp beam control on the toe-board of both lines. The control is operated by the foot. A tell-tale light on the instrument panel indicates the position of the beams, whether high or depressed.

Both front and rear seats are wide enough for three persons. Seat cushions and backs are finished in piping and pillow treatment. In the de luxe cars the finish is set off with rows of ornamental buttons. Ash trays are recessed in rear seat arm rests of the de luxe closed sedans.

Light taupe mohair or broadcloth is optional in the closed de luxe cars, tan hand buffed antique finish genuine leather or taupe bedford cord in the convertibles and tan leather in the phaeton. The seat cushion and back of the rumble seat in the convertible cabriolet is finished in artificial leather.

In the standard line, mohair and broadcloth are optional in cars equipped with the 85 horsepower engine. The mohair is available only on special order in the 60 horsepower cars.

The driver seats of all cars except the phaeton are adjustable and the amount of adjustment has been increased.

One of the unusual new features is the front seat of Tudor sedans. The seat cushion is full width. Seat backs are divided, each being hinged diagonally so as to swing inward as it is tipped forward. This provides a wide passageway on either side for entrance to the rear compartment.

Clear vision ventilation is continued in all closed bodies. Rear quarter windows of de luxe Fordor sedans and club coupes are pivoted for additional ventilation.

Bodies of both car lines are all-steel. There is no metal-to-metal contact between body and frame, the result of thorough use of insulation. Safety glass is used throughout in windshield, doors and windows.

The luggage compartments in all cars is closed off by a wall from the

EIGHTH INSTALLMENT

Monty Wallace has just arrived in California, having broken the East-west cross country airplane record. Natalie Wade, mistaken by him for newspaper reporter, writes the exclusive account of Monty's arrival, and succeeds in securing a trial job with a paper in exchange for the story. Natalie becomes attached to Monty.

Although she discovers Monty's love for her is not sincere, Natalie admits that she loves him. She is assigned by her paper to report Monty's activities for publication. Jimmy Hale, the newspaper's photographer, becomes Natalie's co-worker.

Natalie interviews Jabe Marion, a wealthy airplane builder, who decides to build a record-breaking 'round the world plane for Monty. Marion's daughter, Sunny, exquisitely beautiful, is attracted to Monty. She invites Natalie to dine with her, when they meet the aviator unexpectedly.

Natalie discovers that Sunny is jealous of her friendship with Monty, and that she is trying to prevent them from being alone. After driving to a mountain resort with Sunny and Jimmy, Monty again declares his love for Natalie.

The girl poured out her troubles into his willing ear. He took her in his arms as though she were his sister instead of the girl he adored and promised her that he would do "his best damndest" to fix things up for her.

He took her home and made her promise to get into bed and forget about it.

Sleep came to her rescue then but she woke in the middle of the night, apparently awakened by some noise at the door.

For an instant she was terrified but she knew that help was within call and so she went to the door and opened it. A man lay there, sprawled on the hall carpet and when she bent above him she found it was Jimmy Hale, unconscious and clearly very drunk.

Her heart went out to him as it had never done before. She bent to lift him up and got him into the room. With the door swiftly closed so that he was safe from arrest for his condition and his midnight visit, she helped him to her own bed, stilled his mutterings and watched over him the rest of the night.

She fell asleep in the big chair where she sat and the sun was high when she waked the next morning heavily.

In the very small cabinet kitchen where she prepared her breakfast, she brewed for him some very strong coffee and broke out a can of tomatoes, remembering that he had spoken often of their efficacy after much drinking.

Then she waked him and laughed at his consternation.

"Great Scot, Nat," he cried in his husky voice. "I didn't know I was as bad as that. Let me get out of here before I wreck your whole rep."

She gave him coffee and insisted that he get into a cold bath, promising him breakfast when he had swept some of the cobwebs out of his brain.

Over the dainty slices of toast and the crisp bacon he was presently a complete picture of chagrin. His chin was rough and his clothes were rumpled. He protested that he was not fit to associate with her.

"Weren't you trying to forget something last night, Jimmy? Isn't that why you drank so much?"

He grinned sheepishly. "Yeah," he said, "and it took a lot."

"It's not a nice way to do, Jimmy. But I sometimes think it's better than remembering too much. Let's let it go at that."

"But how am I going to get out of here without making it look bad for you?" he pleaded.

The girl laughed. "Can you run, Jimmy?" she asked.

Well, I'm going out after a while and when I come back, I'm going to find a prowler in my room. I'm going to make a terrible fuss and you'll have to beat it fast."

"Kid," he chuckled. "You're a genius. But you'd better wash up these dishes before you let anybody in here."

They laughed together and began clearing away the breakfast things. Jimmy was very busy after that with mysterious affairs that seemed to involve his being much with Sunny Marion. He said nothing about all this to Natalie even when they were working together on some angle of the story of the great night.

Natalie herself was busy. She had access to the company files and each day there was some difficulty that had to be ironed out and that usually proved the basis for her story of that day.

The refueling stations were already set up. Each had a plane at hand and an auxiliary plane available. Each had a pilot in charge and an assistant pilot ready in case of emergency.

It had not proved necessary to forward pilots or planes. American pilots in each of the countries designated for refueling stations proved available for the work at hand. It was vital only that they have experience in the type of work attempted and that they have uniform equipment.

It was not intended that all the stations would be used but that they should be ready if needed.

Each of the auxiliary pilots was a radio operator and the short-wave chain was in operation. It was from the log of conversations that Natalie culled most of the information she used for publication.

Mont Wallace, in active charge of most of these arrangements as well as the reading of the plane, had grown less and less preoccupied as the plans took shape. He was now thoroughly convinced that they would go through and that nothing but bad luck could stop the flight.

"In a thing like this," he told Natalie when she visited the hangar office a week before the flight, "you've got to count on luck. You do everything you can to keep luck out, but it creeps in spite of all. It's only the bad luck I'll have to fight. Everything else has been accounted for."

"You'll have to fight sleep, won't you, Mont?" she questioned.

"That will be easy. I wouldn't be able to sleep a dime's worth if I were staying home and somebody else were making the flight after all this preparation. It will be easier to stay awake when I know I've got the whole thing on my hands. Besides, it won't matter if I doze off now and then, for the automatic controls will take care of the ship and there is an alarm system if anything goes wrong."

The thought of Mont Wallace sleeping at the controls of the valiant little ship as it hurtled through space sent a creepy thrill of fear into the girl's heart but she had a note of the plan and used it for her lead that night.

Two days later Natalie Wade drove to the airport with sinking heart. This was the day that Mont was to take off for the East. He was to refuel at Denver on the cross-continent flight in order to see that everything had been remembered. The last leg of the Eastern flight was to be under cover of darkness.

"I'll be meeting the days pretty fast on this trip and I've got to get used to it," he told her when she asked about that feature of the preliminary start. That gave her another lead. "Days to be short for Wallace," the public would read that night.

In the midst of their conversation, Jimmy Hale drove up. He had pleaded delay and Natalie had taken a taxicab to the field. He drew her aside and slipped something into her hand.

"Pretend this is your birthday, kid," he said. "I fixed this up for you so you can shoot pictures yourself when you get in a spot."

She saw then that he had given her a small and very fast camera of a type he had often described to her. She thanked him earnestly and then he jerked a thumb toward the night office.

"Old Jabe Marion wants to see you," he told her.

He did not follow after as she crossed to the opposite side of the hangar and sought out the gray-haired MAC president.

"Hello, Natalie," he said, smiling up at her from his desk. "Do you know why I sent for you?" "I haven't an idea in the world," the girl replied honestly.

LAMB COUNTY LEADER

Yard Demonstrators

loads of dirt from an adjoining field, and he mixed with this a large amount of barnyard fertilizer.

After leveling the yard, we built a curved flagstone walk at the front. The walk to the back entrance is straight and of solid concrete while the walk from the house to the wash room will be a stepping stone walk.

Having accomplished this much by May 15, we planted a small portion of the yard in blue grass and clover but with a big rain and plenty of sand storms this planting was not a success. We decided to wait until August before making another attempt. We now have about three fourths of the yard in grass and can say we really do enjoy it and it makes the place so much cleaner.

This concluded my first year's work, and by this time we had a new home agent, Mrs. Perry, who has continued the work with me. In February 1937 I purchased most of my shrubs. This order included blue columer juniper, phitzier juniper, pyracantha, spires, nandina, Arizona cypress, santolina, and evergreen ivy, a few other such as bush honey suckle, flowering willow and vitex were started from cuttings. All the privet was given to me. To beautify a homestead is a noble and practical undertaking and it requires a lot of hard work and cooperation from other members of the family. Sadie Hatfield, present Yard Specialist, said "Dreaming dreams is not necessarily a waste of time, dreams are practical and constructive if they are made into a plan which serves as a guide to a goal."

With a well landscaped home as a goal, working out the details is a constant source of pleasure to any family. With all the members of the family working toward this pleasantly exciting achievement there is developed a desirable unity of action which is needed in family life today and in my opinion it helps to raise the standard of living, for not many children after helping to develop the grounds of the parental home would be content to live in a barren yard without benefit of trees, shrubs and grass when establishing his own home.

This completes my second year of improvement at a total expense of $132.80. This includes the fence, which was expensive, the walks, shrubs, and seed for the lawn. I hope by the close of 1938 to have a completely landscaped home.

BEAUTIFUL YARD COSTS LITTLE

By Mrs. R. L. Drake, Spring Lake

When the yard improvement demonstration was first started in 1936, Miss Westbrook, home demonstration agent, asked for one interested in yard work to be the demonstrator for the Center Home Demonstration Club. I really wanted to be demonstrator for I had tried so long to plan my yard. Miss Westbrook made my plan and I have tried to carry out the plans.

In 1936 I levelled the front lawn and broke up the back lawn and sowed grass seed. After the awful sand storms I didn't have any grass left and the front lawn blew out in holes till we had to do something. In August when the rain began, my husband broke this all up and used a disc harrow to level and cut it up, then we used the rake to finish leveling. The lawn is now set with bermuda grass and the front lawn is well covered. I have just finished planting bermuda in the back yard this summer.

In 1936 we put out some plum, lilacs, Chinese Elms, for screen plantings but it was so late we had to replant some of them.

After we remodeled our house and changed the entrance from the side to the front my yard plan had to be changed. Mrs. Perry the new home demonstration agent, helped me change my plan. I prepared my shrub bed and early in March we bought $15.50 of shrubs. This included blue columer, pyracantha, winter jasmine, nandina, phitzier juniper, blue spruce, and japonica. I had bridal wreath, arbor vitae, lilac and a juniper in my yard but I had to move these. We worked all day the 13th of March putting out these shrubs and I am happy to say that I never lost a shrub.

A flag stone walk leading from the front door to the gate was made in May. I planned this to be wide enough for two persons to walk on side by side. The walk took 5 sacks of cement and a yard of sand.

We now have a modern home and a beautiful yard for which I can never forget Miss Westbrook and Mrs. Perry for helping me. I have a total of 44 shrubs and 15 trees. These with the walks and lawn have cost me only $22.85. I feel that I will receive this and more from the improvements. My cooperators in the club have put out 27 permanent foundation plantings and 5 shade trees. One drive was made.

YARD IMPROVEMENT IN ONE YEAR

By Mrs. R. C. Roberts, Spade, Texas

Flowers, grass, trees, and shrubs, especially evergreen shrubs, all contribute to a pretty yard, and I determined to have the yard since more work and less money make that an easy possibility for all yard demonstrators.

Plans for my yard were drawn in March 1937 by the county home demonstration agent after I had selected the varieties I liked best. With the help of the home demonstration agent I set up the goals that I wanted to accomplish each year in the yard, so it would be complete by 1938.

Flowering trees were used in wind breaks and screening near the house. As desert willow and mulberry were available and could be had at no expense, I used these and both have shown their adaptability to both soil and climate.

The house faced the south and had fields on all sides so one of my first plans was to screen the view. Fields are beautiful when green and growing but they are not so good to look at in the winter and spring months. This screening was used also for a windbreak and it consisted of 1000 seedling Chinese Elms, mulberry and desert willow. These were planted on both north and west of the house and extended far enough on the north to protect our orchard and garden as well as the outbuildings which were north and east of the house. These trees were planted in a 12 inch furrow according to the directions from the experimenter station. A space 12 feet wide was plowed starting at the center and throwing the dirt out each time and making this low ground in the middle. Two rows of trees alternating each side of the center were used and these trees were not watered except by rainfall. Out of the 1000 trees less than 12 died.

The yard was then plowed, harrowed, watered, and bermuda grass set out. A fence was put up and I looked around to see the next step. The house had never been painted, and that was completed in the summer.

An overhead storage tank was added and water was piped to the house and yard. This tank and the windmill tower have been painted white like the house. A seed house was moved to the barn yard out of the side yard. Screen plantings were added around the windmill, tank tower, and earth tank.

To complete my idea of a happy home plans for an out door living room and out door fireplace were added to the original plans. As both of these will be added to the north as well as more rooms. This meant that I could add no permanent shrubs on the north this year.

Foundation plantings were set out across the front and the sides of the house. I have material on hand for the walks, and as soon as the proper time, January, comes I will set out more trees. The cost of the improvement so far has been $30 for fence, $7.50 for evergreen shrubs, and $4.50 for paint. These trees were given us and the grass was rooted from another yard.

Eight members of the Spade Home Demonstration club and three non-club members have improved their yards—all interested through this demonstration.

New Baptist Church Under Construction At Earth to Cost Approximately $8,000

Construction is underway in the erection of a new Baptist Church at Earth, to cost approximately $8,000. The building will be of brick and face tile construction, and cover floor space 40x70. The foundation has been laid, and workmen are now busy building the walls.

Included in the structure will be an auditorium 40x48, Pastor's study, Baptistry, and basement, in which will be six Sunday School rooms, in addition to three contained in the auditorium.

The building will be complete in every way with elevated floors, etc., and it is expected will be completed by January 1. Rev. C. T. Jordan has been pastor of the First Baptist Church at Earth since June last, and it was principally through his efforts that the structure is being built. This church has a membership of 300.

When completed this building promises to be such that would be a credit to a city much larger than Littlefield.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Replin left Sunday for Dallas to buy merchandise for Christmas. They are expected to return Wednesday.

FORD offers two new cars for 1938—the Standard Ford V-8 and the De Luxe Ford V-8. They are different in appearance—but built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence—on the same chassis.

Because people liked our 1937 car so well, they bought more than of any other make. They liked its looks, its smooth performance, and the way it handled. We have improved on that car in the newly styled Standard Ford V-8.

But some folks wanted still more size and style, with the same Ford advantages. For them, we designed a new De Luxe line.

The De Luxe Ford V-8 Sedans are longer with more room, larger luggage space, and finer appointments all around.

De Luxe cars are equipped with the 85-horsepower engine only.

The Standard is even lower priced than the De Luxe. It has graceful new lines and well-tailored interiors—with a choice of engine sizes—85 or 60 horsepower.

Before Ford made V-type 8-cylinder engines available to every one, they were used only in expensive cars. Since then, four million Ford owners have learned the genuine enjoyment of driving an eight-cylinder car with all-around economy. The thrifty "60" engine, especially, makes possible in Standard models a very low first cost and equally low operating cost.

With two distinct designs, two engine sizes and two price ranges, you'll find a 1938 Ford car to fit your needs exactly.

PRICES FOR CARS DELIVERED IN DETROIT—TAXES EXTRA

Standard Ford V-8 (60 hp.)—Coupe, $599; Tudor, $644; Fordor, $689. Standard Ford V-8 (85 hp.)—Coupe, $629; Tudor, $669; Fordor, $714. De Luxe Ford V-8 (85 hp. only) Coupe, $689; Tudor, $729; Fordor, $774; Convertible Coupe, $774; Club Coupe, $749; Convertible Club Coupe, $804; Phaeton, $824; Convertible Sedan, $904.

Standard and De Luxe cars equipped with bumpers, bumper guards, spare wheel, tire, tube, tire lock and band, cigar lighter, twin horns, and headlight beam indicator on instrument panel, at no extra charge.

In addition, De Luxe cars are equipped with extra tail light, windshield wiper, sun visor; also de luxe steering wheel, glove compartment lock, clock, and chrome wheel bands, at no extra charge.

COTTON REPORT INDICATES THAT ONE OF SOUTH PLAINS COUNTIES MAY LEAD IN COTTON PRODUCTION

Ginning figures to date in Texas indicate that possibly one of the South Plains counties may lead cotton production in this state.

It was learned Saturday that up to November 14 Lubbock County stood fourth among the 254 counties for ginnings of this 1937 crop.

According to a department of commerce report through the bureau of the census, the first four leading counties on the preliminary report on cotton ginned prior to Nov. 14, by counties showed:

Ellis 99,698.
Nueces 91,475.
San Patricio 83,598.
Lubbock 80,949.

cotton crop gathered.

Ginnings in other South Plains counties prior to Nov. 14:

Lynn 77,206.
Dawson 67,919.
Crosby 56,126.
Lamb 50,119.
Hockley 33,534.
Dickens 23,928.
Hale 22,690.
Garza 22,426.
Terry 20,336.
Floyd 17,742.
Cochran 6,659.

Last estimate for the total crop expected to be produced from the 17 counties of the cotton belt surrounding Lubbock was 900,000 bales.

However, most of the crop in the first three counties has been gathered, whereas Lubbock and other counties on the South Plains have only possibly about two thirds of the

"Take a lot of shots," he advised her. "Some of them are bound to be no good but there's a hundred pictures in one load of that thing and some of them will turn out all right."

Natalie threw things into her bag. Jimmy watched.

"You didn't ever find that prowler that was in here, did you?" he grinned.

Natalie laughed.

"Listen, kid," Jimmy said, "I've got more news for you."

She looked up, snapping the lock of her grip.

"Sunny is sore as a goat. She wanted to make that trip herself. Now she's going by another plane and I'm going with her. We'll be there a little while after you land."

"Jimmy!" the girl cried. "That's grand."

"It's a tri-motor and you're coming back with us after the big hop-off."

They rushed back to the field then. Mont Wallace was waiting for her, Sunny stood beside him, pouting a little. But Mont's eyes were for the plane, for the final preparations.

In a little while the trim little ship was surrounded. The whole field staff came to cheer and wish success to the flight.

Then Sunny and Jimmy Hale ran for their own plane.

Mont lifted Natalie almost bodily into her place in the small cabin. The motor revved up and roared. They taxied across the field and then there was a rush into the teeth of the wind. They were off for Denver, Cleveland and New York.

Once more Natalie Wade settled her shoulder against Mont's arm, and happiness flew with them as they swept toward the mountains.

"That day seemed like a dream to Natalie, but it ended in nightmare when they refueled at Denver. In terror the girl watched while Mont shifted a cabin hatch and climbed to foot-rests above with his body whipped by the angry slip-stream.

What if the ship should veer suddenly and throw him from his place? But she remembered then that there were auxiliary controls on the cabin roof by which he could handle everything but the lateral rudder.

She saw the fuelling ship mount above them. She knew that it must hold steady for the proper contact, that Mont must catch the swinging fuel line and whip it into the tank vent.

She could see little of the operation, but she knew presently that it was a success. She saw the other plane swing off to the South and head back to its field. Mont slid back into his seat and closed the hatch.

He grinned at her, and in an instant she was in his arms, clinging to him with hot tears streaming down her cheeks. He kissed her hungrily, but he laughed at her tears.

They flew on then into the darkness. There was nothing to guide them but Mont's instinct and the star-glow of the night sky. There was a beacon now and then, but they seemed so few and far apart.

Natalie fought her terror through the night. It was not possible, it seemed to her, that this boy could circle the monstrous earth below in this frail plane. He would crash. He would die somewhere along that route that had been a thin, red line on the globe in the flight office!

Mont knew the Long Island flying field and the towns that lay about as he knew the back of his hand. Everywhere he was hailed by friendly voices. He turned his ship over to the starting control station while Natalie telephoned the Eastern newspaper connections for which she was to do her story.

She had scribbled a diary of the flight as they flew East. Now she must find a quiet spot to turn out her lead. So overwrought was she by her fears that she told Mont she didn't believe she could do her work.

He hailed a cab and hurried her off to a tiny hotel where he was known. Presently he sat beside her in a pleasant room overlooking a quiet street.

"Now, take your time," he said. "Nobody knows where you are. Nobody can bother you till you are ready for them. Do your stuff and then we'll tell them where to come for it."

When he suggested that he leave her alone so that there wouldn't be any distraction, she cried out, "Oh please, Mont. Please stay here, I'd die if you left me here alone." And so he sat beside her as she wrote.

Surprisingly, the story was finished in a short time. Messengers came rushing at Mont's call and bore it away.

She must get some sleep now, he told her. And when he had kissed her she threw herself on the wide, white bed. But fear struck then at her heart. Sleep would not come.
