Hale Center Scout Wins Eagle Honors

Stanley Thorpe became the 4th Eagle Scout in the Hale Center Boy Scout Troop at a Trail of Eagle Ceremony held at Hale Center at the Boy Scout Hut at 8 p.m. Monday.

Every rank in the Boy Scout organization was represented in the advancements awarded at the ceremony, and marked the first time in the history of the troop at Hale Center that this has occurred.

Only one boy in $,000 in the Scout organization becomes an Eagle Scout so that Hale Center with a troop of 35 boys will rank high on a percentage basis for Scout achievements, according to Kenneth Masters, scout master.

The four men and boys who have accomplished the advancement at Hale Center and are either members or officials of the Hale Center troop are Belton Gage, Jamie Gage, Jimmy Lamb and Thorpe. All the eagle awards have been presented in the last three years.

National Foundation Sends Epidemic Team and Polio Equipment to Texas

Two epidemiologists were dispatched to Fort Worth at the request of Austin health officials last week to study the polio outbreak in Tarrant County. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis flew in its assistant director of research, Dr. Henry Kumm of New York, and Dr. Herbert Wenner, professor of pediatrics, University of Kansas.

Meanwhile valley counties continued to receive large epidemic aid grants from the March of Dimes organization which sent $42,100 to Texas for local patient care expenses during the week ending August 4th.

Receiving funds, largely for previous years' patients, were Hidalgo County, $19,000; Cameron, $7,900; Kennedy and Kleberg, $8,500; and Jim Wells, $2,000. Gillespie and Medina, in south-central Texas, received $1,600 and $3,100 respectively. The total sent during the year to Texas county chapters, after their own March of Dimes funds were depleted, reached $283,775.

But August 3rd, rural Sagerton (a community of several hundred near Abilene) had chalked up its seventh case for the year.

On the equipment front, too, National Foundation resources were tapped with three respirators going to Texas hospitals during the week. Ben Tankersley, NFIP northwest Texas representative wired for suction machines and hot packs for the Plainview Clinic where 21 patients were being treated, three in iron lungs.

With Red Cross cooperation, the National Foundation rounded out its service to Texas patients by recruiting six polio nurses, fulfilling its pledge of assistance to polio victims in fighting the epidemic disease.

There will be the Employee-Employer banquet sometime in the spring. The program includes a D.E. club, and two delegates will be selected to attend the State Convention in El Paso sometime in February. Sometime in November the Club will select its 1951-1952 club sweetheart.

All students interested should contact Jesse Foster, instructor, at the high school between the hours of 8 A.M. and 4 P.M., August 16-17, and if unable to do so these days, they may contact him August 20, 21 and 22.

Any merchant or business man, who is interested in participating in the program should call 79 any day between now and the time school starts, and Mr. Foster will be happy to work with you in assisting in any way possible for the coming season.

27 YEARS OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP AND PUBLIC SERVICE

You And Your Congress

Federal Employees have more bosses than other workers.

Their superiors include the 435 members of the House and 96 members of the Senate. Awareness of this branch of management increases when a federal pay day is drawing near and Congress has not approved new money for salaries.

That has happened twice so far this Summer. The federal government's business year begins July 1. When the old 1951 fiscal year ended June 30, stopping expenditures under 1951 appropriations, Congress had not approved any major appropriations for the new 1952 fiscal year—and still hasn't.

Normally, while this may induce a certain degree of nervousness among federal wage earners, it does not cause any major disturbance. Because Congress as it has done twice since June 30, simply permits the federal agencies temporarily to draw advances on their 1952 appropriations until the latter finally are fixed.

This summer, however has not been normal in that respect. A new feature has been added.

Final Congressional action on about $45 billion worth of appropriations bills is being delayed by a fight between the House and Senate over an issue close to the hearts of federal employees—how federal payrolls should be cut.

There is House-Senate agreement that a cut is necessary because federal employment rolls are too large and payrolls too expensive. There are about 2,487,000 federal workers and their annual total payroll runs approximately $5.5 billion, according to one Congressional committee.

Conflicting plans are offered by the House and Senate respectively for reducing federal employment.

The House champions the Jensen Plan. Rep. Ben Jensen (R-Ia.) would cut the employment rolls by prohibiting federal agencies from filling more than three out of each four employment vacancies. He says this would save $500 millions a year in salaries alone.

The Senate is backing the Ferguson Plan. Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) would reduce employment by simply cutting by 10 per cent the amount sought by most federal agencies for payroll purposes during fiscal 1952.

Certain exceptions are made such as for the Atomic Energy Commission, under both plans.

By custom, appropriations bills are launched in the House. There are a dozen bills all told, covering various federal operations. Requests for each of these operations are contained in the President's budget message to Congress.

This year the House along with doing some trimming, tacked the Jensen amendment onto each of six of the appropriations bills before sending them along to the Senate. But as it considered each of the first of those bills, the Senate substituted the Ferguson Plan for the Jensen Plan.

That meant that each of the three bills had to be sent to conferences of House and Senate Appropriations committee members for compromise agreement.

They are still there.

In each case, the conference agreed to replace the Jensen Plan with the Ferguson Plan but when the House itself was asked to vote approval of that switch, it refused and sent the bills back to conference.

And each time, of course, the action made top headlines, in Washington newspapers whose subscribers include thousands of federal employees.

Backers of the Jensen Plan argue that the Ferguson Plan would penalize the more efficient government departments, which try to hold down wasteful labor turnover, by subjecting them to "meat axe" cuts. With the Jensen Plan, this argument runs, more departments would try to hold down turnover in order to avoid as much as possible personnel reductions.

Ferguson Plan supporters contend that federal employment has gotten so big that the only way to make a noticeable dent in it is through flat appropriations reductions.

The argument continues; but eventually, it is assumed, an agreement will be reached. Meanwhile, there is general disturbance in Civil Service circles, with distinct overtones of nervousness.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

Just as there are certain types of coal which burn faster than others, there are certain kinds of foods which can be burned up faster than others to keep the fires going in the body, the fires that mean power and energy. If you are building a coal fire that you want to last a long time and burn slowly, you use one type coal but if you want a fast, hot fire you use another type coal.

Food is fuel for the body. There are three big classifications of foods: fats, proteins and carbohydrates. Fats burn more slowly than the other two types, meaning they are present in the body a longer time before they are used up, making them available for fuel. Fats, therefore, have more calories than proteins and carbohydrates when you eat the same amounts of each of these three classes of foods.

Calories are a unit of heat. Fats might be considered as those sources of body fuel which burn the slowest, therefore provide more units of heat than either proteins or carbohydrates, and therefore fats have more calories (more heat units) than the other type foods. All kinds of oils, shortenings, butter and butter substitutes make up the big bulk of fats, of course. Carbohydrates are for the most part the fruits and vegetable foods. And proteins are found in largest amounts in meats and nuts and dairy products.

Since milk and milk products contain all three classes of foods (fats, proteins and carbohydrates), look, one containing quality but these are considered about the most nearly perfect foods. Yet those classes are so intermingled in the milk products that when a reducing diet is undertaken it's hard to separate the fats from the others and there is usually some cutback on milk products along with fat foods. Whatever type diet is undertaken, it must be remembered that there are basic needs of the body and some of the "basic seven" foods must be included either in food or by substitute methods prescribed by your doctor.

Therefore, a reducing diet which would have your doctor's approval would include milk and milk products as well as a small amount of fat because those are part of the daily needs of the body. The only approved reducing diets which can be undertaken without strictest medical attention are those that merely cut down on the amounts of food you eat; you must eat the foods necessary for the upkeep of all parts of your body but you just eat less of those foods which your body has stored.

Fat is the class of food that is stored most when bulges and bulk attest to overweight. If the fuel intake every day is less than the body needs, then that stored fat will be brought into usage, reducing the bulk and bulges eventually. But if the body is deprived of other needs, such as minerals and vitamins, then it cannot function as well as it should and the stored fat will probably not be used up as it should be. The quality of foods becomes especially important when the quantity must be reduced. Foods of high quality may be defined as those possessing the necessary minerals and vitamins.

How would such a reducing diet look, one containing quality but less quantity food? For a person who was quite normal in every respect except for being 20 pounds overweight, such a regime of eating for the three meals in one day might run something like this:

Breakfast—half grapefruit, soft-boiled egg, one slice of buttered

Star Thistle Invades Thousands Acres Rice Land

BEAUMONT, Tex., Aug 14. (AP)—Star thistle, which normally is confined to waste areas, has invaded thousands of acres of idle, dry rice land in this section this year.

County Agent Joe F. Combs says, "star thistle has been present in isolated places the past 15 or 20 years, but it has spread to damage pastures only last season and more so the present season."

This is the last year rice farmers have noticed the pest in such great numbers.

Combs says the plant is an annual, appearing in early spring. But if pastures are not overgrazed, the thistles have difficulty in becoming established.

Some of the thistles are 3 feet tall, but the average height is about 18 inches.

The seed heads and leaves have spines that are sharp enough to irritate if brushed against the skin. Cattle will not graze where the thistles thrive.

If thistles get a head start in a pasture, they will shade and starve out the grasses and clovers which come up in dry weather.

Combs says that "one of the surest ways to control star thistles is by mowing infested pastures before or during the blooming state from mid-July to September. Lift the cutter bar to clip them about six inches above the ground, and about two weeks later when they have branched out again and are high enough to cut. Set the cutter bar as near the ground as possible."

Dr. E. C. Tullis, plant pathologist at the rice-pasture experiment station near here, reports that experiments using weed-killers have started. However, the thistle is a type of plant which is not expected to react as desired to 2, 4-D, the new weed-killer which has received widespread use recently.

Ransom Jackson, third baseman for the Chicago Cubs, was a star baseball and football player for both Texas University and Texas Christian University.

Attendance at 21 TRA (Thoroughbred Racing Association) tracks during the first six months of 1951 showed an increase of 3.7 per cent over a similar period in 1950.

WEEKLY EATING CLUB By Jim Barstow

FROM THE GRANDSTAND

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff

You may see your greatest football this season on some army post or air base gridiron.

The two big clubs of service football in Texas this season appear to be Carswell Air Force Base of Fort Worth and Brooke Army Medical Center of Fort Sam Houston.

The Brooke team is really loaded and it may be the strongest service team since Randolph Field's super-teams in 1943, 1944, and 1945.

Lt. Col. John Kramer already has his gridders working out and it must really be a pleasure for the colonel to look over the lads. He's got Randall Clay of the University of Texas and New York Giants, Joe Etheridge, Southern Methodist and Green Bay Packers, Harold Riley, Rice, Carl DePasqua, Pittsburgh Steelers, and Billy Kimbrough, Baylor, to name a few.

Carswell Air Force Base has its share of headlines, too, and one of the brightest is giant Bud McFadin, Texas' All-American guard last year. Carswell and Brooke Medical play in Fort Worth October 28 and that game should be worth traveling a long way to see.

Randolph Air Force Base has a football team, too, and it's supposed to be a good one. But the Ramblers can never hope to have a squad as great as the one of 1944, when former first string professional players were lucky to make the squad.

The trophy the Amarillo Globe News will give to the sports champion of District 1-AAAA will probably never rest more than a single season at any one school. This newly created district is probably the toughest in the Interscholastic league setup.

Mexico Youth Practices 'Good Neighbor' Policy in Mexico City

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 14. (AP)—A 19-year-old Mexico youth has taken the "good neighbor" problem into his own hands.

Texas tourists who happen to cross paths with him are learning about a brand of super hospitality that even the Texas Good Neighbor Commission would hardly dare dream about.

He is Carlos Huesca, citizen of Mexico but football player-graduate of Huntington, Ind., high school. His studies in the United States for the past four years have been by special arrangement of the government of the two countries. This fall he plans to return to enter college to study international trade.

I first met Carlos at breakfast in the dining room of a small hotel off the beaten tourist path. He was visiting, I learned later, with his brothers and sisters who lived in a nearby apartment. His parents are dead.

With the politeness of an old-time southern colonel, he approached our table and inquired if my wife and I were planning to go to Xochimilco. It was Sunday and all tourists go to Xochimilco on Sunday to ride flower-decked canoes through garden-like lagoons.

Suspicious, like most Americans, we assumed he had an "angle." We told him we thought we would go later in the morning but thought we knew the way and wouldn't need any help.

"You do not understand," he broke in. "I am not a guide. Mexico City is my home but I have been going to school in the United States for the past four years. The people there have been so wonderful to me. I made up my mind that I would help American tourists here whenever I could. I want no payment. It will be my pleasure to be whatever help I can."

If such were truly his pleasure, he was undoubtedly supremely happy for the next two days. He showed every sign of being so.

From early in the morning until late at night and even into small morning hours, Carlos wrote our Mexican holiday into capital letters.

He had his own yellow convertible and insisted, on using it, chauffeuring us with ease through the belching traffic to the pyramids, to shrines, markets, restaurants, night clubs.

At every turn he made it more impossible ever to pay or repay him. A corsage for my wife, a bright table cloth for our dining table, a shiny flint image souvenir of the pyramids — all were his "pleasure."

He translated for us, bargained in the markets to get our purchases for half the tourist price, steered us to the best of Mexico City and away from the tourist traps. Early one morning he rounded up a troop of "Mirachis" to serenade us with familiar Mexican ballads.

"De nada," he would say — "it is nothing."

As we started to leave, he presented us with an autographed print of his high school graduation picture.

"I hope I have helped you a little to have a more enjoyable visit," he told us. "I only wish I could help more tourists."

We could not help but ponder such good neighborliness. It was the sort of thing that has been urged consistently during the ten-year existence of the Texas Good Neighbor Commission — but in reverse!

Information For Veterans

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—A veteran friend of mine has two discharges from service—one honorable and one under dishonorable conditions. He received the first in 1945 and the second in 1949. Would he be eligible for a GI loan?

A—He would be eligible for the loan on the basis of his honorable discharge from his World War II service provided that, during that period of service, he was on active duty at least 90 days, or was discharged sooner for a service-connected disability.

Q—I hope to complete my GI Bill schooling next year, at which time I still will have a year's entitlement remaining. Would I be able to go ahead then and take on-the-job training in the same field, even though the cut-off date for training has passed?

A—If the job training will be more or less a repetition of what you learned in the classroom, you would not be permitted to take it under the GI Bill. But if job training is essential to qualify you as a trained worker in your field, you may be allowed to pursue it, provided you apply for it before you complete your classroom work.

Q—I am a veteran and will live in France for the next couple of years. Where can I find out about VA-administered benefits, since there is no VA regional office in this country?

A—The Veterans Affairs Attache for Europe, in the American Embassy in Paris, can provide you with the answers to whatever questions you might have pertaining to veterans' benefits.

Construction Work Starts on Shannon Livestock Feeding Plant for Sudan

O. L. Shannon announced last week that construction work was underway on the new Shannon Livestock and Feeding Company located one mile north of Sudan.

The new Feeding Industry for Sudan will be one of the most modern and scientific in the country when completed. Shannon estimated that the work would be completed about November First.

According to Shannon the plant will consist of four grain sheds some 36 feet wide and 300 feet long. There will be two concrete barns 29 feet wide by 500 feet long to house the scientific feeding plant. One carload of brick has already arrived which will be used for flooring in the huge barns.

Shannon said that due to high winds in this section of the country, that the company would use what is known as "cube form" feeding methods. Conveyors will be used to distribute the feed throughout the barns for the cattle.

He also said that construction was underway at the present location of the Shannon Elevator on a huge concrete building which will house the feed grinding machinery and will be used in connection with both the elevator and the feeding project.

One difference, said Shannon, in our new plant as compared to other Feeding Companies through out the area, is that all feeding of cattle will be done inside the barns, whereas most plants now feed from pens in the open. The new method will eliminate waste of feed due to high winds.

AROUND THE CAPITOL

A yankee Senator paid unusual tribute on the Senate floor to a Texan who has left his Capital position to return to his home state.

Speaking of Cecil H. Tolbert of Sherman, an employee of the Senate Appropriations and Armed services committees for nearly 20 years, Senator Bridges (R-NH) said: "He has given so selflessly of his life that his health has been broken by the arduous duties which are so peculiar to the functioning of this particular (appropriations) committee."

Noting that Tolbert retired under physicians' orders, Bridges remarked that senators would be glad to have him back to work if he feels fit and wants to leave Sherman again.

Some day farmers in South Texas may find they can profitably grow a yam-like plant from which tannin is extracted. That's the liquid used in tanning leather.

Recently Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco, vice chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, was asked by William A. Clifford of Lubbock whether there is a chance that canaigre could be successfully grown in his part of West Texas.

Poage asked agriculture department experts, who came back with this reply:

Apparently the climate in the Lubbock area wouldn't be suitable but farther south in Texas there may be areas which are sufficiently semi-tropical to grow the plant successfully. Land put into the crop should net about $14 an acre. Studies are underway by the department to determine the feasibility for commercial production of canaigre, the tannin bearing plant, in this country.

The Census Bureau, continuing its study of 1950 population data, reports that there are fewer than 10 persons to the square mile in a third of Texas' 254 counties.

The average population per square mile for the entire state is slightly more than 89; that includes Dallas county's high of 688 and Loving's county's low of one person for each three square miles of land area.

A good sign to "go" by!

THIS shining emblem "GMC" is the sparkling sign of the fastest growing line of trucks in the land — with sales growth unmatched this year by any other manufacturer. The reasons for this are sound ones.

For in the chassis of a GMC you find "long-time, stay-with" stamina — truck-building that dares comparison with anything on the road today.

Under the GMC hood you find real power—the kind of truck-built power it takes to keep goods moving year after year. Whether it's a nimble 1/2-

2-tonner with horsepower unsurpassed in its class, or the fabulous two-cycle Diesel which is outselling, outperforming every other make — a GMC puts more "go" to the load!

And in the cabs—drivers who work in comfort and safety. They have the look of men who know their truck will get the job done quicker and better.

You'll feel the same way when you try a GMC yourself. Come in—compare the facts, the features, the way they haul. Listen to the savings talk.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 2

PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT to Section 49-b, Article III, Constitution of Texas, so that the total amount of bonds or obligations that may be issued by the Veterans' Land Board is increased to One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000); providing for the issuance of said bonds and certain conditions relating thereto and the use of the Veterans' Land Fund; providing for an election and the issuance of a proclamation therefor.

...BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

SECTION 1. That Section 49-b, Article III, Constitution of Texas, be amended so that the same will hereafter read as follows:

"SECTION 49-b. There is hereby created a Board to be known as the Veterans' Land Board, which shall be composed of the Governor, the Attorney General, and the Commissioner of the General Land Office. The Veterans' Land Board may issue not to exceed One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000) in bonds or obligations of the State of Texas for the purpose of creating a fund to be known as the Veterans' Land Fund. Such bonds shall be executed by said Board as an obligation of the State of Texas, in such form, denominations, and upon the terms as are now prescribed by Senate Bill No. 29, Chapter 318 of the Acts of the Fifty-first Legislature (provided, that when the limitation of Twenty-five Million Dollars ($25,000,000) is used in said Senate Bill No. 29, the same shall hereafter be construed as One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000), or as said Act may be hereafter amended, or by laws that the Legislature may hereafter enact; provided, however, that said bonds shall bear a rate of interest not to exceed three per cent (3%) per annum, and that the same shall be sold for not less than par value and accrued interest.

"IN THE SALE of any such bonds, a preferential right of purchase shall be given to the administrators of the various Teacher retirement funds, the Permanent University Funds, and the Permanent School Funds; such bonds to be issued as needed, in the opinion of the Veterans' Land Board.

"THE VETERANS' LAND FUND shall be used by the Board for the sole purpose of purchasing lands suitable for the purpose hereinafter stated, situated in this State (a) owned by the United States, or any governmental agency thereof; (b) owned by the Texas Prison System, or any other governmental agency of the State of Texas; or (c) owned by any person, firm, or corporation.

"ALL LANDS thus purchased shall be acquired at the lowest price obtainable, to be paid for in cash, and shall be a part of the Veterans' Land Fund.

"THE LANDS of the Veterans' Land Fund shall be sold by the State to Texas Veterans of the present war or wars, commonly known as World War II, and to Texas Veterans of service in the armed forces of the United States of America subsequent to 1945 as may be included within this program by legislative act, in such quantities, and on such terms, and at such prices and rates of interest and under such rules and regulations as are now provided by law, or as may hereafter be provided by law.

"ALL MONEYS received and which have not been received for purchase of land as provided herein by the Veterans' Land Board from the sale of lands and for interest on deferred payments, shall be credited to the Veterans' Land Fund for use in purchasing additional lands to be sold to Texas Veterans of World War II, and to Texas Veterans of service in the armed forces of the United States of America subsequent to 1945, as may be included within this program by legislative act, in like manner as provided for the sale of lands purchased with the proceeds from the sales of the bonds, provided for herein, for a period ending December 1, 1950; provided, however, that so much of such moneys as may be necessary during the period ending December 1, 1950, to pay principal of and interest on the bonds heretofore issued and on bonds hereafter issued by the Veterans' Land Board shall be set aside for that purpose. After December 1, 1950, all moneys received by the Veterans' Land Board from the sale of the lands and interest on deferred payments, or so much thereof as may be necessary, shall be set aside

Muleshoe Makes Big Preparations For Will Rogers Memorial Round-Up

Two big parades, two big rodeo performances, dances, and other entertainments are now being developed for the first annual Muleshoe's Will Rogers Memorial Roundup. Committees handling various phases of the big celebration are going in high gear to get everything in shape for the event which is scheduled for Thursday and Friday, August 30 and 31.

Lloyd Alsop, active minded young Muleshoe insurance agency man, thought up the idea of naming the Muleshoe celebration in honor of one of Muleshoe's earliest and most constant friends, the late Will Rogers, world renowned philosopher and humorist.

Alsop won out over 62 other contestants who submitted fine names. The executive committee decided that the Will Rogers name is a natural for this celebration, since Will regularly visited local ranches during round up time, helped handle the cattle, visited with local friends and generally enjoyed himself for several days. In those days he used to date line his newspaper columns from Muleshoe. He was a guest of the Halsells on their ranch east of town.

Mayor Ray Keeling telephoned Will Rogers, Jr., in Beverly Hills, Calif., to get permission to use the name. The latter said the family would be honored to have Muleshoe use the name; he is sending a 16-mm film showing his father's rope tricks and vaudeville acts to be exhibited before civic clubs and other groups here.

The parade committee found so many possibilities for the children's section of the parade they decided to hold the kiddies parade the following day. So the main parade will move at 4 o'clock Thursday, the kiddies' parade Friday at the same hour. There are seven divisions in the kiddies parade with merchandise prizes for winning entries.

Good will tours of the entire section will be made by a motor vehicle caravan. The first day's trip will take the rodeo boosters west and south, through Clovis, Portales, Morton, Levelland, Littlefield and Sudan. On the second day the tour will go east through Plainview, north to Tulla, back to Dimmitt and Friona. Both trips will be a little more than 200 miles in length.

Literature will be distributed in each community and a short entertainment program will be offered.

Mrs. Naomi St. Clair has accepted the general chairmanship of the parade of the kiddies on the second day and has appointed a number of Muleshoe ladies to assist her in making the arrangements. The Rotary Club of Muleshoe is offering $100 in four prizes for the best floats to be entered. Nearly thirty floats have been promised so far. Many other organizations and firms will have a float of some kind in the parade. Friday afternoon will be the

Mayor Cheshier Invited to Dublin Rodeo

This year the rodeo at Dublin will be on August 29, 30, 31, and September 1.

Top cowboy performers from all over the United States attend the Dublin Rodeo and then board a special train for New York for the Madison Square Garden Rodeo, produced by Mr. Colborn.

Meadow Jumping Mouse Can Leap Six Feet High

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — The kangaroo of the mouse world is the meadow jumping mouse, which can leap six feet high, or cover 10 feet in a broad jump.

This mouse, Zapus Hudsonius, is about the size of an ordinary field mouse, but has a tail nearly five inches long and rear legs 1 and one-half inches long. They're usually found in southern states, but some have moved into southern Illinois.

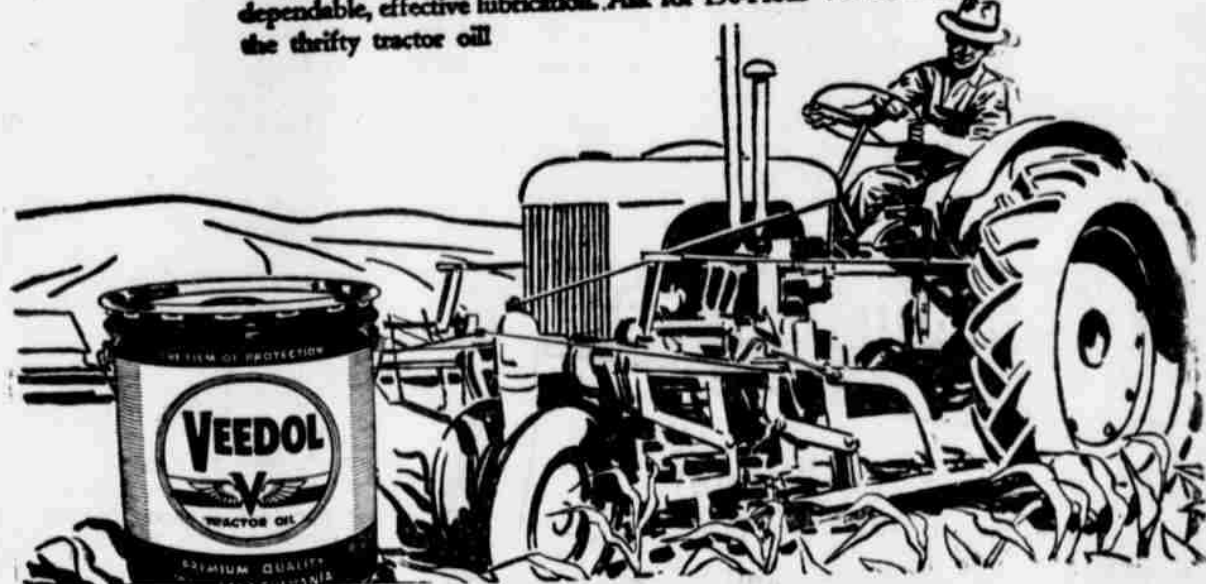

Dr. Willard M. Gersbacher, zoologist of Southern Illinois University, says they are active only at night. The jumping thing that auto headlights sometimes pick up on the road may be not a frog, but a meadow jumper going traveling.

The late Leo Digel won the Michigan State Open championship when he was 17 years old.

Safe Braking Margin Varies

Importance of driving in accordance with highway conditions is illustrated by this diagrammatic view prepared by Chevrolet in the interest of traffic safety. Standard braking tables reveal 190 feet is required for a stop at 50 miles an hour, allowing three-quarters of a second for a driver's reaction to an emergency. When the pavement is wet, however, the distance increases to 258 feet. On icy pavement 477 feet will be covered before a car brakes to a complete stop.
