Girls Treat Boys During Twirp Week

In Powderpuff Tilt

Gals Will Battle Friday

Girls play football? Aw! Your crazy. Well, crazy or not this will be the case this Friday night when the Senior girls play the Junior girls a game of football. The annual Powder Puff Game promises lots of action with both teams fighting for the right to wear the crown of Powder Puff Game Champ of 1962. Game time for the contest is set for 8 p.m., at Wildcat Stadium.

So for a different kind of football one that promises to produce lots of good action along with comedy be sure and check your calendar for September 28, at 8 p.m. Wildcat Stadium for the Annual Powder Puff Game. That's where the Girls will play Football believe it or not.

Look out boys, the girls are after you!! Twirp week came into Littlefield with a bang Monday, September 24, and will end on Saturday the 29. Boys of Littlefield have been on easy street this week, as they have changed positions with the girls. It is now the duty of the girls to be "gentlemen," and treat the boys to a good time by carrying books, opening doors, and footing the bills. To display their "gentlemanly" qualities even farther, the girls playing in the Powder Puff game tomorrow night will buy the boys boutonnieres with their numbers on them. This football game between the junior and senior girls will be held Friday at 8:00 at Wildcat Stadium.

we are going strong in school now, but have we, the girls, forgotten about our school spirit. Is school spirit still yelling loud at pep rallies? Isn't school spirit include in our school's athletic activities such as the stadium gym? The appearance of facilities should also be considered as school spirit. Since football is our major sport, the majority of students, teachers, and citizens are interested in it. Playing the game is all the recognition these boys receive, but what about the workouts before school started? Their one night of glory is not all the work required to obtain recognition. We should let them know at all times that we are behind them.

The Littlefield Wildcats have now played three rough games and they think and talk football most of the time. Students have the misguided idea that football is easy. We see the game from our point of view and not on the field as it really happens. School spirit is not being the person who can yell the loudest. It is the person who backs the school and team with our thought, deed and action.

Eager beavers still dominate pep rallies, but in the minority, being grown-up is interpreted to mean that they are bored by any event which is supposed to arouse their enthusiasm. Cheering at extremely important games is okay - otherwise "who cares?"

At ball games, it has become the fashion of some people to

Philosopher Says If There Are Smart Beings Out There In Space, Let Em Look Us Up

Editor's note: The Sandhills philosopher on his johnson farm takes a non-progressive view toward space this week, his letter indicates.

he said, "But from what I read in one of your letters a while back, I got the notion you think we could be spending our money some place else."

"We are spending our money some place else; in fact, every place else there is," I told him, and added that I wasn't opposed to exploring space, but space ain't my main preoccupation.

Here's the thing: We ought to explore space, but it has always struck me as funny to speculate on a scientist taking aim to fire a space ship a million miles out into the unknown and having to stop to scratch a chigger bite. What sort of scientific advance is it if a scheduled trip to the moon, after years of painstaking planning and with all lights flashing GO, has to be postponed because the astronaut has a bad cold?

This year we're spending five billion dollars on space, and seven million on trying to get fresh water from the ocean. That's what I'm talking about. I can see a lot more fun in having all the fresh water this johnson grass farm needs than in traveling through space. I think we ought to whip space, but I'm in favor of whipping droughts, flies, chiggers and mosquitoes too. Now I know people will say yeah, but space is a great new adventure, nobody knows what's out there, there may be untold resources, there may be even creatures more intelligent than we.

Well, there may be, but my position is, if there are intelligent creatures out there, why aren't they looking us up? Let's let them share at least part of the tax burden and explore us. There must be as much scientific data they could collect from us as we from them.

This is like saying a man isn't really educated until he's visited Europe. Or making it worse, a European isn't educated till he has visited us. My contention is that a man can be ignorant either way, whether he goes or stays.

I hope my television set doesn't blow a tube right when we send a man to the moon. I'll be there watching, fly-swatter in hand.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

High Plains Wheat Yield Cut

Heavy hail on May 16 this year reduced the wheat yields below the previous high records at the High Plains Research Foundation.

The report on small grain research was prepared by Delbert Langford, Associate Agronomist of the Foundation, and S. N. (Nick) Vinn, Chief Chemist for Producers Grain Corporation Laboratory of Amarillo.

Fourteen varieties were included in the wheat yield tests, Warrior, Tascosa, and Bison had the highest yield. These varieties also scored highest in baking quality. The yield differences were not true to form because of the hail. This disaster in some cases nullified and in other cases exaggerated the yield differences.

The test show that the wheats to grow, under irrigation, are the strong gluten varieties. They not only produce the best yields but also the most desirable flour for baking. Mr. Langford and Mr. Vinn report.

The yield and quality results both show the need for phosphate as well as nitrogen in securing best wheat production. Larger yields and higher quality were obtained with combinations of nitrogen and phosphate than with nitrogen alone.

The difference in quality between dryland and irrigated wheat is shown in the report by test weight, protein, and sedimentation value and in most cases by the baking score. The difference, however, is exaggerated by the sedimentation test in favor of the dryland wheat. Actual baking tests the strong gluten varieties such as Tascosa maintained good baking quality even under high rates of irrigation.

Results show that sedimentation are not adequate basis for determining the baking quality of wheat. The fourteen varieties of wheat evaluated at the High Plains Research Foundation in the 1961-1962 season were Warrior, Tascosa, Bison, Rodco, Kaw, Ottawa, Commanche, Kharkof, Crockett, Wohlford (English Soft), Superior Triumph, Early Triumph, Improved Triumph, and Early Black Hull.

Report #50 issued from the Foundation this week to foundation supporters and the agricultural services include reports by Mr. Langford and Mr. Vinn on oats and barley as well as wheat.

Mitchell Buys Control Of Hall Motor Company Here

Change of principal ownership and general manager for Hall Motor Company in Littlefield was approved this week by Ford Motor Company. Announcement of the approval was made by H. A. Mitchell, general manager of the local motor concern.

Mitchell purchased the majority ownership in the business in August but was awaiting final approval of the transaction from Ford. Majority ownership was purchased from Mancil Hall, who has owned the business since June 1935 and will remain active in the local motor company.

Hall came to Littlefield from Lubbock where he had been employed by Lubbock Auto for ten years. He purchased the Griffin - Pass Motor Company, the Ford dealer here at this time.

fund, on the Dallas district and southwest region Ford dealers council, as president of the South Plains New Car and Truck Dealers Association and as associate director of the Texas Auto Dealers Association.

Mitchell is the son of a retired Methodist minister and was graduated from High School at Miles, near San Angelo. He entered SMU and received his BA degree in 1954. After spending two and a half years in the Air Force, he returned to SMU and received his law degree in 1958. He was admitted to the State Bar of Texas in 1959.

He became associated with Hall Motor Company in August 1958, and purchased a part ownership when the business incorporated in July 1959.

Mitchell and his wife, the former Diane Hall, have two children, Debbie and Janet. He is a member of the First Presbyterian Church, Lions Club, a United Fund director and co-chairman of this year's fund drive, a member of the Presbyterian Board of Deacons and is past president of the South Plains Ford Dealers Association.

Mitchell said he invited all the old friends and new to come in anytime just to visit. He reminded everyone that the new 1963 cars will be on display Friday.

"Sales and service are our business and our desire is to please the customers," he concluded.

The company was located in the Phelps - Walker building where it remained until August of 1942 when it closed because of the war. The business reopened in August of 1945 in the building presently occupied by the Frontier Store. The motor company moved into its present location in 1946.

Hall said the first new car he sold after coming to Littlefield was to W. H. Heinen and sold Heinen's used car to Sam Rumbach the same day.

Hall Motor Company has experienced a steady growth beginning with four employees in 1935 and today employing 22. They built a used car lot on Highway 84 in 1951 and added a body shop to the location in 1952.

Recalling his 37 years in the Ford business, Hall said today's cars are delivered a lot differently than they were when he began. When he began each motor agency was an assembly plant. The cars were sent in pieces loaded on a railroad car and assembled at the local destination.

Hall said he planned to continue in the motor company on a limited basis but planned mainly to enjoy his hobbies and grandchildren.

He has and is active in local and automotive organizations. He has served on the board of directors of the Dallas district of the Ford dealers advertising year's program, use of materials, and teaching procedures were explained by the teachers. Time for questions and answers in each room provided each parent an opportunity to learn more about a particular material, the grading system, teaching procedure, and subject content.

SPORTS (Continued from the Skat)
The 7th and 8th play Morton there Thursday. The 9th played Olton here and B team play Lubbock High School here.
There will be a powder Puff game Friday so Littlefield will still have a football game here.

leave the game if Littlefield happens to be losing. Is this spirit? Everyone in Littlefield should be behind our athletes whether they win or lose. Leave ing before the game is over gives the players no initiative to play their best.

If they think no one cares, they probably will not care either! Spirit should not be left to the leaders but should be taken as a personal challenge by each individual.
If all of us would do this, the citizens of Littlefield would see the pride we have in ourselves, our school, and our team and would follow suit.
Let's prove that we are behind the Wildcats all the way!

1963 Chevrolets Are On Display Friday At Armes Chevrolet Co.

Four distinctive lines of 1963 Chevrolet automobiles will go on display Friday at Armes Chevrolet Co. in Littlefield.

Offering 33 models in four separate categories -- each aimed at a specific segment of the market -- the 1963 cars represent faith in a continued strong national economy by Chevrolet, which is already on its way to setting an all-time industry sales record for 1962. There are significant styling changes in the regular Chevrolets, a continuation of their unique automotive personalities -- the Chevy II and the Corvair, and two entirely new bodies and a new chassis for the Corvette sports car. All models have significant mechanical improvements.

Taking the four members of the Chevrolet family one at a time:

REGULAR CHEVROLETS -- The traditional big car emphasis upon luxurious transportation is continued in the 1963 regular Chevrolets, offered in models in the Impala, Bel Air and Biscayne series.

There is a sleek, longer look with all-new styling. Straight windshield pillars improve access for driver and passengers. The new front grille of anodized aluminum extends the full width of the vehicle, while a depressed center area adds new interest to the broad rear deck.

Smooth, straight line styling gives the side of the new Chevrolets a flowing look of motion. A horizontal line highlights the sculpture of the side extending from the foremost point of the front fender to the extended point of the rear fender. Lower, a slender accent from midway down the front fender skims the top of the rear wheel and carries through to the rear bumper.

Throughout the line, ventilated rocker panels provide a new measure of protection from corrosion. Doorlocks are improved to enhance passenger safety.

The Impala sport sedan has a new roofline and an optional vinyl top is available for the Impala sport coupe. Fifteen solid colors and eleven two-tone combinations are available in the regular Chevrolets. Interiors of the cars are entirely new and more luxurious for 1963.

Mechanically, there are the following new features:

-- A new six-cylinder 140 horsepower engine, higher in horsepower and yet 23 per cent lighter than its 1962 counterpart, teams with a revised 238 cubic inch V8 and five other engines to offer engines ranging from 140 to 425 horsepower.

-- Brakes are self-adjusting, mufflers will have longer life, and the lightweight Power-glide transmission used with the 327 cubic inch engine option in 1962 is extended to all models.

-- Delcotron generators are standard on all models, assuring ample reserve electrical power for added accessories and longer battery life.

-- All radios are transistorized for 1963.

-- The standard equipment heater is new as are the optional all-weather and custom air-conditioners.

CHEVY II -- In its second year on the market, Chevy II continues the basic styling of the previous model with new exterior and interior appointments. There are ten models in three series.

There is a new grille and wide hood and deck lid emblems to give a more massive look to the car. There are the new body side moldings for the 300 and Nova 400 series.

For 1963, Chevy II offers Super Sport options on its Nova 400 sport coupe and convertible, featuring bucket seats and all-vinyl interiors. Fifteen solid colors and eleven two-tone combinations are available on Chevy II models.

Mechanically, the Chevy II has self-adjusting brakes and Delcotron generators. Four and six-cylinder engines again are offered, with minor improvements. Longer-life mufflers are standard on all models. Radios are completely transistorized.

CORVAIR -- Chevrolet's distinctive small car enters its fourth year on the market with an ever-growing following among those who want a sports car feel in a less expensive car.

Styling changes are confined to ornamentation and molding details. Otherwise, America's first rear engine car continues its unique personality.

There are eight models of Corvair, ranging in variety from the Monza Spyder convertible to two models of the popular Corvair Greenbrier sports wagon. Fifteen solid colors plus two-tone combinations are offered.

Mechanically, Corvair has self-adjusting brakes, more durable exhaust system and changes in front suspension and steering linkage. Engines have numerous improvements and radios are transistorized.

CORVETTE -- In its tenth year on the market, America's only production sports car is redesigned and re-engineered for the first time. In addition to the convertible (with optional hardtop) model offered in the past, there is a new "fast-back" sport coupe.

For the first time, Corvette offers optional power steering, power brakes and air-conditioning for the customer who wants a sports car but also wishes to retain the driving conveniences to which he has become accustomed.

Mechanically, there are a host of improvements, including a completely new chassis, four-wheel independent suspension, self-adjusting brakes, improved steering and Delcotron generators.

Especially dramatic are the retractable headlights which rotate up from the airfoil-shaped front end at the touch of a switch by the driver.

Both Corvette models are known as the "Sting Ray." Their sleek, aerodynamic fiberglass bodies will be available in seven high-quality acrylic lacquer finishes.

Corvettes for 1963 are two inches lower and four inches shorter in wheel base than 1962 models. In addition to their exterior styling, interiors have been completely redesigned for 1963.

Chevrolet's parade of new products for 1963 includes four lines. Heading the list, which will be announced on September 28, is the luxurious Impala Sport Coupe (bottom), Chevy II 4-Door Sedan (left center), Corvair Monza Club Coupe (right center), and the new and startling Corvette Sting Ray Sport Coupe, the epitome of advanced styling. Chevrolet's wide choice of passenger cars includes 33 models in addition to 6 variations with special optional power-train combinations.

Tomorrow-GO JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLET for '63

If it didn't say Chevrolet on the flanks of the superb automobile you see here, you'd have a hard time proving that it's a low-priced car. Its interior is more luxurious than most living rooms; it rides like a limousine and performs with the smoothness and silence that used to be limited strictly to cars for the very rich. In addition to all this, there's a host of advances and refinements that'll help keep your Chevrolet looking and running like a new car when a lot of others have started to sag and sigh. Fisher Body with air-washed rust-cheating rocker panels for one, self-adjusting brakes for another, and the Delcotron generator to help you have an always-ready supply of electricity and lengthen the life of your battery. If you ever wondered why Chevrolet leads the field, a drive in this '63 should answer all your questions.

GO CHEVY II for '63-IT'S EXCITING!

GO CORVAIR for '63-IT'S EXCITING!

'63 CHEVY II NOVA SPORT COUPE

Hard to believe, but this year's Chevy II is better than last year's. It shares all the new easy-care features of the big Chevrolet and adds its own attributes of parkable size, four- or six-cylinder economy, and interiors that'll match cars with twice the price and half the charm. Chevy II has made a permanent place for itself with its sparkling performance and nickel-nursing economy and if you want more car for the money, Chevy II is the car for you.

'63 CORVAIR MONZA CONVERTIBLE

Change it? Calm yourself, nobody's going to mess with a winner like this one! We did add self-adjusting brakes and a more fully aluminized muffler; interiors are refined a bit, and you'll notice some trim changes. But the rest is pure untampered-with Corvair with all the over-the-road goodness that implies. Oh yes, we changed the rings around the taillights so all those people you pass will know you're driving a '63.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. - Rules to prevent future crooked oil wells are being hammered out by the Texas Railroad Commission. Chairman Bill Murry and Commissioner Ben Ramsey laid out a proposal for tougher rules.

Oil industry spokesmen split down the middle on the proposed rules. They say it is not possible to drill a vertical hole without greatly adding to the cost. Commission took proposals of its own staff and of the industry under study after a long hearing. Ramsey said the Commission should not add to industry's drilling costs, because the public pays them all. But it was clear that the Commission now will crack down to make sure wells do not stray under property lines.

SLANT OIL WELL SURVEYS - Major and independent oil producers have contributed a total of $306,709 for surveys to find "slanted" wells in Texas fields. Attorney General Wilson disclosed.

All but $40,000 has been used. Surveys to date have revealed 138 deviated wells in the East Texas Field, 14 in Hawkins, one in Quitman and one in Friendswood.

The Railroad Commission plans to run inclination surveys on the remaining wells which are suspect -- between 200 and 300 in the East Texas Field alone, Wilson said.

ISLAND PARK - Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler plans to fight the proposed bill to create a National Seashore Area on Padre Island when it comes before the State Legislature in 1963.

Congress voted the long-debated bill, but Texas legislators will have to approve the project.

Sadler contends that the Federal Government will be grabbing a lot of state oil under Laguna Madre. Sponsors report that this isn't so -- that the U. S. law specifically provides that oil rights are to be retained by present surface owners.

PARKING - Parking around the State Capitol always has been a problem.

It's even more so since several new state office buildings have concentrated state employment in the Capitol area. Much of the available space is kept reserved for parking by State Officials.

Now Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has ruled that the State Board of Control, which is the house-keeping agency around the Capitol, has no authority to regulate parking.

Board members had hoped to find they had the authority under an old law on horses. But Capitol parking regulations by the Board of Control is illegal, Wilson's ruling said. So far, the Legislature never has authorized the board to regulate parking.

PROPERTY TAX HEARING - Texas Commission on State and local Tax Policy will hold a public hearing in Austin on Friday, November 9, on property taxes. Announcement came from Senator George Parkhouse of Dallas, commission chairman.

Hearing will begin at 2 p.m. in Room 544 of the Texas Employment Commission building. Anyone wishing to testify is requested to inform the tax policy group in writing to Drawer C, Capitol Station, Austin.

Parkhouse said the Commission will consider a tax which now raises $800,000,000 a year in the State.

The Tax Policy Commission, created by the Legislature in 1959, is scheduled to make its final reports to the new Legislature in January.

EDUCATION COMMITTEE - Texas State Committee on Public Education will meet in Austin on Sunday, September 30.

Two of the speakers will be Dr. Irby B. Carruth, superintendent of schools in Austin and president of the American Association of School Administrators, and Dr. J. W. Edgar, Texas Commissioner of Education.

Their talks will be followed by comments and questions from committee members.

LEGISLATIVE STUDY - A three-member subcommittee of the Texas House Committee on Saving Taxes will make a study of the operations of the State Railroad Commission. Members are J. W. Buchanan of Dumas, chairman; Olen R. Petty of Levelland and George Preston of Paris. Preston is chairman of the full committee.

Purpose of the parent committee is to seek ways to effect a saving in the State tax dollar.

DOCUMENTARY EXHIBIT - Archives division of the State Library has on display a collection of documents which may be unique.

James M. Day, archivist, and his staff assembled photographic reproductions of portraits or pictures of every Texas president and governor. They added an original document, either personal letter or legal paper, on which the official's signature appeared.

Dr. Dorman H. Winfrey, state librarian said no one could recall a similar exhibit before.

First displayed at Governor-for-a-Day Culp Krueger's "Operation Hometown," in El Campo, the exhibit drew much favorable comment.

POLIO REPORT - Dr. J. E. Peavy, State Health Commissioner, reported that Texas has had 158 cases of paralytic polio this season. State's cases are almost half as many as in all the rest of the nation combined.

Total number of polio cases has risen to 206 to date. Without the mass immunization campaigns, he said, the Texas number undoubtedly would be much greater.

The Health Department recommended that oral vaccine types I and II be continued and accelerated; that type III be limited to preschool and school age children except in type III epidemic areas where it should be given to all age groups.

TALKING BOOKS - Catalogs of new talking books are going into the mails to more than 2,300 persons served by the State Library's service for the blind section.

Catalog covers all books recorded from 1955 through 1961 and is the current publication of books distributed by the Library of Congress.

All legally blind Texans are eligible to obtain talking books from the State Library without charge. When a talking book reader completes a book and returns it to Austin, a new book is automatically sent to him.

HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION SAFETY - Traffic deaths on highway construction projects in Texas reached a five year low in 1961.

Credit for the good showing is given to a cooperative effort undertaken in 1958 by the Texas Highway Construction Traffic Safety Committee.

This group consists of representatives from the Texas Highway Department, Department of Public Safety, Highway - Heavy Branch of the Associated General Contractors of Texas and the Governor's Highway Safety Commission.

Fatal crashes on highway construction projects last year totaled 58, compared with 71 in 1960.

URBAN GOVERNMENT - Writing in "Public Affairs Comment," Dr. Stuart MacCorkle of the University of Texas Institute of Public Affairs, suggests that Texans in the cities might consider revision of their local governmental set-ups.

MacCorkle points out that the county and city governments in urban areas have overlapping duties. He proposes that the idea of modernizing county governments in such areas be studied carefully.

It's a basic problem of modern life, MacCorkle states, now that Texas is 75 per cent urban in nature.

SCHOOL INTEGRATION - School boards cannot integrate without a court order or an election, rules Attorney General Wilson.

The opinion went to Dr. J. W. Edgar, State Commission of Education, on a question raised by the Youkum School Board.

SHORT SNORTS - Attorney General Wilson has asked the Federal Court in Austin to dismiss a suit which seeks to force racial integration of Southwest Texas State College in San Marcos.

The Texas Safety Association has announced awards to be given to school bus drivers with safe driving records during the 1961-62 school year.

The Department of Agriculture estimates that heavy spring rains followed by hot, dry weather in Austin, have cost Texas pecan growers 5,000,000 pounds for the 1962 crop.

Representatives expect to tread on $17,000 worth of new carpeting in the House next January -- but if a threatened textile strike occurs before the carpet can be especially woven, they may have nothing except a bare floor.

Ernest O. Thompson, Texas Railroad Commissioner, hopes to recover enough from a current illness to get back on the job soon.

Governor Daniel has appointed John C. Dezelle of Houston United Gas Corporation Vice-President, to the State Industrial Advisory Board, which assists the Texas Industrial Commission in attracting and expanding industry.

Johnny Mitchell, president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, sharply criticized the new rash of crude oil price cuts, calling them "unnecessary, irresponsible and extremely damaging."
