

City Voters Turn Down Storm Sewer Issue

655 Vote In Tuesday Balloting

Littlefield voters turned down a $130,000 storm sewer bond issue by 97 votes as nearly all the qualified voters in the city went to the polls.

A total of 655 voters cast ballots during Tuesday's election with 376 against the issue and 279 for the issue. Of the 23 absentee votes cast, 19 favored the issue while four were against.

The bond election was called last month to provide money for the construction of a storm sewer to give proper drainage on Highway 84 through town and eliminate ponding of water at the intersection of Highway 385.

The election called for the lowering of South Phelps Avenue from Tenth to Fourteenth Streets and allowing the water to drain from these streets.

If passed the taxes on city property would have increased ten per cent.

The last few days before the issue and those opposed worked hard to present their cases to the voters.

1908 Wedding Write-ups Were Very Flowery

One of the prettiest weddings it has been my pleasure to witness for many years took place at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Epperson, when their lovable daughter, Miss Fannie, beautifully and tastefully attired in a princess costume of gray silk and lace, carrying in her hand a lovely bouquet of flowers, lace and lady ferns, was united in marriage to Mr. Frank Eaton shortly after 4 o'clock p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 12, 1908.

The bridal couple took their stand on a rug out on the veranda just under a festoon of cedar and flowers from which hung a floral and evergreen wedding bell where Judge S. A. Hough with an appropriate and impressive ceremony made them man and wife.

After congratulations from the friends and many relatives of the bride and groom we were invited into the dining room where met my gaze one of the most beautifully decorated tables it has been my good fortune to look upon, the centerpiece being a square of linen embroidered in Marcel Nell roses and a mirror upon which sat a huge heart beautifully frosted; in the center of this was the wonderful swastika cross emblem of good luck, light, love and life; just opposite this was a cake frosted in pink with a cupid bow and arrow in hand shooting a dart into the heart. Spread all around this was a feast fit for the gods which we certainly enjoyed to the fullest capacity.

The bride, who is Mr. and Mrs. Epperson's eldest daughter is a beautiful young lady loved by all who know her.

Mr. Frank Eaton is a worthy young man and a cousin to our friend and fellow townsman, J. D. Eaton.

Now we take our leave wishing the two young people who have so bravely launched out on the sea of matrimony a voyage of pleasure, ease and success in this life which is at best full of bitter sweet.

A Guest.

"The wedding account of Mr. David F. Eaton's mother's wedding Aug. 12, 1908. The account was written by the judge who married them. Incidentally, at the time, he was running for the district judgeship, and that might have accounted for the flowery language."

Fair Plans Attractions

With the opening of the Panhandle South Plains Fair about one month away, several crowd-pleasing attractions have already been signed, Fair officials said.

Feature attraction in the Fair Park Coliseum for the 1961 Fair will be the 21st edition of Ice Capades, which recently returned from a smash hit in Europe. The ticket office will be in the Pioneer Hotel in Lubbock and advance ticket information is available from the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

One of the top attractions of the 1960 Panhandle South Plains Fair was the I. Q. Zoo. Due to its overwhelming popularity, Fair officials resigned a larger I. Q. Zoo this year. It will feature two more acts than in 1960 and a stage show which is being introduced this season.

Sales Tax

Tax Fund on August 31 of each fiscal year shall be credited to the Available School Fund on August 31 of each fiscal year . . .

"To provide that excess money remaining in special funds to which allocations are made from the Omnibus Tax Clearance Fund be transferred to the General Revenue Fund. . .

"To impose a tax on the occupation of producing gas as a severance beneficiary. . .

"To provide certain uniform penalties for failure to report or pay certain taxes when due. . .

A thorough understanding of some of the terms and how they are used in the bill may be beneficial.

"Receipts" means the total amount of the sale or lease or rental price of the retail sales of retailers, valued in money, whether received in money or otherwise.

Receipts do not include cash discounts allowed on sales, sales price of property returned by customers when the full sales price is refunded either in cash or credit, the amount charged for labor or services in installing, applying, remodeling or repairing the tangible personal property sold, the amount charged for finance charges, carrying charges, service charges or interest, the value of tangible personal property taken by a seller in trade as all or part of the consideration for a sale, and charges for transportation of the property after the sale.

"Retailer" included every seller engaged in the business of making sales of tangible personal property, every person making more than two retail sales of tangible personal property during any 12 month period and every person who leases or rents to another tangible personal property. The law provides that every person desiring to engage in or to conduct business as a seller within this State shall file with the Comptroller an application for a permit for each place of business.

It further states that it shall be presumed that all gross receipts are subject to the tax until the contrary is established. The burden of proving that a sale of tangible personal property is not a sale at retail is upon the person who makes the sale unless he takes from the purchaser a certificate to the effect that the tangible personal property is purchased for the purpose of reselling, leasing or renting it.

Credit shall be allowed to the retailer for taxes paid on sales represented by that portion of an account determined to be worthless and actually charged off for federal income tax purposes.

It is unlawful for any retailer to advertise or to hold out or to state to the public or to any customer, directly or indirectly, that the tax or any part thereof will be assumed or absorbed by the retailer.

ed by the retailer.

Exempted items as listed in the bill include natural gas, oil, sulphur, motor vehicles, trailer, semi-trailers, cigarettes, cigars, tobacco products, motor fuels and cement.

Other exemptions include alcoholic beverages except when consumed with food as a part of a meal, water, telephone and telegraph service, component parts which are ingredients of a tangible personal property which eventually will be sold on the retail market and packaging supplies.

Meals and food products for human consumption served by public or private schools to students or teachers during a regular school day are exempt.

Receipts from the sale of food products for human consumption for preparation and consumption by a family at a private home are exempt.

Food products which are not exempt include medicines, tonics, vitamins, water, including mineral bottled water, carbonated, carbonated and non-carbonated packaged soft drinks and diluted juices where sold in liquid, frozen or dry-mix forms. Meals purchased in cafes or restaurants are not exempt from taxation.

Drugs and medicines prescribed by a licensed physician are exempt. Animal life, feed for animal life, seeds, annual plants, fungicides and insecticides, fertilizer and farm machinery are not taxable if they are or produce products which ordinarily constitute food for human consumption.

Clothing is one of the items which has caused the most confusion as to what is to be taxed and what isn't. The law says that any single article of outer wearing apparel, the retail price of which is less than Ten Dollars ($10) is exempt from taxes. There is a long list of items which are not "outer wearing garments" but leaves several items still in doubt. On articles that sell for more than $10 the tax will be computed on the entire selling price.

The retailer can withhold one per cent of the tax he collects if he makes his quarterly report on the last they are not outer wearing apparel while the other say they are. Work clothes, priced under $10, is not date and can withhold three per cent if he makes it by the fifteenth of the second month of the quarter.

License fees on September 1 will be six dollars for a chauffeur's license, four dollars and fifty cents for a commercial operator's license, and three dollars for an operator's license.

A copy of the new bill is in the office of the Littlefield Press and anyone wishing to read the law is welcome to come by that office. All retailers will receive a copy of the law that deals primarily with them sometime between now and September 1 from the office of Robert S. Calvert, State Comptroller.

Clarification on several questionable parts of the bill will be necessary and it is possible that only the courts, as test cases are presented, can give the answers.

taxable. . .but what about the man or woman who works in a business suit? They're work clothes.

Anyway beginning September 1, the bookkeepers in the various retail businesses throughout the state will have just one more headache to worry about. One thing we would like to say is that our subscription rate has climbed to $5.10, with the 10 cents going to the state as a sales tax.

Then there's the story about human nature. When they buried Uncle Elmer his body was dressed in his best Sunday suit. In the inside pocket were his U. S. savings bonds. After the funeral the family remembered. The Treasury issued new bonds to the widow, who was a co-owner of the originals.

A farmer was repairing a fence. In his back pocket was a bond which a cow ate. Said the farmer to the Treasury: 'She is a valuable cow. I don't want to kill her.'

Crisis Has Extra Meaning For Former Citian

Editor's Note: We are pleased to bring you the following story about a former Littlefield resident who now makes her home in Midland, Mrs. Clyde White. The White's move to Midland from here in 1950. The story is about Mrs. White's recent visit to West Berlin.

By Tom Nickell
Reporter - Telegram Staff

to most Midlanders, the crisis caused by the current Berlin crisis may be a bit and often - heard thing of arms. But, to Midland housewife, the crisis is a booming one -- carries a personal meaning.

She is Mrs. Clyde White who returned recently from an 11-day visit in her mother's West Berlin home. Mrs. Martha Kueck, her mother, lives in the Friedenfeld section of West Berlin -- only a grenade's throw from the Russian-held sector of the city.

"I found her well and undisturbed by the crisis," said Mrs. White. "For that matter, I found hardly anyone who considers the current trouble any more serious than previous flare-ups."

"If they are worried," she continued, "they don't show it."

Mrs. White said the only indication of strife in the divided city during her stay was the constant exodus of refugees from East Berlin. "But leaving their homes and possessions is very hard," she said.

Mrs. White said persons fleeing the Russian zone were allowed to carry only what they normally might take to visit a friend.

Refugees Searched
"They are searched and questioned every time they cross the border."

"If they look suspicious, they are 'detained' by the Russian police," she said. "Nevertheless," added Mrs. White, "some 13,000 refugees entered the Friedenfeld district while I was there."

Mrs. White also has a pair of aunts and uncles and several cousins who make their homes in East Berlin. She said she was not able to visit them.

"I was told before I left America that I could not go into the Russian zone. To be honest, I was not too anxious to go over into East Berlin, anyway."

Discussing the changes made in Berlin since she last was there, in 1947, Mrs. White said only one street in the Russian sector has been reconstructed out of the World War II damage.

"On the other hand," she said, "the American-occupied sector is a beautiful and totally - rebuilt city."

10 Relatives in Germany

All told, Mrs. White has at least 10 relatives living in the shadow of Khrushchev's threat to take over all of Germany.

When asked if she is worried about their safety, she replied: "Of course I am. But I -- and most West Berliners -- think Kennedy will not let the Russians have anything."

Can Germany continue to lead a divided, uneasy existence?

"I don't think so," she answered. "Sooner or later, something will have to be settled."

Mrs. White, a post-war bride, came to Midland in 1950 with her husband, a building contractor. They and their two daughters, Juanita, 14, and Virginia, 12, live at 117 North Eisenhower Street. A painting of some Alpine peaks in Germany hangs over their living room divan.

When asked if she would like to return to her native Germany, she emphatically said, "No. It is much better to be free."

The symbol for the 17th annual Boys Ranch Rodeo is a young Boys Rancher who has "found a shirttail to hang to" at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch near Amarillo. The 1961 production of the all-boys rodeo will be held September 3rd and 4th, the Labor Day weekend.

Last Year's Champion Ready For Boy's Town Labor Day Annual Rodeo

Roy Bolles, a former Sweetwater boy and the Junior All-Around Cowboy of the 1960 Boys Ranch rodeo at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch will be riding for the Senior title when the rodeo is held over the Labor Day weekend, September 3rd and 4th.

Roy came out of the 1960 rodeo with a perfect score, compiling 100 out of a possible 100 points by riding the smaller animals of the rodeo that has become nationally-known as the only one of its kind in the country. It was Roy's first experience as a contestant and this year for the first time he will be eligible to enter the senior division with the older boys of the Ranch.

With nearly 300 boys now living at the Ranch, the 17th annual Boys Ranch Rodeo is expected to be the biggest ever held with more young riders contesting for the trophies and prizes than ever before. The Brahma bulls, bucking broncs and steers are all professional rodeo animals that have been taken to the Ranch especially for the rodeo. Points will be compiled under R. C. A. rules.

Younger boys at the Ranch ride calves and appear in special feature attractions. It is a rodeo for all of the boys and those who do not participate as contestants work at the many behind-the-scenes activities connected with the occasion. Only outside participation is by the Amarillo Air Force Band. Huge shade trees around the rodeo arena assure all spectators a cool vantage point from which to watch the event.

All indications are that the 17th annual Boys Ranch Rodeo will be the fastest, most competitive and thrilling the boys have ever had and they anticipate a record-breaking attendance.

Highlights of 1961 Agricultural Act

The Agricultural Act of 1961 is now on the books and the rush is on to examine its provisions to farmers and others, reports C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist.

One of its major provisions, reducing the wheat acreage, will be voted on August 24. Wheat producers will vote yes or no on marketing quotas for the crop. If they vote yes, new wheat stabilization programs will become effective, including higher port price, a mandatory reduction of 10 per cent in wheat allotments with age cuts up to 40 per cent possible and a saving of $25 million for the nation's taxpayers.

The legislation extends the feed grain program which is now in effect and for the first time includes barley along with corn and grain sorghums. Current estimates indicate that feed grain production will be about 15 per cent less than last year, says Bates.

Marketing order programs -- self-help in a true sense -- are authorized on more commodities.

The Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act (includes food for peace) has been extended and strengthened; expansion and improvement of supervised credit services for farmers who lack sufficient private credit

Life Of Wood Is Prolonged By Treatment

Decay and failure of exterior woodwork can be reduced by brush, dip or soak treating with water repellent preservatives. Bill Smith, extension forester, reports that long time tests show surface treatments give worthwhile protection to wooden siding, steps, porches, exterior trim shutters, and other items exposed to rain seepage.

Studies started in 1941 by the Southern Forest Experiment Station have shown that Southern pine exterior woodwork, when treated with pentachlorophenol and a water repellent, lasted at least four times as long as the untreated material. Some of the treated material is still in use after 20 years.

For the tests, the wood was treated by either complete immersion in the liquid for periods of 3 to 60 minutes, or by two brush applications at room temperature. The longer soaking period was the best, but even the brush treatment was effective, says Smith.

Home builders, repairmen and others can treat

Wheat Fertilizer Test Results Told

Farmers in Lamb County will be planting wheat during September and October and much of the irrigated land will be fertilized.

County Agricultural Agent Kimbrough states that the fertilizer needs for wheat will vary considerably among soil types and that a chemical soil analysis affords the best known guide to profitable fertilizer use.

The Soil Testing Laboratory operated in Lubbock by the Extension Service is now located in new quarters at the Agricultural Experiment Station. The $2.00 fee for testing a soil sample could be an excellent investment.

Wheat Fertilizer Test Results Told

Kimrough suggests you come by his office for an information sheet that explains how samples should be collected and mailed. It is of great importance that you fill in the information requested on this sheet since all known factors are considered along with the chemical values in arriving at a fertilizer recommendation.

By taking samples early the report will be on hand when the time comes to decide how much and what kind of fertilizer is needed.

CROP RESIDUE MANAGEMENT. Forage sorghum in 40" rows cut at "normal" height, about 8'. Residues estimated, remaining at about 800 lbs. Inadequate to protect the surface. Note soil drifting between rows. Photo by Ars.

Crop Residue Is Important As Soil, Water Protector

The Lamb County Board of Supervisors would like to remind all farmers of Lamb County of a few things which will need some thought on their part.

There is a crop residue problem which is utilizing plant residue left on cultivated lands by incorporating it into the soil or leaving it on the surface during part of the year when erosion periods periodically occur, which in turn serves moisture, increases infiltration, reduces soil losses and improves soil tilth.

There is most needed on cropland where soil protection is provided by other practices and where the physical condition of the soil is to be improved and maintained.

The amount needed for protection will depend on the soil texture. The average textured soils need a minimum of 1750 pounds per acre for drilled or spaced crops, or 2500 pounds per acre for normal spaced rows while the moderately coarse textured soils need 1250 pounds per acre for close spaced crops and 1750 pounds per acre for normal spaced rows and medium or fine textured soils require 750 pounds per acre for the close spaced crops or at least 1000 pounds per acre for the normal spaced row crops.

For planning on how to utilize the stubble residues can figure on a four to one ratio. That is for every inch of height it will protect four inches of soil surface.

There again are several methods of doing a good job and receiving the same results. One that has worked very successfully for several of the farmers in this area is to apply nitrogen to the stubble in the late fall or winter. Where this practice was used the stubble decayed very rapidly and by the time the first cultivation was made on the cotton following feed there was very little or no stubble residue left to interfere with the plowing and the soil had a darker color and more of a mellow textured surface.

The supervisors also urge all farmers who plan on terracing to do some checking and planning to see what is needed for a good sound system. In a lot of cases a farmer can't just terrace his farm without doing something about taking care of some excess water which requires quite a bit of planning and time to get the proper job done. The same is true in putting a pipeline whether it is for a sprinkler system, flood irrigation or even as a carrier line.

With the proper planning both money, water and soil can be saved.

Any farm operator who is interested and feels that he needs any technical help or additional information about problems on his farm is welcome to contact the soil conservation service office or any of the personnel and assistance will be given as quickly as possible.

Wheat Survival Ratio Developed

A compact, long-keeping emergency ration made from whole wheat has been developed and tested by U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists. It was developed for stockpiling in fallout shelters.

The project, in the form of wafers, have an estimated shelf life of five years or longer. They are made from whole grain wheat that has been parboiled, dried, puffed, then crumbled, and made into a cookie-sized wafer. Research was done at USDA's Agricultural Research Service laboratory at Albany, California, under contract from the Office of Civil Defense Mobilization.

The wafers pack a lot of food value into a small space; are quick and easy to serve and the plentiful supplies of wheat make it practical for stockpiling. In a series of three tests, each involving 100 volunteers living in the fallout

Procedure For Taking Soil Samples

Soil tests can be only as accurate as the samples on which they are made. Proper collection of soil samples is extremely important. Chemical tests on poorly taken samples may actually be misleading.

Step 1.

Step 2.

Step 3.

Step 4.

Take one soil sample from each major soil type in a field. A soil type is uniform in slope, texture, color, drainage, crop growth and past treatment. Each sample should represent 20 to 40 acres.

The sample should be taken from over all the area. This can be done by taking a small amount of soil from 10 to 15 different places. Place these in a clean container (bucket, paper sack, etc.), mix thoroughly, and take out approximately 1 pint for the composite sample. Avoid sampling unusual areas such as slight field depressions and small eroded areas.

When taking the small samples use a spade, soil auger or soil sampling tube as illustrated. Scrape the litter from the surface. To use an auger or tube, make the boring 6 inches deep in the soil for cultivated land. (For pasture, sample to a depth of 4 inches.) To use a spade, dig a V-shaped hole and take a 1/2-inch slice of soil from the smooth side of the hole. Repeat in 10 to 15 different places.

Fill out completely the information sheet on the opposite side. Enclose together with the soil testing fee in a stamped envelope and attach to the outside of package containing samples so that both will reach the laboratory. Address the letter and package to: Soil Testing Laboratory, Agricultural Extension Service, Route 3, Lubbock, Texas; or the Soil Testing Laboratory, County Extension Office, Seymour, Texas; or to the Soil Testing Laboratory, Agricultural Extension Service, College Station, Texas. The soil testing fee presently is $2.00 for each sample submitted. Make check or money order payable to Texas Agricultural Extension Service. If samples are sent to the Seymour laboratory make remittance payable to Soil Testing Laboratory.

Precautions

1. Avoid sampling spots in the field such as small gullies, slight field depressions, terrace waterways and unusual spots.
2. When sampling fertilized fields, avoid sampling directly in fertilized band.
3. Do not use old vegetable cans, tobacco cans, match boxes, etc., to submit samples.
4. Do not use heat to dry samples.
5. Be sure to keep a record for yourself as to the area represented by each sample.
6. Be sure sample numbers on the boxes correspond with sample number on the information sheet.

Tech Line Is Small But Most Determined

"Beef trust" is one cliché that can't be used to describe Texas Tech's guards and tackles.

Of the 19 candidates for those interior line positions slated to report Sept. 1, only three weigh 200 pounds or more. Heaviest of the Red Raider forwards are a trio of senior letterman tackles -- Larry Mullins, 205, of Snyder, Pat Holmes, 233, of Del Rio, and Richard Stafford, 225, of Matador.

By contrast, Texas

Christian, the Raider's opponent here Oct. 14, numbers only one of its 18 guard -- tackle candidates as weighing less than 200 pounds. In fact, two of the Texas Tech backs will outweigh all the linemen except Stafford and Holmes.

Lack of weight, however, hasn't deterred Mullins. His attitude and knowledge of the game have kept him in a starter's role since early in his sophomore season. Last year, while averaging 44 minutes a game, he compiled the best defensive grades of any Raider lineman.

More competition for starting posts looms at the other positions. At right tackle, Holmes must stave off spirited bids by a pair of sophomores -- Bill Shaha, 195, of Dumas, and Ray McWilliams, 195, of Littlefield.

Kelly Mitchell's spring training work gives him a slight edge at left guard over Randy Weyland Charles Edgemon.

Mitchell, 199, a junior from Hobart, Okla., a math-physics major whose grades last year were the squad's best, was held out of action in 1960. Weyland, 194, a fullback at Fort Worth Paschal High, played sparingly as a sophomore last season. Edgemon, 190, a junior letterman from Wichita Falls logged some starting time last season but spent much of the past spring at center.

Behind Mullins are Roy Blair, 195, Midland sophomore, who red-shirted last year, and Stafford. In the three-deep at right guard with Armstrong are a Junior squadman, Ken Milliken, 190, of San Angelo, a reserve center last year, and Jackie Nichols, 182, of Lubbock, a sophomore in eligibility -- since he did not play last fall.

Other tackle candidates who could break through are sophomores Gary McGill, 195, of Albuquerque, N. M., Tommy Hayes, 195, of Electra, and Dennis Watkins, 195, of McCamey.

Guard slots are being sought also by sophomores Albert Swening, 186, Lubbock Monterey, Dan Hennig, 187, Whitewright; Bev Herndon, 170, Sweetwater, and Jimmy Wells, 191, Dumas.

Losses at these positions were Jere Don Mohon, three-year letterman from Panhandle, starting right guard; Tommy Pace, two-year letterman from Amarillo, starting right tackle; Tackles Robert Meyer of San Antonio, Bobby Cline of Belton, Dale Robinson of Stamford, guards Fred Weaver of Lubbock, Cooper, Ed Strickland of Pampa, and Alfred Peterson of Gainesville.

July Bond Sales Told

"Texas Savings Bonds sales in July increased 3.1% over the same month in 1960. Sales of both E & H Bonds in Lamb County total $8,337 for the month which represents 3% of the 1961 goal for the county," according to C. O. Stone, chairman of Lamb County Savings Bonds Committee.

"The Savings Bonds Committee is gratified to note the continued increase in purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds. There is nothing in this world safer than U. S. Savings Bonds, and their purchase is not only patriotic, it is sound, good business, too. E Bonds are an excellent appreciation investment for those not needing immediate returns, and H Bonds are designed for those needing income. Interest on the H Bonds is paid by government check every six months. Both E and H Bonds are readily liquid. Principal and interest are fully guaranteed by the faith and credit of the United States", concluded Stone.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, Tex. -- Ben Ramsey's appointment as Railroad Commissioner -- after a decade in which his name has been synonymous with the Lieutenant Governorship -- carries with it several major political implications.

First, it's a pretty safe bet that the quiet-spoken East Texan will not be in the field of contenders for the Governor's chair. Pre-campaign speculation has had Ramsey in practically every gubernatorial race in recent years.

Second, it leaves the 1962 race for the Lieutenant Governorship wide open. At least a half - dozen likely prospects already have been mentioned.

Third, it puts, Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi automatically in charge of the Lieutenant Governor's duties. He was elected by his colleagues as President Pro Tempore of the Senate shortly before Gov. Price Daniel's announcement of Ramsey's appointment.

There could be several "Lieutenant Governors" before the election this year. This depends on how many legislative sessions occur between now and then. Texas' Constitution provides that a President Pro Tempore shall be elected at the beginning and at the end of each session.

Governor Daniel has announced that he will call another special session before the end of the year. So it will be up to the Senate to elect a man who will assume the duties of Lieutenant Governor for that session. Then another will be chosen for the interim between its windup and the beginning of the next one. And so on!

Meanwhile, Reagan is first in line of succession to the Governor's office.

Ramsey's appointment to the $17,500 a year Railroad Commission post came as no surprise in political circles.

Appointment is for the unexpired term of the late Olin Culberson, which runs until January 1, 1963. Then if Ramsey desires a full six-year term, he will have to stand for election.

Ramsey joins Ernest O. Thompson and William J. Murray, the present chairman, on one of the most important agencies in the state government. The Railroad Commission not only regulates all Texas oil and gas production, but all highway and railroad freight and passenger rates in the state.

Incidentally, the $810 teacher pay raise doesn't necessarily mean every teacher in the state will get such a raise. Some districts already are paying their teachers more than the state minimum. In such cases it's up to the districts to decide whether a raise is in order.

SALES TAX EXPLAINED -- Prime targets of the state's new two per cent sales tax, which become effective September 1, are furniture, household and kitchen appliances, clothing with some exceptions, household supplies, toys, restaurant meals and gas and electric utility bills.

But those are not all by any means, as you'll soon discover.

However, groceries, housing, medical and dental bills, insurance, and telephone service will not be covered by the new levy.

One break for the taxpayer came with the new tax bill. The three per cent tax which was on television sets, radios and air conditioners will be reduced to two per cent. Cosmetics tax will be lowered from 2.2 per cent to two per cent.

It should be some consolation, at least, to know that all sales taxes under the new law are consumer taxes and thus deductible from the federal income tax.

DANIEL ACCEDES TO SALES TAX - Governor Daniel filed the sales tax bill with the Secretary of State, unsigned. This permitted it to become law without his signature. He said to veto it at this time, when appropriate must be met September 1, would be disastrous to the State of Texas. It would mean that children, state institutions, old age pensioners, other programs which dependent upon state revenue and appropriations.

"It is with considerable regret," he said, "I feel compelled to veto this type of bill to the law. Among other things it contains a type of general sales tax which I have opposed for years."

There is no time to fight the tax battle, he ded.

SCHOOL BUS PRICES fixed? -- An anti-suit has been filed by Gen. Will Wilson against 16 persons and firms who allege that bids on school buses sold to the state have been rigged.

Wilson said some $23,000,000 are involved. Allegation is that named agreed to maintain and increase price at which school buses are sold in the State of Texas.

Suit asks penalties of $3,600,000 for price-fixing acts covering a period January 1, 1955, to just 16, 1961.

THE LOST MONTH

This dream girl turned dreary drudge has only 11 months each year to ENJOY life. She spends the other month doing dishes by hand.

It's true. On the average, it takes two hours a day to wade through three stacks of dishes--breakfast--lunch and dinner. That comes out to 730 hours a year. And, friends, that's a month. A month of full 24 hour days.

Don't be a drudge and do dishes -- and lose a month a year. "Dial" dishes in an electric dishwasher and enjoy life all year long. It costs just a cent and a half a day to wash and dry dishes electrically. You couldn't buy the hand lotion for that little money -- and you get another month to live better electrically.

The party line golden rule

People on telephone party lines have a daily opportunity to practice the principle of the golden rule.

Sometimes, when you pick up the receiver, you expect the party line to be in use. But your call is delayed only when the party line is tied up for an excessive length of time.

So the best rule for party line users is the golden rule. To put it simply "Do unto your party line neighbor as you would have your party line neighbor do unto you."
