

In Business in Texas Without Investment

(AN EDITORIAL)

Soft of hand and smooth of tongue, schemers annually cost the of Texas thousands upon thousands of dollars.

They are in business without investment, have no stock in trade than a glib tongue and a persuading manner, and if they should spend a little money in the city which they are victimizing, make certain that they buy so cheap that the recipient of their money will not make any money on the transaction—at any rate, so that it is virtually a matter of swapping dollars.

The schemers select the cities that they hope to make the victims of their operations. They figure out that such and such a city is a "hot spot" for some easy picking, because that particular city has a payroll or is prosperous because of being located in a good farm-section.

Particularly Active in Fall

Schemers are particularly active in the fall of the year, when money is in circulation because of an extra volume of business. Never within the recollection of the present generation have so many schemers been in circulation as at the present time. Almost every day newspapers in some part of the country are called upon to expose a new scheme.

Littlefield has come in for her share of schemes and fakers and her citizens have contributed their share of dollars.

Use So-called Advertising As Bait

The majority of the schemers have some sort of so-called advertising as bait in garnering in the dollars. They present this so-called advertising, declare that it is the opportunity of a life-time to garner profits (it is for the schemers), and, having accomplished their goal, move on to another city to repeat their operations.

What do the victims of the schemers receive? They get, in return for having accepted the schemer's so-called advertising, nothing under the shining sun but a depleted check book.

Special efforts are being carried out in every part of the country to frustrate these schemers. Many cities have carried out an educational program to the extent that schemers cannot operate. In others, they are invited to leave town.

Schemers are not particular what medium they use in order that they may influence business men to buy their so-called advertising. They sometimes use a church—and who is there that will not be susceptible to purchasing so-called advertising if they believe that they are performing a service to a church?

Another favorite scheme to interest business men is to state that the local newspaper will receive the order for printing whatever printed matter they happen to be using in extracting money from business concerns. Newspapers will print anything that comes within the scope of legitimate advertising, but they do not want the kind of printing that schemes dollars out of the pockets of the business men.

Business men who come in contact with so-called advertising schemes should report them to Dr. Ira E. Woods, president of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, and J. O. Garlington, president of the Retail Merchants association, in order that the proposition may be investigated.

LOCAL UNIT GOOD CITIZENSHIP LEAGUE IS FORMED

LITTLEFIELD IS SEEKING REDUCTION OF INSURANCE KEY RATE TO 35c

MASS MEETING IS CALLED FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

B. M. Harrison Is Elected As Chairman; Dr. Woods, Vice-Chairman

A Littlefield unit of the county-wide Good Citizenship league was formed at a meeting Monday afternoon at the city hall.

B. M. Harrison, superintendent of the Littlefield schools, was elected chairman; Dr. Ira E. Woods, vice-chairman; and B. L. (Josh) Cogdill, secretary-treasurer.

Several other local units were formed this week. Olton and Amherst organized Monday night and Sudan Tuesday night.

Call Mass Meeting

Chairman Harrison has called a mass meeting of citizens for 7:30 p. m. Friday at the city hall, at which time additional plans will be made for the functioning of the local unit.

The Good Citizenship league was formed at a meeting Wednesday of last week, as an organized effort to fight crime.

Crime has been kept at a minimum in Lamb county, but is reported to be spreading from the larger cities to the small cities and communities.

Lubbock organized to fight crime following the slaying of young Robert Tharp, assistant grocery store manager of that city. Lamb county followed with an organization similar to that formed in Lubbock. Tharp was a former resident of Littlefield. The fact, however, that Tharp was a former resident of this city, had no direct bearing on the fact that a Good Citizenship league was formed in Lamb county.

Function of Organization

Several speakers at Monday afternoon's meeting pointed out that the purpose of the Good Citizenship league was misunderstood by some people, in that they thought that in co-operating in the work of the or-

INCREASE OF WATER SUPPLY IS NECESSARY

Mayor Says Policies Worth Face Value Under Present Rate

According to Mayor T. S. Sales, city commission is endeavoring to end the Littlefield water system in order to effect a reduction in the insurance key rate. The state fire insurance department has advised the officials that a 35c key rate will allow the city provided the municipal water supply is increased to 10 gallons per capita. The prevailing key rate is 38c.

The mayor points out that the commission is very anxious for Littlefield to meet the requirements of the insurance department of Texas. While the present Littlefield key rate permits the policy-holder to collect the face value of his policy, the additional reduction would effect considerable saving on insurance premiums," Mr. Sales says.

No Date Yet Set For Opening Of Littlefield Schools

According to J. S. Hilliard, secretary of the Littlefield Independent School District, no date has been set yet for the re-opening of the Littlefield schools, which were closed October 7 so that the children might assist in gathering the cotton crop. Mr. Hilliard said it depended on the weather and the progress made in the picking of the cotton crop.

POLICE ORDER UNDESIRABLES TO LEAVE CITY

Many With Unsavory Reputations Leave At Request of Officers

Undesirables are finding in Littlefield a very poor reception. Since the drive against crime was started late last week, seventeen undesirables, many of them declared by police to have very unsavory records, have left town at the invitation of the peace officers, according to Deputy Sheriff Bob Miller and City Marshal L. A. Ratliff.

In addition to the seventeen, more than 40 men who claimed to be cotton pickers, but who, according to police, did not make an effort to obtain employment in the fields, preferring to beg for food, also have been sent out of town.

Lowest Temperature For Season Reported Here Wednesday A.M.

Rain and sleet, accompanied by chilling winds, fell here Monday night, and early Tuesday morning, but by the afternoon the skies had cleared and the sun was shining.

Temperature over the South Plains fell from a maximum of 48 to 30 degrees Monday night. At Plainview a two-inch snow was reported, with a temperature of 32 degrees. Tuesday at Amarillo a few flakes were seen when a new low temperature for the season of 34 degrees was reported.

Reports indicate that the rain and sleet did no damage to the cotton crop, only delaying the gathering of the crop a day.

Littlefield experienced the coldest temperature for the season Wednesday morning about 7 o'clock when 33 degrees were recorded. Monday night about 6 o'clock the temperature stood at 58 degrees, but fell to 37 Tuesday morning.

GYPSY CARNIVAL SPONSORED BY LITTLE THEATRE TO BE HELD FRIDAY INSTEAD OF MONDAY; PARADE STARTS AT 4 P. M.

Word has reached the Little Theatre committee that the gypsies are traveling faster than they anticipated and will reach Littlefield on Friday, October 28, instead of the following Monday. All plans are made for their reception and for the supper and dance they will sponsor here.

There will be a parade on the downtown streets at four o'clock Friday afternoon, and supper will be served afterward on the camp ground in front of the American Legion Hall unless the weather is bad, in which case the supper will be served inside the hall.

Fifteen cents will buy this supper of genuine gypsy stew, coffee and wafers. The jitney dance will continue throughout the evening, and all are promised an evening of unique entertainment.

Remember that every "nickel" spent with these children of the gypsy trail will be used to buy new books for the Littlefield Public Library.

Come and have your fortune told. You may be surprised at what fate has in store for you.

Remember the new date—Friday, October 28th.

Receipts Show Big Gain At Local Postoffice

A great increase is being noted in the postal receipts and money orders issued at the local postoffice, according to Homer Hall, acting postmaster.

There were 980 money orders issued from October 1 to the 20th of this month, while within the same dates in 1931 only 717 were issued, showing an increase of 263 money orders for the 20 days.

Postal receipts have also increased, there being 256 pounds of first class mail from October 15 to 19, inclusive. Monday last the first class sack leaving on the bus weighed thirty-one pounds.

Mr. Hall says that the volume of business being transacted at the present time is equal to, if not greater, than that of the fall of 1929, and that they are doing the work without any additional help. The postmaster asks that the public have patience during the rush hours in view of the situation.

H. C. Brown, Scale Inspector, of Washington, D. C., spent Tuesday at the local postoffice inspecting the scales, and reports them in good condition.

RELICS OF PROSPERITY

One consoling reflection in these days of stress is that we did a lot of things in the days of prosperity whose benefits we can still enjoy. We may not be buying as many new radio sets as we were a few years ago, but the old ones still work, and the programs are coming through. Many a man who couldn't think of buying a new car today is making good use of the automobile he bought when times were good. One of the big companies reported the other day that present sales of cars are running at the rate of 291 used cars to every 100 new cars sold.

In public works we have many enduring things which we wouldn't start out to build now, but which our children and grandchildren will continue to enjoy. Our national program of concrete highways on solid foundations would never have got a fair start if the nation had not been over-prosperous for a few years; even today it is far from having been abandoned. There is nothing of more enduring value than a good road. Only a week or two ago there was uncovered a mile or so of rock highway built by the Romans in the south of England nearly two thousand years ago. Twenty-one feet wide, it led from London to the Channel, a part of the great system of roads which tied the ancient Roman empire together.

One of the reasons why our widely separated settlements and communities have held together in a single nation has been that means of communication first the railroads, then the great highways, have closely followed the advance of population.

CAST DOWN YOUR BUCKETS

There's a story about a ship lost at sea their water supply exhausted. Seeing another vessel they signalled for water. The second ship answered, "Cast down your buckets where you are."

But the Captain of the famished ship was not so foolish as to think they could drink salt water . . . he signalled again.

And the reply came back, "Cast down your buckets where you are." At last they did. To their surprise the buckets came up full of sparkling fresh water . . . for at that spot fresh water from the mouth of the Amazon River flows out into the ocean for a hundred miles.

Many, today, are thirsting for business while all that is needed is to "cast down their buckets where they are." All around us is business we are not getting simply because we don't realize it is there.

The firms who have quit signalling distress and are casting their buckets into the great ocean of business about them . . . are being rewarded with fresh, confidence-restoring business and new profits.

So, we say to you, "Let down your buckets NOW!" Business is picking up.

EIGHT YEARS AGO IN LITTLEFIELD

(Excerpts from Lamb Co. Leader)

This week W. L. Elwood is shipping to market 6200 head of three year old steers that were last week rounded up on the Spade ranch. This number represents the last big roundup of the ranches on the South Plains and will require four trains of 44 cars each to move the cattle to market.

This big roundup was held last Friday. There were nearly 200 present, including the owner, W. L. Elwood, "Uncle" Dick Arnett, 75 years old, cowpuncher who was the first foreman of the Spade ranch when I. L. Elwood bought it 36 years ago. Otto Jones, manager of the Rendebrooke ranch in Mitchell county, was there. Stanley Watson, the man who is turning the ranch into farm lands at the rate of several thousand acres per day, about 20 cow boys, a big bunch of old timers and numerous friends from Lubbock, Littlefield and other surrounding sections.

R. E. Cole of Killeen came to Littlefield this week and was so favorably impressed with the future prospects that he immediately made substantial investments in city property.

B. L. Van of Austin came in last Tuesday, bringing with him two carloads of implements, including a couple of Fordsons and an International tractor. He was accompanied by Rupert McCoy and Homer Baker.

Miss Marie Patton has resigned as teacher of English in the local schools and Mrs. Chayborn Harvey has been chosen to take her place. Mrs. Harvey is a graduate of Simmons College, Abilene.

E. C. Cundiff, Littlefield's well known chicken fancier, will leave next week to attend the mid west poultry show to be held at Munday, taking with him about 25 birds of the Rhode Island Red Variety for display.

FLEXIBLE

ELECTRIC POWER, to serve any community adequately, must be flexible. It must meet all requirements, large or small—at any time and any place.

Small local plants serving single communities lack this flexibility—they lack the variety of volume and demand which enables a larger system, serving a wide area by transmission lines, to operate efficiently.

The present day industrial progress of small communities is based in a large measure on the ample and economical power supply which resulted when transmission systems replaced inefficient and expensive small local plants throughout the nation.

FIRST LOVES

Johnny Breen, 16, who had spent all of his life in a tugboat, plying around the City, was made motherless by an explosion sank the boat on which his mother and the man he loved were living. He is the survivor, struggling through the waves to shore. . . . At dawn, the groundings entirely unknown in New York begins. Unable knowing nothing of life, he is taken in by a Jewish family, living in a second-hand clothing business in the Bowery. . . . From the day he set foot in the city he had his way through against bulging shoulders and soon became a man who attracted the attention of a would-be manager of a firm who enters him in many box-arrangements. . . . It was here that Malone came into young John's life—an old fighter who was as honest. . . . He took Breen by the wing—sent him to night school and eventually took him to a farm he had acquired. . . . The shifts and the family of Van Horn of Fifth Avenue is introduced. . . . Van Horn, last of the old school, is a man-about-town, who Malone and Breen at one of the boxing shows. Van Horn has a chapter in his life . . . which he does with his mother's maid, who left the family when she became a mother. It was revealed that she married an old carpenter of a river craft. Van Horn has a daughter, Josephine, about Breen's age. . . . John, now interested in John, has upon him to let him finance his Civil Engineering at Columbia University. John and Josephine meet—become attached to each other, love grows and they become engaged shortly after Breen graduates from college. Josephine has another suitor, a man of the world named Rantoul. Josephine became restless as John gives full attention to his job and sails for Paris to select her trousseau. At the last moment Rantoul sails on the same boat. At sea on the return home the great ocean liner crashes into an iceberg and sinks—all passengers taking to the lifeboats. Van Horn perishes but Rantoul saves himself—with Josephine. Breen learns that Gilbert Van Horn was his father, Josephine breaks the engagement and marries Rantoul. For years John buries himself in his work. The U. S. enters the World War.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Rantoul tore the letter in rage and muttered vehement uncouth oaths in foreign words. The letter was almost a curate. Josephine had seen John and had wondered where the war medals were. He had worn none, and, in fact, was quite indifferent to her. "How's the old boy?" he had asked, rather brutally. Josephine thought he looked years older and caught coming from her apartment at 2 a. m. She did not deny it. "Bless my eyes," he remarked, "I never knew it was so late." As a matter of fact, after the death of Aunt Wentworth, Josephine had lived independently. Her servants were Japanese, little efficient men; she had three of them, apparently not afraid of her. The butler, Tashi, an adept at jujitsu, could toss out an unwelcome guest with astonishing completeness. "I only wish what they say was true," S. James ruefully remarked, remembering many efforts.

John Breen was named, in a long, purchased affidavit from Paris, but he was in South America and could not be reached. Some of the correspondents, afflicted with wives, found themselves under double fire and fought valiantly, giving the performance an exciting interest. Josephine denied nothing, smiled, enjoyed the fuss, spent no money whatever on her defense, Schweitzer being retained by a syndicate of the indignant correspondents. If Josephine was guilty of anything, it was not stupidity. She was clever enough not to let Rantoul know more than an ineffective husband should know. She may have been as spotless as New York snow, on the hour of its fall, or she may

She looked anything but settled. "Gilbert would have liked to hear that," Judge Kelly looked at her thoughtfully. "And so would John Breen. He's coming back to New York." Josephine went to the piano, ran her fingers over the keys, her head thrown back, with a saucy toss. "Spring is coming to town," she laughed. The new apartment at the Du Barry was cozy. "I hope he is more civilized, now," Judge Kelly looked out of the window. What a damnable town it was! But a woman like Josephine could always survive. Perhaps John Breen might master her. And if he did?

For nine years John Breen, S. E., had worked in the Argentine; railroads, bridges, dams. He had been called to Paraguay, he had thrown spurs over gorges, had visited and reported on great works in Chili. His reconnaissance, surveys, and reports were on file in London and in New York. A dozen commissions awaited him at the completion of every work. He was known in Europe and America, he was a member of the great American Society of Civil Engineers; a corresponding member of the Institution of Civil Engineers of Great Britain. John Breen was becoming a distinguished engineer, still in the sunny forties; but he was utterly unknown to the public at large. He was out of touch with fame.

John was heavier than when we saw him last, working with Colfax, heavier but compact. Years in the open had tanned him, his hair and eyes were strangely light in contrast. John was still an athlete, in far camps he had often amused himself by boxing. He had read, as men read who are free.

As the Western World neared Sandy Hook, John noted the increasing fifth afloat, the slow outpush of accumulated sewage, soiling the blue sea. Why had he come back? They had called him in London. Almon Strauss had written him from Paris. He could have started for China, on a work as great as that of the ancient wall. He wanted to see Pug, to talk again with Harboard, to shake hands and look into the knowing eyes of Judge Kelly, to walk, once more, on Washington Heights. It was the city that called him. He wanted to again feel the insistent pressure of millions.

From time to time John read the papers, off in far camps. Uncertain glimpses of the Rantoul divorce news came to him. One of his associates had received a paper, sent out by obliging relatives, containing testimony bearing on his own misdeeds. Was Josephine half as bad as Rantoul contended? So far as she was concerned he knew she was blameless. What was she like, after nine years? He remembered her in Paris, rather attractive, he thought, although he was fed up on uniforms, and her air was too self-conscious. But he would probably see nothing of her; he cared very little if he did or not. He would take an office, in a high tower, for a year or two, and enjoy himself. They well, he could go out again, for good. John had been in the city all summer, going out to Greenbough for a week at a time, but always back again to his little office. He had no sign on his door, had no special business. He lived at the Engineers' Club and was pointed out, at times, as the John Breen.

It was in the fall that John Breen first met Josephine, quite by accident, as simple a meeting as life ever arranges for us after its most elaborate maneuvers. John was becoming more and more concerned with the tenements, the slums, if you will. He came upon Josephine in Rivington Street.

A settlement near by had enlisted her enthusiasm. "Well, John—". She held out her hand, took his frankly and smiled into his eyes. "You are a good sight, after all these years."

"Nice of you to say that, Josephine." He returned her handclasp. He looked his admiration. She was certainly a remarkable woman. How confoundedly young she looked! He was gray; not that it mattered, but he did feel old, compared to her. But the time was late. Josephine was leaving. Her car awaited her at the plaza in Canal Street. John walked as far as the car and bade her good-bye. "We must see each other again, John. There is so much I would like to talk about. Good-bye."

It was fully a week before John met her again. This time she was on a shopping tour. He saw her on Fifth Avenue. Judge Kelly had mentioned that John would be leaving the Engineer's Club at two. He passed Josephine on the Avenue, turned and walked with her for a few blocks. "I'm going in to do some shopping, dreadful nuisance, John, but just have to." He left her entering a shop displaying things in silk. She looked even more beautiful than before. Nothing whatever had been said except that she was back again in the old house. "It's very comfortable, John. So much better than a flat." And then one day John heard that Almon Strauss was back. "Almon Strauss."

John caught the name above a jumble of voices in one of those intermittent calms when earnest face-to-face talkers pause almost as one. The long assembly room made free to every cult and clique that cared for the privilege, was the scene of a meeting and catholic discussion on the evils of the time. It seemed that The Lemma, a society of eager intellectuals, was assembled there for no other purpose than to talk. Professor Audrey Fessenden of the Bouge School was expected to speak on Trends! The room was crowded.

Harboard pulled John by the arm into an alcove offering an exit toward the door while groups continually blocked the way.

"For the love of Mike, Harboard, let us get some air." John was fuming—the women put him out of tune; the snatches of this and that rolled and goaded him; the smoke and breaths were oppressive.

"For nine years John Breen, C. E., had worked in Argentine; railroads, bridges, dams."

twenty times better than when she saw him last in those dear sophomore days of the awful aqueduct. "He's the image of poor dear Gilbert," Josephine kept repeating to herself, thoughtfully. "The living image of Gilbert Van Horn."

When Gerrit Rantoul at last began his attack on Josephine, intending to burn and consume her in the public eye, he still believed in a philosophy outmoded. The Rantoul divorce case was photographed and exploited during a semester of public attention. The papers, in defense of Josephine, her many poses supplying them with first-class circulation interest, raked up the past of Gerrit Rantoul. He had no idea this would be done. Josephine, on the other hand, testified, under examination by her attorney, Maximilian Schweitzer, that her husband had always been true. She insisted that he was the essence of uxorious fidelity. She even combed a bit boring to her.

Numerous correspondents were veiled the impression that this had named by Rantoul. George St. James had been shadowed and had been have been a wicked woman. Millions of readers debated the subject endlessly and took sides.

After a long trial a verdict was rendered in favor of Rantoul, granting him a divorce, on a statutory grounds. He was a vindictive, nasty old man without much money. Josephine's attorney asked the jury, twelve disgruntled married men, the historic question, "Why don't you recommend alimony for Mr. Rantoul?"

The correspondents paid the costs. Josephine refused to appeal. She praised Gerrit Rantoul. "He is a very jealous man," she added. During the trial, he was gilded with the memory of vanished millions, and his honors and decorations were paraded by Josephine's counsel. "I don't want people to think I married a dud," she said. Josephine came out of the fire smelling slightly of adventurous disinfectant. It also became evident that she was a very wealthy young woman in her own right. Her Rolls, her Japanese chauffeur and footman, her gowns, her friends, her views, her face, her shapely ankles, and her cheerful attitude, quite upset the city and the country at large. She had no intention of going into moving pictures, the awful purple make-up being something she would never consent to put on. Josephine Lambert, for she at once reverted to her maiden name, took a leading part in the final emancipation of her sex.

She might have been the second (or was it the third?) Princess Candadan, only Prince Miguel looked better in uniform than in bathing, as pictures taken at Palm Beach testified to interested millions. Josephine was supremely unconcerned.

"I am opening up the old house again, Marvin," she informed Judge Kelly, after the divorce. "It's about time to settle down to life, my dear."

This Woman Lost 45 Pounds of Fat

"Dear Sirs: For 3 months I've been using your salts and am very much pleased with results. I've lost 45 lbs., 8 inches in hips and bust measure. I've taken 3 bottles—one lasting 5 weeks. I had often tried to reduce by dieting but never could keep it up, but by cutting down and taking Kruschen I've had splendid results. I highly recommend it to my friends." —Mrs. Carl Wilson, Mantion, Mich.

To lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—don't miss a morning. To hasten results get light on fatty meats, potatoes, cream and pastries—a bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle—but don't take chances—be sure it's Kruschen—your health comes first—get it at any drugstore in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

Hallowe'en Party Enjoyed by Presbyterian Auxiliary Ladies

The Presbyterian Ladies Auxiliary enjoyed a lovely Hallowe'en party Monday afternoon at the church.

The basement of the church was beautiful with Hallowe'en decorations and baskets of lovely cut flowers of gorgeous hues. The witch fortune teller's tent was thrilling to all.

As those present entered the darkened basement, everyone grew silent and while the silence reigned, the witch fortune teller entered with a screech and limped to her tent. Of course, all were anxious to have their palms read, Mrs. Neal Douglass being the first to seek the advice of the witch.

The program also included two interesting readings by Miss Maurine Igou, which were much enjoyed, and two laughable games played by all after which delicious refreshments of pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee were served to the following: Mesdames Neal A. Douglass, C. E. Barber, C. M. Igou, J. S. Hilliard, A. P. Duggan, Miller, C. J. Etter, Bill Page, Ray Jones, Floyd Winn, Jimmie Singer, W. H. Walker, B. G. Cloninger, A. L. Wright, Vernie V. Wright, L. L. Massengill, Mike Brewer, Woods, L. M. Touchon, and Misses Lula Hubbard and Maurine Igou.

A number of standing committees were also named by Mrs. Storey for the coming year, including: Mrs. T. Wade Potter, chairman of finance; Mrs. W. H. Rutledge, chairman of benevolent committee; Mrs. Arbie Joplin, chairman of program committee; Mrs. Roy Blessing, chairman of decorating committee; and Mrs. Neal A. Rutledge, Mr. and Mrs. Max Touchon, Mrs. Neal A. Douglass and Mrs. Na, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jones, Mrs. Bie Joplin, Albert and Billie Touchon and the host and hostess.

Whitarral Woman Dies Suddenly Tuesday Morning

Funeral services were conducted this afternoon at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Whitarral, for Mrs. A. F. Fite, 58, of two miles west of Littlefield, who died suddenly at 10:30 Tuesday morning, following an attack of apoplexy. Roy Clark, Pastor of the Church of Christ, Fieldton, officiated, and interment took place in the Whitarral cemetery. Deceased apparently was alright Monday when her husband and son, H. A. Fite, left the house after lunch to work in the fields, but on returning for their evening meal found her lying on the floor unconscious. As the lunch dishes were not taken care of, it was presumed that she had taken sick soon after lunch.

violators who rob and kill. Monday's meeting was called by Rev. Joe F. Grizzle, pastor of the Littlefield First Baptist church and president of the county-wide Good Citizenship league. Rev. Mr. Grizzle presided until the election of the officers of the local unit. Deputy Sheriff Bob Miller and L. A. Ratliff, city marshal, attended the meeting and assisted in the organization of the local unit.

that they could not take possession of the South Plains as they had some other sections of the country. Juries Can Assist J. S. Hilliard said that grand juries when the evidence was sufficient, should true bill alleged law violators without thought of the expense to the county in bringing them to justice. Mr. Hilliard expressed the opinion that juries of every nature could do much in reducing crime and in encouraging officers in carrying out their duties to the best of their ability. Citizens should not endeavor to escape jury duty, Mr. Hilliard said. I. S. Jameson, Littlefield auctioneer, who came to this city a few months ago, said that he had many years experience as an officer; that he possessed a good knowledge of who were the law violators of this section and parts of New Mexico, and that he was at the service of the Littlefield officers and the officers of the county any time they called on him.

SWINE SANITATION
 Application of the sanitation system developed by the United States Department of Agriculture and which is in common use in the Middle West, is resulting in the production of more and better pigs in the Southern States, according to reports reaching the department.

One grower in Tennessee raised six litters of pigs on clean pasture where no other pigs had been allowed to run since the pasture crop was planted. At the age of three months the pigs were uniform and thrifty, averaging about 80 pounds. Three other litters raised on ground previously used by hogs averaged less than 30 pounds per pig at the same age, the pigs being unthrifty and roughcoated. Heavy losses at farrowing time and pasture commonly occur when pigs are raised with no attention to sanitation.

George Jessel, New York actor and radio star, averages but three hours sleep a night.

BUSTER KEATON IN "SPEAK EASILY" HEADS PALACE BILL

Buster Keaton will be seen at the Palace Theatre starting Saturday midnight and continuing through Sunday and Monday, in "Speak Easily," a riotous story of a college professor who inherits close to a million dollars and becomes a theatrical producer. An all-comedy cast supports the star, including the inimitable Jimmy "Schnozle" Durante, Ruth Selwyn, Thelma Todd, Hedda Hopper, William Pawley, Sidney Toler, Lawrence Grant, Henry Armetta and Edward Brophy.

"Speak Easily," which is based on the Clarence Buddington Kelland story, "Footlights," was selected as Keaton's newest vehicle because of its unlimited opportunity for humorous gags, amusing dialogue and rapid-fire comedy action. The fun begins when Keaton and his newly acquired fortune forsakes the uneventful routine of academic life and starts out to see the world, meeting on the way a theatrical troupe which is stranded in a country town and is on the verge of "folding up."

Charmed by Dancer
 The professor is so charmed by one of the show's dancers that he ventures to back this dubious theatrical enterprise, and moreover is so confident of its success that he brings it to New York, where the show opens with not a single person in the audience. It is not until Keaton becomes embroiled in a series of amazing adventures in which crooks, blackmailers and a fortune-hunting actress have a prominent part, that the show ultimately receives the publicity which makes it a sensational hit.

Many of the laughs in "Speak Easily" occur when Keaton unwittingly finds himself in the center of the stage and almost blunders the entire show into ruin. Needless to say, "Schnozle" Durante, as a piano player, also has a great deal to do with the hilarity of the proceedings and even introduces some new songs, including "The Greeks Got Two Words for It!" and "I Can Do Without Broadway, but Can Broadway Do Without Me." The picture was directed by Edward Sedgwick who has been associated with most of Keaton's previous talks, including "The Passionate Plumber," "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath" and "Doughboys."

There are apartments in New York which rent for as much as $40,000 a year.

the U. S. Government reports say produces more cotton per acre than any other equal area in the world, without the use of commercial fertilizer, but even Lamb county will go the way of land in other sections, it is believed, if the practice of destroying the burs is continued.

The answer is said to be found in a machine that will gather the cotton, do the extracting as the machine moves along the cotton rows, and return the burs to the ground.

The Conrad Cotton Combine has been proved a successful machine that will run day after day with no more trouble than a wheat combine.

A limited number of these machines are in Lamb county this year.

The manufacturers of this machine state that they realize the low price of cotton prohibits the farmers' buying the machines, so the company will run the machine, gathering the farmers' cotton for him at a lower cost than if done by hand. It is said to make a better sample, and the hulls are left in the field to enrich the soil for next year's crop.

Officials of this company are in Littlefield and state that they plan to make a limited number of contracts to gather local cotton crops this season.

Short Course Will Be Conducted Here Soon

The International Harvester company will conduct a short course in Littlefield during the latter part of November or early in December, according to County Agent D. A. Adam.

Last year the company held a short course in Sudan, but plans have been changed for this year to allow a number of brief courses at various places over Lamb County.

Mr. Adam states that present plans are to condense the Littlefield course into one day and night.

State Certified Seed May Be Identified Only By Red Tag

AUSTIN, Oct. 26.—A bright red tag bearing the seal of the State of Texas and the signatures of J. E. McDonald, Commissioner of Agriculture, and R. V. Miller, chief of the field seed certification division, is the seed purchaser's assurance that he is getting State certified seed, Miller warns. The red tag is the only positive identification of State certified seed and must be attached to every bag of certified seed, he points out.

"The division of field seed certification is just completing its inspection work for the year and is compiling lists of certified seed breeders. Because the list of dealers in and breeders of certified seed changes from year to year, farmers desiring certified planting seed should always look for the red tag, for it is virtually impossible to supply each purchaser of seed with information regarding changes in the lists," Miller states.

Farmers Urged To Have Seed Tested Before Planting

AUSTIN, Oct. 26.—All Texas farmers are especially urged by Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald to take advantage this season of the free service of the State Department of Agriculture in the testing of planting seed. Unfavorable climatic conditions during the growing and harvesting seasons caused low germination in seed this year, he pointed out.

"Because of rather unusual weather existing in Texas this year, there being a drouthy condition during the crop growing season, and excessive moisture during the harvesting season, it behooves farmers planting various kinds of seed to have their planting seed analyzed and tested in

TO WASHINGTON H. D. CLUB WOMEN VIEW LAWN OF LITTLEFIELD HOMES

Miss Ruby Mashburn, county home demonstration agent, accompanied by a number of home demonstration club members from over the county visited Littlefield Monday, and, as part of her instructive program on "What's Good Taste in Shrubbery Planting and Landscaping", visited the homes of Dr. and Mrs. T. B. Duke and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Duggan, inspecting the grounds and the shrubbery, and lecturing to the group of women who accompanied her.

Hart's Camp, Spring Lake, Sudan, Amherst, and Spade were among the cities and communities represented in the gathering.

SENDING SAMPLES OF PLAINS MAIZE

Fifteen samples of maize from the South Plains have been forwarded by R. R. Stuard, federal grain inspector at Lubbock, to Dr. J. A. Coleman of the bureau of agricultural economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C.

Dr. Coleman is working up standards for a new type of moisture test for grain sorghums. He asked Mr. Stuard to obtain about 100 samples of all kinds of sorghums. It is necessary to obtain accurate information on grades and moisture content of the grains, and to work up a chart of standards for the machine before it will be adopted and used by federal grain inspectors.

"It may take a year or more in working up these standards," Mr. Stuard explained. "There is a lot of detail to be done. I am sending Dr. Coleman samples as rapidly as I can."

Dr. Coleman is a chemist in the grain investigation division of the research laboratory of the bureau of agricultural economics.

"I think the work that Progressive Texans, Inc., is doing to encourage industry in Texas is of vital importance," writes Lowry Martin, Corsicana publisher and president of the Texas Press Association, "and I know that the Texas press will be glad to co-operate to the fullest extent with this organization."

been especially blessed with a soil of almost inexhaustible fertility, commercial fertilizer being unknown to the cotton and grain farmer of this region. But the thoughtful progressive farmer has moments when he remembers the once productive farms of some of the older states, where the land was once as rich and productive as Lamb or Lubbock or any of the plains counties.

There must be a reason why it takes four to eight acres of land in some of the older states to make a bale of cotton where one to three acres would produce a bale when the land was new. Some of the reasons are poor farming, erosion, constant cropping and overworking the land. There is another reason. For fifteen years the farmers of Oklahoma and North Texas have been snapping and sledging their cotton, hauling the burs to the gin with the cotton, paying the ginning and picking a 700 pounds or more per bale, at a dead loss to the grower.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture Experiment Station at College Station, Texas, has prepared and issued Bulletin No. 247, "The chemical composition of the cotton plant." This bulletin gives the analysis of the cotton plant, showing how much the stem, roots, leaves, seed, lint and burs contain in nitrogen, phosphorus, potash and other elements.

It is a well known fact good staple cotton cannot be grown on land deficient in potash. Another obvious fact is that nature intended for the bur to go back to the soil each year furnishing potash for the next year's crops.

The practice of hauling the burs to the gins results in the loss of an immense amount of potash every year. Each ton of burs contain 70 pounds of potash, and each three bales of snapped cotton will make a ton of burs. If a farmer raises 100 bales of cotton a year, he will haul to the gin 33 tons of burs, containing over a ton of potash, which is removed from the land and destroyed. The land of Lamb county, which

MOTOR TRANSPORTATION ASSOCIATION PLANS BIG ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

(Special to the Leader)
AUSTIN, October 26—In an effort to present the true facts concerning motor transportation, the Texas Motor Transportation Association, Austin, is planning a series of newspaper advertisements and radio programs to be used by all Texas newspapers and all Texas radio stations.

There is an appalling lack of information concerning the true facts in the transportation situation in Texas and in the nation, according to Tom Jones, Dallas, president of the association, and this campaign will be designed to present to the public a few of the facts that heretofore have not been generally known.

Asked whether this campaign represented an attack upon the railroads, Jones stated that it was not in any respect an attack upon other forms of transportation and that in all probability railroads would not even be mentioned in the entire series.

"This is a constructive effort, as all our efforts are intended to be," he declared, "and not an attempt to discredit or injure any other form of transportation."

The general plan of the campaign, according to Jones, will be to present the benefits derived by the public from the use of motor trucks and to show that motor trucks are paying adequate taxes, are not causing undue wear and tear upon the highways, are giving more employment than they are taking away, and are improving their safety record with each passing year.

"The motor truck has become a public problem," Jones said. "We think it is a public servant; some think it is a public nuisance. We simply want to present to a fair minded public the facts with which we are familiar and let them form their own conclusions on the basis of these scientifically and statistically determined facts instead of on unfounded prejudices and blind guesses."

In all probability, the first advertisement in the series will appear very soon. Most of the radio programs have already been presented by Station KFDM, Beaumont, and will be made available to other stations.

Facts About Trucks
Thomas H. McDonald, head of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, testified that trucks are paying enough taxes.

1,510,000 men are employed as truck drivers. Trucks spread employment.

3 1-2 per cent of all gainful workers in the U. S. are truck drivers. Trucks spread employment.

Motor trucks have put every shipper on the main line of a 3 million mile transport system.

20 per cent to 64 per cent of all fruits and vegetables are delivered by trucks.

25 per cent to 99 per cent of city milk supplies are brought in by motor trucks.

One third of all livestock is shipped to market by trucks.

Two thirds of all trucks are used for delivery service for short distance.

87 per cent of all trucks are privately owned.

The motor vehicle is the most heavily taxed of all nonluxury articles.

2,500,000 persons own the 3,500,000 motor trucks. 2,200,000 own only one truck.

Last year special motor vehicle taxes amounted to 87 per cent of cost of state system highway improvement in all states.

The number of fatal injuries to football players in 1931 was 40, the largest ever recorded.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Albus made a business trip to Littlefield Saturday.

Fire Department Works Efficiently

Some indication of the speed with which members of the Littlefield fire department work when an alarm of fire is sounded is contained in the fact that in a Fire Prevention Week demonstration, the firemen made the run from the City Hall to the vacant lot opposite the Texas Utilities office, and in three minutes from the time they left the City Hall had five streams of water playing on a nearby building. Chief Arnold and his men are to be complimented on such fast work.

New York has nearly 120,000 street lamps. Costs $5,000,000 a year to operate them.

We Are Wide Open For Business

It's an ill wind that doesn't blow somebody some good; in other words the fire in our store a week ago Sunday brought about several things. We bought lumber, bought doors, patronized a hardware store, employed a carpenter and a painter, bought more merchandise, and, in addition, made our store wide open to the street and more accessible and convenient. You just walk into the Palace Confectionery now; you do not have to open a door. We hope you will come and see us.

THE SOUTH PLAINS

The SOUTH PLAINS is recognized as one of the most productive agricultural regions to be found anywhere.

Recorded facts show that this section excels in crop production and at much lower cost.

Lamb and Hockley counties alone ginned ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY THREE THOUSAND bales of cotton from the 1931 crop besides producing immense feed crops.

Climate is ideal. Soils are among the most versatile in the nation. Farmers who own homes in this section are indeed fortunate. Others should acquire homes here NOW while this good land can be had at present attractive prices.

HARLEY SADLER'S OWN COMPANY WILL OPEN WEEK'S ENGAGEMENT HERE UNDER AUSPICES OF FIRE DEPT. MONDAY NIGHT

ALLEGED SLAYER OF ROBERT THARP HELD IN LUBBOCK

Witnesses, at a court of inquiry in Amarillo Wednesday, testified that Blanton was in that city on the night of the fatal shooting of Tharp.

H. C. (Bud) Blanton, 21, former Amarillo high school football player, was arrested in Amarillo about two o'clock Sunday morning, and lodged in the Lubbock county jail, charged with robbery with firearms of M-System Store No. 6 at 1945 Nineteenth street, and also identified by grocery employees and customers as the gunman in the holdup in M-System Store No. 1 on Broadway in which Robert Tharp, assistant manager, was shot down, both robberies taking place on the evening of October 15.

On being apprehended Blanton maintained his innocence claiming he was in Amarillo at the time the hold-ups took place.

He was unarmed when taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Vanderpool of Potter County, on information from Cap Moore, Deputy constable and J. C. Keller, state highway patrolman. It is believed possible by these officers that "maybe two or more" were connected with the offense.

Mrs. J. W. Porcher, Jr., who was taken to the Lubbock Sanitarium Monday afternoon, suffering from jaundice, is slightly improved.

Harley Sadler's own company will open a week's engagement in Littlefield on Monday night under auspices of the Littlefield Fire Department. This company needs no introduction to the show-goers of West Texas. Harley has been playing the same territory annually, and has the reputation of always having a good clean show. Only the very best plays and vaudeville are shown in the Sadler Tent Theatre.

The opening play this season will be "Kempy, or the Princess and the Plumber," Harley as the fire-eating old "Dad" of "The Princess", is a scream from start to finish. "Billie" Sadler will be seen as "The Princess" and Bart Couch at "The Plumber". The play is full of good, clean comedy and you will enjoy the laughable situations and sparkling dialogue.

The big ten-piece orchestra under the direction of Eddie See, is one of the finest musical organizations in the Southwest, and the vaudeville between the acts of the play is the very best that can be procured.

Ruton's "Educated Alley-Dogs" were a feature with the Ringling show for two seasons, and this is the first time they have ever been seen on the smaller circuits. In this troupe of dogs will be seen "Strongheart" (The Wonder Dog). You have seen him in the pictures, now see him in person. The Sadler show is larger this year than ever before, and the wonderful patronage enjoyed proves that the people will, and do, appreciate Mr. Sadler's efforts to give them nothing but the very best in clean, wholesome amusement. The big tent theatre is kept warm and comfortable in any kind of weather. Large stoves and plenty of fuel make this possible. "Northerners" do not interfere with the comfort of the patrons of the Sadler show. Prices have been reduced but the quantity and quality of the entertainment are kept up to the usual high standard. Mr. Sadler invites you to come out Monday night and see "Kempy".

New Ladies', Men's Ready-to-Wear Store Is Established Here

A new men's and ladies' ready-to-wear store has been established by Globe Clothiers, Inc., in the building formerly occupied by Hopping Bros. Insurance and E. S. Rowe.

Mack Warren, manager of the Amarillo store, and Don Crossett, also of Amarillo, have been in town since Thursday last organizing the new establishment. According to Mr. Warren, Mr. Crossett will have charge of the Littlefield store, which will carry a complete line of men's and ladies' ready-to-wear.

Mrs. Bertha Dalton is connected with the new establishment.

Globe Clothiers, Inc. are having their opening sale this week, commencing Thursday.

Presbyterians To Have Service Next Sunday Morning

Straw Vote—

has been conducting this straw-vote test for the last several weeks, with the Publishers Autocaster Newspaper Service in New York operating as national headquarters.

Votes tabulated from 36 states for a total of 129,490 received show:

Roosevelt 77,331
Hoover 52,159

The weekly newspaper straw-vote returns this week bear out an early indication that Roosevelt may expect as much support—and a little bit more, from small towns and rural districts as he has received in large city and thickly populated district polls. In other words, The Literary Digest poll showed Roosevelt in mid-October with 53.54 per cent of the vote cast to Hoover's 39.39 per cent of the total of 1,983,634 votes cast. In the Hearst newspaper poll of larger cities Roosevelt with 58 per cent leads Hoover with 42 per cent in a total of approximately 500,000 votes cast. The weekly newspaper poll this week with a total of 129,490 votes show Roosevelt leading 59.4% to Hoover's 41.-5%.

As shown by the table above, Roosevelt is leading in thirty states to six for Hoover. The Hoover states are Connecticut, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, New Jersey and New Hampshire. This is directly in line with The Literary Digest poll except that The Literary Digest shows Hoover leading in only New Jersey outside the New England states while the weekly poll shows Hoover leading in Illinois as well as New Jersey outside of New England states.
