THE SPORTS PARADE

By HANK HART

(Joe Hilde pinch-hits for Hart today)

You guys can go on talking baseball, but it looks like the count is against it already. There's some interest left in the play-off of the WPT-NM 1000, and in the World Series—but the season's days are numbered. It looks more like football, golf, hunting and fishing.

By now high school football hopefuls are rubbing mussy a sore joint and wondering if the glory is worth the struggle. It's worth it down there on a camp, too, for none can drum up any sympathy. Everybody's sore as the next man. It reminds us of the days when we aspired to play football. The coach couldn't appreciate genius, and a result we sat on the bench so long that they referred to us affectionately as "judge."

Lots of things can make a man angry, and a few things can actually make a man mad. But nothing makes a sportman's blood boil like seeing unadvised fish snaked or game birds shot out of season. Some of our friends who are really "red headed" about the matter tell us that it is a crime and a shame the way people are pulling out unadvised bass in small lakes around here. The worst degree of offense seems to be at Iatan tank. It seems that the not-so-sporting tribe considers any bass as long as a section is suitable for the fishing pan. Imagine how the real fisherman feels when he throws back a nine or 10 inch beauty, while the man nearby strings a bunch of five or six inch game fish.

If you are looking for a good mess of dove, you will have to wait until Sept. 15 unless you go as far north as Lynn county on Thursday for the north zone opening. Even if you do wait until the south zone opens, chances are that there will be lots of good shooting for all. Plenty of water and feed have resulted in another big crop of doves. Should you be able to knock 'em off a fence post with the butt of your gun, you ought to get enough to be tired of them before the 45 day season ends.

Speaking of doves, the quail hunting this year should be swell but for one thing. The same kind of man who keeps a six inch bass fires a strayling gun during dove season. Our friend, Jimmie Eason, swears that "more quail are killed in dove season than in regular season." Too bad the quail can't shoot back.

Heah! Heah! Look who came in with the low qualifying round Sunday at the country club where plans are being made for the annual invitational tournament. It's none other than Theron Hicks, a gentleman of the portland vintage, who can strike his way through some tough competition when he's hot.

From the way they showed up Sunday for qualifying play, it would appear that every third man in Stanton weeds a golf stick. Should any more play their way around on leisurely rounds, we ought to set aside a "Stanton day."

Robert Haley, who will become a "youngster" at the U. S. Naval Academy this autumn after a year of club service, went in for some athletics in his first season of service in Uncle Sam's navy school. And of all things for a dry land, West Texas boy to take up—Robert went out for the rowing crew.

858 Golfers To Compete For A Slot In Open

Sectional Qualifying Rounds Get Under Way Today

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—The battle for the amateur golf championship starts today with the sectional qualifying rounds at 13 points throughout the country. In all 858 golfers will compete for the 156 open places in the 179-man championship field which will tee off Sept. 12 at the Oakland country club, Pittsburgh.

Johnny Goodman of Omaha, the defending titlist, and Charley Yates of Atlanta, British amateur champion, are exempt from the district eliminations. Exempt too are 12 other players including eight former U. S. champions, three British stars and one Australian.

Only twice in the long history of the amateur, American golf's oldest classic, has the entry exceeded this year—in 1936 when the record was set at 1,118 and in 1938 when there were 945.

Largest sectional qualifying field due for the metropolitan New York districts, a field of 109 will compete for 16 places, among them Ray Billows, of Foughkeepsie, the runner-up last year.

Of the other 1938 cup players, Fred Haas, Jr., will compete at New Orleans, Chuck Kocsis at Detroit and Reynolds Smith at Dallas.

Dove Season Opens On 15th

Hunting Allowed As Far South As Lynn County On Sept. 1

Bird hunters are only a half a month away from the opening of dove season in this area, a study of game charts shows.

The season on the plump, gray birds will open on the morning of Sept. 15 and will continue through to Nov. 1, giving a 45-day season. The north zone, which extends as far south as Lynn county, opens its season Sept. 1.

Quail do not come into season until Dec. 1, but the season remains open until Jan. 15, 1939.

Advances reports indicate large numbers of both quail and dove, although the heavy spring and early summer rains were credited with killing many.

This year there should be several Mexican bob whites in the field since local sportsmen have turned hundreds of pairs free on ranches and farms in this territory within the past few years.

YOUNGSTERS' DAY TO BE OBSERVED AT MUNY POOL

EASTEX PLAYOFF STARTS TONIGHT

The Marshall Tigers trotted out Jack Van Candel, voted the league's leading right-hander, against either Jack Lavis or Charlie Cuellar of the fourth place Tyler Trojans.

Rotary Believed The Winner In Benefit Softball Contest

Score, However, Not Yet Checked By Accountant; Sore Muscles More Numerous Than Errors

Results in brief of Monday night's softball tilt between the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs (approximate).

Total runs—45 (giving fielders benefit of the doubt).

Assorted bruises, ached knees, etc.—51.

Torn trousers—at least one pair.

They banged away at their pelotas last night, the mighty Rotary crew of Bill Watts and the lightning fast Kiwanis team of George Gentry. By the time the dust and laughter cleared away it was ascertained that the Roties had won a game. Most authoritative sources said the score was 28 to 15, although this had not been checked by a certified public accountant. The result also was given as 28 to 13 and as 25 to 20. It was generally agreed, however, that the Rotarians chalked up, by one means or another, the most tallies.

Sensational Moments. The grandstand was fairly well filled at Barton park, as the two groups of service club men shortened their trousers, turned their caps around and took to the field for the purpose of raising funds for the high school football training camp. If the customers expected to see a dazzling display of jam-up ball, they probably were disappointed; if they went for entertainment, they got more than their money's worth.

There were, however, some sensational moments of play, like the time Bob Finer caught a throw at first (one); the time Joe Fisher scooped up one at third while he had his eyes closed; the time Yeston Murrigh couldn't pull his glove out of the way of a line drive and the ball struck for a putout; the time Ray Simmons made a lightning-fast slide into home and landed approximately on his right ear; the time M. H. Bennett took a dive at the base and came up with the knees torn out of his trousers.

His And Errors The hitting was wild and free, the errors just as wild and just as free.

From the start, it was obvious Tate and Gentry were following different tactics in the contest. Tate threw in his best battery—young Fritz Wehner as twirler and "Pro" Ira Thurman behind the plate—and kept them there for the full route. Gentry changed line-ups so often that it was asserted he had recruited a CCC detachment for reserve power. Walter Wilson, Jack Roden, Lee Rogers, et al., had a turn in the box. Thurman carried off the prize as the most likely prospect for a future Devil team, although he caught the spirit of the occasion and muffed one pop fly.

It was rumored in the stands that in two innings, the Rotarians were forced to take the field after making two. But none questioned the decisions of the arbiters, Tiny Parrish and Fats Slagner, both of whom stood like the proverbial Rock of Gibraltar through it all.

SIX TEAMS CLASH IN SOFTBALL PLAY

ABILENE, Aug. 30 (AP)—Six teams clash tonight in the first round of the state tournament of the American Softball association, under way here. Three passed to second round play by trouncing opponents last night.

Belton All-Stars and Brownwood All-Stars; Abilene Coca Cola and Texas Electric of Eastland, and Cliff Maid of Dallas, and Economy Club of Denton were to square off tonight.

Last night Dallas Coca Cola defeated their opponents, tangle with Big Boy Bray, Los Angeles negro pro, of triple-champ Heavy Armstrong, in a ten-round heavy arm-wrestling bout.

The great one boasts of having won the 175-pound Golden Glove title back in Chicago in 1934. He now scales 195 and claims to have scored 49 knockouts in 60 fights.

REFRESHERS NAMED

PROS AVERAGE 208 POUNDS FOR ALL-STAR GAME

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (AP)—The professional football champion Washington Redskins will pit an eleven averaging 208 pounds against Ben McMillin's "iron" All Stars at Soldier Field tonight.

Headed by 285 pound Turk Edwards, captain and all national league tackle, that is the weight of the Team Coach Ray Fishery has selected to start the fifth Annual Charity game.

Jack Hagen To Rough It With Geo. Hartay

Johnson-Tremaine, Shiek-Hill Other Fighters Tonight

Jack Hagen parades before the customers again tonight, to furnish the chief item on the raffle menu at the Big Spring Athletic club. The Hag tangles with George Hartay in the finale of a three-bout program.

Hagen hasn't been on the local boards since taking a licking at the hands of Donald Hill several weeks ago. Reportedly, he has been mulling over this defeat, and was waiting another chance at Hill. Hartay he considers as the next best thing, so some action is due in the final match this evening.

Hartay himself was the second-best man in his last appearance here, being lambasted around by Andy Tremaine. They say he's up and going again, ready for business tonight. Hagen may get a bit rough for Hartay's style, but there's at least an interesting fight in the offing.

Baseball Outfit Ends Season With Money In The Bank

Teams Named For Trophy Contests

Local Group To Contest 'Foreigners' Here Friday

Captain Shirley Robbins Tuesday had named his four-man team to contest a "foreign" aggregation for the Hall & Bennett trophy, in the pro play scheduled Friday as the pride to the country club's annual invitational tourney.

He still awaited word from Joe Dick Slaughter of Lubbock, who will captain the invaders. Slaughter has not yet announced his team.

The local outfit will play as follows:

Doug Jones and Eddie Morgan; Jake Morgan and Shirley Robbins; Frank Morgan and Sammy Sain; D. P. Watt and Bill Ripken. Alternates will be Jimmy Shipman and Guy Rainey.

One other entrant Tuesday had posted a qualifying score in the invitational tourney. He was W. W. Barker, with a 74. Sammy Sain and Lib Coffey also signed up for play, but will play qualifying rounds later in the week. Other local golfers are expected to post qualifying scores before Friday.

Sometimes There's More Than Victory, Morrison Opines

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 30 (AP)—Jesse Ray Morrison, head coach of the Vanderbilt football team, said today there was no justification for "victory-at-all-costs" methods in the college game.

"All coaches like to win, and the more victories the merrier," said the curly-haired coach, "but there comes a time when you have to think of something besides victories."

"The boys come first with the highest type of coaches. You have to keep in mind that the boys, or at least the majority of them, have come to school to get an education. They must be allowed to study whatever they want to, even if some of their classes interfere with football in the afternoons."

"I know I have sacrificed victories under certain circumstances and I know other coaches who have because the box office and the won and lost column are not all-important."

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30 (AP)—

Death records of the Philadelphia county prison were checked today to determine whether the "heat cure" in solitary punishment cells has taken the lives of other convicts than the four hunger strikers found roasted nine days ago.

Coroner Charles H. Hersh told newspapermen his questioning of convicts and prison guards indicated that "turning on the heat" in the prison "Klondike"—a box-like little isolation building—was a "usual" punishment for unruly prisoners.

Meanwhile a staff physician at the prison told investigators that he was prevented from visiting the punishment cells several hours before the four men were found dead.

Dr. George F. Enoch, one of these physicians at the institution, said under questioning by Coroner Hersh that he told a prison official a week ago Sunday he had heard 29 inmates were being given the "heat cure" and that "I thought I'd better go and see how they were coming along."

He quoted the official as replying: "I'll let you know when we're ready for you to go there."

Terry Forced To Start A Relief Man

NY Drops Another At Pittsburgh Wins; Yanx Advance

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

The final tip-off on the sick and weakened condition of the National League's best assortment of active hospital cases, the New York Giants, was offered today when Bill Terry brought his limping crew face to face with the leading pitcher and had, nothing better to offer as a starting pitcher than Dick Coffman.

Not that Coffman isn't a good pitcher. He's been worth his weight in world series tickets as a game saver, and already has come out of the bull-pen 41 times this year.

Terry, already more or less faded, if not belated, for his forthrightly admitted "flab" and was expelled from the managers' ideal because he has publicly intimated that he hasn't a hope of winning their third straight National League post-season.

Terry, already more or less faded, if not belated, for his forthrightly admitted "flab" and was expelled from the managers' ideal because he has publicly intimated that he hasn't a hope of winning their third straight National League post-season.

This was taken to mean that the colonel had given up, with still a month of the campaign to go. His colleagues, one of baseball's most important tenets, which provides that a pilot must talk through his hat right to the last day of the season, giving his team at least a fighting chance to bring the leaders to heel.

Terry even has expanded upon his view of the lost cause, saying that he only hoped his Giants would make a good enough showing down the back stretch to keep the paying customers coming to the Polo Grounds and further fatten an already successful financial season.

Since Carl Hubbell won his last game on August 13, five days before he went to the sidelines for the rest of the season, only three starters have gone the route, Bill Lobman, Hal Schumacher and Harry Gumbert. Gumbert was beaten 6-3 yesterday by the Red Sox.

Pie Traynor definitely had his boys on the up-beat yesterday, when they handed the Dodgers a 10-1 trimming that was all over after the third inning, when Pittsburgh was leading by 8-1.

The Yankees, meanwhile, pulled another full boat length out front of the American League's seven-team second division. Lefty Gomez's fifteenth victory and sixth in a row, coupled with Tom Henrich's 19th homer and fifth in three games, beat the Browns, 8-4. Since Boston meanwhile was taking a 15-1 shelling from the Tigers and Cleveland was beaten, 6-4, by Washington, the Yanks went 14 games up on the Red Sox.

The Bees, Cardinals, Phillies and Cubs in the National League, and the White Sox and the Athletics in the American were not scheduled.

Texas League's Top Division Clubs Win

Four top division clubs in the Texas League, eyes on co-contenders for the Shaughnessy playoff scheduled after the regular season ends Sept. 11, had fresh wins under their belts today as they moved over for new series.

League leading Beaumont walked Dallas 8-4 yesterday. Tula beat Shreveport 5-2 while second place San Antonio, host to tonight to the fourth place Oklahoma City Indians, pared claws of the Fort Worth Cats 9-7 and 9-1 in a double bill.

The Indians sharpened their fly in the Bendix dash on cruise 2,000 miles without refueling in the wing-to-wing tanks and the he observed, carries great military significance.

"We have learned, from the wars in Spain and China," Severesky said, "that bombardment craft are vulnerable to attack from the air unless properly convoyed. So the big flying fortresses that cruise 2,000 miles must be accompanied by pursuit ships that can go equally as far non-stop.

Severesky admitted he went "something more than 900 miles an hour" and "Jacky" will have to prove how fast the plane really is in her Bendix flight.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Curtis had as their guests this week Mrs. Curtis' father, W. O. Jones of Abilene, and her sister and husband, the Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Dean of Blackwell.

Local Man's Father Succumbs While On Trip To His Home

Stricken with a heart ailment as he was on his way home from a visit in Big Spring, Thomas Jefferson Burtson, 75, died unexpectedly Monday afternoon at Fredericksburg. He had left earlier in the day for his home in Houston, accompanied by his wife and other relatives.

Mr. Burtson was the father of E. W. Burtson of Big Spring, whom he had been visiting since April. The body was being returned here for burial. Funeral arrangements, under direction of the Eberley funeral home, had not been completed.

Besides the widow and the son here, Mr. Burtson is survived by three daughters, Mrs. O. G. Denton of Knott; Mrs. Joe Crews of Mississippi and Mrs. Earl Walters of Galena Park, Tex.; five other sons, E. R. Burtson of Pasadena, Tex.; M. R. and T. J. Burtson of Galena Park; Lois Burtson of Las Cruces, N. M.; and Ernest Burtson of Phoenix, Ariz. Also surviving are 17 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Bettie, Lubbock, are visiting here with their daughter, Mrs. Seary Whaley, and Mr. Whaley. Bettie was for years roadmaster for this division with the T. & P. but retired recently. The family moved to Lubbock so that Clayton Bettie, a son, could enter Texas Tech.

Mrs. Carl Merrick left Tuesday for Mount Pleasant to spend the remainder of the week visiting.

Mrs. Felton Underwood of Rising Star met Mrs. Alton Underwood in Abilene at a family reunion over the weekend and returned to Big Spring with her for a visit.

The estimated value of hogs produced in North Carolina increased from $9,145,000 in 1932 to $22,805,000 in 1933.

Crude Production Shows A Decline

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 30 (AP)—The production of crude oil in all the fields of the United States declined 1,977 barrels daily to an average of 3,395,059 for the week ending Aug. 27, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

Oklahoma had a drop of 6,200 barrels daily and an average of 437,050, East Texas increased 411 barrels daily to 441,200 and the total state of Texas was up 1,600 barrels daily to 1,395,147.

Louisiana's output increased 6,225 barrels daily to 287,200, California registered a drop of 8,050 to 675,200 and Kansas output was off 2,700 barrels daily to 165,375.

BRITISHER DELAYS HIS SPEED RUN

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS Utah, Aug. 30 (AP)—John Cobb, wealthy fur broker from London who dashes across land at daring speeds because he likes it, sped his racing car over this white course twice today, but postponed an assault on the world's land speed record.

Cobb piloted his new creation "Rallton," over the 13-mile straightaway twice, then declared further tests were necessary before he officially seeks the record established here last Saturday by another Englishman, lean Captain George E. T. Eyston.

Unofficially times at approximately 300 miles per hour on the outward run and at approximately 325 miles per hour on the backward trip, Cobb was far below Eyston's mark of 245.49 miles per hour.

WANTS RESTRICTION ON CONTRIBUTIONS BY GOVT. WORKERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) said today he would ask the senate campaign expenditures committee to support formally his contention that government workers can not make even voluntary political contributions.

He recommended also that the committee enumerate the policy-making federal officials who it has ruled may discuss publicly the relation of those policies to congressional candidates.

As for non-policy-making employees, Sheppard expressed the belief that "they are working for the people and they ought not to throw their weight one way or another." Sheppard found himself in conflict with Secretary Morgenthau and the civil service commission on his interpretation of the criminal statutes covering contributions to political campaigns by federal workers.

He read the law to mean that federally-paid workers could not contribute, as by that act they would be "conniving" at a violation of the law and would become principals in such violation.

Quebec Pushes Reforestation

QUEBEC (UP)—The Quebec government is planting thousands of spruce, pine and maple trees throughout the province in a giant reforestation scheme. Last year nurseries produced more than 2,600,000 trees, and forestry workers employed by the government planted them over 21,954 acres.

McFARLANE CLAIMS GOP'S BEAT HIM

GRAHAM, Aug. 30 (UP)—Representative W. D. McFarlane charged today 5300 republicans voted in last Saturday's democratic election to defeat him for re-election from the 12th Texas congressional district.

McFarlane, an ardent supporter of President Roosevelt, was defeated by Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls by 2,197 votes. A total of 96,579 ballots were cast in the 15-county district.

The congressman charged there was a nationwide effort on the part of the republican party to "smear the new deal" everywhere an ardent supporter of President Roosevelt is or has been a candidate for re-election.

NAVY WILL ASK FOR ADDITIONAL FUNDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Admiral William D. Leahy said today after conferring with President Roosevelt the navy expected to ask congress for a $200,000,000 increase in funds.

This year's regular naval appropriation was $546,866,494. The $200,000,000 presumably would be in addition to the regular appropriation, not counting the special items.

The increase, Leahy said, was due almost entirely to the added cost of carrying forward the billion-dollar fleet expansion program which congress approved this year.

The admiral said earlier that after the navy's present building program is completed the fleet should be adequate to protect the country against any foreign naval force now contemplated.

Chinatown Keeps Tradition

SAN FRANCISCO, (UP)—Chinatown refused the dying request of one of its greatest men, Chin Lahn, 69-year-old director of the Chinese Six Companies. He had asked for a simple American funeral. Instead, the colony gave him a Chinese funeral, with Buddhist mourners, 30 cars and one band more than at his wife's funeral three months previous.

FINANCIAL WIZARDRY

Can it be that the financial ideas of economists of the past were all wrong, that from Adam Smith on down through Alexander Hamilton and the secretaries of the Treasury for United States who followed him, including Andrew Mellon, they were dealing in error instead of fact?

They must have been wrong, else the financial policy that is being followed today is a tragic error which will presently begin to plague us.

Those people who are solicitous of the future of their children and grandchildren, who fear we are piling up a debt against them that will overburden them, may well wonder at the operation of the federal old age assistance act, as it is now being administered.

Employers and their employees are paying into this fund a periodically increasing percentage of their pay rolls and earnings. Theoretically this is to be placed in trust in the federal treasury until 1980 there will be a fund of 50 billion dollars.

But in fact this money is not being placed in trust. It is being paid to the treasury and the treasury is using it to pay out into the treasury the government and replacing it with interest bearing notes, government IOU papers.

Because of this flow of millions into the treasury the government has not been borrowing from banks and corporations and individuals recently by issuing and selling bonds.

These loans which the government is making to itself will have to be repaid eventually by tax money—the only source of revenue the government, any government, has.

Washington Daybook

While Preston Greover is on vacation, persons prominent in the official and political life of the nation and in journalism are conducting the Daybook. Today's guest column is written by CHARLES EDISON.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy (Guest Columnist for Preston Greover).

WASHINGTON—The expenditure of any public money is a responsibility. When the amount involved reaches $50,000,000 the responsibility is definitely great. But when the $50,000,000 or more is to be used to purchase a battleship there is a dual responsibility—first to see that the public gets a dollar's worth of ship for each dollar of the purchase price, and second, to be certain that the battleship purchased has all the desirable characteristics to make it of maximum usefulness in the defense of our country throughout its 16 or more years of service.

This responsibility is divided. The general board, composed of experienced flag officers, determines the characteristics which include tonnage, armament, cruising radius, speed, vulnerability, etc. The technical bureau study the general board characteristics, work up general and detailed specifications, provide plans and conduct various tests in the model basins, at the boiler and other laboratories, at the naval experimental station in ordnance plants and in outside commercial plants. This work crystallizes in the form of plans and specifications which are furnished the prospective bidders several months in advance of bid openings, to enable them to make proper estimates.

In actual buying of a battleship the basic law which governs is the Vinson-Trammell act of March 27, 1934. In any contract in excess of $10,000, this law provides for reports in detail to the Secretary of the Navy on costs and for payment into the Treasury of profits in excess of 10 per cent of the contract price. It further provides against subdivision to avoid the restrictions of the act. The act was amended June 24, 1936, to allow the losses of one year to be carried over for the next succeeding income taxable year in determining excess profit, if any.

In addition to the Vinson-Trammell act, there are incorporated in all building contracts the provisions of the Walsh-Healey act of June 20, 1936, which specifies prevailing wage rates and overtime wages for more than 40 hour work a week be paid by the contractor. The Bacon-Davis act makes similar wage and hour provisions for labor on the government's own work.

Then still further acts and restrictions, such as Buy-American provisions and restrictions as to awards to lowest bidders, complicate the problem for both the Navy Department and the contractor who is awarded the contract for a battleship.

MAKING it attractive 12 per cent, while the law limits profit to 10 per cent, no provision is made to protect the contractor against an excessive loss. Taking into consideration the fact that the shipbuilders are entering a field that has lain dormant for approximately 20 years, that their plants are not completely equipped for building battleships, that labor and material costs cannot be accurately predicted over the four-year building period, their reluctance to become a party to such a large contract can well be appreciated.

To offset some of the risk involved, the Department has provided for increase in the contract price when and if the costs of labor and materials rise to such an extent as to be reflected in the Department of Labor indices during the building period. Steps have also been taken to reduce all possible changes during the building period.

The Navy at the present time may be regarded as the greatest shipbuilding concern in the world. It is the desire of the Navy Department to distribute this work between the Navy yards and private shipbuilding industry on an equitable basis. Private industry will play a major role in the winning of any war and must be kept alive and healthy.

The problem is to make government business attractive enough for private industry to compete without the feeling that there is no compensation for the risks involved and the additional administrative details required, and at the same time fully protect the government's interest. It is a very real and complicated problem but not incapable of solution.

The Effects of Liquor Cannot Be Repealed

By Major Thomas MacLeod: Out of my experience in investigations into the cause of air accidents, I have come to believe that the first essential in making air travel safer for the pilot and his passengers is to follow the example of such world-famous aviators as Col. Lindbergh and Amelia Earhart and leave beverage alcohol severely alone.

Many of the railroads have a rule that their engine drivers must not take alcoholic liquor. The same applies to many road transport concerns. In Great Britain, most of the municipal and public motor conveyances on the roads are under an absolute and definite rule of total abstinence for drivers and conductors while on duty, and accidents in which these vehicles are involved form a very small portion of the total road accidents. I have found that some of the makers

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—"A tie-ke... a task... a green and yellow basket.... If I don't quit singing this I'm going crazy. It's been running through my mind for days. They've been swinging hymns for months, and now they're after Mother Goose rhymes. Is nothing sacred?"

New York seems different today. It must be the weather. It smells like October but it's only August. New York paces itself to a faster tempo in cooler weather. The empty theaters shake off that fey look. People are working inside. Scenic designers are building new sets. Directors are trying not to lose patience with backward actors ("Dear boy, do it my way")

The sidewalk cafes prepare for a last stretch of Indian summer. Then the awnings and the brightly covered canopies come down. Ice skates and ski toggery crowd into Fifth avenue shop windows. Buyers lay in enormous quantities of Thanksgiving, Halloween, and Christmas confections. People on the street look that jaded look. The bay gets choppy with the freshened breeze.

Only the pigeons and the gulls are unchanged. All New York responds to this imperceptible difference—but they give no indication of a changing season. Funny birds, gulls and pigeons. They thrive here. There are millions of them. No one pays them any heed.

You see less white linens now. You see more dinner jackets in the evening. The ticket brokers are beginning to open shop. The hack drivers are happier. They will freeze when winter comes, but they'll have more, and longer fares. The hack drivers argue half ball violently. They are a raucous cab at times. They make the most terrifying faces you can imagine—at one another. But they seldom come to blows.

The Faithful who trudge around the reservoir in Central Park every day have a more brisk step. Chefs spend less time on salads, more time on meats. Bar drinks take on that red hue, and the glasses are less frosted. Pretty soon the world series will be here, and football. Then, some fine nippy morning the first chestnut vendor, with his charcoal burner, will take up his stand by the subway station, and the long, cold haul will have come to New York.

That's the infallible sign here. In your town it may be the cry of a wild goose, or the brittle snap of celery. But in New York it's the chestnut vendor who officially brings in the season.

Let'er rip. Let'er rip. Let'er rip. It's been a fine summer. Hot, hot, hot. It's been a pretty good summer. On occasion the fish hit with greedy enthusiasm. I had a fine trip up to the Sacandaga. I had a fine trip to Connecticut. I had a dream of a trip to New Orleans.

Ready for winter now and New York. From now till February is the best time to be in New York. More excitement. More new plays. More people come home with intriguing tales of wandering. Less malaise. More genuinely ruddy complexions. Everybody feeling alive.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Hines John (real) Garfield is one of the few real star "finds" of the year, a few further observations than those I made in a recent column should not be amiss:

His second picture (after "Four Daughters" in which he is successfully introduced) is "Blackwell's Island." He took the role of the crusading reporter because he liked the script—but in production the role became something else again. It is not the type he means when he speaks of his determination to do only "important" pictures.

In those "important" pictures he says he will be content to play any role no matter how unimportant—as long as it gives him a chance to act.

Despite his youth—he's 26 now—he was one of the most important factors in holding together New York's Group Theatre where the something-to-say plays of Clifford Odets, among others, were produced. Call him a "Red" even in jest and he'll counter with "No, a Liberal."

One of the things he plans to do with his movie youth—which is less than it could be because he demanded the right to go back to the stage when he pleases—is to produce "good plays I have faith in when no one else has."

He says he is a little sad about losing his name of Jules in the movies. He wouldn't accept the first explanation, the name-changer's name. They said Jules might sound too "French-to-foreign."

He said, "come clean—it's because it sounds Semitic, isn't it?" They said "Yeah." It made him a "little sad."

You may not agree with his ideas but you have to admire his steadfast, shining idealism. He is no soap-box orator. He says "I believe in these things" and you know he does believe in those things. He is sincere—and it shows in his acting.

His idol is Paul Muni—and on the screen he looks like a youthful composite of Muni, Edward G. Robinson, George Raft, better-looking than any of them but far from conventionally handsome.

Idealist, All Right John and Franchot Tone (both alumni of the Group) may be in a Group play together this next season. They've never met before. Tone came to Hollywood before Garfield went with the Group.

Garfield's devotion to Angelo Patri, the educator who "rescued" him—John is sure—from his Dead End environment and inclinations, is like that of son to father. "I am proud to know him," John says.

His role in "Four Daughters" is that of a weakling. Garfield gives a strong performance of a weakling—so that you know every thought, every impulse, every shading of the fellow's character.

His philosophy: "The only reason for living that I can see is to leave the world a better place, to try to make the lives of other people a little happier than when you came in."

He says he won't answer fan mail. He's too busy learning to act. (But maybe he'll learn that fan mail is important.) If he keeps on as he has started—and he should—either "the Group" or Garfield is going to get rich. From what I've seen of him so far I'll say it's going to be "the Group."

AIRPLANES USED TO SPREAD WORM POISON

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., Aug. 30 (AP)—Aerial warfare has been declared in the cotton producing counties of southeast Missouri against the cotton leaf worm which has been making serious inroads on this year's crop.

At least a dozen airplanes, manned by pilots experienced in "busted" cotton with poisonous powder, are in the service in the ten counties in Missouri's cotton area, and today farm agents reported the advance of the cotton worm had been checked.

senate, opposed the court bill and various other administration proposals. He declared, however, he had supported more than 80 per cent of the President's program. The outcome was being watched by politicians for its possible relationship to next month's primaries in nearby Georgia and Maryland, where the President openly advocated the defeat of Senators George and Tydings. In California, the President's policies did not provide so clear-cut an issue, for a $30-a-week pension proposal was the subject of much campaign debate.
