JUST T-H-I-N-G-S THAT HAPPEN OR CAN HAPPEN IN THE TOWN WE CALL HOME-TOWN

Hundreds of Lamb County Irrigation motors are silent and standing ghostlike for the past week, but this week another hundreds of tractor motors let out a roar and again went into operation on the irrigated lands re-planting cotton washed out or silt-submerged by the recent flooding rains. At least a thousand others have or will go into operation pulling planters over the dry-land acres of Lamb County, that have bright prospects for producing their biggest crop in history. What we really need, according to the County Agent's office is some kind of an all-mechanical device, which, with one stroke, would eliminate both profuse weed growth—and bug and worm infestation, both of which will be especially prolific this year—if these experts can be believed—and they can.

Maybe in singing the praises of the athletic heroes and their deeds and their winnings in our local schools, rightly, of course, we have failed to pay enough attention to those who have succeeded or have done or are doing big semi-related to school work. That goes for the majority of us, we fear, because it is so easy here to Littlefield to do just that, in view of the success and repeated successes of our football aggregation, the Wildcats. At the moment, while fresh in our thoughts, there have been some few individuals, (Continued on back Page)

Brother of Wm. J. Aldridge Passes Away At Houston

A. Q. Aldridge, 70, of Houston, brother of Wm. J. Aldridge of Fieldton and formerly of Littlefield, passed away Thursday night about 8 o'clock following an illness of about a year's duration.

Mr. Aldridge received the message the same night and left by plane Friday to attend funeral services, which were conducted at the Baptist Church, Clearwater, in East Texas, to which place the remains were taken for burial.

Services were conducted Saturday afternoon, with burial in Clearwater Cemetery.

Mr. Aldridge will return home Sunday.

Deceased had been a resident of Clearwater for many years, and moved to Houston in 1933.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Aldridge had visited Mr. Aldridge's brother in February last.

Besides Mr. Aldridge of Fieldton, deceased left surviving three other brothers, D. O. Aldridge of Scroggins, Texas; J. V. Aldridge of Dallas and F. L. Aldridge of Houston and a sister, Mrs. Lovice Bridges of Houston.

So successful has the Littlefield Youth Summer Recreation program, inaugurated only a few years back and sponsored by the Community Chest, been adjudged locally, that this year a ten week program will be inaugurated, instead of the 8-week program, as in the past years.

The program will get underway Monday, June 4th and continue through August 15, at which closing time numerous awards will be made to those who have proven most efficient, winners, in the various sports and game activities.

The additional two weeks was added to the program, for several reasons, one of which was the fact that some children did not enroll previously, because of the fact that alone, or with parents, they had already planned vacation trips for a week or a month, which would break into their attendance at the Youth program. The added time will make it more easily possible for these to enroll at the opening, be away for a period, then upon return home, again take up and get the benefit of several weeks of the body-building and play program.

You and Your Congress

Congress sometimes finds itself in peculiar situations. It is in one now.

Here's the picture: Last summer, after the fighting in Korea began, prices of most things started to rise.

When that rise had continued for several weeks, many people throughout the land became price-conscious—especially housewives who were juggling grocery budgets. A fear of run-away prices began to build up.

Presently Congress was flooded with letters demanding price controls.

Congress knew what the public wanted—or at least what many voters were asking for—and provided it.

The House and Senate voted price controls, accompanied by wage controls—with both on a stand-by basis, to be used when the President desired.

This was done in September with the Defense Production Act (DPA). The DPA also provided controls for converting industrial facilities and materials usage from civilian output to defense production.

Not exactly sure of itself, Congress finally put an expiration date of June 30, 1951, on the DPA.

This, it was decided, would give the Act time for a trial run.

Then its performance would be checked and a decision made as to whether it should be allowed to continue, stopped, or have its course changed.

Now June 30, 1951, is starting Congress in the face.

And Congress finds itself able to assess only part of that trial run.

It can determine pretty well how the production controls have worked.

These affect business principally and business has not been backward in expressing its opinions. But the other part of the DPA—the economic controls—affects the public, as well as business, directly.

And, in sharp contrast to last Summer with its deluge of mail, Congress isn't hearing from the public. At present, mail from constituents on price controls is a mere trickle.

Court Ruling Scotches Fair Trade Law

Without actually outlawing "fair trade" statutes in principle, the U. S. Supreme Court has struck a blow at the heart of the fair trading system as it exists in the laws of 45 states. It has done so by declaring illegal the thing which makes these price-fixing laws effective, by pulling the pin holding together the machinery which makes the laws easily enforceable. This is the provision that a manufacturer can fix the retail price at which a trademarked article can be sold throughout a state by a contract binding a single retailer in that state. Whenever one retailer signs such a contract, under these laws, every other retailer in the state is required to abide by it.

Fair trade laws have been in existence in most of the states since the depression thirties. They apparently were given federal sanction by the Miller-Tydings act of 1937, which made them a special exception to the Sherman anti-trust law, although this legislation did not specifically approve the non-signer provision. With what we regard as an unsatisfactory result, the Supreme Court's majority opinion said of the price-fixing arrangement under these laws:

"If a distributor and one or more retailers want to agree, combine or conspire to fix a minimum price, they can do it if the state law permits. When they seek, however, to impose price fixing on persons who have not contracted or agreed to the scheme, the situation is vastly different. That is no price fixing by contract or agreement; that is price fixing by compulsion. . . . That is resort to coercion."

Fair trade proponents long have contended that the legislation is necessary to prevent cut-throat competition which tends to drive small retailers out of business and promote monopoly. They term such laws price stabilization instead of price fixing. Regardless of the arguments as to the economic effect of such laws or the lack of them, we always have regarded as wrong in principle any attempt to bind one retailer to contract signed by another. It has seemed to us violative of the right of a person to contract or not to contract, as he sees fit.

The Supreme Court decision now apparently returns fair trade laws to their status in 1931, when the first one was enacted with the provision that a manufacturer could set retail prices only by individual dealers. This undoubtedly will cause considerable disruption of practices in the 45 fair trade states.

Texas will escape any disturbing effects. Although fair trade legislation has been a hardy perennial in the Texas Legislature, this state is one of the three—the others are Missouri and Vermont—which have kept free of it.

Every farmer who wants to farm is given a square deal when the acreage allotments are reimposed. He said this will be possible only if there are adequate and accurate records. The allotments are tied in with the government's price support program for crops. When Uncle undertakes to guarantee the grower a minimum return on a commodity—usually through a loan program in which the crop is put up as security—he says how much land may be planted. Textile Makers Under Ceilings Stabilization is necessary to help preserve the freedom and human dignity and opportunity for advancement that we mean when we speak of the "pursuit of happiness," declared Michael V. DeSalle, Director of Price Stabilization in a statement before the House Banking and Currency Committee.

Stabilization is necessary while the nation is engaged in the huge task of building up its armament and productive capacity to insure military security. Stabilization is necessary to protect the American people from a runaway inflation that would destroy the value of their income and their savings. I do not need to stress the international risks we face if we fail to take the steps essential to our national security and welfare. That is why we are engaged in our defense program. The people have voluntarily accepted government controls, although inherent in the American tradition of individual freedoms that our people dislike such controls.

The defense program will be impaired if we fail to hold the price level. From now on the inflationary forces will grow out of hard economic facts. By the end of this calendar year, military production will take 15 per cent of the national product and a year from now it will require nearly 20 per cent. We must give assurance through price stabilization, that if the American people must defer their legitimate ambitions for a rising standard of living, they will not be penalized by inflation." The Price Stabilization Director stated.

Textile Under Ceilings
The Lubbock District Office of Price Stabilization advises that textile manufacturers have been put under a new ceiling price regulation, effective May 28. Because the new ceiling will be based on a period of usual business activity, they will restore pre-Korean margins to the textile industry, the OPS District Office said. "Thus they will relieve any manufacturer whose prices in January were too low and, at the same time, they will protect consumers from the unjustifiably high prices charged in some cases in the first six months of the Korean fighting."

Soybean Ceiling Price Verified
The Office of Price Stabilization has issued an amendment to its ceiling price regulation of soybeans to clarify the ceiling price at the farm level, the Lubbock OPS District Office advises.

The amendment specifies that the farm level price is the elevator ceiling price, less the cost of transporting soybeans from the farm to the elevator. If a producer delivers his own soybeans to the nearest country elevator or any other elevator there is no transportation deduction. But if a trucker-merchant or country shipper receives the soybeans at the farm, he is required to make a transportation deduction of three cents a bushel plus the deduction for the uniform grain storage charge from the ceiling price at the country elevator.

Transportation allowances for truckers are also set up.

The truckers allowance is 3 cents a mile per 100 pounds for the first five miles plus a cent per 100 pounds for each additional five miles or part thereof up to 100 miles. Over 100 miles the transportation allowance is the lowest local carload rail rate for soybeans from the point of origin to the rail point nearest the point of destination plus the eight cents.

Beef Price Facts
The Lubbock OPS District Office states that by requiring posting by June 4 of the ceiling prices of beef in retail stores, the new OPS regulation gives housewives an easy way to be sure that the price she is asked to pay is not higher than the ceiling price.

In every retail store ceiling prices must be posted where all customers can see them not later than June 4. As a further protection Traveling under the sponsorship of the economic cooperation administration (ECA), they will be accompanied by two French interpreters and Vernon Green, project manager of the ECA's productivity assistance division.

Robert A. Nesbitt, Washington representative of the Galveston Chamber of Commerce, convinced ECA officials the Frenchmen would enjoy a week-end on the Galveston beach as a break in their hurried trip about the U. S. A.

Landings of fisher products at Texas ports during March amounted to 3,209,932 pounds, according to the Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service. This was far ahead of the 1,771,278 pounds for the same month of 1950.

Receipts of shrimp were 3,006,682 pounds. In 1950, they totaled 1,514,166 pounds.

The total catch of finfish—such as drum, trout and red fish, totaled 181,134 pounds in March. This was 33 percent below the March 1950 catch.

IT NEVER FAILS

OPS Lists Firms Exempt From Price Control

The sale of newspapers, books and periodicals is exempt from price control, as is also the sale of printed matter whose value depends on the ideas or information it contains.

The interpretation regarding printed matter under the Office of Price Stabilization regulations has been received by Lubbock district price officials.

Further details of the interpretation are: "Excepted also are all sales of paper products and services by any printer whose sales do not exceed $50,000 a year."

"In writing the Defense Production Act of 1950, Congress specifically exempted newspapers, books and periodicals from price control. Later, the Office of Price Stabilization spelled out the additional exceptions.

"In Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 8, OPS set forth the $50,000 exception, also it excepts the sale of certain printed matter, including pamphlets, leaflets, sheet music, music rolls, stamp albums, globes, maps, charts, catalogs, directories, programs, house organs, menus, advertising matter printed on paper, time tables, tariffs and price lists. Not exempt, though, are articles such as containers, labels and book matches, which serve a purpose other than advertising.

"In granting these exceptions, OPS pointed out that the printing industry is characterized by a large number of small firms which tion to the housewife, the regulations provide that beef of different grades shall be displayed in different trays, and that each tray compete keenly among themselves, shall be tagged with the ceiling price. Therefore, these exceptions are not expected to result in any inflationary price increases.

"In line with this policy is Supplementary Regulation 3 to CPR 22—the manufacturer's regulation. CPR 22 allows manufacturers whose gross annual sales are less than $250,000 to remain under the general ceiling price regulation if they so desire. Under SP 3 to CPR 22, a manufacturer, in computing his sales to see whether he comes under CPR 22, may exclude sales on newspapers, books, periodicals and printed matter of the kind described."

The first pitch in American history was a ball. The pitch was called a strike.

THOUSAND FOREIGN YOUTHS STUDYING IN UNITED STATES

More than 50 from 32 different countries, are at S. M. U. The University gives scholarships to 18 and the government provides funds for others. Social and civic organizations are helping to provide living expenses and scholarships to many.

Many of the students have spent the better part of their lives in terror and confusion.

Enzo's two brothers were killed while officers in the German army. Julius Wolkow is studying to be an American Engineer.

He watched the Communist police in White Russia take his father away to a Siberian prison.

Six years later, the invading Nazis took Julius to Germany as a slave laborer.

After the war, he escaped to the American zone of occupied Germany and finally got a passport to the United States.

Hee Lin was in Malaya when the Japanese invaded the British colony. He saw the Japanese burn and kill his neighbors and burn their villages.

After the war, Communism became powerful in Malaya. When Lin left for America in 1949, once peaceful people were again fighting each other.

Lin is Chinese by race, Malayan by citizenship. A sophomore at S. M. U., he is studying mechanical engineering.

Walter Eller, 27, is a Frenchman who can speak five languages. He was born in Dallas of French parents but was taken to France before he was two years old.

He escaped the Nazi occupation in 1940, fled through Spain to North Africa and joined the French Army.

When he was 16 he became an anti-aircraft gunner. He was in combat for the last five months of the war. He never thought Germany could lose.

The news of Hitler's death was the greatest shock of Willy's life, he says.

After spending three months in a prison camp, he went back to high school and was graduated in 1947. After that he studied at Bonn University in Germany and Manchester University in England. He has been in Texas almost a year.

According to Willy, the big problem in Germany is not Communism or Socialism.

"The German people," says Willy, have had enough extreme movements.

The problem today is indifference and skepticism. Many Germans are utterly disillusioned," Willy hopes for a unified Europe.

"It will give the people something new to live for," he said.

Proposed Income Tax Increases May Be Eased For "Little Man"

Your tax increase may not be so stiff after all.

Members of the tax-framing House Ways and Means committee said they plan to reconsider, perhaps today, their previous tentative decision to raise personal income taxes three percentage points in each tax bracket.

Some Democrats said they believe this increase would be too hard on what they choose to call "the little fellow." That, generally speaking, applies to the man who makes less than $5,000 or $6,000 a year.

May Lower Scale

The projected increase may be scaled down so that the increase is only two or two and one-half points on taxpayers in the lower brackets.

There was talk, too, of another plan to levy an increase of 12 1-2 per cent on the present taxes paid by everyone. This would mean a smaller increase for those earning less than $6,000 a year than would be effective with a straight three percentage point increase. In effect, it would scale down the tax hike to about two and one-half points on those persons, while taking a bigger bite from those in the upper brackets.

Under present law, the man who has a taxable income of less than $2,000 pays a tax of 20 per cent. Taxable income is that portion of income remaining after allowances have been made for deductions and exemptions.

Rates Are Listed

The follow in the second tax bracket—$2,000 to $4,000 of taxable income—now pays 22 per cent and the man in the $4,000 to $6,000 bracket 26 per cent. The top rate now is 91 per cent on taxable income of more than $200,000.

The original tentative decision of the committee to raise the tax rate a straight three points in each bracket was on a 13 to 12 vote. At least two Democrats indicated that they were prepared to change their vote, provided something more acceptable than the three-point increase could be agreed upon.

The three-point increase would yield the government an estimated $2.9 billion a year in additional children, however, it is a different matter.

"The children from the age of six on are given military training exactly as we were under Hitler," he said.

Willy would like to stay in Texas, but he must return by August.

Back in Germany, he probably will teach.

revenue. The committee, in tentatively approving this and other changes in the present tax law, would raise a total of $6,467,000,000 in additional revenue.

HST Asks Increase President Truman asked for an overall increase of $10 billion.

One key Democrat, who asked that his name be withheld, said that he would propose a change in the excess profits tax on corporations to get more revenue.

The committee has tentatively agreed that the income tax hike become effective September 1 and the corporation tax boost retroactive to January 1.

Experience Teaches Valuable Lessons

Mrs. Lula Nelson, 1702 E. 63rd St., Los Angeles, Calif., is the very young mother of seven children. The youngest child is two years old and the oldest is 11. The two youngest children are pictured here with Mrs. Nelson, Murleen, the two-year-old, and Richard, who is three years of age. Now, there is probably very little about raising children that Mrs. Nelson doesn't know. Experience has taught her how to safeguard the well-being of her youngsters. And her experience with today's great family formula, HADACOL, has also taught her something valuable, for Mrs. Nelson had been having annoying aches and pains, didn't rest well and felt run-down. She heard how HADACOL was helping other folks who were suffering from a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin and began taking it. HADACOL helped her so much that now all the Nelson children are taking their HADACOL regularly, too.

Richard, Murleen, and Mrs. Nelson

Here is what Mrs. Nelson says about HADACOL:

"I was run-down, couldn't sleep at night, had aches and pains and with seven children to care for I couldn't get my work done. After three bottles of HADACOL I felt so much better I could do more work than ever before. I've been taking HADACOL ever since and feel so good. I now give it to my children and it has helped them, too."

Give HADACOL a Chance

To help you. If your system lacks these essential elements, you, too, will be amazed at the wonderful results HADACOL can bring you, as it has to thousands of other fine folks who suffered a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains. HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ, and every part of your body.

HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation — promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "risings" after meals), as well as that general run-down condition, and annoying aches and pains, if due to a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in your system.

HADACOL is so amazingly successful because if your system lacks Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin it acts directly to relieve this deficiency—the real cause of your trouble. That's the kind of product you want—the kind you should buy—the kind you should start taking immediately.

Only One Genuine HADACOL

Don't go through life suffering the miseries caused by such deficiencies when relief may be as close at hand as the nearest drug-store for sufferers from these deficiencies. Buy HADACOL today. Trial size bottle only $1.25. Large family economy size, $3.50. Refuse substitutes. There's only one true and genuine HADACOL.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

You've Got To Hand It To Sandy

Sandy Johnson's wife "Tiny" suddenly asks him at breakfast the other morning "Why don't you build me some bluebird houses?"

"What for?" asks Sandy. "Why for bluebirds, of course," says Tiny. "We always had 'em at home when I was a girl. May sound silly—but I sorta miss 'em."

Well, I know how busy Sandy's been lately and the thought of taking time out to build birdhouses could have made a lot of men blow their top. But not Sandy. He says, "No, Tiny. It doesn't sound silly. I think it's a wonderful idea—we're going to have bluebirds—and I'm starting on some birdhouses tonight."

From where I sit, we could do with more understanding people like Sandy—and Tiny, too. He respects her likings, and she respects his. He likes a temperate glass of beer now and then—and although Tiny sticks to coffee, whatever Sandy likes is O.K. with her. They live and let live—and that's why they live so happily.

with each year's new models, as makers equipped their products with various and sundry anti-backlash attachments.

But the two most important factors were still neglected. These were lightness of the reel and lightness of the spool.

Those two factors brought a relative newcomer to the tackle business into prominence as one of the leaders in the field and simultaneously turned the heads of other companies who had been in the business for years.

Today, practically every reel company has, or is planning, a light spooled type reel for its latest model. And the overall weight of the average reel has been cut almost in half.

The result of this competitive improvements is a new type of bait casting.

Without the inertia of a heavy spool to contend with, the fisherman can effortlessly lay out long wire lightness of the reel and stop quickly. And the ultra-light weight of his reel means a day of smooth, tireless fishing.

A light-spooled Aluminum reel on a new glass rod—is the rig fishermen have been dreaming about a long time.

Campus Summer School At West Texas State College To Be Available

By cooperative agreement between West Texas State College and the Canyon Independent School District, the Campus Summer School for elementary and high school age pupils will be available for all Panhandle students this summer.

A single term will be held for elementary age pupils beginning June 4 at 9 o'clock and continuing through July 13.

High school students may enroll for two terms, June 4 through July 13 and July 16 through August 24. Registration for both elementary and high school classes will be held June 4 in the Education building. Rex Reeves will be principal of the summer school with Dr. Ruth Lowes and Emmitt Smith, college consultants.

A stimulating program of activities has been planned for the Campus Elementary School. Well trained teachers will lead the children of the first four grade levels in an enriched program of extended education. The program in the upper elementary grades will be given to increased skill and interest in reading, spelling, language and arithmetic.

High school students in the Campus Summer School may earn as much as 1 1/2 units of state approved credit. Courses will be provided in any area for which there is a demand. High school students may live in the college dormitories upon application. All students may eat at the college cafeteria if they wish.

A supervise recreational program conducted by the Canyon Recreational Council is closely related in the planning of a Summer School program. Swimming, hiking, handicrafts, supervised games, story telling, The Children's Theatre, Saturday Talent Show and many other features will characterize the summer recreational program.

Further information may be secured from Mr. Rex Reeves, Box 312, Station 1, Canyon, Texas. Interested students are urged to contact Mr. Reeves immediately.

Summer terms for the Campus Summer School coincide with term dates of the two 6-week sessions of the college. Therefore, an opportunity is available for students whose parents will be attending West Texas State.

Flowers in Front Yard Fit Mood of Modern Homes

Differing from parterre planting of the nineties, modern doorway gardens emphasize beauty of the flowers, and not a pattern.

Homes, like those who live in them, have personalities. Those built in traditional architectural styles are dignified, and formal in appearance. Landscape architects used to tell us that planting in the front yards of these homes should be in harmony with this dignity. If planting could be compared to clothing, then the house should face the public in formal attire.

This sort of thinking put an end to flower beds in front yards. They were altogether too gay for their sedate background. Would you dress for the street, as for a garden party, or tennis game? Then grow your flowers in the back yard, where you could wear sports clothes, and romp around.

For front yards the fashion developed of planting evergreens around the high foundations which then prevailed, and this practice spread through the country, where formerly evergreens had usually been seen only in cemeteries.

A benefit of this fashion was that it made us familiar with the variety and beauty of evergreens, which are lovely in form and color, and green the year around, deserving of use in gardens wherever they are located.

But times change, and ideas with them. Traditional architectural styles have given way to functional design; millions of new homes have now been built without a thought of tradition. The attached garage, picture windows, breeze-way, and low spreading ranch house construction, produce a home unlike any traditional style since Babylon.

The principle on which modern architecture is based is that comfort and convenience in living are more important than a dignified, formal appearance to the passer-by. The house, you might say, takes off its frock coat and faces the world in a sports shirt, sometimes wearing shorts. What sort of front yard planting would be in harmony with that sort of atmosphere?

Surely, not the same formal, dignified treatment, that became commonplace in the last generation. Not a foundation planting for a house which has no visible foundation; not dignified sedateness, where the home expresses informality and comfort. Yet because fashions are often slow to change, many of these homes have been planted in an out-moded, unsuitable manner, or what is worse, have not been planted at all.

The solution of this problem which is rapidly being accepted, is the doorway garden. This restores to the front yard the flower beds and borders, which were there in the Victorian era.

Then, flowers were often used to work out elaborate designs in beds of geometric shapes. Modern doorway gardens are as simple as possible in design, in order to center attention upon the beauty of the flowers. These are grouped in masses of one color, so arranged that each mass harmonizes with and sets off the others, and all provide a pleasing decoration for the house.

The garden illustrated is a simple arrangement of border plantings for a small house where the walk leads from the private driveway to the front door. Both house and lot will be made to seem larger by this arrangement.

Effects of Poison Ivy Varies

Poison ivy infection varies according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Sometimes there is only a slight redness of the skin, at other times there will be aggravated swelling and blisters covering large areas of your skin. In mild cases the skin is covered with small blisters.

Poison ivy flourishes in the woods or in the open, in dry or moist locations and it is particularly abundant along fence rows, paths and roadways, often climbing posts and trees to considerable heights. While there are a great many plants which may irritate the skin of susceptible persons, most of the cases of plant dermatitis in Texas are caused by poison ivy.

It is impossible for the average person to learn to recognize all the plants which are known to be skin irritants but, many cases of plant poisoning could be prevented if the public would learn to recognize and avoid contact with poison ivy.

Dr. Cox gives these points to remember about poison ivy: (1) You can recognize it by its leaves, which are grouped in threes . . . two of the dark green leaves are on short stems and the center one is on a longer stem; (2) The plant appears as a low shrub, a vine hanging over fences or trees, or in a heavy thicket; (3) When you those others, who might be a bit overlooked or forgotten. This week a local businessman, spent of his own time and money to give a banquet to the Vocational Ag boys—a cheer for V. Peterson. Last week, George White staged a barbecue for Boy and Girl Scouts at Yellow House ranch—a cheer for George. A fine home for Girl Scouts stands adjacent to the Primary School—certainly Mancil Hall almost worked day and night for that—then there's the Boy Scout Troop and Guy Brown—the smaller Scout troop and Rev. Carter McKemy and Cox, who have led that group—the Wildcat Band and their wonderful leader, who works at it 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and 365 days in the year. This columnist can't think of them all, nor have we tried to, but let's also not forget Vernon Hofacket and his juvenile American Legion Baseball club. Worth thinking about... maybe you can find a program of your own.

About ten years ago, just like last week, the big rains came in Littlefield and just as happened last week, the Highway downtown flooded, the City Park lake filled up, and history repeated when West First street went under water and formed a lake. The next day, frogs, or I guess it was really toads, by the hundreds probably, by the thousands if the intensity of the toad singing could be the measure, and maybe it wasn't next day, but next night, anyway the toads came and they sang around both of those newly formed lakes. Well again, the toads are singing and maybe their singing isn't altogether just for the purpose of making a noise. Maybe toads sing when they are expecting "blessed events" in the toad population, because ten years ago after the lakes filled and after the toads sang around those lakes, suddenly and without notice or warning, countless thousands of toads, tiny baby toads, appeared almost from nowhere out of veritable thin air and they formed and had a parade, hop, hopping down Westside Avenue westward, as they started, a migration from the Park Lake to the First Street Lake. No it wasn't thousands, because it must have been millions of them. Kids picked them up in pails by the dozens and cars squashed hundreds more of the little toads as for a week or more, day and night they hopped their way along the avenue of pavement near the school. Well, we also recall that farmers, were also worried about the bug infestation sure to come and come it did, only it wasn't as bad as was expected. Something happened—maybe the toads and their bug appetite are really the balance wheel that keeps us all from being starved out by the bugs. It will be interesting to see if a new millions crop of toads will again follow this year's rain—and do bugs, rain and toads come in, say, about 10 year cycles.

There are dozens of Littlefield young folks and a lot of older ones too, who enjoy the game of tennis, but a lot of the cant or don't enjoy it, for the simple reason that Littlefield hasn't provided a courts on which they can play. Only one court has ever been provided; it is at the school grounds and during spring and summer, as well as in fall, it is not unusual, to see dozen or two with rackets, standing on the sidelines, hoping waiting for a chance to play. If some civic organization or even some

Summer Youth

Gene McCantles will direct the program this year and will be assisted by Ann Owens, who will be in charge of the girls activities. Garland Thornton, Jackie Beckner and Gary Pass, have volunteered as student helpers and girl student helpers will be named before the program starts.

The play program will start each morning at 8:00 and end at 11:30 a. m. Also planned is an afternoon of soft ball competitions for boys and girls. There will be special instruction in swimming. In addition to swimming, basketball, football, softball and other sports, there individual wants to do his town, his community, his school a good turn—wants to possibly produce a winning Wildcat championship tennis single, pair or team, as we have in football, maybe the opportunity to do so—with a knuckle tap on the tennis equipment and field provision is the opportunity which still remains open. A half dozen tennis courts wouldn't be if a new million crop of toads will be used in or ten months in the year, compared with the short seasons for most other sports.

not be overlooked and it does designed for smaller children.

The program is designed and carried out, more as a fun and recreation project, but the advantages to health and education, cannot be overlooked and it does develop a youth community spirit and lessen the likelihood of juvenile delinquency.

It is hoped that a large class will enroll at the opening, Monday morning June 4. Children need only to have completed the first grade of school to be eligible for enrollment. Last year about 200 were enrolled.

Only light equipment is needed, but the following list of personal equipment for each child is a requirement: gymnasium trunks, tennis shoes, swimming trunks and towel. The latter item is emphasized, as a through drying and rub-down after swimming is insisted upon for each young swimmer as a safeguard against catching cold.

base in a rural area, in mid-afternoon.

Lubbock Weather Bureau reported observing a funnel which traversed along the ground for a few moments, then lifted. It struck out of towering thunderheads, which had built up in the area.

No damage was reported but Highway patrol and sheriff's deputies made a careful check of the area.

The tornado which struck at Olney last week and killed two and injured a hundred or more, is reported to have done more than a million and a half dollars in damage and relief work is being carried on, with Red Cross in charge. Olney east of Seymour is more than 200 miles from Littlefield. The parents of Vernon Eagan, manager of Yellow House gin, live at Olney and when word of the tornado came in on the radio, Mr. and Mrs. Eagan, in the absence of direct word from his parents, rushed to the stricken city, but found his parents and their home unharmed.

"Dad" Botsford, who manages Botsford Grocery near Littlefield, who has a daughter, Mrs. Marie Butterfield, and four children, who lives at Olney, was also worried and he left immediately for the tornado stricken town and remained for several days. He reported that his daughter saw the funnel shape cloud several minutes before it struck. Her children were all in school and she got in her automobile and started driving. When she returned home a few minutes later, she found her home to be in ruins. Mr. Botsford said the Red Cross were doing a wonderful job down there in caring for the people. He said he donated $100.00 to the cause.

Rev. Ingram has announced that Parkview's Vacation Bible School will start Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock and will be continued through Friday, June 1 at the same hours daily.

He says it will include children from 4 to 16 years inclusive and that all children who may desire to attend are most cordially invited to do so.
