

FIRST AIR MAIL SHIPS ARRIVE

10,000 Letters Consigned For First Eastbound Plane Due Here This Afternoon

As 1,000 spectators looked on, the first chapter in what is destined to be an historic occasion was written today when the giant Fokker F-10 mail plane of the Southern Air Fast Express made its first landing at the Big Spring Airport.

Piloted by Bledsoe "Slim" Payne, the craft was brought to a perfect landing, forty-five minutes behind scheduled time. Stancel Gilley was co-pilot on the first ship to make the run from Dallas to El Paso. No passengers were on the craft, which carried 500 pounds of mail.

A short ceremony held at the airport soon after the huge ship landed, was a vivid contrast between the transportation of the past, and that of the present.

C. A. Owen, riding a pinto pony injected a reminder of the old pony express into the proceedings as he delivered a pouch of mail to Pilot Payne. Sandwiches and coffee were served the pilots by Miss Winona Taylor, Miss Ada Lindro, Miss Mabel Eddy, and Mrs. Jack Killway, representing the Chamber of Commerce. Motion pictures of the ceremony were taken. Two Stearman planes, piloted by W. J. Robbins, a brother of Reg Robbins, of endurance flight fame, and J. H. "Stormy" Mangum, arrived forty minutes before the east-west ship. They left San Antonio this morning, stopping at San Angelo to pick up mail.

At Airport Thursday

They delivered 87 pounds to mail here, some of it going east, some west, and some to Big Spring residents.

Thirty-three pounds of mail, representing 2,062 letters, was placed aboard the west bound ship here.

This afternoon at 4:45 o'clock when the east bound plane lands, approximately 10,000 letters will be placed aboard. At 2 o'clock today 6,640 letters were ready for mail pouches, with 3,000 to be worked. According to E. B. Fahrkamp, postmaster, ninety per cent of the letters going east and west were sent by stamp collectors. Only 10 per cent of the airmail going out of the city today was sent by the post office.

The west bound plane left nine pouches of mail here to be worked. Approximately 200 pounds of mail will be consigned to the east bound mail plane today, Fahrkamp said.

Ceremonies

The first plane was delayed on account of ceremonies in Dallas, where it took off this morning, and at Fort Worth.

The flying time from Dallas was two hours and thirty minutes, and from Fort Worth, two hours and 10 minutes. Four passengers were on the plane when it took off on its initial flight, but departed at Dallas. They were Postmaster George Young; Bruce Luna, assistant; J. Ben Critz, chamber of commerce manager; D. L. Whitte.

The plane was due in El Paso at 12:30 today, Rocky Mountain time, or 1:30, central standard time.

A reception committee, representing directors of the chamber of commerce and the Big Spring airport, greeted the pilots of the three planes as they landed here.

Hundreds of people were at the field by 9:30 this morning, waiting for the Robbins and Mangum, the Ford plane and a Lockheed Vega, belonging to the Continental Oil Co., were at the local field when the Stearman and the Fokker landed.

The two planes from San Antonio were to remain here until 5 p. m. today to take mail from the eastbound ship, consigned south. One plane will be used on the route after today.

Gilded horseshoes, bearing a green ribbon, were presented to Payne, Robbins and Mangum, by Mayor J. E. Pickle. A similar token of luck will be given to the east-bound ship this afternoon.

From Los Angeles

The eastbound ship left Los Angeles at 5:35 a. m., pacific coast time, today, piloted by Johnnie Martin, veteran flier, with F. L. Duncan as co-pilot.

Four passengers were aboard the ship when it left the Los Angeles port. They were Colonel T. H. Bane, vice president of American Airways, Inc.; Duncan Cox, assistant to the vice president; A. M. Roelken, newspaper man, and Earle Ovington, veteran aviation enthusiast.

Eight boxes of California gardenias were aboard, consigned to the presidents of chambers of commerce of Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz., El Paso, Fort Worth and Dallas, and Atlanta. Two boxes will go to Havana and Mexico City thru other connections with the line.

Eight passengers and a load of cargo of mail was on the trim-tored Fokker that left Atlanta at 8:30 a. m. today, starting the branch of the southern run. The plane was scheduled to stop at Jackson, Miss., Shreveport, La., Dallas and Fort Worth.

The passengers included Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, Assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover; Mayor Clarence Young, assistant secretary of Chamber of Commerce; H. H. Hinchey, vice-president of the Southern Air Fast Express; Postmaster E. K. Lane.

COMMUNISTS JUMP ON CAR OF SEC. HURLEY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 15 (AP)—Two men, said by police to be Communists, were arrested this afternoon after they were reported to have leaped to the running board of a motor car carrying Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, shouting insults at him.

The men, J. I. Whitten and R. G. Pierce, were charged with disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace. The former resisted arrest and was led to jail at the van of a crowd of 200 persons, attracted by the disturbance. The secretary's motor car was leaving the chamber of commerce building for the airport, where Mr. Hurley later took off for Fort Worth, Texas, to attend inauguration of the Atlanta-Los Angeles air mail line. He just had addressed a chamber of commerce luncheon.

Witnesses said the pair approached the secretary's motor car and shouted insults. Several witnesses declared they leaped to the running board.

Whitten and Pierce were among five men arrested for a communist disturbance here Labor Day.

"I have plenty of friends who will not let me stay inside," Whitten said at the police station.

Clarence Hurt, assistant chief of police, in charge during the absence of Chief Charles Becker, immediately called a conference of city and county officials, anticipating further trouble when Secretary Hurley returns to the city tonight to be the guest of honor at another banquet.

Sheriff Stanley Rogers attended the conference and advised Hurt to hold Whitten and Pierce in jail overnight, filing county charges against them if necessary.

At the conference, the sheriff and city officials said that most of the crowd of 200 were also Communists and had planned a demonstration against Hurley. This was averted by quick action of police.

All city police will be kept on duty tonight, Hurt said. If the demonstrators make another attempt to reach Secretary Hurley, Sheriff Rogers said he would keep his entire force on duty with riot equipment handy in case of further trouble.

Attempts of the men to board the large car in which Hurley rode were made just as Hurley was coming out of the chamber of commerce building. Getting into the car with Hurley was Walter M. Harrison, managing editor of the Oklahoma City Times and Oklahoman.

Harrison had arranged for a detachment of police to follow Hurley's car out of the business district and two members of this detachment arrested the two men and ordered the rest of the group to disperse.

A heavy shower of rain shortly after the attempted demonstration aided the officers in dispersing the crowd. Many still loitered about police station an hour later, however, evidently awaiting the appearance of Whitten and Pierce.

Figures In Air Mail Inaugural

Sec. Adams Is Accused; Green To See Hoover

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 15 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor today instructed its president, William Green, to protest personally to President Hoover against alleged reduction of wages in United States Navy yards.

This action followed an attack from the convention floor upon Secretary of Navy Charles F. Adams, who was accused of attempting to lower wages through reclassification of employes.

G. M. Bugniet, a vice-president of the federation, declared that Secretary Adams was carrying out the policies of outsiders whose interests were opposed to labor, instead of the policies of President Hoover, who, he said, had declared for maintenance of a high wage scale.

The matter was brought before the convention by Joseph Franklin, president of the Boilermakers' Union, who charged that the government, by a reclassification of employes, was trying to lower wages in the country's navy yards on orders from Secretary Adams.

Roy Horn, general president of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers and Helpers, told the convention that fifty per cent of the employes of the Philadelphia Navy Yard had been reduced to second rates, and that some had been reduced to third class.

He said he believed President Hoover was sincere when he told the federation last week that he wanted to maintain a high standard of living. And Horn felt that the situation should be called to President Hoover's attention.

Government Cramer of Cotton Here Thursday

H. C. Pondrum, government cotton classifier, will be in Big Spring Thursday, it was announced today.

He, with H. Clyde Daniels, of the cotton cooperative association, will meet with farmers interested in consigning contracts for cotton shipments, or cotton classing, at the El Paso Compress Co., at 10 a. m. Thursday. Information in regard to the classer may be obtained from J. V. Bush, county agent, or the Chamber of Commerce.

It is possible, C. T. Watson, manager of the commercial organization, said, that a permanent classer may be placed here.

City Tax Rate Fixed At $1.55

The ad valorem tax of Big Spring was officially set at $1.55 at the regular meeting of the city commission, held Tuesday night.

The tax rate is twenty-five cents higher than the tax of 1929, the additional amount being assessed for sewer, water and street improvements, as voted by residents in bond issues.

The tax rate of 1929 was $1.30. The commissioners also adopted a franchise tax of $25. This is to be paid by four utilities companies, dealing in ice, gas, telephone service and electricity.

Bank Robber Kills Self

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 15 (AP)—Merlin Hendrickson, 20, identified as the robber of the Monroe State Bank at Monroe, Utah, yesterday, shot and killed himself today at Elsinore, five miles south of Monroe, while officers were waiting to take him to the scene of the robbery.

Oil Magnates, Brothers, Heal 15-Year Fight

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 15 (AP)—A quarrel of 15 years ago has been patched up, and three brothers whose names are eminent in the oil industry are reunited.

Consolidation of the Phillips Petroleum company and the Independent Oil and Gas company, forming one of the world's largest independent oil organizations with assets in excess of $318,000,000, brought the Phillips triumvirate—Frank, L. E. and Waite—together again.

Back in 1915 when the three brothers were associated in the Phillips Petroleum company at Bartlesville, Okla., there was a disagreement one day.

Waite, the youngest brother who directed the land department, failed to get a lease which the other two thought should have been obtained. The quarrel led to the withdrawal of Waite from the company.

The younger brother tried his hand at lease brokering and running a chain of filling stations for a time. Then he came a stroke of good fortune and started a spectacular climb to the heights of the oil business alone. The start was his opening of a new oil field in Oklahoma county, Oklahoma, at about the time the United States entered the World War.

The field made Waite a fortune almost overnight. He sold out to the Barnard corporation for $25,000,000 cash. In 1919 he became head of the Independent Oil and Gas company of Tulsa after merging with it the Philmack company, organized by him.

Meanwhile, the original Phillips Petroleum company, with Frank as president and L. E. as executive had forged ahead and become a leading company of its kind.

One of its achievements was to develop into the world's largest manufacturer of natural gasoline. Shortly before the consolidation of the company, Waite Phillips company began construction of a $15,000,000 gasoline pipeline—something new in pipeline transportation—from its Berger, Texas, refinery to Kansas City and St. Louis.

Before entering the oil business, the three brothers were engaged in banking at Bartlesville, Okla. They had come to Oklahoma from Iowa. Banking still remains the "hobby" of L. E. Phillips, and the other two brothers retain wide banking interests.

Little Red Wagon Election Bet Paid; Sanger Pair in El Paso

EL PASO, TEXAS, Oct. 15 (AP)—Pulling a little red wagon, such as he played with when a child, Lloyd (Mule) Hayes of Sanger, Denton county, drew up here today and paid a Texas election bet, riding Hubert C. Stinson better than 700 miles across the state to this point.

During the gubernatorial campaign last August Hayes told Stinson that if Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson did not beat Ross S. Sterling of Houston for the democratic nomination he would ride him to El Paso in the little red wagon. Sterling won. The two visited Juarez to top off the wager.

Officers' Bullets Fatal For Fleagle, Long Hunted Gunman

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 15 (AP)—Jake Fleagle, notorious bank robber and murderer, shot yesterday at Branson, Mo., when captured by a posse of officers, died in a hospital here today at 9:55 a. m.

Fleagle, dying, pleaded for his mother, but no word from her had come when he died.

The bandit last night had reporters send a wire to his mother's home at Holcomb, Kan., asking her to come to his bedside. Officers said she could not possibly arrive until late today and they doubted one message would bring her, expressing belief she probably would fear a ruse by officers.

Fleagle, rallying briefly early today, told officers or guard about his hospital bed that he wished they would urge his mother to come to see him, saying "I'm afraid I'm going to die."

To one officer he said "I don't know who shot me and it don't make no difference, but I wish they had made a good job of it."

—SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 15 (AP)—Jake Fleagle, leader of a bandit gang which obscured its trail by ruthless murders, today was fighting for his own life, jeopardized by a wound at the hand of the law he had long defied.

Third Street Blues Is Austin Darky's Tune As 4th Wheel Rolls

Alexander G. Raymond, dusky resident of Austin, got out of his three wheel automobile today, looked at the fourth wheel a few yards ahead of the machine in the ditch and remarked, "I'll bet the name of this street is Third."

He was quite right. It was East Third street, and since Alexander G. Raymond had left Austin en route to El Paso he had learned about Third streets from that missing wheel.

"I got it knocked off in Waco," he explained, "as I was going up Third street. It shuffled off in Fort Worth and ran ahead of me. I looked at a sign and it was Third street. I knew the minute I saw it rolling toward that ditch that I had got on another Third street."

The wheel showed signs of having traversed numerous streets—Third or otherwise.

Republican Candidate For Governor Here Thursday

Rainbow Division ex-service men from all parts of Texas will gather Sunday, March 19, at the home of Col. W. E. Talbot of Dallas, their "Colonel Bill" of the war, for their annual state meeting.

These men, representing almost every city and town in the state, will at this time, it has been rumored, announce as a body for Col. Talbot for governor, and "get behind him 100 per cent."

They have endorsed Col. Talbot's candidacy in groups throughout the state, but since they have a Texas-wide meeting, they wish to do so officially, letters to Mrs. Talbot, their "Ma" of the war, announced Monday.

Mrs. Talbot will entertain the men, as she does each year, at her home during the day, the Rainbow Mothers serving refreshments at noon.

"We expect about 800 of the boys at the meeting," Mrs. Talbot said, "and word from as many more."

"Because he rustled us food and because he played the piano for us when the bottom had just naturally dropped out of everything and because he led us into danger when we had to go, and because he is thoroughly regular, we're for him under all the way," John Darnell of Dallas, vice-commander of the Texas Rainbow boys declared.

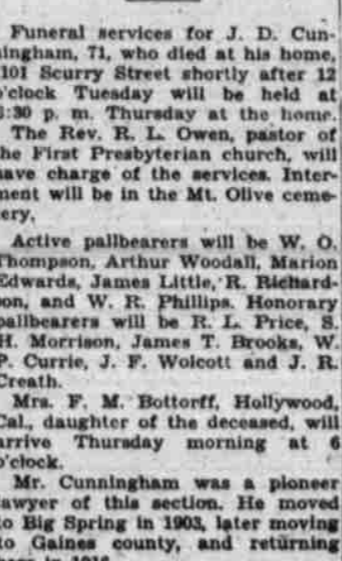

Col. "Bill" himself is the "com-thoroughly regular, we're for him under all the way" of the division in Texas.

One Nose Bitten Off; One Head Rashed; One Woman Stabbed at Austin Party!

AUSTIN, Oct. 15 (AP)—There was a little party in the suburbs of Austin last night and the casualties were: One nose bitten off, one head nearly mashed, one stabbing and one woman knocked unconscious with a chair.

It took almost the entire police force to answer the calls. They found he of the bitten-off nose still on the premises, he of the mashed head en route to a hospital, and the woman allegedly hit with the chair missing. While taking in these facts, a small boy ran up to tell his mother had been stabbed.

The stabbed woman said her attacker was one of the two men, who were brothers. Both were in jail today, but the woman hit with the chair was still missing. The stories told by the three known participants were a bit vague.

Rip Farmer was charged with maiming and aggravated assault. Tom Ermer was the brother who lost his nose.

Enid Woman Fanatic On Trial For Murder

ENID, Okla., Oct. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Dolly Douthitt, elderly widow who Sept. 24 fired at three persons in the district court room here following a court decision unfavorable to her, today faced a third charge of attempted murder.

The latest charge, filed in district court late yesterday, was in connection with the wounding of R. E. Wedgwood, United States commissioner, who was in a critical condition in a hospital several days following the shooting. The other charges alleged she fired at Judge A. G. Sutton and Roy Elam, an attorney.

The eccentric widow, held in the county jail since the shooting, probably will be given a preliminary hearing next week. Dan Mitchell, county attorney, said Mitchell said Mrs. Douthitt had made no request for arraignment.

Only a Man After All, Said George Under Famous Chestnut Tree Now Burned

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 16 (AP)—A chestnut tree under which General George Washington sat to eat his dinner while on a march through this section, if tradition is correct, was burned today. The tree was more than two hundred years old.

The story is that as General Washington sat under the tree a number of the village boys gathered round him. One of them in boldness said to the general: "Why, you're only a man."

"Yes, my boy," the general replied. "I am only a man after all."

The tree caught fire from burning leaves, firemen chopped it down to put out the blaze.

23,000 "Eating Size" Trout Filched From Pond; Leaguers Indignant

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 15 (AP)—Trout fishing—not fishing—has come to pass. Twenty-three thousand trout, eating size, have been filched from a small pond on the Nokoma golf course. The trout, of the brown and rainbow variety which are so succulent when browned in butter and garnished with parsley, had been placed in the pond for later transplanting in other waters from which they might be fished, one at a time. Somebody with a mania for trout and too impatient to take them out one by one with hook and line has seized them out. The Isaak Walton League, which planted them, is indignant.

PLAINVIEW FARMER DE-CLARES HE FEELS LIKE WELL MAN SINCE TAKING ORGATONE - SUFFERING WITH KIDNEYS FIVE YEARS.

I am certainly very grateful to some of my friends who told me about Orgatone in the papers, for now I have my health and strength back and sincerely hope my statement will be the cause of others getting relief," said G. G. Claunch, well known farmer living on rural route 2, Plainview, Texas.

"I was in a general run down condition for five years," he continued, "and finally got in such a bad shape and felt so miserable I could hardly ever get a good night's rest. My liver was sluggish, my back and sides pained me and my kidneys bothered me constantly. I had very little appetite and my stomach was so upset I couldn't digest anything. I always had to be very careful what I ate, and even then gas would form and press up around my heart so at times, I could hardly breathe. I suffered so with my liver and kidneys that I was in misery most of the time.

"Orgatone is the only thing that ever helped me and I began to improve almost as soon as I started taking it. I began to eat and enjoy my meals and pretty soon I could tell I was gaining in weight. I grew stronger day by day and finally, when all my aches and pains had disappeared I found I could get a good night's rest and wake up in the morning feeling refreshed and ready for a day's work. This is what Orgatone has done for me and I can't praise it too highly."

Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Big Spring at Collins Bros Drug Store—adv.

Catarrhal Deafness

What causes one to swallow when passing through a deep tunnel, or while quickly descending in an elevator?

The answer is the feeling of a difference in air pressure against the ear drums. The act of swallowing opens that portion of the ear canal which communicates with the throat. This allows air to enter the inner portion of the ear canal—thus equalizing the pressure on both sides of the drum.

For the normal function of the ear, it is important that the pressure on both sides of the ear drum should be equal. If the pressure is greater on either side, hearing is interfered with and deafness may result. Such a condition is found in catarrhal deafness, or of her stage and career.

In no interview has she mentioned her husband and baby in Germany, unless asked about them, but why should he? They're part of her private life.

WHEN THE GOING'S AT ITS WORST

by OSCAR HITT

"What next?" prompted Thorne. "I hunted around the next morning for the key to the bathroom door, for I dimly remembered picking up such a key and I thought I pitched it out of the window."

"You must have," broke in Thorne. "I fell in a pile of manure, and Ferguson, in climbing over it to open the bathroom window, caught the key in a hole in his rubber boot."

"There isn't much else to say," Jack sighed. "Uncle Arnold spoke sturringly of Elsa in our last interview on Tuesday and I nearly choked him to death; then lobbied like an idiot, taking my laboratory things with me, for back in my mind I was convinced I would be charged with the murder, and I realized the chemicals and fire extinguisher would be damning evidence. I came back tonight to see Elsa, face the music, and prove my innocence."

"Good boy!" ejaculated Inspector Mitchell. "Now buckle down to work—for her."

"I will," Jack's voice carried conviction and Elsa laid her hand in his with a half-shy, wholly tender glance. "We are to be married tomorrow."

Thorne rose, "Mrs. Winslow—" "I will look out for her," Jack hesitated. "I know you will not break a confidence—my aunt was

A Giant Industry

THE $28,300 oil wells in the United States in 1929 gave an average daily yield of 8.4 barrels, which represented a substantial increase over the average of 7.5 barrels per day in 1928 from the 327,800 wells in operation that year.

Production ranged from as little as a fifth of a barrel a day from certain wells in Ohio and Indiana to 161 barrels a day average established by the wells in West Texas, which hold the national record.

Figures announced by the United States bureau of mines covering the year 1929 credited Oklahoma with a gross petroleum output valued at $264,630,000 from its 61,180 wells with an average of 11.3 barrels per well. Texas produced petroleum valued at $322,520,000 from 36,280 wells, an average per well of between 22 and 23 barrels. California, third member of the Big Three, produced $321,967,000 worth of oil from 10,530 wells, an average of 75 barrels per day. This tripartite state, it is pointed out, accounted for four-fifths of the nation's production of crude oil, worth $1,280,000,000.

Any industry responsible for adding one and one-quarter billion dollars to the wealth of the nation in one year is entitled to the consideration of congress when it is making up its schedule of tariff protection.

THE DANCING SILHOUETTE

BY NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN

SYNOPSIS: Jack Kinslow, adopted son of Arnold Winslow, disappears after the murder of Dr. Paul Kane by carbon monoxide gas poisoning, and is suspected of the crime. Jack, a beautiful crippled girl whom Jack loves, is suspected by the elder Winslow of being a fraud, and he had asked Kane to examine her to learn the truth. G. Thorne, detective, was hired to probe her past but now is investigating the Kane murder. Mrs. Lawrence, a woman with a secret hold over Elsa, dies, leaving among her effects a clipping with the words, "The Dancing Silhouette." It develops she was Kane's divorced wife. The shadow of a human being, madly dancing, has been seen three times at night at the Winslow home, but the source is still undiscovered. Then Thorne finds a fire extinguisher, used to pump the lethal gas into the room where Kane died, and on it are the fingerprints of Arnold Winslow. Confronted with the evidence he shoots himself. It develops he and Kane had been linked with a dope ring, and Kane had been blackmailing him with threats of exposure. Jack has reappeared.

ELSA TELLS HER STORY

As Thorne ran down the staircase at Oklaids he came face to face with Inspector Mitchell.

"I was just coming for you," exclaimed the latter. "They want you in the music room."

"We owe you so much," Elsa exclaimed, her soft voice trembling with emotion. "Let me explain—" "If you will," Thorne said. "I know you are Elsa Gray."

"And the only child of Rev. Richard Gray, an Episcopal missionary, she broke in.

"In 1914," went on Elsa, "my father returned from the Orient. With him on the boat was Arnold Winslow, who had visited dad on several occasions when in China. Just as the boat docked in San Francisco, dad was arrested for smuggling opium; a quantity was found in his luggage; and at a trial, which followed swiftly, certain influential Chinamen testified against him and he was convicted and sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary.

"The rigors of San Quentin prison soon broke down dad's health. Just before he died, he told me that he was morally certain that Arnold Winslow, fearing detection, had put the opium in his luggage.

"I vowed," she went on, "to track down and punish Arnold Winslow after my mother's death, father had placed me with a cousin."

"Miss Dryden?" questioned Thorne swiftly. "Owner of the sanitarium?"

"Yes. I lived with Miss Dryden in my school vacations, and as I grew older I took up dancing. A year ago I got on a vaudeville circuit in the West, and my one act, of shadow dancing, made a hit and was called the Dancing Silhouette. I was in Chicago, when Jack drove his car into my taxi—"

"I took her to the address she said managed to whisper to me before fainting—the Dryden Sanitarium," he explained. "When I left there, I asked the doorman her name, and, I suppose in the excitement he misunderstood me, and said her name was Miss Elsa Chase."

"At first it was thought I had suffered some minor injury to a spine, and using that and the identity of the paralytic, Miss Elsa Chase, to cloak my plans, I—I—" she faltered. "Miss Kline, head nurse, promised to help me in my schemes and so we came to visit Mr. and Mrs. Winslow. She drew in her breath sharply. "Only memory of dad's suffering kept me to my self-imposed task. Jack had given me the key to his attic room for safe-keeping, and there I found the cocaine secreted in the old cuspionment of wooden shoe trees."

"And gave vent to your feelings by a dance of triumph," Thorne smiled at her surprised exclamation. "I saw your shadow on the

Is Education a Menace?

Christian Science Monitor

IS THE ominous hand of too much higher education casting a shadow over Great Britain? Strange as it may seem, Prof. Ernest Barker, in addressing the Cambridge summer school recently, gave an unqualified affirmative answer to the question. He was not jesting when he viewed with alarm the potential spread of university education among English youth, a condition which is equally evident in many other countries. Indeed, the question is one of world-wide interest. Professor Barker said:

"If you give university education to too great a percentage, you will get two results: (1) You congest the universities and make their teaching mechanical; (2) You may produce an unemployed, or quite inadequate employed, intellectual proletariat, which is the mother of revolutionary movements, political and economic.

It would seem that Professor Barker is almost as cruel a critic of the positive effect of education as Oscar Wilde was some 20 years ago of its negative effect. In "The Importance of Being Earnest" — just now being revived in London with brilliant success — Wilde remarked that while "the whole theory of modern education is radically unsound, fortunately in England at any rate education produces no effect whatsoever."

Frankly, there is ample ground to disagree with both. It is not indeed an extremely deprecatory estimate of higher education which fears that its spread is necessarily synonymous with the spread of revolution? Why not, then, curtail the opportunities for learning to such circumscribed limits that the nation would be secured for all time from the slightest murmur of dissent from the status quo? It is just possible, however, that a freedom from evolution which can be maintained only by restricting higher education, is not a particularly desirable condition.

England is continuing to make great contributions to education, progress, and its continued progress, more likely than not, rests in extending higher education — not in restricting it. If the demand for university training is so great as to congest the existing universities, may it not be better to accept the task of constructively meeting this educational demand, rather than in stunting it?

The growth of higher learning does not necessarily mean higher unemployment. The increasing application of machinery to all kinds of industry is freeing a constantly growing number of workers from

Former Convict Held As Robbery Suspect

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 15 (AP)—Eldred bloodhounds Sunday night only to be captured last night by officers near Webbersville, a former convict was in Travis county jail today as a suspect in the robbery of a filling station near Horns Bend Saturday, and in the slaying of John Lackey, Bastrop county grocerman, Oct. 2.

According to police records the man also was wanted in Kingsville for breaking jail, and was driving a car belonging to a Fort Bend county citizen when arrested. Lackey was found dead at 2 a. m. Oct. 2 between his home and his store nearby. Officers presumed he had arisen to investigate noises in the store, which was robbed the same night.

PARLEY OPENS

DALLAS, Oct. 15 (AP)—The state Homeopathic Association met here today with Felix G. Bryant of Martins Mills, president, in charge.

Dr. E. Charles E. Fisher of California, founder of the association, made an address.

Dr. Julian H. Bass of San Antonio was to read a paper on treatment of infantile paralysis by homeopathy.

Two Baptist Classes Hostesses To Visiting Missionaries

T. E. L. And Homemaker Groups Give Church Tea Yesterday Afternoon

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Chambers Visit In City; Both On Furloughs From Posts In Shanghai

The T. E. L. and the Homemakers Classes of the First Baptist Church entertained with a tea yesterday afternoon from 3 to 5 in honor of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Chambers, missionaries to China who are visiting here on their furlough.

Mrs. Chambers, who was Miss Christine Coffee before her marriage to Dr. Chambers, is an old resident of Big Spring.

A short program was carried out with Mrs. Chambers as the principal speaker. Mrs. J. T. Mercer played a piano solo and Mrs. Bruce Fraser sang "The Voice of One Crying in the Wilderness."

Mrs. Chambers made a short talk on China and her work there. She and Dr. Chambers, who were stationed in Canton before the revolution drove them to Shanghai, published Christian literature for distribution among the Chinese.

The organization there is building its own offices now in Shanghai, according to Mrs. Chambers. When this is finished, she says, it will be the headquarters of the Baptist workers in China. Shanghai is the center of all things in China, said Mrs. Chambers, and it is hoped to reach a larger number of people from this city than from Canton.

She told several stories of the missionaries work in China and the tribulations of the workers. She explained the lack of modern conveniences such as the poorest American is accustomed to—the lack of proper heating facilities, of chairs and beds.

Mrs. Chambers presented a group picture of herself and family to the church. Mrs. J. C. Douglas, president of the local W.M.U. made a short talk of appreciation.

Mrs. Lynn Hatcher presented the Chambers with roses from the two classes.

Mrs. Walter Douglas and Mrs. Ira Thurman acted as hostesses. The following women attended: Mesdames Hart Phillips, J. M. Robertson, Bruce Frazier, Harry Stalcup, W. T. The News Is Spread BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

You'll always find that common fright Ends anger and desire to fight. —Old Mother Nature.

News travels fast through the Green Forest and over the Green Meadows. It wasn't long before all the little people of the Smiling Pool, the Old Orchard and the Old Pasture as well as the Green Forest and the Green Meadows, knew that Lightfoot the Deer was in dreadful trouble. First, the news of the great fight between Lightfoot and another Deer had spread. Then, when Sammy Jay discovered that the two fighters could not separate, but were locked to gether head to head by their antlers, the news traveled even faster. Every one who could do so went over there to see it. Even Johnny Chuck started, then decided it was too far for his short legs.

But, of course, Peter Rabbit was there. Somehow, Peter had missed the fight; but he didn't mind this so much as long as he didn't miss this stranger sight of the two Deer locked together. Lightfoot and the other Deer paid no attention to the little people looking on. They had no thought for anything but their own misery. Much of the time they spent down on their knees, for they had used up their strength in fighting and in struggling. It was a pitiful sight and there was pity in the eyes of all the onlookers. There seemed to be nothing that any one could do. Even great, big Buster Bear was helpless in the matter. Strange to say he was a little bit afraid. This was also true of Yowler the Bobcat. There was something mysterious about this trouble, and mystery usually awakens fear.

"It's dreadful!" said Peter Rabbit. "It's the most dreadful thing I've ever heard of! They'll both die! They'll both starve to death! They cannot eat and they cannot drink. Can't somebody do something?"

"Don't be silly, Peter!" said his cousin, Jumper the Hare. "Of course, nobody can do anything. I guess it is one of those things that has to be. I'm sorry for Mrs. Lightfoot, too. See how sorrowful she looks. We certainly will miss Lightfoot. Without him the Green Forest will not be the same."

"Just the same, something ought to be done about it," said Peter, and sat down to scratch a long ear with a long hind foot. When that failed to bring him an idea he scratched the other long ear with the other long hind foot. "Something's got to be done about it," he repeated. Then he brightened suddenly and hopped to his feet. "I've thought of something," said he.

"What!" demanded Jumper. "I've thought of some one who can help," replied Peter. "I just know he can help."

Jumper looked at him doubtfully. "Who do you know who can possibly be of any help at a time like this?" he demanded.

"Farmer Brown's Boy," replied Peter. "If he were here I know he could do something. Yes, sir, I know he could do something."

"Well, he isn't here," said Jumper.

"We've got to get him here," replied Peter. "Yes, sir, we've got to get him here here. If he once comes over here he'll do something. I know he will. I don't know why I didn't think of Farmer Brown's Boy before. Now, let's

Married Life Just Swell, Mencken Finds In Month—More Freedom Than Ever

By E. E. BOMAR

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15. (AP)—Henry L. Mencken, for years vociferous champion of bachelorhood as literary critic and journalist, finds after more than a month of marriage that he was all wrong.

Married life, he said, far from impinging on his freedom, has actually resulted in more freedom.

One explanation is that his bride, the former Sara Powell Haardt, novelist of Montgomery, Ala., is now in charge of the "bores" who used to require considerable of his time.

And the social amenities, said Mencken, cut no more figure in his life than heretofore.

"My wife and I have much the same friends, and have been seeing them together for a long while," said Mencken, the editor of the American Mercury. "We still see them. The usual bores continue to call me up, urging me to read their vile poetry, endorse their applications for 'public jobs, or make speeches for their dismal clubs. My wife is now in charge of this department of my business."

"She is an immensely polite woman, and gets rid of them in a very suave and humane manner. Many call up again the next day, to thank me for having so courteous a secretary. Some call up every day for a week. Boring is an art like any other. A born bore gives it his passionate devotion."

"I think of marriage precisely what I have always thought: that it is ordained by God. I could cite many passages of Holy Writ to that end. Humanly speaking, the things it seems to demand most are politeness and a sense of humor."

"By politeness I mean the exact opposite of the yearning to improve and reform. By a sense of humor I mean an understanding of the fact that principles and follies are often indistinguishable."

"I am very comfortable in an apartment," says Mencken. "Fortunately it is on two levels, so I get plenty of exercise. I hate work anywhere, and can imagine nothing more depressing than the labor of writing, but it is surely no worse here than in Hollins street."

Mrs. Mencken keeps busy with literary work also. She is writing a second novel, her first having been accepted for publication only recently. Her husband was quick to insist that he has always been a friend of the South, when it was suggested that his wife's influence might change his attitude.

"I have never been against the South," he explained. "On the contrary, I have always been greatly interested in it, and in favor of it. It is the only part of the United States that ever tried to set up a really civilized social structure."

"Unfortunately, it is now in the hands of boudiers, political, ecclesiastical and journalistic. When I call attention to their boudierism they howl that I am a bloody Yankee and an enemy of the South. By the same reasoning a physician who proceeds against hookworm is an enemy

Miss Bolden Is Married To H. McMenemy

Wedding Is Held at Home Of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Faught

Miss Bernice Bolden became the bride of Harry McMenemy, member of the staff of the Richardson Refinery, in a pretty ring ceremony of Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Faught, 507 Washington Boulevard, Rev. R. L. Owens reading the rites.

Miss Marquette Bolden of Lamesa was maid of honor and Mr. Faught acted as best man. Others witnessing the ceremony were Mrs. Faught, Dr. J. R. Barcus and Ted Maddox. Before her marriage Mrs. McMenemy was on the staff of the Bivings & Barcus hospital.

Following the ceremony Mrs. Faught was hostess at dinner. Mr. and Mrs. McMenemy left for a week's wedding trip to San Antonio and Houston and will be at home in Big Spring.

"Whenever you hear any Southerner complain that I abuse the South take a good look at him. Invariably you will see a cracker. No decent Southerner ever made any such complaint."

The invitation of the Kiwanis Club of Montgomery to Mencken to apply for membership gave Mencken a laugh as well as new paper readers some months ago.

"The invitation was an amiable jocosity, engineered by my good friend Grover C. Hall, editor of the Montgomery Advertiser. Hall is one of the best men in the South today. Thus he is free to spoof me all he pleases."

"I accepted the invitation and sent the club the finger-print of the Kaiser, done in blood, as a souvenir. It was a present from the late Viscount Bryce, and was obtained in Belgium by an English agent who saw the Kaiser butcher, boil and eat a Belgian Rotarian."

JUST A BREEZE" CROONS LOBOS

Chapman Crew Confident Of Win

Battle of Behemoths Best Bet of The Week-End Card

If one is searching for the week-end's best football game carded among high school circles, one should, by all means, wing one's way to the city that boasts of the big dam, Friday night. When the switch is thrown at Chesley Field along about 8 o'clock, scattering much candlepower over the grass and line markers, goal posts et cetera, and the Big Spring Steers stampede their way into the lobes, the most important grid contest on this week's menu will have started.

Probably the main reason the affair will be so interesting is that the Lobo outfit refuses to take it seriously. As one of the big supporters of the Chapman collection puts it, "Just a sweet breeze." The Steers should see to it that the Lobos do take the affair with a bit of grimace before the show ends at Chesley.

After that fray has ended, the melody that lingers on will either be "So Blue," sung by the Steers, or "I'm Flying High," crooned by the deep basses of the yellow and black collection of cleat wearers. When the final toot of the referee's tooter has blasted, the Lobos will know at least part of their potential strength. The Steers, on the other five fingers, would like nothing better than to slip up on the blind side of the Chapman crew and toss a half noose halter over the ears.

It is true that the experience the Lobos have had this year with two of the alleged Big Four of the district has been disastrous. The 33 to zero lashing handed the boys by the Mathewmen of Taylor County and territory surrounding was anything but inspiring to the young lads that battle their battles under the local standard. It is equally true that the 19 to 6 affair which the Steers dropped to Breckenridge, served to point out to the customers that there is always power in a power house, although perhaps it doesn't function at times, when it should.

The excellent showing made against Shotwell's hopes of Burkaville, simply told the district deponents that the Steers are to be contended with at least for four quarters. They may not win either of the two impending clashes with the leaders of the district, but the pair of teams will understand they have just recently emerged from a morose era, each of the games has terminated.

In the Cicero game Friday night played beneath the floor lamps for financial reasons only, the Steers will sling a jackrabbit backfield and a hefty line at the Eastland County aggregation. Of the jack rabbits, the Lobos will know two of them personally before the ball is up. We refer to Captain Delbert Rogers and Bill Flowers. As it is true that every army can't have a Napoleon, so it is true that every football team can't have a Flowers and a Rogers to do the ball totting and the majority of the mail carrying. Bob Kidwell, a great defensive back, and not a slouch by any means when it comes to picking up that extra yard, probably will start against the Chapman clan. The fourth horseman in a matter for brown wringing. It may be Ned McMillan. All of them were in the Breckenridge party.

The line, incidentally, will be the best line the Lobos have rubbed shoulder blades with this season. As a matter of fact, lines have been noticeably absent to the south when the Lobos were facing that way. Eastland boasted of its line forward wall strength, while the Class B aggregations that have aided the Lobo officials in filling up the coffers before the season opened officially had just seven men in the advance brigade.

From tackle to tackle, the Steer behemoths will probably startle the Puppers when they fall into their holes. Cicero has had big line-men for so many years the cohorts have got so they expect the opposition to be a bit smaller in stature. From tackle to tackle, the weights of the lines probably will be about matched, with the ends dragging the total down. Phillips and "Little Coots" age lightweights, but Hopper with the shaved head is a heavy youth with plenty of neck.

The Eddie Maxwell-Eggenius Hanshaw, Glover-Helison, and Pardue combination as a starter, shouldn't find the going so tough against the Lobo outfit. Then there is exactly a couple of tons of muscle and bone resting on the sidelines, tasking beneath the kilowatts.

Major League Deals Closed

Magnates Seek Material To Build 1931 Contenders

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Gloves and bats may be laid away until next spring but the search of baseball magnates for the means by which their clubs can be strengthened goes on forever.

The 1930 season has barely closed but already four deals of major interest to National and American league fans have been completed.

The Chicago Cubs made the first move by obtaining Lester Sweetland, an effective southpaw, from the Phillies in a straight cash deal. Yesterday the Brooklyn Robins and Boston Braves both announced player deals of major importance while Jacob Ruppert, president of the New York Yankees, did the expected and signed Joe McCarthy, former Cub pilot, to manage the Yankees for the next two years at a reported salary of $30,000 a year.

The Robins, who faltered in the home stretch after giving all National League contenders an argument through most of the season, apparently have made a ten-strike in acquiring the services of Frank (Lefty) O'Doul, outfielder, and Fresco Thompson, second baseman. In exchange the Robins gave to the Phillies Jumbo Jim Elliott, left-handed pitcher; Vase Ladd, right-hander, Hall Lee, rookie outfielder, and a bundle of cash.

O'Doul and Thompson should provide the remedy for the two painful weaknesses in the Robins lineup last season. O'Doul is a tremendous hitter, and with Babe Herman and Johnny Frederick, will give Uncle Wilbert Robinson the hardest-hitting outfield in baseball. O'Doul hit .333 this year; Herman, .293, and Frederick, .334. Thompson is a fine second baseman who should do much better with Brooklyn than he did with the Phillies.

The Braves, who made a good showing in the 1930 race under Bill McKeen's leadership, have acquired Wesley Schulmerice, Los Angeles outfielder, and William McAttee, Chicago recruit, in a deal by which pitcher Bob Smith went to the Cubs and outfielder Jimmy Walsh to Los Angeles. Schulmerice hit .287 in the Coast league while McAttee, who toiled for the Reading International, controlled by the Cubs, showed flashes of promise with a seventh-place outfit.

The move by which McCarthy, succeeded by Rogers Hornsby as manager of the Cubs, dons an American League uniform, had been expected by the experts ever since the world's series. The terms of the two-year contract were not made public, of course, but McCarthy declared it was the "best contract I ever signed." Baseball observers, basing their observations on the reported $25,000 a year McCarthy received from the Cubs, wrote down $30,000 as the probable annual salary he will draw from the Yankees.

126,000 BERLIN WORKERS WALK OUT IN STRIKE

BERLIN, Oct. 15. (AP)—One hundred twenty-six thousand Berlin metal workers, members of the largest trade union group in the world, laid down their tools at ten o'clock today in protest at government arbitrator's award of reduction in their wages. The reduction was of eight per cent for workers of above 18 years of age and of six per cent for those below that age.

The strike creates a new and menacing situation in the German economic and political tangle. No one at present ventures to predict what it may mean to the nation's economic situation, since the metal industry affects so many other branches of industry, nor how it may affect politics, in view of the staunchest of laborers being among the strikers.

Among the larger plants affected by the walkout were also the Allgemeine Elektrizitaets, Gessellschaft, Siemens, Bergmann, and the Berlin Metal Works. The walkout of the A. E. G. workers was so complete that all the company plants had to cease operation.

Siemens continued operation with a small force, but the Bergmann and Berlin Maschinenbau workers were practically an out.

In announcing the strike had taken place union officials said that disabled veterans and men over 60 years of age were exempt from the strike order. These exempt ones were practically the only persons not to walk out.

All unions with the German Federation of Free Trade Unions declared their solidarity with the metal workers, as did also the German Federation of Office Employees. This meant that financial support would be forthcoming from the unions outside the metal workers.

DUNCAN, Okla., Oct. 15. (AP)—A price cut of from 35 to 41 cents a barrel on crude oil in the Duncan district, effective tomorrow, was posted today by the Western Oil Company. Over production in the area and recent cuts by independent competitors were given as the causes of the reduction.

Oil of from 32 to 32.9 degrees gravity was cut from $1.15 a barrel to 80 cents, with a 3 cent differential to 44 to 44.9 gravity. The latter grade was cut from $1.37 to $1.16.

Waco Fans Disappointed Because Former High School Star To Be Out Against Baylor

By GATLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS, Oct. 15. (AP)—Absence of Weldon Mason from Southern Methodist's line-up next Saturday against Baylor not only will reduce the effectiveness of the Mustang passing and running attack, but will be a source of disappointment to Waco fans. "Speedy," along with Malcolm Powell, Pony center, received knee injuries in the Notre Dame game that preclude their appearance against the Bruins.

The game Saturday would have offered Mason his first and last chance to appear before the home folks as a university star. His gridiron exploits while a member of the Waco Tigers still are recalled in the McLennan county city. Next year, Mason's last in school, the teams will play here.

Another method of defying the lightning is to pick the Texas Aggies to lose on their own Kyle field. Just to look at it, the big stadium at College Station bears no ominous appearance. The grass looks just like any other grass and there are the usual number of chalk lines, goal posts, and whatnot. Yet, Mason's last in the sport writer's first reader, very plainly states that one should not select the Aggies to lose on their home grounds.

All of which is preamble to a peculiar situation this week. No one in ten who has seen both the Aggies and Texas Christian in action this year believes the College Station crew is a match for the Horned Frogs—man for man and team for team. Yet there is a marked disinclination in all quarters to come right out and say the Frogs will lick the Farmers Saturday.

"I don't care how they looked against Tulane," asserted one Aggie supporter, "or how good the Frogs looked against Arkansas. It will be different when they meet on Kyle Field." He said "Kyle Field" with the intonation that can be mastered only by an ex-Aggie. Cy Leland's performance against Arkansas was slightly disappointing to those who expected to see the fleet one gallop hither and yon with the ball, but it is doubtful any conference scout were seriously fooled. The odds are that Coach Schmidt was keeping his star's pet plays under cover in that game, saving them for the Aggie quarter-back berth by his fine play against St. Edward's and University of Arizona the last two weeks.

Pat Wallace and Dick Jamerson, shifty backs with junior college experience, look like the best bet at the halves, with the veteran Ralph Jones at full.

Harmony Leads From Choir To Recorder Court

DETROIT, Oct. 15. (AP)—John Silvestra and Theophile Shlake were both musicians, but they couldn't harmonize.

John was a tenor in St. Anthony's Lithuanian choir. Theophile, also a tenor, sat in the family pew, awaiting his chance.

John reached for high C, mezzo forte, one night, and gargled a note. The next night he wandered off the top of the treble clef, groped for a high one, and his voice sounded like the cry of an iceman.

The choirmaster put Theophile in John's place, and John sat in the pew. It may have been Theophile's straining for high C that caused him to look that way, but John thought Theophile was making faces at him and his dander rose to a crescendo.

When the choir filed out of the church, John, walking pianissimo, followed until he caught up with Theophile. He aimed sharp at Theophile's larynx. The blow landed an octave high—and Theophile went flat, coming up fortissimo with a black eye.

Members of the choir aided the duel before it reached the finale. Theophile got out and assault warrant in six-eight time.

"Music," said Judge J. P. Scallen yesterday in recorder's court, "plainly hath its harms. But there has been a lot of discord here, and I want you fellows to do a little harmonizing, or I'll have to use another well-known method of soothing the savage beast."

John and Theophile went away, singing the blues.

FOLLOW TRAIL OF GANGSTERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15. (AP)—The nebulous trail of an alleged black-hand organization was being followed by police here today as its reputed leader, Gennaro Broccolo, otherwise "Broccolo the Maestro," lay dead and Ralph Esposito was held as the slayer.

Broccolo was found shot to death in Esposito's home. Esposito told officers Broccolo had demanded $50 to save the Esposito family from death. Police said Esposito admitted killing Broccolo.

Investigators reported they learned Broccolo apparently headed a gang of extortionists. Esposito, too, was arrested here two days ago on suspicion of being a black hander, but was released. He recently returned from Los Angeles where he said Broccolo also housed him.

Broccolo was fighting deportation to Italy where he had been convicted of murder. He was reported to have fled the country shortly before the death of a man he was believed to have assaulted. He was convicted during his absence from Italy.

Police said they might solve through their investigations of Broccolo's activities, the killing two years ago of Gerry Ferris, asserted black hand leader and the shooting of Michael Pollara, whose bullet riddled body was found on a Contra Costa county highway last Sunday.

Texas Coach's Files Rifled During Night

AUSTIN, Oct. 15. (AP)—Personal files of Clyde Littlefield, head football coach at the University of Texas, were rifled Monday night. It was revealed here today that important football diagrams and plays in another cabinet in the office were untouched, the prowler apparently having been frightened away before completing the search. Entrance to Littlefield's office was gained by prying the lock from the door.

Making Homes Modern is Often Simple and Inexpensive

- Everyone likes a good-looking home. Remodeling a home that has grown shabby is often very simple and inexpensive. A change made here and there frequently is the only difference between an old house and a modern home.
- A new stucco exterior—repairs to the roof—a sanitary, watertight basement—a new sun parlor or sleeping porch—a concrete sidewalk—just two or three improvements like these will often make a home up-to-date.
- NOW is a good time to make improvements. Ask your building material dealer, architect or contractor to help you with suggestions for remodeling.

Atlas Cement is made at Waco — by Texas workers — of Texas materials. Along with other economical quality products, your building material dealer can quickly furnish you either Atlas portland cement (gray) or non-staining Atlas White portland cement. Ask for Atlas cements.

HALLIE ELLESMORE thought she loved Lester Broom and confidently expected to marry him—until a chance meeting with Saxely Grannock sent the currents of her life into undreamed channels. She found herself engaged to one man—and in love with another ●●● It was not merely a choice between Broom and Grannock, for that would have been simple enough. Powerful conflicting emotions had caught the three in a gigantic mesh and threatened to crush them all ●●● Roy Vickers has woven about this gripping situation an unusual story of romance and intrigue. Its finely-drawn characters and absorbing plot make it a striking and vivid serial.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Dallas, Tex.
What are the conferences on reduction of armaments so tedious? The issue is plain enough, is it not?

Mr. Arthur S. Draper said in an address in connection with the recent London conference that even if the conference produced no definite results in actual limitations, the hopes and issues it had raised will compel attention "to struggle forward along the difficult road of international negotiations."

Every interested observer has to realize that the world's reintegration on a non-war basis is a stupendous undertaking. The delegates who inaugurate its beginnings are not free agents. They are trustees of great nations which in turn are jealous of their prerogatives and anxious for their security.

France believes that security is insured by a combination of status prepared to enforce it. Great Britain and America stand on the declaration of the "right of peace" which specifically rejects war as an instrument of political policy. That is the basic difference which has yet to be reconciled.

Harrisburg, Pa.
I am deeply interested in the welfare work for mothers and children. Will you not say an encouraging word in your column in behalf of that type of social service?

I gladly responded to an appeal which stirs every sympathetic heart. The Children's Welfare Federation reports that since its establishment in 1912 "considerable improvement has been shown in infant mortality statistics, but abominably none in maternal mortality statistics." An average of one mother in every two hundred survives her life in order that her race may be perpetuated in America. This ceaseless sacrifice gets no such advertisement of recognition as is given to losses entailed by death in industry or on the field of war.

Since it is estimated that at least half the loss entailed by motherhood could be eliminated by proper medical care, especially during the prenatal period, who does not favor not only private but, where necessary, public intervention, in prospective mothers. They go down into the Valley of Death that they may bring up life in their arms. Certainly every organization engaged in their aid should receive generous support.

Infant mortality is now reduced from 105 deaths out of every 1,000 babies born in 1912 to only 58 out of every thousand born in 1929. An admirable showing, but why sacrifice so many mothers when scientific study demonstrates that their brief loss can be cut in two.

New York City.
I believe in a partnership marriage and that the money which has been saved by a couple's combined efforts should belong equally to both. My husband believes that he is quite capable of taking care of all the money and that I should not interfere. We had been putting by $10 a week in a savings account for quite a while. Suddenly my husband started on his own motion to put this weekly savings in a Christmas fund standing in his name. When he drew it out last Christmas he merely showed me the check and advised me that the sight of it was all I was going to receive.

The tragedy of the situation is that my husband has served a year in the penitentiary and while he was confined I worked, paid his insurance, provided for our boy and tried to make things go along until he was released. This is the treatment I get for Christmas. When I ask him about his affairs he gets puffy and refuses to talk.

I can not stand much more of this. Yet on the other hand I do not want to do anything in a spirit of anger because of our boy. What would you advise me to do?

I do not wish to add fuel to the flame of discord blazing in your home, but taking the facts as you state them, could you compel me to say that your husband is a rascal, in spite of the fact that you still have some affection for him, and your loyalty to him when he became a domestic burden and a social disgrace may not be wholly extinct. A good woman's heart is indeed a treasure-house of sacrificial service.

Since he reveals his real nature in such contemptible attitudes you owe it to yourself and your child to put on protective armor. Bring him to book with your rightful demand for a weekly allowance and include in it personal as well as household expenses. Then save what you can out of it and bank it in your own name.

Consult a trustworthy lawyer concerning the sum you advanced to keep your husband's insurance policy in force while he was in jail. It may be that he is legally indebted to you for that sum. Do what I suggest discreetly, without threatening or recriminations, in the spirit of fair play and with moderate language. But do it and do it now. If he agrees to a satisfactory settlement, so much the better. If he does not, be guided by your attorney. If you are with out funds to employ counsel, consult the Legal Aid Society.

HEIRESS FREED BY ABDUCTOR

GREENFIELD, Mo., Oct. 15 (AP)—Authorities investigating the kidnapping of Mrs. Alma Wilson McKinley, 24-year-old oil heiress, released late yesterday after being held captive for nearly a day, today expressed the opinion her abductor originally planned to capture and hold for ransom her millionaire father, Benton Wilson.

The opinion Wilson was first intended as the victim was based on a note left at the Wilson home by the abductor, in which $50,000 was demanded for the release of Mrs. McKinley, an expectant mother. Investigators said the abductor's plans to collect ransom for the release of Mrs. McKinley were foiled when the Wilson motor car, in which she was forced to drive away, became mired in the mud near Jarico Springs, Mo.

Upon finding Wilson away from home, officers deduced, the kidnaper changed the note, intending to take either Mrs. McKinley or her mother. They believed he decided upon the younger woman because she was able to drive the motor car, while her mother was not.

After the car had become mired in the mud, the abductor and Mrs. McKinley walked along a road for several hours during which time he instructed her to write a note saying she would be released upon payment of $50,000. Apparently fearful of capture, the abductor finally agreed to tear up the note if she would agree not to reveal where she was released.

She kept her word and today had supplied little information that would aid officials in their search. After being released, Mrs. McKinley walked to a farm house near Stockton about 20 miles from Greenfield, and telephoned her husband, Harold, and her father, who went after her.

Although unharmed, Mrs. McKinley was near exhaustion when she reached home.

BEAUTIFUL and CHARMING! It's an added special quality that makes the beauty of a pretty girl. But she's a natural favorite to begin with. And for the same reason Camels are favorites with the modern crowd. Scientific principles govern their manufacture; but the mildness, the fragrance, the delicate flavor are natural qualities of the tobacco.

There's enjoyment in the smoking of a Camel. Camels go with happy faces... a lift of spirits with the opening of every fresh, fragrant pack. For Camel's delightful mildness holds all the natural goodness of choicest tobaccos. Don't confuse it with the flatness or insipidness of "over-treated" cigarettes.

Closing Time Of Barber Shops Fixed By Solons

The City Commission refused, at the regular session held Tuesday night, to take any action on a request of local barber shop owners and employes to set a standard closing time.

The barbers had requested an ordinance be adopted, compelling barber shops to close at a certain hour. A sanitation code also was to be included in the ordinance.

The barbers, although they did not appear in person, contended to City Manager V. R. Smith that several shops in the city limits were staying open at night and seriously hurting the business of standard union shops.

The commission authorized the city manager to inform the barbers the city could take no action in the matter, inasmuch as a state law covers barber shop sanitation, and they did not wish to take a part in a controversy between shops.
