British Coast Is Again Raided

ANTI - AIRCRAFT GUNS, PLANES ARE ACTIVE

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP)—German bombing planes were reported to have attacked British ships along 400 miles of Britain's east coast today in the most widespread raids on shipping yet attempted in the war.

Attacks on vessels were reported from the mouth of the River Tyne in the north to the Kentish coast in the south. They continued from shortly after 9 a. m. to midday.

Anti-aircraft guns burst into action in the Tyne-side area, and air raid warnings were sounded in a number of northeast coast districts.

British fighters were credited with driving off the bombers. Ships reporting attacks were listed as the British Officer, 6,900 tons, Atholl Monarch, Danny Bryn, Stanburn, 2,851 tons, Otterpool, 4,867 tons, Knitley, 2,272 tons, Wellpark, 4,649 tons and the 5,831-ton Imperial Monarch, off the Scottish coast, which reported that the attacking bombers were driven off by British fighters.

Seven bombs were dropped near the 4,966-ton Llanwern in Tyne-side without a hit, the British reported.

The German raids came on a day of bitter winter weather which brought British rail and highway traffic to a state described as the most chaotic in memory.

THREE SHIPS SUNK

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The sinking of three neutral ships was reported today in a British statement that blamed German submarines. The Danish ship England, 2,767 tons, was reported sunk with only one of the crew surviving. The number lost was not given.

The 544-ton Norwegian steamer Faro sank and at least seven men were lost. The wreck was driven ashore yesterday after the captain and six men were rescued.

Most Americans Out Of Europe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Nearly 80,000 Americans have returned from European trouble spots since the outbreak of war on Sept. 1, and the state department estimated today that most war-stranded citizens are now back home.

Officials aiding Americans caught on the wrong side of the Atlantic when Germany invaded Poland said that the number still in Europe could not be determined until a "census" now under way was completed.

Consulates are tabulating information concerning American citizens in belligerent and nearby neutral countries on Dec. 31, 1939. About 85,000 citizens were registered last summer in American consulates abroad.

Americans fled for home at the rate of 9,000 a week immediately after the war started, but the number gradually decreased. Incoming vessels and planes now carry only a handful.

While most tourists have come back, officials said a considerable number of American businessmen remained in belligerent and nearby "threatened" countries even though they had sent their wives and families home. They are expected to remain unless the countries in which they work actually are invaded.

Official "advice" that Americans leave countries which might become embroiled in war often was given, but officials said the state department never had "ordered" Americans out of any area.

The Allies Oil Committee In Bucharest

German Party Also On Hand To Talk Over Trade Problems

BUCHAREST, Jan. 29 (AP)—The struggle for control of Rumania's key oil resources was intensified today with arrival by plane of a 25-member British-French mission followed by a new group of German negotiators who came by train.

Part of the Rumanian press adopted an anti-allied tone, accusing Britain of interfering with Rumania's internal affairs in an intolerable fashion in the oil battle.

Foreign-owned oil companies were accused of reducing production and British agents of leasing Danube river barges solely to prevent oil from reaching Germany.

A highly-placed informant reports Great Britain and France have given Rumania to understand they may break off economic relations with this country unless the question of oil for Germany is settled to their satisfaction.

In the Middle The basis of the reported British-French representations is the Rumanian "oil dictatorship" under which the allies fear their concerns in Rumania will be forced to furnish oil for the German war machine.

Rumania is in the middle. On one hand, the allies' envoys are said to have confronted Rumania with the alternative of opposing Germany, or losing British-French trade.

On the other, Germany is said to have warned that she will be forced to take "other measures," if she doesn't get larger quantities of Rumanian oil. To underline this need, it is reported, Germany told Bucharest oil is a matter of life or death for the reich.

Along with United States companies, the British and French concerns control the bulk of Rumania's petroleum production.

The first informed reaction in London to the report the allies had threatened a breach of commercial relations was that such a step is "extremely unlikely."

DISTRICT COURT JURY DISMISSED

Jury for the fifth and last week of the January session of 70th district court was dismissed Monday morning when cases docketed were settled or continued.

The compensation suit of J. P. Anderson versus the United Employers Casualty Co. was disposed of by an agreed judgment in the amount of $250.

A damage action brought by Sam R. Greer, Tyler, against Loren S. McDowell, growing out of the death of Greer's wife here last September, was continued by agreement of both sides.

Martelle McDonald, district attorney, said that the grand jury would hold its last meeting of the term starting Wednesday at 9:30 a. m.

GERMAN RAIDERS ARE DRIVEN OFF

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP)—German air raiders were driven off the northeast English coast and the Shetland Islands today in bitter winter weather, which brought British rail and highway traffic to a state described as the most chaotic in memory.

Fighting planes and anti-aircraft guns drove off the invading planes after air raid alarms sounded twice in northern England and parts of Scotland. In numerous towns citizens went quietly to shelters.

Hawaii, Once Pineapple Land, Now First Defense Line In Pacific

HONOLULU, Jan. 29 (AP)—Ten years ago Hawaii stood for sugar, pineapples and hula. Today it stands first of all for defense of the United States.

Since the European war began there has been a tightening up of every government activity.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation reopened offices here. The United States army assumed control of the WPA.

Pearl Harbor, possibly the world's greatest naval base, has been closed against visitors by presidential proclamation. None but naval vessels are allowed near the harbor mouth without a special permit.

The port of Honolulu was placed under control of the federal collector of customs and a naval officer was recalled from retirement and put in charge.

The aircraft carrier Enterprise, seven cruisers and 17 destroyers have been transferred here from California.

It was announced the island air forces would be augmented by at least 200 airplanes. A new transfer of long range naval patrol bombers was made by air to the

ODESSANS FIND SITE, NOT GOLD

ODESSA, Jan. 29 (AP)—Mrs. L. E. Smith said today her husband and Riley Smith, who reported finding $100,000 in gold, left last night for a "business" conference with a brother near Lubbock.

Mrs. Smith said she accompanied her husband to the treasure site the day he got possession of what he called a "waybill," which furnished directions. They did not do any digging, she said, and, according to her, the gold has not been uncovered, but her husband knows the location.

L. E. Smith said the site is 150 miles from here. Earlier reports gave the location as 15 miles from here. He and Riley Smith, no relation, are partners. The former said he could go to the treasure, supposedly buried 45 years ago. The site was found after an 11 months' search, he added.

Poll Taxes Gain As Deadline Time Nears

Record Total May Be Approached This Season

Tax collector's staff members batted typewriters furiously Monday morning to stay abreast of the mounting tide of persons who would pay their poll taxes before deadline time Wednesday midnight.

At noon Monday the total was 3,666, a gain of 191 over closing time Saturday. Should payments continue at this rate (and there was reason to believe it would be faster) the 4,800 record established two years ago may be approached or even reached.

Until just before noon there was not a Monday when there was not someone at the office window waiting a poll tax. Tax Collector John Wolcott warned again that he will close his office at midnight Wednesday regardless of how many are still in line. No one can vote in any of five important elections during the year without a poll tax receipt or an exemption certificate, of which only 256 have been issued thus far.

Dixie's Cold Is Abating

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Sub-zero temperatures began a retreat from the south today but left behind much suffering, more than 90 dead, and damage estimated in the millions in Florida's citrus and vegetable growing areas.

Gripped by the most acute cold in many years since last Monday, sections from Louisiana to Virginia slowly emerged from snow and ice to count losses and make necessary adjustments for return to normal living.

As Florida's longest and possibly most expensive cold in 25 years began moderating, officials said it would take several weeks to determine actual damage. They agreed, however, the winter truck crop was virtually a total loss and citrus was "hard hit."

School children generally returned to classrooms, and business returned to usual routine. Some side roads in mountain sections of the Carolinas, Georgia and Tennessee remained closed to travel, but no additional cases of distress were reported.

Louisiana led with 22 deaths attributable to the cold. Tennessee had 17, Arkansas 10, Mississippi 8, Georgia 10, North Carolina 7, South Carolina and Alabama 6, Virginia 4 and Florida 4.

It was 12 below zero at Richmond today. Chattanooga, Tenn., had -2 and Knoxville, Tenn., -4. Atlanta's snow, 10.3 inches last Tuesday, melted under a warming sun although the early morning reading there was 15 degrees.

Truck crops in Louisiana were badly damaged.

Deficiency Bill Clipped Again By Committee

Farm Bloc Decides To Defer Campaign For Parity Funds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The senate appropriations committee continued its economy efforts today by clipping $961,300 from the house-approved $88,502,600 urgent deficiency bill.

The measure carries money for navy armor plate and armaments and for federal tax refunds.

The senate committee cut coincided with word from farm bloc leaders in the house that they have decided to defer—and perhaps drop altogether—their annual campaign for more than $200,000,000 for parity payments for farmers.

The house ways and means committee heard conflicting view from business men on the reciprocal trade program. Eugene P. Thomas, president of the national foreign trade council, urged the program's continuance; Howard L. Young, of the National Association of Manufacturers, opposed it.

If the farm bloc leaders did drop the parity question, it would be the first time in recent years that it had not been an issue.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex) of the house agriculture committee, who has been an active proponent of parity payments, commented:

"It may be that developments abroad will force prices up to a point where parity will not be needed as badly."

(Parity payments are designed to raise a farmer's purchasing power to the 1909-1914 level.)

GARDNER BABY DEATH VICTIM

Services were held Monday at 10:45 a. m. at the Eberley chapel for Gerald Gene Gardner, 7-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. "Gene" Gardner, who succumbed Sunday at 4 p. m. Dr. D. F. McConnell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was in charge of rites. Burial was in the city cemetery.

Mrs. McCrary Death Victim

An illness of more than a year ended in death Monday for Mrs. Isabel McCrary, 54, wife of J. F. McCrary.

Mrs. McCrary succumbed at her home at 806 Douglas street at 8:10 a. m. Monday.

Born in Readyville, Tenn., Mrs. McCrary came to Big Spring 15 years ago with her husband and family. She was a member of the Presbyterian church and of the Rebekah lodge.

Services were set for 2 p. m. Tuesday at the First Presbyterian church with the pastor, Dr. D. F. McConnell, in charge. Burial will be in the city cemetery beside the grave of a daughter, Mrs. Mary Ellen Carroll, who died in January, 1934. Mrs. Zora Parks and the church choir will be in charge of music for the rites.

Surviving Mrs. McCrary besides her husband are three daughters, Elizabeth and Nell Rhea McCrary, both of Big Spring, and Mrs. H. Carlson Hamilton, Electra, and four sons, J. O. McCrary, Elvis McCrary, Grady McCrary, all of Big Spring, and William McCrary of Petaluma, Calif. She also leaves four grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Elmer Boatler, T. S. Currie, Bob Piner, J. T. Dillard, Gene Crenshaw, C. R. Dunagan, O. H. McAllister and Ben Miller.

DANCE PROCEEDS AMOUNT TO $484

Three dances staged here Saturday evening as Big Spring's part of the President Birthday celebration netted approximately $484, Grover C. Dunham, chairman of the committee reported Monday.

Total attendance at the three dances held at the Settles, Crawford and Elks club was 447, grossing $670.50.

Printing cost $12.50, the two hotels drew $78 each for orchestras and the Elks club orchestra $24, making an expense total of $118.50.

FINNS CLAIM 1,250 RED CASUALTIES IN BATTLE

TESTIFIES AT HEARING

Mrs. Frances Folsing, above, testified at a hearing at Austin, Texas, that Dr. W. J. Johnson, head of the San Antonio state hospital for the insane, made improper advances when she applied for a job and suggested she show him her knees. Dr. Johnson is accused of "moral unfitness" for his position.

Witnesses Attacked In Johnson Hearing

Woman Says Was Offered Job To Testify Against Hospital Head

AUSTIN, Jan. 29 (AP)—A young woman who works in the home of W. J. Johnson testified at a public hearing today that the superintendent of the San Antonio state hospital for the insane always had treated her in a gentlemanly manner and never had made improper advances to her.

Miss Lara Greer, blonde former school teacher and now a supervisor and cook in the residence of Dr. Johnson, subject of an investigation on morals charges, was one of the early witnesses at the 54-year-old, married superintendent began presenting his side of the case.

Miss Greer also testified before the state board of control that Claude Williams, assistant secretary of state, promised her another job if she would sign a statement saying Dr. Johnson had made improper advances.

She testified she told Williams such a statement would be untrue. Previously, counsel for Dr. Johnson attacked, through the testimony of an elderly apartment house manager, the reputation for chastity and truthfulness of a young woman witness who last week testified Johnson had made improper advances to her.

The apartment house manager, Mrs. Anna Price Hewitt of San Antonio, testified that last June the young woman witness had occupied an apartment in the house, that she came to the apartment at various times day and night and that one night the manager found the woman in a "compromising situation."

This statement was made in response to a question by Carl Wright Johnson, attorney for Dr. Johnson. Mrs. Hewitt said she meant by "compromising situation" that the woman had come to the door of her apartment scantily clad, that there was a man in her apartment and he was in bed and without clothing. He was, said Mrs. Hewitt, a deputy constable. Mrs. Hewitt said

Body Found In Gas-Filled Car

ABILENE, Jan. 29 (AP)—Discovery of his body in a gas-filled automobile this morning capped investigation of a statement by Coyal Compton, 27, of Abilene, that he had been kidnaped to prevent his testifying for the state in a murder trial at Eastland.

Preliminary investigation indicated that Compton had been dead only a short time when discovered about 10:15 o'clock. The motor of the car, borrowed from a friend, was still running when the body was found.

The automobile was parked on an oil well lease about five miles southeast of Abilene. The body was discovered by J. F. Anderson, operator of several pumps on the lease. A 25-foot length of garden hose wound from the car's exhaust pipe through a side window, lowered about an inch. The gap in the opened window was stuffed with an old piece of rug.

M. D. Compton, father of the dead man, appeared before the grand jury in Eastland this morning. The grand jurors were expected to report their findings with regard to Coyal Compton's kidnaping story late today or early Tuesday.

Temperatures Rise After Costing Florida Growers Many Millions

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Florida's coldest weather in a quarter of a century left the state's citrus and vegetable growers facing a multi-million dollar loss today as sunshine lifted winter's bitter 10-day siege across the southland and middle west.

Early reports indicated an all-most complete loss of truck crops in deep south Florida, and many growers made ready for replanting. The citrus crop was damaged heavily and fear was held for the state's sugar cane crop.

Vegetable crop losses in Dade county (Miami) were estimated at between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000, while in Broward county, planters said their damage might reach $5,000,000. Losses in Lee county were placed at $500,000.

A cold wave was climaxed Sunday when temperatures ranged from 10 above zero at Delano, 17 degrees in uncut portions of the Everglades, to 42 degrees at Key West.

Florida contributed at least six deaths to the nation's total of 158 attributed to the current cold wave. Weather-connected deaths near the 400 mark for the past three weeks.

Elsewhere in the south and mid-west, temperatures rose slowly and forecasters said the worst of the cold was over. At the lower edge of the southern snow belt, especially in Louisiana and Arkansas, the white blanket disappeared slowly yesterday in 40-degree weather.

HELSINKI AIR RAIDERS ARE DRIVEN OFF

HELSINKI, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Finnish high command reported today that its troops had killed more than 1,250 Russians in two battles in which the invaders were driven back on the eastern front.

"About 800" Russian troops were killed and 160 taken prisoners northeast of Lake Ladoga, the army reported, and in the Aittojoki sector to the south "the enemy left over 450 dead on the field."

While the Finns were acknowledging bitter fighting on the eastern front, Soviet planes tried to raid Helsinki but were driven off by anti-aircraft fire after causing four alarms.

In one raid on the capital today one Soviet plane was shot down in the outskirts of the city and its three occupants killed.

The fighting northeast of Lake Ladoga "because very fierce in character," the army communique said. "Our troops repulsed all the enemy's attacks and captured a few enemy strong points."

Most of the Russian attacks in the east, according to unofficial reports, had the character of rear-guard actions with which the Russians were trying to cover a withdrawal for a further reorganization.

Soviet fliers appeared throughout southern Finland today. In the raids on Helsinki the attackers were driven off by heavy anti-aircraft batteries which encircle the city.

Finnish officials said the Russians had bombed 10 localities in Uusima province—Helsinki county—in Savo province in the north and also a coast town on the Gulf of Bothnia yesterday.

They said 250 bombs were dropped but that casualties and material damage were slight.

Heavy artillery attacks on the Isthmus line were seen as a possible attempt to draw Finnish forces from the Ladoga front to bolster the Isthmus defenders.

Sales Tax Held Constitutional

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The supreme court ruled today that the New York City's 2 per cent sales tax, as applied to products brought into the city from outside the state, does not infringe the commerce clause of the federal constitution.

Justice Stone delivered the majority opinion sustaining the legislation against the attack on specific constitutional grounds.

The litigation was returned, however, to the state courts for further consideration as to whether the state taxing act applied to these transactions.

In another tax decision, the high court reversed an opinion delivered four years ago and sustained legislation taxing bank deposits of Kentuckians kept outside the state at a rate five times greater than that assessed on deposits within the state.

Justice Reed, himself a Kentuckian, delivered the decision holding the legislation constitutional.

FRANZ JOSEF

HAYDN'S

SYMPHONY No. 99 IN E FLAT MAJOR

"PAPA HAYDN"—Peasant Boy Who Became Father of the Modern Symphony

No man ever had a greater hold on the affections of all who knew him than Franz Joseph Haydn.

Few mortals have been blessed with such glorious gifts as this humble son of a poor wheelwright and a cook, who won the esteem and adulation of the aristocracy of two great nations, yet remained throughout his long life a simple peasant at heart.

Franz Joseph Haydn was born at Rohau, a tiny Austrian village, on March 31, 1732—one of a family of twelve children. At an early age he showed a love for music—studied the violin, the drums and the clavier and was able to "stand up like a man and sing masses in the church choir."

He was the chief ornament of the boys' choir of St. Stephen's in Vienna, until some idiotic boyish prank got him into trouble with the director. (It is said that he cut the pigtail off another boy). And when his voice showed signs of "breaking" he was quickly expelled.

Without a groshen in his pocket he found himself thrown on his own resources at the age of seventeen. He must have been a lad of spirit—he must have had an infinite capacity for making friends—because, in one way or another, he got through the next three years—three years of utter poverty, and more often than not felt the pitiless pinch of hunger.

Then the Haydn luck manifested itself. He met an old choirman who gave him lodging. He found a few pupils and was able to borrow money enough to purchase an ancient clavier with which to begin serious study. Nicolo Porpora, famed singer and composer, taught him composition and engaged him as a sort of valet. And later he led an orchestra for an aristocrat named Morzin. His good fortune continued and he received the coveted appointment of Kappelmeister to that fabulously wealthy music lover, Prince Paul Anton Esterhazy, a position he retained for thirty happy years.

At Esterhazy, Haydn conducted a small but famous orchestra and, relieved of all financial cares, composed an almost unbelievable amount of music—masses, operas, quartets, concertos, and A HUNDRED SYMPHONIES, not to speak of reams of music for the viola, that half-brother of the violin which today is found only as a rare exhibit in the better museums! And at this time he originated a custom that was considered revolutionary—he began to PUBLISH his works—a hitherto unheard-of procedure for a musician.

From the seclusion of Esterhazy his fame traveled far and wide. He wrote quartets for the Grand Duke of Russia. He received requests for permission to publish his works in London and Paris. Boccherini carried his fame to Spain.

After the death of Prince Esterhazy, Haydn went to London, where valuable commissions awaited him, where he discovered himself to be an important personage and the center of interest in English society. He was even given a degree by the University of Oxford.

Loaded with honors, his reputation secure, prosperous and the popular hero of the music-loving world, he returned to Vienna in 1792. Two years later he repeated his English journey with even more success. He was invited to make his home in London, but his attachment to Vienna and the Esterhazys was too great. He remained a year and then returned home—an old man loaded with honors, full of anecdotes and stories, with money enough to keep him in comfort for the rest of his life.

Haydn died in his beloved Vienna on May 31, 1809. Hard work, supreme courage and his great talents had elevated him from a lowly peasant boy—short, uncouth, ill-proportioned and desperately poor—to a position at the very top of his profession, loved and admired by all—respected by every one.

BAYLOR CAGERS STAND IN WAY OF TEXAS BOVINES

RICE OWLS TO BE IDLE FOR THREE WEEKS

By FELIX B. McKNIGHT
DALLAS, Jan. 29 (AP)—Tumbling out of the early season trace that just about destroyed championship chances, Baylor's Bears moved along the Southwest conference basketball schedule today as the menacing wreck-er of playhouses.

Only a sweep of their remaining six games could assure the Baylor even a mathematical claim to the title, but a man-steal demonstration against Rice Institute last weekend left them a most respected bunch of boys.

Still in front of Baylor are two games that may have more bearing on the conference race than any left on the schedule—a couple of dates with Texas university, current leaders, defending champions and co-favorites with Rice.

Mid-term exams almost halt competition, but Baylor gets its "chance to move along in the only games of the week, meeting the rather formidable Texas Aggies at Waco on Tuesday night and the soft Texas Christians at Fort Worth on Saturday night.

Win Three

Reeling, almost on the verge of being dropped far behind Texas, Rice finally wound up a strenuous week of four games with three triumphs. No problems at all was Southern Methodist, going down 52-23, but the Texas Aggies protested before being dropped, 67-54.

Baylor, using a grand defense, turned Houston upside down Friday night by upsetting the Owls, 45-43. Not until the fading seconds did the Baylor come through, little Grady Vaughn sneaking in a sideline looper for the winning basket.

It looked like the same thing again Saturday night when Baylor stacked up a 29-34 half-time margin, but the Owls took things calmly and surged through in the last seven minutes to pass the faltering Baylor, 62-44.

Now Baylor finds itself in the position of being able to do very little about winning the title themselves, but capable of ruining Texas' chances.

Only Three Games

Rice has only three more games—but what games. Some three weeks of idleness face them while stiff mid-term exams are wrestled, then the Owls must return on February 19 and 20 for a two-game series with Arkansas at Houston. The Forkers spilled Texas and would do the same to Rice.

The big punch of the season likely will come on February 27 at Austin when Texas and Rice tie into each other for the last time.

Est 'em Bob Kinney, the sky-scraper Rice center, was leading the scorers with 102 points, far ahead of Bert Selman and Frankie Carwell, two teammates, who pulled up second and third with 79 and 77 points. Carwell, however, was out of the Aggie and S.M.U. games last week with a misbehaving ankle.

Vaughn's Cagers May Play San Angelo Quintet Here

The Vaughn's Sweet shop cagers may play the Ellis Parts quintet, San Angelo, here within the near future according to the Sugar Coats skipper, W. L. Thompson.

Thompson related he believed the Odessa L&E Drug team, which the Piemen defeated here two weeks ago, was far tougher than the Angelenos which noosed out the Big Springers at Lake View last weekend.

Lack of reserves cost Vaughn's a chance at victory in that game. Guy Crow, who played for the Hobbs, N. M., high school basketball crew last season, a team that defeated strong Abilene among other quintets, is starting for the freshmen squad at Southern Methodist university, Dallas.

The Foy's fresh are reportedly the strongest first year men the Dallasites have hoisted in a half dozen years.

Art Dorrell, the Tyler writer who was king of the Texas amateur 147-pounders for three years, is back in Dallas after a successful campaign in professional circles in the east. He won three of four fights in New York City and gained a draw in his other test.

Lubbock Hubbers Must Look For 1st Sacker; Mosel Gone

A very familiar face to WT-NM baseball league fans, that belonging to Bob Mosel, will no longer be a part of the scenery.

The popular Lubbock first sacker, a fielding marvel who could never hit Class D pitching, steps into Class C hall this year as a member of the Longview club of the East Texas league.

Mosel fielded .990 in 110 games last year for the champions, making but ten errors in trying for all kind of balls hit and thrown in his direction, but he clouted less than 340.

Maybe the change will do him good.

Far more trouble is being experienced in unraveling franchise problems in the East Texas league than in our own circuit.

Henderson, where the recent player ruling by Judge E. M. Landis stripped the Henderson roster of most of its regular players, is stymied and has made no announcement concerning the 1940 season. Fortunately a man like Jackie Ate is at the head of the organization.

Jacksonville, always the weak sister of the circuit, has no funds with which to open the campaign, must once again call on the people for contributions if it remains in the professional game.

Lufkin is being talked as a possibility to take up the Jacksonville league rights.

Approve Plans For Semi-Pro World Series

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (AP)—The national semi-pro baseball congress approved plans today for an international post-season series in 1941 among champions of the United States, Puerto Rico, Canada and Mexico.

Ray Dumont of Wichita, Kas., was re-elected president of the congress at the opening session.

The congress has yet to name a U. S. commissioner before adjourning.

Members of the board voted to change the procedure of intentional walks in semi-pro baseball. Henceforth the pitcher will indicate when he intends to pass the batter and the latter will take first base, without any balls being pitched.

Ed Barrow, president of the New York Yankees, advocates a similar procedure in the major leagues.

Semi-pro diamonds this season will be equipped with a loud speaker system which picks up the field arguments between umpire and players for the fans, an innovation in the diamond game.

BEARKATS AND DOGS TO PLAY

GARDEN CITY, Jan. 29—Garden City's Bearkats and the Comhoma Bulldogs will play an exhibition basketball game here Tuesday evening.

Both teams participated in the Garden City tournament last weekend.

Mack, Buccos Bid High For Ben McCoy

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 29 (AP)—Baseball's battle of dollars for the services of 23-year-old Benny McCoy is scheduled to end before sundown with the former Detroit Tiger infielder affixing his signature to a contract with one of six major league clubs still seeking his services.

McCoy, who was declared a free agent recently by Baseball Commissioner Kennesaw Mountain Landis along with 90 other Tiger chatels, could have signed a contract at midnight Sunday, but he delayed until this afternoon to give all bidders a chance to submit final offers.

"I'll be glad to get it over with," McCoy said. "I have had hardly any rest since I got the good news that I was a free agent."

Clubs named by McCoy as still being interested in acquiring his services are Boston, Pittsburgh, Brooklyn and Cincinnati of the National League and Philadelphia and Washington of the American circuit.

Leading in the bidding as auctioneer McCoy prepared to bring down the gavel with a cry of "Going-going-gone" were the Athletics with an offer of $40,000 in cash and a two-year playing contract at $10,000 a season. The Pittsburgh Pirates were next with a $35,000 bid. Both offers represent record bids for a free agent.

The game will not count in M-C standings.

By ROBERT MYERS
DEL MAR, Calif., Jan. 29 (AP)—With a newcomer, sturdy Ed Oliver of Hornell, N. Y., installed as winner of the fourth annual $3,000 Bing Crosby golf tournament, the touring brigade of professionals swung east today.

Oliver repeated his sub-par Saturday performance yesterday and led the field with a 59-hole card of 65-67—132 to capture his first major tournament. He was nine strokes under par for the regular.

Jacks Oppose East Texans This Week

The Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks will make an attempt to remain in the Lone Star conference basketball championship picture this week when they invade the lair of the undefeated, league-leading East Texas Lions Saturday night.

Vanquished, 44 to 31, on their home floor in an earlier meeting with the Lions this year, S. F. Austin, with two wins and two losses, can hope for no better than a second place tie should it lose.

The other tilt for the week will bring together the once-beaten Sam Houston Bearkats and the Southwest Texas Bobcats at San Marcos. With only a 57-47 reversal at the hands of Stex on the record, Sam Houston is figured to take the winless Bobcats. North Texas, the fifth member of the league, is idle.

Garner Hill Billies Win Garden City Tourney

Forsan Fems Win Division Honors, 35 To 27

GARDEN CITY, Jan. 29 — The Garner Hill Billies came from behind to win championship honors in the boys' division of the Garden City invitational basketball tournament here Saturday evening, defeating the Sterling City Eagles, 31-18.

The Billies from Howard county trailed, 7-4, at half time but Miller led a last half charge that pushed Garner into the lead.

The title laurels in the girls' division also went to a Howard county contingent defeating Garner, 35-27.

The Gregory girls, Mary and Virginia, were outstanding.

The Forsan boys defeated Courtney, 24-15, in consolation finals while Garden City girls captured the consolation trophy in their division by thumping Sterling City, 46-12.

Jeffcoat was the only Garner player chosen on the boys' all-tournament team. He was named along with Griffith, Forsan, Pinkston, Courtney, Abernathy, Sterling City, and Medina, Garden City.

Santone Champion Looks Forward To Facing Patty Berg

BETTY JAMESON

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Betty Jameson, who topped them all to win the national championship, looked over the ranks of America's women golfers today and picked an ideal combination for playing from tee to green.

She would let Charlotte Glutting handle the woods, Patty Berg make the long iron shots and Marion Miley do the chipping.

For the putting, she would take any one of a dozen players who happened to be sinking the long ones at the time.

"Sometimes they drop for you and sometimes they don't," she remarked, adding, "I hate to put."

Her idea of an all-round golfer is Glenna Collett Vare, many times United States titleholder.

"Glenna would be beating us all right now if she wanted to play seriously again," said the attractive San Antonio, Tex., girl.

Miss Jameson is joining other players in the winter tournament swing around Florida, and looking forward to another match with Patty Berg, former national champion.

They have met twice and are all even, Patty winning in the finals of the St. Augustine tournament last year and Betty turning in a victory in the Trans-Mississippi event.

Betty didn't win a tournament on her first winter circuit, but her shots are working now and she hopes to keep the winning stride she struck in the National last summer.

PRUSOFF BEATEN

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Bobby Riggs, beaten in three previous winter tournaments, counted his first tennis triumph of the 1940 season today.

A brilliant forcing game carried him to a 6-1, 7-5, 6-2 victory over Henry Prusoff of Seattle, Wash., in the men's finals of the South Florida tournament here yesterday.

Rideout Wins At New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—Those familiar, exciting words "...which creates a new record..." were barked through the loudspeaker six times at the Metropolitan senior indoor championships in Brooklyn.

In Boston at the Froot games, a howling crowd of 10,000 was treated to the fastest indoor mile of the year, a 44:10.3 effort by Chuck Fenske; an excellent 9:01.7 two-mile run by Greg Rice of Notre Dame and a sensational 2:12.9 drive in the 1,000 by Wayne Rideout.

There's your proof the indoor track season has hit its stride, and that the Milrose games in Madison Square Garden Saturday will be pulse-tugging.

Look at the lineup for the Wanamaker mile. Two major indoor mile paces have been won, and Glenn Cunningham, the master, hasn't won either. But he will get a chance at his conquerors, Gene Venks and Chuck Fenske, Saturday. That would be enough to make it the mile of the season, even if it didn't have Archie San Romani, the Sugar Bowl winner; California's Lou Zamperini and big Les MacMillan of N. Y. U.

The two mile has every bit as much promise. Rice's defeat of Indiana's Don Leah at Boston having seen to that, since Greg's time was dangerously close to Don's indoor record.

War Without A Front

When war between Germany on one side and France and Great Britain on the other was suggested, most people thought of the fearful holocausts of Verdun and the Somme, of the havoc airplanes and other modern implements of destruction can work and imagined an immediate unprecedented destruction of human life and property.

The trench systems of the World war were hard enough to storm. But the trench of the World war has become the fortress of today. The direct frontal attack with large masses of infantry, difficult and thankless in 1914-1918, has become almost impossible now, when armies of relatively equal strength and training and equipment are engaged, and when the front, as in eastern France, is too short to permit maneuvering.

Such new offensive weapons as the tank and the long-range gun and the bombing airplane are more than outweighed by such defensive weapons as the machine gun, the steel and concrete fort or pillbox, the anti-aircraft gun, combined with the action of the defensive side's aircraft.

Will this situation continue indefinitely? It is premature for positive opinion. But it is at least possible that no decisive battle will take place along the front where the Germans on one side, the French and British on the other, have made the most elaborate preparations.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—There are nearly six thousand Japanese in New York and they are scattered from Broadway to the outer fringes of the five great boroughs. They never did go in for settlements of their own, such as the Chinatown and the Little Italys of the Chinese and the Italians.

In New York the Japanese get about. They mingle. It is rare that you do not see at least three or four at the first nights or in the better restaurants. Irrespective of your personal sympathies in the current Japanese-Chinese war, you must admit that the casual Japanese, when you meet him on the street, is a livelier companion and a more intelligent (at least to strangers) conversationalist than the average Chinese.

Ask a Chinese how to get to 88th and Fifth and he will probably receive a shrug. Ask a Japanese and he will say, "Go right down to the next corner and walk left three blocks."

The Japanese here have two newspapers—Nihon Jihou, which means the Japanese-American Review, and the New York Shinpo, which means News. They have six churches, three Buddhist and three Christian, and they have five schools, devoted mainly to teaching the correct use of the Japanese language to second generation Japanese, or those who were born in America.

As for their business pursuits, they write for the newspapers, they import silk, and deal in gold fish, they own restaurants and wait tables. Look under the J's in the Manhattan telephone directory and you will find a whole column of importers and exporters dealing in everything from toys (G-Men badges for kids, etc.) to priceless porcelains and jade.

One interesting entry, at 1770 Broadway, is "The Japanese Army." But that is only for buying—not for recruiting.

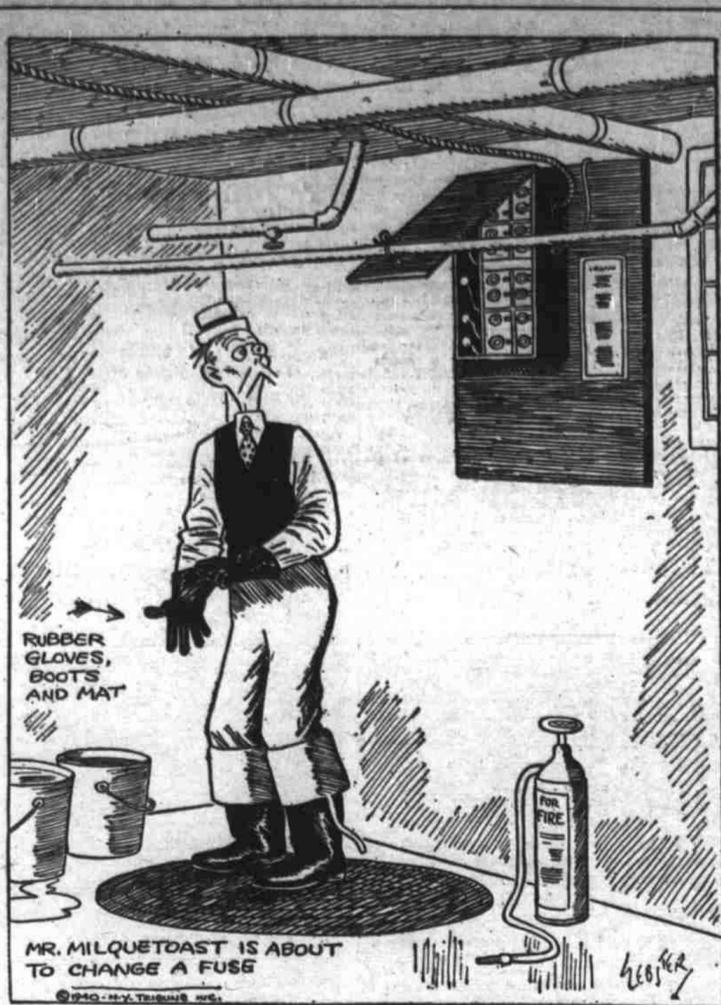

Of all the Japanese in New York perhaps the most important, at least politically, are Mr. Kazuo Nishi, the financial commissioner, and Mr. Kazuo Wakutani, the consul-general. Mr. Nishi's authority stems straight from the treasury department, and the consul-general, as you know, is the man with all the answers for all of the five to six thousand of his countrymen in this city.

While we Americans are getting ready to celebrate George Washington's birthday as the next in line of our national holidays, the Japanese are preparing to celebrate Kigen-sennin (Feb. 11), and this year it will be greater than ever. This is the birthday of the empire, and on this day Japan will be 2500 years old. Many other holidays are locally observed, such as the emperor's birthday, April 29, and the Day for Boys, May 5.

Socially, both the Tosai and the Nippon clubs play an important part in the lives of the New York Japanese. The Tosai, which means East and West, is for those children of the Rising Sun who were born in Japan and also those who were born in America. But the Nippon club is more exclusive. You have to be born in Japan to get in here.

As many as 100 students have been trapped around a scene of marshland in Jefferson county and another school was left.

Chapter Seven 'Come Clear' To my surprise the Sergeant didn't say anything more to me, instead he turned to Mrs. Evans and asked loudly, "Who was the man who left here mysteriously?" "Kincaid," she said irritably, "furious probably because the Sergeant let the matter of the key pass without handcuffing me immediately."

"I know very little to tell you, Sergeant," I said, trying to sound composed. "These people here are all strangers to me." "Maybe you don't know anything, but that's for me to decide," he got up and walked to the window. "You'd better start with last evening."

called for Norton, and it was the man who spoke to me on the stairway who came out of Miss Kent's apartment to answer the Sergeant. "Almost finished in there?" the Sergeant asked. "Yep. The doc just left."

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—Twenty years ago a special train with blinds drawn rolled mournfully eastward from the Rocky mountain country bringing to Washington President Woodrow Wilson, stricken as he sought to persuade the U. S. to join the League of Nations.

Twenty years after that tragic collapse, another train mournfully rolled, but this time westward from Washington the Rocky mountains, carrying the body of Senator William E. Borah, the man most responsible for defeat of President Wilson's hopes for a League of Nations.

Wilson was in the midst of a nationwide speaking tour in September, 1919, preaching the doctrine that an end to strife in the world could come only through U. S. adherence to a league empowered first, to persuade, and then to compel maintenance of peace.

Hard on his heels were Senator Borah and a group of senate isolationists answering Wilson's arguments with declarations that Europe's quarrels were a chronic disease from which this country should remain insulated by abhorring "entangling alliances."

He refused to give in at once, but by the time the train reached Wichita, Kan., the paralysis that later reached his face and part of his body had begun. He never fully recovered. He could not attend cabinet meetings. He lived on until 1924, his activities sharply limited.

The senate debated, and finally defeated adherence to the treaty which would have made the United States a part of the league.

Borah considered that the greatest battle of his life. During it, he made many of the speeches which since have been looked upon as models of debate.

He planned to fight in a campaign which he too hoped to carry to the country. He had strength, he said, in spite of an attack of pneumonia, a year ago, to fight "one more good battle." He was uncertain whether he could persuade the country again to pursue the course of isolation from Europe's affairs which he considered essential to its safety.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—If Jane Bryan really means it about giving up her career for marriage, Hollywood hasn't any real precedent to cite gibbly. There's Joan Travis, who was wed the other day, but Jane left pictures a year or two ago—an unusual step for any young girl who has had a taste of fame.

But Jane Bryan, after one big role, had the way open for bigger assignments and had arrived, virtually, at stardom. She was given a part in "Married, Pretty and Poor," which she didn't like. She was suspended. The next Hollywood knee, she was married in Chicago, to a man whose courtship successfully evaded the gossip columns, and she was saying she was through with pictures.

Phyllis Haver chose marriage in the east to a career in Hollywood. Virginia Fox was an actress before she married Darryl Zanuck, and gave it up pronto. Dorothy Jordan quit pictures shortly after marriage to Merian Cooper, the producer, and Dixie Lee, except for a minor appearance now and then, has devoted herself strictly to the job of being Mrs. Crosby. Since Ann Harding became Mrs. Werner Janssen, a rare stage appearance has been her only activity, although her return is often rumored.

May McAvoy, one of the top leading ladies of the first talkies, hasn't made a picture in years—marriage writing fins to the career. Leatrice Joy, who came from retirement in "First Love" after 10 years off screen for marriage, still is primarily the wife and mother, the career playing second fiddle. You don't hear much of Marian Nixon any more, but you hear a lot of Mrs. William Seiter. And if you wondered what ever happened to Lelia Hyams, or Virginia Valli, or Constance Talmadge, the answer is "They Married." (Miss Talmadge recently divorced Townsend Netcher, but she quit acting to become his wife.)

There are many other former actresses who chose home firelight to studio arc-lights, but there isn't one in the lot actually comparable to the Bryan girl. All those others forsook their careers, it is true, but most of them abandoned careers that were on the down-bow. Either they had enjoyed full years of fame and fortune on their own, or they had decided the game wasn't worth the struggle compared to romance or the peace domesticity.

And among the younger of the lot, there wasn't one with the promise of this young Jane. There wasn't one with her sincerity, her mobility of face and expression, her sure "feeling" for acting, her eagerness to learn and to profit by tutelage. It's romantic, all right. The only approach to it for her poetic romance was provided some seven years ago by Edna Best. Miss Best fled Hollywood and a role opposite the then "great lover" of the movies, John Gilbert, because she couldn't bear to be separated so long from her husband Herbert Marshall.

The Best-Marshall romance, of course, is currently on the rocks and shouldn't be mentioned in the same paragraph with that of "I girl who's on her honeymoon." North Texas Teachers college at Denton has received a music set granted by the Carnegie Corporation of New York. The set includes 1,000 records of music from over the world, an electric phonograph designed for small auditoriums, 150 scores and 100 books on music.

Gray foxes, formerly observed rarely except at night, now are seen frequently crossing Texas roads, game department biologists report.

Coughlin Marked For Investigation

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin has been marked for investigation "in due course" by the department of justice following the filing of formal complaints against the Michigan radio priest by the Jewish Peoples Committee.

This was confirmed by O. John Rogge, assistant U. S. attorney general, before he left last night for Minneapolis and Chicago to gather additional evidence in a widening inquiry stemming from the arrest of 17 Christian Front members here on charges of seditious conspiracy to overthrow the government.

Father Coughlin, in his regular Sunday broadcast from Detroit, said he would welcome "with graciousness" an investigation of his activities.

Rogge, the 36-year-old prosecutor who recently won convictions of several Louisiana politicians on mail fraud charges, declined to discuss the nature of the accusations made by the Jewish organization against Father Coughlin. "They will be investigated in due course," he said.

Two weeks ago, following the arrest of the 17 alleged plotters, the Michigan priest issued a statement denying any affiliation with the Christian Front to which they belonged and said he "roundly disavowed it."

Fruit Crop Damage To Be Determined

AUSTIN, Jan. 20 (AP)—Texas vegetables and citrus fruits apparently were damaged seriously in last week's cold wave but it is too early to appraise the extent of the losses, the U. S. department of agriculture marketing service reported today.

Snowfall may have protected crops in the Winter Garden area but heavy frost followed by sunshine was particularly damaging in the lower Rio Grande valley, the service said.

Many cabbage heads were split and beet tops showed effects of freezing. Carrots were less injured but citrus fruits showed ice crystals.

Much grapefruit was ruined for fresh shipment and is being processed as rapidly as possible. Valencia oranges just coming into production showed less damage than other citrus fruits.

The service said extent of damage would not be known for at least a week.

Oliver's score, lowest in the four-year history of the Crosby tournament, netted him $500 first money.

In the pro-amateur best-ball competition, professional Johnny Geertsen of Salt Lake City and amateur Russell Osgood of San Diego emerged victorious with a score of 66-63-128. Osgood got a trophy and Geertsen $300.

The tournament ended California's 1940 winter series and returned Lawson Little as winner of the Crosby cup offered to the professional with the best average for the series. In 12 rounds, Little had 852 strokes for an average of 71. Next came Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., with 866 strokes, an average of 71.3.

Little won the Los Angeles open and Demaret the Oakland open and San Francisco match play tournament.

TEDDY LYONS HOPES MONTY STRATTON CAN COME BACK

VINTON, La., Jan. 29 (AP)—Pitcher Ted Lyons hopes to see young Monty Stratton fling again for the Chicago White Sox despite his artificial leg.

"Monte had as much stuff last year as ever," said Lyons, who soon will start his 18th season as a Chicago hurler. "Maybe he couldn't pitch a full game because he might hurt himself fielding, but there are spots where he could be used."

ing for position up to the last day, and there was no spot to take a chance.

"Of course, his fielding would suffer, and an agreement would have to be made to let someone run for him. But Monte says he can do it. And if he says so, I believe he can."

MONTY STRATTON

The two were roommates last season, and there was something ironic in the contrast.

Lyons, one of the game's great hurlers when young Monte was getting into the ball park at half price, was having a successful season at an age when most players have long called it quits. Stratton, one of the game's most promising youngsters in 1938, apparently was through as a player—his right leg lost the previous winter through accidental discharge of a shotgun while hunting. The Greenville, Texas, boy was on the roster as a coach and batting practice pitcher.

"Monte was ready to blossom into real greatness," Lyons declared. "He already was great, but last year he would have made right-handed hitters throw their bats away."

"He was as effective as ever throwing them in batting practice, and there was talk about trying him in a game. But we were fight-

SCOTTY REVEALS GOLD FINDINGS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29 (AP)—An amazing grubstake mystery and the revelation that a treasure in gold has been buried more than 20 years ago all that state and federal investigators got out of efforts to collect income tax from Death Valley Scotty.

The famous desert character prepared for government archives the first signed statement he ever has made about his gold.

"About 30 years ago I found gold ore and buried some in caches or deposits in the mountains," Scotty stated. "The gold ore is very rich."

"To the best of my recollection, I have had no income for about 30 years except money borrowed from my partner, A. M. Johnson, who has furnished me with all the supplies and mules that I have used in the mountains."

"I have not converted the caches or deposits in the mountain into cash."

Britons' Rations Are Increased

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Britons received double rations of bacon and ham today, and the government was reported planning to increase butter allowances.

The food ministry's announcement that the bacon and ham allowances would be increased to one-half pound a week said food supplies were more plentiful despite submarine warfare and the mine menace.

Air-Tight Defense

SHUBERT, Neb., Jan. 29 (AP)—White-washing cheerfully done. That's the motto of Supt. Al Jensen's Shubert Junior High school basketball team.

A week ago the team blanked Humboldt Junior High, 22 to 0. Last Saturday Shubert whipped the Falls City seventh grade team, 29 to 0.

Many Die In Tokyo Factory Blaze

TOKYO, Jan. 29 (AP)—Between 170 and 200 factory workers were burned to death today when a two-car suburban train was derailed and burst into flames on the outskirts of Osaka. About 100 others were injured.

The chief of the Osaka railway bureau said an investigation had failed to show the cause of the accident. Earlier reports said the train rammmed a string of gasoline tank cars.

W. Lee Recommends Mixing Of Religion And Politics

AUSTIN, Jan. 29 (AP)—The mixing of religion and politics should improve politics, Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel asserted in his regular Sunday broadcast.

He charged that "the big brain bosses of politics are too dignified to get out in front and criticize themselves, so they hide back in their mahogany-lined offices and send out aspiring young mouthpieces to indicate that it will ruin the country to mix religion and morality with politics."

"Judging from the mess that many folks believe this country is in," the governor continued, "I believe it is time to mix something new and different with the old brand of politics because the old brand has certainly gotten things in terrible shape as far as the rank and file of common citizens is concerned."

O'Daniel also told his listeners that "it would surprise you to know of the good, clean young men and women who work in minor positions of the government who listen to these programs and who convey to me in a confidential manner some of the rottenness that is going on in their departments of this government."

Aged Frontiersman Is Death Victim

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 29 (AP)—Armons III, who hated a bad worse than a rattlesnake, died in one yesterday.

The 99-year-old army veteran had fought Indians from the Rio Grande to the Rockies. Always he had insisted on sleeping out doors. Born Raymond Hatfield Gardner at Logansport, Ind., he was captured by Comanches who raided his father's wagon train in East Texas. At eight he was traded to the Sioux for nine ponies and five blankets.

He stayed with the Sioux until he was 15, then ran away.

At 15 he was in the United States army and later was a courier for General Ulysses S. Grant. Wounded three times he was transferred to the command of General Custer as an advance scout.

Arizona Bill left the army to ride for Wells Fargo's pony express out of St. Joseph, Mo., but that life palled. He went back to the army as a scout in the Arizona Indian campaign.

Eventually he joined Buffalo Bill's wild west show and traveled abroad.

Arizona Bill spent most of his last years in border army camps.

Rebel General To Be Put To Death

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29 (AP)—Former Lieut.-Col. Catarino Gallegos Cruz was disclosed today to have been sentenced to death as a plottor in the revolt of Rebel General Saturnino Cedillo.

The military council that sentenced Gallegos Cruz to death also committed Major J. Lerrera to eight years' imprisonment.

Cedillo rose in arms more than a year ago in San Luis Potosi state against President Lazaro Cardenas, and was hunted down and slain by federal troops.

CAN COMPLAIN

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 29 (AP)—Glenn Robert Ross, eight days old, hasn't complained yet about the hospital food but he may ask any day now for something besides milk—he's got two teeth. He had them when he was born—right up in front where they would show. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. T.N. Ross.

VETERAN FBI AGENT RETIRES

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 29 (AP)—E. (Oyp) Farland, a federal bureau of investigation agent for 24 years, retired today and will spend several weeks fishing in the Gulf of Mexico.

He was one of the agents who helped solve the union station massacre here in June, 1933. Among his "acquaintances" were George (Machine Gun) Kelly and Harvey Bailey, serving life sentences for the Urshel kidnaping in Oklahoma City; Wilbur Underhill, Bob Brady, "Pretty Boy" Floyd, the Barker brothers and cigar-smoking Bonnie Parker.

"I'm going down to Corpus Christi, do some deep-sea fishing and wander around," he said as he put his hat and yellow-green canary into his car.

"I'll be back later, but I'm through with the heavy work. That's something for the younger men to do now."

Farland joined the Manila police department after being mustered out of the army after the Philippine insurrection. Later he joined the Philippine secret service. On vacation in Washington in 1917, he passed examinations for the FBI. He is unmarried.

MAKE NO MOVE TO DIG UP HIDDEN GOLD CACHE

ODESSA, Jan. 29 (AP)—Secretive about it all, L. E. and Riley Smith, partners but not relatives, made no move today to dig up the $100,000 gold cache they claim is hidden near here.

L. E. Smith said he could go to the treasure, supposedly buried 68 years ago. He said he recently acquired a map and found the spot of the hidden treasure after an 11 months search.

There was some luggage outside his house today but he declined to discuss a trip to the hills or the treasure.

BLOOD RUNS COLD

By Ann Demarest

"Yes and no, Sergeant. Personally, no. By reputation, yes." He seemed pleased. "So he's got a bad reputation."

"I didn't say bad. I said he had a reputation, a very good one. He writes swell mystery stories."

The Sergeant swore softly. "Have you ever seen him?" he asked presently.

"Once, at a meeting of some artists and writers, but I haven't the slightest notion what he looked like."

"Sorry to interrupt, Sergeant," Mr. Kimball said from the doorway, "but there is someone from Police Headquarters here to see you. I finally got that call through to Miss Kent's mother and brother. They are on their way to the city now. They'll be here shortly."

After the Sergeant left with Mr. Kimball I didn't stir out of the chair. My mind was as calm as a seven-day bicycle race.

"Miss Howarth," I said, "you're in a bad spot."

I took the last cigarette out of my case reluctantly. The hissard of '88 had nothing on this. It was about half-past eleven; I'd had no breakfast and the Sergeant would probably never let me out of the house to get a pack of cigarettes or a sandwich.

Finally I got up and went to the window. Everything in sight was covered with snow and the sky was dark. It looked as though it might storm again. A week ago, I thought sadly, I could have gone to Bermuda. Now I was mixed up in a murder. In fact, I was the murderer, according to the brilliant Sergeant Long. Why he was more suspicious of me than of Mrs. Evans or Sarah I couldn't imagine. Goodness knows I'm no beauty, but I'm certainly not the criminal type either. He made me feel very uneasy, and that fire escape outside my window didn't add to my peace of mind either.

Joan Kent had been murdered and there wasn't any reason to worry now that it had happened, but I still hated the idea of having such an easy entrance to my apartment. Continued tomorrow.

AFL Check Shows Employed Increase

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor said today that 1,397,000 more persons had jobs in December, 1939, than in the same month the year before.

"Employment should continue to hold its own in the months just ahead," the federation predicted.

On the jobs which brought the number of employed persons in the United States to 44,335,000, the federation said 850,000 were additions to the working population, and 800,000 were persons previously among the unemployed.

The unemployed numbered 8,879,000 in December, 1939, the federation said, compared with 10,168,000 in December, 1938.

MARKETS Wall Street

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—The stock market took a half-hearted look toward rallying territory today but that was about all that happened.

Selective advances in fractions were a trifle in the majority the greater part of the session, although numerous issues were at a standstill. Prices slipped a shade in the final hour and the close lacked a definite trend. Transfers approximated 800,000 shares.

Persistent speculative question marks included those surrounding business, politics, new taxes, inflation and the European wars. All the same time, a little buying was traced to those who believe the market stalemate may have lasted long enough and that a break-out on the upside is at least a possibility.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem held fairly well in the face of an estimated drop of 4.09 points in this week's mill operations. Left made a new 193-49 top. Favored most of the day were Lockheed, Glenn Martin, Santa Fe, Great Northern, American Can, Sears Roebuck, North American and International Nickel.

Western Front's Quiet Shattered

PARIS, Jan. 29 (AP)—Rifle fire exchanges between the casemates of the Maginot and Siegfried lines today at least until next Monday as the French reported Allied forces in advanced posts were fighting off increased German patrol activity.

Warmer weather accompanied by rains put soldiers on both sides to work building out trenches and dugouts.

A "new wave" of German submarines is reported to have taken to the seas to war on merchant shipping.

Meanwhile, Premier Daladier prepared to broadcast to the French people at 8 p. m. (2 p. m. CST) today. His subject was not announced.

The submarine foray was reported yesterday by the French high command, and observers estimated the submarine force was about one-third of the 75 to 80 submarines Germany is believed to have in commission.

Beyond saying that depth mines had produced results against the underwater raiders, the high command gave no details of the anti-submarine campaign.

Mexican Church Conference Ends

Messengers of the West Texas Mexican Baptist association closed out a three-day quarterly conference here Sunday with reports of expanding work.

Rev. Loyd Corder, pastor of the local Mexican Baptist church, headed the conference as president of the association. Other officers here were E. P. Gonzales, Snyder, vice president, Silviano Lara, Post, secretary-treasurer, and Adan Ortiz, Abilene, statistical secretary.

Next meeting will be held in Sweetwater on May 2-5 with Rev. Manuel Gonzales as host pastor. Represented here were churches and missions at Lubbock, Post, Snyder, Rotan, Abilene, Brownwood, San Angelo, Sweetwater, Midland, Grand Falls, Bovine, Pecos and Big Spring.

she ordered the woman to "get out just as fast" as she could. The woman's reputation for chastity was bad as was her reputation for truth and veracity, according to Mrs. Hewitt.

Miss Leger Green, who has worked in Dr. Johnson's home since last May 1, testified that the superintendent is "a gentleman" and that she could not "imagine a family more congenial or courteous than the Johnson family is."

The attractive former school teacher, said that Claude Williams, assistant secretary of state, told her earlier this month "he would get me a better job if I would sign a statement saying Dr. Johnson made improper advances." She could not make such a statement, she said, because the physician hadn't made any advances toward her.

"I told Mr. Williams," she continued, "that if I wanted to stoop so low as to sell my soul I wouldn't work for $40 a month but would be a mistress in style."

The witness is a supervisor and cook in the Johnson home. Her salary is $40 a month in addition to board and room. She testified she gave up school teaching after nine years on advice of her physician.

Williams has been aiding the board of control majority in the investigation of San Antonio hospital conditions.

Miss Greer told of her conversation with Williams how he had attempted to induce her to declare Dr. Johnson made advances and how she had told him that "if I'd do the thing I'd like to, I'd slap your face so fast and so red."

To this, she said, Williams told her that "you'd just as well come through because your job is at stake."

"Dr. Johnson is a gentleman," she said she answered. Williams began cross-examination by asking the witness:

"Didn't you tell me that Dr. Johnson never made any advances to you because he preferred brunettes?"

"No, I did not make that statement," she said.

Again the assistant secretary asked her a negative answer when he asked Miss Greer if he had told her "I wouldn't give you a thin dime for your testimony because all I want you to do is tell the truth."

"You offered me a job," she asserted.

J. E. Hemperly, a deputy sheriff of Refugio county, testified that he was a former deputy constable and deputy sheriff in Bexar county and had voluntarily and at his own expense come to testify.

As a former "bouncer" at the Mule Barn Inn in San Antonio he said he knew three of the women who testified against Dr. Johnson last week.

"I came here because I felt I could do Dr. Johnson justice by telling what I know about these girls," he said.

Asked specifically about the reputation of one girl for virtue and chastity, he said it was "bad."

He added one of the girls told him six weeks ago that the hospital job was the best she had ever had.

Johnson Carries On Borah Fight For Neutrality

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—With a fighting glint in his eyes, Senator Hiram Johnson (R-Calif.) pledges himself today to carry on the ceaseless war against foreign entanglements which was waged by the team of Borah and Johnson.

With the death of Senator Borah (R-Idaho), the veteran Californian became the senior republican on the senate foreign relations committee. Johnson will take Borah's old seat, next to Chairman Phelan (D-Nev.), when the group meets Wednesday.

"I don't propose to try to fill Borah's shoes," Johnson said in an interview. "No man could possibly do that."

A photograph of Borah and Johnson shaking hands over their historic victory against the League of Nations still hangs on Johnson's office wall.
