Out Of Town Guests Entertained With Chicken Barbecue

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stephens entertained with a chicken barbecue Saturday night in honor of several out-of-town insurance company representatives, who are friends and business associates of Mr. Stephens.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herndon Johns of Houston, Ed Wright, Tom W. McAfee, Vance D. Hoffmeister, Jim Brent and Charles L. Beall of Dallas, Earl Hogue and Cliff Knott of Abilene.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

Allen Boone has returned from a few days stay in Cisco, where he visited with friends and relatives and transacted business.

Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Crosthwait have returned home from a two weeks vacation spent in Fort Worth and Dallas. They visited with relatives and friends and attended the Pan-American exposition and Frontier Fiesta.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burnam of Cisco were visitors in Big Spring this weekend because of the illness of Mr. Burnam's sister.

Mrs. Sam Goldman and daughter, Miss Jimmie Loh, are expected to return from a few days visit in Dallas.

Miss Helen Fay Rankin of Colorado was guest this weekend of Miss Billie Kelly in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Terry.

Mrs. C. C. Park of McCamey was Friday guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Shipman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pruitt spent the weekend in Sweetwater with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Chastain of Odessa were Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Blumh.

Mrs. Mary Robertson of Dallas is a house guest of Miss Louise Sheeler over the weekend.

Bright Towels

PATTERN No. 274
Everyday household articles, like dish towels, can be made something you'll be proud to own (or give away) if they're attractively decorated. These embroidered Mammoth are so simple to work, yet can make a set of towels into a charming addition to your home, or a lovely and welcome gift for a friend.

The pattern envelope contains hot iron transfer for seven motifs, averaging 6x8 1/2 inches each; also complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with diagrams to aid you; also what material and how much you will need.

To obtain this pattern, send for No. 274 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address Big Spring Herald, Needlework Department, P. O. Box 172, Station D, New York, N. Y.

C. W. Cunningham is in Dallas this week visiting with his mother, Mrs. Fannie Wilson. He will also spend some time with his daughter, Miss Doris, who left last week to attend S.M.U.

Miss Cornelia Frances Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Douglas, has enrolled in Mary Hardin-Baylor college to begin her year's work.

Party Celebrates 7th Anniversary Of Emma Jeanne Slaughter

Little Miss Emma Jeanne Slaughter celebrated her seventh birthday anniversary with a party given recently at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Slaughter.

Guests were greeted at the entrance by the young honoree, who was dressed in a long blue lace frock with pink satin sash and accessories. They were then ushered to the spacious back lawn, where games were played and an hour of fun was spent. Group pictures were made of the guests and of the honoree, after which refreshments were served from a table centered by a huge white cake iced with pink and green rosebuds and topped with candles. On either side of the cake was the inscription "Happy Birthday to Emma Jeanne." The table was loaded with balloons and toy dogs.

Plate favors were cellophane wrapped packages of serpentine. The guest list included Patay Ann Young, Jeanette Spivey, Virginia Ferguson, Barbara Jean Lytle, Wilma Jo Taylor, Mina Mae Taylor, Helen Blount, Peggy Anne Hargrove, Mary Edith Neal, Marguerite Wood, Freddie Adkins, Pauline Shubert, Edith Pauline Tucker, Dorothy Ann Meador, Mammie Jean Meador, Wanda Joyce Merrick, L. Nell Robinson, Beverly Ann Stulting, Charlie Betty, Billy E. Lees, Billy Crunk, Barclay Wood, LaRue Tucker, Buddo Edwards, Connie Edwards, Lina Jane Wolf, Diane Underwood, Joan Lewis and Don Pickle, Rose Nell Parks, Charline Tucker, Lu Ann Ware, Johnny Mae Gilmer, Joe Nell Sikes, Billy Ray Gilmer, Dorothy Ann Sikes, Tommy Reese Gilmer, Lyn Porter, Mary Evelyn Johnson, Mary Joyce Summers, Joe Dick and Jack Merrick, and Lillian Nell Tamsitt.

Gifts were sent by Mrs. R. E. Slaughter, grandmother of the honoree, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Slaughter, Janice and Jess Jr., Miss Lurline Paxton, Miss Jane Marie Tingle, Betty Lou McGinnis, Beth McGinnis, and Dorothy Marie Wasden.

Mrs. Slaughter was assisted by Mrs. Edmund Nofestine, Mrs. Carl Merrick, Mrs. W. P. Edwards, Misses Freddie Adkins, Marguerite Wood, Pauline Shubert and Edith Pauline Tucker.

READING AND WRITING

By JOHN SELBY

Some reprints out of a busy fall season—

Then, in August, the deluge begins. Books begin piling up on every press, and collecting on every reviewer's desk. By mid-September this deluge has reached almost Biblical proportions, it is not yet having occurred to the publishing world that spreading their books evenly over the year would give each book a better chance.

A lot of this spate of printing has been reprints and translations, and of these by far the most amusing is Lewis Galanter's translation of "The Conquest Journals" (Doubleday, Doran; $3.50). This is made up of the reflections of two brothers, professional exquisites, founders of a literary manner and observers extraordinary. It is full of malice and is supposedly scandalous in part—although the scandal is pretty tame. What is important about the Journals is first that Galantiere has eliminated most of the trash about the brothers Edmond and Jules' megrims, and second that the Journals make a perfect historical reading of the period from 1850 to 1870.

Next, most amusing (of all things) is "Dr. Logan Clendenning's 'The Human Body' (Knopf; $3.75), which has sold an average of 20,000 copies a year since its first publication 10 years ago, and which now has been rewritten and freshened up and made into an irresistible and fascinating experience for anybody who has been confused by all the rot written about health.

It will be news to the socially unsure that Emily Post's long-popular "Etiquette" has also been modernized and pointed up (Funk & Wagnalls; $4); the diplomatically minded will rejoice in the republican in one volume of Viscount Grey's "Twenty-five years; 1892-1916" (Stokes; $4.50); the literary will dash out immediately to buy Katherine Mansfield's short stories, all 88 of them, now collected into a single volume and duly reintroduced to the public by Edington Murry (Knopf; $3.50).

Grid Ticket Sales Begun

Ducats Good For Five Home Games Priced At $3.75

Football fans may secure season tickets until Friday of this week by applying in the lobby of the Settles hotel where the ducats will be placed on sale during the hours of 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. and 2 p. m. to 7 p. m.

Price for the tickets, which will privilege the buyer to see five home games, has been set at $3.75, according to Edmund Nofestine, who is handling the distribution. Should fans seek their tickets by mail, they are asked to write directly to the Big Spring High School. The pasteboards can also be reserved by calling telephone number 415.

Box seats are selling at prices ranging from $25 to $17 this season.

Vice Crusade Is Underway

Texas Police War On Marble Boards, Sale By The Drink

DALLAS, Sept. 20. (AP)—Texas police have cracked down on vice. A crusade, originating principally with local police, is in full swing. The main force of the police is directed at marble boards, slot machines, disorderly houses and the sale of liquor by drink.

The purge started in North Texas. Dallas and Fort Worth took the lead. Fort Worth has had a steady campaign against marble boards for months. Court orders for the destruction of 100 machines have been asked there. Dallas police drove hard at all forms of vice last week.

Houston, San Antonio and Austin have thrown a scare into vice lords. Galveston has no crusade underway, police said, but they are watching conditions.

Fort Worth police last week aimed at panders and houses of ill repute. Twenty-seven men and 28 women were nabbed in raids there. The drive will continue, police said.

Dallas mothers and fathers joined police in a campaign against all forms of gambling. Parents have agreed to notify police the location of marble boards, slot machines and bookmakers. Many machines have been seized and bookmaking is on the wane, crusaders reported.

At Houston, marble machines banned several months ago, were slowly creeping back. The Harris county grand jury began looking into things and Mayor R. H. Fonville, gambling foe, told police to clean up.

Police Chief R. D. Thorp at Austin warned against installation of marble boards and slot machines. Raids against disorderly houses have been staged.

San Antonio police have acted against vice and reported condi-

SEEK TO RESTORE WATER SUPPLY

KELLER, Sept. 20. (AP)—Workers used acetylene torches on explosion wrought and fire-scared steel wreckage today, in an effort to restore Keller's water supply before noon.

A grain dust explosion yesterday afternoon started a fire which destroyed the elevator and feed store of C. J. Johnson at an estimated loss of $22,500; gutted the water-work, and melted supports of the 37,000 steel water tank, sending it crashing over the supply well.

Meanwhile, trucks hauled water from nearby towns.

TWO ARE INJURED

MT. PLEASANT, Sept. 20. (AP)—D. A. Campbell, 28, refinery worker, was in a serious condition today and Charley Capehart, 50, mattress factory operator, was recovering from injuries suffered yesterday in a highway accident.

Campbell received chest injuries and a skull fracture when the car in which the two men were riding turned over.

THE SPORTS PARADE

BY HANK HART

A salute to the family of champions, Mr. and Mrs. Obie Bristow, Estelle stepped out to win her first title Sunday afternoon in disposing of that veteran campaigner, Mrs. Gordon Phillips, in the finals of the Muni women's golf tournament, one up.

Obie, you know, had earlier captured the Lubbock invitational tournament. The Forsan Continental Oilers and the Lubbock Hubbers will probably meet for the third time this season next Sunday. The Hub manager evidently likes the manner in which the Forsan team goes about losing because he had originally intended to close the season yesterday. Tommy Hutto, who played in the Sunday affair, said that Maxie Beard was at his best and would have ended up better had he not made one mistake. This Blanchard fellow in the classiest pitcher in West Texas circles while Beard's caginess carries him a long way.

Several of the boys who appeared in the Steer lineup Friday night against Wink are going to need more seasoning before they can expect to clinch their position. The guard positions were a sore spot all evening and Murphy and Brandon may be forced to use some one else there.

Murphy was well pleased with some of his line, including Anderson and Hart, and the work of Bigony left nothing to be desired, but the whole team is going to get some polishing before the Eastland game Friday night.

The Mavericks had eight lettermen returning from the squad of '36 and appeared pretty tough in losing to Brownwood last week, 13-0. The invaders may be plenty hard to handle.

Murphy can thank his stars he doesn't have as tough a game, however, as has Harry Taylor's Bobcats. The mighty Stephenville gridgers stepped last week from their role of darkness to a ranking favorite by slapping over Weatherford, 41-0.

The Bobcats defeated Thomas Jefferson, San Antonio, 19-13, but had plenty of trouble doing it.

Leading teams of every league seem to be having trouble in their Shaughnessy playoffs this week. Only the Newark Bears, most powerful minor league team in baseball, went through the first round without losing a game, defeating Syracuse in four straight games.

Oklahoma City had to go five games before triumphing over San Antonio. They slid into the final round where they will meet the Cats who also had to go the limit in defeating Tulsa.

Columbus and Milwaukee both had trouble up in the American Association while in the Southern Association all teams have been defeated at least once. Little Rock won their second victory over New Orleans Sunday, 4-2, defeating a former Galveston hurler, Jack Jakubick, in doing it, while Atlanta swarmed up to oust second place Memphis, 14-6, for their clinching win. They piled up a total of 22 base hits.

In the Arizona-Texas league, El Paso's season's pace setters, lost out to Tucson while third place Opelousas copped first place in the Evangeline League.

Many followers say it isn't right for a third or fourth place team to jump up and bowl over the season's leaders. It may not be in a way but then there are several arguments in the playoff's favor. A team may not necessarily show its season's punch, rolling along with just enough steam to remain in the first division yet have enough to defeat the leaders when the time comes.

Then too, the leaders are awarded a prize at the end of the season. A party composed of sport fans at El Paso stopped here Sunday morning for breakfast. There were 106 people on board returning to the border city after seeing the El

Defeats Alice Phillips, One Up, Sunday

New Champ Comes From Behind To Win Over '36 Titlist

The other half of the Bristow family, Mrs. Estelle, joined her husband, Obie, as a reigning golf champion Sunday afternoon at the country club when she swept from behind to oust Mrs. Gordon Phillips, defending titlist, in the finals of the Big Spring women's annual golf tournament, one up.

The wife of the current Lubbock kingpin fired an 88 over the 18-hole course to spring her second surprising upset in two days Saturday she had beaten Mrs. Harry Stalcup, 3 and 2.

Down on No. 9 for the first time during the match, Mrs. Bristow dropped still further behind on No. 11 when she took a five.

Halving 12, Estelle recovered on the 13th with a four to cut 50 percent of the disadvantage away and then shot back into a deadlock with her favored opponent on No. 14 with a sparkling three.

The finalists halved the next two holes to approach the 17th where Mrs. Bristow outdistanced Mrs. Phillips to win with a five while the '36 titlist was taking a bogey six.

Coming in on 18 the champ-to-be matched the wood specialist stroke for stroke to close out the match one up.

Major Teams To Open Saturday

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—The 1937 college football season, which gained considerable starting impetus last Saturday, shifts into high gear this week at a time when the fans are used to looking at early-season "warm-up" games.

Acknowledging the fact that Mr. Jonathan Public, the guy who pays the freight, has indicated he wants real action for his hard-earned bucks, the schedule makers have listed one of the strongest September programs on record for the coming weekend.

Even the conservative East has its big encounter when Cornell and Penn State come together at Ithaca Saturday. West Virginia and West Virginia Wesleyan, old neighbors and rivals, meet in their opening games, while Pittsburgh opens against Ohio Wesleyan and Navy against William and Mary.

The South, off to a head start with some fairly important games last week, buckles down to serious conference competition. Duke and Virginia Tech and North Carolina and South Carolina play in the Southern conference. In the Southeastern conference there are the Kentucky-Vanderbilt and Louisiana State-Florida encounters. Tulane and Clemson play an inter-conference game.

T.C.U. in Columbus
Two Western conference teams may find they have bitten off considerably more than they can chew when Ohio State opens against the Texas Christian Horned Frogs and Iowa goes west to tackle Washington at Seattle.

Other West coast high spots are the encounters between California and St. Mary's and Stanford and Santa Clara. On Friday U.C.L.A. flings up the curtain, playing Oregon in the first Coast conference game.

The upset season started with the curtain raisers last Saturday when Yale Elon bowled over Virginia Military, 12-6. Louisiana Normal held Centenary to a scoreless tie and Morehead, Ky., Teachers knocked off the University of Cincinnati, 6-0. One of last year's few unbeaten teams, Tennessee Wesleyan, bowed to King, 19-14, in its first start of the year.

Customary free-swinging openers saw Virginia Tech beat Roanoke, 27-7; South Carolina rout Emory and Henry, 45-7; the Citadel beat Wofford, 38-0; Clemson trim Presbyterian, 46-0; and Ohio University, which gives Illinois its first opposition this week, roll up an 80-0 score against Rio Grande.

Paso-North Side (Fort Worth) game Friday, which El Paso won, 20-6.

Most enthusiastic followers here of the Texas League playoff game between Tulsa and Fort Worth, was, of course, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Blount. Mrs. Blount and Tony York, sparking Oiler shortstop, are cousins and Tony is due to visit here soon. Several years ago when Tulsa sent Jim Levey to Dallas in exchange for Tony Tulsa fans raised a howl but the youngster is the darling of the Oklahoma fans now. He clouted 292 for the season which will earn him a trip into higher company next year and yesterday collected his fourth hit of the series with Fort Worth. The Star-Telegram carried a two-column picture of the flash in action in their Sunday edition.

St. Mary's Loses, 7-0
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20 (AP)—St. Mary's university of Texas football team and its transcontinental bus were en route home today after opening the 1937 football season in San Francisco by dropping a 7-0 decision to the University of San Francisco yesterday.

A 16-yard pass over the goal line by the Dons after repeated assaults on the San Antonio school line had failed gave San Francisco victory early in the fourth quarter.

Jax Win Opener, 6-4
OPELOUSAS, La., Sept. 20 (AP)—The Opelousas Indians, who finished third in the Evangeline League pennant chase and then won the playoff, found themselves one down today to the Jacksonville club, champions of the East Texas League, in a new playoff series.

The Jax from Texas clouted the Tribesmen last night to win 6 to 4. The teams tangie here again tonight in the four-out-of-seven match.

FIVE GRID CHAMPS DEFEATED

Intersectional Games On Tap This Week

By HAROLD V. RATLEFF
DALLAS, Sept. 20 (AP)—Five defeated district champions were today among the defeated teams laced with the Texas interscholastic football campaign but two weeks old.

Eight others—headed by the state champion Golden Sandles of Amarillo—had tucked away victories but several cast wary glances at the week's schedule which brings few "breathers."

Children's champion of district 2; North Side, 1936 winner in the Fort Worth district; Hillsboro, which carried off the Central Texas pennant last season; North Dallas, district 1 titlist; and Kerrville, finalist in the state race after coming through the San Antonio district, had absorbed crushing defeats—Hillsboro one of them.

Amarillo maintained its long string of victories by smashing a strong Clovis, N. M., team 19-7 in its initial test of the campaign. El Paso High of district 4, Gainesville of district 5, McKinney of district 8, Longview of district 9, Lufkin of district 10, Corpus Christi of district 15, and Edinburg of district 16 were other defending champions hanging up wins.

Kerrville Walloped
Kerrville lost to Pampa 25-6, North Side fell before El Paso High, 20-6. Hillsboro was downed by Gainesville 32-7, North Dallas was defeated by Longview 25-0, and Kerrville was walloped by Temple 31-6.

Port Arthur, king in district 11 last season, did not play last week. Neither did Abilene, champion of the Oil Belt, nor the Houston district titlist.

This week lists more than 60 games, eight of which are of championship bearing in district races. Two conference games were played last week-end. Brownwood opening the Oil Belt drive with a 13-0 win over Eastland and Austin of El Paso blasting off the lid in district 4 by crushing Fabens 46-6.

An attractive array of intersectional games, matches teams from Oklahoma, New Mexico, Louisiana and Mexico with representative Texas squads, headlined by a clash between Classen High of Oklahoma City and Wichita Falls, a West Texas favorite. Classen High usually has one of the strongest teams in Oklahoma.

An indication of Amarillo's strength will be given in a game between El Paso High and Clovis, N. M.

Inter-district contests of interest send the surprising Greenville team against Sherman, a district five favorite; Woodrow Wilson, boomed for the Dallas championship, and Highland Park, another Dallas team with title aspirations in the district 6 race; Waco and Faschal of Fort Worth, both of which, scored impressive victories last week; McKinney and Sunset, Dallas; Port Arthur and Tyler, and Corpus Christi and San Jacinto of Houston.

The reason that the news this time is because all the best curbstone fight promoters around Sixth avenue agreed the old ticket scalper finally had got himself singled when he promised important money to defend one champion (or, anyway, three and one-half champions) to defend their crowns on the same night.

The man the experts felt sorry for laid out a total of $195,000 in guarantees for the eight principals in the four 15-round events. He admits now, modestly, to an advance sale of around $175,000, and the Legionnaires haven't started buying their pasteboards yet. A popular estimate is that 40,000 fans will gather under Coogan's Bluff and pay $350,000 for the privilege.

The tickets for Thursday night are going good, despite the fact that Jacobs' unpredictable pals, the New York State athletic commissioners, have taken a bite out of one of his champions, the bald Frenchman, Marcel Thil. They have decided that Marcel isn't the world middleweight champion in New York, so that leaves him only the champion of the International Boxing Union, or approximately half a champion. The prevalent odds are 2 to 1 that he will be only a Frenchman when Fred Apostoli of San Francisco gets through with him.

All the other champions are intact. Barney Ross, the welterweight king, is rated a 2 to 1 favorite in some quarters over his Filipino rival, Cefterino Garcia. Lou Ambers is a popular choice to retain his lightweight title against Pedro Montanez of Puerto Rico and Sixto Escobar, bantamweight champion, is favored over Harry Jeffra, but the odds are shorter in these two bouts.

Thomsen Sobs + Standings + S'West Schedule

But Porkers Are Tough

Jack Robbins, Most Successful Passer '36, Is Back

(Editor's Note: Last in a series of stories on the Southwest conference football prospects.)

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 20 (AP)—Only Fred Thomsen—who is not a pessimist, but a downright fatalist—believes the University of Arkansas Razorbacks are not a national powerhouse this fall.

Cosch Thomsen, of the blues singing Thomsens, would much rather talk about seven senior veterans who were graduated in the spring than a brilliant bunch he is grooming to defend their Southwest conference title.

"The more I think of our seven graduates from last year's championship squad—tackles Van Sickle and Spillers, halfbacks Maruff and Keen, fullback Brown, guard Sanders and center Lunday," sobbed Thomsen, "the more I wonder if our replacements will stand up. Anyway, only three of those seven I named failed to start in every game last season."

Complete sets of reserves for the ends, tackles and guards provide a problem for Thomsen, he insists, and adds that deciding on a starting fullback is his backfield headache.

Looks At Chances
"We're going to play a game at a time—and not 40 seasons," said Thomsen, "in commenting" on chances of hanging up a second pennant. "The aerial phase will be stressed again and I feel certain spectators will leave Arkansas games satisfied with the show they saw."

Thomsen reminded that last year the Porkers modestly laid claim to the "passingest team in the nation" title after tossing 282 heaves for 119 completions and 1,377 yards.

Back on the firing line will be their All-American candidate, lean Jack Robbins, a boy who actually outpassed Singin' Sam Baugh last year over the full season roster statistics will show. Not only will Robbins do the bombarding, but he also will kick again and gain most of the ground on running plays.

His three companions on the backfield likely will be Ralph Bawlings, Rabbit quarterback; Dwight Sloan, a rugged boy who can do everything Robbins does—and almost as well; and Marion Fletcher, fullback who disappointed a bit last fall but seems to have hit his stride in practice. Another backfielder who will play almost as much as any of them is Lloyd Montgomery, a daring type who kicks well.

Plenty of Lettermen
Sixteen lettermen are available from which to pick a starting eleven, and the way things shape up now, Thomsen probably will have a 205-pound average forward wall and a 188-pound backfield in most of the time.

Injury in a baseball game to Lloyd Woodell, last year's soph center, considerably weakens that post, but rangy Art Withers, a '36 squadman, may fill the bill if Woodell fails to respond.

Guards are fairly well set with veterans George Gilmore and E. A. Owen, the place-kicking genius, on hand, but its a three-way scrap between Ed Lalman, Randall Stallings and Landy Corbett, all soph last year, for the two tackle slots.

No finer ends are found in this section of the country than in Jim Benton, all-conference last year, and Ray (Red) Hamilton, who many thought was Benton's equal. Both adept at speaking Robbins' choice passes, as well as spilling the enemy on defense, they end Thomsen's worries—until he gets to thinking about replacements.

Experts agreed that a careful watch should be kept on Neil Macklin, a bounding 170-pound halfback, they describe as the best broken field twister to perform at Arkansas since the days of "Cowboy" Kyle. Still another soph backfielder mentioned is Ray Cole, 190, who may surprise and slip into the full-back slot.

Thomsen "just hopes" his defense will stand up. Last year it pulled through several "narrow squeaks."

SNEAD FADES AS TEXAN TIES FOR WESTERN OPEN
CLEVELAND, Sept. 20 (AP)—Lorton Smith and Ralph Guidahl, lanky Chicagoans, battled today in an 18-hole playoff of a tie for the Western Open golf crown which eluded nearly 150 other contestants in three days of tournament play at Canterbury country club.

Winding up at even par 288 for the 72-hole tournament route, both Guidahl and Smith could look back over their tourney play to recall where they might have won in the regulation distance but for short putts which stayed out and long putts that came close but didn't sink.

With Berger Help, Jents Still Lead

Wally Clouts One For Round Trip, Chicubs Win

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
To a lot of people, this is only the time to get ready for the end-of-the-month bills; but to big league baseball, it looks like the week for which everything has been headed since the "play ball" signal back in April.

Unless all signs are pointed backward, before the week runs out the Yankees will have clinched the American league pennant, and the Giants and Cubs will either have settled the National league squabble or given definite indication as to just what Mr. Gus Fan can expect.

From the senior circuit standpoint, New York's Giants and Chicago's bolstered Cubs, who are, at the moment, 2-1-2 games apart in that order, go to work on each other's throats in a series starting tomorrow. From their three-game series, the Cubs will walloper their way to a tight down to the tape.

Over in the rival loop, meantime, the Yankees, with a 10-12 game lead, only need any combination of five victories or five Detroit defeats, or a collection of the two, mathematically to eliminate the Tigers and nail the flag to their mast for another year.

Before swinging at each other, the Giants and Cubs have a little preliminary work today in winding up their series with the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn's daffy Dodgers, respectively.

Wally Reels Hero
It seemed "ate" was taking a hand in the Giants' behalf yesterday as they nosed out the Cards, 4-3, in 10 innings. Behind 2-1, Manager Bill Terry reached into the hat and came up with a futile pinch-hitter for his most powerful pounder, Hank Leiber, in the seventh.

Afterward, there was nothing to do but give Leiber's center field job to Wally Berger, who has been about as popular with the Giant boss for a long time as a couple of broken throwing arms. In the ninth, however, Wally belted a homer to tie the score and ultimately lead the Giants to a heart-breaker win over Lon Warneke.

Meantime, big Max Butcher held the Cubs to four hits, but one of those was Gabby Hartnett's homer with a mate aboard—just enough to cash in on Curt Davis' classy hitting for a 2-1 win over the Brooklynans, leaving the pennant situation in this form:

Team	To	W.	L.	B'd	Play
Giants	84	53	17
Cubs	83	57	24	14
Elden Auker's submarine ball

barred the Yankees no end, and the Tigers trampled the American league leaders, 8-1. The White Sox were mathematically eliminated from the pennant race by only breaking even in a twin bill with the Senators, losing the opener, 5-4, and taking the nightcap, 9-1.

Philadelphia's unpredictable Athletics astonished themselves, the baseball world in general, but most of all the Cleveland Indians by topping the Tribe twice, 8-4 and 5-3. The Boston Red Sox-St. Louis Browns bargain bill was rained out. Pittsburgh's Pirates split with the Phillies, winning the afterpiece

Beard Whiffs 12 Hubs But Is Defeated

Maxie Allows Only Six Hits, Gives Up Runs In 8th

LUBBOCK, Sept. 19 — Jerry Blanchard and Lefty Maxie Beard hooked up in a pitchers' duel here Sunday afternoon and the veteran Lubbocker was the victor as he led the Lubbock Hubbers to a 2-0 victory over the Forsan Continental Oilers here on Parris field.

For the better part of eight innings the cagey wrong number from Coahoma matched up with Blanchard in every department but Bill Howell finally cracked out the money blow with men on second and third and that was all the Panhandle team needed.

Blanchard allowed the Howard county team only five hits and struck out 13 men while Beard was almost as good setting the Hubs down with six hits and whiffing twice.

Howell collected three of the six Lubbock blows. Forsan 000 000 000-0 5 0 Lubbock 000 002x-2 6 0 Batteries — Beard and Scott; Blanchard and Lingle.

Uniform Parole Laws

Other states were urged the other day by Governor Allred, in the conference of governors at Atlantic City, to join with Texas in a system of uniform probation and parole regulations, to prevent abuses of parole provisions. This problem has been under consideration in all the states for a number of years, but little has been done toward solving it. Each state has its own regulations, and is unable to exercise supervision over parolees from other states. The result is that too many parolees are released to return to crime.

Governor Allred pointed out that there is a need for an exchange of prisoners, so that persons paroled in Texas but living in another state could return to their former homes and under proper supervision begin the long fight toward regaining the respect of their fellow citizens. The parole system breaks down only where there is a lack of adequate supervision over parolees. It is to provide such supervision that in Texas there is now in operation a program which gives to each parolee the constant assistance of a county board whose duty is to keep in touch with each man and by aiding him in securing employment to point him toward self-support and self respect.

It cannot be said, of course, that the Texas system, so recently put into operation and supported by a constitutional amendment which takes politics out of it, is a complete success. In most counties, however, the local parole boards have been functioning with surprising success. Men who were sent to the penitentiary as first offenders for various crimes have been released from prison and paroled to the county boards, and are now living acceptably while completing the terms for which they are sentenced. Restoration of full citizenship rights is recommended for them after they have satisfactorily completed their sentences, and they are permitted to live in their home communities under conditions that enable them to become worthy citizens.

The states should enact uniform legislation on this subject, so that the paroled convict may never be without adequate supervision until after he has earned full independence by exemplary living. It is an important matter, but not necessarily as complicated as many governors appear to believe. (Brownwood Bulletin.)

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Architecturally, the face of New York, as if attacked by a coterie of plastic surgeons, is undergoing a drastic change. The Times Square area has been the one most effected, there being no less than two solid squares of alterations completed in the last year. This has claimed the east side of Broadway from 45th to 43rd street, with new cinema theaters and office buildings, the lower floors of which have been grabbed up by alert managers of dime stores, pharmacists and shopkeepers.

The old stretch of outmoded white way, which once included the famous roof garden where Ziegfeld, as a beginner, made his early bids for recognition as a producing genius, has disappeared, and in its place has come a bright sweep of chromium fixtures and neon displays.

This is only a minor fraction of what, they say, is yet to come. The town really will never be satisfied until its traffic system is completely reorganized, and no solution suggests itself—that is, none which offers permanent satisfaction—except a widening of the boulevards and perhaps erection of elevated runways for the side streets.

Crossing the island is now a hopeless and, frequently, a nerve-racking experience. Of New York's seven million inhabitants, nearly a million and a half reside on the island, and as there are twice as many automobiles as bathtubs, one can understand what the problem is, say, around five in the afternoon with everyone rushing lickety-split to get into or out of the city.

Hobart B. Upjohn, the architect, says the town now is a "hopeless jungle of every-which-way traffic." He thinks widening the streets is the only sensible solution, and check-mates opponents to his scheme, who claim that such a process would carry away important "frontage" by pointing out that only the cheap and dirty back yards would be lost.

To move the buildings back and eliminate these back yards, he says, would save the city enormous wealth and also do away with accumulations of refuse and rubbish. With no back yards, he says, there would be no place to dump rubbish.

It is true that desirable rentals are scarce on the island, there being an overwhelming demand for satisfactory living quarters. Mr. Upjohn believes Manhattan might easily accommodate six million residents without trouble, which must cause astonishment in some quarters because of the difficulty the island now has in caring for its million and a half.

Anyway, it's a thought. And almost any cost, if the cross-town traffic situation could be cleared up, would be acceptable. Conditions as they exist now are annoying and bad on the digestion.

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

MR. JUSTICE BLACK AND THE COMIC SPIRIT

In his justly famous Essay on Comedy, George Meredith has a passage describing a force essential to the sanity of society. "If you believe," he says, "that our civilization is founded in common sense (and it is the first condition of sanity to believe it), you will, when contemplating men, discern a spirit overhead. . . . It is the sage's bow, and the sunny malice of a faun lurks at the corners of the half-closed lips. . . . Men's future upon earth does not attract it; their honesty and shapeliness in the present does; and whenever they wax out of proportion, overblown, affected, . . . hypocritical. . . whenever it sees them self-deceived, or hoodwinked, given to run riot in idolatries, drifting into vanities, congregating in absurdities, planning short-sightedly, plotting dementedly; whenever they are at variance with their professions. . . offend sound reason, fair justice—the Spirit overhead will look hungrily malign, and cast an oblique light on them, followed by volleys of silvery laughter. That is the Comic Spirit."

"Not to distinguish it is to be built-not to the Spiritual, and to deny the existence of a mind of men where minds of men are working in conjunction. . . . You must, as I have said, believe that our state of society is founded in common sense, otherwise you will not be struck by the contrasts the Comic Spirit perceives. . . . You will, in fact, be standing in that peculiar oblique beam of light."

That laugh of the Comic Spirit, more intellectual than the laugh of humor, more tempered than the laugh of satire, more kindly than the laugh of irony, deluges the air around Mr. Justice Black with its silvery volleys. What a denouement of a Great Crusade for Liberalism! What a delicate revenge for persistent assaults upon common sense, for willful refusal to acknowledge that there is a mind of man where minds of men are working in conjunction!

They have not, however, been working in conjunction, but at the most absurd cross purposes. "Quickly, quickly, quickly! Time will not wait on us, even while we think! Reform is urgent! Higher wages, shorter hours, better farm incomes! To conceive the ideal is to act! Economic Royalists are plotting! Nine old men stand in the way! Reform impedes progress! These black robes are the symbol of Black Reaction!"

A few voices said: Gentlemen, let us sit down and think together. Let us remember that the justification of Democracy is the idea of a community and its attainment through reason and consensus. Let us hear both sides of each case. Let us try to find exactly what measures may really achieve for us the goal of greater prosperity for all. Let us be quite certain that we are really furthering the public good, and not just redistributing privileges, in a chaotic manner. If we can ourselves liberate, let us remember that we are, therefore, hostile to bigotry, fanaticism and blind zealotry as such. If we are conservatives, let us remember that we are sensitive to behavior, scrupulous about means.

Horse and Buggy voices! Drowned out in the chaos of rancorous clamor of savors here and savors there. The move to "reform" the court begins with trickery. One trick begets another. The atmosphere becomes contagious. There is a vacancy on the bench. Aha, now we have caught the president! He will give him Senator Robinson! That will hold him!

But the Comic Spirit has already drawn his bow, and there is malice, and some trace of humor, in his teasing smile. A master whom all must acknowledge renews Senator Robinson. And the president—oh, watch that oblique light above you!—will cap that trick with yet another. I will give them one of their Social Club! Let them swallow him and like it! Gentlemen, I nominate Senator Black!

Certainly, now, there is light everywhere. The air is vibrant with light. The obedient chorus carols. "It is the light of liberalism! It is the light of progress! The people who sat in darkness have seen a great light!"

But in the midst of the light, a clear voice is ringing. Shattering the light with the silver laughter of sanity.

Is not this whole Black incident comically absurd? Has it not that tragic undercurrent of human folly which makes great comedy? Who is it that comes up, robed in white, charged of the sins of the American past? Is it not a perfect symbol that the new figure on the bench should wear the White Robe of Progress, in contrast to the Black Robes of Conservatism?

Why, then, is it hooded? Why is the face of its wearer concealed, concealed into uniformity, concealed into conformity, with other masks? Why, where human eyes should look out candidly, with

The Timid Soul

MR. MILQUETOAST, TAKING HOME A RAKE, FINDS THAT THE HANDLE PROTRUDES TWO AND A QUARTER INCHES BEYOND THE REAR OF THE CAR AND TIES A LARGE RED FLAG TO IT

friendship, upon the world, are there but concealing alits? Why does this sheeted whiteness recall a shroud? Who is this Knight who comes riding? Is he the parfit gentil Knight of Progress?

Or a Citizen of the Invisible Empire, or a Knight of the Ku-Klux-Klan?

The price of zealotry, of false humility, of overconfidence, of self-righteousness, of one-man rule, is injured eyesight. Angels wear white robes, but so do others. Look again. And ask others to gaze also. Do you see what I see?

Retribution, like Justice, is always poetic. It proceeds inevitably, out of men's follies. It has an inner logic.

He who demands conformity will be humiliated by his conformers. For the candid and honest mind is not a rubber stamp. It is skeptical and courageous. He who demands zeal without thought, reform without reason, justice without justice, needs carefully to consider where that zeal may have been directed yesterday, and where it may be directed tomorrow.

And he who abandons the minds of men working in conjunction will reach out one day desperately, and seek for them.

Sights and Sounds By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Intimate reports on the love life of a boy star, Mickey Rooney.

At 16, Mickey's affairs of the heart already are numerous. Some of the girl friends are film youngsters, like himself, but just as many are not. Strangely enough, they are all alike in one respect: none of the girls is more than five feet tall.

The reason? Well, Mickey himself is five feet two, and he can't bear to be seen with a girl taller than himself. He has almost despaired of growing any taller, and it irks him. For a time he used to measure himself every day against a black chalk mark in the shower.

But the only way he could move the mark up was to stand on tiptoe. Then he began affecting a military haircut that bristles in front. It makes him look an inch taller. The fact that it also makes him look as if he'd just escaped from reform school is beside the point.

Courting At School
 To be a Rooney "date" a girl must dance as well as be short. A Rooney "date" invariably means a high school or country club dance.

His $10 a week allowance, out of which he buys his clothes, allows him about one date a week. His "gang" still considers too much dating sissy, but one a week is all right if you treat it in the offhand, man-of-the-world fashion. You may even be seen at an occasional premiere with a young lady, because it's the accepted thing, but otherwise you've got to go easy on this job stuff and prove you can take it or leave it. That's the code.

The schoolroom at Metro is somewhat limited as a juvenile matchmaker, for there are only two girls in the school anywhere near Mickey's age. They are Judy Garland, 14, and Betty Jaynes, 16. Judy used to be Jackie Cooper's steady, but since Jackie started attending Beverly Hills high school that romance seems to have wavered somewhat. In fact, it was Mickey who courted Judy to the premiere of his "Captains Courageous." But he took Betty

CHAPTER XXII
 Charlie, his car, his trailer and his passenger bowed along the highway in the cheerful morning. Mrs. Bly had not asked any questions at breakfast but now she felt that she was entitled to give her curiosity some rein. She spoke one word—but she spoke it provocatively, "Well?"

"You know perfectly well what. See here, Charlie, Jones—I've sat around with my mouth shut for days! I've flown up here with a hysterical woman! I've watched you run off with Irene Agnew! I was amused. I'm still amused. But I'm old enough to be your dutch aunt and it's time for an explanation."

Charlie took both of his hands off the wheel and spread them out in a gesture of disavowal. The car lurched.

Mrs. Bly said, "Don't do that!" Charlie grinned. "What do you want to know? My intentions?"

"Certainly. Since you put it that

But Keough stole himself. Being a detective had its bitter moments.

"He was still grinning. 'My intentions are dishonorable as possible.' 'That's what I thought.' 'You mean—that's what you hoped.' She glared at him and then laughed. 'You're incorrigible and a cad.' 'On the contrary—I'm Sir Galahad.' Mrs. Bly sniffed. She had one of the most pronounced sniffs in the social register. 'Listen, Charlie. Are you going to come clean or shall I tell Margit Agnew that you're really a respectable citizen with a good family and a private fortune and a penchant for high-jinks and an artistic reputation that has gone to your head?' Charlie sighed. 'I guess I'll have to confess. Although I am sure it isn't necessary. See here, Ella, I'm sitting on Madison Avenue trying to catch the mood of those beautiful dissatisfied creatures who think of themselves as modern women. Along comes a perfectly terrific blonde—'

"Irene is pretty terrific," Mrs. Bly admitted. "Is the right furs she's tops for her type?" O. K. I lure her to my teasel. I think at first that she's a snob. But she saves me from a rapacious fluffoot and I see the heart of gold. Naturally, I take her over to Spike's and buy her a drink. Also—I know who she is."

"Naturally. And you therefore buy as many as you can force down her throat."

"Naturally. I find this orchidaceous creature has a fiancé. Wounded, but game, I invite the gent to join us. I've seen guys who've been man-handled. I've seen punch-drunk fighters. This Waldo has only been woman-handled—but he's worse off than any of the others. Then—in comes Margit. The ideal I was looking for on Madison Avenue." A prodigious snore filled his voice. "The business woman! A professional killjoy if I ever saw one! An arrogant, self-righteous, stuck-up, left-nose misanthropic, sexless female reformer! The club woman in embryo!"

"But darn good looking," Mrs. Bly murmured. Charlie nodded. "Sure! A lot of those high-handed tangles are beautiful when they're young. I suppose a new guillotine is a first-looker job, too. Anyway, in she came—suspecting the worst, screaming, and clawing—so what did I do? I did what any self-respecting gentleman would under the circumstances. I tossed a small bomb into the perfection of her message. Imagine the vanity of anybody who would hand-pick somebody else's husband and halter-break him for a year before she turned him over! Why—that girl was simply dissecting out what lit the spine Waldo had—and what lit the obvious thing to do in the way of bomb throwing was to run away with her sister."

"The hell it was," said Mrs. Bly calmly. "He looked at her in some surprise. 'Could you have thought of anything better?' 'Sure!' 'Running away with Margit herself.' He stared at her. 'You've got too much imagination. Ella. I'd rather try to take breakfast away from a sabre-tooth tiger.' 'Mrs. Bly changed the subject. 'How's Evelyn?' Charlie laughed again. 'I dun-der way any time now and with the Rooney 'Blus Devils' getting into training, there'll be no women on the Rooney schedule until New Year's."

Charlie's words seem to have an ominous ring. Can he really best the strong-willed Margit? Don't miss tomorrow's episode in which still another beautiful stranger enters the tangled plot. (To be continued)

Michigan Law Opens Wide Pen Reform

Applications For Paroles Filed Automatically Under Act

LANSING, Mich., Sept. 20. (UP)—Michigan is offering its convicts a "new deal" under a corrections commission established by the 1937 legislature. Enactment of a new penal, pardon and parole system for the state was part of the administration legislative program proposed by Gov. Frank Murphy which was adopted and signed.

Work Is Co-Ordinated

A corrections commission operating under the consolidated state welfare department has taken over the duties of the commissioner of pardons and paroles. This five-member group, appointed by the governor, chooses a director of corrections to have charge of three sub-bureaus—pardons and parole probation and prisons—and names wardens formerly appointed by the state executive.

Public Quarreling On Stage Seems To Be Curé For Marital Rifts

BEACON, N. Y., Sept. 20 (AP)—Frustrated husbands and nervous wives have found a new cure for family rifts, a therapeutic theatre here, where they go on the stage and quarrel to their heart's content.

The results of the first six months use of this theatre for these domestic, and for more serious mental troubles, is reported in a new publication, "Sociometry, a journal of inter-personal relations." The editor is Dr. Gardner Murphy of Columbia University. The publisher is J. L. Moreno, M.D., who built the theatre.

The idea is defined thus—"The full psychodrama of our interrelations does not emerge; it is buried in and between us." In this theatre, spontaneous play-acting, done under medical supervision, has brought out some of the hidden facts of married lives.

The new journal describes the play-acting of "Robert" and his wife "Mary." They re-enacted some of their rifts, and at the same time

Govt. Spain Denied Post With League

Will Lack Right To Vote On Subjects Before Council

GENEVA, Sept. 20 (AP)—The League of Nations assembly refused today to grant government Spain a seat in the league council for the next three years, to the jubilation of member nations sympathetic with the insurgent regime on Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The Madrid-Valencia government failed by nine votes to obtain the two-thirds majority necessary for a new term. Spain's present three-year term expires this year.

A few minutes later, the assembly also refused to declare Turkey eligible for election to the council.

Spain remains, of course, a member of the league and may send a representative to council sessions dealing with matters concerning her—but will lack the right to vote in council.

The vote came at a session wherein British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden deplored that "peoples of the world seem as afar as ever from attaining peace."

Eden, pledging Britain to unstinted effort toward preserving peace, nevertheless, belittled the importance of Germany's demand for return of war-lost colonies, some of them now under British control; and inferred Italy herself was to blame for the limited patrol areas offered here by the Nyon conference on piracy in the Mediterranean.

THEATRE EMPLOYEE KILLED IN CRASH

DALLAS, Sept. 20 (AP)—Funeral services will be held at Navasota, Tex., this afternoon for George Zinger, Jr., Wichita Falls theatre employe, who died here yesterday from injuries received in an automobile collision at Grand Prairie Saturday night.

Survivors are Mrs. Ehinger, 25, the widow under treatment for a fractured leg and head abrasion; received in the same accident, an 11-year-old son, George H. Ehinger, Sr., of Fort Worth, parents of Ehinger.

RESIDENCE HERE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Damage estimated at $1,500 resulted from a fire which destroyed a house at 406 North West Third street Sunday morning.

Firemen said that Johnnie Green, negro who lived at the house, told them the blaze originated from an stove explosion. Only his three children were at the house at the time of the blast.

No insurance was carried either on the house or the furnishings.

SUFFERS INJURIES
J. E. Payne, president of the Roswell, N. M., ball club, was injured slightly Saturday night when his car overturned twice three miles east of Coleman. Robert Darnell Haskell, was also slightly hurt. Payne formerly resided here.

potential while East Texas was limited to 232 per cent of hourly potential. Cottingham replied that East Texas must be held down to obtain the greatest ultimate oil recovery.

The engineer said his pressure drop calculations were made from tests in only 90 wells but he considered them representative.

A. L. Guiberson of Dallas raised the point that part of the decline was due to large withdrawals of water, which Cottingham estimated amounted to 70,000 barrels a day from the Wogbline sand.

If the water withdrawals could be stopped, Cottingham said, the field could produce an additional 58,000 barrels of oil daily without affecting pressure.

As a consequence of a statement Saturday by Ernest O. Thompson, commission chairman, oil men at the hearing were of the opinion on the state's basic allowance for October would be substantially less than the allowance of 1,499,384 barrels on September 18.

The bureau of mines estimated demand for Texas oil next month at 1,499,300 barrels daily. Purchaser's nominations for October were 1,618,356 barrels daily, a decline from September of 9,420.

"In the face of the trend over a period of years away from local self-government," he declared, "the increased tendency toward centralization of government authority in the proposals to transfer judicial authority to the legislative branch—these trends suggest the need for such a study."

American Business Club Wins Next Dist. Meeting

Double honors came to Big Spring at the conclusion of the annual meeting of district No. 6 of the American Business clubs in Enid, Okla., Saturday evening.

W. D. Carnett, first president of the Big Spring club, was named district governor and Big Spring won in its campaign for the district convention here in 1935.

Selection of Big Spring as the next meeting place and Carnett as governor gave Texas a clean sweep of the club's conventions for next year, since Amarillo had previously won the right to entertain the next national convention.

Club leaders here said that the district convention would be held here either in September or October of next year.

Attending the meeting from here were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Roeder, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Carnett, Eugene Thomas, Lucille Cauble and Hugh Duncan.

Renew Work For Highway

Local Committee, Engineers Due To Meet Tuesday

Developments Monday revived interest in the Andrews-Big Spring road to the highest level since the chamber of commerce was forced to make it a secondary objective here during this city's campaign for location of the state hospital here.

W. J. Underwood, Andrews county judge, conferred with J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, here Monday morning and said that although the right-of-way bond election there had been postponed until Oct. 23, there was little doubt that it would carry.

"We are anxious to get it through," he said, "to show folks here that we mean business. We are going to want to know soon just to what point we will join the road at the Martin county line."

Greene announced that the special committee on the Andrews-Big Spring road would be called to meet immediately after the noon session of all service clubs here Tuesday.

He added that W. A. French, Abilene, and George Finley, Pecon, division engineers of the state highway department, would be here Tuesday, ready to go over the proposed route and give tentative approval, if possible. G. M. Garrett, Lubbock, division engineer, was unable to attend the parley but notified local road leaders that his division could meet the road any where on the east Andrews line.

Members on the special committee are Grover Dunham, Joyce Fishburn, R. L. Cook, W. T. Cook.

Hearings On Beer Licenses Slated For Tomorrow

Hearings on all applications for supplementary beer licenses will be held in the county courtroom at 2 p. m. Tuesday, County Judge Charles Sullivan announced Monday.

Approximately a dozen such applications have been filed.

The supplementary permits will be required after Oct. 1 for all places selling beer between the hours of midnight and 7 a. m. and on Sundays.

In order to secure such licenses, the operator of the place affected by the permit must prove that the normal sale of food and other commodities for human consumption exceeds in value the sale of beer during the hours covered by the supplementary license.

It was believed that the requiring of the supplementary licenses may result in the closing of some of the suburban beer parlors at midnight.

Although the licenses are granted by the county judge, Judge Sullivan reminded that the state liquor control board has authority to revoke if an investigation of the applicant's business warrants.

Two Are Injured In Trailer Accident

Two people were injured, none seriously, late Sunday afternoon when a trailer attached to an automobile broke loose and overturned on the San Angelo highway about 25 miles south of here.

M. J. Alford and son, M. J. Jr., riding in the trailer, being drawn by a car driven by Frank Burroughs, were the injured. The party was en route from Rockdale to Lamesa where they were to pick cotton on a farm near Lamesa. J. M. Morton, also of Rockdale, was in the car with Burroughs. Alford's nephew, Hilton Averitt, Rockdale, was uninjured.

They were brought to Big Spring hospital where young Alford was treated for a fractured left arm and face and body lacerations. Mrs. Alford sustained lacerations and bruises about the body.

CITY COURT BUSY

In a busy weekend, city police brought 13 cases into corporate court Monday morning.

Six were charged with drunkenness, three with traffic violations, one with speeding, one with vagrancy, one with petty theft, and one for affray.

Included in the activities of police were the expulsion of four persons from the city as suspected narcotic addicts. One of those arrested on another charge was held as a suspect for another city.
