Salvage of Waste Material Requested

A state-wide spring housecleaning for materials that can be salvaged for war production was called for today by George B. Butler, executive secretary of the Texas Salvage com-

"Great quantities of the things we need would be brought to light by concerted spring housecleaning,' Mr. Butler suggested. "Housecleaning in the average home generally uncovers things that are considered worthless or too old for further use. In the past, these collections often have cluttered up attics, cellars and backyards, so they have been destroyed or lost to further use by being carried away by municipal refuse collectors.'

This year, he emphasized, the need for the return of waste materials into new production "should be plain to all of us."

"Old metal ornaments, obsolete plumming and heating equipment, broken tools-these can become parts of guns, planes and tanks," Butler pointed out. "Old tires and tubes, old hot water bottles and bath mats can go into the production of reclaimed rubber which is needed so critically to replace our lost supply of crude rubber from the Far East. Old rags can be made into wiping rags for use in war plants, and waste paper is in demand for conversion into cartons for the shipment of munitions and canned foods for our men in the field."

Over 95 tons of scrap metal have been handled by Wheeler dealers during the past six weeks. Local dealers are Bob Rodgers, E. Tillman and Frank Caswell. Anyone ceived this week by the ACA office help from Hal Spencer, owner of a ion three daughters were born, the having metal to sell can contact complete about 50 per cent of the rival newspaper. Wheat Referendum Saturday, May 2

"To keep our boys flying and fighting, sailing and shooting, we can't spend much time on things we can do without. That goes for wheat which must be fitted into our plan," Clarence Zybach, chairman of the continue the testing for Bang's on hand for expected demand for two years."

Drawing a parallel, Zybach said farmers who continue to turn out wheat which is not needed so badly and fail to produce the things that are needed fall in the same category with factories which continue manufacture of cars, washing machines and ice boxes, instead of munitions, planes and ships. Yes, we need large supplies of wheat. However, we do have more than enough now, and we do need more dairy products, poultry products and meats, so let's balance our needs as a nation. This is quite hard for many wheat farmers to do as they are equipped to raise wheat. Yet we wheat farmers have met difficult conditions before and survived. Let us remember we may be called upon to increase our wheat production as the need may arise as well as the products we are asked to increase now, such as meat, milk, eggs, cheese, vegetables, fats and oils. If we fail to produce these foods and, instead, add to our already enormous wheat supply, we'll not only be wasting our time and machinery, but we'll be failing our country in her darkest hour of need," he said.

Total supply of wheat on July 1, 1942, is estimated at 1,423-million bushels of which 630-million bushels represents present carryover, while the 1942 crop is estimated at 793million bushels.

The purpose of wheat marketing quotas is to divide a limited market equally among wheat producers. Marketing quotas also make possible more efficient use of transportation and storage facilities.

Wheat marketing quotas, which strengthen acreage allotments and make 85 per cent of parity loans available, will be decided in national referendum, Saturday, May 2. Last year, in the first referendum, Texas wheat farmers approved quotas by 94 per cent while Wheeler county farmers approved quotas by 93 per cent.

Secretary of the navy Frank Knox has declared: "This country is now engaged in the greatest naval war in its history. In one day at Pearl Harbor, more naval casualties were inflicted by a dastard who crept by night than were suffered by the navy during the Spanish-American war and the world war I combined. All of that happened in one day, before our job was actually begun."

In the first two weeks after Pearl Harbor, the navy relief society paid out through its Auxiliaries more than $50,000. In addition, instant friendly help was extended to families of the Marines killed or captpred at Wake Island.

One hundred and forty thousand men have enlisted in the navy, marines and coast guard since Pearl Harbor. The authorized strength of the navy is 500,000 men, representing an equivalent number of families.

Today there are more men in the navy than at any time in our history. Some of these men will not return. And while they fight, the navy relief society must help their families wherever need occurs, with loans or outright gifts, with medical and hospital expenses. The dimensions of the need connot be known with certainty, but no one can doubt that it will be many times greater than ever known in the days of Everybody right here at home has been brought into the Battle of the Home Front and, if not before, he now knows it emphatically, with everyone urged to help lick the High Cost of Living and to co-operate in the many drastic restrictions necessary to conserve vital materials needed for the war program.

This week's developments have shown the importance of Home Front problems affecting the oldest person to the youngest baby-problems that include equal sharing of commodities as well as what those commodities cost.

To solve the problems, the war agencies moved rapidly with orders that were in keeping with the times. And as many of these problems sprang from shortages, consumer groups joined in the battle and urged that "if you don't need it, don't

Uncle Sam asks us to Hoard Coal Now

Coal is one thing the Government definitely wants us to hoard this spring and summer

• We are asked to buy coal now, if we are coal users, (1) to protect ourselves against a possible coal shortage next winter, and (2) to help make more freight cars available then for moving vital war material. Spreading coal shipments over a longer period than usual will do just that.

• Most folks wait until the last minute to order their winter's coal supply. Many millions of tons of coal must then be moved by rail in a very short time. Next winter's war needs and the tire shortage will put the greatest load on the railroads in their history. War freight must move first, and those who wait too long to order their coal may not be able to get prompt delivery when they need it.

 So we repeat Uncle Sam's friendly warning to us all. If you use coal, get in your winter coal supply now, in the off season, when transportation is available. You'll help yourself and also help win this war.

AT YOUR SERVICE - subject always to war demands, Santa Fe is maintaining regular and efficient freight and passenger transportation vital to your community. Turn to your Santa Fe Agent for information about it.

Economy

Yes, strange as it may seem, economy costs money when it causes you to cut down on your expenditures for things that are necessary for your comfort or welfare. And it is doubly expensive when it causes you to save on expenditures that, if wisely made, would return to you with a handsome profit added. Short-sighted saving has kept lots of people in the rut of toilsome grind and put many a business on the road to a bankrupt's court. Prudence must, of course, be expected at all times in financial matters, but too much caution in personal and business affairs is often worse than foolhardy squandering.

An advertisement in The Wheeler Times doesn't cost a great deal of money, but it will return big dividends in the way of increased business and multiplied profits. Don't be niggardly in the amount of money you set aside for advertising-you can't afford to be.

An advertisement in The Wheeler Times delivers your sales message to hundreds of prospective buyers residing in this community, while your window displays are seen by only the few who pass your store

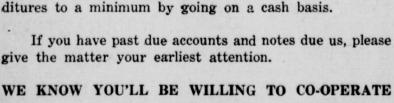

The Wheeler Times goes into nearly every home and place of business in north Wheeler county. It carries to its hundreds of readers not only all the news of the vicinity, but the sales messages of its merchants and business men as well. If you have anything to sell, you cannot afford not to be represented in the pages of The Times. Your economy would be too expensive—it wouldn't be good

A. L. COLE WRITES FORMER EDITOR INTERESTING LETTER

A. L. Cole, who is now attending a naval training school in Bremerton, Washington, has written the following interesting letter to C. G. Miller, former editor of The Times. Young Cole's address is: Storekeeper 3C Puget Sound Naval Yards, Bremerton, Washington.

The letter is as follows:

Dear Mr. Miller:

I have intended to write you for some time, but just couldn't find the time. Really, I have been very busy these last several weeks.

Everett and I are going to what is known as Fundamental School. They are supposed to make sailors out of us without the use of ships or water. It is very interesting work and I certainly enjoy it. The school consists mostly of lecture classes. The instructors are men who have been in the navy for a long time, and they can tell some very interesting tales of their travels.

Mr. Miller, you can tell the Lions club that I have been giving Wheeler a great amount of publicity. There are a great number of people who know about Wheeler who didn't before the war. It is surprising how a large number of people here have never heard of Wheeler.

I should like for you to give my regards to all my good Wheeler friends. I don't have time to write them all, but I think of them just the same and would like to hear

U. S. Wheat Bins Are Full

World War II finds the United States well supplied with wheat, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. As the chart indicates, the supply is double that of 1917 when America entered the first World War. It is estimated that on July 1, the Nation's supply will be nearly 11/2 billion bushels, enough for two years of domestic use. Instead of plowing up new land and expanding wheat acreage, farmers are able to use land, labor, and equipment in turning out other war commodities more vitally needed such as dairy, poultry, and meat products. vegetables, and oil crops.
