POISON VICTIM AT HAHN TRIAL

George Hels (above) came to court in Cincinnati in a wheelchair to be a witness in the trial of Mrs. Anna Hahn, charged with the poison deaths of elderly German acquaintances. Prosecutor Dudley Outcalt termed Hels "Mrs. Hahn's only living victim," saying he was crippled by poison after drinking beer with Mrs. Hahn.

Each Blames The Other

House, Senate Members Swap Charges For Tax Failure

AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—Robert W. Calvert, speaker of the house, today blamed members of the senate conference committee on the general tax bill for futility of the special legislative session which ended early yesterday.

House, Senate Members Swap Charges For Tax Failure

"If senate conferees had been willing to meet house conferees halfway in adjustment of differences on the tax rates and allocation provisions," he said, "I have no doubt the house would have released its conferees from instructions which prevented them from signing the report prepared and tendered by senate conferees."

Students Subjected To Scientific Tests On Reading Proficiency

Scientific tests on reading proficiency were being administered Thursday to two classes in the Big Spring schools.

Under the direction of A. E. Lamb, Brownwood, who is collecting data for his master's thesis, pupils were subjected to tests on ophthalmographs, or binocular cameras.

The instruments recorded the movements of the pupils' eyes as they followed reading matter. Film, moving through the cameras at the rate of half an inch per second, showed the number of fixations, regressions and regressions.

In some cases, Lamb said, the film could be diagnostic. Serious optical difficulty would show up in the tell-tale graph lines.

At the end of the year, Lamb and his helpers will again call on the same rooms and subject the identical pupils to the tests to note the average percentage progress in reading.

The pupils are told to read as rapidly as possible, but at the same time reading with the view of retaining. To check on this point, each pupil was given a memory test after he appeared before the camera machine.

Assisting Lamb were his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Taylor, and R. L. Dally.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON PROPOSED FARM PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Terms pulsing to some farmers and many urbanites are arising in discussions of new farm legislation, which a house committee started drafting yesterday.

Here are explanations of some of the expressions, based on statements of administration leaders and others.

What is an ever-normal granary? Secretary Wallace describes it as a government system of storing surplus corn, wheat, cotton, and other chief farm products from bumper harvests for use when poor crops reduce supplies.

Has it ever been tried? The classic example is the Biblical story of Joseph, who stored crops from the seven fat years for use in the seven years of famine, Wallace says the Chinese operated an ever-normal granary for 1,400 years and that early Mormon settlers in the west used it for wheat. Is there a recent example? Wallace says the government loan on the large 1933 corn crop was a partial example.

Would the ever-normal granary involve control over what a farmer grows or sells? Some control would be essential, Wallace says, when stocks of corn, wheat or cotton in the granary became large. Otherwise, farmers probably would continue to produce so much that prices would go down and the government loan funds would be dangerous.

How much would the granary system cost? Some officials say about $700,000,000 would be enough the first year. This would be about $200,000,000 more than the present farm benefit payments. Critics say it would cost $1,000,000,000 or more.

Financing How would it be financed? Wallace has suggested a return on the original agricultural adjustment administration program was set up in 1933. President Roosevelt told congress it must offset any additional expenditures with new income.

What is a processing tax? It is a tax collected from a manufacturer or processor when he takes the wheat or cotton and converts it into yarn, cloth, flour or other processed product.

Would a processing tax be valid in view of the supreme court's invalidation of the AAA? Only the court can answer, but lawyers advising Wallace say legislation can be written to meet constitutional tests.

How would control be maintained when stored supplies of corn, wheat, or other products became large? This might be accomplished, Wallace says, by acreage control or marketing quotas.

What are marketing quotas? These are definite limits on the amount of corn, wheat, or cotton which a farmer could market. If he marketed more, a penalty tax would take all his profit.

Would control be voluntary or compulsory? Wallace calls that a question for the public, farmers and congress to decide. He says compulsory control would cost less.

Would the ever-normal granary eliminate the present soil conservation program and its benefit payments? No, it would supplement the present program, according to Wallace.

Would the granary operate alike on all farm products? Separate programs would be needed for the different crops.

Bird Lovers To Fight Extinction Of Wild Life Threatened By Oil Wells In Coastal Waters

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—A move to enlist thousands of Texas bird-lovers in a campaign against the extinction of wild life—allegedly threatened by a "rash of oil wells" in Texas coastal waters was announced today by Robert P. Allen, secretary director of the National Association of Audubon Societies.

Allen said a meeting would be held in Dallas on Nov. 13, to form a federation to fight against the possible encroachment of oil companies in waters used as hereditary winter feeding places by water fowl.

"Several big oil companies have recently been exploring the coastal waters from Galveston to the Rio Grande, with the idea of sinking wells along the coast," Allen said, on the final day of the association's thirty-third annual convention here.

"Their activities naturally have caused us no little alarm, for they have given no assurance that when they start drilling operations, the plant and marine life which are so vitally essential to tens of thousands of wild birds—whose nest there during the winter.

"The oil companies, at least, have given us no explanation as to how they are going to prevent destruction of the birds' feeding places."

Allen said scores of bird club, nature clubs, conservation groups, and other scientific organizations, including college students and professors, would be asked to join the federation.

"Some of our most beautiful North American birds, notably the egret and the roseate spoonbill—are threatened with extinction," he said. "The same applies to many thousands of other water-fowl such as herons, white-faced ibises, ducks and geese, whose hereditary winter concentration points have been wiped out."

530 LOSE JOBS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—About 530 of the 1,200 workers in state offices of the Public Works Administration will be dismissed on November 1, an official said today. Control of projects will be transferred to seven regional offices at that time.

The musical pitch pipe was the basis of the Chinese system of measures, of the calendar and of their astronomical calculations.

MUST FACE TRIAL IN N. MEXICO

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 28 (AP)—Layton Mosley was released to a deputy sheriff from Lea county, N. M., today to be prosecuted there on a charge of killing Tom Deal, Mosley, who has been held here since he told a story of shooting a man named Tom Deal after being picked up as a hitch hiker in Texas, is under a federal charge of interstate transportation of a stolen automobile.

He offered to accompany officers to point out a shallow grave near Eunice, N. M., where he said he buried Deal.

Judge Albert L. Reeves of the federal district court stipulated Mosley was to be returned to Kansas City if no case developed against him in New Mexico or if he is acquitted on the charge of killing Deal.

THINKS PENSIONS CAN BE PAID

DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Belief that Texas old age pensions need not be discontinued or reduced in November and subsequent months was expressed today by Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas.

"The indebtedness of the Texas old age pension fund at the Republican National bank can be extended when payments on warrants fall due there Jan. 1," Hanna said. "That extension will enable the old age assistance commission to continue making its monthly payments from its regular revenue, and that revenue is constantly increasing. I see no reason for a reduction in pension payment. The state government had $48,299,000 on deposit in various banks Wednesday."

SPORT SPARKS

DALLAS, Oct. 27 (AP)—Sports writers who carried on about Vanderbilt's "mystery" play that sunk L. S. U. just hadn't been introduced to Texas football. It was the 17-year-old hidden ball trick, conceived by Frank Bridges, then of Baylor, and "Spitz" Clarke, crafty old San Antonio high school coach. This corner, then in knee breeches, watched in the usual open-mouthed amazement as the Main Avenue high school team of San Antonio worked the play for a touch in 1922.

More recently, this corner only three weeks ago watched Sulphur Springs high school work it to perfection against Highland Park of Dallas. On the bench with Sulphur Springs that night sat Henry Franks, now assistant to Ray Morrison at Vandy and formerly the foxy mentor of Greenville High. The hidden ball trick, when the center brusques the quarterback's hands, slips the ball to a guard's bended knee and permits the tackle to slip around and pluck it off preparatory to the touchdown run, is Franks' pet. It worked against Brackley's team at San Antonio in the state schoolboy semi-finals four years ago and caused a stormy protest. Franks' mere presence on the Vandy coaching staff was the tipoff on the startling piece of "magic."

Quick kicks: Southwest conference officials have had stormy sailing to date. Coach Fred Johnson of Arkansas raised one of the Baylor's winning touchdowns against his Porkers; Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist kicked about the excessive timeout ruling that cost his Ponies when they were camped on Vanderbilt's four-yard stripe; Coach Homer Norton charged on the field during the Baylor-Aggie game and protested against a pass interference ruling and other decisions; the fans swore Brackley's winning touchdown against Texas was scored on a "pickup" pass. Coach D. X. Bible grinned and started talking about "next week's game."

Jinx Tucker, the Waco sage who has been nursing Baylor teams many years, unqualifiedly calls the Brackley line of this season "the greatest in Baylor history." And Lloyd Gregory pronounced Baylor "one of the greatest teams this correspondent has seen in 20 years of reporting football" after they trampled the Aggies.

Joe College, the Baylor bear mascot, trotted on the field between halves smeared with the maroon and white colors of Aggie land. Cadets applied the paint brush when the bruin's attendant wasn't around. Statistical note: Texas Christian has trimmed Baylor the past two years by the identical score, 28-0, and hasn't scored a touchdown on the ground. All scores came via forward passes.

Old Adage Outmoded SALEM, Ore. (UP)—Making hay while the sun shines may be out of date within a few years, according to the department of agriculture, which describes artificial drying methods. School Bond Issue Discussed Before Kiwanis Club

Discussion of the proposed $55,000 bond issue by the Big Spring independent school district to finance new buildings and improvements, was presented by J. B. Collins, member of the school board, at the weekly luncheon session of the Kiwanis club Thursday.

Collins told of the PWO proffer of aid on the project, plans for building expansion, and needs of the school system for additional housing facilities. The bond issue will be voted on next Tuesday.

Congressman George Mahon of Colorado, representative from this district, spoke briefly. Other visitors were Thomas E. Pierce and J. H. Greene, introduced as new members were Bernie Arnold and Clarence Staples.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID O. S. LATTIMORE

AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—Officials of church and state and scores of other friends gathered here today for final rites for Justice O. S. Lattimore of the court of criminal appeals who died yesterday.

The 72-year-old jurist, long prominent in Baptist activities, was a victim of a paralytic stroke.

Funeral services were arranged for 2 p. m. at University Baptist church with Rev. W. H. McKenzie, pastor, and Dr. C. V. Edwards of Vernon officiating.

"PAYING FOR DEAD HORSES" never builds a good highway system!

ROADS that need constant reconstruction keep the taxpayer always "paying for dead horses." Year after year his taxes are paid, yet there's little money for new highways, widening, grade separations and other permanent improvements.

What a difference when each year's program includes new concrete highways! Reports from 21 states show that concrete costs far less to maintain—$88 to $465 per mile less per year—than other surfaces.

As you get more concrete and less inferior roads, annual maintenance costs are cut, re-leasing more and more funds for new roads, arterial streets, bridges and grade separations.

Even in first cost, concrete saves money over other pavements of equal load-carrying capacity. Concrete carries you safely and comfortably and with low cost for gas, tires, and car repairs.

Demand concrete for your roads.

RANCHERS APPEAL FOR REDUCTION IN FREIGHT RATES

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 28 (AP)—A delegation of ranchers from six southwest Texas counties, headed by Henry Bell, Fort Worth, secretary of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association, told railroad representatives at a conference here yesterday that drought conditions in their respective counties were the worst since 1917. The ranchers represented Uvalde, Dimmit, Zavala, Gold, Maverick and Stephens counties, and the condition of ranges was told in an appeal to the railroad companies to cut freight rates 25 per cent on feed stuff shipped into the counties. The rate reduction which the ranchers asked was recently put into effect in 34 drought stricken counties, it was said. The six represented at yesterday's meeting were said not to be included in this list.

FDR WILL TACKLE BUDGET PROBLEM

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt arranged a light schedule today preparatory to tackling the national budget problem tomorrow. The only persons on his calling list for the day were Will H. Hays, "czar" of the movie industry, and Professor Nelson Brown of Syracuse University. White House aides did not disclose the purpose of Hays' visit. Brown was called in to discuss one of the president's favorite subjects, reforestation.

BOY IS CHARGED IN DEATH OF MOTHER

MATAMOROS, Mexico, Oct. 28 (AP)—Redubico Pulido, 10, Thursday was charged formally with the accidental killing of his mother, Mrs. Eusebia Zapata De Pulido, after she was mortally wounded. The mother was hit by a bullet from a pistol the boy was cleaning. The frightened boy placed the gun to his temple and snapped two shells which failed to fire. The mother grappled with the boy until relatives arrived, the boy told investigating officers Thursday. The mother died later and the boy was turned over to municipal authorities.

Man Old at 35 NOW YOUNG, FULL OF LIFE

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—A 35-year-old man who was old and feeble, but now is young and full of life, is the subject of a new advertisement for a medicine called DEXTRE. The advertisement says that DEXTRE is a new medicine which has been found to be a powerful stimulant and invigorant. It is said to be a powerful stimulant and invigorant. GOODWILL MISSION GREETED BY BOOES

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28 (AP)—Shouts and "booes" from more than 200 pickets of maritime unions and Chinese organizations greeted Japan's unofficial goodwill mission when it arrived on the liner Tatusita Maru. There was no violence when the ship docked last night, but the police arrested five men they described as leaders of the pickets.

China, though a member of the allied forces, took little part in the World war due to internal struggles.

CROWLEY IN TEXAS

KILGORE, Tex., Oct. 28 (AP)—Karl Crowley, postoffice department solicitor, was in East Texas today for speeches at Longview and Gladewater prior to his visit to Houston to dedicate two federal buildings. Last night friends here tendered him a dinner. Yesterday he spoke in Tyler. Tonight he will address the Gladewater chamber of commerce. Crowley, mentioned as a possible gubernatorial candidate in Texas, said he would return to Washington Sunday. September 18 is called the Day of Humiliation by many Chinese. It is a day dedicated to defeat.

THE SPORTS PARADE

BY HANK HART

Reports from Waco and the best battle front along the Southwest lines say that the self-labeled "toughest man in Texas" and his "better'n I am" running mate, Virgil Jones, whom every one was calling the best pair of guards in college football, chose the safest way out in the little war last Saturday between the Baylor Bears and the Texas A. and M. Aggies—that, in sitting on the sidelines.

It seems that a couple of fellows by the names of Kriel and Coleman never get any further than Popeye when they read the morning blade.

When Abilene's ball crew lost James Beam through a shoulder injury in the Sweetwater game last Friday afternoon, they lost the spark plug of their club and that is the latest reason why Stephenville will probably beat their ears off. Beam had to play second fiddle to Odell Herman, John Kimbrough and the Galbraith boy on last year's ball team but he and H. H. Hughes had it all to themselves this season and his loss is going to hurt.

Whereas Beam and Hughes have been dominating the Eagle outfit this season the Jacket aggregation boast four good backs, any one of whom is capable of breaking up a ball game.

Led by Moser the Stephenville secondary also has a Lockhart, a Bell and a Wood. Lockhart will be remembered as the lad who rocked Sweetwater back from its heels by scoring two touchdowns while Hank and Wood are best remembered by this department as the lads who collaborated with Moser on a double lateral that resulted in a touchdown (and the winning one) against Breckenridge.

Obie Hristow returned from the Midwest and east Wednesday where he saw several important football games. While gone the former Longhorn mentor was on the sidelines of the Navy-Harvard nuzzle, the Arkansas-T.C.U. battle, and the affair between S.M.U. and Arkansas.

Bristow appeared struck at the inability of such teams as the Sillors and the "Crimson Tide" to pass with the reckless abandon that the Southwest conference teams do.

Bristow says that there are two basic types of offense in the game today whereas a few years ago there was only one. The passing game is employed just as much today to win ball games as is the running attack and more so in the Southwest conference.

Obie thought that Arkansas' superior aerial game, which Fred Thompson has perfected during the past few years was the difference between victory and defeat in the Southern Methodist-Arkansas game.

In Saturday night's AP report of the Rice-Texas football game, the service erroneously reported that Sam Flowers did not get into the game as center. Sam, along with the other Big Spring boy, Olie Cordill, played in three quarters.

Cleaning the cuff: For four straight years in Tournament of Roses football history, there was no more than one point difference in the score. In 1926 Alabama defeated Washington, 20-19; 1927 Alabama tied Stanford, 7-7; 1928 Stanford defeated Pittsburgh, 7-6; and in 1929 Georgia Tech won over California, 8-7. Americans who won $100,000 on the English Sweepstakes yesterday will get only $35,632 of that amount. Taxes eat up the rest of it. Bill Terry wore five different minor league uniforms before the Giants brought him to the big leagues. Cy Young, one of the greatest pitchers that ever lived them across the plate, won 30 or more ball games five seasons during his career. In 1905 he struck out 207 batters while with the Boston Americans.

The Boston Red Sox have had six different managers since 1928. Bill Carrigan, Charles Wagner, John Collins, Marty McManus, Bucky Harris and Joe Cronin. Packer McFarland won 62 ring battles and lost but once.

Two Dallas Hi Teams To Aid Grid Mate

DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Two Dallas school football teams, Dallas Tech and St. Joseph's, play a game in the Cotton Bowl Saturday for a 17-year-old youngster who apparently has won a month-long fight with death.

John Partlow, until an injury caused poisoning of the blood stream weeks ago and put him in a hospital where physicians feared for his life, was a Tech griddler. Nine blood transfusions were given Partlow and the plucky youngster now appears to have overcome the illness.

Principal Walter J. E. Schieble of Tech said the game would be played as a benefit for Partlow.

TEXAS HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL ABOUT TO GO OVER TOP

Conroe In Feature In South Texas

Stephenville-Big Spring Battle Important, Abilene Plays Cisco

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Texas interscholastic league football parade rolled toward the big top and the start of the main show today.

Fifteen unbeaten teams squared off for the stretch drive, most of them combining efforts to stay in the select circle with the grimmer task of winning conference games.

Conroe, undefeated, untied and unscored on, plays San Jacinto at Houston in a battle for a top rung in the District 13 race, and in another feature game, Longview, unbeaten and untied and outstanding favorite to go to the state finals, meets Sunset of Dallas, which has not lost a game but was tied once. It is not a conference game.

Other teams with perfect records have games, except Corpus Christi, Abilene meets Cisco and Stephenville clashes with Big Spring in Oil Belt conference tilts, Austin (El Paso) plays Rowell, N. M. in an interconference contest, Highland Park (Dallas, engages Class B Garland, Marshall plays Class B Van, Lufkin takes on Gaston in a District 10 conference game, Temple meets Hillboro and Waco tackles Bryan in District 11 conference tilts, and Robstown plays Brackenridge of San Antonio.

Olney, unbeaten but tied, plays Childress in a District 2 conference contest, and El Paso high, in the same class as Olney, takes on Ysleta in a game counting in the District 11 standing.

Thirty-six district games are scheduled, this round of battles being due to thin out the title contenders materially. The state champion Amarillo Sandies, not so lusty in the challenging role to repeat since losing to Port Arthur, open the conference campaign against Plainview. Their reaction to defeat after four years will be watched with interest.

Still in Courts
Meanwhile, their conquerors will be opening the conference drive while a court ponders the question of their eligibility in use of 12th graders. Port Arthur is asking an injunction to restrain the District 14 committee from invoking a rule against it. The hearing will be tomorrow.

The week's schedule by districts:
1—Friday: Perryton at Borger, Pampa at Lubbock (conference), Amarillo at Plainview (conference).
2—Friday: Electra at Wichita Falls (conference), Quanah at Graham (conference), Childress at Olney (conference).
3—Friday: Big Spring at Stephenville (conference), Breckenridge at San Angelo (conference), Ranger at Sweetwater (conference), Cisco at Abilene (conference).
4—Thursday: Ysleta at El Paso High (conference); Friday: Rowell, N. M., at Austin (El Paso); Saturday: Bowie (El Paso) at Mesa, Ariz.

5—Friday: Gainesville at Bonham (conference), Denison at Paris (conference).
6—Friday: Greenville at Sulphur Springs (conference), McKinney at Denton (conference), Highland Park (Dallas) at Garland.
7—Thursday: Mineral Wells at North Side (Fort Worth) conference; Friday: Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) vs. Riverside (Fort Worth), conference.
8—Friday: Dallas Tech vs. St. Joseph's (Dallas), Forest (Dallas) vs. North Dallas (conference); Saturday: Adamson (Dallas) vs. Woodrow Wilson (Dallas), conference.
9—Friday: Tyler at Texarkana (conference), Sunset (Dallas) at Longview, Van at Marshall.
10—Friday: Henderson at Palestine (conference), Mexia at Athens (conference), Jacksonville at Nacogdoches (conference).
11—Hillsboro at Temple (conference), Corsicana at Waxahachie (conference), Bryan at Waco (conference).
12—Friday: Jefferson (San Antonio) vs. Harlandale (San Antonio), conference; Austin at Kerrville (conference); Saturday: Robstown at Brackenridge (San Antonio).

13—Thursday: Sam Houston (Houston) vs. John Reagan (Houston), conference; Friday: Lamar (Houston) vs. Milby (Houston), conference; Mexico City Politechnic at Jeff Davis (Houston), Austin (Houston) at Corpus Christi College-Academy, Conroe at San Jacinto (Houston), conference.
15—Friday: San Antonio Tech at Kingsville.

FINLEY STILL PRESENT
DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Bob Finley, ex-quarterback of S.M.U., is enrolled in the university this year, but is ineligible for football. He spends most of his spare time on the football field however, and umpired a game between the varsity subs and freshmen players Monday afternoon.

With reminiscences of the Vanderbilt game, Bob watched the varsity captain call his third time out. Then suddenly he remembered and yelled, "third time out, Coach Rea!"

PROS SEEK SHOT AT PUBLICIZED GOLFER
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 28 (AP)—Horton Smith says the country's top-notch golf pros are eager for a crack at the imposing links reputation of John Montague, "the most any kind of stakes."

Four of the soundest strokers in the money game—Smith, Harry Cooper, Jimmy Thomson and Lawson Little—want "Mysterious Monty" to try his shots against the cash-and-carry corps.

Smith, speaking for the foursome after an exhibition round at a Nashville course, said today the pros generally resent the fact Montague has been widely hailed as a super-golfer.

LONGHORNS BEAR DOWN IN FINAL WORKOUTS Southwest Leaders Mentioned—

Grid Stars In Parade SW Standings

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Notwithstanding rain, snow and conditions generally calculated to make football life unhappy for ball carriers, this week's All-America roundup features the lads who have been going places and scoring touchdowns for the old all-time.

With a bow to Vanderbilt's 60-minute line, chiefly responsible for overthrowing Louisiana State and featuring an All-America candidate for center in Captain Carl Hinkle, the fact remains that halfbacks monopolized the latest big-game headlines.

Nearing the halfway mark in the pursuit of all-star recognition, the backfield list of favorites includes the following talented young men: Yale's Clark Frank, a 1936 All-America who gave another superb all-round exhibition against Cornell; Bill Hutchinson, who tallied all three of Dartmouth's touchdowns against Harvard; Vic Botari, who twice crossed Southern California's goal line for California, the nation's No. 1 team; Bullet-Bill Patterson, dynamo of Baylor's line, beaten only by untied powerhouse Marshall Goldberg of Pittsburgh, who had one of his best days against Wisconsin; Byron (Whizzer) White of Colorado, who tallied 23 points against Colorado State; Jack Pingel of Michigan State, a broken-field terror against Marquette; Jimmy Fenton and Henry Kelly, the twin ground-gaining sensations for Auburn; and Andy Farina, who has scored 11 touchdowns for Detroit's unbeaten outfit.

McDonald Has Edge
Two of the Big Ten's finest blocking backs were on opposite sides of last Saturday's main event, with Ohio State's Jim McDonald apparently enjoying an edge over Northwestern's Fred Vanzo. Don Heap did some spectacular ball carrying for Northwestern, but could not turn the tide, even with the 213-pound Vanzo's help.

Bob Davis, Kentucky, and Dick Davis, Indiana.
Hinkle At Top
Hinkle of Vanderbilt so far looms conspicuously among the centers on all counts, including leadership, durability and play diagnosis. Two of the best pivot men were on view at the Polo Grounds Saturday, with Ki Aldrich of Texas Christian given an edge by most critics over Fordham's Alex Wojciechowicz, Herwig of California, Dougherty of Santa Clara, Erickson of Washington, Murray of Wisconsin, Gallagher of Yale and Moore of Colorado are other centers who come well-recommended.

Standout ends included Benton, Arkansas; Boyd and Huesner, Baylor; Looney, Texas Christian. Two big reasons for California's all-conquering march, observers report, are the team's superlative guards, Stockton and Evans. Virgil (Brahma) Jones of Texas A. and M. is rated the standout guard in the Southwest conference.

The season has developed a wealth of first-class tackles, judging from the reports. Vanderbilt's Tackett was conspicuous for his touchdown pass on a deception play Saturday.

Other tackles in the all-star spotlight this week include Hale, Texas Christian; Young, Texas A. and M.

Frick Avers Baseball Is Nat'l Sport

Says Football Helps Rather Than Hinders Popular Pastime

DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Football, with its weekly Saturday hysteria, is not threatening the throne baseball occupies as "the great American pastime."

Such was the comment today of shrewd Fred Frick, whose only prejudice in the matter could be attributed to the fact that he is merely president of the National Baseball League.

"Is baseball being harmed by football?" Most certainly not," smiled Frick. "As a sport, I should say football is grand—certainly not harmful to baseball. Perhaps there is just one thing in football that could harm baseball."

"Some colleges have these high pressure, high-powered football coaches who must win. They take good baseball players out of circulation in colleges and use them in their spring football training. To balance this, however, there are some baseball coaches who keep their talent in baseball."

Just to prove that he was also a good football fan, Frick then launched into a general football discussion, including some choice grid stories that kept two of his National League umpires, Ziggy Sears and Lee Ballanfant, from telling, for the moment, "how I chased that guy out the park."

Frick, back to baseball, said the sport "all over the country is in a very healthy condition."

He braced out to baseball's problem child the farm system, and assailed and defended it.

"For all of its uncomplimentary phrases, the farm system has been a grand thing for baseball. It was a savior in the time of need and is a stimulus that has kept some leagues alive."

The genial former sports writer now heading the 62-year-old National league, predicted bigger things for his circuit in 1938 but was not too talkative about the recent world series in which his Nationals ran a lagging second.

COWBOYS TRY FOR 13TH STRAIGHT

ABILENE, Oct. 28 (AP)—Out here on the prairies of West Texas is a football team with the cleanest record in the nation—the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys.

Unbeaten, untied and unscored on, figures prove the Cowboys to be tops in that class with 119 points to the enemy's horse-collar. Next best thing to them is Arkansas Tech, with 92 points in five games.

And the Cowboys step right up Friday at Commerce, Texas, and challenge all the jukes by trying to take their thirteenth straight victory on Hallowe'en eve against the potent East Texas Teachers.

Not since powerful Texas A. and M., a Southwest Conference juggernaut, stopped them 3-0 with a long range field goal kick in '36, have they dropped a game. They have played four games to date and have notched off Loyola of Los Angeles, 7-0; Kentucky Teachers, 21-0; Ouachita College (of Arkansas) 51-0; and West Texas State Teachers, 40-0.

Leads Nation
Currently there are only six undefeated, untied, unscored on teams in the national grid picture, and Hardin-Simmons is coasting along on top—mainly due to the efforts of Ed Cherry, a bald backfield sensation, and Burns (Sogmer) McKinney, canary-legged passing marvel.

Cherry, a power runner, has accumulated 42 points, while McKinney, a fragile appearing back with a slingshot arm, has scored three touchdowns, tossed passes for three more and has completed more than half his aerials. It was his 65-yard jaunt that whipped Tom Lieb's boys of Los Angeles crew after one of the slickest plays pulled on the Pacific slope.

Known as "the little giants of Texas football," Hardin-Simmons is a constant threat to Southwest conference teams. In 1935, the year

Woodman Circle Plans For District Convention

Plans for the district convention which is to be held on November 15 were discussed recently when the Supreme Forest Woodman Circle's local grove met in the W.O.W. hall. Announcement was made of the reorganization of the drill team, members of which will be gowned in evening dresses for future drill work. Mrs. Jack Olsen was received into the organization as a new member and Mrs. Mary T. Womack received the designation. Taking part in the evening's activities were Misses Lorraine Crenshaw, Mary Beth Wren, Inez McCullough, and Mrs. Myrtle Orr, Mrs. Mary T. Womack, Mrs. Altha Porter, Mrs. Agnes Mims, Mrs. Mattie Wren, Mrs. Gracie Lee Greenwood, Mrs. Anna Petefish, Mrs. Minnie McCullough, and Mrs. Laura Dearing.

Four Are Guests Of Idle Art Bridge Club For Games

Four were guests of the Idle Art Bridge club Wednesday evening when Mrs. Glen Queen entertained at the Freeman home. They were Miss Lennah Rose Black, Mrs. Herby Govert, Mrs. Earl London and Mrs. Ben McCullough. Mrs. Govert scored highest and also received the floating prize. Mrs. Fletcher Sneed won in the bingo games. Refreshment plates were passed to the guests, Mrs. Sneed, Mrs. Roy McMahan, Mrs. Kelly Burns, Mrs. Lowndes Hanshaw, Mrs. Searcy Whaley, Misses Emma Louise Freeman, and Veda Robinson.

Tuberculosis Association Starts Work On Seal Sale Campaign

Preparing for the seal sale which will begin on Thanksgiving day, members of the Howard County Tuberculosis association met with the county chairman, Mrs. J. C. Douglas Wednesday evening to outline this year's campaign to raise funds through the sale. Mrs. H. B. Reagan is chairman of the sale and will be in charge of the seals and letters that will be prepared for mailing on Thanksgiving day. With the money raised from the seals this year the association plans to give skin tests to children in the local schools. Last year 286 Com-homa school students were given the tests and many of the students tested negatively. The Medical Association is co-operating with the Tuberculosis association in preparing for the tests. In order to acquaint people with their work the association has prepared talks for radio broadcasts and have secured a movie slide. The organization asks the co-operation of citizens of Big Spring in making this one of the best seal sale years in its history.

Sigma Phis Install Three New Members

Ceremonies for the installation of three new members into the Beta Sigma Phi sorority were held Wednesday evening at the Settles hotel and were followed by a dinner. Miss Elizabeth Northington, president, was assisted in the services by Miss Evelyn Merrill, rush captain and vice president. After the ceremonies the group had dinner from the table that was attractively trimmed in sorority colors. Yellow roses furnished the centerpiece and was flanked on either side by black and gold candles. Place cards bore the sorority emblem. Places were laid for Misses Barbin, Goldman, La Londe, Merrill, Northington, Marguerette Alderson, Anne Zaratonek, and Mary Elizabeth Burns.

New Members Received By Music Study Club At Business Session

Introduction of new members presentation and review of the new year books, discussion of business matters and a program on "The Study of the Folk Song" featured the second meeting of the Music Study club which met at the Settles hotel Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. J. H. Kirkpatrick, president, introduced the new members who are Mrs. Joe Paxton, Mrs. Joe Austin, Mrs. Chester Barnes and Mrs. R. L. Carpenter. Announcement was made of the change of the second program for the Musteal Art series which is being sponsored by the club. Cancellation of the artist for the winter season has made necessary a substitution which will be filled by the violinist, Jan Kubelik, who will appear at Hardin-Simmons during the same week. There will be no additional charge for the performance. Mrs. G. C. Schurman gave a brief outline of the new course of study to be pursued by the club during the year, the purpose of which is to cultivate discriminate listeners. The organization will observe special days with programs throughout the club year. Members interested in choral work were reminded of the meeting at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the club room of the hotel for the organization of a club chorus. Members also pledged themselves to donate a sum of money toward purchasing band uniforms for the school.

Hallow'een Carnival At Courtney School

STANTON, Oct. 28.—The Courtney community, whose loyalty to all school activities is well-known in this section, will turn out en masse for the Hallow'een carnival in the school gym Friday night. The Parent-Teachers association is sponsor of the show, proceeds of which will pay for a mimeograph machine recently purchased for the school. Additional funds will be applied on a set of reference books for library use. In addition to the usual Hallow'een features, such as fortune telling, Hall of Horrors, and fishing ponds, the committee in charge of arrangements has planned games of all types to entertain young and old. Decorative booths and gaily costumed guests will add color to the carnival. A prize will be given the individual wearing the most original costume. Chairman of the various committees are L. L. Draper, Riggs Sheppard, Nolan J. Robnett, Miss Ann Bickley, Miss Gargera Middleton, and Mrs. Henry Rayford, Mrs. Webb Flanagan, Mrs. A. T. Angel, Mrs. Ode Hazelwood and Mrs. Riggs Sheppard.

Border Officers Working To Curb 'Cotton Rustling'

EL PASO, Oct. 28.—Responsibility for night raids on cotton fields along the Rio Grande that have succeeded in catching and returning rustling on the international border was in conflict today. The Mexican consulate in El Paso reported to a plea for co-operation against the rustlers whose activities have resulted in serious losses and threatened with the assertion that American rustlers were responsible. Previously Sheriff Chris Fox of El Paso had advised the bureau and the Mexican government's claim of a rustler—rangers who hold land from the government—was one factor in the increasingly serious situation. Fox had demanded the Mexican military take suitable steps to bring the "cotton rustling" to a stop. Vice Consul Elias Colvin said his office had received "reliable reports" that "American rustlers" were behind the nocturnal cotton raids. Federal and state peace officers, reinforced by private riflemen, guarding cotton fields in the Fabians Island area 35 miles east of here, have been met by gunfire from encroaching rustlers when they attempted to trap the rustlers.

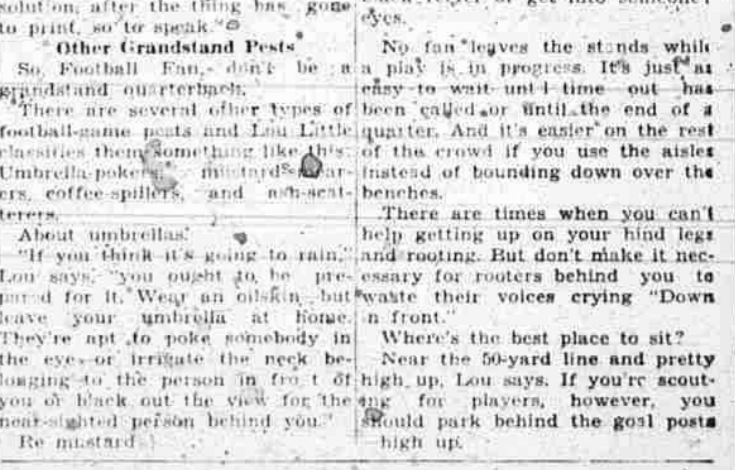

WOUND IS FATAL

Funeral services will be held tomorrow. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Brigger, and two sisters, Selma and Elvira Blocker, survive.

Lou Little Detests Grandstand Quarterbacks—Who Doesn't?

By JOAN DURHAM AP Feature Service Writer
Football has its back-seat drivers. Only they're known as "grandstand quarterbacks."
Lou Little, volcanic mountain coach at Columbia university, knows the sneeze.
"You never hear 'em say anything before the play is made," he fumes. "If it's the right play, nothing's said afterwards. But if it's wrong they start giving out the solution after the thing has gone to print, so to speak."
Other Grandstand Pests
So, football fans, don't be a grandstand quarterback. It's just as easy to wear out a time-out as to have an end-of-a-quarter. And it's easier on the rest of the crowd if you use the aisles instead of bounding down over the benches.
There are times when you can't help getting up on your hind legs and rooting. But don't make it necessary for rustlers behind you to waste their voices crying "Down in front."
Where's the best place to sit?
Near the 50-yard line and pretty high up. Lou says. If you're scouting for a player, however, you should park behind the goal posts high up.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE Caused by Tired Kidneys. Many of those gasping, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day of about 3 pounds of waste. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Retrenchment Is Noted In Oil Industry

Seasonal Decline In Demand Brings Cut In Output. TULSA, Okla., Oct. 28 (AP)—Seasonal retrenchment in production and refining was in full swing in the petroleum industry today as leaders sought to keep output in line with demand.

Following fractional reductions in gasoline quotations, prices for crude and refined were unchanged. Executives took an optimistic view that the business would remain on even keel for the rest of the year.

Okahoma operators were agreed that a daily allowable for November of 575,000 barrels daily should fill the bill in the Sooner state. Conservation Officer W. J. Armstrong was to recommend that figure when the corporation commission meets Thursday to set the November quota. It would mean a reduction of 25,000 barrels daily under the October figure and 23,000 barrels less than the November recommendation of the bureau of mines.

Executives here were heartened by the Texas reduction of nearly 20,000 barrels daily under the bureau of mines recommendation and the Louisiana cut, the first quota reduction in that state since spring. These curtailments, it was reasoned here, would go a long way in preventing a weakening of the crude market.

One authority who spoke of the "vague uneasiness" apparent in the industry had his view challenged by another who cited estimates that gasoline consumption this year still was 10 per cent ahead of 1936, which many regarded as a banner year. Bright spots were the bureau of mines forecast that the demand for crude oil for November, while lower than in October, would be 15 per cent higher than last year, and that gasoline stocks should reach a year's low of about 64,000,000 barrels on October 31.

The brisk export trade was a helpful feature. Movement of gasoline was good, considering the season. Trade in heating oils continued to boom. The Oil and Gas Journal reported 654 wells completed during the week, eight more than the week before.

Forged Wills Are Mentioned In Trial Of Mrs. Hahn. CINCINNATI, Oct. 28 (AP)—A handwriting expert's testimony that Anna Marie Hahn forged the name of Jacob Wagner on three documents, including his purported will, was added today to the state's evidence in her murder trial.

The blonde 31-year-old mother, accused by the prosecution of "mass murders" for profit, is being tried for the poison death of Wagner, 75, a retired gardener. Albert O. Osborn of New York, engaged by the state to identify documents in the case, testified at a night session that Mrs. Hahn was the author of a scrawled handwriting which, the state asserted, she represented as Wagner's "last will and testament," leaving to her all his modest fortune.

Osborn also declared the signature on an order giving Mrs. Hahn power of attorney for Wagner was a "poor imitation" and that a check bearing Wagner's name in reality was made out by Mrs. Hahn. The defense has admitted that the defendant forged a check for $1,000 several hours after Wagner died June 3. Previously, Dr. Willard Machle, a chemist, testified lining of a handbag taken from Mrs. Hahn when she was arrested August 11 contained the same type of metallic poison found in Wagner's body.

Dr. Machle, over defense objection, stated he found scrapings of lint from the bag were 35 per cent poison.

Bears Look For Frog Trouble

WACO, Oct. 27—Stage is set for the Baylor University Golden Bears, riding the tide today a possible Southwest conference championship since 1924, to entertain the largest homecoming crowd in all history Saturday.

Homecomers from California, New York, Washington, and states from the mountains to the Gulf are already drifting to the university campus early Friday, while the spirited Baylor students, were getting the Twelfth Man in shape mentally to "Gig the Frogs" in the afternoon encounter on municipal stadium field here. Downtown parade has been eliminated in the ceremony this year and the activities of the day will be concentrated on the main Baylor campus.

On the Baylor gridiron, Coach Morley Jennings was planning a surprise for the oncoming Horned Frogs. He has been drilling his Bears with a great deal of secrecy this week as they develop new tricks that he hopes will back the Frogs to the wall.

On the other hand, Captain Carl Brazell has been telling his mates this week that the Dutchmen have "plenty up their sleeves." Since the season opened, they have anticipated more trouble with the Texas Christians than any other club.

Selection this week of the Bears as No. 6 club in the land gave the locals the highest rating they have ever had. They are cognizant of the fact that the Frogs are laying "egg" as they come, is still in force.

Mr. Jennings was grooming Frank Huesner, Waco, lunging end, to fill the "fourth post" backfield role, if it comes necessary. In W. J. Wimpee, Kaufman boy, he has a splendid man to push to the wing in case he decided to use Huesner behind the line.

HEINEMAN GRABS LAURELS FOR PERFORMANCE

EL PASO, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Texas Miners may not have an All-America performer on their squad this season, but El Paso and Pacific coast fans believe they have the next thing to one in Ken Heineman, sensational passing sophomore.

Heineman added to his laurels Friday night when he directed his club to a 13-13 tie with the powerful Gauchos of Santa Barbara State college. His crowning achievement of the night was a 65-yard return of a punt for a touchdown. He also completed seven of 15 attempted passes, did most of the punting, kicked an extra point, and gained 62 yards from scrimmage.

Along with Riley Matheson, husky tackle, Heineman was the only Mucker to play 60 minutes in the Gaucha game.

So far this season "Hurli" Heinle has thrown 68 passes and completed 31 of them, which is fair hurling in any league.

He will likely have an opportunity to try his arm again Saturday when the Ore Diggers play host to the strong Greeley State team of Colorado in an intercollegiate tilt in El Paso. Greeley has a heavy line which will make the going tough for Mucker backs, and Head Coach Mack Saxon will probably call for the raising of his club's aerial circus before the game. It is many minutes old.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Mickey Walker, former welter-weight champion, is battling 1,000 as master of ceremonies in a W. 48 St. cafe. Casey Stengel must be slipping. He'll get $3,000 less for managing the Mets next year than he got for not managing the Dodgers.

Bob Quinn of the Boston Bees used the telephone on two occasions 44 months ago to sign the same manager. In 1934 he called Stengel at Glendale, Cal., to lead Casey for the Dodgers, and the other day he called Casey at Omaha, Neb., to offer him the Boston berth.

Against Texas Christian last week, Fordham used two backfield combinations. One consisted of three sophomores and a senior and the other of three veterans and one sophomore. The reason Henry Armstrong is a favorite to trim Pete Narro tomorrow night is that since the first of the year the West Coast negro has scored kayos in 21 of his 22 fights. Nomination for the best yell section in the country. Those 4,000 Texas Aggie students. Once they made a Notre Dame baseball team quit the field because they couldn't stand the throat-splitting yell. And All America candidates: Andy Bershek, North Carolina's star end. Clark Griffith's son, Calvin, will head the Senators' Charlotte farm in the Piedmont league next season.

Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Jacks of Bay City, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kinard, left Wednesday for Fort Worth where they will visit for a short time before continuing their trip to Longview and New Orleans.

FROGS TO PLAY MARQUETTE AND TEMPLE IN '38

FORT WORTH, Oct. 28 (AP)—During the 1938 grid season, the T.C.U. Horned Frogs will repay the visit of Marquette's Golden Avalanche to the Southwest for the Cotton Bowl game of 1937. The purple will journey to Milwaukee for one of its two big intersection games next year.

The other big scrap is with Pop Warner's Temple Owls. The game will be played in Philadelphia on October 1. In addition to these games and the usual six Southwest conference scraps, the Frogs are slated to meet Centenary and Tulsa.

Where Farmers Succeed

Not given as much display in the newspapers as it merited was a story appearing recently of conditions in some Texas counties east of us, a group from Parker to Taylor. The story deserved front page space because it told of the work farmers in that region are doing, and the results they are getting, unaided by government or other sources.

The observer who wrote the story told of terrace lines that have been run to hold the rainfall which is sufficient in three out of four years of that cross-timber region; of a million-dollar income to Parker county this year from fruits and vegetables and melons, shipments being made to forty states; of white faced cattle and woolly sheep grazing where mesquite and prairie grasses have been spared by the plow. And besides these things, there were fields of grains, cotton, vegetables, orchards bearing fruit—real farming in its best sense. One Eastland county farmer who kept books like a merchant showed sales of steers, corn, cotton, wheat, dairy and poultry products and fruits and vegetables totaling $3,300—and it was not an unusual case.

The AAA was never very popular in that region, the writer reported, and the universal chorus now is "Let us alone—we're on our way."

Any farmer who does as these folks are doing will be on his way; and any farmer who depends on cotton alone will also be on his way—but in a different direction. Ten years ago much of the land in that area was dotted with oil derricks and farming became a sideline. But with the decline in oil output, farming again was a necessity, and it seems that it is being done in the right way—by producing food as well as cash crops.

The story of diversification is not a new one, but it is one that can and should be told over and over again. The soil of West Texas, properly worked, will produce many products besides cotton; many of them products that will yield more per acre than cotton. Some of them could be made the major cash crop, but even the grower who continues with cotton as his major cash source will find himself a great deal better off if he adds livestock and varied types of foodstuffs to his farm program.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

By DENNIS HOEY

(Of the cast of "Virginia," pinchhitting for George Tucker)
NEW YORK — British actors are always ready with opinions on America and Americans, but I should like to offer one that I have never heard discussed. That is, why don't Americans travel more in their own country? Possibly I am thinking too much of American actors, who have a marked disposition to "stay put," but in any case I put the question for what it is worth.

Frequently I am astonished, and pleased, in conversation with American actors to discover that I know far more about their own land than they do. I acquired my knowledge by touring with Katharine Hepburn in "Jude the Obscure," which covered a remarkable range of territory a year ago. During an acting career of not too many years, I have traveled on five continents—South America and Antarctica yet to be toured.

American cities fascinate me, and not alone because they were cities of my most recent inspection. Boston, for instance, instantly impressed me as another Edinburgh.

Chicago I shall always remember as having given me one of the loveliest sights I ever beheld. I stood one night at a window and watched the lights go on in the buildings lining Lake Shore Drive. Minneapolis I remember for a crisp afternoon when I went skating. San Francisco has been hymned by every visitor, with justification, but let me be among the first to lift a paean to Des Moines. That struck me as typical of the American Middle West—roomy, a bit sprawling and immensely friendly.

An actor with abundant leisure in a new town makes many pleasant discoveries. One idle afternoon in Columbus, Ohio, I happened upon an exhibit that impressed me very much. Like too many Englishmen, I had clung to the mistaken idea that art was foreign to inland cities. I remarked as much, and was heartily ashamed to be told that art appreciation is as lively in inland America as in New York or London. My excuse is that it was my first tour. Now, I often have the very great pleasure of rebuking people from Columbus for not knowing their city.

I am, I suppose, a born tourist. My dressing room at the Center theater, where I am playing in "Virginia," is a repository of maps and travel photographs. The other evening a friend happened upon a rather good photograph of a rural scene. He remarked on its Old World charm and said, with great wisdom, he would like to visit so entrancing a spot.

It took great restraint to keep from telling him that the picture was made in Staten Island, a half hour and ten cents from my dressing room. No, I am afraid Americans don't see enough of their America.

ON THE RECORD

GOERING AND THE PRODIGAL SON

Modern Germany has officially repudiated Judeo-Christianity, but it is difficult completely to purge the mind of habits of thought, and the Jewish-Christian Bible is still a part of German speech. So "Four-Year-Plan," a paper founded to promote General Goering's ideas, made the statement this week that "the parable of the Prodigal Son has become the faith of the German race in the 20th century."

The statement was astonishing in its context. It occurred in an article reviving the program recently launched upon an annoyed world at Stuttgart. According to this program, all Germans living abroad—and that, according to the author, is every third German—is to become an agent of the Nazi economic and cultural program. "In the future," says the article, "fruitful relationships between Germany and other peoples can take place only on the basis of the organized activity of foreign Germans as natural agents of German culture and commerce."

The Motherland raises the question: Upon which men of German blood can I lay claim, even if they are no longer conscious that they belong to us?

"National Socialism," says the article further, "radiates a magnetic fluid throughout the world. Race is drawn to race... folks to folk."

And with this magnetic fluid the Third Reich proposes to enter into sharp contact with the Comintern, a disintegrator of outside societies, using men of German blood wherever they live, and whatever their citizenship, to serve the interests of the Nazi state.

That's a lot easier to say than to do, so we are not going to get unduly excited. Recently I talked about the Stuttgart meeting in a radio broadcast and got many unhappy letters from German-Americans furious that the German government should have put them in such an oblique light, pleading for confidence in their loyalty to the country of their adoption. Of that loyalty the history of Germany in the United States is the best testimony. It was only in the brief hysteria of war that we regarded every dachshund as a German agent, and the Nazi government's announced intention to make the German delicatessen dealer and the German industrial engineer abroad into active blood-suckers is likely to injure Germany more than us.

But General Goering's official organ has put an ingenious and exclusively German interpretation upon the Parable of the Prodigal Son. The Prodigal Son, who had been sent into a far country, where he wasted his substance in riotous living. Then his adopted country had a famine, and finding himself with nothing to eat but corn husks, he beat it home, where father received him with a welcoming party.

Rewritten in Germany the story becomes as follows: A young man left his father's house, and went into a far country, where, under the laws of that country he established himself with wife and family, got himself a job, or built himself a business, and since the country was not compelling him to stay there, not even for military service, he stayed because he wished to. And now his father, being hard up for funds, and having got himself into a jam by offending his neighbors, sent out an emissary to his son, and said: "Son, the folks back home need you." Perhaps the son demurred that after all he hadn't seen the home folks for a long time, and had new ties, or perhaps the son said, "All right, Dad, I'll pull up stakes here, right away and help you out."

But the emissary said, "Got it! Him! Him! We don't want you back home. There are enough people on the winter charities already. No, we want you to stay here, and work for Germany here, just as though you were on our pay roll, because all Germans are tied together by a magnetic fluid, and that magnetic fluid makes them all think and act like Nazis."

So the son becomes a Nazi agent, and when his neighbors, who don't share the magnetic fluid, but happen to be a majority of the population, reach a certain point of exasperation and throw him out on his ear, he returns home to father. And father does not kill the fatted calf or put a ring on his finger and shoes on his feet, but pops him into concentration camp for failure to fulfill his mission.

I suppose everything depends upon interpretation. One can stretch any parable a long way. But some of us think that the parable of the Prodigal Son, in so far as it can be made to have a bearing on Germany, can be given another interpretation entirely, such as this one:

Once upon a time there was a nation that belonged to a family. The bigger and older members of the family had more power, and were pretty hotheaded, and that annoyed and humiliated the younger brother, who was exceptionally energetic and also a little hogish since he belonged to a somewhat hogish race—the human.

So when, after a lot of bickering and quarreling, he didn't get what he wanted, he decided that he wasn't a member of the family at all. If I really belonged to them, he thought, they wouldn't treat me so. I must have been adopted. And he thought that so long that he convinced himself that he was of different blood, although the common trait of hogishness should have demonstrated to him the contrary. And having decided this, he pulled out on his own, and loudly denounced all the things the family pretended to stand for, and even in its least hogish moments did stand for, such as justice for individuals, free thought, hatred of persecution, and the unity of mankind.

And now the family, left behind, became frightened because they knew that these things, though they often seemed pretenses, were really all that made them human and not altogether hogs. And, although they had never become altogether human, they had been trying to be so for several thousand years, and occasionally believed that they might achieve it.

And the rebels also became frightened, hearing the howling protests of the family. So he began to make guns and bombs, and they began to increase their guns and bombs, and the more frightened both of them got, the more frightened they became.

All the time the family misused him. They missed him because he was strong, intelligent, and a marvelous worker. And sometimes when he had been writing a poem, or working on an invention, or building a city, or studying the stars, they had said to themselves (not very loudly): "Watch that boy! He's the most promising human of us all!"

Well, that's where one version of the parable stops. But not the other: Of the chastened son, returning to a chastened family, who go out along the road to welcome him.

A mission program will be presented by negro and Mexican children of Big Spring, at the Sunday school hour at the Prairie View church Sunday morning. Mexicans and negroes who are working in this community have been invited to attend, and a special section will be reserved for them.

Rev. Rickles, the pastor, will be with the church next Sunday, and a good attendance is anticipated. Large crowds are attending the BTU meetings each Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, and the song services each Thursday evening at the same hour.

A number of people from this community attended the singing convention at Knott last Sunday. They reported a fine program.

Imogene Thomas was on the sick list last weekend.

Mrs. T. M. Bailey, who has been sick for some time, was reported improved this week.

ELECTIONS SLATED AT M. E. MEETING

DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Completion of elections was on the business agenda today for the North Texas Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Six clergymen and three lay delegates to the general conference in Birmingham, Ala., next May were named yesterday. Fourteen delegates, seven clergymen and seven laymen, are to be chosen.

Clergymen named yesterday were Rev. Paul E. Martin, presiding elder of the Wichita Falls district; Rev. H. G. Ryan, pastor of Wesley Church, Greenville; Dr. Charles C. Selcman, president of Southern Methodist University; Rev. S. A. Barnes, pastor of the Dallas Tyler Street church; Rev. J. H. Grosz, superintendent of Methodist hospital, and Rev. W. C. Martin, pastor of the Dallas First Methodist church.

Lay delegates elected were R. S. Fudge of Grace Church, Dallas; John L. Murphree of Iowa Park; and Mrs. W. O. Jordan of the Tyler Street church, Dallas, president of the North Texas Conference Women's Missionary Society.

Chapter 25
GOSSIP ABOUT RICHARD
"Gad, Tony," Carl was saying to the man Leeds, newly returned from England, "what do you think of our young entry, eh? We've continued using the Brandywine blood, and imported, in addition, a number of fine bitches from England. Well, sir, I declare, I think we've developed a cross-bred pack, uniform as to type, that is the equal of anything in this country!"
"I think you're right there, Carl," Tony Leeds was enthusiastic. "Never seen anything like it."
Richard, from the depth of his leather arm-chair asked: "What's the number of your young entry... about 14 couple?"
"Just... and speaking of young entry," Carl beamed at David, "you should have seen young Day here, Hester! There's a horseman for you!"
"I was troubled, when you went out, Mr. Day. These friends of

"You should have seen young Day! There's a horseman for you."

Carl's are a hard riding lot. I admire your courage."
"Oh, I was scared enough, sometimes, all right... but Lord, I could get enthusiastic about the sport!"
Richard remarked, with a smile, that his enthusiasm alone, had carried him over a good many obstacles already.

But David was ready for him. "Enthusiasm—or horsemanship, I got over, didn't I?"
Everybody laughed.
Nina said: "I thought you were a goner, darling, at that last post and rail, near the entrance to Scarborough wood!"
"It would have been too bad," murmured Richard, surveying his glass, "if he had had a bit of bad luck, right at the last!"
"Bad luck... nonsense!" cut in Carl, in his hearty way taking the sting from his words. "He approached the bar with his horse extended, and got a leg under him to jump with!"
"David said: 'I'd probably agree with you, if I knew what you were talking about, sir... but I still say: I got over, didn't I?'"

There was more laughter and fibbing of Carl, this time, and presently Hester's cool voice broke in: "Ar hour 'til dinner, people..." And the group began to break up.

"Tony Leeds came over to Nip. 'Stay down for a few minutes, will you, Nina? You always used to be able to dress like the wind. I haven't seen you for a year—do you realize that? We've time for a chat.'"
"All right, David, lamb, take the first bath, and then draw mine, will you? Tony and I want to go over old times a bit."

Tony Leeds was a man about Richard's age. He was rather well known as a sportsman, on both sides of the Atlantic, and he had been a good friend of the Staffords for years.
He was shorter than medium height, and of a bronze, rugged ugliness, that somehow made him immensely attractive. He had filled, quite innocently, with Honey and Nina, by turns, and now Nina hoped that something might come of his friendship with Cordelia Thorpe... though she was rather doubtful.

It was funny about lovely Cordelia... she never, never fell for anyone. It was as though she had once loved very desperately, and lost... But Nina knew for certain that this was not so.

When the others had left, and they were settled comfortably by the fire, Tony said: "You and Honey both married... I have a lot to get caught up with. And, by the way, your young David is as nice a chap as I've met up with in many a day!"
"You bet he is Tony."
"And guts... God! That fellow's got guts, Nina."
"Hasn't he? I was inordinately proud today." She took a deep breath. "And Richard, Tony... Honey's frightfully happy with him. You'd met before, hadn't you?"
"Yes. All over Europe. Tell me, had either of you... had Honey known him long, before she...?"
Nina laughed.

"Long! My dear, she met him out in Chicago, and was married to him in three weeks!"
"Hm-m-m."
Tony lit a cigarette with his steady hands, that were the color of an Indian's.

"What do you mean, 'Hm-m-m'?"
Nina's heart was beating a little faster.

MRS. EARNEST AN OFFICIAL IN NEW MARKETING FIRM

Mrs. Onie W. Earnest of this city has been named a vice-president of a new Texas concern which is marketing a medicinal saline, called Nu-Mo-Cide. She was elected at a meeting of stockholders in Dallas this week. E. J. Ashby of Dallas is president of the concern. The sales company, only recently organized, is marketing through jobbers and drug stores a product compounded by an East Texas physician 18 years ago. It already is on sale.

Hollywood

Sights and Sounds
By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Virtually unsmiling but surely deserving a title in the bachelor hall of the Messrs. Stewart, Logan and Swope.

Logan and Swope actually don't belong in a movie report, except that they happen to be associated in domestic enterprise with Mr. Stewart, whose name (James) is flashing more and more brightly on movie marquees.

The trio—Logan and Swope are sons of wealth and interested in stocks and bonds—have just moved again. They live in more or less close harmony, but they move because of it.

They have their own orchestra. Stewart is fairly convinced of his artistry on accordion, piano and clarinet. Logan prefers the saxophone and Swope is usually good on trap drum or hair comb.

"You'd be surprised what harmony we get," as Stewart insists. "We've had neighbors come all the way from across the street to tell us about it."

All In Fun

Swope agrees. "That always happens—just before we move."

"This last move was accomplished not without grief. For Stewart, at least, he went vacationing to England, forgetting the moving code was every-man-for-himself. Logan and Swope removed their possessions, but Jimmy returned to find that he owed an additional month's rent on the old place. He insisted he paid it cheerfully. But he didn't care for the nice room the Messrs. Logan and Swope had reserved for him in the new house, it was a pink boudoir, decorated in taffeta, with dolls on the bed and lace dollies on the dressing table.

Jimmy, regretfully, lost his temper for the moment. He telephoned a Hollywood interior decorator for help, but by the time 24 willing workers had cleared away the feminine touches, Mr. Stewart had achieved a fine state of philosophical resignation.

"If you're going to live with those guys," he said, "you've got to get used to them. I suppose I do some funny things myself."

So he moved in his own seven-foot bed, and his dog, and—

It seems a neighbor raises or did raise—prize poultry. Stewart came home from the studio one night to learn he had seven prize hen corpses on his hands. Having bought them, he had a Scotch urge to make the best of things. There was a banquet. Now Jimmy doesn't care if he ever sees poultry, cooked or on the hoof, again.

HAS TOYS

One room in the Messrs. Stewart, Swope and Logan's bachelor hall is reserved for Jimmy's toys. He has a collection of model planes, electric trains and similar gadgets that beats all. Mr. Stewart proves, once and for all, that a fellow doesn't have to be a daddy to excuse an electric train. He also doesn't have to be a daddy to be a candid camera fan. Mr. Stewart, in his quiet way, goes about town with his sharp-shooting lenses and shoots and shoots.

Movies, too. But that's a community effort. Logan writes the stories, Swope acts as cameraman, and Stewart, the actor in the family, plays all the roles. I don't know whether he thinks one actor in the family is enough, but probably Logan and Swope do.

They've pioneered in a great movie discovery. Jimmy announced it the next day on his set; best juice really makes the best substitute for blood under the camera. The studio make-up men, naturally backward, haven't tried it yet, however.

MONTY LOSES ROLES HE WAS SLATED TO PLAY IN FILMS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 28 (AP)—The future of John Montague in motion pictures and radio, seemingly destined for great heights after his acquittal in Elizabethtown, N. Y., Tuesday night of a seven-year-old robbery charge, reached a sudden and unexpected impasse today.

The character role Montague was to have enacted in Paramount's picture, "The Badge of Policeman O'Roon," starring Monty's pal, Bing Crosby, probably will go to someone else.

The title role he was to have taken in another picture built around the legendary figure of the North

Woods country, Paul Bunyan, similarly has been crossed out by the studio.

The studio indicated that it planned to go ahead with Montague as the central figure in a series of golfing shorts. In these he would show the public, for the first time, how he manages to shoot in the 60's on strange courses.

Studio officials said they knew nothing of reports that the Hays organization, controlling force in the movie industry, objected to Montague appearing in screen productions.

Two Are Killed in Gasoline Blast

GLADEWATER, Oct. 28 (AP)—Oscar Bishop, 24, of Kilgore, and E. N. Kelly, 46, of Gladewater, were dead today, victims of a minor explosion which threatened to ignite 240,000 gallons of gasoline. Fire fighters prevented a major explosion.

Bishop, son of H. D. Bishop of Austin, assistant to the chief pro-ration enforcement officer in the East Texas oil field, and Kelly were handling a gasoline line as a tank was being cleaned of gasoline preparatory to filling it with kerosene. About 100 gallons of gasoline remained in the tank. A hot-water heater in a nearby bunkhouse ignited escaping gasoline, the flame traveling back to the men, who had been sprayed with gas. The victims lived about ten hours.

Damage to the Martin refinery, where they were employed, was about $1,000. An automobile belonging to Joe Reynolds, refinery garage employe, was destroyed by fire.

Firemen brought the blaze under control with chemicals after flames several times touched a nearby tank with 240,000 gallons of gasoline. The larger tank was equipped with a vapor-proof top.

TESTIFIES IN RAID SUIT

Mrs. Jean MacDonald (left), blonde divorcee and fiancée of Thomas Warner, Jr., son of a wealthy retired manufacturer, is shown with Mrs. Pearl Antibus, woman detective, as she appeared to testify in Los Angeles in a deposition concerning Mrs. Antibus' $1,260,000 suit against the senior Warner and others for a raid to "rescue" young Warner.

FURNISH BONDS ON ASSAULT CHARGES

DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Three men were at liberty under bond today in connection with two cases of labor disturbances here.

O. B. Daniel, 34, and Jack George, 30, furnished $500 bond each on charges of aggravated assault in connection with the abduction and flogging of Harry Bowen, 33, former Kansas City Ford employe, here Tuesday.

The two defendants, along with Ray Martin, 30, also furnished $200 bonds on charges of simple assault in connection with the reported abduction and beating recently of Richard Sowers, also a former Kansas City Ford employe.

Shifts of police officers patrolled the area around the Ford Motor company plant here. Investigators from the department of public safety, ordered here at the instance of Gov. James V. Allred, were at work.

Bowen, under police protection at his tourist cabin, was receiving medical treatment for injuries, he said he received when 18 men, in two separate groups, pummeled him with their fists and flogged him with a piece of rubber hose.

Severe Winter Predicted

RHINELANDER, Wis. (UP)—Conservation wardens believe that frequent raids by northern Wisconsin bears on kitchens, gardens, orchards and beehives indicates the coming of a severe winter. Other wildlife students insist, however, that the bears have been driven to the raids by a shortage of berries.

HEALTH CONFERENCE

AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—Texans will talk public health in Dallas Monday.

Laymen, technicians and physicians comprising the Texas Public Health association will begin their 15th annual convention. Governor James V. Allred speaking on "Full Steam Ahead in Public Health" will sound the keynote.

"THE CHANGING AMERICAN NEWSPAPER," by Herbert Brucker (Columbia: $1.50).

With a blush, this reader must confess that a good many times he has answered well meant criticism of the American newspaper with a blanket (and rather stupid!) "but you don't know anything about it." The obvious truth is that the really worthy criticism of anything designed to serve a wide public is likely to come from people who don't know anything about it, in a technical sense.

So when a book by Herbert Brucker of the Columbia School of Journalism came along, bearing modestly the title "The Changing American Newspaper," we got down at once to reading it. It proved to be, in this reader's experience, the best thing of its sort in years. Certain of its strictures will, obviously, be have-haved over in certain city rooms; if these city rooms ever hear of the book. But that only proves Mr. Brucker's point.

He believes, very briefly, that to survive the newspaper must remake itself. He believes that the day of the specialist has arrived, and that hastily slapping a story into type won't suffice any more. Stories must have background, or else the readers will wait for the news magazines. Hysterical hurry was never so important anyway, and in these days scoops are mostly pish-tush.

Mr. Brucker foresees a completely different makeup, with (perhaps) the first page given over to a forecast of what the rest of the paper contains. The departmentalizing of such news as science, sports, the arts (including music, the women's departments and so on) has been accomplished with success—Mr. Brucker foresees the extension of the system to general news as well, with perhaps a copy desk of specialists who will take the gist of the day's report in a given field and re-write this into a connected, and richly documented story, using background material dug out by a research department looked upon as an essential and highly important department, not merely as flunkies in a "morgue" where busy people can bury dead matter and never find it again.

Mr. Brucker has, in fact, so many good ideas both original and otherwise that it's a miracle he could get them into a 111-page book.

CONVICTS TO FACE NEW CHARGES AFTER PRIESTS ROBBED

SANTA FE, N. M., Oct. 28 (AP)—Two Oklahoma convicts, accused of binding four Catholic priests with a tire chain and robbing them "even of our rosaries," were en route here under heavy guard today to face charges of highway robbery.

The men were Wallace McCullough, 24, and Francis Thomas Dose, 29.

Captured south of Pagosa Springs, Colo., after wrecking the priests' car and hi-jacking another machine, the two fugitives were quoted by the district attorney's office as admitting highway robbery of the clerics.

With swollen wrists and disheveled clothing, the four priests returned here last night.

Authorities at McAlester, Okla., state penitentiary said the men escaped Stringtown sub-prison, where they were trustees on Sept. 16.

MISSING PAIR SOUGHT

STANLEY, Idaho, Oct. 28 (AP)—Mountain folk, wise in the treachery of wilderness trails that lead nowhere, took up today the search for an Idaho newspaper publisher and his 16-year-old son, believed lost in the nation's greatest wilderness area north of here.

They sought traces of E. L. Cornwall, newspaperman from Jerome, and his 16-year-old son Dean, one heard from since they went hunting last Friday.

Bear-Frog Battles in Past Even Up

FORT WORTH, Oct. 28—For the 44th time in 36 years the hopping Horned Frogs of T.C.U. and Baylor University's Golden Bears will renew their ancient football feud when they clash in Waco Saturday.

In 1901 Baylor took the Frogs into camp in the first meeting of the two teams by a 42 to 0 score. During the next few years the Bears piled up many victories, and it wasn't until after the war that the Purple and White waved in victory consistently.

However, since then T.C.U. has piled up enough victories and points as to make the two teams almost even, statistically, over the 36-year period.

Both Baylor and the Frogs have won 19 of the 43 games played, while five of the encounters have been ties.

The all-time score for the two elevens is Baylor 485 and T.C.U. 473. During the Sam Baugh regime the Bears were defeated on every occasion that they faced the famous "slinger." Baugh and his mates for the last three years piled up 90 points to the Bruins' 12. The last two seasons have seen identical scores between the two schools, 28 to 0—T.C.U., each time.

FUGITIVE SOUGHT

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 28 (AP)—Peace officers on both sides of the Mexican border today sought William Edward Boyd, 28, who held up guards with a smuggled gun and escaped from the civil and military hospital in Tijuana last night.

Mexican officers said they were holding a woman accused of aiding Boyd in his escape.

Boyd was captured recently in Tijuana after, police said, he shot Patrolman Byron E. Hammond of San Diego, engaged in a gun fight with San Diego police, and a five-hour battle with Mexican and San Diego police and Mexican soldiers.

Authorities said Boyd was wanted in several Texas cities on charges of robbery and impersonating an officer.

Hair stylists predict much more elaborate coiffures this winter. Elaborate curls, ornaments and even lacquered hair will be much in vogue.

TOWN FLOODED

DAMASCUS, Syria, Oct. 28 (AP)—A great flood rushed down from the hills northeast of Damascus today and swept through the town of Dmeir where almost all the houses were washed away.

Dozens of bodies were recovered by troops and police from Damascus. One hundred persons were missing.

Jail Terms Served At Night

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—Husbands who stay out nights in Miami have a new excuse now—they've only been to jail. Judge Norman Blakely has instituted a policy of permitting minor traffic violators, who have been given jail terms, to serve their sentences at night, leaving them free to hold their jobs in the daytime.
