HAS THE CHURCH MISSED THE BOAT?

Charles P. Taft, president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, say that the church has missed the boat almost entirely in meeting the problems laymen face in responsible leadership of their communities, in business and politics, and labor and agriculture.

This is a rather serious statement for Mr. Taft to make, but he illustrates by asking: "How has the church's teaching helped me when I have to decide whether or not to fire an employe?"

Mr. Taft calls this "the nastiest job I know and certainly involves moral, ethical and Christian principals," but he says he had to dig them out "by himself" because "the church has done little, if anything, to meet the problem of responsible laymen whose choices often are only between alternatives everyone of which bring harm to some people."

While admitting that no part of civilization has done any better than the churches, Mr. Taft asserted that human relations are distinctly the concern of the church. He finds the world heavily complex and concludes that "Christian goodwill, important as it is, does not solve the technical problems" although it is the "essential lubricant."

Mr. Taft was speaking at a dinner of laymen, recently held in Boston, and he stressed the great lesson of the Reformation, which was the "reaffirmation of the ancient Jewish truth that God speaks directly to man without intervention of priest or church if only man will listen in his conscience and reach upward." From this, he concludes that everyone has the right and duty to speak out for what he believes is God's will but that he also has the obligation of listening when others try to speak God's will.

The complaint of Mr. Taft stems from the historic fact that churches, as a whole in the past, have been more interested in what the ecclesiastics call the favor of man than improving the cooperative relationship between men on the earth. In stressing acceptance of certain dogmas, the church, as an institution, has apparently put acquiescence in acceptance theological conceptions ahead of a specific contribution to the welfare of men and women through actual service.

Patriotic feeling tells people to do what they can for the benefit of their country, and a feeling of local patriotism tells them it is fine and splendid if they can do something for the good of their home town.

MADE UNIFORM TRAFFIC LAWS

Local car and truck drivers were pleased to learn Governor Beauford H. Jester signed legislation last week setting up a new uniform traffic code. Becoming effective September 5, there will be uniform traffic laws throughout the state highway system. Cities and towns will retain their police powers regulating traffic only insofar as they do not conflict with state statutes.

The 50th Legislature finally passed the code in the last day of its session, numbering Texas as 33rd in the line of states which have adopted similar codes. The bill was sponsored by the Texas Safety Association in an effort to secure national adoption of uniform highway and municipal traffic laws.

Violation of most provisions of the new code will result in fines ranging from $1 to $200 upon conviction. The penalty for hit-and-run driving is imprisonment up to five years and/or fines up to $5,000.

Among major provisions directly affecting motorists are the following:

Accident reports required within 24 hours in cases of death, injury of property damaging exceeding $25.

Drivers striking unattended vehicle must leave a written notice giving name and address of the driver.

Overtaking and passing school buses require full stop then proceeding at speed not more than 10 miles per hour.

Dimming of lights required when approaching and passing another vehicle.

Use of spotlight prohibited when approaching another car.

Dimmed lights on parked vehicles on highway required at night.

Highway patrol granted authority to remove abandoned vehicles from highway.

Uniform arm-and-hand signals required.

Minimum standards set for lights and brakes, subject to inspection by Highway Patrol.

Fish Bites Woman

Willie Wells was coming home from Seward's Creek the other evening with a string of trout, when a stern looking lady (visitor at the Boxwood Inn) stops him, and tells him a man his size could be better occupied than catching fish.

Willie tells her off real good-naturedly by saying: "Perhaps you're right, but if these fish had kept their mouths shut, they wouldn't be here." (At that, says Willie, laughing out loud, she looked just as if a fish had bit her!)

Elabbing mouths never cause anything but trouble. No one knew the facts would even one day off—any more than deny his right to come to a mellow glass of beer.

From where I sit, the we are to recognize tastes, the better we together—whether they apply to beer or fishing.

Great-GREAT-GREAT Grandpaw (at least in spirit) was a "long-horn." The old pioneer was a forerunner to be proud of. But according to some history books, he was good for little more than "hides and tallow."

WHEAT
 Farmers will be asked to reduce their wheat acreage next year because foreign demand for American wheat is expected to decline, according to Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson. A record domestic wheat crop of 1,409,800,000 bushels has been predicted for this year. No surplus is expected, however, in view of heavy export demands and a small carry-over from last year.

Veterans' News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—What is meant by a guaranty of loan under the G. I. Bill?
 A—The guaranty of a loan by Veterans Administration under the provisions of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (G. I. Bill) is an agreement between a lender of money and VA that in event a veteran fails to pay his loan, the Government will pay the guaranteed portion of the loan.

Q—If I can't meet payments on my guaranteed loan, is payment by the Government a gift to me?
 A—No, payment by the Government of your guaranteed loan is not a gift. It must be repaid, and if the Government pays the guaranteed part of the loan to the lender, you are obligated to the Government for that part of the loan.

Q—I have a lender who will lend me the money I need, but he wants additional security. Does the law allow him to ask for security?
 A—Yes. This is a matter between you and the lender. While Veterans Administration does not require that additional security, it does not object if the veteran is willing to give it.

Q—I am a widow of a World War II veteran and want to buy a home. Can I obtain a guaranty of loan?
 A—No. The privilege is limited to veterans of World War II.

Q—Can I obtain a guaranteed loan to purchase household furnishings?
 A—No.

Plans for a medical research and laboratory center for the Southwest and appointment of Dr. Jacob Furth, one of America's leading research scientists to direct the project, have been announced by the Veterans Administration.

FARM FACTS WORTH KNOWING

Q. Our cow with calf gives milk that is rosy and slimy and has a peculiar flavor. What causes this?
 A. Cows often produce off-flavored milk in the latter part of the lactation period. When the milk is rosy and slimy, however, the cow should be examined by a veterinarian, as this often indicates an infectious disease, and the milk may be unsafe for human consumption.

Q. Do you recommend that hogs be bred twice a year?
 A. Yes, this is recommended for maximum pork production. According to the two-litter-a-year system developed at the Research Farm of the Ralston Purina Company, each sow is bred, farrows and nurses her litter, and sends the weaned litter to the fattening lots and finally to market twice a year. Such a high rate of production is possible through good breeding, sound management, careful sanitation, and good feeding.

Q. Will one spraying with the new type Weed Killers be sufficient?
 A. One spraying is sufficient to kill most weeds. It may be necessary to spot spray about four weeks later to kill any weeds that are especially persistent or to kill any that have grown since the first spraying, since the Weed Killers do not kill seeds.

Q. What causes crooked breastbones in turkeys? Can this be prevented?
 A. Improper or poorly balanced rations is given as the chief cause of deformed breastbones by the Nevada Agricultural Experiment Station, although other factors which may cause them are heredity, mismanagement, such as overcrowding and piling, and improper or unsuitable roosts. Be sure to provide a ration as complete as possible. Allow one square foot of brooder house space per bird and have your poulters roosting by the third week.

ology at Cornell University for the past 15 years, has already assumed his new position with VA at Dallas. He will also be associated with Southwestern Medical College in the same city.

The Dallas laboratory will provide technical service to VA hospitals in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, and will also serve as a research and training center for VA professional personnel in the three states.

Dr. Furth is particularly renowned for his cancer research. When he accepted the VA position, Cornell University released a valuable animal colony and special equipment to the Dallas VA laboratory so that he could continue his research into the causes and possible treatment of the disease.

Here's a date, only three weeks from now, that's important to 1,400,000 World War II veterans living in Texas, Louisiana, and Mississippi. It's August 1.

Most veterans who have let their GI insurance policies lapse have until August 1 to reinstate their policies under present liberal regulations.

Until the August 1 dead-line, a physical examination is not required in most cases. The veteran has only to sign a statement that his health is as good as it was when the policy lapsed. Payment of only two monthly premiums is necessary to restore the GI insurance in full force.

Since civic groups began cooperating with VA early in February in urging veterans to reinstate their insurance, more than 46,000 World War II ex-service men and women in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi have reinstated approximately $350,000,000 worth of insurance.

Necessary reinstatement forms can be obtained from the nearest VA office or from service organizations.

VA has announced that more than 3,000 World War II veterans are studying abroad under the educational provisions of the GI Bill.

A VA report as of May 19 showed that the ex-GI's are enrolled in 322 foreign institutions in 34 countries. Most of the veterans are studying in the Philippine Republic, Canada, Mexico, England, France and Switzerland.

Veterans are eligible for overseas study on the same basis as in the United States. Those who wish to study abroad must arrange for their own passports, visas and transportation, VA said.

Anyone who works to improve his home place and make it more attractive, performs an important stunt for the benefit of his home town, and the townspeople appreciate his action.

A Child May Dare So Drive With Care
Young Children Should Have Immune Globulin If Exposed To Measles

With the incidence of measles usually being somewhat high in summer time, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued a statement concerning the use of immune globulin for protecting very young or frail children from an attack of this perennial childhood disease and its often serious complications.

"If you have a child less than five years old who has been exposed to measles, your family doctor may recommend giving him immune globulin," Dr. Cox said. "Through city, county or state health departments, doctors can obtain immune globulin free, to be used as they think advisable. Infants and children, whose health makes it inadvisable for them to suffer an attack of measles, may avoid the disease if immune globulin is administered within eight days from the time of exposure."

The State Health Officer emphasized the fact that immune globulin cannot give a child permanent protection against measles, but explained that the protection is ordinarily of about three weeks duration. However, there is no limit to the number of times it can be used, and a baby who is protected by it once can be protected by it again if exposed later. Immune globulin can go on shielding him against measles until he is old enough and strong enough to stand an attack without risking serious consequences.

During an outbreak of measles, Dr. Cox said it is well to keep children under five years of age, and more especially frail children, from all other youngsters who might serve as sources of infection. Statistics show that nine-tenths of all measles deaths occur in children under five years of age.

In a speech made during his trip to Canada, President Truman declared that the United States desires peace with "every" nation. Polluted Waters May Harbor Virus of Polio

A third precaution among six simple health rules that should be observed during the polio epidemic season is to avoid swimming in polluted waters, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis cautions, through its local chapter. While proof of direct infection by this means is lacking, the National Foundation points out that research financed by March of Dimes funds indicates that the virus causing polio is often found in sewage. Consequently, wherever sewage may find its way into waters used for swimming, such waters should be avoided. To be sure, consult your local Health Department. Take no chances and don't swim in waters known to be polluted.

WORLEY'S TALK IS CONCLUDED

EDITOR'S NOTE—The following concludes the speech made by Congressman Eugene Worley during the debate on the Agricultural Appropriations Bill.

MR. Chairman: Now that's a long story about agricultural progress and prosperity. It's a story that should be of great interest to our Republican colleagues because it's the picture of the sound, healthy agricultural situation which they, as members of the dominant party, are inheriting as we begin this year 1947. Will they keep it that way during their tenure of office? It can't be done by trusting to luck and ignoring the farmer's problems as they have done many times in the past.

There are many problems to be decided about the future—such problems as making full use of the farmer's remarkable increase in productive capacity. Inevitably there must be readjustment from a wartime to a peacetime production pattern. In times past, the inability to change pace, to shift gears has been agriculture's biggest handicap. In the last 14 years, however, farmers have learned much about the necessity for making production fit demand—something that industry has long recognized. They have built up the machinery to make that adjustment through the legislative programs and particularly through the national production goals.

Thus, during the war the goals helped farmers produce the tremendous quantities of meat, milk, wheat, corn, cotton, eggs, and other strategic foods that a fighting nation requires. Now with the return of peace the goals are helping agriculture emphasize Cool Drinks in Tropical Setting.

For home entertaining Hollywood actress Catherine McLeod uses a hostess glassware set of tropical pattern. The tall green and white glasses, decorated with palm trees and tropical flowers, are a perfect accent for Miss McLeod's rattan furniture and bamboo wall vases. The 14-ounce glasses feature the safedge rim, guaranteed against chipping at the drinking edge.

such production as is most needed.

To make the goal mechanism work, there obviously must be unified action. There must be leadership. In the case of depressed markets, there must be income protection. All these requirements can be provided only by a continuation of full-fledged cooperation between farmers and Government.

Another outstanding problem—a continuing problem and one which farmers have already made a good start in solving—is that of soil and water waste which in the first one-third of this century made almost a million acres a year unfit for further cultivation.

The conservation job is well underway, but there still is a big job ahead. The task of applying the basic soil and water saving measures will take years and—in the interest of the whole American people—there must be no slackening of the work.

And then there is the problem of regaining foreign trade in farm commodities. By means of the World Bank and various international agreements, the Government is endeavoring to help agriculture build up international commerce. The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations is another phase of the world-wide effort to make agriculture strong and prosperous so that hunger eventually be banished from the earth along with the great threat to peace that hunger inevitably carries with it.

The whole marketing picture needs to be examined and in some ways revamped. The recent Democratic Congress took a big step in this direction with the Agricultural Research and Marketing Act, authorizing widespread research to discover new uses for farm products, new markets for old products, new methods in making distribution of farm commodities not only more efficient but also more profitable.

But the most fundamental factor in the maintenance of a prosperous and healthy agriculture is the continuance of a full employment, full production economy.

This is the most elementary economics. The income of the 25 million farm people must come primarily from the spending of the 115 million city, town, and village people. The amount of food money in the city wage-earner's pocket is one of the measuring sticks of the farmer's prosperity. In a full employment economy where the wage level is good, much of our new-found agricultural productivity can and will be absorbed.

During the depression a large proportion of city, town and village people could not buy anywhere near the amount of food they wanted. Millions were seriously undernourished. The effects of their malnutrition were evident not only in lowered health standards, but in reduced farm income.

Here is a challenge that should call for the best that is in us. This great nation is capable of producing enough food to provide its people with a good diet. The importance of good diet to national health and strength is a fact we cannot afford to ignore. It remains for all of us to make sure that the American people have the means of purchasing the food which farmers are so capable of producing.

We have made great progress toward the goals of security, opportunity, and prosperity. What ever lies beyond the veil that hides the future from our eyes, this much at least is assured: Never in all American history has agriculture been so well prepared to adjust its operations to demand. Never has it been better able to plan a wise use of the land to provide continuous, abundant, profitable production for the needs of the whole people.

That, I am sure, is the conclusion that even the Republican Party must draw after a good look at the Democratic record.

For the welfare of American agriculture and of the whole Nation, I sincerely hope that the Republican Party will not allow their inheritance of a sound and prosperous agricultural situation to be frittered away.

Nothing is more fundamental than to keep agriculture, the backbone of the nation's economy, straight and strong. But today American Agriculture is at the Crossroads. It can continue strong and healthy or it can sink into the shabby doldrums of the early '30s. The legislative responsibility of the Majority Party cannot be alibied or escape. And if the bill which we are considering today—which arbitrarily cuts, slashes or eliminates these measures which have been so important to American Agriculture—is any indication of the policy which the Republicans intend to follow, then the outlook for Agriculture is indeed black.

It's Not Too Early To Plan Fall Garden

COLLEGE STATION—It isn't too early to start thinking about planting that fall garden, says horticulturists of the Texas A. and
M. College Extension Service.
Now, while supply and selection of garden materials are good,
the smart gardener will begin to plan and lay in supplies of seed, inoculating dust, seed testing materials, insecticides and fertilizers.
Planning what to plant, when and how much is just another wise step in modern vegetable raising,
the horticulturists say.

Here are a few things to do in the future fall garden site that will start things off right.
"Shave" the plot where the garden will go. Add well-rotted barnyard fertilizer, applied broadcast, and plow or spade it in near the top of the ground. Keep the site well pulverized, and watered if it needs moisture. Start now controlling weeds and grasses, to get a headstart on the pests.

Good Seed Important To Good Wheat Crop

COLLEGE STATION—Maybe
there is a lot of luck connected with growing the kind of wheat crop being harvested in West Texas now, but Castro County farmers believe good seed is important too.

ent Raymond L. King reports that

Vacation Gloves Easily Washed

American-made cream chambris "shorties" add smart highlights to a summer gabardine suit and veiled sailor hat.

FOR style dividends on your summer vacation take along a correct selection of leather gloves.

No matter how informal the occasion, carefully groomed women have many opportunities to appear fastidiously gloved. She should always have at hand at last two pairs of white gloves, either doeskin or capeskin. And for informal wear, motoring and sports, she will use several pairs of bright or pastel lightweights in chamois or doeskin.

American-made leather gloves, of course, are easily washed—an advantage on vacations when luggage is crammed and packing space is scarce. Here's a practical fashion hint: wash your American leathers as you would your lingerie, keeping your handwear as dainty as your nylon.

Never let white gloves get too soiled. Not only does dirt make them untidy, but it makes them more difficult to wash. Another advantage of prompt cleaning is that gloves "breathe" better when their pores are free of dirt.

This is important during the hot months, when leather gloves actually help you stay cool and clean by circulating filtered air over your hands.

VACUUM JUGS,
BOTTLES NEED
SPECIAL CARE

COLLEGE STATION—Vacuum
bottles and jugs are nice things for travelers and picnickers to have these days, but they need special care if they are to render the best service. Mrs. Florence Low, associate specialist in home management for the A. and M.
College Extension Service, points out.

Ordinary dish-washing will not do for these containers because if they are put in water, the outside insulation may be injured. It is a better idea to fill the container with warm soapy water and soak for an hour or so. A soft bottle brush may be used. Finally, rinse with clear, lukewarm water and then with water containing a small amount of chlorine. Turn upside down to drain, dry and air.
Scrub corks and screw tops with soapy water, then rinse and dry.

Here's a warning from Mrs.
Low: Sudden changes of temperature may crack the glass in glass-lined bottles. Before filling a bottle with hot liquid, warm it gradually by rinsing first in lukewarm water and then in warmer water. Chill gradually before filling the vacuum with cold liquid.

Pasteurized and very cold milk
may be kept in vacuum containers,
if the bottle is well chilled. Mrs.
Low says that cocoa or soup should be brought to a boil and poured into the container while still very hot. The bottle should be heated in advance. Foods of this type should not be kept in a vacuum bottle for more than an hour or two before using.

to certify 1,726 acres of wheat.
The Castro County Certified Seed
Growers Association is sponsoring the movement.

Cecil Curry, Castro wheat grower and association manager, testifies that certified seed pays off.
A section of wheat he has this year is planted to three different pure varieties, along with some grain that is "only elevator run
wheat."

"The three pure varieties are all uniform, the same height, and they all headed out at the same time. The elevator run wheat has some short, some tall plants and did not head out uniformly," says Curry.

We are in favor of labor, as a general rule, but workers should they get a week's pay they should

RATS MENACE TO HEALTH

Because of the economic losses they have caused to industry and commerce and the annoyance they create in homes, rats have been considered a serious menace to mankind since long before their role as vectors of disease was understood. Today at least six diseases which are transmitted to man from the rat are known to medical science, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. These diseases include the dread plague, typhus, trichinosis, a form of jaundice, tapeworm, and food poisoning. The whole history of the role rats play in the transmission of disease remains as yet unknown.

"It is necessary to public health," Dr. Cox said, "that a continuous rat control program be maintained in every urban and rural area throughout Texas. This is of especial importance on farms where rats may flourish by feeding on grain and other farm products."

The doctor pointed out that rats, like other living things, require food and shelter if they are to propagate and increase in number. Destroying their shelter and breeding places requires the rat-proofing of buildings and providing for periodic inspection of buildings to insure permanent safety. This program will force the rat out into the open where its destruction may be accomplished.

Of equal importance as a control measure is the elimination of all food supplies. This consists of storing all foods in ratproof buildings or in ratproof containers, the proper storage and disposal of garbage, and careful feeding of stock to prevent waste of feed from being picked up by the rats. By observing these control measures, the community will benefit not only in the eradication of a nuisance and economic menace, but in improved health conditions and the prevention of rat-borne diseases.

According to the Soil Conservation Service, Texas leads the nation in the number of organized soil conservation districts, as well as in the amount of acreage and number of farms involved in the organizations.

Skill and Personality at Work

SEED SAVING AIDS GIVEN

COLLEGE STATION — Horticulturists of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service believe that the many new and inexperienced gardeners in Texas now may be interested in some pointers on saving vegetable seed.

Seed saving, says horticulturists, is commonly practiced among experienced Texas gardeners only on such vegetables as okra, corn, beans, peas, squash, cucumbers, cushaws, tomatoes, peppers, lettuce, mustard, eggplant, cantaloupe, watermelons and sweet-potatoes. Cabbage, beet and carrot seed will not mature in less than two years time. Seed saving on those vegetables doesn't go so well in Texas climate.

The veteran gardener, in saving seed, picks out particular plants that are true to variety, and which show productiveness and fruitfulness. He takes special care of the plants until time to harvest the seed.

Time of harvesting seed differs with the plant, the horticulturists explain. On English peas and beans, the harvest sign is a browned pod; field peas and corn are left in the field until ready to harvest and store; cucumber, squash, watermelon and cantaloupe seed can be taken when the plants are fully mature; on peppers and tomatoes, the seed is ready when the fruit is dead ripe and brilliant red. Mustard, lettuce, radishes, collards and the like can be cut as soon as the seed pods are well matured, and hung in a cool dry spot.

CASTING FOR TOMORROW

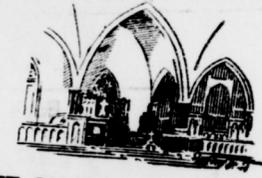

A father teaches his son the thrill of fishing. And one day this son will teach his own son. Thus the world moves on. And whether it be the thrill of fishing, or the art of noble living, one generation teaches the next.

Many a great lesson of life is learned in such a humble setting as this one. For the foundation of education and growth is the "man to man" fellowship of father and son.

But Dad's free time is limited—these fishing trips are few and far between. Where else can this boy get the help he needs?

School and college will provide many of the resources for a successful career. And the Church School will instill the spiritual understanding from which noble living springs.

Wise is the father who gives the Church opportunity to help mold the life of his son—yes, and his own life as well.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

More than twenty-five of the Hymn Society of America, of which Dr. T. Tertius Noble, famed organist and composer is the president, has been working at raising the standards of hymns and worship songs used in the Protestant churches of the United States. Its efforts are written into standard hymnals of the various denominations — written in the words and selected, the hymns omitted the spirit of whole volumes. Recently, the membership of the society was limited to writers of hymns, to composers of church music, and to editors of hymn books. Now the membership has been widened to include church organists, and is interested in the development of better music in the churches. The Rev.
