EXPECTING BIG THINGS SOON

Articles in the Oil Development Are a Standstill Just at Present. Things Looking Up

In The Iatan Section

The Colorado-Texas Oil Co. is going ahead with their plans to develop the Iatan field and the derrick for the number two well is now nearing completion. This test is two thousand feet southeast of their Foster No. 1. While they pump the discovery well each day they are unable to get any considerable amount due to the storage capacity.

As soon as arrangements can be made to get the oil they will pump well over to full capacity.

General Oil Company

Work was resumed on Sand Hill of the General Oil Company five miles northeast of this city this week.

It was suspended on this test some days ago and shortly after the flow had been cut off by lowering casing. A heavy flow of water was encountered after the gas was struck and casing has been lowered to cut this off. Well has not been bailed since this was put in the well so the status of the test cannot be determined until the well is cleaned out. Work on the Roberts well No. 1 is temporarily suspended awaiting some of needed material.

Lease & Development Co.

Mr. Meriwether, trustee for the Lease and Development Co. returned Sunday from a business trip to Beaumont and other points in Texas.

Due to the money stringency is interfering with Mr. Meriwether's plans for having drilling resumed on the Parramore ranch as soon as he is able, he continues to be most optimistic and feels sure that he is able to have this well completed.

Realization Co. After Potash

Cox Realization Company are making a test for potash in Midland county, having recently closed a lease of a large tract of land to have a derrick erected in thirty days. A rotary rig, with drill to obtain samples of the potash, will be used. This test will be the big interest now being had in the search for potash, the realization Co. will be in the foreground as they are on a deal for the 60,000 acres of land in Midland and Ector counties and have 45,000 acres leased in Martin county.

Cushing No. 1 Looking Good

Management of the Enders test on the W. F. Cushing twenty miles southeast of Big Spring are now convinced that they are on the verge of bringing in a commercial well and no more drilling will be attempted until the water trouble is completely overcome. Real oil is very in evidence and the test is being looked like a real oil well according to those who are in a better position to know. As water now stands in the well no progress can be made until this water is entirely removed. It was found impossible to casing to secure a new seat, thirty-five ton racket jacks are used, so it is going to be necessary to set the casing in concrete at the bottom. Should the work of cementing be successful drilling operations will be resumed in about ten days. Manager W. F. Cushing is optimistic over the outlook and is convinced that the drill will go to go much deeper before the Cushing No. 1 comes in a sure oil well.

Madison-Franklin

On Tuesday afternoon August 2nd, Justice of the Peace J. A. Stephens performed the ceremony which united in marriage L. C. Madison and Miss Audrey Mae Franklin. The bride and groom are two of our worthy young people and we join their many friends in extending congratulations and well wishes.

Baseball Game Saturday

The Center Point and Coahoma baseball teams will play a matched game at the ball park in Big Spring Saturday afternoon August 6th.

Don't miss this game.

The American prisoners in Russia whose release was demanded as the derrick is completed and expected to be ready to spud the second well by August 15th.

In speaking of the present well, he stated that production continued to improve under the pump and placed 150 barrels as a conservative estimate. The 1700 barrel storage capacity of the company at the well is filled and arrangements will probably be made to ship one or more cars of oil next week.

Reese was optimistic and expressed himself as believing "a big surprise was in store for the citizens of Mitchell county who were slow to believe we really have something here worth developing."—Colorado Record.

Good Roads Being Constructed

Under the supervision of Engineer R. N. Baker some fine roads are now being constructed in our county. At present work is being carried forward on three roads leading north and south from Big Spring, a five mile stretch on each of the three roads to be regraded and regraded.

One may judge of the fine work that is being accomplished by making a trip on the Gall road which will be completed within the next few days. It will be noted that the high crown has been eliminated and this is a big improvement that will be appreciated, and the road is up to the requirements of the best in the country—almost equal to a concrete road.

Engineer Baker in addition to building first class roads is also doing it at a minimum cost as most of the work, such as grading, ditching, spreading gravel, shoulder work, etc. is accomplished by machinery. Sixty-five teams are now hauling gravel but this work will soon be completed.

As soon as the work on the three highways mentioned is completed the task of grading and repairing all the roads will be carried out under Mr. Baker's supervision.

It is thought that it will not be a great while before the contract for the Bankhead Highway thru our county will be awarded. As this to be let by contract there will be no need for folks to come to Howard County expecting to secure work on the roads. There is more than a sufficient supply of local labor to meet all requirements.

Big Airship to Start for U. S. Aug 25

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4. — The monster British built naval dirigible ZR-2 will sail from Howden, England, August 25 for its station at Lakehurst, N. J., the navy department announced today.

This ship is 694 feet long, 50 feet longer than the R-34, which made the trip to the United States and back in July, 1919. She has a cruising radius of 5600 miles and a speed of between 50 and 60 knots.

Franklin-Hull

At the Methodist parsonage at 8:00 o'clock Saturday night July 31st, Rev. Ben Hardy performed the ceremony which united in marriage Charles Franklin and Miss Katie Hull.

The contracting parties are well known young people residing north of Big Spring and we join a host of friends thruout the county in extending best wishes for a full measure of happiness and prosperity.

Produces Over Ton Per Acre

The first cutting of the Sudan grass was made at the U. S. Experiment Station just north of Big Spring, Monday and a good showing was made considering that our section has not had much rain the past month or more. From a four acre tract of Sudan grass was secured 8,530 pounds of hay, or a little better than a ton per acre. A pretty good showing according to our views.

Madison-Franklin

On Tuesday afternoon August 2nd, Justice of the Peace J. A. Stephens performed the ceremony which united in marriage L. C. Madison and Miss Audrey Mae Franklin. The bride and groom are two of our worthy young people and we join their many friends in extending congratulations and well wishes.

Baseball Game Saturday

The Center Point and Coahoma baseball teams will play a matched game at the ball park in Big Spring Saturday afternoon August 6th.

There is keen rivalry between these two teams and baseball fans are assured of a warm contest. Don't miss this game.

OUR UNITED CHARITY WORK

The Red Cross Now Doing, and Best Equipped to Carry on This Work With Cooperation of Citizens

In last week's Herald there was a timely and well written appeal to the citizens of Big Spring to organize a United Charities Association. After conferring with the Editor of The Herald this article is written for the information and consideration of all of our citizenship. The writer is not informed as to the time the United Charities work was discontinued in Big Spring, nor as to the manner of its work when organized, but since his connection with the Red Cross Chapter for more than two years a good deal of the work which falls to a United Charities Association has been done by the Red Cross, the Headquarters of the Southwestern Division of the Red Cross having given us this permission to do such work, and to expend the funds we have in the local chapter for such service. It has been the opinion of most of our folks with whom the Chairman has conferred that it would be better for the Red Cross to do the local charity and welfare work rather than to duplicate organizations, and to have two campaigns for money rather than one. The American Red Cross is a nation-wide organization, and its activities are almost world-wide. It is an organization with influence and prestige which is world-wide. It is an organization that should be kept intact for permanent service, and for any emergency which may arise. The people of Big Spring and Howard County did their part for the Red Cross and stood nobly by its activities during the great war, and we feel that with their civic pride, their local and world-wide interest in affairs that they may desire to see the Red Cross Chapter of our county kept together, and its activities increased, and that among the things which the Chapter can do is to handle the charity and welfare work of the town and county.

When the roll-call is made for the Red Cross a general canvass is made, and no one is asked for more than one dollar, unless they see fit to pay more, and this gives every one a part in doing the good work which the Red Cross tries to do. But on the other hand, the usual way of raising funds for a United Charities Association is to get the funds from the business and professional men, who are very accessible to those who make the canvass, and the burden of the welfare work falls unevenly, probably. I knew of one of the large cities of Texas, where it was said that the administration of the United Charities work cost 85 per cent of the funds collected, leaving 15 per cent for charity. We have no paid officials in the Red Cross Chapter of Big Spring and Howard County. What work is being done, and what time is being given, is done and given freely by the members of the Executive Committee, and by others who are called on at various times. The editorial of which I write, fittingly called on the churches, lodges, and clubs of the city to promote the United Charities Association, and we thought that it might be well to give the personnel of the Executive Committee of the Chapter, so that our folks might see how representative the committee is of the churches, lodges, and clubs of our city. Executive Committee:

J. W. Harrison, Chairman.
Rev. Ben Hardy, Vice-Chairman.
W. W. Rix, Secretary.
Miss Gertrude McIntyre, Treasurer.
Mrs. James T. Brooks.
Mrs. J. O. Tamsitt.
Mrs. J. T. Brown.
Miss Nell Hatch.
Mrs. P. G. Stokes.
Rev. J. Thomas Brown.
Rev. S. W. Kendrick.
Rev. F. B. Etson.
Mr. J. E. Mundell.
Mr. W. G. Hayden.

Nearly all of our churches are represented on the committee, also the Masonic bodies, the Odd Fellows, the Elks, and also the Women's organizations of the town. Then in addition to the Executive Committee we have other committees to do certain specific work, such as the charity committee, which is composed of:

Rev. J. T. Brown.
Mrs. C. W. Cunningham.
Mrs. S. H. Morrison.
Mrs. O'Keefe.
Judge James T. Brooks.
Mayor W. R. Purser.
Mr. O. T. Lacey.
None of the funds are expended, and no doubt will continue to be made, but seeing that we have no other motive than to serve the interests of the community, and all concerned, we lay this matter before the good folks of Big Spring, and Howard County. If a better way can be arrived at to do the things we want to do, then that is the way we want to go. Organizations, or machinery are not much in themselves, except as a means to accomplish the things which we desire.

J. W. Harrison, Chairman,
Howard County Chapter

Weather Conditions

While we are still ready and waiting for a good general rain we are thankful for the showers which have been falling in various portions of our county and which greatly benefitted crops in the sections visited.

The showers started Sunday and have been putting on a show in some portion of the county almost every day. In the east part of the county Monday they had good showers while still better ones were noted south of town Monday.

Southeast of town, about twenty miles, a four inch rain is reported to have fallen Tuesday afternoon, quite a stretch of territory benefitting. The same day good showers fell south and east of here and a nice shower fell in this city.

On Wednesday afternoon a heavy shower fell west of town and a section southwest enjoyed a good shower. In town there was but a light sprinkle.

Below we give the rainfall for the first six months of 1921 and 21 year period, this information being furnished by J. E. Mundell, Superintendent of the U. S. Experiment Station at this place:

Mrs. H. G. Robinson Dead

It was with deep sorrow that friends thruout the county received the announcement of the death of Mrs. H. G. Robinson at her home in Coahoma, Friday night, July 29th. She had been a sufferer for the past three years—and patiently and uncomplainingly bore her pain. She had been a resident of Coahoma for many years, was a noble woman and was loved and esteemed by all who knew her. Many hearts are saddened by the death of this good woman.

She is survived by a son, five years of age—her husband having lost his life in an accident at a smelter in Arizona two years ago when a furnace exploded—one brother of Sweetwater, three sisters, Mrs. Ellie Elliott and Mrs. Barnhart of Coahoma and Mrs. J. E. Echols of Barstow. We join a host of friends in extending to the sorrowing ones in the loss of their beloved mother and sister our heartfelt sympathy.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday evening and the remains were laid to rest in the Coahoma cemetery.

Cotton Crop Shows Decline

Decline of the cotton crop during July resulted in a reduction of 230,000 bales in the forecast of production issued Monday by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, a total of 8,203,000 bales being estimated as compared with 8,433,000 bales a month ago. The condition of the crop declined 4.5 points.

The department based its estimate on the condition of the crop July 25th, which was 64.7 per cent normal. The condition of the Texas cotton crop was given as 62 per cent.

Tax on Automobiles

A flat tax of ten dollars on every automobile regardless of its cost or horsepower is advocated by Treasurer Mellon.

He urges that the government is spending $100,000,000 a year on good roads for which the automobile owners should pay and at $10 a round the 10,000,000 autos now in use would meet

THEY SECURE 60,000 ACRES

Big Spring Man and Associates Secure This Amount of Acreage to Try For Potash and Oil

Odessa, Texas, July 30.—Positive indications that Odessa will be the seat of a vast amount of development to determine the value of potash and oil deposits in this region, were evident this week when it became known that Big Spring men, representing well-financed outside interests, had leased nearly 60,000 acres just outside Odessa and proposed to put down a 4,000-foot test.

The property, leased includes sixty sections of the Scarborough & Eldson ranch west of Odessa and the ranches of John M. Gist, raiser of registered Herefords, H. C. Barrow and H. F. Ratliff. The Gist ranch is one and a half miles from Odessa and it is joined by the Barrow and Ratliff ranches.

F. H. Etheridge of Big Spring, representing his associates, contracted with the Odessa men. He stated that it was the intention to start work without delay. A considerable amount of cash, as consideration, changed hands. Etheridge and associates will have two weeks to examine the abstracts, and if found satisfactory final papers and payments, now escrowed in a Midland bank will change hands.

Announcement of the deal was the signal for a forward leap in the lease business. This week, in addition to the Etheridge deal, more than 10,000 acres in leases changed hands, ranging in size from 80 acres to sections.

The Government is particularly interested, because it wishes to become independent of Germany for its supply of potash. For this reason, the United States Geological Survey is taking more interest in development in Odessa than it ever has in any other section. It will post a competent chemist or geologist at every well drilling for the purpose of testing all potash samples.

Government experts predict that a bed of potash 200 feet thick should be encountered near Odessa, and at a depth of approximately 1,500 feet. Samples from the three wells tested show that the product will be of high grade. In these wells, potash was not the objective when the drilling was in progress, and the salts were discovered after the deposits had been gone through. However, it is believed that these wells were edge wells and that the main deposit will be found nearer Odessa.

Odessa, though a small town, is one of the liveliest in West Texas. It is the county seat of Ector county but since Crane county has been attached to Ector county for judicial purposes, Odessa has virtually become the county seat of two counties, and there are splendid opportunities here in many lines of business. It is on the main line of the Texas & Pacific.

In addition to its fine cattle, Odessa is noted in the west for the quality and quantity of its fruit, which rivals the California product. Odessa's elevation is 3000 feet, has a fine climate, and an inexhaustible supply of pure water and excellent soil.

The Odessa women last week organized an auxiliary to the Commercial club. They will take an active part in development of civic affairs and will aid the men in establishing the policy of the town as it grows. It is the intention of the Odessa women to begin a State-wide movement to interest women in town and city affairs without becoming active in politics.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Picked Team Give Elks a Close Game

The game between the Elks and a picked team, at the park last Sunday afternoon was a warm little contest and proved far more interesting than have a number of games with out of town teams. As was supposed, the Elks won, but they didn't win the victory until the ninth inning and they had to get up and hustle all the way.

Canada, who was on the firing line for the picked team pitched a jam-up good game, fanning eight Elks and holding the heavy swatters—a costly bunch of errors being responsible for a number of scores. Anderson of the Elks, who was loaned to the picked team was the champion swatter of the contest, securing a home run in the first inning and several more hits during the game. Joy Strippling was on the mound for the Elks and pitched a good game.

The game ended with a score of 9 to 8 in favor of the Elks, the Elks marking two scores in the ninth inning.

Big Spring Elks Tounce Champions

The Robert Lee baseball team reputed to be the champions of West Texas looked anything but champions when the Big Spring Elks' team got thru with them in the games played at the ball park in Big Spring Monday and Tuesday of this week. The first game went sixteen to six and the second game ten to seven in favor of Big Spring.

With Geo. White and Rutherford nursing injured hands, the home team was handicapped to start with, and too, the new pitcher expected to arrive in time to take part in the series failed to make connections.

Hurt pitched the opening game and in addition to holding the visitors to seven scattered hits he fanned ten of the Robert Lee swatters. The pitcher of Robert Lee seemed to pitch the kind of ball the Big Spring crew took to, as they made about nineteen or twenty hits. Both teams seemed to have an off day as the Big Spring players made about nine errors and the Robert Lee bunch made as many if not more.

In an effort to strengthen their team some players from Loraine were secured for Tuesday's game by Robert Lee but the Big Spring Elks did not intend to let them win any old ball game. This game started off with each team securing two runs in the first inning and a goose egg for each in the second. In the first half of the third Robert Lee made two scores and the Elks made three when Ira Thurman put a ball over the fence when two men were on bases. In the fourth inning both teams drew a blank. In the first half of the fifth a Robert Lee slugger put a fly over left field fence for a home run, this being the only score made. In the last half of the fifth the Elks made two scores. Bedford, Big Spring's catcher, scored a runner and made a complete circuit of the bases on a hit, despite the fact that the ball never left the ball park though some of the Robert Lee bunch were rattled bad enough to have thrown the ball out of the park. Both teams drew a blank in the sixth and seventh innings. The Robert Lee tribe made no scores in the eighth while Big Spring made three in her half. In the ninth inning a Robert Lee batter put one over the fence with one man on base, giving them two scores in this inning.

Canada was twirling for Big Spring and had the number of the Robert Lee swatters. Both teams were on their toes and few errors were made on either side.

The Big Spring team is certainly going good now and if other teams have the nerve to go up against our boys we will be assured of more interesting games.

Don't Use Big Words

In promulgating esoteric cogitations or articulating superficial sentimentalities, amiable, philosophical or psychological observations, beware of platitudinous ponderosity.

Let your conversational communications possess a clarified conciseness, a compact comprehensibility, coalescent consistency, and concentrated cogency. Eschew conglomerations of fatulent garagality jejune babblement and asinine affectation.

Let your extemporaneous descanting and unprecedented expiations have intelligibility and voracious vivacity, without rhodomontade or thrausonical bombast.

Sedulously avoid all polysyllabic profundity, pompous prolixity, peitaceous vacuity, ventriloquial verbosity, and ventriloquent rapidity.

Shun double entendres, prurient porosity and pettiforous profanity, obscure or apparent.

In other words, talk plainly, briefly, naturally, sensibly. Say what you mean, mean what you say, and "don't use big words."—Pythian Journal.

Thousands of inhabitants of the famine-stricken area of Russia are trying to live on a diet of grass, acorns, and field mice and the death rate is terrible. Cholera is now adding to the horrors of starvation. One district reports that ninety per cent of the population have cholera.

African Dust Storm Felt By Vessel in Yellow Sea

In connection with its marine service, the Weather Bureau, in the United States Department of Agriculture, receives constant reports from vessels over the world. There are over 100 vessels of various nationalities on the list from whose reports valuable information is gleaned as to weather conditions and natural phenomena. Sometimes this data serves to chart the paths of storms or air currents, sometimes it is useful as a matter of record, and sometimes it serves to verify information from other sources and to give the extent of the area affected by some atmospheric or other disturbance.

Recently one of our American merchant vessels, the "Santa Rosalia," sent three successive reports on its trip from Karatsu Japan, to Taku, China, thence to Shanghai, enroute to Port Swatow. Accompanying its May report was a small envelope full of a fine bluish gray dust, gathered up from the decks where it had fallen. A note on the subject explained that the air was so full of the dust that sailing was hazardous, owing to impaired visibility. This was on April 13, in latitude 37 25 N., longitude 122 E., a point in the Yellow Sea near Port Harbin, on the peninsula now called Korea, formerly Korea.

Investigation revealed that the same dust had been a violent continental cyclone or dust storm, many miles to the north in Mongolia, on the side of Siberia. Corroboration of the fact that quantities of this dust, sufficient to impede vessels, could be seen as far south as the East China Sea and Yellow Seas was valuable and interesting to scientific workers in this field, all over the world.

West Texas Potash Beds Are of World's Economical Supremacy

"German Potash syndicate reports good business. Orders to extent of 11,000,000 marks booked in a single day."—Wall Street Journal.

The above taken from the Wall Street Journal tells in brief the story of a tremendous business which today Germany controls. Out in West Texas, so government geological experts tell us, is a great bed of potash salts. From time to time the National Oil Journal has had something to say about the recent discoveries there. Below is a report received in this office from a correspondent on the ground in Martin county.

Early in the great war, when Germany was flaunting her defiance in the face of the entire world, one of her proud statesmen made the equally proud boast that if for no other reason, Germany at the termination of hostilities would hold the economical future of the entire globe in the hollow of her hand due to her supposedly supreme control of the world's great supply of potash! How typically German! And now, with American potash a certainty, how entirely absurd! Yet, after calm deliberation, can one honestly say that the escape from such a horrible calamity has not been most uncomfortably and dangerously close!

First, let us consider potash, its multitudinous uses and its very necessity as one of the most important factors in our national structure. A comparatively unknown substance, and yet the very lifeblood of the nation! Without it, the vast cotton resources of our southeastern states would shrivel, our tremendous chemical industries would be stunted, and the very safety of the nation would be at stake for potash is one of our most important essentials in time of war. It is absolutely necessary to the success of our great cotton, potato and garden truck crops. It is used in the form of refined potassium salts, in the manufacture of soap, glass, medicines, matches, for extracting gold from its ores, in dyeing, tanning, electroplating, photography and as chemical reagents. Last, but of tremendous importance, is its vital use in explosives—without it the shrapnel used by our valiant boys in France would have been powerless in stopping the sweeping Hun offensive at Chateau-Thierry, our airplanes would have wandered blindly with no pyrotechnics for signalling the combat troops, our high explosive shells, which created such untold havoc among the onrushing gray hordes, would have fallen harmlessly with no time fuses to detonate them, and our very rifle ammunition would have been seriously impaired.

Potassium nitrate, one of the potash salts, is vital to the safety of the nation—without it we are at the mercy of the foreign invader—and, for that reason alone an American supply of potash must be created! Without our own economical potash resources of large proportions, our homes and fire-sides are absolutely at the mercy of any foreign power able to cut us off by sea from the German, Alsatian and Chilean potash beds. Can one not easily visualize the immediate and vital emergency with which we are threatened?

We Must Have Economical American Potash—This point was hammered home with terrific emphasis by our government officials during the recent war. Every known supply in the United States has developed to the greatest extent—the alkali lakes of Nebraska and California were exploited, seaweed was burned and what little potash left in the ashes was utilized, alunite ores were investigated, and the very dust from blast furnaces and cement mills was searched for the vital substances. The waste liquors from molasses distilleries and from beet sugar factories were evaporated in the frantic effort to safeguard the nation—but all of these methods we must admit to be insignificant compared to tremendous natural potash—salt beds of Germany, Alsace and Chile. The race was not yet won! In fact, it had hardly started, and the government, through the United States Geological Survey and the Bureau of Economic Geology of the University of Texas has energetically continued its search for possible natural potash-salt beds in our continent.

Nor has their search been fruitless. For in West Texas, on both sides of the 45,000-acre lease of the Cox Realization Company, representatives of the United States Geological Survey have found layers of potash rich salts in beds three hundred and more feet in thickness, which have been unearthed in an effort to find oil.

Again, the tireless and courageous pioneering of S. E. J. Cox has been rewarded—and again vast fortunes will be made in these latest "Hidden Millions."

The nation's safeguard is in sight—although it will require hundreds of thousands to conquer these virgin fields, years of patient and unflinching effort, and above all, two things—Vision and Faith!—National Oil Journal.

Good Health

Good health is a duty none of us can afford to shirk. We owe it to our friends, our families, and most of all to ourselves, to keep constantly in fighting trim for the big game of life. We are worth as much as our health is worth, and no more. Health is our priceless treasure, our capital stock, our endowment from our Creator.

Plenty of sleep, wholesome food, fresh air, physical and mental exercise, regularity of habits, a clear conscience—we must have all these things if we want health to abide in our bodies.

Healthy of body creates contentment of mind, and the combination spells Happiness.—C. C. L.

The Imaginative Time

By Anna Mae Brady

Mothers, did you ever stop to realize the importance of that period in your child's development when his little mind is free to wander over the hills of fancy and he is finding so much difficulty in linking up the real and the unreal? It is the opportunity time of life and every one of us to whom is entrusted the care and development of a little child needs to study and understand it in order that we may make the most of it.

All of us are dreamers of dreams, and it is well that it is so, for every worthwhile act that has been given to the world was first a dream in the mind of some person. Every book that was ever written, every picture painted, every field cultivated, was first just a flight of imaginative fancy. All of us go this far, but it is not enough to dream; we must do as well. The successful person is the one who thinks over his dream and organizes his thinking until finally it is no longer a dream but a reality.

We grown-ups would give the gold of Midas, were it possible, if we might have developed in us the power of vision, the power to see life imaginatively. Yet our little tots from three to six have this power to the nth degree, and instead of fostering and organizing it we do our best to stifle it as a trait not to be desired. The seed of genius lies in many of our children, and parents and teachers who do not understand, do their utmost to crush out the very thing which later they wish them to have.

"But," you say, "if I encourage this, will it not make my child untruthful? Already he juggles the truth in most leaders of children, we must be able to leaded of children, we must be able to distinguish between a flight of fancy and a deliberate attempt to deceive. Fortunately for us the latter cases are very rare. If in doubt ask the child; if it is a flight of fancy he will tell you so."

What we need to do is to help the child see his vision clearly and then furnish him with some plastic material with which he can make his dreams come true. Fairy tales are excellent for the imaginative child. He is living in their world and they help explain for him that almost inexplicable thing called life. Free hand cutting, clay modeling and the sand table furnish material which will enable him not only to see the picture more clearly, but will also lead him to be a doer as well as a dreamer, both of which are necessary.

The imaginative period, the opportunity time, comes but once, so let us make the most of it.

UPSON-BOARD

makes old homes new!

WHEN plastered ceilings begin to crack and sag—it is time to make them new with Upson Board!

Upson Board is the nearest perfect lining! It makes walls and ceilings that should last as long as the building. It is "refined lumber," being simply shredded wood fibre compressed into big, sturdy panels.

Upson Board is not like other wall-boards—it is nearly twice as strong, stiffer, easier to cut and handle. That is why we recommend it and put our own good name behind every panel.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR.

Another Reduction in Ford Cars

"Another reduction has been made in the list price of all types of Ford cars and the Ford Truck to take effect immediately. The list price, f. o. b. Detroit, are now as follows:

TOURING CAR.....	$415.00
RUNABOUT.....	$370.00
COUPE.....	$695.00
SEDAN.....	$780.00
CHASSIS.....	$445.00
TRUCK-CHASSIS.....	$495.00
TRACTOR.....	$225.00

"The big reductions last fall were made in anticipation of low material costs which we are now getting the benefit of, and this fact together with increased manufacturing efficiency and the unprecedented demand for Ford cars, particularly during the past three months permitting maximum production, have made another price reduction possible immediately.

"Ford business for April and May 1921 was greater by 56,433 cars than for the same two months in 1920; in fact, the demand has been even greater than the supply, so that our output has been limited not by unfilled orders but by manufacturing facilities.

"During May we produced 161,424 Ford cars and trucks for sale in the United States alone—the biggest month in the history of our company—and our factories and assembly plants are now working on a 6000 car daily schedule for June.

"The Fordson tractor is still being sold at less than the cost to produce on account of the recent big price reductions, and it is impossible, therefore, to make any further cut in the price of the tractor. Can you afford to go without a car any longer when Fords are selling at these new low prices? There is no reason now why you should delay purchasing a Ford car, Ford truck, or Fordson tractor.

We will gladly advise you concerning the delivery of a Fordson tractor or the particular type of car in which you are interested. Just phone us or drop us a card.

The Co-Operative Cotton Mill Plan
Lometa, Texas June 25, 1921.

Mr. W. L. Gay,
Big Spring, Texas
My dear Sir:

Yours of the 19th inst., forwarded from Dallas on the 20 to hand. Sorry my friends do not know my address out here. Have to depend on the F. & R. to get their letters to me.

Please let it be known far and near that I am at Lometa, Lampasas County, Texas.

Would like to get up a debate at every school house in Texas on the State and Farmers Co-Operative Mills vs. the Farm Bureau so as to bring out by contrast the benefits of each system. I published a piece contrasting the two in the Chronicle of July 10th and Mr. Bentley, editor, mutilated the mill system presented by me so much that I hardly recognized my article.

At San Antonio, the Loce Star Cotton Mill has 11,000 spindles and 375 looms, costing $400,000 (or about twice what it ought to be) and its capacity is 12 bales per day, or 6000 lbs of yarn and 30,000 yards of chamberly selling by retail at 20c per yard.

This figures out for 300 work days in the year 3,000 bales of cotton consumed, 1,800,000 lbs yarn produced, converted at the same time into 9,000,000 yds. of chamberly, worth at retail now $1,800,000 or $500.00 per bale of cotton.

Now applying this as a basis for my co-operative system for Texas this mill will cost $445,000,000 complete, convert 4,000,000 bales into 10,000,000,000 yards of chamberly worth $2,000,000,000 counting toll. (1-8 cost of weaving.) We have $333,333,333.00 and 5 per cent for selling $83,333,333 both of which taken from $2,000,000,000 leaves $1,333,333,334 for the 4,000,000 bales or $333.00 per bale.

By using the convict system iron and coal of the State any foundry man and machinist can manufacture the machinery complete for $10,000,000 or ship it from France or Germany for $200,000,000.00.

If the mill pays to the farmer $700 per bale the mill's profits will be $1,000,000,000 or if it paid $200 per bale profits would be $1,200,000,000 per year or more money than has been lost in Texas out of all the crops she has ever raised. Figures are retail. Deduct 25 per cent for wholesale. Under the Bureau System at least 50 per cent is taken up in expenses for drayage, compassage, insurance, treating, sampler cent overhead expenses, salesman, etc.

Indeed the farmer will be lucky if he gets the loan value of 50 per cent as cotton is selling at interior points at 8c to 10c that means 4c and 5c per pound, or $20 to $25 per bale.

A fractional loss than $700 to $200 or $500 per bale under the co-operative mill system plan, is it not?

The farmer will never be else than a beast of burden under any system than the co-operative mill plan, and can be a gentleman farmer under my plan. God knows I speak the truth and the weaver knows I speak it.

Why men want to make a beast of the cotton farmer, keep the State bankrupt and make thieves and vagabonds out of our posterity and why the farmer will submit is past my understanding.

My plan helps every man in the State and the State as well, cuts out graft and tends to equalize men giving all a chance. If I could get all my articles in book form, put it in the homes of farmers and get up debates in every schoolhouse the plan would take like wild fire, but unfortunately I am unable to print the book, and the papers will not give my articles space without distorting my articles. The Bureau will not help us as it will ruin the farmer completely and disgust him if he can be disgusted. Let me hear from you if you do anything.

Yours,
M. L. HALLENBECK

One point ever remember. The spinner alone wants raw cotton and there are few spinners. He prices raw cotton also prices finished goods, which all need. He cuts both ways and commands the field. All efforts fail unless we get rid of him. The Co-operative mill is the only way to get his goat. Under the mill system he is as dead as Hector.

Perhaps Gov. Len Small of Illinois did nothing wrong while he was treasurer. Maybe he is not guilty of the charge of embezzlement preferred against him.

It is at least possible that he is right in saying the attack on his political life. He is credited with being of the so-called "Tammany" club of Illinois, and has made some enemies, naturally.

But when he contended his position as chief executive of the state rendered him immune from arrest, he attracted no sympathy. When his counsel offered justification for his resisting arrest, the theory that "the king can do no wrong," they did the one thing they possibly could to set the record dead against Gov. Small.

In the last issue of The Herald appeared an article concerning our schools and recommendations suggested for future betterments.

Among the departments which should be encouraged and added to, we believe the home economics and commercial departments take first rank.

As stated in the article referred to— with state and federal aid it will be possible to secure two additional credits for our school in the home economics department. The state is offering to pay one-half the salaries of two teachers, so we can secure one more teacher in the home economics department with but little or no additional expense.

If the commercial department can be added our school will be accorded three or four additional credits, and we are firmly convinced that this new department will awaken new interest and effort on the part of the student body. The elimination of such studies as Latin, solid geometry, and trigonometry will work no hardship on ninety per cent of the pupils, whereas the studies to be substituted will have a practical value for the majority. Take commercial geography, commercial arithmetic, stenography, typewriting and bookkeeping and we have studies that will retain the interest of the pupils and prepare them for real work when they complete their school work. It has always appeared to us that the higher grades of our schools were planned for the benefit of the few who were to enter college after graduation rather than for the ninety per cent or more who do not, and for that reason we approve of commercial and a home economic department.

We would like to hear from others on this subject.

Silk Hose and Short Dresses Scored by "Everybody's Sweetheart"

"Cob-web silk hose, short dresses, high-heeled shoes and low-necked waists should not be worn on the streets. The afternoon shopping district parade is a disgrace."

In this manner, "America's sweetheart," Mary Pickford recently scored dame fashion and her latest decrees.

"Present day styles destroy illusions and kill romance," said 'Little Mary.'

"The average girl of today has not the shapely ankle or foot that is becoming with short skirts. In fact, it seems they have weak ankles. The styles of 1850 and 1860 were much more dainty, attractive and even practical than those of today. And I make no exception to the old hoop skirt, either."

"Shop and school girls make a mistake in trying to dress like women of wealth. To do this they have to buy cheaper and tawdry materials. 'Silks' should not be worn on the streets except by middle aged women. Lisle or woolen stockings and simple frocks should be good enough for any one. Evening dresses should always have sleeves. Every evening dress I have has sleeves of some kind. Women should dress according to what makes them appear best. By no means should they allow dame fashion to tell them what to wear."

Mary did not know she was to discuss "fashion" when interviewed, but appeared in a neat, dark blue serge dress, that was neither short or cut "low." She also expressed ideas on other matters, such as American life, politics, motion picture censorship and life in foreign countries.

"I do not know a whole lot about politics—except that of the motion picture world—but am making it my business to study it," she declared. "Give woman power and she will develop responsibility and results."

"American people take their work too seriously. They forget the greatest thing in life is the social side of it and many lose it in their work. They are not pleasure seekers enough and do not indulge in enough relaxation. Another thing, they do not take enough exercise."

If some of the young girls would walk more they would have less use for rouge. Real American life is not found in the cosmopolitan cities. Every large city in Europe is just the same as the ones in this country. America is like all other countries, the real life of the people is found in the small villages and hamlets," said Mary.

Asked about censoring the movies, Miss Pickford had little to say.

"There are too many reformers today," she said. "I guess pretty soon they will start reforming the Bible and Shakespeare. American people can think for themselves and do not need a small body of men to tell them what they should or should not see at the movie house."

"Women are slaves to style, and they dress without regard to the adaptability of their figures to the particular mode in vogue," said Mary. "That is why we see so many grotesque figures—of women on the streets. Hence all cannot be dressed becomingly, for certainly a short, stout woman cannot wear long lined gowns. Why, the styles of the past generation were much more becoming and not destructive to the illusion around women which we should have."

"But there can be no illusion if all the charms of women are flaunted on the streets. But every ankle is shown, every woman wears silk stockings and the short dress, regardless of whether they make a perfect ensemble in dress and figure."

"I am a firm believer in the long skirt, made according to the particular need of the individual style of the woman who wears it—not according to the dictates of a dressmaker in France."

"There is no purpose or need for the display of the ankle, emphasized by the silk stocking, and the short skirt, and certainly no 14-year-old girl of mine would be wearing silk stockings. Now every high school girl wears them—and most of their parents certainly can not afford to buy silk stockings and present day clothing."

"In fact, most women who live up to the minute in style can not afford to spend the money they do for clothes. The result is that we have only cheap imitations on the streets—a majority of women among those who are the supposed leaders of style—a rather doubtful honor and title."

"Simple lisle stockings and plain frocks are, and should be, good enough for anyone. They are simple, neat, unostentatious and not designed, as are modern gowns, to attract attention to the wearer. Why, the women do not seem to dress to clothe themselves, but to attract both men and women to their figures, and their clothing. Most of them seem to have only this aim in life."

"For the opera, the ball or some other more formal occasion I believe in more elaborate dress. It is a time for women and men, too, to look their best in clothes and manner. But for women to be continuously on display, on parade, is disgusting and disgraceful."

MARY PICKFORD AFFORDED UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITIES In Her Latest Production, "Through the Back Door"

In "Through the Back Door," Mary Pickford's forthcoming United Artists' release, this clever little artist will be afforded an opportunity for the display of talent equalled only in such previous productions as "Pollyanna" and "Daddy Long Legs." Arrangements were recently completed by Manager Robb of the R. & R. Lyric Theatre to show this production Wednesday and Thursday, August 10 and 11.

It is the first picture in which Little Mary ever worked under the guidance of two directors. Alfred E. Green and Mary's brother Jack sponsored this production, and the result of their combined efforts is said to prove further the truth of the old adage, "Two heads are better than one."

The outstanding feature of "Through the Back Door" is the delightful comedy sequences scattered throughout the picture. In a little girl role Miss Pickford has a chance to become involved in innumerable complications all provocative of mirth, yet touched with that pathos which stamps this greatest of all ingenues as mistress of her art.

In addition to the clean, wholesome fun with which this feature abounds, there is found running through it a counterplot of gripping drama in which filial devotion becomes a dominant factor. The struggle of a child to win recognition from her mother and the seemingly insurmountable obstacles that intervene furnish the motivating impulse for the story. Professional blackmailers, a designing "other woman," a "misunderstood" husband and an "abused" wife all play their respective parts in this unusual photoplay which opens in picturesque Belgium, then jumps to Long Island and closes in business-like New York.
