Episcopal Woman's Auxiliary Meeting at San Angelo

The Fourteenth Annual Convocation of the Missionary District of North Texas opened on Sunday morning, Feb. 3, 1924 with the Holy Communion at 11 o'clock, at Emmanuel Church, San Angelo.

Bishop Kinsolving by arrangement with our late Bishop, was to have preached the ordinary Convocation Sermon, but owing to the passing on of our beloved Bishop it was turned into a Memorial Service. Bishop Kinsolving, in his sermon reviewed the life and antecedents of Bishop Temple from the time in his old Virginia home. He showed how he had carried the old associations of Virginia into his Texas life, how fond he was of a good horse and of a dog, fond of flowers and especially of his roses which he used to point out with great pride and say, "They are the best in Texas." But above all, how he was a gentleman, not in any snobbish sense but in the true sense of the word, unassuming, kind, loyal, not despising the small and quiet things of life; he stressed very much how the quiet every-day things, done in a quiet way, are the essence of character, and above all he paid tribute to the splendid qualities that had enabled Bishop Temple to carry on his great work in the Missionary District of North Texas: How it was an up-hill and very difficult place to fill, how he had succeeded in laying foundations on which future Bishops can build. At the close we had the Bishop's favorite hymn, "O Zion Haste."

In the afternoon, Miss Cooper, a field worker of the department of Religious Education spoke to us on the Christian Nurture Series, beginning with the first course, "The Fatherhood of God." She impressed on us the necessity of repetition, especially with the young child, even if we got no farther than "God is your loving and powerful Father." It impressed on the child mind, a God-consciousness, and that was the foundation of all following teaching. She spoke up to lesson No. 5, was very helpful to those who already teach the Christian Nurture Series, and no doubt created a desire in others to start it.

In the evening Service Dr. Gill, from New York, home on furlough from China, gave us a splendid address on his work amongst the Chinese. He emphasized how contributions to the Church abroad, made possible his work in China.

On Monday the first session of the Woman's Auxiliary opened. Mrs. J. B. McClelland, first vice president, presiding, as the president, Mrs. Batjer was unable to attend. The meeting was opened with prayer and a hymn. Mrs. Webb gave a very warm-hearted address of welcome, which was responded to by Mrs. Ledford. A telegram of sympathy was sent to Mrs. Temple and her boys; one of condolence to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, and a letter to Mrs. Batjer, regretting her absence. Dr. Gill spoke to us on the important place the Woman's Auxiliary held in the church, and rather startled us by saying that the only money the National Council can depend on is the United Thank Offering—all other money is a gamble. He urged the need of prayer at this time, that God would put it into the heart of men to appoint the right man as our Bishop. For he said, getting the right man meant so much to our District. He exhorted us not to give up praying.

BASE BALL FANS—See the assortment of new baseball goods shown in our windows this week. Rix's.

he said that "The Woman's Auxiliary is the spiritual cement of the Church." After roll-call a letter from Miss Tillotson was read, asking that a day of prayer be observed for Missions, March 7, 1924.

Mrs. Daly spoke on the Box Work and moved that in the future, the boxes be sent direct from each Auxiliary, instead of through her, as the expense of sending the big boxes was so great. The pledge for St. Phillip's School for north Texas is $75.00 per year, for three years. The secretary moved that the Program committee set aside one day for studying the needs of St. Phillip's, which carried.

Mrs. Gooch gave the United States Thank Offering report. Miss Cooper again addressed us. She spoke of the importance of trained teachers, that our Church Schools should be in the front ranks, that we should have suitable places for teaching, and told us of Churches that rented empty houses and turned the rooms into class rooms. We were not to wait until we had gathered thousands of dollars to put up an elaborate building, but make it our aim that we have some place where the child's attention would be undivided. She said a Parish House should take precedence over a Church or Rectory, for the hope of the church lay in the spirit of youth in it.

Prayers by Mrs. Ledford, opened the afternoon session. Miss Thomson read the "Little Helpers" report, urging more interest in this work. A discussion arose, as to what should be done with the Little Helpers fund. A font for Sweet-water Church, as a memorial for Bishop Temple, being suggested, but this was left undecided.

Miss Ruth Rix made the report of the W. A. Special, known as the "Bishop Tuttle Memorial." She suggested a quota of 50 cents per member, to be paid in 1924. This was adopted. It was recommended that at 9:30 each day every member say a prayer for the success of this Memorial. The Rev. W. P. Gerhart read a resolution from Convocation with reference to the Memorial to our late Bishop. They hope to raise $50,000 within 5 years, toward making this Missionary District of North Texas into a Diocese. This resolution called for three women from the Auxiliary to serve with an equal number of men on an Executive Committee. Our prayer partnership Missionaries were spoken of, also the gifts sent to them personally. Mrs. Ledford reported meeting Deaconess Miller in California recently. She was very much charmed with her. She described her as an elderly lady with snow white hair.

Rev. McCallum spoke on The Nation Wide Campaign, with suggestions of work for the year and the importance of young people's societies.

In the evening a short service in the church was followed by another address by Miss Cooper, who is a fascinating story teller and lecturer. A reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Webb, followed, where we spent a very sociable and delightful hour. On Tuesday morning at the Corporate Communion, the offering was $10.85, which will be sent to Eleanor Wassell in China. A deputation from the Board of Religious Education presented a plan for a summer camp for the young people, in June, and asked the Woman's Auxiliary to get behind it and support it. A short Memorial Service was held for Bishop Temple, at 12:30 because at this hour he used to visit the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Fisher read the prayers and Mrs. Ledford spoke very feelingly of our dear Bishop, of his work, and his influence, and asked us to heed his command "Go Forward." She asked that we give our loyal support to our new Bishop, just as we have given it in the past. At 1:00 p. m. Convocation adjourned. The majority left by cars and train, in the afternoon, after what was unapologetically declared a very successful Convocation.

Mrs. F. B. Eteson, Delegate.

Thursday Rook Club
Mrs. Leslie Thomas delightfully entertained the Thursday Rook club Thursday of last week at her home on Bell street.

This being St. Valentine's Day the idea was carried out in the home decorations, tallies and score cards. The delicious refreshments served to the sixteen guests present were the best ever and the favors which were tiny red satin heart-shaped boxes filled with Valentine candies were especially pleasing.

The hostess was assisted by Mesdames Sam Hall and W. W. Crenshaw.

Club high score was won by Mrs. Chas. Morris and visitor's high score was awarded to Mrs. V. H. Flewellen.

We should begin to plan for a good representation at the annual meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in May. Big Spring has much to gain by letting folks know we are on the map in West Texas. Even you can not become enthusiastic about a "burg" that is half asleep, or dead. Let us not wait until fifteen minutes before the date of the convention to make our plans.

The new styles fit easily and hang informally, they're not loose or baggy, but have more room than the clothes of previous seasons.

There is nothing so good as the best and for that reason we are again showing the famous line of—kindness shown in the sickness and death of our dear little Kathryn. We are heart broken, but God alone can heal our wounded hearts. Kind hands did all that could be done for her comfort, but God had called, and His will is supreme. Our one consoling thought is that our darling

Our prayer is that our circle will be

I would consider the greatest thing I could do for my state if I could stop smoking in West Virginia."

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The Negro Minstrel last Friday night was a fine success. The proceeds went to the Athletic association. There was over $70.00. The program consisted of songs, jokes and dances. The "stars" of the evening were: Adolphus Gallemore and Lillian Nall. Others that performed their parts well were; Earl Ezzeff, Lewis Rix, Monroe Johnson, Melvin Pitman, Robert Striping, Lee Porter, Frank Wright, Bill Turpin, Lillian and Louise Shive, Alice Dawes, Wanda True, Rose Morgan, Paul Rix, Huddleston Wright, Loula Cardwell and Irene Bates. Carroll Barnett helped a great deal with his good music.

Miss Caldwell who is here in the interest of the Near East Relief Fund, spoke in assembly Monday morning. Her talk was very impressive and interesting. The Big Spring High school pledged to keep up one child in the Near East or in other words give $60.00 which will keep a child for a year. Miss Eubank volunteered to have charge of the collecting of this money. If each student pays 25c our quota will be more than raised. Friday is the day set for each student to bring his contribution.

The Girls Hi-Y meeting which was to be held Tuesday night has been postponed on account of Mr. Lucey's lecture at the high school on Tuesday night.

There is a new teacher in high school in the Math department. She is taking Miss Rudd's place.

In assembly Tuesday afternoon Mr. Lucy gave a very interesting and humorous talk. It was greatly enjoyed by the student body.

Home Economics

Miss Ona B. Youngblood, director teacher training of the College of Industrial Arts and Federal Inspector teacher training in Vocational schools, spent Monday, Feb. 18th with the Home Economics department of the Big Spring High School.

Miss Youngblood was quite an interesting visitor. She was interested in obtaining suggestions which would help her in her teacher training work at the College of Industrial Arts and at the same time she offered many helpful suggestions for our work.

The work in both departments was highly commended. The art work of the Design and Interior Decoration classes received special approval.

Miss Youngblood seemed to be of the same opinion as our state director, Miss Jessie W. Harris, in regard to the cleanliness of both laboratories. Miss Harris made the following statement before the State Vocational Teachers Conference: "Big Spring has one of the cleanest basement laboratories I have seen anywhere."

Miss Youngblood's final statement that she would not have to think twice before she could recall the work in Big Spring, speaks for itself.

Among the suggestions which Miss Youngblood offered in laying future plans for our work here was a well-equipped Demonstration Cottage or in other words "a complete Home" for Home Economics.

WOODROW WILSON. THE UNANIMOUS SENATE. DID FORD TALK TOO SOON? W. J. BRYAN PLEASE GREAT IS IOWA.

Woodrow Wilson's body rests in the crypt of the great Episcopal Cathedral at Mt. St. Albans in the northwest section of Washington.

Woodrow Wilson's real funeral, the tribute paid to the spirit that is not dead, spreads actually over the whole world, and his was "a public funeral" in the real sense of the word.

The moment they are dead, men begin to settle into the place that history reserves for them. Today with radio, telegraph, newspapers, history works rapidly. Its judgments are as erroneous as in the past, probably, but they are more quickly rendered.

It is to be remembered that Mr. Wilson's public services were not war time services only. Before the war was thought of he had been at work on public problems. The Federal reserve bank, that carried this country through the financial strain of war, was part of his work.

The land credits for farmers, freeing the farmer from "respectable" usury, in many directions, had his intense care and devotion. In many directions he worked for the public welfare, efficiently, before the devastating war broke upon the world.

You come to the end of a book, read the word finis and know all that the book has to say. It is not so with the life of an active man. His last day comes, yet for him you cannot write finis, not after a year, or the next; perhaps not for a thousand years.

Woodrow Wilson, who held in his hand more material power than any individual has ever held on this earth, went back into the ground again. But how long the effects of his active life will be felt on this planet no man can say.

President Coolidge will observe that the Senate is in no doubt as to public opinion on the oil scandal. Some Senators would lose no sleep over such a little thing as selling the navy's oil supply to private individuals, or paying a little cash (not checks) to public officials, if the thing could be put over quietly.

But the country is awake, and not one Senator voted against Walsh's resolution calling on the President to cancel the oil leases.

One wise man last week said, "Ford talked just sixty days too soon. If he had kept quiet, this oil affair would have given him the Presidency." Perhaps he'd rather have Muscle Shoals. His chances are good for that now. Any plans that official gentleman may have had for turning that over to insiders on a "Teapot basis" will be kept quiet for a while, at least.

Secretary Denby, of the Navy, says: "I would do it all over again tomorrow."

Of course that does not mean that the Secretary approves all the financial trimmings that went with the deal, the Government bonds handed over, checks that were given and not cashed, the valise full of cash handed to a member of the Cabinet of the United States.

Some of that, undoubtedly, Mr. Denby would change.

What is more important, however, than Secretary Denby's opinion, is what Congress and the people will do.

They will see that it is not "done all over again."

One hundred and ten little Pomeranians—very small fluffy pet dogs—were exhibited in New York City last week. Each dog had a nicely dressed lady, nurse or owner, watching the dear little creature, affectionately and faithfully. Those dogs are worth more than $100,000.

Not far away, in an institutional ward, you can find one hundred and ten human babies, three or four nurses taking care of the whole lot. And all the babies put together are hardly worth ten cents; in fact, they are a liability.

Moral: Be born a Pomeranian if you want to go through life comfortably, in this civilization.

Wise citizens of Florida won't hesitate any longer about sending William J. Bryan to represent them as delegate in the Democratic Convention. Judging by news from Washington, Mr. Bryan may have to overcome his reluctance and take the Democratic nomination himself. First, he will go around like Diogenes for awhile, with a lantern, and then say: "I guess you will have to take me."

Iowa's newspapers start a campaign of advertising, bragging about that fine State. No wonder, for they have things to brag about. The corn fields of Iowa alone produce more wealth than all the gold mines of the United States. The State knows no illiteracy or, at least, less than any other State in the Union. Its crops are worth a billion a year; the entire population, including all hired men, grandmothers and babies could ride at the same time in Iowa's automobiles.

It's really a marvelous State. California and Florida rejoice, saying: "More power. Get in those cars, drive here and spend it."

Young Man

The head of a great wholesale house surprised his friends recently by announcing that he intended training his son in the craft of brick mason. "And why not?" he said. "It is an honorable calling, pays well, and has as much future as anything I know."

This may be regarded as a significant straw, gauging the trend of the winds of progress. The dignity of craftsmanship is coming to be appreciated. We are told that 90 per cent of the young men turned out by schools are fitted for white collar jobs, while only 10 per cent of them can get such jobs.

That's something to think about. Schools are going to have to do a right about and meet the situation. Moreover, people are going to change their viewpoints. A pair of overalls and not a white collar, must come to be recognized as the badge of quality.

"One of the greatest problems of today," says Franklin D. Roosevelt, president of the National Construction Council, "is the lack of young men to fill the ranks of certain trades, and the surplus of workers in the so-called white collar occupations."

"Our hope lies in education. In the training of the hand of the youth as well as the head," concludes James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor.

White collar jobs aren't what they used to be. There's too much competition—due to the effectiveness of the law of supply and demand. Every young man thinks he wants a white collar job. And, as a result, we hear much of the difference in the pay of a school teacher and a brick mason, for instance.

It is significant to note that a majority of our big executives began in overalls and worked up. We may attribute this to the fact that they learn the business from the ground up, and therefore know all its intricacies. On the other hand, the average white collar man learns one department of the business, and may rise to the head of his division, but rarely becomes equipped to direct the whole project. The exception to this is the man who begins with a small business and grows with it.

Young man, weigh the facts; look ahead; build for the future. Despise not the grime of toil. Dignify the work you undertake.—Southwestern Machinery.

Austin, Texas.—According to L. W. Payne, professor of English at the University of Texas, the origin and history of nursery rhymes can be traced back for hundreds of years. There are 36 or 37 different versions and 12 different tunes for "The Frog's Courting," an old English nursery song, according to Dr. Payne. This song had its origin in 1549 and is familiar to families in the South.
