The Better Way

We believe the better way in merchandising is to give every customer a fair, square deal in every transaction than to cheat, hook and crook, by selling something at cost and then giving it all back and then some on something else. We would thank you to figure and compare your entire bill with us.

D. 1924 in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 959, wherein Willie McDonald is Plaintiff, and L. P. McDonald is Defendant, and said petition alleging that plaintiff is an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas and has resided in Howard County for at least six months next preceding the filing of this suit; That on or about April 30, 1923 in Howard County, Texas, plaintiff was lawfully married to the defendant; that they continued to live together as husband and wife until on or about Nov. 8, 1923, when, by reason of the cruel and harsh treatment and improper conduct of defendant toward plaintiff, she was forced and compelled to permanently abandon him, since which time they have no lived together as husband and wife.

That during the time plaintiff and defendant lived together as aforesaid she was kind and affectionate to him, and was mindful of the duties of her marital vows, but defendant failed in the duties and obligations which he undertook in his marriage vows, and that within a few months after plaintiff's marriage to him, he failed and refused to support her, and she was forced to earn her own living; that defendant went to Dallas, Texas, taking plaintiff along with him, and that while there, and also at Graham, Texas, defendant refused and failed to support plaintiff, and that plaintiff was forced to earn her own living; that only a short time after plaintiff's marriage to defendant, he began a course of unkind, harsh and cruel treatment toward plaintiff, which continued until plaintiff was forced to abandon defendant as aforesaid; That defendant, on one occasion while plaintiff and defendant were living at Graham, Texas, defendant accused plaintiff of being unfaithful to her marriage vows, and imputed a lack of chastity to plaintiff, which said accusation was wholly false and when plaintiff resented imputation, and started to pack her trunk to leave defendant, he drew a pistol on plaintiff and threatened to shoot her if she packed another garment; that on other occasions plaintiff has been falsely accused of lack of chastity by defendant, and that on several occasions defendant threatened her life with a pistol; that such cruelty on the part of defendant has been the cause of mental anxiety and suffering to this plaintiff, and she has been put in fear of her life to such an extent that her physical being has been impaired thereby; that said marriage relations between plaintiff and defendant still exist.

That defendant's actions and conduct toward plaintiff generally are of such nature as to render their further living together as husband and wife insupportable.

Plaintiff prays that defendant be cited to answer herein and for judgment dissolving the said marriage relations, for the restoration of her maiden name of Willie Carpenter, for costs of suit and for such other and further relief, special and general, in law and in equity, that she may be justly entitled to.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

THAT real citizens are judged by what they do—chronic kickers should be judged by the same standard.

THAT it never pays to be a "has-been" or a "never-will." The only kind of citizen worth while is a real citizen.

THAT real citizens prove their worth by generous and voluntary contributions of their time, energy and money to those things that go to make a bigger, better, brighter and busier city.

THAT every real citizen is one of the cogs in the wheel of Progress.

THAT those that are not real citizens are unfair to themselves and unfair to the city in which they live.

THAT citizens that are getting or trying to get something for knocking the home city will get something in the end that will not be worth mugs to them.

THAT knockers should remember how much they kick and growl the world moves along just the same. Being a chronic fault-finder never gets a man anywhere.

THAT citizens must pull together and pull in the same direction to get a city somewhere, no city pulls itself.

INTEREST IN THE BETTERMENT OF A CITY IS KEPT ALIVE ONLY BY CONSTANT AND EVER INCREASING EFFORT ON THE PART OF ITS REAL CITIZENS TO RENDER A USEFUL SERVICE.

Copyright, 1924, by E. R. Waite.

Think This Over

You cannot make the short man tall by cutting off the legs of the tall man.

I can't make my hair grow by trimming yours.

You cannot make the poor man rich by making the rich man poor.

Every time we give a man something for nothing, we weaken his backbone. And if we do it often enough, we destroy his backbone and leave him nothing but a wishbone.

The less a man knows about his own business, the more he thinks he knows about the business of government.

Pretended friendship has been the subterfuge of bunco-steerers from the beginning of time.

Never take the advice of a failure. He will lead to failure.

Had no one saved there would be no capital.

The more capital we create and save, the more employment there will be, and the higher the general standard of living. Every man who works and saves is a capitalist.

We have been agitating and legislating and regulating the business men out of business and the working man out of his job. And we thought we were reformers. Employment comes only through investment of capital.

Idle dollars mean idle men.

—Senator G. W. Cartwright of California.

Helping the Needy

If our folks could have seen the evidences of joy their generosity was responsible for, only a week or two ago, they would have been amply repaid for their splendid donations of money and clothing. In this instance it was a widow and seven children who were sent to a little home they owned in Oklahoma. Here they had fallen into hard ways and had been in destitute circumstances for some time. Neighbors had been supplying them with the actual necessities of life, and as for clothing they had practically nothings but remnants.

The mother completely broke down when she tried to thank the good people of Big Spring; and the children were happier and better dressed than they had ever been.

An appeal in a recent issue of The Herald for clothing was responded to in a most generous manner and part of this was used to outfit this family.

Who Makes Farm Prosperity?

American farmers are $1,200,000,000 better off than they were six weeks ago, as this is written. The Chicago Tribune in an article showing "what the farmer has to look forward to as the price to be paid for the agricultural crops of 1924 as based on Government estimates," cites the following: Wheat, $851,000,000; corn, $2,264,000,000; oats, $610,000,000; barley, $114,000,000; soy, $51,000,000; and cotton (New York price), $1,620,000,000.

"Latest estimates on the world's productive exportable surplus are around 725,000,000 bushels of wheat, which is 25,000,000 below the anticipated requirements of the world," states the Tribune.

Congress adjourned too early to claim credit for this improved prospect. The farm bloc fared too unsuccessfully to be able to pocket the glory. It is not the bill of Tom, Dick or Harry that is to put agriculture nearer Easy Street. It is not price-fixing that has put farm values on a higher level. Parties and politicians are mere wall-flowers in this latest dance of crop prices.

It is fortunate in more ways than one that prosperity is making its bow on the stage precisely so. It means that we shall hear less, for a time, of sales, futile and foolhardy economic. The world-savers won't be needed for a while.

Prosperity travels not in arbitrary cycles, but on direct lines and unmistakable principles. A little study in advance can tell the wheat farmer when he is going to lose money. And an ounce of foresight is worth many pounds of legislation. Prosperity means merely that the demand is as strong or stronger than the supply. Every year would be prosperous if every farmer would heed the signs that are posted along the economic highway.—Farm and Ranch.

THE PASSING DAY

Will H. Meyer, Department of Journalism, University of Texas

In a letter mailed at Austin and signed "Woman Voter (who fortunately has a sense of humor)," a reader of THE PASSING DAY in the Rusk Charocean says "You say, 'Do women vote for candidates because they know them, or do they vote for them because of the principles for which they stand?' " and then proceeds to flay this writer for asking such a question. Perhaps the writer's words were not enough all-inclusive to please this woman voter, but to soothe her feelings he will answer the question by saying "Many of them do vote for candidates because they know them and like them rather than because of the principles for which they stand, and many men do the same thing." The reason for that study is required to understand governmental principles and most women, and men too, are mentally too lazy to study. Therefore they vote for candidates whom they know rather than for principles.

This was true of men long before women were given the ballot and it is likely to be true of both men and women long after the refining influence of woman has been felt in what "Woman Voter" is pleased to call "pulling the game of politics out of the mire into which men have plunged it." So far as any effect is concerned the writer fears that he will have to agree with the Woman Voter with a sense of humor that the question was "inane." Still it would be a blessing to the country if all voters, women and men, would place principles before personalities in casting their ballots. The writer of this column is hardly optimistic enough to expect that this will soon be brought about, even with the assistance of those women who have already gone in advance of men in their political studies.

Every once in a while some writer feels called on to deplore the "inordinate and unusual craving for excitement" on the part of present-day people. Most of these writers, thinking that they see extraordinary conditions that never existed before, attribute the change to the World War. It is very doubtful, though, if in this respect people have changed very much in the last two thousand years. The admonitions of that period read very much like the warnings that are heard today. History from the earliest records is largely a chronicle of thrilling wars and risky adventures. The American pioneers were a most venturesome people who quickly became bored when not constantly under some exciting strain. Circling the world in the air is not more exciting or dangerous than was the navigation of the Atlantic a few hundred years ago. The world is merely progressing from adventure to adventure. The people are not unduly given to excitement; they are merely interested in the things about them.

As this is being written a fine rain is falling, the first in this part of the State for about two months, and what a welcome rain it is to most of us. A few months ago we were complaining of too much rain and wishing for even a few days of sunshine. For the last few weeks we have complained of the dry weather and have longed for another rain. Now that it is falling, and apparently bounteously, many will express a fear that it will ruin the cotton crop or else that it will not do it any good and will only send the market price down. All of which leads to the statement that we are great grumblers. Nothing seems to please any of us a great while at a time. We would find fault with any kind of weather. If not at the weather we would complain of something else. We do not always mean it; we were just born conscientious objectors.

Some observer remarks that in proportion as people become well-to-do in about the same proportion do they become uncomfortable, and there is much truth in the observation. As soon as a family gets well enough along to make a payment on an automobile and to fill the gas tank it begins to look around for some place to go where it will not be as comfortable as at home. The discomfort of the journey is almost in exact proportion to the gas supply, which is the measure of the distance traveled. The automobile has proven a great blessing to the world and travel within reason is good for people, but when half the population takes to life on the highways there is bound to be much discomfort even if a little pleasure is mixed in with it. Auto-roaming has become the great American fad. It indicates that the American people are reasonably prosperous and that they want to show it even at the sacrifice of the comforts of the home.

J. E. Jeffress of Amarillo was here the forepart of the week enroute for a business trip to Dallas. Mr. Jeffress is planning to open a fine self-serving store at Amarillo, with market and confectionery occupying space in the same building which he has leased. Mr. Jeffress is the inventor of the Little Wonder Self-serving Store fixture, an improvement on the fixtures used by the Piggly-Wiggly system and there is no reason why he should not make a fortune out of same. He has already refused an offer of $150,000 for his patent. He has been working on the Little Wonders fixtures the past nine years. The new store he is opening at Amarillo will use the new fixtures and plans to install them in ten counties in the Panhandle are now being formulated.

School Uniforms

Except the law of expediency and common sense, there is no law on our statute book to compel children in our public schools to wear uniform. Yet, economy and utility teaches us it would be best for parents, teachers, the children and the general public if every boy and girl in our public schools wear to wear clothing of uniform color and material.

We can all remember the things of our school days best of all. Most everyone can remember some girls whose parents were rich enough to afford silks, jewelry and other finery for her to wear to school, and how the poorer girls dealt her misery with their envious glances.

Fine clothes worn in school are as red rags to a Jersey bull. They are a source of misery to the wearer and a source of trouble to the teacher.

When a girl or boy goes togged up in finery to school, they either become the target of torment and criticism of the other boys and girls, or they beget a longing in them to wear such finery, even when they know their parents are not able to afford such.

Parents who allow their girls to wear silks, and fine togger to school not only do their neighbors an injustice, but they do their girl an injustice because they expose her to the envy, criticism, and sometimes the hatred of her fellow pupils.

The uniform is the remedy for this trouble. Nothing looks nicer than a lot of boys and girls in uniform.

Two of the proudest sights these old eyes ever beheld, was on graduation day 1920 at the University of Texas when over a hundred girls dressed all alike in simple, white dresses made of cotton goods, and low heeled shoes received their diplomas. These girls were limited to $14 on their graduating suits. The next was in the same year when 1280 C. I. A. girls at Denton entertained the members of the House and Senate of Texas at their College. These girls were all dressed in simple white cotton and low-heeled shoes—a sight

Women Are Wide Readers

This other day a statement appeared to the effect that the typical home woman reads "almost exclusively" things that actually have to do with dishwashing and other household

If this be so, how moth-eaten and rusty be the mental cloakroom of our people.

But, happily, the writer is wrong. The well-rounded, well-informed woman of today, like her son or husband, has a broad appreciation of her intellectual responsibilities. She realizes that her husband's success, her children's success, depend largely on the ability with which she discharges the obligation of her job. She is the home-maker, the idealist, the enthusiast of the family. She must be interested in her own tasks first, and then in the work of her people.

These days the lady-of-the-house knows just about as much about taxes, Congress, Muscle Shoals, and the Federal Reserve system as doo-hubby. Sometimes she even reads the baseball scores. She enjoys a good piece of fiction or a substantial article as much as any man—perhaps more—because she reads thoughtfully.

We are glad that women are getting the habit of reading omnivorously. It will be a surprising phenomenon, indeed, when men may never transpire—get to reading beauty articles and household hints as faithfully as some of the women are perusing implement "ads" and the latest editorial on German reparations—Farm and Ranch.

Old Folks' Ailments

"I began taking Black-Draught over fifty years ago and my experience with it stretches over a good long time," says Mr. Joe A. Blake, a Civil War veteran and former Virginian, who is now a prominent citizen of Floyd, Texas. "It is the best laxative I know of for old people. . . . A good many years ago, in Virginia, I used to get bilious and I found that was the best and quickest relief I could get. Since I came to Texas I have these bilious attacks every now and then—a man will get bilious anywhere, you know—and I find that a little Black-Draught soon straightens me out. After a few doses, in little or no time I'm all right again." Theford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable liver medicine, used in America for over eighty years. It acts on the stomach, liver and bowels in a gentle, natural way, assisting digestion and relieving constipation. Sold everywhere.

Theford's

Ex-Senator Brelsford Speaks

Hon. H. L. Brelsford of Eastland addressed a large and enthusiastic audience, in the district court room here last Saturday night in the interest of the candidacy of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for Governor.

He was introduced by Rev. W. L. Shepherd of the First Presbyterian Church, who made a very impressive talk, telling what our great country had always stood for and stressing the fact that we always had men big enough and far-seeing enough to put us right on all great questions that came before us.

At the outset, Senator Brelsford said he had no fight to make on any individual but only on an organization that he considered was the greatest menace that had come up for us to settle since the days of the Civil War. He urged our people not to be deceived by the smoke screen the Robertson crowd was trying to hide behind in this contest—prohibition—as prohibition was in no danger and if it were, Robertson would be one of the last men he knew that he would care to trust with that question. The main, and practically the only issue, is the Ku Klux Klan—and whether we want to be ruled by a bunch of masked men who meet in secret in pastures and get their instructions on how to vote from Zeke Marvin of Dallas and Bill Hanger of Fort Worth; who get theirs from the great protectors of the home, Dr. Simmons and Dr. Clark of Atlanta, Ga., who had both been tried and convicted for violating the Mann Act. As for him, he was going to follow such statesmen as Lincoln, Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson instead, and he believed the majority of Texas' manhood and womanhood would do as he was going to do on August 23rd—go and vote for Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson and against the klan.

He said the klan had done nothing but engender strife, hatred and bitterness since its organization and had not only split most all our Protestant churches, but all our lodges, unions, etc., and anything founded on such doctrine could not stand. What he wanted to see, however, was to see it wiped out right now before it got a greater hold on our fair State.

He paid his respects to the great apostle of white supremacy—Dr. Evans—who came into Texas with a big buck negro in the Pullman sleeper with him. In fact, a large part of his talk was concerning the men that organized and were running the klan; their methods of landing suckers and pointing out that the head guys were getting rich by selling the dupes bud sheets at about 400 per cent profit. He also paid a glowing tribute to the original klan, and told how the mothers and wives of the men secured their robes in the days of the carpet-baggers and negro rule in the South. He declared that the crowning infamy of Simmons was shown when he went down in the grave and dug up a thing so sacred as that was, and commercialized it.

He paid both the Jew and the Catholic tribute for the part they took in the World War and asked what would we Texans would have thought, if, when they were paying honor to an unknown hero who fell on Flanders fields in France, if some one had stopped the proceedings and opened the coffin to see if he was a d—d Jew. An organization that is founded on intolerance and hate cannot stand, and on next Saturday, he predicted, Texas manhood and womanhood would speak so loud, in their disapproval of this thing that the great wizard, gizzard or lizard in Atlanta will hear the roar.

He was cheered thruout the progress of his speech and at the close many went up and shook hands and complimented him very highly for the splendid and sensible address.

Big Spring Boy at Camp

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Johnson are in receipt of the following letter from the Red Cross Field Director at Fort Logan, Colo.: "Your son has arrived at Fort Logan, and is now an active unit in the Citizens Military Training Camp which the United States Army is conducting at this station, this being one phase of the Government's sustained effort to train our young men to better all-around citizenship. It is felt that your boy is showing his mettle merely by his presence here as a member of the Camp and we feel that we should offer our congratulations to you because you "have had such a lad."
