EXCLUSIVE ARMY

The Army is a little red-faced about that has happened to its recruiting program. Where a few months ago it was pleading for nen and spending large sums on recruiting dvertisements, it is now having to impose uota restrictions on new enlistments. These imitations are being set because the Army as reached the total strength possible under he budget ceiling established by President ruman's budget for the next fiscal year.

The embarrassment of the Army over thus having to pull in its horns is needless. In fact, its recruiting problem of the future may be happily solved. By accepting only the cream of those who apply, it may build up an air of exclusiveness that will cause would-be recruits to pound insistently at its door. It might even be that we soon may hear youths bragging about crushing the Army in spite of the best efforts of snooty recruiters to exclude them. The psycology of exclusiveness is a powerful magnet.

Duke Thomas bought a farm with the money he'd saved in the Service, but he couldn't get a tractor. He needed it badly, but was tenth on the local dealer's list.

"Tell you what," old man Peters says. "If those nine fellows ahead of you agree, you'll get the next one I get in." "No. thanks," says Duke, "I'll just take my turn."

But old Peters mails out nine postcards. And the other day he tells Duke his tractor will be in next week. "I simply wrote the facts to the fellows ahead of you. They decided it."

MEDICAL PRICES

WILL INCREASE Shortages always raise prices. The Texas Medical Association, by restricting enrollment in Texas medical schools to barely enough to replace deaths and retirement FER has cut down our supply of doctors, especially in our rural areas. POUND thereby causing a shortage and higher fees for services, while 3,000 pre-med students find the gates barred against them.

This same medical association now plans to get control of the supply of all competitive healing professions, so they can cut off replacements in these healing pro- PER fessions and make the shortage POUND even more acute and thus raise the prices higher than today.

The Basic Science Bill (S.B. 63) is designed to give the Medical Association complete control of all branches of the healing arts and it is being pushed by unlimited funds and a high-priced lobby. If we, the people, do not write, phone or visit our senators and representatives, we will have this infamous legislation forced upon us. This is a call for action. If you want to know the names of your legislators, phone this newspaper. Address letters to them at Capitol Station, Austin. Stop that Basic
