2 NEW SOCIAL SECURITY BILLS ARE EXPLAINED

Two new Social Security bills signed into law last week by President Eisenhower will affect the pockets of 74 million Americans. Most will pay more taxes. Others, chiefly women, the disabled, and military widows and orphans, will have more money to spend.

The first bill, effective Oct. 1, deals with civilians, some already covered by Social Security, others covered for the first time. Among other things it lowers from 65 to 62 the age at which women can draw benefits. This will add about 800,000 women to the Social Security roll within a year. It also lowers from 65 to 50 the age at which permanently disabled persons can draw benefits. This will add 250,000 to the rolls.

The second bill deals with the Armed Services. Effective next Jan. 1 it brings 2,824,000 Armed Service men and women — from GI to admiral — under full Social Security coverage on the same basis as civilians. But its various provisions also mean higher Veterans Administration Compensation payments or 300,000 widows, 85,000 orphans and 265,000 dependent parents.

What Civilian Bill Means Here is what the civilian bill means.

The cost-effective next Jan. 1 payroll taxes on earnings up to $1200 a year will be increased for self-employed covered by Social all workers, their employers and Security. Worker and employer will contribute 2 1/2 percent each instead of the present 2 percent. This means a $5 a year increase for a worker earning $2000, $7.50 for a worker earning $3000, and $10.50 for all workers earning $4200 or more. The self-employed will pay in 3 3/8 per cent instead of the present 3 per cent. The total tax increase is about $850 million a year.

Women's benefits — beginning Nov. 1 women can collect retirement benefits at age 62. Widows and dependent mothers of insured workers will get their full benefits at 62 — equal to three-fourths of the benefit for which the worker qualified. Wives of retired workers and women workers have the choice of waiting until age 65 to collect full benefits or taking reduced benefits at age 62, 63 or 64. At 65 wives are entitled to a supplemental benefit equal to half their husband's benefit. But if the wife collects at age 62 her monthly benefit will be cut 25 per cent, with lesser reductions if she retires at age 63 or 64. Working women who have their own Social Security accounts will have their benefits cut 20 per cent of they retire at age 62. It would be less if they retired at 63 or 64.

"What a feeding value"

Laying Chow booklet. Has latest management and research information. Get your free copy.

What Can 100 lbs. of Cow Condition Mean to You?

Repeated tests at the Purina Research Farm have shown that 100 lbs of extra body condition will produce up to 2,000 lbs. of extra milk in the following lactation. This is the most profitable milk you can produce because it's extra milk.

Cows conditioned on Purina D&F Chow have a reserve of strength and condition to carry them through the ordeal of calving. This helps them calve easily, clean quickly.

Try conditioning one cow or a few cows with Purina D&F Chow and see the results for yourself. Ask for feeding recommendations.

COLLEGE TEST SHOWS FLY FREE COWS PRODUCED BEST

Experiments at a mid-west State College showed that cows in sprayed herds averaged over 3 lbs. a day more milk than cows in unsprayed herds. That's 200 extra pounds of milk per cow in a 60-day period.

Purina Research makes thorough effective fly control possible at low cost. Around dairy cows and buildings we recommended these Purina Products:

Purina Liquid Building Spray For all farm buildings including the dairy barn, 4 lbs. sprays an average 20-cow unit. Lasts for about a month in hot or cool weather.

Dairy Spray Concentrate. Just mix with water and spray cows once a week. Kills flies on animals in the barn and helps keep horn flies off stock on pasture.

Purina Fly Bait Scatter where flies gather and watch it kill like MAGIC. Keeps on killing for several weeks. Works in dairy barns, feed rooms, poultry houses... even in outdoor areas. Ask about the 25-lb. economy size.

A complete line of Purina tested and researched fly control products to do almost every job right at reasonable cost. Plan now to get extra milk from a fly-free herd this summer.

HYDROGEN BOMB burst shown in the four sequence photos above was the Cherokee shot of Operation Redwing of this year. These pictures were taken from a plane at 12,000 feet about 50 miles northwest of the detonation. Federal Defense Administration specialists are analyzing data from the blast for its use in civil defense planning.

RECORDS OF 1,033 FARMERS PROVE IT!

Here's one of those rare instances where you can have your cake and eat it, too. Let us translate this old adage to poultry terms.

With Purina Growing Chow many poultrymen can grow superior pullets that should produce extra eggs this fall. And the growing feed cost often runs from 5c to 20c less per pullet on Purina.

Records from 1,033 farmers show that each 100 pullets grown out on a Purina feeding program laid nearly 20 dozen extra eggs per week over the U. S. Average flocks during the fall months—September to December. That's over a half a case of extra eggs per week from each 100 pullets in the four months of higher prices.

Actual studies show that pullets on most farms was enough mash to add 5c to 20c to the cost of growing a bird. Almost all of this waste can be eliminated with Purina Growing Cows in popular Checker-Ett or Bite-Size Checkers form.

The time to start working toward those extra fall eggs and savings in growing costs is now! We'll help you.

When To Worm Pullets

We recommend worming all birds between 10 and 12 weeks of age and again before housing. No set-back and new Purina Liquid Poultry Wormer does the most complete job of any wormer tested at Purina Research. We have it.

Beauty-Plus-Service Need Filled by Asphalt Shingles

This young woman sunbathing on the patio protects her skin from burning rays with sunbath lotion and a beach umbrella. She probably isn't aware of it, but the asphalt shingle roof on her home is protected from the sun, too, by millions of rock or ceramic granules embedded in the asphalt-coated felt. In much the same way lotion and the shading umbrella protect a sunbather, the tough opaque granules keep the sun out of the asphalt, preventing the rays from drawing out the heavy oils and resins, assuring long life.

If you are planning to buy or remodel a home, remember the old saying, "beauty is as beauty does."

Modern living demands that beauty serve a purpose beyond mere appearance. Architects call this principle "functional design."

A good example of functional design can be found in the modern roofing material, asphalt shingles. Their wide range of colors and shapes makes it possible for an architect or home remodeler to add beauty to a house and at the same time give it the protection of a long-lasting roof.

Asphalt shingle manufacturers solve much of the "beauty is as beauty does" challenge by embedding millions of tough, pulverized rock or ceramic granules into the surface of the basic asphalt-coated felt.

These granules perform three main functions:

1. Protect the asphalt coating from sun and bad weather. The granules are hard and opaque. They resist the wearing effect of rain, snow and ice. Light rays cannot penetrate them.
2. Increase fire resistance. The granules are made of natural slate, quartz, trap rock, slag or clay subjected to a ceramic treatment. These materials can't burn.
3. Make the roof colorful. The granules are produced in almost every color imaginable and make asphalt shingles available in dozens of solid colors and blends, light or dark.

Wheeler County Soil Conservation District News

It will soon be time to start planting fall cover crop. Land from which silage is cut should have some winter protection. Rye makes a good cover for this land and can be dry seeded as soon as silage is cut. In dry years it will not make much pasture but will protect the land.

E. H. Herd plans to seed rye in his cotton this year. His farm is east of Wheeler. Jake Allen of Mobeetie plans to seed rye in all his row crop. He has followed this practice for several years and has had good results.

Anyone who has rye seed for sale should let it be known. There have been several calls for seed and no local supply is known. Elmer Ledbetter of Kelton harvested some mixed rye and vetch. This makes an excellent cover crop for sandy land.

The Wheeler District owns two drills that will plant fall legumes or rye or mixtures in cotton. These drills are shielded so that they will not injure the growing crop. Garland Abernathy of Kelton has one and one is located at the Wheeler High School in charge of the Vocational Agriculture department.

Home-Owner Can Control Condensation

You wouldn't stand for damage to the interior of your home caused by a leaky roof.

Yet there are other, less apparent sources of moisture in a house—washers, dryers, showers, baths, cooking and the like—which also can cause extensive damage, but which can be controlled by the home-owner who is willing to follow a few simple rules.

Recognizing the dangers of these moisture problems, Better Homes & Gardens reports:

"Contrary to belief, insulation does not cause condensation. Insulation does not cause the paint on your house to peel, either."

"Moisture gets into your home through leaky chimneys, flashing, crumbling mortar joints, leaky gutters, damaged siding, torn and broken shingles and so on. But condensation of excessive moisture produced within your home is usually the real problem."

To correct both problems, first mend the openings in your home where water from the outside enters. Then vent out the moisture vapor produced in the kitchen, bathroom, laundry and so on. One good way to do this is to simply open a window. Or, where extreme conditions exist, install exhaust fans in these rooms.

Vents in the gables of your home also let moist air out. Ready-made louvers of metal and wood are available and easy to install yourself. Be sure they are large enough to meet your requirements. To figure the size vents you need in the attic, figure one square foot for each 100 square feet of floor area."

Another method of controlling condensation is to prevent vapor penetration into areas where it can cause trouble. This can be done by insulating walls and ceilings with mineral wool batts or blankets. The batts or blankets should be installed with the vapor barrier next to the heated side of the wall or ceiling.

Camp Stove Helps Vacationers Save

Many families who are taking to the open road for their vacations this year are saving as much as $7 or $8 a day on food costs by packing a camp stove and portable picnic cooler into the car.

Instead of being constantly watchful for clean-looking roadside restaurants, they pull over and eat wherever and whenever they want. A Coleman camp stove helps prepare hot food the way the family likes it. And the cooler keeps fresh vegetables, milk and other perishables always ready.

The George Espensons, of West St. Paul, Minn., and their two children, for example, started on a 16-day trip to the Rockies by eating in restaurants at an average cost of $12 daily. After three days of this, they switched to preparing their own food on their Coleman stove. Their food costs dropped to $4.17 a day, a savings daily of $7.83 and a total savings on food for the trip of $102.78.

All My Sons — fitting conclusion to a play electrifying in its intensity.

The Community Players are proud to present one of the finest plays of one of our most outstanding American playwrights. This drama received the Drama Critics Award and has been produced on Broadway. Mr. Miller, born and bred in New York, says, "You are to arrive at the place where you know your own work and no longer live in doubt. I felt I had done that with 'All My Sons.' I wanted it to be as good as I could make it. I worked two years on it. I felt sure that if it were turned down it would not be because the play was not good. 'All My Sons' is Mr. Miller's first success and represents the rich fruit of a long painful struggle full of the disappointment and frustration that any serious young playwright must face.

The cast of 'All My Sons' will be made up almost entirely of veterans, many of whom you saw in 'Tommy'. Kenneth Berry will take the role of Chris Keller and his sweetheart will be played by Patsy Burgess. Bill 'Tommy' Helton will play the part of Ann's brother, George Deever. Sharon Green and Carol Killinsworth will be teamed together again as Mr. and Mrs. Joe Keeler. The Keller's neighbors are Dr. Jim and Sue Rayless, Elvie Williams and Phyllis Richerson; Frank and Lydia Lubey, Jack Helton and Georgia Pond; and their son, Bert is played by Daniel Taylor.

Make your plans now to attend this drama on either August 9 or 10 in the school cafeteria. Curtain time will be 8:00 o'clock.

become permanently disabled can draw retirement at age 50 or over. Benefits will range from $30 a month for those with a monthly wage averaging $50.50, up to $108.50 for those earning $350 or more. The initial annual cost is estimated at $250 million. It will increase heavily in the years ahead. There also are allowances for a disabled child of a disabled or retired worker provided the child became disabled before age 18. Such benefits are not cut off at age 18.

Coverage Extended
Coverage—coverage is extended to 825,000 self-employed farm owners, lawyers, dentists, chiropractors, veterinarians, naturopaths, optometrists and osteopaths. Some states also are authorized to extend coverage to state and municipal retirement systems.

Public assistance—federal contributions to estates for public assistance will be increased under a formula intended to give $4,700,000 needy aged, blind and disabled an extra $3 to $4 a month and dependent children an additional $2. This formula becomes effective Oct. 1 this year and expires June 30, 1959. First year federal cost is $146 million.

Legal curbs—courts are given discretion to end benefits to persons hereafter convicted of treason, sedition, sabotage or espionage. Benefits to aliens who leave the United States will be suspended in some instances.

General—the Democratic-sponsored law benefits about six million women, disabled workers and needy. About 53 million workers, employers and self-employed and part-time workers will feel the tax increase. The changes are the first in the Social Security retirement age. The self-employed will pay their 1956 tax when they file their income tax returns next spring.

KIWANIS NOTES
By DICK PENDELTON

David Britt brought a very thought provoking program to the Kiwanis club in its regular weekly session at Fellowship Hall last Monday.

He chose as his topic the words from a scroll he came in contact with while on a tour of duty overseas. Theme of the scroll was doing something for the relief of humanity as we pass along the way of life as we will not be back. Do what ever we can as we can and leave the world with that much less suffering and deprivation he urged.

Gordon Stiles, P. E. Yarborough, Percy and Harry were in Amarillo Monday making an inter club visit. P. E. had the program there this trip.

SIMPLE, INEXPENSIVE DEVICE OFFERS ROUND-THE-CLOCK PROTECTION FOR BABY CHICKS

Poultry raisers can now go to bed secure in the knowledge that the safety of their baby chicks is guarded by a new protective warning device which rings an alarm bell should there be a temporary interruption of the flow of electricity

Brooding with electric heat lamps is recognized as a superior method of providing life-giving heat to baby chicks, and this new warning device creates still another advantage to the use of electricity. Under no other brooding method can such protection be installed with such simplicity and with such inexpensive outlay of cash

Here's how it works: The device pictured rings an alarm bell awakening the farmer who can then take measures to protect his baby chicks. Necessary to its operation is the self-contained

LeRoy Hutton raised 2,000 baby chicks under heat lamps with an automatic alarm unit. An overloaded circuit in the brooder house caused a fuse to blow, thereby interrupting the flow of electricity and causing Mr. Hutton's alarm to sound off about 3:00 a.m. the first night that his heat lamps were connected. Now Hutton rests well at night, knowing that his alarm will warn him of trouble in the brooder house.
