General Benefits Counted From Showers Over Section Fall As Heavy As 3 Inches In Glasscock

Only .46 Inch Here; Moisture Is Light At The Lakes

Thundershowers moved across this area of West Texas Saturday with almost general effect, except to lightly touch the driest sections of southern Howard, eastern Glasscock and northern Sterling counties.

Over the area amounts varied from light showers to three inches south of Garden City as much as two inches in southern Borden county.

The U. S. weather bureau at the airport gauged .46 of an inch to 6:30 p. m. and only sprinkles fell after that time before midnight.

The U. S. Experiment Farm gauge, to the north of the city, had .55 of an inch.

In and around Big Spring the amount was insufficient to make the moisture meet.

About a quarter of an inch fell at Moss Creek lake in southeastern Howard county, and a heavy shower fell further to the south and east but beyond and below the Powell creek water shed.

Coshoma had little better than a quarter of an inch, but just north there was around an inch or better. Vincent, in the north-eastern corner of the county, was reported to have had good rains, possibly an inch or better, and to the north and west in Borden county there were accounts of two inch downpours.

Lamesa tabulated around an inch in a general shower Saturday that further enhanced crop and range prospects. Between Big Spring and Lamesa there was a spotted picture as far as intensity of rain was concerned.

Farmers returning home Saturday evening on lateral dirt roads, particularly toward the northeast, were bogging down in places and slipping in ditches or others.

Stanton reported "good showers" with heavier rains to the south in Martin county. There were no accurate reports from the northern end of the county but it was thought that the amount was generally enough to benefit crops.

Parts of southwestern Howard county had rain varying from heavy downpours to slow showers that drizzled out over a couple of hours. Dry branches in a few sections were running. Most of southeastern Howard county got

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK

BY JOE PICKLE
Saturday came near being a perfect day - good fishing at Moss Creek lake followed by thundershowers for our parched area.

And add to the excitement the fact that the first bale of cotton was ginned Saturday. As if this were not enough, three and a half bales more came rolling in, an all time record for the first day of the cotton season.

The city filled the army's water reservoir, one million gallons capacity, after 15 hours of pumping through a 12-inch line Friday. Saver lines are due to be finished by mid-week when, if plans materialize, the initial cadre may move in.

Here's hoping that Fox Stripling can go ahead with his plans to add 12 houses to the Park Hill area.

'Concentration' Policy May Be Needed By 1943 To Save U. S. Business

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP) - Some form of concentration of wholesale and retail businesses and distributive facilities, as well as civilian industries, will be necessary before mid-1943 to save thousands of merchants from bankruptcy, informed government officials predicted today.

A tentative plan which would permit hard-pressed stores to close "for the duration," and reopen after the war with a minimum of financial loss, already is under study, it was learned.

Officials in close touch with the general merchandising situation, who declined to be quoted by name, said the overall plan for wholesale and retail concentration now was little more than a "basis for argument" and recognition of the economic restrictions which will be necessary in a long war.

Under the tentative plan, which draws on experience in England, merchants caught in the "squeeze" of price ceilings, or faced with business failure because of normal competitive conditions and abnormal lack of consumer goods to sell, would be able to turn over their stocks and their customers to a competitor and close their doors.

Their firm name, good-will and investment would be protected, either by mutual agreement and voluntary cooperation, or under terms

Rat Poison Drive Mapped To Check Typus Spread

Determined steps for rat extermination to check the spread of typhus fever here was announced Saturday by county and city officials.

Concerned over the mounting number of typhus cases, City-County Health Officer M. H. Bennett, County Judge Walton Morrison and City Manager B. J. McDaniel said arrangements would be made immediately for poisoning of rats, carriers of the disease.

Bennett estimated, from reports to him, that there are some 20 cases current in this locality. There have been no fatalities, and the cases generally are not critical ones, he said, but the spread of the disease called for immediate and positive action.

The rodent control service of the state extension department will be contacted, he said, and request will be made to have an agent come here and supervise a general extermination campaign.

Full cooperation of all business firms and householders will be sought. Arrangements will be made through the county for a supply of poison, Morrison said. The judge also said that renewed efforts will be made for rat extermination in rural areas.

An eradication campaign was conducted earlier in the year, but Bennett voiced the opinion that it was not general enough. The extermination work this time must be more extensive.

Spread of typhus has been reported generally over the South and particularly in Texas in recent months. It has reached serious proportions in some southeast Texas areas.

Race Followers Have To Explain Use Of Gasoline

BOSTON, Aug. 15 (AP) - The OPA today ordered 276 Massachusetts motorists holding liberal gasoline ration cards to show cause why they should not be prosecuted for making "frequent" visits to Rockingham track in their automobiles during the recent horse racing meeting.

Spotted at the Salem, N. H., track from two to five days during a survey over a five-day period were a state police car, several funeral cars, taxicabs and trucks, all with "B" or unlimited ration cards, physicians with "C" cards, and an assistant district attorney of Suffolk county who has been allowed extra gasoline equivalent to 2,760 miles of driving per month.

Corporal Honored At Midland School

MIDLAND, Aug. 15 (AP) - Corp. Farris M. Humphries, Roxboro, N. C., of Midland army flying school, today was awarded the medal of the Purple Heart for bravery and meritorious service at Pearl Harbor.

The presentation was made by Brig. Gen. Isalah Davies, commanding general of the MAFS, in a ceremony broadcast over a statewide network.

Corporal Humphries was wounded during the sneak Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor last December 7, but refused to leave his machine gun post. He was knocked out when a salvo of ten bombs burst only four feet away from him.

GEO. W. FOLK DIES
FORT WORTH, Aug. 15 (AP) - Funeral services for George W. Folk, 64, Fort Worth attorney and member of a pioneer cattle family, who died of a heart attack in a hospital here Saturday, will be held at 10 a. m. Monday in Fort Worth.

Germans Turn Full Power On Stalingrad

Volga City Next Target After Caucasus Footholds Won

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Sunday, Aug. 16 (AP) - Apparently launching a full offensive against Stalingrad after securing strongholds in the north Caucasus, the Germans hurled masses of infantrymen, tanks and planes today against Russian positions on the Kizletskaya and Kotelnikovskii fronts before the important Volga city.

Russian reports early today said the Germans had opened up a series of attacks with no regard for losses, with German bodies littering the ground along a railroad east of Kotelnikovskii, where the Germans struck after regrouping their forces.

The Germans have been stalled on the Kizletskaya and Kotelnikovskii fronts for weeks while they won positions in the Don bend and beat their way deep into the Caucasus. Now they appear to be putting on the pressure again, with most of the north Caucasus in their hands.

Coincident with the threat to Stalingrad was a drive aimed at Astrakhan from the Kotelnikovskii area.

The Russian midnight communique said that the Germans lost heavily in attempts to recapture lost positions northeast of Kotelnikovskii, while the Moscow radio broadcast that the regrouped nazis fighting east of the city were trying to drive to the northeast toward Stalingrad.

Kotelnikovskii is 95 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

On the northern arm of this huge pincer movement against the city named for Joseph Stalin, the Germans apparently were trying to develop and enlarge their break through to the Don river southeast of Kizletskaya, which is 75 miles northwest of Stalingrad.

"Southeast of Kizletskaya the Germans launched several fierce attacks and sustained heavy losses," the midnight communique reported.

(The Russian accounts did not make clear whether the two critical areas facing Stalingrad were going.)

The Germans also attacked in the Voronezh area at the top of the long southern front and slightly pressed back the Soviets, the communique declared. However, the Russians beat the axis forces back and killed 400 Germans. Apparently in this area also, on the western bank of the Don, 600 Hungarians were killed and a group of Hungarian troops went over to the Red army, the Russians said.

The communique told of no major change in the Caucasus, with stubborn fighting continuing in the areas of Cherkessk, Mineralny Vody, Krasnodar and Malkop.

First Bombs Sent From Texas Plant

SOMEWHERE IN TEXAS, Aug. 15 (AP) - American Well and Prospecting company officials and employees were praised today by Lt. Col. R. W. Coward, executive officer of the St. Louis Ordnance district, U. S. army, as he said the first railroad car of 1,000 nap bombs to be shipped from the establishment.

"You people have done a great job and I wish to commend you highly," Coward stated and then praised the personnel for "using equipment available in getting the job done over obstacles."

The concern went into production within the shortest time after being awarded its contract of any producer of similar bombs in the United States.

Hatton Summers Nephew Killed

ITASCA, Aug. 15 (AP) - Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. here tomorrow for second Lt. Hatton W. Summers, 24, who was killed Monday when an army interceptor plane plunged into the bay at San Diego, Calif.

Cadets from North Texas State Teachers college, where Summers was once a student, will escort the bier. His father is W. B. Summers of Itasca and he is a nephew of Rep. Hatton W. Summers.

Dutchmen Executed In German Reprisal

Schimmelpenninck Van Der Rooye, former president of the Netherlands Olympic committee. One hour after the executions, Premier Pieter S. Gerbrandy of Netherlands government-in-exile, made a broadcast to the Dutch people, telling them this Nazi act would remain "a stain on the honor of the German people."

He said the time would come when the Netherlands government would bring to justice those who committed these crimes against innocent hostages.

The perpetrators of the high explosive attempt in Rotterdam have been too cowardly to give themselves up. The Germans previously had said the lives of 1,000 hostages would be forfeit if the saboteurs were not given up. Those executed were William Buis, director general of Rotterdam Lines; the Count of Limburg Stirum, of Arnhem; a Mr. Waalde, an attorney of Rotterdam; Christopher Bentacker, former police inspector of Rotterdam; and Alexander Baron

Marines Capture Bases Kiska Raid Nets 4 Jap Ships

Attack Force Hits Hard At Enemy Isle

Warships, Bombers Damage Three Vessels, Sink Fourth

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP) - Flaming guns of the U. S. warships and bombs of naval planes severely damaged a destroyer and two cargo vessels and sent a third cargo ship to the bottom in Kiska harbor in raids August 8 and 9 the navy disclosed today.

More than 3,000 shells were hurled from the big guns of warships of a task force of the Pacific fleet which hit hard at the enemy occupied island of Alaska.

Shells striking the enemy's main camp set huge fires which still were burning when reconnaissance planes flew over the harbor a day later.

A short distance to the south a secondary camp also was hit hard by the heavy bombardment, and anti-aircraft and shore batteries throughout the island were silenced.

Only resistance offered by the enemy was a weak seaplane attack and desultory firing by shore batteries before they were put out of action by American big guns.

When the U. S. forces hit they found a fleet of enemy vessels - including submarines - in the Kiska harbor. Estimates were made that the fleet included ten cargo or transport vessels, four submarines and a destroyer.

At the close of the surprise attack on August 8, the destroyer was left standing and burning just outside the harbor.

Patrol planes the following day added damage to two cargo vessels and reported sighting a third sunk near the beach, presumably sent down by gunfire the previous day.

Dependent Aid By October 1?

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP) - A member of the senate military affairs committee suggested today that a compromise might be arranged under which accumulated benefits could be paid the dependents of service men any time after October 1 - a month earlier than permissible under present law.

The senator, who requested that his name not be used, stressed that such legislation, if passed, would not guarantee that the allowances and allotments would be paid exactly on October 1. It merely would replace a section of the law which prohibits such payments before November 1.

However, Senator Clark (D-Mo) called for a showdown in the senate Monday on house-approved legislation which would knock out the November 1 deadline entirely. He said the dependents of some soldiers and sailors are in desperate financial straits and need the money for rent and food.

The allotment and allowance law became effective as of June 1, which would mean that of three months accumulation would be payable to dependents on October 1, if that date is decided upon.

War department officials previously have declared it would be physically impossible to compute the allowances and make out the checks before November 1.

ARMY PLANE CRASHES

FEBU, Mass., Aug. 15 (AP) - A large army plane carrying probably as many as 24 men crashed tonight in this mountainous Berkshire Hill town and army officials announced that at least four were alive and there were some deaths.

The dawn attack had the dual purpose of diverting the Luftwaffe from attacks on Malta and the convoy and of breaking up any axis preparations to use Rhodes as a base of attack.

Although the big German Italian air bases on Crete are less than 200 miles away the British got away without damage or air attack.

Italian Island Of Rhodes Bombarded By British Fleet

ABOARD A CRUISER WITH THE BRITISH MEDITERRANEAN FLEET, BOMBARDING RHODES, Aug. 13 (Delayed) - (AP) - The long sleek guns of Britain's Mediterranean warships, spouting sheets of white flame, poured ton after ton of high explosive shells into Mussolini's Dodecanese stronghold of Rhodes early today.

They luffed behind on this Eastern Mediterranean island huge fires, battered seaplane bases and broken barracks and harbor installations.

The squadron of warships, commanded by Rear Admiral Philip L. Vian, swept into the mine-laden waters off Rhodes just before 1 a. m. Thursday and plastered the harbor for 15 minutes in one of the most thrilling surprise bombardments I have ever witnessed.

The Rhodes heavy shore batteries and anti-aircraft guns and Italian torpedo boats flung everything at the fleet they could muster. My heart crashed against my ribs as big enemy shells sprayed over this cruiser and near misses made huge geysers while fire gushed from the mouths of the ship's guns and projectiles scorched through the air under the starlit skies and exploded with shattering force ashore.

In this most spectacular bombardment of the war since the fleet pumped thousands of armor-piercing shells into Tripoli on April 24, 1941, the nazis and fascists in Rhodes sent up thousands of multi-colored "flaming columns" in an effort to trace the attacking force while British and American bombers pounded the airdromes and other targets ashore both before and after the sea shelling.

Rhodes looked like a maze of Christmas tree lights when the fleet sailed up to a broadside position. It looked like a flash from hell when the warships moved safely away.

The dawn attack had the dual purpose of diverting the Luftwaffe from attacks on Malta and the convoy and of breaking up any axis preparations to use Rhodes as a base of attack.

Although the big German Italian air bases on Crete are less than 200 miles away the British got away without damage or air attack.

First Phase In Solomons A Victory

Japs Acknowledged To Have Added To New Guinea Forces

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 15 (AP) - Fighting Leathernecks of the United States Marines were believed tonight to have captured important coastal bases in the Solomon Islands in triumphant conclusion of the first phase of that great battle still raging in the Southwest Pacific.

The failure of Japanese quarters to make any but a negative reference to their land forces, coupled with a Washington announcement that the marines are consolidating shore positions in the Tulagi area, led qualified observers here to the belief that the Nipponese had been dislodged from the bases.

The Japanese controlled radio stations failed to refer to ground forces on the southeastern Solomon Islands yesterday but an intercepted Dornier report from Batavia, occupied Java, admitted today that a "small enemy force was left on one Solomon island."

(Japanese in recent days have become curiously quiet on the Solomon battle but a report from Tokyo reaching London by a German broadcast acknowledged fierce fighting at one point.

"Fierce fighting is reported to be taking place between Japanese forces and United States marines who have landed on one of the Solomon islands," the Tokyo dispatch, to DIME, German news agency, said.

(This was the first acknowledgement from the axis side that battle had taken an adverse trend and it did not attempt to explain how the marines had established beach heads in the face of the Japanese claim - entirely unconfirmed - that the U. S. naval forces were routed.)

While Australian Army Minister Francis M. Forde warned his countrymen again that Australia still is in danger of invasion, quarters familiar with the topography of the Solomons attached optimistic significance to the U. S. navy department's assertion that the marines were consolidating "shore positions."

These quarters said this indicated progress had been made since Wednesday, when a communique claimed only that American forces were fighting to establish "beach heads."

NEGOTIATION MAY COME IN INDIA CRISIS

BOMBAY, Aug. 15 (AP) - Evidence was developing tonight that the deadlock between the British government and Indian nationalists might soon be broken through the intervention of at least one and possibly another prominent Indian.

As reports circulated that the British might apply severe penalties including death and collective fines, to halt rioting and destruction by followers of Mohandas K. Gandhi, word came from the city of Trichinopoly that Chakravarti Rajagopalachari, one time prominent All-India Congress figure was going to New Delhi next week probably on political business.

At the same time it was reported from Allahabad that Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, India's most prominent lawyer and sometime negotiator between the government and Gandhi, also was heading for New Delhi and would visit Lord Linlithgow, the viceroy.

Moreover, the working committee of the Muslim League meets in Bombay tomorrow to formulate a new policy to meet the situation arising from Gandhi's sponsoring of a non-violent independence drive.

The situation remains acute. Indian bitterness is growing as a result of the clashes between the rioters and British troops and government police, and the Congress leaders who are not in jail already are believed to be preparing an organized non-violent campaign on the Gandhi formula to take up where violence leaves off.

Women To Confer On Housing Crisis

The housing situation will be placed before women of the community in hopes that they can do more about it than men have seemed to be able to do.

Monday at 4 p. m. in the chamber of commerce office the wives of the organization's directors, together with all other interested women, will meet to hear appeals that something be done about taking into local homes. Chamber directors earlier in the week had approved the appointment of the wives of directors as a committee to work on the housing problem, perhaps the foremost community worry today.

Women Form Marketing Association

Howard County Marketing association is getting off to a modest start, but already five farm women are pooling 65 to 80 dozen of eggs a week with good results.

Backed by guarantees and marketed under certain rigid standards, these eggs are sold through the various groceries in Big Spring. So far they have commanded premiums.

Each member of the association agrees to produce clean, infertile eggs; gather eggs two or three times daily during warm or bad weather; keep eggs in cool, clean place until marketed; market eggs at least two times a week and make sure that they weigh not less than 23 ounces to the dozen and must average at least 24 ounces per dozen or 55 to 60 pounds per case when marketed.

Guarantees to replace any bad egg with good one; stamp eggs or carton with stamp bearing the association and producer's name; become a poultry demonstrator and feed a ration approved by the extension service; and make monthly reports to the county extension agent's office.

Eggs handled by the association are boxed in 4-H cartons and are thus easily identified.

Those in the association now are Mrs. Shirley Fryar, Mrs. Jim Hank, Mrs. W. C. Rogers, Mrs. Ross Hill and Mrs. J. W. Wooten. Any others interested may join by signing to follow production and marketing rules and by contacting either County Agent O. P. Griffin or County Home Demonstration Agent Fontilla Johnson.

The young unit represents one of the first cooperative marketing efforts by farm folks of Howard county as concerns smaller commodities such as eggs.

Says Forces Face Tough Operations

LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Significantly speaking at a time when United States, Russian and British military leaders are continuously discussing diversionary action on a new European front, U. S. Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared today that "the time is short" and United States soldiers must be trained to stand the most "rigorous operations."

His words at a press conference were regarded by many as a hint of the urgency with which the program to beat the axis is being organized.

"Training in all its phases must be intensive," said the commander of all United States army forces in the European theater.

"This is true first because the time is short, second, because the problems we have demand the ultimate in trained personnel, and, third, because our men must be toughened and hardened physically to stand the most rigorous operations."

He declared it was his conviction that "we must form here the best army the United States has ever put into the field if we are to perform our future tasks successfully."

The general's words were taken as a reflection of the views of both the British and American governments that a second front in Europe is needed at the earliest possible moment; and that such a front can be created and successfully advanced only at the cost of great preparation and great casualties.

United States troops for some time past have been pouring into Britain at an increasing rate and their training is progressing rapidly with battle-hardened British veterans among the instructors.

British and American experts, while realizing that a full scale second front is impossible without adequate preparations, feel that more positive action to aid Russia and hit the axis will not be long delayed. They think the formula has been decided or soon will be.

Many believe that at the present stage the main brunt still will have to be borne by British and Canadian troops with Americans playing a minor role until they reach a training and organizational peak—but at the rate things are moving they think that won't be long.

Letter To Editor—'Common Citizen' Tells Why He Is Backing Allred

Dear Sir:

After listening to the proposals of each of the candidates for the office of United States senator, I have weighed the merits and demerits as set out by action or by word of mouth and, since I believe myself to be a COMMON CITIZEN of Texas, I want Jimmy Allred to represent me in the United States senate, because—

FIRST. In W. Lee O'Daniel's first race for governor, he promised the old folks full allowance of pension without the levying of any additional taxes and, after being elected, caused to be introduced THE TRANSACTION TAX BILL, the heaviest tax bill ever devised and aimed directly at us COMMON CITIZEN.

SECOND. There never was any record of harmony between O'Daniel and the senate or house of representatives during his term of office as governor and his persistence of wanting the Transaction Tax Bill passed caused many thousands of tax dollars to be needlessly spent.

THIRD. W. Lee O'Daniel continues to talk of lack of support to do certain things his opponent is doing. I suggest that those who listen to this criticism make their own investigation as to whom is paying for O'Daniel's time on the radio—they might be surprised—it may be one you would call an UNCOMMON CITIZEN—they are so few.

FOURTH. Since W. Lee O'Daniel is pointing the finger of scorn at his opponent for being a professional politician, it makes me feel his opponent is better qualified to serve than one who professes to be only an amateur, such as he. When you are playing for "keeps," it is no time to run an amateur.

Yours very truly,
FOX STRIPLING.

Lew Ayres Making A 'Good Soldier,' Says Officers At Camp Barkeley

ABILENE, Aug. 15 (AP)—Private Lew Ayres, who reported to Camp Barkeley's medical replacement training center in May tagged as a conscientious objector, has finished his basic course with the title "excellent soldier" bestowed by his commanding general.

Six pounds heavier despite his vegetarian diet and hard work under the blazing sun of a hot Texas summer, Dr. Kildare of the movies awaits permanent assignment in the nation's armed forces with this blessing from Brigadier General Roy C. Heflbower, commander of the medical center:

"According to all reports reaching my office he has been an excellent soldier and I am confident he will render valuable service before his army career ends."

An officer of lesser rank who had Ayres in his command added: "I wish I had a whole battalion of men just like him."

Not knowing what or where his next assignment will be, Ayres said he would welcome an opportunity to serve with an evacuation hospital or similar unit in a theater of war that would provide him with an opportunity to help alleviate the suffering of men wounded in battle.

Temporarily Ayres is on duty as a hospital ward instructor. His job is to teach recruits the duties of ward attendants.

McRae Named As Head Of Forsan School

FORSAN, Aug. 15.—Dan McRae has been named as superintendent of the Forsan schools, succeeding F. D. Lewis, resigned.

McRae taught history in the high school for the past year and had been elected principal of the Midway school. He resigned that post, however, to accept the local superintendency. He holds B. A. and M. A. degrees and has taught for 13 years, ten of them in Howard county schools.

Lewis resigned to enter war work. Mrs. Bill Conger, teacher of the third grade, also resigned this week.

City Ranking High In Navy Recruiting

DALLAS, Aug. 15 (AP)—For the second consecutive week Fort Worth's sub-district navy recruiting office outstripped others in North Texas in a campaign for 3,000 enlistments in the Dallas recruiting district during August.

The navy announced that Fort Worth's total was 72.75 per cent of its quota of 512 men. San Angelo moved up from third to second place with a 72.41 percentage, displacing Amarillo which reported 52.78.

Other recruiting offices, their percentage of quotas enlisted during the first two weeks of August are: Big Spring 50 per cent, Sherman 44.23, Dallas 35, Wichita Falls 30, Abilene 29.86, Lubbock 29.69, Paris 27.30, Tyler 26.85, Waco 26.41, and Longview 25.71 per cent.

Each recruiting district and the counties which it serves have been assigned a quota, based on population, by Lieutenant L. H. Risdeout, Jr., district recruiting officer. Civic organizations and civilian committees are functioning in every county in the northern part of the state, helping the navy to reach its goal.

E. L. Cooke, recruiter in charge of the Big Spring sub-station, said that the figures announced by the DALLAS, Aug. 15 (AP)—For the second consecutive week Fort Worth's sub-district navy recruiting office outstripped others in North Texas in a campaign for 3,000 enlistments in the Dallas recruiting district during August.

The navy announced that Fort Worth's total was 72.75 per cent of its quota of 512 men. San Angelo moved up from third to second place with a 72.41 percentage, displacing Amarillo which reported 52.78.

Other recruiting offices, their percentage of quotas enlisted during the first two weeks of August are: Big Spring 50 per cent, Sherman 44.23, Dallas 35, Wichita Falls 30, Abilene 29.86, Lubbock 29.69, Paris 27.30, Tyler 26.85, Waco 26.41, and Longview 25.71 per cent.

Each recruiting district and the counties which it serves have been assigned a quota, based on population, by Lieutenant L. H. Risdeout, Jr., district recruiting officer. Civic organizations and civilian committees are functioning in every county in the northern part of the state, helping the navy to reach its goal.

Wants To Return To Glider Service

A letter from Sgt. Elmer Lojan, telling of his training in Florida was received Friday by a staff member of the Big Spring Glider School.

Sgt. Lojan was transferred to the Air Forces Officer Candidate School at Miami Beach, Fla., about two weeks ago.

"I was an unhappy soldier when I left Big Spring, because I had plenty of good times there and enjoyed working with Glider Detachment," Sgt. Lojan said. "I'm only hoping that I can return to duty with the Glider Detachment."

Every House To Be Canvassed To Get Needed Materials

those of the boys in the army, navy and air corps — on the enemy. The ammunition is to be scrap; and the week of August 24-29 has been designated as "Junk Round-Up" week in the city for an intensive collection for all items desperately needed for war production. Here's what's wanted:

- Scrap iron and steel.
- Scrap rubber.
- Brass, copper and aluminum.
- Old manila rope.
- Burial.
- Collapsible tin tubes.

Although separate drives for several of these items have been staged, it is time again, says Salvage Chairman B. J. McDaniel, for the city to conduct another thorough cleanup, and turn in any and every item, no matter how large or small, that is valuable to the war effort.

McDaniel's committee, meeting Friday afternoon, mapped this general program:

Girl Scouts are to be asked to canvass the residential district—getting every single house — the first of the week of Aug. 24. They will present cards which the householder will be asked to sign and which pledge that every needed scrap item around the house and yard will be gathered up.

Then Boy Scouts will follow up, picking up the salvage material from each individual house and collecting this at convenient places, probably a pile to each block, or to two or three blocks. Along will come city trucks to make the final collection.

The scrap will be funneled directly into war production, and any money coming in from sale will go to the Girl and Boy Scout organizations.

Also to be set up during the Round-Up week will be a Salvage Depot, in the 300 block on Main street, and persons who desire may drop their salvage items there. Or, if a person desires he may sell what scrap items he has to a junk dealer.

In addition to the scout work in residential areas, the city's four service clubs will be asked to handle the downtown district. It will be subdivided, and service club men will be asked to contact property owners and store operators soliciting their full cooperation in the scrap collection.

Next week will be devoted to organizational efforts, McDaniel said, so that the Round-Up week will click 100 pct. when Aug. 24 arrives.

"Big Spring already has contributed nicely to aluminum, rubber, paper and metal drives," McDaniel said. "But the war production board is calling for more and more effort and more and more salvage. We must do our part to contribute the essentials in our

War Gas Test To Be Given Tuesday Eve

Auxiliary firemen, air raid wardens and all others connected with home defenses will have opportunity to sniff war gases Tuesday evening.

E. B. Bethell, instructor for the air raid warning service, has called a meeting for 8:30 at the municipal auditorium, at which time samples of all the war gases will be on hand for tests. Bethell urged all air raid wardens throughout the county, auxiliary firemen, civilian defense workers and all other interested citizens to be on hand.

Actual gas samples will aid in giving instructions on how to distinguish the various types used in warfare.

Allred Forces Active Here

Howard county forces for Allred were intensifying their efforts over the weekend for a final week of campaigning which they were confident would bring their candidate victory in next Saturday's U. S. senatorial vote.

Four members of the local organization made trips over the area Saturday to campaign in behalf of Allred for senator. Claude Miller was in Stanton, Rev. P. D. O'Brien was in Lamesa, Rev. Elmer Dunham was in Colorado City and Fox Stripling went to Sterling City.

A session of the Allred club, of which James T. Brooks is chairman and E. B. Kimberlin is secretary, was held Friday night, at which time additional campaigning and publicity programs were outlined.

Several made brief talks at the meeting, among them Stripling who said recent travel over the state convinced him that Allred was gaining ground. "The serious aspect of the war is making Texans conscious of the need for able representation," he said, "and they are finding O'Daniel unable to meet the specifications of the man they want in office. Allred, on the other hand, is making voters with his sincere, straightforward presentation of his platform."

Local Woman's Kin Victim Of Crash

Louis Randall, 58, of Coleman, victim of an automobile crash Friday morning, was a brother-in-law of Mrs. J. B. Nall of Big Spring.

Randall met instant death when the car in which he was riding was in collision with a truck near Ballinger at 2 a. m. Friday. With him were his wife, Mrs. R. E. Hubert and Fred Faddelford, all of Coleman, all of whom suffered bruises.

A heavily loaded moving van which collided with the Randall car was driven by Maurine Boons, who was uninjured.

Mrs. Nall was not able to attend funeral services for her brother-in-law.

Top Emotional Drama Of War, 'This Above All,' Plays At Ritz

Hailed by the critics as one of the great novels of our generation, and America's Number One best-seller for many months, Eric Knight's "This Above All" has been brought to the screen by 20th Century-Fox, and arrives at the Ritz theatre as the feature for today and Monday.

Co-starring Tyrone Power and Jean Fontaine, the film was produced by Darryl F. Zanuck, Academy Award producer, under the directorial regis of Anatole Litvak. The screenplay was fashioned by R. C. Sherriff, famed author of "Journey's End."

Telling the story of two young lovers caught in the turmoil of war in Britain, "This Above All" has aptly been termed "the first great love story of our generation." It takes the two principal characters through a great emotional crisis, which every man and woman is facing today, and brings them thru to a decision which is fundamentally vital for the continuance of their happiness together.

Featured in the cast of the film are Thomas Mitchell, Henry Stephenson, Nigel Bruce, Gladys Cooper, Phillip Merivale, Sara Allgood, and Alexander Knox. Their performances have been acclaimed by reviewers as outstanding.

Fresh from his triumphs in "Son of Fury" and "A Yank in the R. A. F.," Power is said to turn in the finest dramatic performance of his career, while Jean Fontaine, as the young WAAF recruit, demonstrates conclusively why she was awarded the Academy Award for the best performance by an actress for 1941.

"This Above All" has been faithfully brought to the screen, with all of its dramatic and emotional values in tact. Producer Zanuck has seen to it that the story retains all the elements which made it so great a success in novel form. Already adjudged a great film, it is bound to be reckoned among the best of the year.

Wartime—Jean Fontaine, the Academy Award winner, and handsome Tyrone Power carry the stellar roles in the film version of "This Above All," playing at the Ritz theatre today and Monday. The picture is from Eric Knight's novel, considered one of the most stirring stories yet to come out of World War II. The book itself has ranked high with critics and the public, and the film is rated as one of the year's most meritorious.

There'll Be Room For Shipping Those Christmas Gifts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Merry Christmas from the ODT! Despite the transportation problem, there won't be any government restrictions on Christmas packages next Yuletide, nor on Christmas cards.

That was the answer of the office of defense transportation yesterday when government agencies were asked whether carloads of Christmas mail still would be permitted to roll across the country as in the days when munitions and airplane parts weren't competing for space.

The postoffice department said it hadn't thought about the matter yet, but ODT already had delved into the problem and come up with the answer given above.

The bundles for soldiers and kinfolk will move mainly in box-cars, ODT said, and it appears there will be "a comfortable supply" of such cars even though "open-top" cars, like coal cars and flatcars, are in direct need.

Christmas cards travel in railway express cars, also plentiful enough.

But just one reminder—the war department last Sunday advised early mailing of those all-important bundles for the fighting men overseas.

Just before the start of the European war, United States custom receipts were $300,000,000 a year.

Theatres Will Direct Sept. Bond Effort

The motion picture industry, which already has been well up at the front in promoting sale of War Bonds and Stamps, takes over the whole job of leadership for the month of September. This industry has been named by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau to spearhead the month's effort, just as retailers served in that duty for July. A billion dollar national sale is the target.

Already the local theatres are lining up for special efforts during September—counting on the help, of course, of all local committees directing Bond sales and volunteers who have registered for war work with the ODT.

Although the program is still in the making locally, J. E. Robb of the R&R houses already has conferred with County Chairman Ira Thurman on plans for special rallies. The R&R theatres will be designated as official Bond agencies, and bonds, as well as Stamps, can be obtained at special booths.

"Salute To Our Heroes" month is the title of the September drive. The slogan will be "Buy A Bond to Honor Every Mother's Son In Service." People who buy bonds through the theatres will be asked to make the purchase in tribute to some service man, and will be given a card to send to that service man, letting him know that the folks at home are fighting the war, too.

Navy Action Is To Be Seen In 'Torpedo Boat'

Uncle Sam's swift water wasps, the hard-hitting P. T. boats of the Navy, share the spotlights with film stars Richard Arlen and Jean Parker in "Torpedo Boat," Paramount's thrill romance billed for today and Monday at The Queen theatre.

Newest in the series of exciting action films and produced by William H. Pine and William C. Thomas, a series that included such hits as "Power Dive," "Forced Landing" and "Flying Blind," this latest on the list sets a new high for dash and speed. "Torpedo Boat" has something else, an element lacking in its predecessors, its close link with the hot news of naval warfare that rolls daily off the presses of every newspaper in the land.

The picture's roaring action scenes show graphically how danger strikes the cockpit every moment that these fleet fighting ships are at sea. Tiny water mites, almost invisible to the commander of an enemy ship because they ride so low in the water and move with such flashing speed, torpedo boats handle like racing automobiles. They can turn on a dime while traveling at full speed.

Richard Arlen is cast as a daredevil speed boat pilot who has invented a new type of torpedo boat, a smaller, faster, more dangerous weapon than the standard P. T. boats of the Fleet. His idea calls for swarms of these tiny "stingers" to be carried by a mother ship close to enemy bases or close to the enemy fleet. Once within striking distance, they would be released for quick slashing attacks on the enemy, returning to their mother ship after their lethal work is done, much as airplanes return to the decks of a carrier.

Western—A saga of the real west, with action and suspense piled up to give you thrills, is "In Old California," the Lyric theatre's offering for today and Monday. John Wayne and Edgar Kennedy are seen here as two of the principal players. Binnie Barnes and Patsy Kelly have the major feminine roles.

Most of the picture's spine-tingling action takes place when the Navy, seeking new weapons at a time of national peril, puts the speedy boats to the test. Against this background of roaring motors, of tiny ships being hurled through the sea at 70 miles an hour, Paramount has developed a poignant love story of the men who build and man the Fleet's "Mosquitoes" and of the women who inspire them to deeds of derring-do.

At The Queen—Here's a scene from "Torpedo Boat," a deadly torpedo fleet which is the top attraction for today and Monday at the Queen theatre. Richard Arlen and Jean Parker are the stars.

New Type Aquatic Power, Designed By W. K. Edwards, Gets Attention

Mathematically it hasn't got a Chinaman's chance. It just won't work on paper.

But put it in the water and the thing makes a liar out of formulas and figures.

In a nutshell this is the story about a new type of aquatic power proposed by a West Texas landlubber—W. K. Edwards, Sr., son of a pioneer rancher and inventor of more things than you can easily count.

Instead of a propeller for power, Edwards has developed the idea of using a Helecoild screw, the same sort of a screw which augers used along through in grist mills, etc. Applied to the base of a tug or boat, it has the same effect as putting a tractor on treads.

Edwards, who resigned his position in the appliances and repair division of the Naval Air School at Corpus Christi, is here for a few weeks before going east to follow up on his newest invention—one that has attracted interest in the navy department and among the merchant marine.

He got his first idea along this line months ago while watching a well on the Steve Currie ranch below Garden City through out a six inch stream of water. Investigation showed that there was no pumping apparatus, just one of these Helecoild screws jerking water up from below.

Makes a Model
If this screw will pull up a shaft, why won't it pull a boat through water? Edwards couldn't figure out why not so to prove the point to his own satisfaction he made a model. Propelled by a quarter horse power electric motor, it took off across a ranch tank like an untied coon.

Four months ago when Edwards went to the NAB he had a chance to see more of seagoing equipment, and then when talk of barges popped up, he remembered his working model back in West Texas.

Reports of screws from torpedoed ships constantly being adrift without oars brought it to a head. Edwards conceived applying the screw power principal to lifeboats. With a draw bar down the middle, occupants of a boat could propel it by pulling and pushing together.

When he came out with this drawing, those who had dealt in aquatic power hooted the idea.

"I had to write out here and get Little Bill to send me the model to show them," he said.

Catches Interest
At the Rice Bros. Boat Works at Rockport four representatives of the company promised to give the model a five minute inspection. They tied it to an 18-foot skiff and out on the power. Slowly but steadily, it began to haul the skiff around. Instead of minutes, they spent several hours trying to figure it out. They came to the conclusion that it wouldn't possibly work but it most certainly was working.

R. R. Rice, head of the firm, said that "I was astonished at the tremendous pulling power of this toy." He went on to say he thought it might have great possibilities.

Edwards figured that it develops four times more pulling force with one third less power than the conventional marine propeller. It has five times more surface space than the regular propeller and can develop more speed, its inventor claims.

Edwards figured twin screws could be put beneath a tug to tow several barges. Motive cost would be about $5,000, he thought. Because of its shallow draft, he figured it would be especially useful for tug purposes. Soon it may get some real tests to see if it can do the job as promised.

O'Daniel Rakes Newspapers; Allred Asks Check On Expenditures

Isolationist Charges Are Denounced

HEARNE, Aug. 15. (AP)—The Brazos bottoms folks drove up from their farms and townships left their shops and homes to gather around Senator W. Lee O'Daniel's sound truck today, listening attentively as he asked re-election despite the numerous foes he said opposed him.

Here and earlier at Belton he went over his familiar denunciations of "labor leader racketeers," those who called him isolationist, and the farm program of his rival, James V. Allred.

The senator added to this collection of arguments a renewed blast at newspapers, concentrating his fire on the Dallas Morning News.

He devoted three broadcasts, each of 15 minutes, to the News, calling it "the great grandmother of this corporation-owned press in Texas."

The paper has fought him ever since he entered public life, he said, and in its editorials makes stirring remarks about him. "James Stephen Hogg was the greatest statesman of his day," said O'Daniel, and "when the News could not control him they sought to destroy him."

The candidate denounced the News for printing on Aug. 4, he said, an article saying: "One war at a time. If you can't fight, at least don't hinder. W. Lee O'Daniel is a hinderer. If you don't believe it, see whom hinderers are voting for. You know Texas geography. You know where German sympathizers live. Read the returns and come to your senses." O'Daniel said this meant "that I and a majority of those people who are supporting me in this campaign are German sympathizers, and, therefore, in league with Hitler in his effort to destroy democracy." This, he said, he considered one of the "basest pieces of attempted character assassination that was published in this state of Texas."

But the senator did not fire all his shots at the News. "I see by the morning papers," he said in Belton, "that my yes-man opponent is defending these politically-controlled newspapers. Well, that makes it mutual—he's defending them and they're defending him."

"That defends everybody but the people," (Yesterday Allred defended the right of papers to report political campaigns).

There were more words in both towns for Allred's 25-cent cotton pegging plan. O'Daniel scornfully saying the idea amounted to a cellophane should cotton go p to 39 cents as it did in the first big war. (Allred has proposed a peg of "at least" 25 cents on cotton).

O'Daniel goes on from here to Madisonville, Conroe and Hempstead today. When he finishes he will have 25 speeches behind him this week, all made on a sweeping tour of Texas from Fort Worth westward to Dalhart and curving southeastward to near Houston.

Chicago Ladies No Longer Can Put Feet On The Rail

CHICAGO, Aug. 15. (AP)—Ladies lifted their drinks from bars in Cook county and the city for the last time at midnight tonight—at least that's what the city fathers hoped.

Twin editors by city and county officials, effective at midnight, forbade serving liquors to "any female person x x x unless she is seated at a table removed from any bar, counter or shelf x x x."

The ordinance, providing fines for tavern owners caught in violations, range from $25 to $200 in the city, and from $50 to $1,000 in the county plus jail terms.

Market Finishes Recovery Week

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. (AP)—The stock market today finished its first recovery week in more than a month with a fairly resistance appearance.

The Associated Press average of 50 stocks was unchanged at 36.6 but showed a net gain of 4 on the week. Transfers of 126,900 shares compared with 101,100 last Saturday.

At the outbreak of war there were 1,100,000 axis nationals in the United States.

Our Ally, Mexico Japs Tried Tricks At Mazatlan

INTERNED—Japanese ordered to leave the Pacific coast of Mexico dine out-of-doors on a Japanese-owned ranch near Mexico City, where numbers have been interned by the Mexican government for the duration of the war. Un-guarded, they are permitted to work on farms near their new home. Others have been sent to Guadaluajara, also well inland.

By SAM JACKSON

Wide World Features Writer (Last of a Series)

MAZATLAN, Mexico — Some idea of Japanese military preparations at this—the most strategic port between San Diego and Panama—lies before me in the form of a panoramic picture.

It is of postcard depth but about two feet long. For giving a detailed picture of a seaport, its buildings, islands, bays and defenses, it is the most complete thing imaginable.

At the lower right corner appears the legend, "Fot. V. Tokyo." This evidently means "fotografia" (photograph) via Tokyo, and is equivalent to our own required labeling of foreign-made goods. I bought it from a street hawk for the equivalent of an American nickel.

In it you can clearly pick out the great market which is the nerve center of the place, you can trace every main street, spot every business building and determine the bays, beaches and islands of this broken harbor.

If there were simply a business venture to sell nickel reproductions to a trickle of tourists it was a bold one. In the light of events it probably would be recognized as a military picture of prime importance, with the Japanese "paying part of the freight" by selling it back to peddlers.

The headquarters of General Lazaro Cardenas is out of the picture, but at the time it was taken he could scarcely have taken up his war-time command of west coast defenses.

The fact that he made this his base of operations shows its importance. The surrounding country is largely, but not entirely, desert. To the north it is nearly 800 miles airline to the American border. There is no auto road through the great deserts of Sinaloa and Sonora and the sole transportation is via the Southern Pacific of Mexico.

However, Mazatlan affords access to the great inland railroad center of Northern Mexico, Terreon.

In enemy hands, it also would demonstrate the 700-mile-long Gulf of California. On the map this looks pretty serious, for the gulf leads right up to the Colorado river, the wealthy Imperial valley of California and hence to Los Angeles.

But army officers I have talked with do not take this back-door invasion very seriously. The land on both sides is almost completely desolate. The Colorado is not navigable for large vessels and it has a tremendous tidal bore which makes operation of small craft difficult and dangerous.

There are only fragments of roads stretching down into the desert from American border towns and they have been the scenes of many tragedies of heat and thirst.

However, as long as ten years ago there was an active fishing colony at LaBomba, 60 miles south of Mazatlan. For a time, Americans who could get their trucks over the desert trail did a thriving business buying gulf sea bass 6 feet long or so for 10 cents apiece. All the fishermen were Japs.

Soldiers Must Have Permission To Wed British Girls

LONDON, Aug. 15. (AP)—A three-month cooling-off period for soldiers who want to marry British girls was ordered today by United States army headquarters. Regimental commanders may authorize marriage of enlisted men. Officers, warrant officers and nurses still must get permission of the area commander.

Few Redemptions Of War Bonds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (AP)—The treasury said today that "redemptions of war savings bonds have been insignificant in volume, compared either with the total amount outstanding or with month-by-month sales."

In July, a statement said, the public turned in $25,500,000 worth of bonds for cash, which was 0.23 per cent of the $11,077,800,000 worth of savings bonds sold since 1935, or about three per cent of the $900,000,000 worth of new war bonds sold during the same month.

Large Crowd Hears Jimmy At Hillsboro

HILLSBORO, Aug. 15. (AP)—James V. Allred today suggested a checkup on the money he said W. Lee O'Daniel is spending on radio time.

Allred asked an audience on the Hillsboro courthouse square to listen to his 1:15 p. m. daily broadcast, adding "I haven't the money for big statewide radio hookups which cost more than any other form of campaigning."

"It costs me $450 for fifteen minutes on the air. Some people are on the air as much as four times daily. You better check up on them," he continued without referring to his senate runoff opponent by name.

A retired farmer, J. H. Riddlehuber, helped Allred link O'Daniel with the isolationist senators in the Hillsboro talk.

"That was W. Lee O'Daniel. I know who it was," Riddlehuber shouted from the audience as Allred explained that if he called the names of all the senators who voted with leading isolationists he would be "accused of slithering mud."

At another point, Riddlehuber drew laughs by exclaiming "then we will be playing Beautiful Texas," a song O'Daniel composed, as Allred asserted there must be no peace until all enemy munitions factories are "bombed off the face of the earth."

The Hillsboro crowd, largest afternoon audience to hear Allred during his runoff campaign, laughed at his jibes at his opponent and cheered as he declared U. S. soldiers must not be stopped until they had carried the fighting to enemy soil.

But faces quickly became serious as the speaker briefly traced events in the Philippines and blamed the lack of supplies and men there on those who "denounced the president as a war monger" when he wanted to prepare "to meet those yellow Japs."

"What a monument it was to the Wheelers and the Nyes and those who fought my president," he shouted of the defeat on Bataan and Corregidor.

One woman, Mrs. Callie Walker, sat occasionally drying her eyes and clutching a little grandchild. Later she said two of her nephews were in the service and "we don't know where they are. The war has been brought home to our family."

"By their votes you shall judge them," Allred cried at one point. "Senator Connally didn't vote with the Wheelers and Nyes. He voted with the president."

Allred explained his pension record at length, declaring he "started old age pensions in Texas." "Right now a lot of misguided old people are going around talking about Jimmy Allred and nearly half the money they are drawing was raised under my administration."

Earlier Allred told a crowd at Tom Connally's home town of Marlin that the senator "never will get on the radio and denounce those people he has to work with."

Satterwhite Farm Yields 505-Pounder

Howard county had ginned the first bale of its 1942 cotton crop Saturday and had three and a half more ready to go through gin stands and into presses.

Initial bale of what may prove to be one of the county's shortest crops, unless Saturday rains bring out hard hit cotton, came from the W. S. and R. B. Satterwhite farm in the Center Point area and was handled at the Farmers Gin Co. of which W. S. Satterwhite is manager. Thus, no price was posted for seed or lint.

The bale weighed out, 525 pounds, pulled out strict middling 7-8ths. It came from a streak hit hard by a mid-summer hail which defoliated the section and left it to open more quickly. The Satterwhites picked out the bale and brought it to town at 7 p. m. Friday but it was not ginned until Saturday 10 a. m.

First cotton to come to town was from the E. L. Warren farm, but Warren sent out about half a bale aboard when pickers cleaned his open cotton Friday noon. It was in storage at the Farmers Gin Co.

Before the first bale was ginned Saturday, A. H. Neven, farming on the Mrs. Maggie J. Neves place 14 miles northwest of town, rolled into town and was at Planters Gin awaiting the completion of regular pre-season repairs.

Two more bales came in to the Co-Op Gin soon afterward. Ray Shorter, who farms in the Elbow area, and W. L. Townsend, who operates the old Clay Road place just east of town, each put a bale of seed cotton in the warehouse.

The first bale was 11 days ahead of last year when Aubrey Weaver brought in the opener from the J. B. Pickle farm on Aug. 26. In 1940 H. A. Davis brought in the first bale on Sept. 1, and F. A. Futch had the first one on Aug. 18, 1936. Other first bale dates in recent years are: Sept. 2, 1935; Aug. 13, 1937; and Aug. 18, 1938.

STANTON, Aug. 15—The first bale of the 1942 cotton crop was ginned Saturday by the Farmers Gin & Cotton Co. It was brought in by J. A. Jones off his farm in the Tarzan community and weighed 525 pounds. Jones has 128 acres in cotton this year and says that it will make one-third of a bale to the acre. Last year off 52 acres he gathered 59 bales. Last year the first bale received was August 25th.

Another Officer At Glider School Gets Promotion

It's beginning to look as if Sgt. Major Harry M. Mullens will follow Lieut. John Stanton Bowers through his army career.

Sgt. Maj. Mullens was at Luke Field, Phoenix, Ariz., and made out the papers on Jan. 9, 1942 for a second Lieutenant's commission for Bowers. Friday he had the privilege of making out papers which effected orders for promotion of the officer to the rank of first lieutenant.

Lieut. Bowers was the second officer connected with the Big Spring Pre-Glider school to receive a promotion during the week. Friday morning Clem L. Swagarty was given his silver bars of first lieutenant. Last week Capt. William E. Grass was elevated to that rank. He has been commander of the school since it opened here in June.

Lieut. Bowers, 24, is a former resident of Corcoran, Calif., and attended Polytechnic college for three and a half years before becoming a sales engineer. He left this position, however, to become an aviation cadet at Hemet, Calif., and finish at Luke Field. Subsequently he made a good record at Las Vegas, Nev., gunnery school before being transferred to the glider pilot training program at Twenty-nine Palms, Calif. Like Capt. Grass, he is one of comparatively few men who wear both the regular and glider pilot wings of the air corps.

500 Expected For Baptist Brotherhood Encampment

Plans are being rounded out here to entertain 500 men at the second annual Baptist Brotherhood Camp on Aug. 24-25.

This was the anticipated attendance toward which laymen of Baptist churches in district No. 8 are pointing when two outstanding denominational figures will address the meeting. Approximately 200 were on hand for the opening session of the first camp meeting last year, said the Rev. W. C. Harrison, Odessa, district missionary, and despite transportation difficulties he believed the enlarged program would attract twice as many this year.

Dr. W. W. Melton, Dallas, Baptist state secretary, will speak twice at the meeting, both times on the second day. C. S. Cummins, Abilene, state Brotherhood president, will bring the principal message of the first evening.

A big barbecue will launch the meeting at 8 p. m. Aug. 24, and services will follow an hour later. The following morning there will be a morning worship led by Lyman Wren, Snyder, and Owen Taylor, Lamesa, and an evangelistic conference headed by the Rev. Judson Prince, Odessa. C. G. Murray, Midland, district Brotherhood president, will speak before Dr. Melton's address. A highlight of the concluding afternoon's program will be a grove prayer meeting led by R. W. Smith, Odessa. The meeting will be held at the Baptist encampment grounds in the city park here, and men attending will bring their own bedding and "rough it" for a night.

Pays $10 For Scrap To Give Uncle Sam

DENISON, Aug. 15 (AP) — Bob Lockler, Denison grocer, figures that Uncle Sam needs metal more than money so he paid $10 to get a few pounds of scrap to donate to the city's salvage drive.

Several years ago, he filled an old well at his home with scrap metal. This week, when the government asked for the scrap, Lockler paid $10 to have the metal salvaged. Valued at far less than it cost to retrieve it, the metal was donated to a junk dealer "because it's almost worth its weight in gold to the war effort."

Absent Voting Ends Tuesday

Heaviest run for a single day on absentee ballots for the second democratic primary was recorded in the county clerk's office Saturday as the total was swelled to 143.

This figure compared with 89 already turned in Friday. Saturday's check was made at about two hours before closing time and it appeared likely that the figure would approach 200 before the day's end.

All absentees must be in by office closing time Tuesday, or if mailed they must be postmarked not later than that date. That leaves only two more week days remaining for ballots to be cast.

Hearing On School Budget Slated For Monday Night

Public hearing on the Big Spring independent school district's budget for the 1942-43 period is scheduled for 8:30 Monday evening; and following approval of the fiscal schedule, trustees are due to approve a list of teachers for the year and to set a school opening date.

Indications are that students will be called to report on Tuesday Sept. 8, following the preliminary faculty sessions on Sept. 7.

While there have been many resignations from the faculty, Supt. W. C. Blankenship said he had many applications, and was expected to recommend election of a full staff.

The budget calls for expenditures of approximately $180,000, including around $12,500 in teacher pay increases voted at the last meeting. Estimated receipts are placed at $175,226, to which, for budget purposes, is being added $12,000 cash on hand.

Remember YOU Must Help Finance War Production

America's industrial resources are rapidly reaching the goal of peak production when they will be capable of turning out planes, guns, ships and tanks in the quantities necessary to win this war. To avoid inflation the government is depending on funds borrowed from the current income of individual Americans to finance this vast war effort. That's why it's so important for everyone to set aside a certain sum each week with which to buy War Bonds and Stamps. Our American men are giving up everything, even their lives, to help win this war. Can you turn a deaf ear when Uncle Sam merely asks you to LEND your country your money? Fishermen Flock To Moss Creek Lake Opening; Success Varied

352 Permits Are Issued On First Day

Landlocked fishermen Saturday swarmed around Moss Creek lake to alternately hit the jackpot or moan over fisherman's luck.

Before the day was through, 352 fishing permits had been issued on the opening day for the city lake 10 miles east of Big Spring.

Just how many fish came out on strings and how many more might have been fatally hurt in handling was not certain, but it was safe to say that at least 1,000 to 1,500 of keystone size were hauled off for frying pan duty.

As usual, city officials regretted to say, there were a few fishing hogs who apparently not only exceeded their limits, but who ceased back in for a second hitch at the casting banana.

Those flocking to the lake Sunday probably will be stopped at the gate going out, be asked to list their catches and submit them to weighing if necessary. As a result of some checking out on one catch and coming back to fish on the permit later in the day, the number per catch likely will be listed on the back of the permit when exit is made.

Long before sunrise Saturday, the road outside the lake gate began to look like the starting line for a land rush. Fishing was underway by 6:45 a. m. and before the sun came up shortly after 7 a. m., more than 150 fishermen were crowding around banks and bulging from a few boats.

From then to mid-morning the fish were biting pretty good. Amateurs and experts were dragging them out alike. Bass were by far most predominant—12 to 14 inch beauties being the rule. Game warden proponents were fishing the casters to a standstill as inshore biting went on at a brisk pace. There were reports of a few three and four pound bass.

For a time, there was somebody about every 20 to 30 feet either dropping a live bait nearly off the bank with a resounding plunk or whipping a plug further out with a stinging reel for accompaniment.

Some doubtless kept fish that needed the stretcher put to them, but most reluctantly measured to make sure they were of keeping size. Because this was the first time the lake has been opened since stocking, fish were of unusually uniform size.

Various strings had blue channel catfish, but these were not biting like the bass. In a few cases where big blues were hooked, they ignored the rule book and snapped at artificial bait. Here and there more confident fishermen flicked away with fly rods and others more simply equipped with worm bait to jerk out a few calico bass, bream, and crappie.

So heavy was the demand, that less than an hour after fishing had begun, a supply of hundreds of minnows maintained in a trough by Frank Covert, lake superintendent, had been exhausted. He had hopes of getting more for Sunday, but was not positive.

Covert said Saturday night that if the weather cleared Sunday he anticipated a much larger crowd than Saturday. He attributed the slackening of biting during the afternoon to the apparent fact that it was the first time there had been fishing in the lake and his "pets" were just plain scared.

Stagg Urges Football Course For Ministers

STOCKTON, Calif., Aug. 15 (AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg, the dean of America's football coaches, advanced a novel idea on the eve of his 50th birthday.

Students for the ministry, he said, should consider a year of football a prerequisite of their calling.

Tonight the beloved coach was speeding by train to Chicago where he taught football for 41 years. He will spend a few days vacationing before taking his College of Pacific team out on the Stockton gridiron. He will observe his 50th birthday tomorrow.

Stagg's ideas about preparation of clergymen were told here today. He was talking to Al Philip, husky exponent of the shotgun and discuss throw at College of Pacific, who had never been in a football suit.

"You ought to come out for football this fall," Mr. Stagg suggested.

"Do you think so?" Young Philip countered.

"Aren't you a student for the ministry?" the coach persisted.

"Yes sir, I am."

"Then by all means you should come out. You can get more out of a year of football that will help you in the ministry than in any other course you could take in college."

Philip didn't promise, but he is thinking it over.

Stagg had hoped to spend his birthday tomorrow in Chicago, as a guest of the "C" society of University of Chicago, where he coached so long. But stacks of correspondence from his "boys," many of them in military service, held his attention. More than forty of his letter men at College of Pacific, including six of the nine captains who led his teams here, are in the army or navy. Of them, said the other day, "they will all serve their country well; that I know."

Then he said "I feel the same about winning football games as about winning the war—with this exception—we will do anything to win the war."

Looking 'Em Over

With WACIL M'NAIR

Although nearly every coach in the Southwest conference will tell you that the Texas Longhorns are going to be plenty hard to handle again this year, the Texas squad's loss of lettermen from last year figures about par for the conference. Some of the familiar names that will be missing on the Longhorn roster are Chal Daniel, Jack Crain, Noble Doss, Preston Flanagan, R. L. Harkins, Henry Harkins, Harold Jungblut, Malcolm Kuttner, Pete Layden, Vernon Martin, and Urban Sanders. That is not the entire list of lettermen not returning, but it's enough to let fans know that Coach Dana Bible will have to bring up some new faces for his first string.

Looking at the Longhorns' arch rivals, the Texas Aggies, loss of coaches as well as players has presented a problem. The Aggies also have something else to cope with—something that other schools in the conference will not be worried with, at least on a large scale. Texas A&M is rushing its students through and graduating them ahead of schedule as a help to the war effort, and junior footballers this year will be playing their last season and sophomores will have only one more season left. Four Aggie coaches have gone into service. They are Capt. Dough Bolins, Inf. former track coach and athletic business manager; Lt. Marty Karrow, USNR, backfield and head varsity basketball coach; Pvt. Charlie DeWard, Inf., co-freshman coach and assistant varsity football coach; and Col. Frank Anderson, FA; golf and cross country coach.

In the Border conference where Texas Tech has taken the drivers' seat in pre-football season dope, the situation is practically the same as in the Southwest loop. Some schools have been hit hard, others have fair prospects, and two or three expect to have very successful seasons. Coach Dell Morgan is without a varsity football assistant, but that won't matter much if his material comes through as expected. The Red Raiders are pointing to nothing short of a title this fall.

Last year's co-winners, the University of Arizona and Hardin

Simmons, may give some trouble to all comers. The Wildcats have lost some men to the service and five coaches are gone, but the gaps in the coaching staff are being plugged as best they can, and a good first string will be on hand. Few late facts are known about the Cowboys, except that Coach Warren Woodson had a good bunch of sophomores last year, and that his "T" formation is hard to handle. We also understand that most of his men have enlisted in reserve services and will be left on the campus until graduation, as is the case to a certain extent at Tech. This is fortunate for both teams, as both the Raiders and Cowboys have brisk schedules ahead of them.

Texas College of Mines has lost two head coaches to the navy. Mack Saxon went in as Lieutenant, Lt. 5, in May, and Jack Curdick, after being chosen as Saxon's successor, was given a leave of absence to take a similar commission in June. Jud Williams, Mines drum beater, says that the Muckers will have to carry a small traveling squad this year, but believes they can win six or more of their games.

Poloists Ready For Tourney At Lamesa Today

Unless weather conditions make the field too wet, Lamesa will be the scene of a polo round robin this afternoon, when quartets from Lamesa, Lubbock and Big Spring come together, each against the others.

Going up from here as the Corder team will be Doc Bennett, Rip Smith, Lewis Rix and Sol Cleveland, the last named now a regular on the local squad to replace Gus White, Jr. Gus has dropped polo for a time, getting prepared for a swing at football this fall at A&M.

Lamesa's team will include Gus White, Sr., Elmo Smith, T. B. Fulkerson and Eric Barron. Lubbock is due to send a squad composed of Claude Hurlbert, Charley Smith, Peewee Benton and Bobby Wylie.

Malone Quits Recreation Post Here

K. F. Malone, director for the city-WPA recreation unit here, has submitted his resignation to the district WPA office in Fort Worth, but as yet no action has been taken by officials at that point.

His plans are indefinite, said Malone, who has virtually fathered organized recreational activity in Big Spring. He came here as a director when the program was first launched several years ago and built the department from the ground. Later he was named a district official at San Angelo and when funds were slashed, returned to Big Spring.

What prompted his resignation, he explained, was the fact that under present plans the WPA recreational unit, which must serve city and the air school as well, does not provide for two supervisors.

The supervisor at the air center needs to be a young woman," said Malone. "As it is mapped, the project will not stand two supervisors due to limited appropriations, and I think the thing for me to do is to ease out."

Word came last week that the new recreational program, which also calls for a scolder center and attendant activities as well as the regular community program, had been approved.

An entertainment council and the city previously had expressed the belief that this would be the most practical route to travel in handling the recreational program since USO seldom functions in connection with units as comparatively small as the Big Spring bombardier school will be.

Hogan Leads In Times-Union

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Ben Hogan eased his blistering golfing pace today but even a third-round two-over par 72 failed to dislodge the slender Texan's five-stroke lead in the $5,000 Times-Union open.

Hogan, who compiled a 64 and 68 in his first two rounds, hit the three-quarter mark in the tourney with a six-under par 204, five strokes better than the 209 of handsome Craig Wood, Mamaronck, who shot a great 67 today, and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Philadelphia, who turned in a 72.

Hogan, the game's leading money winner who seems almost certain to add the $1,000 top prize to his earnings at the tourney's end tomorrow, toured the first nine today in regulation figures. Coming in, however, he bogied the 586-yard par 5 thirteenth and the 462-yard par 4 seventeenth.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Dodgers today reduced their squad of active players to 23 by sending Scholby Rowe, veteran pitcher, and Babe Dahlgren, first baseman, to Montreal of the International league under option. Either player may be recalled on 24 hours notice.

TULSA 2, BUFFS 0
HOUSTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Joe Berry, no hit, no run performer against Oklahoma City last Tuesday night, came back with six hit performances against the Buffs tonight and Tulsa took the second game of the series, 2-0. It was Berry's second straight shutout decision and his 17th win of the year.

Hospital Team Ties With Engineers

Suffering defeats at the hands of both current leaders during the week, the Glider Pilots slipped into third place in the city softball league standings, as Architect-Engineers and State Hospital were deadlocked for the first position slot.

All games are producing closer scores than when the reorganized league first opened.

Wallace-Heyne's 7 to 6 victory over Radford Thursday night was gained by a last inning rally which saw five runs cross the plate. Radford was leading 6 to 2 until the final frame, when four hits, linked with a walk and an error gave Bobbye Savage the edge in a pitching duel with Jowers.

The second game Thursday night was equally close, with ABC-Lions nudging State Hospital 4 to 3. However, the game was not recorded against the Hospital in the official standings, as the ABC-Lions have withdrawn from the league and were using some players from another team in the game.

Architect-Engineers tagged the Glider Pilots with their second straight defeat Friday night, as the Glider men went hitless for the entire game. Walks and errors gave them three runs in the first inning and another in the second, but L. D. Cunningham came in to pitch for the Architect-Engineers at this stage of the contest and no more scores were allowed.

Final games of the church league championship will be played on the city park diamond Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. First Methodist and No. 8 Street Baptist have each won one game in the playoff series, and a hard-fought game is expected in the final.

Camilli Gets A Homer To Sink Braves

BROOKLYN, Aug. 15 (AP)—With two out in the ninth inning and his team trailing by a run, Captain Dolf Camilli of the Dodgers blasted his 30th homer of the campaign over the right field wall to score Joe Medwick ahead of him and snatch a 5-4 victory over the Boston Braves today.

The Dodgers used four pitchers in the see-saw struggle, with French going in in the ninth to get the decision, his 19th of the year. The Braves had scored what looked like the winning run in their half of the ninth without making a hit, the result of a walk to Eddie Miller, an attempted sacrifice, a successful sacrifice and an outfield fly.

In the eighth inning Manager Casey Stengel of the Braves was cashed by Umpire Larry Goetz for making a violent protest when Fernandez was called out at first.

PIRATES WIN TWO
CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Chicago Cubs twice today, 2 to 5 and 5 to 7, before a crowd of 11,702. The second game went 11 innings before Frankie Gustine singled home the winning run.

GIANTS FLAIL PHILS
NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Giants won both ends of today's doubleheader with the Phils, 5 to 3 and 4 to 2, the second game going 10 innings before Babe Barns broke it up with a single after two were out.

SOX TAKE TWO
BOSTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Ted Williams led the Red Sox to a double victory over Washington today, belting a homer in the first game with one man on for a 2-1 triumph, and starting a ninth inning rally that brought Boston two runs and a 7-4 edge in the nightcap.

Obie Bristow Is Commissioned In U. S. Air Force

It's Captain J. Gordon Bristow of the U. S. army air forces. The widely known West Texas sportsman, former footballer and one-time coach of the Big Spring Steers, tournament golfer and holder of oil and insurance interests got his call Saturday.

Obie, who offered his services to Uncle Sam some weeks ago and had been "getting in training" with strenuous roadwork since, got his orders by telegram Saturday evening to report at Miami, Fla. for a commanding officers' training school. He will be assigned to MacDill Field, Fla., under the Third Air Force command. He was instructed to "proceed" on August 20. He received a captain's commission, but was not told what his duty assignment will be.

San Antonio Miss Rallies To Beat Mrs. Russell Mann

By DAVE HOFF

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Tennis Betty Jameson became 1942's undisputed champion woman golfer today by winning the Women's Western Golf association's amateur championship to go with the Western Open title she earned in June. These were the only major women's meets held this year since the U.S.G.A. National was cancelled because of the war.

The San Antonio girl defeated the defending champion, Mrs. Russell Mann of Omaha, Neb., 4 and 3, over the 36 hole route of the Sunset Ridge Country club. But she had to wage a thrilling comeback after being two down at the luncheon intermission.

Her greatest misdeed today was the four she traversed today was the outgoing layout in the afternoon, when she won six holes to Mrs. Mann's one, two being halved. That erased the two-down deficit and put the 23-year-old Texas girl in front, three up. And she defended that margin masterfully to the finish on the 34th.

Mrs. Mann did come back briefly to win the 30th and 32nd, but she gained only one hole by the rally since Miss Jameson annexed the 31st in between.

But the 30 year old Omaha girl really blew up on the 33rd, and that was the match clincher. There she teed off first on the short hole and saw her ball land in a lagron beside the green. Betty's drive was square to the putting surface.

Mrs. Mann took a penalty stroke and dropped another ball. This one she booted into a nearby sand trap. Again she swung and the ball sailed far over the green. Lying fourth and with Miss Jameson actually due for a three, Mrs. Mann picked up the ball and went to the next tee, dormie three. Miss Jameson, director of the meet, has announced. Play will be at the San Pedro park diamonds.

TAAF TOURNAY SLATED
SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 15 (AP)—The T. A. A. F. state women's softball tournament will be held here Aug. 25-26. Miss Lou Hamilton, director of the meet, has announced. Play will be at the San Pedro park diamonds.

Nursery Board Has Session

Discussing an expansion program under the administration of the nursery school, the advisory board met this week for re-organization and to fill vacancies on the board.

Mrs. W. J. McAdams was re-elected as chairman and Mrs. Charles Koberg was re-elected as secretary-treasurer.

The board, which is composed of representatives from the city, county, churches, P. E. A., service clubs, University Women, medical profession and schools, will meet each second Thursday of the month at 8 o'clock at the Settles hotel messanine.

Those attending the session were B. J. McDaniel, Grover Dunham, T. J. Robinson, Dr. J. M. Woodall, W. C. Blankenship, the Rev. R. J. Beall, Mrs. Shelby Hall, Mrs. McAdams, Mrs. Darnell and Mrs. Woodward of San Angelo, area directors for the nursery school.

Other members include Shine Phillips, Walton Morrison, Dr. M. H. Bennett and Mrs. Koberg.

Once She Couldn't Can Or Sew, Now She's District Leader In Home Demonstration Club Work

MRS. HART PHILLIPS
... clubwoman

Mrs. Phillips To Be On The State Program

Six years ago when Mrs. Hart Phillips moved from a job in a city to a ranch in Overton she had never canned a fruit or vegetable and had yet to make her first dress. This may seem odd when you consider that Mrs. Phillips is district vice president and one of the most active women in the district in home demonstration work where canning, dress-making and home improvement are the basis of the organization.

But this transformation has come about in the six years that Mrs. Phillips has lived in Overton and in a ranching territory. Not long after she moved from the city, Mrs. Phillips decided she would like to do some canning and called on some of her neighbors for a little advice. Their advice was to join the home demonstration club in Overton and find out not only about canning but a lot of other things. Last year Mrs. Phillips canned over a thousand containers of food, so the advice must have been pretty good.

Her first year in the home demonstration club of Overton, Mrs. Phillips entered a dress-making project, making her first attempt at sewing, and won second prize for the best made dress in the club.

The second year in the work she was made bedroom demonstrator and also served as Overton club president. Then honors came fast to Mrs. Phillips and she was elected as representative to the Home Demonstration council and was named club president for two consecutive years.

Last year she was not only re-elected as club president but was selected as district vice president. In her "spare" time Mrs. Phillips was kitchen demonstrator and remodeled her kitchen.

Monday morning delegates to the Fort Worth state home demonstration association meeting will leave for a three day convention and Mrs. Phillips will be on hand to see District Six take part in the program.

The district will present a program "Food for Freedom" and Mrs. Phillips will be anxious until it goes off because you see she wrote the script and will act as reader.

Program for the state convention is also indirectly a brain child of Mrs. Phillips. When she presided at district six meeting in San Angelo in May, she had the program so well balanced and arranged that Mrs. W. G. Kennedy of Mulahoe, state president, who was in attendance, decided to use the same type of program for the state meeting.

As in other things, like mother, like daughter, works in the Phillips family. Daughter Gwendolyn, although not old enough to be a club woman yet, raised 12 dogs lambs this year as a home project in her home economics course and from all indications is another home demonstration club woman in the making.

Doris Lou Boadle And San Diego Man Marry At Catholic Rectory

Miss Laneous Notes
By MARY WHEALEY

Thoughts when we should be working...

Wonder why it is we are never sleepy at bedtime but right after lunch and early in the morning we can't keep our eyes open. We'd look a lot better. Could be we are material that night watchmen are made of!

Somebody ought to figure out a way to bottle up the warm air in the summer for distribution in the winter and vice versa. That way heaters and stoves, electric fans and air conditioning could be eliminated. It's a wonderful idea, anyway, even if it isn't practical (as level-headed people say).

Since energy is what makes the world go round, that must be why we can't even make a slight push to set it whirling. Too bad that doesn't come in bottles too, energy we mean. On hot summer days everybody could dose up.

Speaking of hot weather, you were weren't you? We saw a rain drop the other day. Like Chicken Little, it fell on our head and scared us to death. Unaccustomed as we were, it was a minute or so before we had the situation figured out and well in hand.

Farmers out in these parts are our nomination for the world's biggest optimists. From our corner it looks like it is always too little rain, too much rain, too many bugs or not enough bugs between the farmer and a good crop. Yet they plant every year and seem to make a living too.

Wonder why cooks can't come out about this time of year, with new styles in food, like the dress-makers do with clothing. At least, they could leave the parsley off the plate or substitute an onion, just for the heck of it. What a lovely surprise that would be.

Cosden Chatter--

By TOMMIE McCRARY

A great deal of sentiment is expressed in the plague hanging in our office which reads:

"Proudly we pay tribute to the members of our organization who answered the call to colors."

J. B. Allen, T. A. Harris, Roy Baird, Virgil Rutledge, M. R. Koger, W. E. Pate, R. C. Thomas, Floyd B. Miller, C. B. Long, Edwin Hallmark, J. C. Morgan, J. P. Eggert, H. O. Huggins, R. Schwarzenbach, Leonard Skiles, V. B. McCoslin, G. Neal Bumgarner.

Another name is to be added to this list—that of Robert L. Ward who left Friday.

A. G. Talbot of Petroleum Exchange company in Chicago, was a visitor in the office last week. Talbot and Tollett spent Tuesday in South Texas, and Wednesday in north Central Texas looking over oil properties.

Mrs. E. W. Smith has been promoted to the crude oil desk.

Beth Lueddecke is a new employee in the accounting department.

Mrs. Jack Nall says that she had an aquarium in her back yard last week. Fishermen J. L. LeBleu, Jack Nall, Hawkshaw Phillips, Wiggins, Jack Reed, R. D. Lane, Emmett Russell, Paul Holden, Doc Petty and Speedy Nugent had their bait in her fish pond ready to take off to the city lake when it opened Saturday.

The bait consisted of shiners, red horses, spot tails and tiger minnows. Jitter bugs, dopes, ding bats and river runts were a part of the artificial bait. Maybe one of these fishermen will have a long tall fish story to tell next week.

Velva Glass was taken to a hospital here Friday with typhus fever.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stittler left on vacation Saturday. They will visit in Fort Worth, Austin, Taylor and San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Harris and daughter, Carolyn, are leaving for Scottsville, Ky., today for a two weeks vacation with parents and relatives.

Lieut. Reynard, Who'll Rule The WAVES

By ADRIANNE KEENE

Wide World Features Writer.

Elizabeth Reynard has crammed more claims to fame into 43 years than most people make in a lifetime.

Her latest is her new job as assistant director of the WAVES. Before that she was decorated for work in the last World War, explored glaciers, taught English at Barnard College with whopping success, authored a book and, in 1941-42, directed Barnard's National Service Training, preparing women for various types of war work.

Since early May she has been working with the U. S. Navy as special assistant to Rear Admiral Randall Jacobs, helping to lay the groundwork for the Women's Reserve. So she has had part in the service from the ground up.

War Work Veteran

Lieutenant Reynard was born in Boston, daughter of a cotton broker and granddaughter of a whaling captain. She traveled much as a child and never went to school, until she entered college. She was in Paris when the last war was declared, did extensive work in France, England and Belgium in her teens and, at 20, was decorated by the Belgian government for her work in placing the first amusement huts behind the Belgian lines. Then she returned to America and entered Barnard College. After she was graduated in '22 she became a member of the teaching staff and remained until '41, with the exception of two years which she spent at Oxford University, England, to obtain a B.Litt degree, and another taken to write "The Narrow Land" (folk chronicles of Cape Cod). She is now on leave of absence from Barnard.

Miss Reynard is a slender woman with blue-as-the-sea eyes and a fluffy pepper-and-salt bob. Up to now her chief claim to fame has been the color and zing which she managed to smack into the routine job of teaching. Her pupils will tell you she worked them practically breathless and succeeded in making them think—whether they wanted to or not. Her friends talk with some awe about "the things she is everlastingly getting into."

Rambling around an Oxford book shop once, she found and bought for a half crown a volume of Pliny's Natural History. It contained a set of Hans Walditts Woodcuts whose mates sold afterward at Christie's for $28,000. Miss Reynard still has hers.

Exploring Her Hobby

Another time she was exploring Cape Cod when she found and fell in love with a bit of woodland beach. She bought it and built a house there without benefit of architects.

Again, she was riding her hobby, exploring Muir Glacier in Alaska when it was rocked by a "shake" and Miss Reynard fell down. Fissures. It took three guides and four hours to haul her out.

At home she is the typical absent-minded professor. Once, wondering why her head felt so heavy, she went to bed with her hat on. Again, entertaining friends at tea, she lost the teapot after she had poured in the boiling water and looked all over the house for it before she finally found it in the refrigerator.

Lieutenant Reynard probably will be glad to be in uniform. Shopping for clothes bores her. She dresses chiefly in navy blue and always refers to herself as "the woman who looks like a mouse." Her friends say, "Some mouse!"

Mitchell Drive On Bootleggers Gets Results

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 15—A mass meeting called by the Citizens' Committee of Colorado City at Ruddle park for the discussion of law enforcement in Mitchell county brought to light some interesting sidelights of the town's war on bootlegging. Mayor J. A. Sadler cited the effectiveness of the clean-up campaign by pointing out that only four arrests for drunkenness have been made in the city during the past month, the smallest number in any similar period for a number of years.

He added that the city's bill for boarding prisoners in the county jail had dropped from the old average of $30 to $5.40. District Attorney Trust Barber made the main address of the evening, a discussion of the prosecution of felonies from arrest to conviction or acquittal.

The citizens elected by ballot an advisory council of five members. Elected to serve were J. V. Glover, Charles Mosser, Dr. W. B. May, Rev. A. E. Travis and R. J. Wallace.

WE CAN LOSE THIS WAR

The question of whether tens of thousands, perhaps millions, of American boys are to live or die in the next few years is being settled definitely on the fighting front in Russia today. If the Russians are able to hold out and ward off the killing blows of Hitler's war machines, multiplied thousands of young Americans five or ten years hence can thank their lucky stars they are still alive. If Russia crumbles and Hitler triumphs there, untold multitudes of our young American fighting men must make the supreme sacrifice to protect our homes and insure our continued existence as a free people.

are now in immediate danger of losing this war. Many Americans have refused, from the start, to believe that we could lose this war. Many now refuse to believe we are in danger of losing it. Many will not believe we could lose it even if Russia falls. But the hard facts are against them, as Leland Stowe points out. If Russia falls, not only will Hitler remove the most powerful and effective foe he has and the last foe on the European continent, but he will get the raw materials he needs to polish off all other foes. Not only the raw materials, but the productive capacity of great war factories now turning out stuff for Russia. Not only factories, but great masses of slaves to produce the weapons he needs. And Stowe asserts that Turkey, if Russia falls, will almost certainly throw in her lot with Hitler. Stowe's article does not make pleasant reading. War isn't a pleasant business in any sense. But facts are facts, and we Americans ignored or refused to look at the facts too long in years gone by.

Now we cannot ignore them if we would. To recognize the facts is not to lose heart or give up the struggle. We Americans aren't built that way. The moment all of us realize that we could lose the war, we will start winning it; for we will throw everything else overboard and concentrate on the task of not losing it. We haven't done that yet, as anybody knows who reads and listens. Business as usual. Politics as usual. Get while the getting is good. Chisel. Discard and whining complaint. What's there in it? It ain't gonna rain much anyhow. No power or combination of powers on earth can lick this nation when 130,000,000 people get together and throw everything they have into the supreme battle of their lives. We have the means. We must develop the will. And we haven't any more time to fritter away. Stowe closes his dispatch with this observation: It is not yet too late. But it is five minutes to midnight. If midnight strikes and the Caucasus falls without Anglo-American intervention in Europe, there will be no excuse for an American war correspondent to remain in Russia. He will be needed at home to fight in America on the third front—the front against all those who would welcome or tolerate a super-Munich.

Man About Manhattan—

Nobody Wants A Man To Hang Himself On Radio

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—Daredevil Bruffy is a man who craves to be different. He has an act that he is reasonably sure no one will emulate. He hangs himself. That's his hobby. One day he decided to build himself a gymnasium in his basement. This he did, equipping it with saddles, rings, trapezes and swinging bars. He developed his arms and leg muscles. . . . He got strong all over. Then, to stave off boredom, Daredevil Bruffy decided it would be a good idea to develop his neck muscles, hitch a noose around his Adam's apple, and see how long he could swing.

The sponsors wouldn't stand for it. Suppose something went wrong and Daredevil Bruffy hanged himself for keeps, right there on the air. They couldn't take that chance. "But I want to hang on Hobby Lobby," screamed the daredevil. "I want to hang myself before all these people, and I want to have my picture taken hanging on your program." Dr. Elman was adamant. Though his own photographers were present, he thought it necessary to refuse their services. He didn't want Daredevil Bruffy adjusting that noose around his neck again—not in his studios at least. "I'm sorry," he said. "We simply can not take the chance." It was a disappointed daredevil who coiled his noose, picked up his ladder, and slowly ambled out into the street.

That's his racket today. . . . He hangs himself, and by the postcard pictures he gives away of himself it looks on the level. . . . It wasn't until the other day that he came in for a turn on Dave Elman's Hobby Lobby program. They thought it would be a pretty good stunt—a hanging—right on the program. . . . When the rehearsals were called, the Daredevil adjusted the noose, climbed up on the little ladder that is a part of the act, and stepped off into space. . . . Usually, when he has stood as much as he can stand he starts back up on the ladder. . . . On this day he wore a new pair of slippers, and the soles were slippery. Daredevil Bruffy made one pass at the ladder with his shiny new slippers—and slipped. He was just hanging there. Somebody suddenly noticed that the daredevil's face was beginning to turn black. . . . Somebody else screamed, and while a third somebody lifted him up, barely taking the weight of the daredevil's well-developed but sorely tried neck muscles, a fourth somebody set the ladder under the daredevil, and he came out of the aerial dance a little shaken but none the worse. He had, he admitted, lost consciousness for a moment. . . . "But that's nothing," he cried. "Just a slip. . . . It's these new slippers. . . . I'll get my old slippers." But Dave Elman of Hobby Lobby was shaking his head.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds— Maxie Baer Likes Pals, And Has Million Of 'Em

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—Max Baer, everybody's pal, left the sound stage yodeling in a thunderous, horrible baritone. Full of big spirits and Maxie's usual reticence, he strolled in his undershirt over to the studio restaurant, his mammoth shoulders swagging bare in the sun. He was, as usual, surrounded by pals including yours truly—if you've ever met Maxie you're his pal. Scarcely anybody looked up when Maxie entered in his undershirt. He donned a loose jacket he had summoned and, inside of no more than 10 minutes, he had finished his table-hopping and settled down to eat, dividing his pals into two groups. As Maxie would say, what's life without a laugh between pals? The tale of ex-champ Max is brief and to the point. "Every guy's got to learn for himself," he volunteered. "A few years ago I had a chance for a five-year movie contract. I did 'The Prizefighter and the Lady' with Myrna Loy, but what a chump I was! Who's going to keep on paying a guy who's due on the set at 9 each night at 1 o'clock? I had to learn the hard way. Night clubs? I used to close 'em up." Max is a reformed character now. He gets on the set before the director, he says. He stands around and watches how they do it. He wants to be a sure-enough ham. No Romeo stuff for him, of course, not with this mug of his, but he wants to be a big, good-natured, rough character — "a rough but lovable mugg," he describes it. Max did some movies for Hal Roach and now his movie career is blooming into a number of things at RKO — "The Navy Comes Through," "Ladies Day," "The Bachelor."

The Thrill That Comes Once In A Lifetime

He's got a million of 'em. Or 10,000, anyway. He keeps their names on file—names of people who have written him fan letters. In sudden philosophical mood, Maxie reflects upon the profound truth that nobody can have too many pals. He says he's seen too many high-hats take a tumble. At our table is Kent Goodman, a husky bright youngster about to leave for the army. Kent was 13 when he met Maxie and made him his idol. He's Maxie's guest for a couple of weeks. Kent says he and Maxie have been pals ever since they met — "I jumped for joy when Max won, I cried when he lost a fight." Maxie talks about pals again. He remembers the time he was in an elevator with Robert Taylor when Bob was putting off an autograph hunter. Max put Bob straight, he says. That was no way to make pals. . . . At hour's end Maxie grabbed a handful of lunch checks and started signing. Absentmindedly he wrote, "Your pal, Max Baer."

Washington Daybook - - How To Send Letters To Prisoners Of War

By JACK STINNETT WASHINGTON—From the Capital Warfront: Alexei Tolstoy, who bears a name that has been great in Russian literature for several generations, doesn't mince words when he writes in the Soviet Embassy Information Bulletin: "Kill the beast! That is your sacred law. . . . Concentrate all your strength to smite the enemy to the very heart; learn to kill him with the full fervor of hatred. To wipe out Fascism is essential to freedom and happiness. To kill the enemy is your sacred duty to civilization. Cherish your hatred for the enemy. Be proud of it — it is the banner of your victory." Now you know why Hitler has found the Russians hard to crack on the eastern front.

"Postage Free." Letters must be typewritten or written so plainly that no words are in doubt. Name of sender and return address must be on back of envelope. Space should be left on front of envelope for a possible forwarding address. Don't ask me where. The OPA last week "set ceiling prices on book matches; fruit cake; Maine sardines; New Zealand pickled sheepskins." How those boys do get around.

Has His Own Cure For Hay Fever

DALHEART, Aug. 15 (AP)—County Attorney A. W. Salyers doesn't care how medically correct it is, or whether it will work for anyone else, but he's got his hay fever under control. Two to four cups of strong tea, with sugar, every day, have done the job for his own personal brand of sneezing, he says.

Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, called on James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, to stand by his pledge of Dec. 27, 1941 ("Each and every member of the federation and its officers pledge themselves on this occasion to do everything possible to aid in the fight for freedom . . . to fight with every weapon at their command . . . the federation dedicates itself to MUSIC FOR MORALE"). Davis said that he asked this: "On behalf of the people of the United States, and on behalf of the War Department, the Navy Department, the Marine Corps, the Coast Guard, the Treasury Department, Office of Civilian Defense, and the Office of War Information. . . . As far as 'on behalf of' go, that's what we call swinging in the groove."

Urges Care To Halt Costly Grass Fires

AUSTIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—State Fire Insurance Commissioner Marvin Hall declared today that grass fires in Texas are so numerous at present that conditions have reached near alarming proportions and called upon Texans to exercise extreme caution where fire might start in dry grass or weeds. Texas, Hall declared, "can ill afford the consequences of scorched earth policy at a time when all our material resources are badly needed for the fighting forces." Even boys and girls are mobilized in Britain. Seven out of every 10 between the ages of 14 and 17 are doing war work.

WILDERNESS GIRL By LETA ZOE ADAMS

Chapter Six THE SOOTHYSAYER For a moment Sandy watched the lithe figure of the girl. He was conscious of confused emotions, a haunting curiosity to know more about her, disappointment, and smouldering anger for the nonchalant way in which she had disposed of his request to travel with her party. He pushed through the throng, then, and came upon McIntyre, Gil and Helen before one of the booths where Helen was making a purchase. Gil lifted a questioning brow and Sandy gave a slight shrug. He did not think it wise to tell McIntyre the outcome of his interview. Helen turned from her appraisal of a little rosewood box to glance up at Sandy. Her eyes held a question, too, but of a different kind. "You weren't gone long," she said. "I didn't take long," Sandy answered non-committally. Presently they moved on, McIntyre talking about the natives.

"Here is something that might interest you," he interrupted himself to remark, "A curandera." It was not a regular booth before which he had stopped, but a corner between two booths. Squatted there was an aged woman surrounded by little pottery jars. A pungent incense rose in a thin, gray smoke from a shallow bowl placed on a mat before her. She looked up at the group and said something in the native dialect, which Sandy only partly understood. For the benefit of the others McIntyre translated. "She tells you that she can cure any malady, drive out evil spirits, change luck from bad to good, or overcome a pending tragedy. She says she can even ward off death if an owl has hooted over the rooftops." "Quite somebody," Gil said. "I've run into some of them in Mexico City and Yucatan." He placed a small coin upon the mat in front of the old woman. "To buy myself a little luck," he remarked. Sandy started to turn away but the old woman fixed her eyes upon Gil and began to speak slowly, jerkily, spacing her words. McIntyre listened with attention. "Otea is a real soothsayer. She has just told you that you're about to embark upon a hazardous journey." Sandy grinned. "She is probably shrewd enough to know that we are not in Onha for our health."

"If you put another coin on her mat she may tell you more," McIntyre suggested. Gil drew a few coins from his pocket. "I've always liked a gamble. I'll risk a few centavos." It Might Mean Death. The woman was silent a moment, then gesturing dramatically with a withered arm, began jabbering. The four stood still, watching curiously, until she had finished. McIntyre's shaggy brows worked. "She says you will see strange and wondrous sights." "Cheering news, if not exactly original," uttered Gil. "There will be great dangers. You will overcome many of them." "What about the rest?" Helen asked quickly. "She said something rather odd. 'Two of you will pass through a rainbow.'" "Alice in Wonderland stuff," Gil jeered. "They talk in symbols," McIntyre said. "A rainbow could be a good many things. I suppose. No use asking her. She won't tell any more." "Could it mean—death?" Helen questioned, her eyes round and solemn. "It might well mean just that." "Does she think we should not go? Ask her, Mr. McIntyre," Helen directed. He put the question and the old woman answered at once with a sweeping gesture. McIntyre translated. "She says you have no choice. It is the same as, 'It is written.'" "Let's move on," Sandy said, his voice crisp. He thought: "This sort of thing is bad for the morale on the eve of an expedition. Why in blazes did we have to stop and hear it?" He wished the others would have enough so they could all leave. But they showed no sign of it. Helen had stopped at another booth where lacquer ware was being sold and was inquiring about shipping things to the States. Helen's voice roused him with a start. "Penny for your thoughts, Sandy."

Nazis Take Back Claim That U. S. Carrier Was Damaged

LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The German high command today withdrew its claim that the U. S. aircraft carrier, Wasp had been damaged in the great western Mediterranean convoy battle but officially reported that the running fight was over with six British men-o-war and 15 merchant ships or tankers sunk.

Backing down from their official report of yesterday that the Wasp was hit by six bombs and set on fire, the Germans said it was a British aircraft of the illustrious type that was damaged.

The axis, however, was unable to get together on its broadcast claims, for the Italians told the world that the battle was continuing; that a destroyer and two cruisers had been damaged yesterday by torpedoes and bombs and that torpedo planes had hit the prow of a battleship.

Unofficial, Italian reports further said that larger units of the Italian surface fleet had no opportunity of giving battle as the battleships escorting the convoy abandoned it and withdrew to Gibraltar shortly after the air and submarine attacks were opened.

The British already have spiked that fantasy with an official admiralty report that enemy cruisers which sought to intercept the convoy turned tail and fled when attacked by British aircraft.

The British admiralty, meanwhile, added nothing to its previous announcement that the aircraft carrier Eagle and the cruiser Manchester were sunk and that considerable supplies and fighter planes were rammed through the axis gantlet to reinforce Malta.

"I might turn out differently. I don't get you."

"Well, she's attractive. I thought you might find out that you liked her... it would simplify everything. I know it sounds crude, chief, but you'd have your backing. She'd give you anything you wanted, if you married her before we start, and..."

"And I'd be a damn' gigo, Sandy observed.

"Not if you were really fond of her."

As usual, in matters relating to Helen, Sandy felt as a cat must feel when its fur is stroked the wrong way.

"Let's forget the whole blooming subject," he snapped. "I want to talk about my interview with Tyra Fleming. She refuses to allow us to join her party when she returns to the Forbidden Land."

Gil sat up straighter. "I'll be tied to a rattle! What excuse did she give?"

Sandy shrugged. "None, really. First, she tried to talk me out of making the expedition at all. Said it was impossible."

Gil mused. "I thought she looked like a girl who would be kind to stray dogs. She must have some reason, chief."

"If she has she's not telling it," Sandy said. "I offered to pay her, but that didn't even tempt her."

"Then it's back to friend McIntyre, chief," Gil said. "Maybe he knows some other nice people who are aching to help the cause of science."

"It's not back to McIntyre," Sandy stated firmly. "I don't even want him to know that Tyra Fleming has refused her help. Instead, you and I are going to do some underground work so we'll be ready to start at the crack of the gun."

"Meaning what, chief?"

"We're going to trail Tyra Fleming when she starts."

O'Brien Back From Revival At Floydada

The pastor, Rev. Dick O'Brien will be back in the pulpit at the First Baptist church Sunday, after a two-weeks' absence. He has just returned from Floydada, a former pastorate, where he conducted a revival meeting.

Rev. O'Brien will preach at the morning hour on the topic, "Is There Any Word From The Lord?" and in the evening on "Creation and Re-Creation."

F. Marion Simms, Jr., executive secretary of New Mexico Christian Endeavor Union, will be the guest speaker of the Wesley Memorial Methodist church Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Simms has just returned from Estes Park, Colo., where he served for his third year as dean of the Rocky Mountain Christian Endeavor Union Leaders Conference, which is a gathering of leaders of Christian Endeavor from 12 states. It proved to be the largest conference of its history. Mr. Simms was elected as dean for the fourth year.

Dr. P. Marion Simms, Sr., will be guest speaker for the First Christian church Sunday morning. Speaking his first Sunday as pastor of the West Side Baptist church, the Rev. O. D. Carpenter will be in the pulpit for both morning and evening services today as the church closes out a one-week revival campaign in which he has been leader. The Rev. V. Carpenter formerly assistant pastor at the East Fourth Baptist church, was called Wednesday to the West Side pastorate.

Returned from a week's trip into Oklahoma and Kansas, the Rev. Ernest E. Orton, Church of the Nazarene pastor, will speak on "Heavenly Ambassadors" at the morning service and on "Selling Out For a Mess of Porridge."

"Soul" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 16.

The Golden Text is: "My soul shall be joyful in the Lord: it shall rejoice in his salvation" (Psalms 35:9).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "When wisdom entereth into thine heart, and knowledge is pleasant unto thy soul; Discretion shall preserve thee, understanding shall keep thee" (Proverbs 2:10,11).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is harmonious when governed by Soul. Hence the importance of understanding the truth of being, which reveals the laws of spiritual existence" (page 272).

The customary third Sunday services at Center Point will not be held today, it is announced by C. T. Jackson, pastor. A revival meeting will begin there Friday night, Aug. 21, and continue through Sunday, Aug. 30, with Rev. W. E. Lynn of Sudan doing the preaching.

"Lost Scouts" At Odessa For Night, Truck Has Trouble

A truck of "lost Boy Scouts" was finally located after midnight Saturday after frantic mothers the length of the Buffalo Trail council had scout officials on the ropes.

Leaving Mertzon at 11 a. m. after breaking up a week's camp, the truck swung westward to Big Lake, Rankin and McCamey and then north to Crane and Odessa instead of returning as it went down—by Big Spring and San Angelo.

Saturday midnight it finally had straggled into Odessa where scouts were bedded down in the hut. They were to be breakfasted at a hotel there Sunday morning and the trip to Big Spring and Sweetwater resumed.

Jack Hodges, area executive, Dr. W. E. Hardy, Big Spring, district chairman, that the truck had had motor trouble incessantly. Aboard from Big Spring were Billy Bob Chaney, Alford Goodson and Frantz Meiers. Pete Fuglaar and Ben Newhouse, local field executive, returned earlier by car from Mertzon.

Rainfall

only about a quarter of an inch. Sterling City received a nice rain, San Angelo had 3/4 of an inch and Big Lake, to the west, had heavy showers.

Prospects were fair for a repetition of the showers Sunday. The weather bureau predicted more thundershowers with little change in temperatures.

Ranchers, happy over what they had, hoped for more to whip the prairie fire menace, worst in years. Farmers figured cotton, would brighten and in some sections make vastly more as a result of the rain. Others were fearful that it would promote a deluge of worm infestation.

Need Of Air Power Stressed By Lee

SOMEWHERE IN OKLAHOMA, Aug. 15 (AP)—Senator Lee (D-Okla.) said today America's expanding air power offers her only hope of escape from a war between the hemispheres "that would have possibilities of lasting for generations."

Brothers in Service—These two sons of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Newton are in service, one in Australia. Raymond, left, has been in the service one of them in Australia. Raymond, left, has been in the service under. His parents had a cable from him in June saying he was safe and well. Osborne "Red" Newton, right, is in the air corps officers training unit at Las Vegas, Nev. and has been in the corps for 11 months. Both were football stars at Marshall before their parents moved here three years ago.

Here 'n There

Thirteen is indeed an unlucky number, and you needn't argue otherwise to six negroes who entered pleas of guilty to gaming charges. Police picked up 13 of the brethren in a crap game Friday evening. Some of those fined $15 were lucky enough to lay the long green on the line, and it was surmised that they were ahead of the game. Seven of the negroes breathed easier when cases against them were dismissed.

Mrs. Leonard Skiles, whose husband was on Bataan, was on a new lead Saturday that might give her more news of him. In the background of a group of men purported by Japanese sources to be captives at Corregidor one figure looks much like Lieut. Skiles—but she was unable to tell more from the newspaper of the picture. In the meantime, she was given a clipping written by Col. Sage of the 200th Coast Artillery on March 12 (and which his wife just received) mentioning certain of the unit were doing well. Lieut. Skiles was mentioned.

Grocer Assn. Backs Allred

A strong endorsement of James V. Allred for the U. S. senate seat has come from the Texas Retail Grocers' association, officers of which have distributed a letter to members throughout Texas.

The letter which says Allred's ability "gets the job done," was over the signature of W. M. Clark, president, and Roger Q. Flournoy, secretary, and says in part: "The purpose of this association has been, and will always be, one of service. We try to keep informed and pass information on which we think may be helpful, whether it be of merchandising or political character. This time it is to be political, without the slightest thought of dictating to any fingers."

"You can count on your fingers the men of ability, who during the last ten years, have stood up in the halls of Congress and fought in behalf of independent enterprise."

"James V. Allred, before and all through his public service as Attorney General and as Governor, was a champion and crusader in his work for the protection and betterment of the independent grocer. Through his ability he 'got the job done.'"

"Doing and immediately following the war, independent grocers will face their greatest trials. We need men of Judge Allred's thought and ability in the U. S. Senate—men who think right and have the ability to get things done. Our debt of gratitude should prompt us to vote for him, but our welfare demands we elect him to the U. S. Senate."

"We think every independent grocer should not only vote for, but should actively work among friends for the election of Judge Allred. Work not on the demerits of any man, but simply in the interest of independent grocers. The grocers CAN elect Judge Allred. Let's do it."

Dr. C. E. Leighty, head of the dry land division of the department of agriculture at Washington, made his annual inspection of the U. S. Experiment Farm here Friday. He managed to catch it at a time there would not be the slightest doubt but what it was really a dry land station, said Fred Keating, superintendent.

W. D. Berry, scoutmaster of troop No. 3, is planning on taking about 22 of his Boy Scouts on a weekend camp Saturday to a ranch on Bear creek between Junction and Menard.

Tenth Corps Is Activated

SHERMAN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Activation of the Tenth Army Corps with headquarters here, was announced today by Lieut. General Walter Krueger, commanding general of the Third Army at San Antonio. Forming a part of the Third Army, the Tenth Army Corps will be commanded by Major General Courtney H. Hodges, who came here from the command of the Replacement Center and School Command at Birmingham, Ala.

The new corps has been organized according to a master plan of the war department, which calls for coordinated expansion of the armed forces during 1942, the announcement said. The Tenth Army Corps is a tactical command and is not to be confused with a service command, such as the Eighth Service Command (formerly known as an Eighth Corps Area), with headquarters at San Antonio.

Organization of the headquarters here has been underway since May 9. The chief of staff, Col. George A. Davis, arrived May 12 and General Hodges on May 16.

assuming responsibility for quartering new residents for the duration, etc. Sell women on the idea of finding places for these people and we may find space we didn't know we had.

The Howard County Marketing Association is limited now to five women selling better than a case of eggs each week, but folks might do well to keep an eye on this unit as the possible forerunner of more pretentious efforts at cooperative marketing of farm products. If and when it takes hold, the farmer may expect a bit more for his stuff and the consumer better quality when he buys under co-op guarantees.

Speeders are having the quietest put on their heads. Two paid $5 fines in corporate court Saturday for the offense.

One man was determined to get into trouble. At 12:02 a. m. Saturday he was jailed for drunkenness. By morning he had sobered, paid his fine and apparently started out on another drunk. At any rate he was picked up again and held by city authorities for possible action on a drunk driving charge at 2:36 p. m. Saturday. Police also had another drunk driving case to transfer to the county, and a case against a Mexican for assault to murder.

Mrs. A. M. Ripps returned Saturday from a six weeks visit with her sister in Los Angeles, Calif., and reported a great time touring spots in and around the city and along the coast.

Approximately 100 young men who have turned 20 years old since the first of the year may be thanked for many married men (with-out children in the family) for taking up a big selective service slack. The 20-year olds haven't yet, but they are getting questionnaires and that means classification, and classification probably means a call for them. This may mean the board can get by the September call without dipping very heavily into the married who were drawn. It is this: The order, to Teachers were voted salary hikes by the school board last week, and it's too bad it had to take a war to get these. Thanks to good tax collections, the increased cost will be easily met. And thanks to lots of teachers who like their profession so well that they will stick to it even though they make considerably less than a common laborer can make now.

After pondering the rent control information secured during the week, there is one conclusion to get rent back by Oct. 1 to where it rent back by Oct. 1 to where it was March 1 means just about what it says. There are, of course, a few exceptions, but not for the ones who jumped rents just to be jumping.
