Among prominent Texas Baptist men slated to participate on the program are Governor Price Daniel, Secretary of State Zollie Steakley, groceryman Howard Butt, Jr., and seminary professor T. B. Maston. INVALIDS AND MENTALLY ILL MAY GET HELP

Complete and permanent invalids or persons in the community so mentally deranged that they require continuous care to keep from harming themselves or others may soon be able to receive small monthly checks from their State Department of Public Welfare through the new state-federal program of Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled.

The Constitutional Amendment, which was adopted by the voters in November, 1956, limiting the amount of money that can be appropriated for this program to 1.5 million dollars per year, makes aid possible only to those who are helpless and have no relatives able to support them.

John B. Hessey, Welfare Supervisor for this area, pointed out this is the only welfare program which requires consideration of the ability of relatives to support. This law defines "responsible relatives" as children, parents, step-children, step-parents, brothers and sisters. Mr. Hessey said that for the first time in nearly 20 years the Department's Field Workers will be required by law to determine the resources of relatives of persons who apply for aid.

The "permanency" and "totality" of the disability will be determined by a State Reviewing Physician after study of a complete physical or mental examination by the person's own private physician. Complete helplessness from a medical standpoint, rather than inability to work, is the criteria. The state will pay the private physician for his examination.

Funds for assistance payments will not be available until September 1, 1957, but applications will be taken after July 15. While the helpless individual will not be able to leave town, persons responsible for his care may come to the local welfare office and acquaint the Department with his situation. A Field Worker will then call, as soon as possible, at the home to take the application.

Offices in this area are located at the Community Building in Shamrock, Texas, and the Commissioners' Court Room in the Wheeler County Court House, Wheeler, Texas.

WATSON QUITS; SCHOOL BOARD IN BUSY MEET

J. G. Watson, vocational agriculture teacher in Wheeler High School, submitted a letter of resignation to trustees of Wheeler Independent School District at their regular meeting on July 11. Trustees accepted the resignation with regret and requested Supt. Brown to write Mr. Watson and express the board's appreciation for his past services.

Mr. Watson has not publicly announced his reason for resigning but it is known that he has been considering a more attractive offer.

Other business transacted at the board meeting included:

Letting a contract to Wayne Edwards and Dorsie Huteison to repair the roofs of the high school, grade and gymnasium, at a price of $19.75 per square.

Consideration of new accreditation regulations of the Texas Education Agency. It was decided that the high school offer world history, algebra 2, and chemistry during the 1957-58 term and make plans to offer all other required subjects by the 1958-59 school term.

No action was taken on employing another teacher for the upper grades, pending an audit by the Texas Education Agency and determination of some teaching by such additional teacher in high school subjects. The superintendent was instructed to continue every effort to find a replacement for Band Instructor Stanley Mohr. The following school calendar for 1957-58 was approved: opening date, August 30, with holidays on September 2, November 27 and 28, December 20 to 30, January 1 and March 17, plus the date on which the district teachers meeting is held.

It was decided to paint the halls of the grade school.

The First National Bank of Wheeler was named as depository, the school to pay the bank $270 per year and also employ an independent auditor to make the annual report.

Financial reports submitted by the superintendent were studied, showing there would be approximately $4,000 less for maintenance and operation than the past school year. Securing additional money needed would depend on increasing the tax rate, equalizing tax valuations, or collecting delinquent taxes.

Guy Hardin, Shamrock attorney was instructed to continue his efforts to collect delinquent taxes on the same basis as previously contracted.

Motion was made and carried that the tax rate be set at $1.05 for current operations and 30c for interest and sinking fund account. The following men were named on a board of equalization: Roy Bradstreet, S. D. Conwell, J. C. Moore, Jr., George Hefley, Bus Walker, Thomas Daughtry, Al Thomas, Kenneth Franklin and Gaddy Vise.

Surplus Commodities Program Discontinued

The "surplus commodities" program which supplied free food to 1170 Wheeler County residents at a cost of $500 per month to the county government, was discontinued last month, a member of County Commissioners Court announced this week.

The program was stopped after the regular monthly distribution of commodities on June 10. The action was by unanimous vote of county commissioners after the appropriation for the current year's program had been exhausted.

It was the feeling of the court that summer rains had improved conditions to the extent able-bodied persons could find work, said a spokesman for the commissioners.

"It is most regrettable many deserving, needy persons will suffer as a result of our action," said the commissioners. "We started the program for the benefit of such people but the list of eligibles grew and grew until the county could no longer stand the expense. We ran out of funds."

The surplus commodities program has been a delicate one for elective county officials to administer. Despite the fact no one is eligible who has resources of $300 or an income of as much as $80 a month, many families of higher economic standing manage to get on the rolls, and once on it is almost impossible to get them off and keep them off. This brings complaints from taxpayers who cannot understand why 10 per cent of the county's population is on relief, while the nation is supposed to be enjoying its greatest prosperity.

Jack Meek as Assistant Superintendent. This division is open to all women regardless of Home Demonstration Club affiliation.

Mrs. Gordon Whitener will head the Girl's division of the Fair with Mrs. C. J. VanZandt serving as Assistant Superintendent.

Mrs. Cora Hyatt was named superintendent of the Handicrafts, arts, and antiques division of the Fair. She will have two Assistant Superintendents in Mrs. Harry Wofford and Mrs. Gordon Stiles.

BRUSH CONTROL TOUR HELD MON.

About 75 people attended a tour of brush control work being done on the Britt Ranch and the Stiles Ranch East of Wheeler.

Representatives of the District Supervisors and ASC County Committees from Lipscomb, Canadian, Miami, Stinnett, Spearman, Wellington, and Clarendon attended.

Pat McIlvain, Superintendent of the Southern Great Plains Experiment Station at Woodward, gave the group a history of the experimental plots on the Britt Ranch and discussed the results.

Tom Britt and Gordon Stiles answered questions and explained some of the details. The grass told most of the story.

Lester Young, State Administrative Officer ACP, and Joe Sorrells of the State ASC Office at College Station, attended. Both seemed well pleased with work done to date.

The brush work being done East of Wheeler, is the only work of its kind in Texas. It has long been known that removal of brush can double or triple the beef yield on much of our shinnery range. In addition, heavy losses of cattle from shinnery poison can be stopped.

Control of brush is just the first step in range improvement. Good management is necessary for top production.

The Wheeler Board of Supervisors, the ASC Committee, and the Department of Agriculture men assisting them wish to thank Tom Britt and Gordon Stiles for their time and the use of their ranches to demonstrate what can be done for brushy pastures.

Many elderly people and others unable to work complain they cannot buy sufficient groceries from meager pensions or other limited income.

A list of commodities distributed last month, a typical month, to 1132 persons in the county consisted of: 1941 lbs. of butter, 2492 lbs. of cheese, 4729 lbs. of dry milk, 1890 lbs. of rice, 2728 lbs. of beans, 4965 lbs. of corn meal, 5,930 lbs. of flour.

Mary Ann Bradstreet Has Third Polio Operation

Mary Ann Bradstreet, 14 year old polio victim faced her third major operation Wednesday, July 3, with high morale.

She wasn't "alone." Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Bradstreet and two of her four brothers and sisters, Frances Fern, 9 and Crystal Marguerite, 7 months, made an unexpected trip to Oklahoma City Tuesday, July 2 to be with her.

It was a trip made easier by the thoughtfulness of new friends Mary Ann has acquired since she has been a patient at Bone and Joint hospital.

Mary Ann had polio in 1949. It left her paralyzed from the waist down and with a damaged left arm. She went to Bone and Joint hospital in 1952 for surgery to correct an early curvature of the spine.

Later there was a muscle transplant operation. But it was difficult for Mary Ann to get to Oklahoma City for follow-up treatment and now the curvature is severe.

Two weeks ago, surgeons attempted to re-fuse her spine and straighten out the C-shaped curve into which it has stiffened.

Mary Ann's mother, Mrs. Truman Bradstreet, took her to Oklahoma City June 14 but had to return home. It was a busy time at their farm and, with 7 months old Crystal Marguerite and the other children to take care of, Mrs. Bradstreet had not planned to return for the operation.

Another patient, 15-year-old Sonda Gound, noticed Mary Ann was becoming depressed.

Sonda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Gound of Oklahoma City, was also in the hospital for post-polio treatment. After she was released, she took Mary Ann a new robe and pajama set and started a "let's cheer up Mary Ann" movement.

A friend of the Gounds belongs to South Oklahoma City Rotary Anns. The group airmailed Mrs. Bradstreet a round trip bus ticket to Oklahoma City with $5 "spending money."

Mrs. Gound followed through with a call to the mother, inviting her to stay at the Gound home.

Mary Ann expected her mother to arrive by bus Tuesday, July 2. But there was another surprise. Her father, nine-year-old Frances Fern and the baby came too.

"At the last minute we were able to come in the car," Mrs. Bradstreet said. "We got the wheat out in time so her daddy could make it and left the other children with an uncle."

The other children are Riley, 11, who also was stricken during the 1949 polio epidemic but made a good recovery, and Clifford Lee, 3.

Bradstreet returned home Friday July 5. Mrs. Bradstreet and the children returned to Wheeler Tuesday, July 9. Mary Ann likely will have to remain in the hospital all summer.

From Your CONGRESSMAN TER ROGERS

The House of Representatives was considering the Development and Assistance Act of 1954. This is Public Law 561, which was approved on June 18, 1954, as an emergency measure for disposing of surplus agricultural commodities through permanent benefit to the United States. The methods of disposal included (1) sale of foreign surplus (2) barter (3) donation, domestic and foreign. It was intended to extend the present act until June 30, 1955.

The President has authorized the President to enter into agreement with friendly nations or organizations of friendly nations for the sale of surplus agricultural commodities for foreign currencies to be used for market development, foreign assistance, settlement of U. S. obligations abroad, and certain other purposes. The foreign currencies accruing from these sales have been used for market development projects, including marketing studies, exhibits at trade fairs, advertising and promotional displays, and exchange visits of industrial representatives of the United States and the foreign countries from which the foreign currency was obtained.

The currencies are also being used in economic development, assistance to American sponsored schools, libraries and community centers, and for economic development loans. In general, it can be said that the foreign currencies obtained under the provisions of this Act are being used in the furtherance of the foreign aid program, and it might be pointed out in addition thereto. In fact, if you traced some of the foreign aid dollars, you would find that these dollars are given to a particular foreign country by the United States under the foreign aid program.

The country receiving the dollars exchanges them into their own currency, then uses their own currency to purchase agricultural surpluses from the United States. The United States then uses this foreign currency in economic or other development of the foreign country. The end result being that the U. S. gives the foreign country some money with which to pay for surplus commodities from the U. S. so that the money received in payment for the surplus commodities, which was given to the foreign country in the first place, can be used to develop the foreign country.

This is quite an economic merry-

Social Security

Probably few farmers have seen any connection between the recent rains and their social security payments. According to a statement from John R. Sanderson, Manager of the District Social Security Office in Amarillo, there is such a connection.

Over 1,200 farmers have filed claims for monthly social security payments in the Amarillo Office this year. Except for farmers who became age 72 before 1957, payments cannot be made for all months of the year to a farmer who has net profits over $1200 in 1957. Because of the recent rains, many farmers who did not expect net profits of over $1200 when they filed their claims now expect more than that amount in 1957.

Sanderson urges any farmer now under age 72 and receiving social security payments to have these payments stopped if he feels that his net profits will be over $1200 in 1957. If he fails to stop the payments and does have net profits of over $1200, he will have been over-paid and will have to refund some or possibly even all of his 1957 payments. At the end of the year, when the exact amount of 1957 profit is known, an adjustment will be made to pay the farmer or any additional months due him or to collect from him the amount of any over-payments already made to him.

Since both 1955 and 1956 were low income years for most farmers, it is quite possible that a good crop in 1957 could cause an increase in the amount of a farmer's social security payments. Applications to have payments re-figured to include 1957 profits cannot be filed before July 1, 1958.

go-round, as you can see. It enables the foreign country to use the American dollars for trade with other countries, yet at the same time, insures the expenditure of an equivalent amount of money for the purchase of foodstuffs to be used in the country and, also, the expenditure of the amount of money representing the value of the foodstuffs in development purposes for that country.

It has been argued that a much simpler process could be devised; that the foodstuffs could be delivered to these nations free of charge. However, if this was done, it would tend to do away with all of the administrative machinery necessary to maintain the economic merry-go-round above referred to. Many people would lose their government jobs in both this country and the foreign country. It would make bookkeeping operations so simple that everyone could understand them, which is an abhorrent thought to an average bureaucrat. In fact, a simple program could result in an excellent possibility of a measurable reduction in the budget. Such a proposal would bring immediate opposition from the Administration, with warning cries about inflation.

But be that as it may, there is a distinct controversy in this country as to the good or bad of the foreign aid program. My observation is that it would be most difficult to reconcile the clear-cut differences of opinion concerning the foreign aid programs, both direct and indirect. Nevertheless, the debate concerning Public Law 580 furnished the basis for a most interesting development. The Congresswoman from Missouri, Mrs. Leonor Sullivan, offered an amendment that would authorize the Commodity Credit Corporation, which holds all of these surplus agricultural commodities to donate to charitable organizations & certain needy persons in the United States, surplus food commodities.

An amendment had been adopted authorizing the donation of raw cotton and cotton products to these people in the United States. However, the discussion on Mrs. Sullivan's amendment became very heated, and Congress, sitting as a Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union, became deeply involved in all of the complexities concerned with providing foodstuffs to needy foreign nations but denying them to our own people.

After the oratorical smoke had cleared, a vote was taken on Mrs. Sullivan's amendment and the re-

Wheeler County Soil Conservation District News

Small grains have made the heaviest straw crop in many years. Some farmers are wondering how to get their land plowed with stubble mulch equipment. Clarence Zybach of Briscoe has run sweeps under his rye stubble. It was very heavy. He did not scatter the straw and ran the sweeps so that they straddled the straw windrow. He was able to leave all the residue on top and still work the land.

John O'Gorman has left a nice looking cover of wheat straw on his land near Twitty. Straw mulches will help the land take and hold water. They will also help increase the fertility. The benefits are well worth the extra trouble of working through the mulch. When straw is exceptionally heavy, it may be necessary to work part of it into the soil. In most cases this can be done and still leave enough on top to protect the land. Moisture losses can be cut without having the entire surface covered.

Some kinds of native grass seed are beginning to mature. The demand for these seed is still high. If you have any that may do to harvest, Soil Conservation Service personnel assisting the district will be glad to check them for you.

CAN YOU LAUGH AT DUCKLINGS?

Betty can laugh at ducklings. She remembers that classic of the Ugly One who grew up to be a stately swan.

Betty laughs because she understands the story. She knows that some people, like ducklings, often scorn someone who is different.

But she knows, too, from her religious training, that there are times when a person must face the scorn of others and be different. In fact, already she has found that a primary aim of Christianity is to change life for the better . . . to help the individual be different so the world can be different.

Not everyone can laugh at ducklings. Some folks take quite seriously the dread of being different. For instance, there are men and women who don't attend Church, but who would like to. They simply feel awkward about breaking away from an indifference which they think is expected of them.

You can make it easy for the hungry-but-hesitant to attend Church. Always invite someone to worship with you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

NEWS FROM—County Agent's Office

Fields should be checked closely now as fleahoppers are building up in damaging numbers. One field checked this past Tuesday had already lost the early crop due to fleahopper damage, according to Bryan Swain county agent. The flea hopper is a small green non-flying insect in the nymph stage and gray, ash-colored, with wings and fly in the adult stage. They range from minute size when born to about the size of a small beetle fly. A person should check the main stem terminal buds (about 3 to 4 inches of the top of the plant) of 100 cotton plants at several representative points in the field. Control should begin when 15 fleahoppers are found per 100 terminals checked. Fleahoppers cause the falling off of the young squares and can cause the loss of all squares if they are not controlled. Cotton aphids are on the decrease due to hot dry weather, but could still do damage in fields where they are being irrigated. The big question is, does it pay to spray in dry weather like we are having now. Where the cotton is irrigated there is no question, and the chance of rain leaves little question in the value of controlling insects on dry land cotton. If they are not controlled when the build-up in numbers are present they will cause the loss of the early squares. Get your copy of the 1957 Cotton Insect Bulletin. It is obtainable at the County Agents Office.

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

More brakes. A little more turn. The radar unit could not respond to cars coming out of a side road until it was too late. In brief, the engineers who tested the unit conceded that man, that bungling, inefficient and dangerous, still is the best control unit that can be used in automobiles. Detroit, noted for its magnificently efficient ways, recently had to admit defeat in a major highway safety effort and agree that man has found a home behind the wheel of the automobile. Knowing that human errors are blamed for many fatal accidents, a major automobile manufacturer recently tried to eliminate the possibility of human error on the highway in what seemed like a most logical way: replace human drivers with mechanical devices that would handle the automobile. At the core of the mechanical device that was supposed to make mere humans obsolete was a radar unit. Feelers rays went out from the unit and slowed or stopped the test car when hazards were "seen" ahead. The unit seemed the perfect solution to the highway accident problem. Accidents occur when cars hit something. Therefore, eliminate the possibility of hitting something and you wipe out highway deaths. One of the first problems the engineers testing the unit had was when they tried to move the test car out of a parking space parallel to a curb. The radar unit, made to stop the car when there was anything ahead that it might hit, automatically put on the brakes. Several adjustments later, the radar unit let the test car out of the parking space and onto the highway. In theory, the idea worked. As soon as a hazard loomed up ahead, the radar unit sensed it and applied the brakes of the test car. But just putting on the brakes when there is a hazard ahead doesn't prevent an accident. For example, jamming on the brakes to avoid the car ahead puts you squarely — like a sitting duck — in the path of the speeding car behind you. Or what happens when a four-year-old child, not wearing a metal shield, dashes into the street in front of the radar car? Nothing. Only metal activates a radar unit. On curves, the unit went crazy. As the road curved to the side, the brakes went on because the radar unit kept seeing hazards directly ahead. However, as the car turned slightly and the hazards disappeared from directly ahead, the radar mechanism released the brakes. But because the car was not completely through the curve, new hazards ahead.

SPSC HAS NEW STEAM PLANT

More power for the growing electrical requirements of the Eastern New Mexico and West Texas area becomes available early in July, when Southwestern Public Service Company's new and modern Cunningham generating plant goes on the line.

Southwestern Public Service's eleventh principal steam plant is located 12 miles west of Hobbs, N. M., and one mile north of the Hobbs-Carlsbad highway. The gleaming aluminum structure is on a 160 acre tract owned by the power company.

The new plant is named for J. E. Cunningham, president of the Public Service Company and member of its board of directors. He has been associated with Southwestern Public Service 30 years, and president for the last 12 years.

The turbo-generator in Cunningham plant was manufactured by General Electric, and brings Southwestern Public Service's total plant capacity to 820,600 kilowatts or 1,100,000 horsepower.

Mr. A. R. Watson, executive vice president and general manager of Public Service, remarked that just ten years ago the total plant capacity of Southwestern's system was only 166,000 kilowatts. "Our last ten year's growth and the new plant capability symbolizes the progressive thinking of our 170,000 customers in applying more electric power for use in industry, commercial establishments, and the home," the power company executive added.

the latest features in economical power plant design and operation. H. O. Hodson, vice president of SPSC supervised the design and construction.

Public Service engineers cut down on the construction time by putting aluminum exterior walls instead of steel. They used black ceramic cotted aluminum for outside trim, parapet caps and front entrance facade.

Another construction cost cutting application was the location of the plant's 55,000 gallon water storage tank on the roof deck of the semi-outdoor boiler. This location saved most of the construction cost of a conventional hi-tank.

J. B. Matthews is plant manager at Cunningham. He was named to this position February 1, 1957 and moved here from Public Service's Moore County Plant near Dumas, Texas.

Brother Ross pointed out that he who is unfaithful in the little things will be unfaithful in the big things. God requires that a man be faithful in all things.

He pointed out that the use of the Sabbath the same as any other day in the week was being faithful. Creating an idol which would come between the individual and his God.

He closed his talk with the thought that if our civilization is to be saved it MUST be done by Godly men whose hearts are on fire for God. He pleaded with the members to "Search out these Godly men and elevate them to their rightful places of leadership in Wheeler.

meet with the company's main line at Dumas. C. F. Braun, a Los Angeles contractor, is building an 8,100 horse power compressor station near McLean. A gathering system to the compressor station will be laid.

The odd aspect of the El Paso venture is that such a huge program, involving almost virgin acreage could develop smack up against one of the oldest producing areas of the world. It's been known for many years that the Brown dolomite in the involved area would produce gas.

All in all, it appears that El Paso has stolen a march on its rival gas carriers — right in their own back yard.
