NO ACP FUNDS ARE AVAILABLE

The Wheeler County ASC office is currently out of funds for the 1957 ACP Program, Albert Marshall, manager, announced last week.

"We also expect to receive additional allotments sometime in July," he added.

In a news letter mailed last week to Wheeler County farmers, the ASC office manager gave the following information:

"The loan rate for 1957 crop grain sorghum in Wheeler County is $1.73 per hundred, and the loan rate for 1957 crop wheat is $2.00 per bushel. Lienholder waivers and landlord waivers will be required as in the past, before loans can be certified.

"The 1958 wheat allotment notices have been mailed and copies of all allotments are on file in the ASC office. Application forms for new 'new growers' wheat allotments are on hand in the county office, and July 1, is the final date for making application for a 'new growers' allotment for 1958.

Urging every family to take advantage of the free chest X-ray service, Joe Rogers, local chairman suggested as many as possible should go during the morning hours. The unit will be in the Southwestern Public Service company building and will be open until 5:30 p.m.

persons who live outside the county have inquired if the X-rays were also free for them. These persons are assured their reports will be mailed to their home address and that X-rays are free.

"Tuberculosis is the concern of every one of us, regardless of where we live because it is a serious health problem," said the committee in charge. "And it will remain a grave problem here as long as a single case of tuberculosis exists in the community."

You Paid For It

The community X-ray program offers free chest X-rays to every adult in the county, 15 years of age and over.
In these days of rising costs and high payments for every possible service, it is natural for some readers to ask, "How come it's free?" The answer is that you, the residents of this community, have paid in advance for this campaign to make Wheeler County a healthier place in which to live.
You have made this X-ray program possible through your payment of taxes and through your generous purchases of Christmas Seals.
Funds from the sale of Christmas Seals are the sole support of one of the sponsors of the program, the Wheeler County Tuberculosis Association, which conducts a year-round program of tuberculosis prevention and control. The association is contributing its knowledge and experience as well as funds, toward the success of the county-wide campaign to find unknown cases of tuberculosis and check the spread of this costly disease.
Other finances for the program are contributed by the Texas State Health Department, which, of course, you support through your tax payments.
You paid for your chest X-ray in advance. It takes only a few minutes to get it. You wouldn't forget to collect the dividends on a financial investment. You have the right to know for sure that your lungs are healthy.
The minority in whom the chest X-ray will uncover tuberculosis will be, in a sense, reaping the highest dividends of all. For it will mean that they will be able to get right to work toward regaining complete health before the disease has gone too far.
Every citizen owes it to himself and his community to take full advantage of this opportunity. We paid for it. Let's collect.

Homes Need It, Too

TV Demands 3-D Scenery

Balustrades, a bookcase and a pine panel door form a three-dimensional background for this room from one of CBS-TV's Studio One dramas. Set designers say this textured background adds interest to what could otherwise be a dull-looking room. Home-owners can use three-dimensional materials in much the same way to make rooms more dramatic and interesting.

Take a tip from television if you want to achieve dramatic effects and create moods in your interior decorating scheme.

That's the advice of Larry Eggleton, one of the Columbia Broadcasting System's top television set designers. Eggleton, who creates the scenery for CBS-TV's popular hour-long dramatic shows, Studio One, says the key to effective television set designing as well as attractive home interiors is the use of materials which have a three-dimensional appearance.

These include brick and stone walls, interior planting boxes, paneled doors, draperies, textured wall materials, and walls painted with designs.

One of Eggleton's favorite means of obtaining the three-dimensional, or textured, effect so important to his sets is with wood panel doors.

"Panel doors give us interesting texture because of the shadow lines created by the panels," he says. "These break up what would otherwise be a flat, monotonous surface. Besides, certain styles of panel doors also help us achieve mood and authenticity."

"For example, if a script calls for an early American setting, we can obtain a stock pine panel door which is an authentic copy of doors made by Colonial craftsmen. This gives us a background that is both realistic and three-dimensional. The pine grain also adds richness and warmth to the scene."

Eggleton believes that the same "tricks" and tools employed to make a good background for a television play can be used in home decoration.

"A flat empty wall as a background for a scene is a sin on TV because it invariably is dull and uninteresting. Believe it or not, this dullness can creep into the action of the play itself."

The same thing can happen in a house. According to Eggleton, interesting decorative surroundings in the home are just as important psychologically for every day living as they are on television.

The home-owner can use panel doors of ponderosa pine with the same success achieved by TV set designers. The doors can be obtained from building material dealers in styles to fit any interior decor, from traditional to contemporary.

places on the highways were marked with reflectorized signs.

The success of the signs recently led Mills to say, "One of the greatest contributions to accident reduction on Virginia highways has been the use of markers — especially on curves."

Movie fans, engineers, baseball players and sales managers don't want to do away with their curves. Highway engineers would like to — but can't because of the cost of new roads. So they're learning how to mark them to control casualties.

What is a curve? To the male movie fan, the definition might be that most pleasing part of Marilyn Monroe's anatomy.

An engineer or architect might say it's a French curve that helps him with his drawings.

Baseball players will reply the ability to hit or pitch a curve is what separates big leaguers from other players.

A sales manager might use a "sales curve" to help explain slumping or skyrocketing business.

Highway engineers call many curves killers — deadly bends in the road that endanger the lives of millions of motorists daily.

A member of the last group is J. P. Mills, Jr., traffic and planning engineer for the Virginia Department of Highways. He was particularly alarmed about "Coleman's Mill curve" north of Richmond on U. S. Route 1, the major north-south artery for Florida-bound tourists and truckers.

Mills' cause for concern was obvious: in three and one-half years there had been 27 accidents at this spot. Five of the accidents had resulted in 9 deaths; 13 other wrecks brought injury to 23 persons, and property damage had been figured at $21,165.

Studying these statistics convinced Mills something had to be done to stop this march of death. A survey of other states' safety measurers led him to place warning markers at this dangerous point to caution drivers they were coming to a curve.

The markers were aluminum strips, 6"x45", on which were bonded reflectorized sheeting of silver color. Black stripes four inches wide were painted on at a 45-degree angle. The metal plates were mounted on steel posts with the bottom of the reflective part one foot above the crown of the pavement. Total cost was $250.

The results? In the year after the markers were put in place, only five accidents occurred. Nobody was killed in the mishaps and only two persons were injured. Property damage totalled $2,325.

Coleman's Mill curve had been tamed. Mills soon tried the markers at other curves, bridges approaches and other spots. One hundred of the most hazardous

College and 5th Streets
LOCKNEY, TEXAS

Mrs. Clyde Baxter, like many adults, has had the advantages of electric cooking pointed out to her by her high school student daughter, who learned that the modern way is the accurate, dependable way. Of course, it's electric! Says Mrs. Baxter, "I'm mighty glad we installed an electric range when we built our new home. The counter-top height oven gives perfect baking results and we get more broiled foods since getting the new range".

Sixteen-year old Linda Baxter is a sophomore student with two semesters in homemaking. Her teacher, Mrs. Quentin Adams, says, "Although our department has both types of household cooking equipment, most of our girls prefer to use the electric range".

Why not "take a tip from your teenager"? If you are not yet cooking electrically, ask your daughter to tell you why you should.

CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS

The bill for Alaskan statehood has been reported favorably by the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. The vote was 24 to 6. My vote was included among the 6 opposed to statehood.

This will undoubtedly prove to be a highly controversial issue again this year as it has been each year in the past. One of the amendments that barely escaped adoption in the Committee because of a tie vote will probably be the subject of more debate in the House than any other portion of the bill. The amendment was offered in Committee by Mr. Pillion, of New York. Its purpose is to provide for an election to be held in Alaska on the question of "statehood" or "no statehood", as a condition precedent to Alaska becoming a state when, as, and if the present bill is passed. One of the best arguments in favor of such an election is the fact that in a recent poll taken in Alaska, the vote was more than 2 to 1 against statehood. It has always been my position that under any and all circumstances, the people of Alaska should have the opportunity to approve or disapprove the issue.

THE BUDGET

The budget continues to be a number one conversation item in Washington, and among the top subjects in the mail. To date, the House has considered and acted on 22 separate measures concerning the appropriation of funds for this government and its departments and agencies. It has not acted on the Public Works bill, which is sometimes referred to as the "pork barrel" bill, nor the Mutual Security (Foreign Aid) bill. As of June 3rd, 1957, the Senate had acted on 14 of these measures. Four had been signed into law by the President, while 6 were awaiting the President's signature. Four of the measures were subject to the action of a Conference Committee between the House and the Senate. The 4 that have already been written into law are appropriations for the Treasury Department, Post Office Department, U. S. Tax Court and the Second 1957 Urgent Deficiency bill. The Presidential request was for approximately $87 million more than the Congress allowed him in these 4 appropriation matters. The other measures, now on the President's desk for his signature, authorize expenditures of approximately $100 million less than the President asked. These cuts were very carefully weighed and it was the intention of the Congress to cut only those things that appeared to be in the nature of waste or budgetary fat. There are more cuts to come on the other appropriations. These cuts will be weighed in the same careful manner.

The mail is bringing in many letters both for and against the President's budget. These are running about 50 per cent for and 50 per cent against. Many concern the Mutual Security (Foreign Aid) program. This is one of the bills we have not yet considered. It will be one of the most controversial measures because of the very nature of the program. Many feel that projects in this country which should be developed are being delayed because of the high cost of the foreign aid program. In keeping with this general thought one of the newspaper columnists in this country, Mr. H. I. Phillips, wrote a poem entitled AMERICA SPEAKS, which is as follows: To meet both ends I seldom can (But I'm a help to Pakistan); It's hard to keep my shirt & pants (But after all, I'm of France); I guess I'll have to break my lease (I must cooperate with Greece); Hedged in by debts quite vast I am (But I must not neglect Siam).

I'm in a hole, but feeling noble (I wish things are not quite so glob- al!)

Wheeler County Soil Conservation District News

Spraying for brush control looks exceptionally well this year. Shinnery has been sprayed on pastures of Gordon Stiles, Tom Britt, Tom Puryear and Tobe Frye. All these places are north of Kelton in the general vicinity of the experimental plots put out by the Woodward, Okla., Station. Results from spraying are better when moisture is plentiful. This was an almost perfect season. The brush leafed out late cutting the spraying season a little short but the kill is good.

The drought greatly reduced the amount of sweet clover seeded in the District. Rains have brought back good stands where clover was grown before the drought. Joe Weatherly has a good example of this on his place northeast of Wheeler. There is a good stand where no clover has been seeded since 1952.

Edward E. Thomas has recently moved from Wellington to Wheeler. He is with the Soil Conservation Service and is replacing D. J. Johnson who transferred to Nevada in February. We hope that farmers working with the District will take the first opportunity to get acquainted with Ed and make him feel welcome here.

WILEY'S

16-MILE HAUL — 4300 FEET UP — When Sheriff Cal Boies of Maricopa County, Arizona, sends his 4-wheel-drive GMC to his radio transmitting station on a mountain peak, one round trip deals out more punishment than a year's ordinary use.

IT CROSSES 3 MOUNTAIN CHAINS, wades through shifting sand, picks its way over boulder-strewn passes—goes where no sane horse would set foot. The deal includes climbing up a 65% grade. But—"It hasn't even breathed hard yet," says the Sheriff.

How tough could you make it for this GMC 4-WHEEL DRIVE?

YOU probably never would push a GMC truck this far.

But it's great to know that GMC's can do incredible jobs, beyond all normal requirements for their class—and still run longer, cheaper and with fewer repairs than other trucks.

Got some tough assignments for this GMC 4-wheel drive? It's just about the handiest truck ever built—goes anywhere, makes its own roads, has full traction in muck or deep snow, has clearance on high-crowned roads.

With a few accessories, it pulls stumps, drills postholes or wells, stretches fence, pumps water, hoists anything. It takes a king-size cargo and—in 2-wheel drive—gives you full road speeds.

The GMC 4-wheel drive is really two trucks in one—and it costs surprisingly little. Just ask your GMC dealer!

Do you know how quickly and conveniently you can make sure that your lungs are in healthy condition? Are you aware that an X-ray can mean a longer life and a happier life for you—or for your loved ones?

Have you any idea how subtle tuberculosis is and how it can be active for a long time without your realizing it? It's time you did.

These are facts. TB kills nearly fifty thousand people in the United States every year, and it's so unnecessary... for a chest X-ray allows the doctor to direct the battle against this insidious disease.

And it's so easy to be sure. It takes only a moment to be X-rayed. And you don't have to remove anything except outer coat or jacket. So get your chest checked today. And keep your shirt on!

through" clothes and skin and take a shadow picture of the interior of the chest.

The hostesses and technicians are often asked how much the X-ray will cost and sometimes they find it hard to convince people that the service is entirely without charge.

One woman asked if the X-ray would help a back pain she had suffered for years. She was one of many who had to be assured that X-ray they were getting was no treatment, but a screening process to find out whether there were signs of illness in the lungs.

Most of those who come to be X-rayed are interested in learning all they can about tuberculosis. A number of people ask if an X-ray wouldn't be wasted on them because "they never felt better in their lives." They are told that tuberculosis does not make itself known with obvious symptoms when it first strikes. That is why apparently healthy people should be X-rayed.

Other people want to know whether or not their families or bosses will be told if suspicious shadows show up on their X-rays. It is emphasized that the reports are strictly confidential. Only the individual and his family doctor need know that he is advised to have a second, full-sized X-ray and other tests to find out whether TB is actually present.

Residents of Allison, Kelton and Briscoe are urged to come to Wheeler on June 24 or if it is more convenient go to Mobeetie on the following day.

permit the setting up of a Rural Fire District and the levying of a tax not to exceed 3 cents on a $100 valuation to support and equip same. Probably a good idea for this county.

The Chamber discussed the road and bridge situation in Wheeler county and unanimously backed a resolution calling upon the County Commissioners Court to take necessary steps to replace and rebuild these roads and bridges, done to make them passable.

The Chamber also instructed the secretary to write a letter of appreciation to the Pampa Chamber of Commerce for their assistance in directing detoured highway 66 traffic through Wheeler. Much energy, some time, and money was expended by the Pampa group in erecting the signs along Highway 152 which helped to direct traffic on through Wheeler to Amarillo and points west, rejoining Highway 66 at Amarillo.

In the absence of President Lewis Lancaster and vice president Watson Burgess, Harry Wofford presided at the meeting.

Rev. Frank J. Ross, newly arrived pastor of the First Baptist Church of Wheeler, was in attendance and gave the invocation. Rev. Carlton Thomson pronounced the benediction.

Mr. McElhany closed his talk with a short explanation of the proposed legislation asked for by the Governor in the much talked about special session this fall. He explained that of the 12 constitutional amendments referred to the voters at the last session of the legislature only three would be voted upon this fall. The Water amendment being most urgent was set for this fall in order that the program might get an immediate start. The employees retirement act was brought out this fall so employees might receive benefits a year earlier and the old age assistance bill will bring the amounts to the maximum now being supported by the federal government and will only slightly increase the cost to the state.
