

Sunrise Service To Be Held Here At The Post

Officers and enlisted men of the Big Spring Bombardier School will witness the first sunrise Easter service ever to be held at the school Sunday morning when various organizations and chapel choirs present 7 o'clock services on the target range east of hospital at the post.

A large cross will be erected on the hill just beyond the range for services which will open with "An Easter Hymn" by the post band under the leadership of Warrant Officer Robert R. Burner. Cpl. Edmund H. Finck will lead the congregation in the singing of "Jesus Keeps Me Near the Cross" which will be followed with a special musical number by negro soldiers.

The chapel choir will sing "He Arose" and Chaplain James L. Patterson will deliver the morning address, entitled "Easter Glories Through the Year."

The service will be concluded with mass singing of "Beneath the Cross of Jesus," accompanied by the post band.

The Young People of the First Methodist church will present a pageant, "The Challenge of the Cross," at evening services which will be held in the post chapel.

All officers and enlisted men of the school are invited to attend services which begin at 7 o'clock.

Report Nazis Plan To Use Poison Gas

LONDON, April 22 (AP)—Asserting it had received reports that Hitler is making preparations for using poison gas against the Russian front, the British government vowed today that any use of gas by either Germany or her satellites would bring immediate reprisals in kind against military objectives "throughout the whole expanse of Germany."

The government's statement was issued by Prime Minister Churchill from 10 Downing street and newspapers were called into an extraordinary session early today to hear it.

The British Broadcasting company also quickly beamed short-wave broadcasts to Germany, directly informing the German people what they could expect if their leader orders the use of gas.

The Berlin radio, replying to the British statement, quoted German foreign office circles as saying that Germany would stand by a pledge given last year that she would use poison gas only if her enemies used it first. The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, said Berlin political circles termed Churchill's declaration "provocative."

Churchill's statement said the reports of Germany's intentions had come from "several sources." A Soviet official, meanwhile, declared that "we have passed on to the British foreign office information that supplies of gas recently have been reaching the German armies on the Russian front."

The average length of life for Americans in 1938 was approximately 40 years, as against 64 years today.

New Curbs Seen On Distribution Of Information

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—A freshly opened senatorial inquiry into handling of news by government agencies appeared headed today toward requests for some regulation barring them from any distribution of "opinions and arguments."

Launching an investigation into government "dissemination and control of information" with a close questioning of methods used by Elmer Davis, director of war information, members of the senate judiciary committee voiced objections to pamphlets on controversial domestic subjects.

Several committee members, however, said they regarded the OWI as a necessary clearing house to prevent what they termed issuance of conflicting reports on war information.

Davis was closeted with the committee for more than two hours yesterday after a press conference with nearly 200 reporters, conducted while the senators looked on.

Cornelia Frazier Appears With Five Students At Schools

DENTON, April 22—Miss Cornelia Frazier of Big Spring, a freshman student at North Texas State Teachers College, was one of six student musicians from N.T.S.T.C. featured in recent programs at the high schools in Sherman and Gainesville.

Miss Frazier played several piano numbers for the programs. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Frazier, Big Spring.

Texas Mother Confident Her Son Is Alive

The mother of one Texas flier believed a prisoner of the Japanese as a result of the Tokyo raid a year ago yesterday expressed confidence her son was still alive.

Mrs. Lena Hite of Earth, Lamb county, Texas, said she had received an unconfirmed report that the voice of her son, First Lieut. Robert L. Hite, had been heard on a short-wave broadcast from Tokyo six months ago.

Another Texan who fell into the hands of the Japanese after the Tokyo raid is First Lieut. Dean E. Hallmark of Dallas, who was born in Bronte, Tex., and reared in Greenville, where he played on the high school football team.

"I feel," said Mrs. Hite, "that we soon will hear about Robert's fate, and the word will be encouraging." "While we have had no direct word from him since before the Tokyo raid, the war department informed me last October that an American short-wave operator had said he had heard Robert broadcast from Tokyo that he was well. The war department was unable to confirm the report of the pickup, the notification said."

Hite was graduated from West Texas College at Canyon, and enlisted in the army air forces in October, 1940.

Lieut. Hallmark attended Paris junior college, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, and the University of Texas. He entered the army air forces in November, 1940, after spending two years in South America with an oil company.

Sugar Allotment For Canning Up To Local Board

DALLAS, April 22. (AP)—Dates for the issuance of sugar allotments for home canning of 1943 fruit crops may be set by local war price and rationing boards, under a ruling by the regional office of price administration.

the authority because of their familiarity with crop conditions in their areas, the OPA said yesterday, and the fixing of dates on a local basis may prevent fruit spoilage.

Sugar for home-canning will be allotted on virtually the same basis as last year, the board added, with no deduction of blue, processed point stamps from ration book No. 2 for sugar used for such a purpose.

Holy Communion At St. Mary's Part Of Holy Week Rites

There will be a service of Holy Communion at 8 p. m. today at the St. Mary's Episcopal church as the church moves nearer the climax of its Holy Week ceremonies.

Tools May Be Had For Your Garden Work

People who are counting on food from their Victory Gardens to piece out wartime rations can blame only themselves or the weather if harvests don't match up with the pictures on seed packages. The tools are available, the War Production Board said today.

Supplies of hand tools, garden hose, fertilizers and insecticides will be adequate.

The fact that only 76, instead of 324, different types of spading forks are available is not expected to disturb the average city gardener. He may also have his choice of eight styles of rakes, 39 hoses and eight hand cultivators.

Nitrogen fertilizers will not be plentiful, but production of most commercial fertilizers in 1943 will be greater than ever before, W.P.B. said. Victory Garden fertilizer, a balanced formula put up in bag sizes from 5 to 10 pounds, contains everything a growing plant needs—except elbow grease. Gardeners must furnish that.

Hard and fast defense lines against garden saboteurs, whether winged or many-footed, can be laid down with nicotine sulphate, available in abundance; cryolite, sulphur and arsenicals. These readily available insecticides and fungicides should be used in preference to scarcer copper, pyrethrum and rotenone.

Garden hose still is being made, the quantity produced depending on how much of their reclaimed rubber allotments manufacturers want to devote to this type of hose in comparison with industrial hose.

Group Food Canning Urged To 'Cash In' On Summer's Yield

Now that America's Victory Gardens have passed the planning stage and many vegetables are taking root, farm women, together with the larger garden growers in towns and cities, are being urged to plan now for neighborhood canning centers to prevent wasting any of the 1943 harvest.

Mrs. Floy G. Sides, home management supervisor for the Farm Security Administration in Howard and Martin counties, believes group action by farm and town women will result in greatly increased stocks of canned food for next winter.

Mrs. Sides cited the success of many community canning centers operated in various parts of the state last year, where county officials joined in the Food for Freedom enterprises by providing quarters, lights, water and fuel for the projects.

Farm women, and the larger gardeners in town, brought vegetables to the center, Mrs. Sides explained, and either canned them or left them to be canned by women who performed the work on a share basis.

Home economics classrooms of high schools, vacant schools, and vacant store buildings were given as examples of places where canning centers might be established. In one instance last year, women who brought their large cookers to centers to rent them to women who had no cookers and for use under the supervision of experienced operators.

Mrs. Sides pointed out that more farm women would be called upon to work in the fields this year while more town women would find need of circumventing a canned food shortage.

Progress Made In Development Of Synthetic Foods And Spices

KANSAS CITY, April 22. (AP)—So you can't always get cocoa, or cinnamon, or vanilla or lemon flavoring nowadays? It's easy—let George do it.

He finds them in test tubes, along with eggless eggs and nutless nuts.

It's no overnight development. George G. Young saw his job as baking pan salesman slipping away from him in 1939 when imports of bakery-needed spices withered before the spreading war.

So he bought a food-jobbing firm, and began hunting a food chemist. Within a year, G. H. Rapaport hurried his family from Vienna—he didn't like the Nazis—and reached Kansas City, jobless.

Synthetic spices and foods were an old story to Rapaport; he had been a food chemist in Europe where ersatz was a synonym for everything.

He joined Young immediately, and after Japan struck in the Pacific, bakers' reluctance to use synthetics faded swiftly. The midwestern pioneers in the new field found it no longer a problem to sell; the problem now was to fill all orders.

Few of the products are open to detailed explanation, young said. Here, though, are highlights:

Rye-bread mix, which simulates the fragrance and spice of caraway seed, once imported from Holland.

Synthetic cinnamon. Like synthetic cocoa, mace and rye bread flavoring, it is made of high-protein flours, baked, granulated and sprayed with available domestic flavoring oils from such sources as lemon peel.

Synthetic nut topping for bakery products, made from a cereal base and oil-sprayed for flavor.

Young and Rapaport have also developed the eggless egg. Built up in powdered form, it uses soybean protein, vegetable lecithin, carotene (from carrot seed, to make the egg yellow) and vegetable fats.

Bakers use them for cookies and sweet rolls, Young explained, reserving their natural eggs for cakes.

The synthetic eggs don't fry well, however. If you like 'em scrambled, Young confesses, you'll just have to find a hen.

'Black Market' Deprives Men Of Medical Aids

WASHINGTON, April 22. (UP)—Another reason why you shouldn't buy black market meat—The office of war information reported today that illegal butchering deprives American soldiers of potential surgical and medical aids.

By-products of slaughtering are lost by the black market butchers who work "secretly and in haste" and keeps only the readily salable cuts, throwing the rest away, OWI said.

Lost by such practices are gut thread for surgical sutures; adrenalin, used to check hemorrhage and as a heart stimulant, and insulin.

Also destroyed are gelatin needed for military photographic film, hides from which glycerine—basic in the production of nitro-glycerine—is obtained.

Consumers themselves can make the biggest contribution toward defeating "the new saboteurs, who place profits above patriotism and personal gain over the lives of our fighting youth," OWI said, by simply refusing to pay more than ceiling prices for meat.

By-product foodstuffs and fertilizer vital to this country's effort to feed the Allies also are destroyed by the clandestine slaughterers, OWI said, and many edible parts—kidneys, hearts, tongues, liver and sweetbreads—which "would go a long way in stretching America's meat stocks," are being thrown away.

Showdown Vote Is Sought On Bill To Exempt Fathers

WASHINGTON, April 22. (UP)—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) announced today in the senate that he would call for a "showdown" vote in the senate today on his proposal to exempt all pre-Pearl Harbor fathers from induction into the armed forces for the rest of the year.

Despairing, he said, of early consideration of the house-approved Kilday bill to put the drafting of fathers behind that of bachelors and childless husbands, Wheeler asserted he would attempt to "force action now to halt the breaking up of American homes."

"A move will be made to bring up a bill amending the selective service act to provide unemployment compensation benefits for conscientious objectors," Wheeler said. "If it is taken up I'm going to offer my amendment to stop drafting of fathers until January 1, 1944."

Merit Is Proven For Farmers Gin Seed Delinting

Hot hands may be short this spring and summer and the Farmers Gin Co. may be in a position to do something about it — at least that's what some of its new patrons say.

In recent weeks there have been many farmers bringing in their cottonseed to be put through the Farmers Gin Co. delinting unit because, they said, delinted seed could be planted with a corn plate and spaced as desired. There is no lint to clog the planter, distribution is regular, and under average conditions prevailing in this section of the country germination is generally much faster and surer.

The reason for the latter quality is obvious. Without lint, the seed naturally sprout quicker. When seed comes through the Farmers Gin delinter, they run through a cutter and inferior and imperfect seed are cut out, leaving only the ones most likely to germinate.

Too, the Farmers Gin process is accomplished with dry gas and seed are not harmed. In addition, if the producer desires, seed are treated with cerean, which guards against infestations.

This year Farmers Gin has handled 1,000,000 pounds of cotton seed for delinting to date for farmers from Coleman, Haskell, Taylor, Runnels, Tom Green, Dawson, Borden, and many other counties. One seed breeder alone—the Von Roeders (at Kaappe in Borden county) had 172 tons of their seed delinted by Farmers Gin. The unit now has seed booked several weeks ahead. By the time the season is over, work will be started in putting the gin machinery in its usual top shape to turn out the biggest total of any gin in this immediate area. Last season the total was 5,257 bales, every one of them a quality ginning job. Every pound of seed bought by the Farmers Gin was sold to the Big Spring Cotton Oil Co. so that farmers, and ranchers received the full benefit of the seed as cottonseed meal and hulls. Protein feed shortages this spring have impressed this in the minds of many who had livestock to feed.

Borum Operates Only The Studio At 102 1/2 E Third

E. T. Borum, operator of the photographic studio which bears his name, now is confining his activities to the location at 102 1/2 East Third street, upstairs over the old Penney building, where he specializes in quality portraits at reasonable prices.

The Herald erred in a recent article on this page in stating that Borum still is operating the Quick-Finish Photo shop located in the Lyric theatre building. He established this shop, but sold it some time ago. The Herald is glad to make this correction.

The original Borum studio remains a busy place these days, in turning out photographs of the men in service, their relatives, and of other civilians.

Special Scalp Treatments Are Featured At Youth Beauty Shop

Just about the busiest place in any village, town or city is the beauty shop where women go for permanents and manicures, shampoos and waves, along with facials and scalp treatments. Just about the busiest place in Big Spring is the Youth Beauty Shop, located in the Douglas Hotel building.

The Youth, owned by Mrs. Lois Eason, recently introduced a new Beau-Text hair treatment which has proved a life-saver to women who, because of a war, a bombardier school and a soldier, find themselves residents of Big Spring, noted for its high and dry climate. Beauty authorities agree that one of the greatest causes of dry and flaky scalps is climatic change. The Beau-Text treatment is applied before shampooing and then rinsed out, leaving the hair soft and with an oiler texture. On the other hand, an oily scalp treatment, known as the Admiration application, is also offered at the Youth, which for the past 13 years has successfully handled Big Spring women's scalp and skin problems.

A full staff of well trained employes, all of whom have had at least two years of experience in beauty work, with training at a credited beauty school, is employed by Mrs. Eason. Opal Chapman received her training at Parson's Beauty School in Abilene; Mary Nell Smithman at Neilson's Beauty School in Dallas, and Mrs. Nelson Coon at Beauty Culture College in Lubbock.

Operators urge that women bring their own bobby pins to appointments since beauty salons are unable to buy them, and with an allotment of only three boxes of hair pins per month, it has almost become necessary.

Spring not only brings to mind Easter bonnets and new clothes, but something new and different in the way of hair styles as well. An intriguing style is the finishing touch to a pretty costume.

Hauling Is A 24-Hour Service With Big Spring Transfer Co.

Day and night, the Big Spring Transfer company and the Merchants Fast Motor company, owned and managed by Kyle Gray, are on the job working for you. In a 24 hour service, the company moves household belongings, freight, and cattle.

Ten employees of the company handle such details as happened several days ago when in two days, four families decided to change residences. The trucks moved the households to Plainview, Clisco, Abilene, and Brenham. And this was only a small part of the day's business.

Much of the moving, Gray said, is done for families living in oil field communities who lately have decided to move either into Big Spring or to other towns.

Moving cattle is another important part of the transfer company's business. For awhile Gray had only three cattle trucks but found he had to have another one and now four big vehicles are in service.

At the office at 107 Runnels, hardly a hour passes that the phone doesn't ring with somebody at the other end of the line inquiring price, time, and other details of moving from one part of the state to another, or shipping freight to distant points. The Merchants Fast Motor Lines also handle freight out of Fort Worth and Dallas and have a daily service to offer customers. Gray is the Merchants representative here. The war started populations on a moving spree and although some individuals may be set for the duration, it seems like there is still a larger floating population moving in and moving out. And when one thinks of moving anything any place or anywhere, it is only natural to think of the Big Spring Transfer company where service is fast and efficient.

Under new post office regulations, sailors, marines, and coast guardmen get a better break than some of the men in the army in the matter of gifts of cigarettes from home. You can send men in all branches of the navy, marines, and coast guard a carton of their favorite cigarettes, no matter where they're stationed, in any part of the world—but due to restricted shipping space you can only mail cigarettes (or packages of any kind) to a man in the army if he's stationed in the United States. However, if you can send your man in the service a gift of cigarettes, you can be sure they'll be welcome. Cigarettes are not only recognized as a considerable factor in maintaining morale, but surveys among the service men themselves have shown that a carton of cigarettes is their favorite gift from home.

Take Care of What You Have

We don't limit to the fighting front. Here on the home front there are many ways every individual can help the war effort, by conserving food, by reducing office use activities and by careful use of hand-to-expense metal equipment. Your electric appliances are more valuable today because production of most appliances has been stopped to conserve metals for the machines of war. Take care of those you have because they must serve you well for the duration.
