Machinegun Gang Eludes Huge Man-Trap

Bandits May Have Escaped Ring By Train

CHICAGO, June 28. (AP)—Five machinegun bandits who held up an alleged gambling and handbook spot Saturday and shot two policemen in a running gun battle appeared today to have eluded the biggest man-trap in Cook County history.

Police expressed belief the gunmen slipped out of a ring of 200 officers on a freight train after they had been surrounded in a nearby stone quarry in the southwestern section of the county.

Treasury agents and police said they might have found some telltale evidence, however, in guns, ammunition and the abandoned car. About $1,000, the bulk of the holdup loot, also was found with the guns at a spot where the robbers were believed to have forded the Des Plaines River in their escape from the police trap.

Petersen crawled back into his car and radioed an alarm. Lieut. Joseph Clegg and other suburban LaGrange police took up the chase.

The chase began as the gunmen left the holdup scene. A child who said she saw the men shoot a lock off the door quickly informed a nearby filling station operator who called police.

Sgt. Charles Petersen arrived as the bandits emerged from the building. As he stepped from the car he was felled by two bullets in the abdomen.

More than 200 policemen surrounded and searched the area throughout the night. Until darkness 11 planes from the Glenview Naval Air Station circled over the area in an effort to spot the fugitives.

LYNDON JOHNSON "... Preparedness, peace and progress."

Johnson Will 'Drop In' Here On Thursday

Dynamic young Lyndon Johnson brings his campaign for the U. S. senatorship to Big Spring Thursday of this week.

And he'll literally be "dropping in" for a brief talk with voters, since he's making his campaign tour by helicopter, the strange flying device which goes backward, forward, straight up and down.

Because of this novel mode of transportation, Johnson is to land on the Big Spring high school grounds, just back of the high school building on that portion of the campus along Nolan and 11th.

Special arrangements with local authorities has been completed by Lloyd Wooten, who heads a group directing arrangements in Johnson's behalf.

The candidate is due here around 9 a. m. His schedule calls for only a brief stop, and he will speak from his helicopter at the school grounds. Wooten and others are inviting all the voters to hear him.

Johnson's aides have reported that his helicopter will circle the city just before it makes the high school landing.

Johnson, who has served 11 years in Congress and has a notable record of achievement, is making an extensive tour of the state in his bid for the higher office. He is campaigning on a platform of "preparedness, peace and progress" and will outline his position on various issues in his talk in Big Spring.

Peddy will make radio speeches today through Friday at 6:45 p. m. Today his stump is in Waco. He will be at Hillsboro, Cleburne, Waxahachie and Corsicana tomorrow. GOP Is Favored But No Cinch

The republican party is confident that November will break the national drought it has experienced for 16 long years.

Within the party—and from without for that matter—there is some debate as to whether the ticket constitutes putting the best foot forward, but GOP forces everywhere may be counted on to unite behind Gov. Dewey and Governor Warren.

Unless there are momentous developments to the contrary, the democratic party shortly will nominate the President to head its ticket. The fight at this convention likely will be over the vice-presidential slot.

This year the GOP will make much of the fact that its ticket offers a freshness, comparative youth and vigor. It will talk considerably of cleaning house, of reducing federal payrolls, of reforms in general.

All in all, the trend and the psychology is on the GOP side. This does not, however, necessarily mean a GOP picnic during the campaign and election. While there is considerable turmoil within the democratic ranks it does not follow that the solid South would go republican out of spite over the President's civil rights program, especially when the GOP has a strong civil rights plank of its own. Too, the big end of the labor vote is quite apt to vote democratic again, and this is no small item. Experts are agreed that the odds are on the republican side at this stage. Gov. Dewey evidently is aware that there will be a hard fight, for he passed up some horse-trading isolationist material to pick a highly regarded Westerner for his running mate. He wasn't taking chances on miffing the ball before it's actually caught.

Championship Not A Color

Joe Louis is retiring as heavyweight boxing champion with an undefeated record.

Since he won the crown the Brown Bomber made 26 successful defenses of it. Admittedly, much of the timber opposing him was pretty weak, but several of the fighters were skillful enough to test the champion's metal.

It's a fair testimony to Louis that initial prejudices against him because of his race were gradually overcome. Steadily those who would pull for just anyone to beat him diminished in number until a preponderance of fight fans not only believed he would win but actually hoped he would.

Being a boxing champion for that long and not letting it go to the head is quite an accomplishment. By carrying his honors with a due amount of humility and dignity, Joe Louis has done his sport and his race genuine service. Championship is a quality, not a color.

CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS ARE RECALLED

By HAL BOYLE PHILADELPHIA, June 25. (U.S.)

Convention sidelights: The people's voice, filtered through 14,000 Republican larynxes, were down to a whisper Thursday after nearly seven hours of whooping for their seven "peoples" choices.

The Grand Old Party's grandest old party began with a stirring exchange of war whoops and boos between people for and against Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

It ended at 3:02 a.m., with a hoarse tired cheer for Gen. Douglas MacArthur in a hall three-fourths empty.

By then the hall looked like it held a semi-nude convention meeting in the wreckage of a hurricane. Confetti, torn streamers, discarded paper cups and sandwich scraps littered the floor. Three fugitive red balloons bobbed against the ceiling, trailing "Win with Taft" pennants.

The men delegates long since had discarded their coats, their neckties and ripped open their collars. Many lady delegates had slipped their feet out of their shoes.

As the delegates filed out, the janitors awoke from catnaps and went to work.

Had the dawn come up like thunder Thursday it would have sounded only like a whimper to the weary Republicans dreaming sweet victory dreams—for Tom Dewey, Or Taft, Or Warren, Or Stassen, Or Baldwin, Or Vandenberg, Or MacArthur.

Wednesday night the voices named these seven.

One elderly marcher, after trudging half an hour in the Dewey parade around the hall, sat down next to his wife and said: "All right, Mother, I've knocked myself out."

Another delegate grabbed a friend and tried to get him to march around again: "Come on, Ed!" "I'm for him all right," said Ed, "but my feet aren't."

A wife said to her husband, also a Taft man: "Let's go home." "Not for money!" yelled her spouse. "This is more exercise than I get on the farm."

As the parade for Gov. Earl Warren of California got underway, patrolman Joe Pisano saluted two characters busy lifting badges from coats left on chairs by two delegates.

"We wanted to see up real close," one of the badge-grabbers explained virtuously.

Another Warren supporter moaned: "I've been tuning up for this all night—and now I'm too hoarse to yell."

This happened after the speech nominating Stassen: First voice: "What did he say?" Second voice: "I couldn't hear. Yell anyway."

Affairs Of The World—

A Breeder Of Trouble

By DEWITT MACKENZIE The Soviet drive to gain control of Germany remains the biggest and most dangerous international issue—not a threat of impending war but a breeder of grim potentialities.

The three western powers of occupation—America, Britain and France—view the situation gravely.

The immediate concern is for the some 2,000,000 inhabitants of the American-British-French zones of Berlin whom the Russians are trying to starve out by cutting rail transport.

This diabolical scheme against a helpless civilian population is, of course, part of the Red campaign to force the western powers to withdraw from the city, thus delivering it into the hands of the Muscovites. Since Berlin lies in the heart of the Soviet zone, the evacuation of the huge metropolis by the democracies would enable the Muscovites to establish their projected Soviet government with Berlin as its capital.

This new Bolshevik move in Germany symbolizes only too graphically the division between communism and democracy. There isn't the slightest possibility of any compromise on fundamentals.

But supposing the western powers did withdraw from Berlin and let the Bolsheviks establish their state in eastern Germany—what then? For one thing it would complete the division of the reich. This would be a grievous blow to European rehabilitation, since pre-war Germany was the keystone of European continental economy.

Then the Germans naturally want a united reich, and establishment of a separate state in the reich Soviet zone, with reverend Berlin as its capital, would be calculated to provide a strong lure to persuade the people of western Germany to strive for unity, even if it is under Russian domination.

Secret House Committee Vote Is Given On Blocking Of Housing Bill

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON. — One of the most important votes in the closing days of Congress was held in strictest secrecy, though it affected several million people. It was the vote of the House Rules Committee to prevent the housing bill from reaching the floor of the Congress where other congressmen could vote on it. However, this column has now obtained that secret vote.

The Taft housing bill, with provisions for slum clearance and low-cost housing, had long before passed the Senate. It also passed the house banking and currency committee after Congressman Jesse Wolcott of Michigan pigeonholed it for weeks.

Finally it went to the Rules Committee, which has the power to decide whether any bill can come before the full house for a vote. And that was as far as it got.

While thousands of veterans waited for long-promised housing to materialize, six Republicans on the Rules Committee voted thumbs down.

Naturally they tried to keep their names secret. However, here is the rollcall of the six men who defied the will of the majority of Congress and wouldn't even let 400 odd other congressmen vote:

Leo Allen of Illinois, chairman of the Rules Committee; James Wadsworth of New York, who while voting with the real-estate demerol that young men be drafted; Edgar Chenoweth of Colorado; Ross Rizley of Oklahoma whose law firm represented some of the big natural gas companies while he authored a rate-increase bill for the gas companies; Forest Harness of Indiana; and Robert Rich of Pennsylvania.

Two Democrats present voted for the housing bill: Howard Smith of Virginia and Adolph Sabath of Illinois.

That was how the Taft housing bill containing the hopes of millions was buried.

CONGRESSMAN Run-out Cox—One interesting gentleman who walked out at the last minute on the housing bill was Congressman Gene Cox of Georgia.

Cox is a key man on the Rules Committee, claims to have great influence. Before the vote came off, Cox sent a telegram to his home district promising to support the housing bill.

"You may assure all interested that I will do everything in my power to see that a rule is granted promptly for House consideration," Cox wired Hudson Malone, director of the Albany, Ga., housing authority.

"The bill will have my strongest support with the hope that it will be passed before adjournment."

But just before the vote came, Cox got up and ducked out of the Rules Committee. News of his run-out, of course, did not get back home to his home voters.

WOMAN COMMISSIONER Forthright Lady—One of the few Truman appointees to be confirmed by the Senate during the last-minute rush of Congress was Miss Freida Henneck, the first lady ever appointed to the Federal Communications Commission. Miss Henneck was confirmed not only because of her ability but because of her amazing frankness.

Called before the Republican-dominated Interstate Commerce Committee, Miss Henneck, appointed as a Democrat, told the senators: "I'm against you and I always have been. I have done my best to collect money for Roosevelt and have probably taken a lot of good Republican money away from what you wanted to collect."

"Do you know anything about radio?" asked one Republican senator.

"Only that I've raised a lot of money for radio programs for you to know what Miss Henneck Senator Brewster of Maine wanted to know what Miss Henneck thought of Mary Martin of Maine, who last year was considered as a possible appointee to the FCC.

"I didn't know her," replied the lady Democrat from New York.

Deputy Commissioner Norton in a letter of resignation laid it right on the line against Oscar Ewing's political interference:

"I would be less than frank . . . If I should neglect to say that one major factor in my decision to leave the Office of Education has been my dissatisfaction and deep concern . . . over the rate at which the political administration of the federal security agency is taking over . . . I cannot look with complacency upon rapidly developing trends to subject the professional bureau that is the Office of Education to increasing controls on the part of numerous persons planted in the structural organization at levels between the commissioner of education and the administrator of the Federal Security Agency . . ."

"Nor can I be pleased," continued Norton, "with the extent to which administrative decisions have been made and subsequent executive orders arbitrarily issued without adequate opportunity for democratic discussion of the principles involved."

POLITICS IN EDUCATION Education Blowup—The U. S. Office of Education, which for long years under Roosevelt was kept out of partisan politics, is now headed for a blowup. E. B. Norton, deputy commissioner of education, has resigned in a huff over political censorship. He is sore at energetic Oscar Ewing, new federal security administrator, who is the over-all boss of the Office of Education.

Ewing was former vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee and is an all-out Truman man. Another resignation in the office is that of Educational Commissioner John Studebaker himself.

WHAT IT MEANS—

Scientists May 'Breed' Atomic Fuel In Futur

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON — Atomic scientists are talking more and more about a major atomic project—Operation Bootstrap. In simple words, its goal is to "breed" atomic fuel from other atomic fuel, getting more than the original amount. At the same time heat and electricity would be produced. Thus atomic fuel would be "pulling itself up by its bootstraps."

Dr. Robert F. Bacher, the only scientist member of the Atomic Energy Commission, called this project "revolutionary" in a recent speech. He added that "it certainly is enticing." He says Operation Bootstrap possibly may answer the question whether atomic plants ever will provide a major amount of the world's power. It may answer other questions, too, but this one is of prime importance. Here's why:

Even if scientists discover ways to build atomic power plants on a large scale, the basic raw material—uranium—is scarce. Operation of the plants would be limited to the amount of uranium that can be found in the world. Operation Bootstrap is investigating one way to get around this.

Atomic bombs and power plants must have a fissionable material as a base. A fissionable material is an element whose atoms will split by chain reaction and give out energy.

In the atomic bomb project the fissionable material is produced

True Stories Of West Texas

CHINA TREE IS MEMORIAL TO PIONEERS

By N. H. KINCAID

Standing at the mouth of Gyp Creek in Kent county was an old China tree, marked with a peculiar defacement. One of its branches had been torn off in such a way that the stump was a sharp-pointed prong. And it was this prong that helped write a story of the early West; a story whose origin was 150 miles away on Sand Creek in western Brown county, just east of the Santa Anna mountain. It was a story of the Bill Williams family, and of Big Foot and his Kiowa braves.

The incident occurred in 1873, just 75 years ago this coming December. Little 12 year old Nina Williams had gone with her mother to theorchard to do the milking. "Let's take the baby with us, Nina," the mother had said. "He is such an active little fellow he might pull the covers over his face and smother, if left alone."

As Mother was choosing the site to place the baby so that she could watch him as she milked, Nina scurried about for wood chips for a small fire. The two men folks of the family had left home quite early in order to cut rails down on Jim Ned creek.

Nina held the baby while Mother built the fire. "Just look at Susie, bawling and squawling for his mother," Nina told the sleepy baby as she pointed out the eager little calf. As Mother placed the baby on the blanket, Nina ran and opened the gate for the waiting cow. Quickly finishing the baby's cover, she then straightened the baby's cover and added the remaining chips to the fire. "Mother, I'll get some more wood," she called as she hurried back towards the cow lot, her arms loaded.

But Nina wandered farther than she had planned and didn't return immediately. A few remaining bright colored leaves down in the draw had caught her attention and she knew that Mother would enjoy their gaiety. "Mother does so like pretty things, and she has such a few of them," she told herself as she hurried back towards the cow lot, her arms loaded.

But midway she paused, startled, and listened. There was no doubt about it; that was the baby, and he was screaming as though in pain. Breaking into a run she soon rounded a corner of the small stockade-type shed and stopped, horrified.

There before her, just mounting their horses for departure, was a small group of Indians. But yonder, through the rails of the cow lot, Nina glimpsed her mother. Her body, slumped forward, was studied with arrows. Nangley lay the baby in a naked, mangled heap.

It was Nina's scream that drew the Indians' attention to her. Stopping, one swooped her up onto the horse with him as he hurried to join the others; and Nina's load of sticks and pretty cluster of leaves dropped to the ground, unnoticed.

When the posse found her body it was swinging, impaled to the China tree, with the prong protruding from the neck.

The Nation Today—

GOP Offers Young Ticket

By JAMES MARLOW PHILADELPHIA (U.S.)—Youth before-age is the ticket the republicans are offering to the nation.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, 46-year-old republican candidate for president, is the youngest man the republicans have offered in years for that high job—except for four years ago, then it was Dewey at 42.

Gov. Earl Warren of California, picked by the convention as the vice presidential candidate, is 57. Dewey, if elected and if he follows the policy he pursued as governor of New York, will make use of Warren's brains and sincerity.

Reporters close to Dewey as governor say he makes decisions only when he has the unanimous approval of his advisers.

Warren, with his reported balance and moderate judgment, will sit in on Dewey decisions if Dewey, elected, follows his Albany tactics. Dewey might have made it somewhat easier on himself in Congress if he had picked as his vice presidential running mate Charles Halleck of Indiana.

Halleck, as majority leader in the House where the republicans outnumber the democrats, is a smooth suave operator.

He has the republicans in the House pretty well under control. And he could have been expected, as vice president and therefore president of the Senate, to be a good politician with the senators.

But there's another side to it. Halleck, at 47, is just one year older than Dewey. Warren, at 57, is 11 years older.

Under the law passed by the republican-controlled 80th Congress Dewey can seek office as president only twice.

If Warren has two terms as vice president, he will be through at 65, hardly a time to look for the presidency.

But if Dewey had picked Halleck as a running mate and won, he would have had as his side-kick a man who, after two terms as vice president, would be only 55.

Under those circumstances, Halleck, at 55, certainly could be expected to want the presidency. So Dewey, through eight years as president, would be conscious of a man standing beside him who could be expected to make every decision in terms of a possible presidency himself.

Around The Rim—By The Herald Staff

Recruiter Has Bust Of Hitler

Adolph Hitler may or may not be dead but Capt. O. T. Ham of the local US Army Recruiting station has the former Fuehrer's head prominently displayed in his home at 1906 Johnson street.

The likeness, which is most accurate, is a bronze sculpture Ham ran onto in the basement of the Munich Air Ordnance depot in Germany early last year. Ham was serving as adjutant of that unit, which occupied the building formerly housing the famed BMW automobile and aircraft manufacturing units.

Standing some 30 inches high, the model of Hitler is mounted on a marble base and weighs approximately 30 pounds.

The captain also found a huge Nazi emblem, complete with wings, in the basement where the sculpture was uncovered but found them too massive to move. Reluctantly, he had to leave them behind.

Among other things Ham brought back with him or had sent back to America were a 135-piece beautiful China set, some 25 expensive and gorgeously decorated German beer steins, coo-coo clocks which keep perfect time, exquisite wine goblets, wine bottles with silver tassels, original paintings by several of the most famous artists in Germany, including E. Brehm and Edmund Werner, and water pipes.

Most of his war trophies have been used to decorate the interior of his residence at 1906 Johnson street.

Ham recalls that the basement of the Air Depot building in which he worked in Munich was connected with other buildings in the city by a mass of tunnels, one of which led to the hospital.

The captain landed in Germany April 3, 1946 and was joined four months to the day later by Mrs. Ham, who is here with him now.

While in Munich, the Hams lived in a 20-room building that had once been used as an apartment house. She described the quarters as being very comfortable and recalls that the plumbing was quite modern.

Broadway—

Hollywood Girls Take To Stage

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK—It has become the fashion among the more sturdily entrenched drama critics to look suspiciously at every Hollywood aspirant to Broadway stage success. And having looked with normal suspicion at a pair of lovely young Hollywood ladies making their Broadway stage debuts, the critics promptly abandoned their standoffishness and hurled their typewriters into the air.

The girls thus exuberantly accepted on their first tries are Marsha Hunt, currently the loveliest single figure of "Joy to the World," and Faye Emerson, only feminine performer and naturally the romantic center of "The Play's The Thing," 28-year-old perennial delight from the pen of Ferenc Molnar.

Miss Hunt's triumph was a matter of suspiciously large satisfaction to one of the veteran reviewers. So constant had been his published suggestion that Marsha should abandon films and have at the Broadway theater, that a good many of us thought the dignified fellow had caught a great big schoolboy crush. But when the votes were in, the praise was unanimous. The critic was treated as somewhat of a sage. When the other critics called her activities "excellent," "completely delightful," "One of the authentic personal triumphs of the season," Miss Hunt's cup was abrimming.

Faye Emerson's joy is similarly unbounded. Her performance was given importance by the aisle seat assassins beyond her dearest daydreams. "An eye tonic, acts with sincerity," one of the toughies said, breaking down in the face of pulchritudinous excellence. "An auspicious Broadway debut," another dramatic dead-end kid wrote.

While Marsha Hunt's background included a stretch as a Powers model and a jump directly into the movies, Miss Emerson's training had a little more stage solidity. She appeared in plays in a San Diego amateur company and later with a professional stock troupe. The movies beckoned, and after some 30 films, domesticity called and the movie star became Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt. Last summer she tried the summer theaters to see if she still wanted to work. She discovered the greasepaint was much a part of her as her home life, and she decided she might keep both careers balanced nicely. The critics having agreed, it seems likely that Faye Emerson will be a permanent part of Broadway.

If only someone writes enough war dramas in the next few years Harvey Lembeck will be happy.

Harvey figures he can act authentically in any branch of the service. "I've been in the Army, Navy and the Marines," is his prideful boast. He plays the role of "Insains" in Broadway's biggest dramatic hit in years, "Mister Roberts." Furthermore, he was chosen for his role before anyone else—even Henry Fonda, the star.

When Leland Hayward, the producer, and Joshua Logan, director and co-author of "Mister Roberts," started casting the play, they announced they would listen to every applicant personally. This brought an unprecedented rush of ambitious amateurs and professionals. The mob grew to such proportions that Logan and Hayward finally found time to see only 700—still more than any similar audition in Broadway history. Just when it looked bleakest for Harvey he waved a letter of recommendation from Maurice Evans. Evans had listened to Lembeck earlier in the season when Evans was casting "Man and Superman."

Watermelon season has arrived at the Wooten Produce Co., 401 East Second street, and a good supply of top quality, ice-cold melons already has been stocked. The firm also is maintaining its usual stock of dressed poultry, eggs and all types of livestock feeds.

Home Ownership Brings Real Joy

People who live and raise families in their own homes get a kind of enjoyment that one can't measure in dollars and cents. So says Roy Reeder, owner and manager of the R. B. Reeder Insurance and Loan company, 304 Scurry street. The concern maintains a department which deals exclusively in real estate. In charge is Wayne Pearce, formerly employed by Corden refinery and a long time Big Spring resident.

Persons interested in buying or selling houses, lots, farms or ranches can contact Pearce through the Reeder office or by telephoning number 531.

Individuals can also arrange to finance the purchase of a home through Reeder's. Loans will be made on new houses as well as homes which have undergone a major overhaul.

Pearce is in a position to arrange FHA loans for his clients. If other methods of financing are sought, the concern will arrange for payment with any of several large and established insurance companies.

In business here for 14 years, Reeder has based his reputation on honesty and fair dealings with the public. Most types of insurance, including protection for dwellings, vehicles, furnishings, life, crops, bonds and all kinds of liability, can be arranged through the establishment.

Reeder is the agent for some of the oldest, strongest and most reliable insurance companies in America.

Economical financing of new and used automobiles can also be arranged through the concern.

REAL VALUES are found in appliance lines at Firestone Store. Here are a few of the items, including an upright freezer unit, refrigerators, electric range, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, electric roasters. In addition to these, the store has a host of smaller units, and in all cases delivery can be made immediately. (Jack M. Haynes photo).

Firestone Presents Variety Of Electrical Appliances

Electric appliances, including exceptional lines of deep freezers, refrigerators, ranges, washing machines and radios, are being stressed at Firestone Store now.

Elmo Knightstep, manager, emphasized that models which Firestone boasts are on the floor for inspection and purchase. Here are some of the items and highlights:

Deep Freezer—This Firestone box is the upright type which saves back-bending and is the equivalent of three conventional lockers. In addition to holding a minimum of 350 pounds of food, its minus 18 degrees quick freeze unit handles 85 pounds for efficient processing.

Radios—Featured is the Sheridan Concert radio, a beautiful Georgian design in light mahogany. The combination unit not only serves as record player and radio, but has 12 and six inch speaker, 15 tubes, receives both A-M and F-M, and has the three short-wave bands.

Electric Range—This beautiful cooking stove is completely automatic. Materials left in the roasty oven with floating door will be done to a turn with no one around to watch. The six-quart deep well in handy, and the burner is adjustable so that it may be converted into a fourth surface burner.

Washing Machines—These range from the handy six to the heavier 16-pound (dry clothes) containers which keep the water hotter and give an unexcelled cleansing motion, which, nevertheless, is easy on the clothes.

Other models range from handy $19.95 plastic finish ones through table, portable and other types, all of high quality and attractive price.

Refrigerator—There's no waiting list for the Firestone seven-foot refrigerator which ranges from $269 to $299. Among its many advantages is a copious frozen food drawer at the top where 35 pounds of food may be stored, not counting the 7 cubic feet of remaining space, plus bottom storage.

Fems To Be Special Guests In Bronc-Cat Game Tonight

The female species of that sports bug, the baseball fan, will be honored at Steer park tonight when the Big Spring Broncs and Ballinger's Cats wind up their three game set in an 8:15 outing. La femme can gain entry into the stadium, with or without escort. It will be the first Ladies Night of the 1948 season and General Manager Claud McAden promises more of the same, if it proves a success.

mates aboard in the top half of the frame. The blow game Ballinger a temporary 4-3 advantage. Behrens, second Ballinger twirler, appeared to have the situation well in hand in the eighth. He retired Ace Mendez on strikes and forced Rodriguez to roll out to the box. He passed Ortillo Bosch on four pitches, however, and then Vasquez came in to pickle one. The Big Spring short stop hit the second pitch after the first one failed to come in.

Scrapping mightily to stay on top in Longhorn league standings, the Broncs will depend on Lefty Jimmy Perce to see them through. Perce has a 7-1 won-and-lost record. McCarthy (5-0) or Mihalac (6-5) will twirl for Ballinger.

Rodriguez gave up but five hits. He was in hot water several times, because of lack of control. Willie Wynns had singled and Bob Murphy walked to set the stage for Neudendorf's homer in the eighth. Ace Mendez blasted his 11th home run for Big Spring in the sixth to give Rodriguez working margin. The Ace's four-run master came with Joe Areniscia up from.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

The trip to Ballinger last week would have put quite a crimp in the pocket book of Freddy Rodriguez, Big Spring's crack pitcher, if he had brought the wallet back with him.

Trouble was, Roddy lost pocket book and all, either immediately before he left here or on the way to Ballinger. In the wallet was $135 in cash plus some papers, which is quite a roll, even in these times. The loss wouldn't have hurt Fred so much, had the money not been set aside for an ailing parent, who is in a Havana hospital.

Who ever found the purse could contribute a lot toward easing the boy's financial worries by returning it to its rightful owner. He can be reached through Claud McAden, general manager of the Broncs, Phone 2298.

RODDY $40,000 PITCHER, SAYS CAMBRIA
George White, the Dallas scribe, gives Freddy and Joe Cambria quite a sendoff in a recent column.

It seems Cambria told George that he had a boy who was worth $40,000 of any big league club's money right now and that lad was none other than our own Trompolone.

"If he were pitching for one of the big American universities, half a dozen clubs would be knocking each other down getting to him with that kind of money for his signature. Since he is an unknown, and a foreigner besides, no one gives him a tumble," George quotes Cambria as saying.

PASQUEL ORDERED SEN SCOUT OUT OF MEXICO
Cambria, incidentally, likes to tell about the time he went on a scouting trip into Mexico and paused to see one of the games in Jorge Pasquel's league, the one that gave the big leagues fits for a couple of seasons.

Jorge found out he was there, drew a gun on him and ordered him from the country. At least that's the way Joe tells it.

STASEY, ATWOOD BOTH OUT WITH INJURIES
Both of the managers of the teams in action here Saturday night, Pat Stasey of the Big Springers and Ballinger's Bill Atwood were out of the sidelines with injuries.

Stasey has been taking it easy with a pulled muscle in his leg. Atwood had an ailing foot. Stasey did make an appearance as a pinch hitter but hit one off his handle to short left field.

Floyd Geiger, who leads off for the Ballinger club, wears a big No. 1 on his back.

DID CONFLICT CAUSE O'NEILL TO RESIGN?
What's this about the umpiring team of Ben Steiner and Jack O'Neill breaking up because the latter complained that Steiner insisted on overruling a lot of his decisions when he (Steiner) was doing plate duty?

Steiner courted no favor here Saturday night when he crossed up Bill Meeks' decision on a play at third base. Meeks, incidentally, is the third partner he's had since the season got underway.

AT SPORTATORIUM

Murdock And Knutson In Grudge Encounter

Tonight's preliminary wrestling match at the Big Spring Athletic club, which pits Frankie Hill Murdock against Dr. Gil Knutson, shapes up as quite a grudge match.

Knutson was referee of the bout last week in which Murdock insisted on dealing out more misery to the arbiter than he did his opponent, who happened to be George Lopez.

Things developed to such a stage that Knutson disqualified Murdock and awarded the decision to Lopez. Murdock could hardly retain himself.

Murdock gets a chance to have his say against the Iowan this evening but whether he'll be quite so unruly against a Knutson in a pair of wrestling trunks remains to be seen.

Billy Weidner of Boston, Mass., and George Curtis, Knoxville, Tenn., scramble in the main event.

A clean, scientific match is in prospect, for a change. Both boys have been crackerjack in the past. There's no indication either will resort to villainy in this one. Curtis was very popular here two years ago. He'll be bidding to regain some of that popularity.

Weidner is a veteran but isn't ancient, by any means. He's still fast though he depends more on strength to see him through. Once he begins to flex his muscles, he may make Curtis wince.

Proceedings get underway around 8:30 o'clock.

Cosden Loses Double Header To Baldrige

Cosden's Pipeliners, the Forsan Big Spring entry in the Texas softball league, will meet the Ragdale nine of San Angelo in a twin bill at Forsan Saturday night.

Blacky Hines' Pipeliners dropped two games to Baldrige of Lubbock in Lubbock Saturday night, 6-0 and 4-1.

In other contests, the league-leading Bluebonnet outfit of Lubbock split a double bill with Odessa, 5-0 and 2-3. Crane's Oilers halved a pair with Ragdale, winning the first, 3-2, but dropping the second, 3-0. Nathan's of San Angelo edged St. Mary's 1-0, then dropped the afterpiece, 5-1.

Curly Hays, Nathan's twirler, turned in the pitching gem of the night when he pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Crane.

Knott Decisions Coahoma Nine

COAHOMA, June 28.—Raymond Chapman pitched and batted the Knott Hill Billies to a 12-5 victory over the Coahoma Bulldogs in Tri-County baseball league play here Sunday afternoon.

Chapman limited the home town nine to six bingles and he paced a 15-hit attack against two Coahoma pitchers by walloping a four-run circuit blow in the seventh inning.

The Billies broke a 2-2 deadlock in the fifth inning when they crossed the plate twice, and then went on to add eight more tallies in the last three stanzas.

The line score:
KNOTT 110 020 512—12 15
COAHOMA 200 000 102—5 6

JC Wins Short One, 15 To 9

In a game called at the end of the sixth inning due to inclement weather, the Howard County Junior college Jayhawks won their first game of second half Tri-County baseball league play by defeating Colorado City, 15-9, here Sunday afternoon.

A. J. Cain, on the pitcher's rubber for the collegians, coasted to victory behind the heavy clubbing of his mates.

The Hawks got to two Colorado City twirlers for 15 assorted blows, including four by Don Henry, center fielder. Henry batted in four tallies.

The Wolves massaged Cain's offerings for ten safeties and scored in every inning but one. J. Carter, Feaster and Brown had two hits each.

AMASON HURLS 5-HITTER Forsan Wins From Ackerly Flock Behind Amason, 13-0

FORSAN, June 28.—The Forsan Oilers toyed with the Ackerly Eagles in a Tri-County baseball league game here Sunday afternoon, winning a 13-0 decision behind the crafty elbowing of Bill Amason.

The victory figured well in Manager Dave Roberson's plans for a second half title. By virtue of the win, the Oilers now shape up as the team to beat in Tri-County circuit play.

Amason set the Eagles down with five hits: Only in the ninth did the visitors get to him for more than one safety.

The hurler and Lewis Huevel led Forsan's 16-hit attack with three blows each. Amason collected a home run, triple and single while Huevel had three one-basers. Ed Hall banged out three of Ackerly's five hits. He singled in the fourth, tripled in the seventh and doubled in the ninth.

Amason fanned 13 in his nine-inning stint.

Table with 2 columns: Player name, Statistics (AB, R, H, E, F). Includes players like Ackerly, Dyer, Eickhaus, Shortes, Brown, Hall, Brown, Wiggins, Reed, and Hanny.

Legion Game Is Halted By Rain

All the Big Spring American Legion baseball team had to show for its Sunday activity was a 120-mile trip, as a sudden downpour of rain halted their scheduled game in Odessa before the umpires could yell "play ball."

The game was booked for 4 p. m. on the Odessa diamond, and at 4:03 p. m. the rain splashed down.

Hayward Says GOP Meeting Harmonious

The Republican National Convention of 1948 which concluded Friday in Philadelphia probably was one of the most harmonious sessions of its kind ever held. G. H. Hayward who returned to Big Spring Sunday, observed.

Hayward, who attended the convocation as an alternate delegate from Texas, was a witness to virtually all activity in Convention Hall during the event. He was impressed with the open approach used by leading backers of the various candidates. Apparently there was little "horse trading" behind closed doors, Hayward said.

Complete unity appeared to envelop the delegates as the selections were made, and Hayward said he was confident that the party had a strong ticket in Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Gov. Earl Warren of California. Although the Texas delegation plugged for Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, the Lone Star group is well pleased with the Dewey-Warren slate, he said.

Philadelphia weather failed to produce such favorable comment, however. On Thursday, Hayward said, the thermometer soared and humid atmosphere produced conditions that were highly uncomfortable.

Hayward praised several convention speakers, including former President Herbert Hoover, Senator Bricker, and he was especially impressed with Gov. Dewey's acceptance speech.

AT AMPHITHEATRE

Judy Canova Show Coming Wednesday

July Canova in person leads an all-star cast into the city amphitheatre Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. for what sponsoring jaycees believe will be an entertainment highlight of the season.

This is the first time that the famous Judy has ever headed her own company for personal appearance on the road, and in assembling the show, she put a number of top-ranking comedy, musical and dancing acts under contract in supporting roles.

In addition to her own individual song and humorous character appearances, Judy will do several numbers with her sister, Annie, and her brother, Zeke. One of these numbers presents them in their old vaudeville act, a hilarious skit in which they toured the country successfully for years.

In still another, Judy and Annie do a unique harmony duet, each playing a piano. Judy and Zeke team up in their popular Maw and Paw comedy routine of "down on the farm."

Included in the bill are the Taylor family, five youngsters in a sensational acrobatic act; "Pansy and the Horse," a two man - power equine clown which cavorts in the whip of Marie Mayo; Bert Henderson who proves that "people are funny" with his audience-participation act; and The Robert and Renee Trampoline act. There also are other musical numbers, a chorus of pretty girls and Frank Konny's orchestra.

First Cavalry History Ready

All combat veterans of the 1st Cavalry Division are being offered a copy of a new 25-page history of the division, which is now off to the press and ready for distribution, according to the local US Army recruiting office.

The 25-page history, prepared by Major Bertram C. Wright, Andover, Conn., is attractively bound and illustrated. It was printed in Tokyo, Japan, where the 1st Cavalry Division is now on occupation duty.

Combat veterans desiring a copy should write to the Public Information Officer, 1st Cavalry Division, APO 201, c/o Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.

Veterans of the first Cavalry Division and 11th Airborne Division will have the opportunity of talking to the former buddies when a special recruiting team, flown back from Japan, visits Big Spring on July 8, 9 and 10. The soldiers are taking time off from their jobs in Japan to help build their divisions up to strength.

Miss Peggy Turner Becomes Bride Of Dr. James Marshall McKinney

Dr. and Mrs. James Marshall McKinney will be at home in Big Spring after a wedding trip to Mexico following their marriage in Dallas Saturday evening.

Dr. McKinney is with the Malone-Hogan hospital in Big Spring.

Mrs. McKinney is the former Peggy Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Turner and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. W. J. McKinney.

The Rev. Anton J. Van Puffelen of the Westminster Presbyterian Church performed the ceremony in the garden at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a custom-made gown of swiss organza with short puffed sleeves. The billowing skirt was crossed at intervals with three tucked bands edged in double ruffles. The fitted torso was accented with vertical bands of Swiss embroidery which extended into the full length of the skirt. The tucked motif was repeated at the neckline.

A short double-tiered veil of French illusion fell from a draped organza bonnet faced with the same Swiss banding. Tiny hand-made flowers were scattered over the shoulder-length veil. The bridal bouquet was of stephanotis and sweetheart roses.

American Housewives Redecorate Antiques

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Newsfeatures Writer

Once upon a time there lived a very eccentric housewife. She used her frying pan to fry in. She used her carpet sweeper to clean with. She went to the retail store and bought new furniture to furnish her house with.

If you can believe it, this housewife never painted her skillets apple green and used it for a silent butler. She never disassembled her carpet-sweeper, hung it on the wall and grew grape vines in it. She never haunted storage warehouses looking for an old kitchen table which was really, under the paint, Chinese Chippendale.

But this housewife died a long time ago.

Nowadays an American housewife can't look at a simple thing like a wheelbarrow or an empty medicine bottle without figuring some way she can turn one or both into home-made objects d'art.

People used to boast about their Hepplewhites and Sheratons. Today they can't wait to swing the conversation around to how they turned grandmother's washtand into a wing-backed period piece with hand-quilted slip-covers. If they are really ingenious, they can write pieces about their ad libbing for the magazines.

Beginners usually start making coffee tables. A coffee table is any four-legged piece of furniture with the legs sawed off. The lower to the floor you drink coffee these days, the more chic you are. It's never cricket, however, just to saw off the legs of an old table and let it go at that.

Everybody who is doing this thing has to refinish the piece whether it needs it or not. Experts never skin their knuckles or get tired muscles, either. One rule in the game is to disguise the original purpose of the article as much as possible.

Currently there's a magazine piece about how one young couple (young-marrieds, they call them) practically furnished an entire apartment with an old-fashioned dining room table they bought for $6 (in a second-hand place, match).

First, of course, they cut off the legs and made a coffee table. With the left over pieces of legs they produced (this wasn't too clear to me) a VERY expensive-looking lamp, yes, lamp. Then they took the left-over leaves from the table
