The spirit of Christmas fills hearts and homes with joy

Yuletide messages of love, reverence, hope, reflected in customs from around the world

The music of carols fills the air, ringing in the brisk December afternoon. The sun, setting early, touches innumerable shaggy evergreens and buildings decked for Christmas with its pinkening rays, endowing them with a misty, almost mystical appearance. It's Christmas eve, and stores are bustling with last-minute shoppers, searching yet for the perfect present for the special people in their lives.

Back at home, a sense of merriment prevails as fireplaces are hung with garlands of greenery, and Christmas trees adorned with a variety of dazzling ornaments — family heirlooms, glistening metallic balls, candy canes stripped of their plastic wrappings.

Upstairs, in a secret place, mom and dad play Santa Claus, and put the final wrappings on the presents. Later, after the children are asleep, they will file silently downstairs, arms overflowing with brightly decorated packages and a multitude of items meant to fill the row of stockings hanging from the mantle.

These are the elements of the contemporary American Christmas, a time of merriment for all and more crucially a time of joy, celebrating the birth of Jesus Christ. Some people believe that the true importance of the holiday is disguised by the glitter and the plenty of its manifestations. Most, however, see the many ways of celebrating Christmas as an outpouring of good will and fellowship, an occasion to enjoy and, even more important, to give pleasure — to friends, to family, and especially to people unknown: the needy who benefit from Christmase generosity, the lonely who can enjoy Christmas too, thanks to the thoughtfulness of people they have never met.

Virtually every country on the globe has a different way of celebrating this important holiday, and all of them — merry or serene — are reflections of its joyfulness.

In Italy, the presepio, or creche, is the focus of much care and love, as elaborate manger scenes are constructed by eager hands. Everything is put in place on Christmas eve — the manger itself, the animals, the angels, the shepherds, Joseph and Mary. But, it is not till Christmas morning that the tiny figure of the infant Jesus is placed lovingly in the crib, traditionally by the mother of the house.

In Germany, the country that gave the world the Christmas tree, the tree is the natural center of activity. The mother of the house is responsible for trimming it, and absolute secrecy prevails till she has completed her task.

For weeks prior to Christmas, she has been baking a vast assortment of cookies in decorative shapes — some are used as ornaments for the tree; more are eaten by the happy household.

In Poland, the Star of Bethlehem shines its rays over the Christmas festivities, a sign of the end of the Advent fast and the beginning of Christmas feasting. A Star Man and Star Boys pay each household a visit after supper has ended. Garbed in elaborate costumes, they orchestrate the Christmas eve activities, with the Star Man quizzing the children on the catechism, and giving them small gifts as reward for good performance, while the Star Boys regale the household with carols.

In Mexico, the poinsettias add brilliance to the Christmas festivities; its bright red and green leaves contribute to Mexicans' sense of it as the "flower of the holy night." Besides the poinsettia, the other uniquely Mexican contribution to Christmas celebrations is the pinata, a hollow vessel shaped like an animal or person, often fantastical, which is filled with a multitude of toys and candy. The children of the house are each blindfolded in turn, and given a stick with which to break the pinata. When one of them succeeds, they all share the favors that come tumbling out of it.

In Syria, a quieter tradition of Christmas celebrations prevails. The youngest son of each household reads out loud the story of the Nativity from the Bible, surrounded by his family, who sit quiet and attentive in a courtyard lit by a myriad of flickering candles. The gates of each home are locked — a sobering reminder of past years when religious persecution resulted in all worship being conducted in secrecy.

While the child reads from the Gospel, the father of the family lights a pile of wood which has been readied. The blaze is watched closely, for tradition states that the way in which it burns will reflect the family's fortune in the new year. While waiting for the fire to burn itself out, the family sings psalms; when it is burned to embers, a wish is made, and each member of the family leaps over the fire's smoldering remains. A very different way of celebrating the Christmas holiday, indeed.

It remains a fact that, the world over, the Christmas spirit makes itself felt in a multitude of ways. And, every one, as it should be, is an expression of joy.

Mistletoe lore, traditions

Kissing beneath the mistletoe — a charming custom that virtually all of us have indulged in at one time or another.

As the Christmas season rolls around, fellows vie to hang the sprig of mistletoe from doorways, somewhat hidden from view, only to surprise an unsuspecting young lady with a kiss when she steps through the door and under the mistletoe.

Like many other Christmas traditions observed in this country, kissing under the mistletoe would seem to have originated in England. Numerous variations of the custom existed there.

One instructed young man to pluck a berry from the mistletoe bough each time they kissed a young lady. When all the berries were gone, the kissing was over.

In many parts of England, the Kissing Bunch was popular. This was an extremely elaborate arrangement of greenery such as holly and ivy on a pair of hoops looped inside each other. Also part of the Kissing Bunch were colored ribbons, apples, oranges and paper roses, and three dolls, representing Jesus Christ, Mary and Joseph, which were hung from inside the hoops or, on occasion, arranged in a manger scene. From the bottom of the Kissing Bunch depended a sprig of mistletoe.

The Kissing Bunch would be hung in the center of a room, and all who passed under it would earn the right to seize a kiss.

A related custom is practiced in Austria and the Alpine region on New Year's Eve. There, the local inn is decked out in greenery, and the main room decorated with a pine wreath hanging from the roof beams.

In one corner of the room, a masked man lurks. He is known as "Sylvester," appears old and hideous, and wears a wreath of mistletoe. Whenever a young man or woman passes under the pine wreath, it is Sylvester's privilege to leap out and plant a rough kiss on the individual's cheek. However, his reign is short-lived for at midnight he is chased away — a grotesque figure of the year which is now gone.

Why all this fuss about mistletoe? What legends, hid in the mists of time, have impressed upon this parasitic evergreen which lives upon non-evergreens, and particularly the oak, an importance of this sort?

Many pre-Christian cultures have revered the mistletoe. It was probably Sir James Frazer's "golden bough," a central metaphor in classical mythology.

In Norse mythology, too, it is of central importance, for it was with an arrow made from mistletoe that the Scandinavian hero Balder was killed.

His mother, the goddess Frigga, cried passionately and, so the legend says, every one of her tears became the mistletoe's white berries.

In order to console Frigga for her son's death, the other Norse gods decreed that mistletoe should no longer be an independent plant, but become a parasite and, instead of being the cause of woe, should bring about good will — thus was born the custom of kissing underneath it.

The Druids, the Celtic priests of pre-Christian Britain, revered the holy mistletoe, which grew entwined on their sacred oak, and which they believed to contain the soul of the living oak tree.

According to Druidic legend the mistletoe, which grew out of the air itself, clung to the oak tree for support.

At the New Year, the Druids engaged in an elaborate ceremony which centered on the mistletoe. One Druid, garbed in white, would climb an oak tree and cut down a bough of mistletoe with a golden sickle.

Below the tree, to catch the mistletoe as it fell, was a white cloth, for the Druids believed that the mistletoe must never touch the ground lest it be sullied. Once this part of the ceremony was complete, two white bulls would be sacrificed, and prayers were intoned.

The Druids believed that the mistletoe had great curative powers, and called it the "all-healer." Applied to barren animals, it would make them bear young, and it was efficacious against poisons, epilepsy, consumption and the like. It was generally hung above doorways or over the fireplace.

Christian legend has it that the mistletoe, originally a free-standing tree, was the wood used for the Cross. However, because of the evil purpose it served it suffered the fate of becoming a parasite, never again to live independently but always to live on another plant.

Another related legend states the mistletoe, after being used for the Cross, shrank to its lowly, shriveled state — a fit punishment for the use to which it was put.

However, it is its role as a tool of evil for the eventual attainment of good that gives mistletoe its place in myth and legend, and reinforces its importance in the celebration of Christmas.

How much do you know about the Twelve Days of Christmas?

The Twelve Days of Christmas are familiar to most people, chiefly as the raison d'être of a fabulous giftfest comprising such unlikely presents as swans, geese, leaping lads, dancing ladies and the immortal partridge in its pear tree, star of innumerable Christmas cards.

Everyone, of course, knows Christmas Day itself (which, depending on which calendar you are using, is either the first of the Twelve Days or just prior to them), as well as Epiphany, January 6, the Twelfth Day (according to some systems of counting, the 13th), which signifies the close of the Christmas season. But how many people can recite the Holy Days which fall between the two?

The concept of the Twelve Days probably originated as a Teutonic, pre-Christian holdover, which was seized upon by the Church as a convenient link between Christmas and Epiphany, and only a few of the days are traditionally celebrated.

These are St. Stephen's Day (December 26), St. John's Day (December 27) and Holy Innocents Day, also known as Childermas (December 28).

St. Stephen's Day honors the first martyr of the Christian church, who died a gruesome death by stoning in 33 A.D.

Because St. Stephen is the patron saint of horses, the date was considered propitious for such activities as sweating and bleeding horses.

In Sweden, where the holiday was most extensively observed, it was traditional for peasants to travel — sometimes a great distance — to neighboring farms to care for each other's horses on St. Stephen's Day.

Also in Sweden, St. Stephen's Day was customarily celebrated with horse racing, presumably a throwback to pagan purification rituals which were centered around horseback riding and races.

St. John's Day is associated chiefly with the tradition of drinking wine which has been blessed, and which was believed to render the imbiber safe from the effects of poison throughout the coming year.

This custom commemorates a cup of poisoned wine which St. John the Apostle drank when challenged by a pagan priestess to do so as a test of God's power. Miraculously, St. John drank the wine without ill effects, having first made the sign of the cross over it.

Variations on the theme in regions of Europe have believers drinking consecrated wine to protect them from a wide assortment of ills: not only poison, but lightning, ill health, a poor harvest and spoiled wine.

This has caused speculation among scholars that the drinking — sometimes to excess! — of wine on St. John's Day arose as a holdover from a pagan wine sacrifice.

At any rate, wine drinking on December 27th was so widespread that certain 17th century German scholars wittily suggested that Weihnacht — the German name for Christmas — might well be changed to Weinnacht, wine night.

Childermas, the last in this triad of holy days, marks Herod's massacre of the innocents, by which means he hoped to kill the infant Jesus.

It is, according to tradition, a particularly unlucky date. No one, if he could help it, would begin something on that day. King Edward IV of England went so far as to postpone his coronation, originally scheduled for Holy Innocents Day, and King Louis XI of France categorically refused to transact business on that date.

Leaving matters of state aside, housewives in Cornwall in Southern England refused to scrub their abodes on Childermas, and their counterparts in Northamptonshire eschewed doing the wash.

Needless to say, it was not a popular date for weddings, and no one with his wits about him would consider donning new attire for the first time on Childermas.

Customarily, children were whipped (presumably, not too hard) on Holy Innocents Day, possibly to bring home Herod's cruel slaughter.

More likely, this, too, is the survival of a pre-Christian ritual, as adults, as well as children, traditionally came in for their share of whipping.

That it was not considered punitive but was a boon is indicated by the almost universal ritual of rewarding the whipper with sweets or nuts; presumably the beating — frequently accomplished with omnipresent evergreen branches — was supposed to cause the expulsion of evil spirits.

Today, of course, this ritual, like so many others, is a thing of the past. But it is unfortunate that we do not, for the most part, even remember the existence of customs which were, for our ancestors, of great significance: central to their observance and understanding of their religion.

For, each custom or tradition remembered enriches immeasurably our understanding, and deepens our appreciation of the heritage which has made us what we are.

St. Lucy's Day: "Festival of lights" brightens Swedish Advent

Mankind has traditionally celebrated the triumph of light over darkness. The most well-known of these "Festivals of Lights" is the Jewish holiday of Hanukkah, which usually falls in the month of December, and lasts for eight days.

It is a season marked by joyous celebration, gift-giving and, especially, candle-lighting. In fact, the Menorah, a nine-branched candelabra, is one of the familiar and traditional symbols of this festive occasion which commemorates the victory of the Maccabees over the Greco-Syrians who had occupied the temple in Jerusalem in the second century B.C.

The miraculous victory of this small group of Hebrews over the forces of the enemy is paralleled by a miraculous vial of oil within the temple which, though it contained only enough oil to burn for a single day, miraculously lasted for eight days.

The Christians, too, have their "Festival of Lights" which is celebrated on December 13th, St. Lucy's Day. (The name, Lucy, is derived from the Latin word for light, lux.)

This holiday is chiefly observed in Sweden, where most households have their Lucia Queen.

St. Lucy is impersonated by a young girl, usually blond, who is garbed in the customary flowing white gown, which is sashed in red and decorated with stars.

On her head, the Lucia Queen wears a crown of bilberries, in which lighted candles have been arranged.

In the early hours of the morning of December 13th, before sunrise has begun to light the sky, the Lucia Queen proceeds slowly throughout her home, singing the traditional "Lucia song."

She awakens the household, bringing them hot coffee and special buns, known as lussekatter, which are flavored with either saffron or cardamom, and formed into braids, twists or, sometimes, cats.

After she has finished this task, she goes out to the barn, bringing food and coffee to the farmhands and special food for the animals.

Later in the day, there is a church ceremony, during which a young girl attired as Lucia, candles burning in her crown, brings light into a darkened church.

She is frequently followed by young boys garbed as "star-boys." These "star-boys" carry staffs crowned with stars and wear star-studded caps.

How did St. Lucy's Day become a "Festival of Lights?" Lucy, a Christian martyr, who lived in Syracuse in Sicily in the third century AD, and who herself was cruelly blinded, is the saint who restores sight to the blind — bringing light to darkness.

St. Lucy is frequently represented in paintings carrying a lamp or torch, reinforcing her position as the bringer of light.

Additionally, according to the Old Style calendar, St. Lucy's Day, December 13th, is the shortest day of the year, and thus the darkest — the ideal time to celebrate the yearly victory of light over darkness.

How the celebration of St. Lucy's Day made its way from Sicily to Sweden is something of a mystery. The first celebration of St. Lucy's Day in Sweden would seem to have occurred in the 18th century, but it wasn't until the 19th century that the custom of nominating a young girl to take the part of St. Lucy seems to have taken hold, and then only in rural areas.

And, it was only toward the end of the 1920s that the holiday was popularized in Stockholm, where the Lucia Queen would lead processions through the city streets.

The joyous acceptance of the St. Lucy's Day festivities in Stockholm was immediate, ensuring the holiday a permanent place in the Advent calendar, and in the hearts of Swedes.

said that the RRA figured on a tax rate of 40 to 80 cents per $100 valuation.

Supporters of the Sweetwater Creek Reservoir project are hoping that a third bond election will be the charm they need to go ahead with construction of a 2,500 acre lake northeast of Wheeler.

On Wednesday, members of the Wheeler County Water Board called an election for Jan. 19 to approve the issuance of $30 million in bonds to build the reservoir and the levy of ad valorem taxes to provide for the payment of the bonds.

This is the third time an election has been called on the lake issue.

In November of 1983, voters rejected a proposal levying five cents per $100 valuation to pay for construction of the lake. In August, voters split on a vague two-part proposal which authorized construction and local support of the reservoir and the levy of a maintenance tax. Voters approved the reservoir, but nixed the tax.

The reservoir proposal would have also authorized approval of a contract between the district and the Red River Authority based in Wichita Falls. Opponents of the project-landowners in the area of the proposed lake-feared the proposition would give the state agency a "Blank check."

Although the District had the contract in hand, RRA officials waited to see about the outcome of the election before they approved their end of the contract. They never signed it.

This time, the district is on its own as it seeks approval of the controversial project, to be located seven miles east and three miles north of Wheeler. By dropping the RRA, the district also dropped the services of the engineering firm of Frieze and Nicholas, which was to have designed the lake.

After calling for the third election Wednesday, the board also hired the Lubbock firm of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, Inc. to work on the project. Former Pampa city manager Mack Wofford is now affiliated with this firm.

Bond consultant Kenneth E. Smith of the Dallas firm of Schneider, Bernet & Hickman, Inc., explained to the board that the bond proposal would be in three stages. The first stage would go toward the sale of nearly $2 million in bonds to pay for an engineers' study and acquisition of a permit from the State of Texas. He assured the board "there would be no need to sell additional bonds until you get the permit it in hand."

The second phase would pay for the costs to design the dam and the site preparation. The third phase will be construction and maintenance.

The three phases would require a total of $30 million in bonds. Basing his figures on current Wheeler County property valuation, he said the tax rate would not be more than 25 cents per $100 valuation.

He cited the possibility of selling about one third of the bonds to the state, especially in light of the state's present push for water improvement.

Opponents of the lake project doubted that the lake could be built for just $30 million and that the 25 cent tax rate alone would support the project.

She charged that if the tax rate could not support the costs, then the remainder could be paid through revenue bonds, which could be authorized without consent of the electorate.

To Burt, the January election is the "Same song, third verse."

"The $30 million cap they talk about is illusory," she said. "There appears to be the cap, but if it goes over, they can issue revenue bonds. It's like having a $30 million checking account with Mastercard allowance with no cap."

She cited that a study made by an engineering firm hired by lake opponents set the costs of the project at $52-$53 million. Burt admitted that the study was made of findings by Frieze and Nicholas, not of the actual site.

"The whole problem with this project is that it is not feasible on its merits," she said.

WATCH NIGHT WITH ROYALHEIRS

The exciting Royalheirs Quartet are returning to Wheeler on Dec. 31, 1984 for a big New Year's Eve singing and rally. The evening will feature the quartet and a satellite broadcast by Dr. Lester Sumrall presenting a message entitled, "I Predict for 1985". This message is based on Rev. Sumrall's perception of the Scriptures particularly prophecy Scriptures, and what we can expect 1985 to bring. Several of last years predictions were quite notable and came to pass, such as revival sweeping through England. One thing that happened in regard to that was that Billy Graham had the greatest meetings in England that he ever has had.

This rally is scheduled to take place in the theatre on the square in Wheeler. That plan is contingent on the Christian Center church getting all the legal paperwork completed that is necessary for them to acquire possession of the theatre. If that doesn't happen in time for the New Year's Eve gathering, the meeting will take place at the church located at 601 Red River.

Everyone is invited to the "Watch Night" rally with the Royalheirs. An advertisement in this newspaper today gives more information about the meeting.

Briscoe Kindergarten

Dear Santa,

I really, really, really want a poochie, and a trampoline cause that's fun too! I want a waterbed bad. I want makeup. Daddy doesn't like me with makeup on! Two more Cabbage Patch Kids, some clothes and that's all I want for Christmas. When it gets a little bit warmer I want a swimming pool with hearts on it. Don't forget to bring Larry Stetson Cologne cause he's out of it. Bring Daddy some farmer boots cause he really needs that, really dirty. And a book mark cause for a book mark he uses a rubberband. Bring Mama a new dress to wear to her meetings.

Love, Dana Trimble

Dear Santa,

Please bring me a Glow Bug,

Poochie, cat, Care Bear, play Santa Claus, play monkey, clothes, candy and a necklace. Bring Joshie a play doggie, jeep, and truck. Bring Lori some jewelry, clothes, and a new book. Mommy wants a necklace, beads, dresses, new coat and shoes. Daddy wants new boots, a gold chain necklace, a new hat, coat, jeans, socks, and shirt.

Love, April Purcell

P.S. I'm going to leave Santa some cookies and a note saying "I Love You, Santa!"

Dear Santa,

For Christmas I want a toy playhouse, a cry baby, play school desk, refrigerator, chalkboard and new clothes.

Bring some new jeans for Kevin, a piano for Melody, some new clothes for Mama, new shoes for Daddy. I think Keefers probably wants everything in the world; but you can bring him a toy truck.

I might leave you some water to drink and maybe some cookies, but we don't have very much of cookies.

Love, Mandy Ratliff

Dear Santa,

Please bring me a tape recorder, a Cabbage Patch Kid, and a Rainbow Brite Doll.

Andy wants a truck, a car with batteries in it, a choo choo train and that's all. Bring Mama some pots and pans and an airplane for Daddy.

Love, April Finsterwald

THE Royalheirs QUARTET

COMING TO WHEELER

Monday, December 31, 1984

8:00 P.M. - Midnight

We at Christian Center have been trying to get all the massive legal paperwork finished that is involved in the dropping of the lawsuit against us and the acquiring of the Rogue Theatre. As of deadline time for the newspaper, we have not accomplished that due to delays caused by our attorneys.

Our plans are to have a bit "Watch Night" rally with the Royalheirs in the theatre on New Year's Eve if we can get the deal closed by then. In addition to the Royalheirs, we will be showing a video tape of a satellite transmission (actually tape-delayed about 24 hours from its actual broadcast) of Dr. Lester Sumrall telling us what He believes God has shown him through prayer and the Bible for 1985. If our plans come to pass as we want, that message will be shown during that great evening on the giant 25-foot theatre screen. New equipment has been ordered and much work has already gone into this service. A book by the same title ("I Predict for 1985" by Dr. Sumrall) is also available now or at that serve on December 31. The cost is $2.00.

Don't miss this exciting service.

If we are unable to complete the paperwork to acquire complete possession of the theatre by December 31, the service will be held at Christian Center. You will be able to tell by the marquee on the theatre where the services will be. If it remains blank, we will be at Christian Center. If we get the building by then, the marquee will announce the rally as taking place there at the theatre. Either way, don't miss it. It will be the biggest and greatest "Watch Night" service we have ever had.

Announcements about the rally will be made on the "Abundant Living Broadcast" on KBYP radio (1580 on the dial) all next week. Our radio program is heard at 9:15 a.m. each weekday morning and at 10:30 a.m. each weekday morning and the entire broadcast day on Saturdays (7:50 a.m. till 2:00 a.m.)

Seasonal visitors

WE CAN LEARN A GREAT DEAL about Christmas past, by studying illustrations and engravings from previous centuries. Here, an illustration from the New York Public Library Picture Collection, which is entitled "Christmas Visitors," captures the feeling of the Victorian age, with its demure young girls rapping gently at a closed door, and the small white cat entering the hall through a door in the rear. It reflects perfectly the genteel, sentimental approach of the 19th century.

May your homes be blessed with joy and love.

The Management and Staff of WHEELER CARE CENTER

... wish to take this opportunity to thank the citizens of the community for the help and support we have received during our first two years of operation.

We are especially grateful to the Care Center Auxiliary; the other volunteers; families of the Residents; the Ambulance crews; the fire department and the staff of Southwestern Public Service as well as others who offer assistance in times of need or unusual circumstances.

We also wish to thank the ministers and churches who fill such an important place in the spiritual guidance of the Residents.

It may not be well to mention names as we could never name everyone but four people are so important to us that we feel compelled to name them and just say to everyone else "Thank You" and we hope you will understand.

The four are: Rosemary Vise who with her helpers have given many hours of Art Instruction; Johnny and Jewell Reed and their associates who have entertained on various occasions; and Mrs. Kenneth Free who brings others to help and does sewing and mending on a weekly basis.

THANK YOU SO MUCH!

We wish you all a JOYOUS

MEETING TO DISCUSS VEGETABLE GROWING IN WHEELER COUNTY

There has been some interest in recent months in commercial vegetable production in Wheeler County. Because of this interest the Wheeler County Agriculture Committee and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will present a Commercial Vegetable Production Program, Tuesday, January 15, 1985. The meeting will begin at 7:00 p.m. in the District Courtroom in Wheeler.

Dr. Roland Roberts, Extension Vegetable Specialist from Lubbock, will present the program. His discussion will cover topics such as:

1. Suitability of the crop to your conditions, required soil fertility, soil type, climate, growing season.
2. Available markets - who is the buyer, location, freight rates, contracts, price.

3. Costs of production - equipment needed, labor requirement, irrigation, fertilizer.
4. Competition - volume raised and sold in Texas, where production is located.

There will be a question and answer session following Dr. Roberts presentation so that prospective producers can get information pertaining to their particular situation.

The input cost for vegetable production can be quite high and the market is often very limited, according to Don King, CEA. There are many details one should consider before going into the production of a specialty crop such as vegetables. This program was designed to point out some of the problems, as well as potential profits, involved in growing vegetables on a commercial scale, King said.

Anyone interested in commercial vegetable production is invited to attend. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, or national origin.

Services Held For Lillian Reynolds

Lillian W. Reynolds, 81, died Thursday.

Services were at 2:30 p.m. Sat. Dec. 22, in the First Baptist Church the Rev. Jerry Parker, pastor, officiated. Burial will be in Wheeler Cemetery by Wright Funeral Home.

Mrs. Reynolds was born in Merriam. She was married to Gordon Reynolds in 1942 in Wheeler. He died in 1980. They lived in Shelbyville, Ky., for 20 years before returning to Wheeler seven years ago. She was a member of First Baptist Church.

Survivors include two brothers, Dr. George Wood of Rockport and Tom Wood of Katy.

Pallbearers will be Joe K. Clarke, Dick DeArment, Bob Stiles, Bob Swindle, George Wood and Richard Wood.

Wildlife Habitat Improvement

In January, some hunters have finished their season, while others are still in the field. Bitter northers make the outdoors inhospitable, but this is the time to be improving wildlife habitat for future years.

Some pastures may need more desirable cover for upland game birds. In addition, songbirds may benefit from additional trees and shrubs in the backyard. Most trees and shrubs are dormant during the winter and can be safely dug, moved and transplanted. Plum thickets can be thinned during the winter with excess trees being relocated to provide additional food and shelter where it is needed. Other species such as hackberry and Russian olive can be purchased from the Wheeler SWCD to provide food and cover for wildlife plus serve as a windbreak.

Additional information is available by contacting the Soil Conservation Service in Wheeler at 826-5640.

Mrs. Joe Flowers

God bless us everyone, and a Merry Christmas to you all. We came thru town just after dark tonight. It was beautiful. All lit up along the streets and some of the houses were just fabulous. Won't be long til Santa is looking for a chimney to slide down.

We used to tell our children "Yes there is a Santa. And anyone with a loving, giving heart can be a Santa." Sometimes, just little things can bring a lot of pleasure. When I was small, I once said "Christmas Gift" to a neighbor. She gave me a quarter. That would be equal to at least $5 now.

Thought we'd take in the annual Tour of Homes today on the way to singing at Church. Found out at the first house that it had been called off for some reason. We inspected one free of charge and had a nice visit with the Leldon Reed's and their son Kenny.

Guess the tour director had't been watching Lyn Sleiz when told us Sunday would be a lovely day. Folks out this way should remember our weather comes from the west. Got a lot truer forecast from the Amarillo stations.

We dropped by and visited Mr. and Mrs. Hubert McMullan. Zuma was there too. David came home with a big sack of pecans.

Doris Smith went up to Helena to see her kids Martha Cochenower and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Waggoner. Had fine weather there but she hit the rain at Clinton and the ice this side of Elk. Kind of shook her up.

Mr. and Mrs. C.R. Wells spent several days in Dallas where they attended memorial services for his sister Nell Marie Tinnin. She died of a heart attack unexpectedly.

The oil well was really jumped up and down all week. Found it is the Pearl No. 1 on the Crook place. Hear they filled the Reams well full of cement and gave back the leases-dry and abandoned. The derrick has been down some time on the Brady well but a workover rig has been there some. Don't know how Tots' well is coming.

My aunt Sophia's birthday party was a great success. We thank everyone who helped us celebrate. A niece and her husband came up from Ft. Worth, Bette and Harry Baker. We stopped by tonight to see Sophia and look at all the pretty things. She'll have her winter's work cut out answering all the letters.

Heard a debate on David Brinkley about sharing the wealth. Seems 20% of the people have more than 70% and the other 10% have fallen thru the cracks. If all the wealth was equally divided, in 2 years, it would be back like that again. Some people want it all and others want theirs from day to day.

I think it is a disgrace that the only way the Supreme Court would let them put up a Nativity scene was class it as a gimmick like Santa Claus to sell more goods. The poor benighted folks don't know that Christ is what Christmas is about. And the reason the whole world is celebrating. I sometimes think that the ACLU is about the worst thing that ever happened to America.

Now they are berating the schools for not teaching morality. The parents have six years before they start to school and should get a few licks in on what is right and wrong.

My niece Billie Jean Haag of Cabot, Ark. was 3rd top salesman in her company in USA. Won her and husband Jimmy a week vacation in Hong Kong.

We have three candidates for the school board position acated by Billy Sutton. Jessie Taylor, Eb Atkinson, and Leroy Hagerman.

Understad Eb has been acting as substitute mail carrier now that Jay Davis has gone to Clinton.

J.R. Coffey came up from Burk-burnett and took his mother, Bueulah Atchley to OKC to her doctor. She has a good doctor who tells her to take her to take it easy. Mine always says get with it. J.R. went home Sunday.
