

Leaders Advance Toward A Franco-British Agreement

Cooperation Of Military Forces Aim

Headway Reported In First Conference At London

LONDON, April 28 (AP)—The foreign office announced tonight that Prime Minister Chamberlain and Premier Daladier had reached "full agreement on all points discussed" at the end of the first day of their review of Anglo-French world policy.

Points Not Specified—The communiqué did not specify what points figured in today's search for common safeguards against the central European and other threats to world peace.

They were considering means of self preservation in the event of war, and much closer cooperation of all fighting services of the two powers was expected to be a major development of the conference.

German Expansion—Informed sources believed the premiers would take long range decisions in an effort to deal with German expansion. New accords for both powers with Italy would outlast such tactics.

It was expected they also would work directly with the leaders of Czechoslovakia in an effort to get them to satisfy Germany. Other possibilities for discussion were propping up countries like Yugoslavia and Hungary economically to enable them to resist Nazi hegemony.

One version of the search for military cooperation was that the fighting services of the two powers would be so closely knit that neither could go to war without the other.

The British and French air, army and navy staffs already are working together on technical matters. And British Prime Minister Chamberlain, and the French Premier Daladier were in position today to add finishing touches to the plan of closely coordinated military activity.

Flood Threat Is Renewed

Guadalupe On A Fresh Rise Goes To Higher Mark

HOUSTON, April 28 (AP)—Thousands of acres of additional farmland along the surging Guadalupe river were flooded Thursday as the river, on a rampage since Monday, rose to the highest marks of the present flood.

A two-inch rain between Hochheim and Gonzales Wednesday created a new menace, increasing apprehension as it began to flow into the river.

At Cuero, the Guadalupe had risen to 25 feet and was still rising slowly with a peak of 27 or 28 feet expected as the full effect of the newest rain is felt by the already overflowing stream.

At Victoria, the water was back up to 27.5 feet, equal to the highest it has been in the present flood. The water had dropped to 28.8 feet and residents of that section had hoped that it would fall several feet more before the crest from the Gonzales area arrived.

"It looked bad," was the general comment as residents saw the new rise hit when the river had fallen less than a foot. The previous all-time high was 31 feet, registered in 1935.

Water rose over the Cuero-San Antonio highway Thursday and Cuero's direct link with Austin remained flooded. The city still was able to get out by way of Flatonia.

VETERAN ENGINEER TO BE HONORED

Louis Soldan, who served as a T.&P. locomotive engineer from 1896 to 1908, will be honored at a meeting of the B. of L.E. here Thursday evening. Having maintained his service contracts since, he left here to go to Chester, Neb. Soldan will be presented with his 40-year pin.

Another engineer due for special honors is E. L. Deason, who on April 30 will retire.

BANQUET THURSDAY

Young people's department of the First Baptist church will hold a banquet session at the Crawford hotel Friday evening, it was announced Thursday.

Mrs. Frank Boyle is supervising arrangements and Orville Bryant is to be in charge of the program.

PENNIES PAY FOR THIS BABY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Feldman of Philadelphia saved 10,000 pennies to pay for their infant daughter, Lois Sandra, shown with the mother and father. Feldman, holding some of the pennies, said he would call the baby "Fenny" for short.

Officials View Port Improvement Plans

WPA And Air Commerce Men Visit In B'Spring

Representatives of the U. S. bureau of air commerce and the Works Progress Administration were guests at a courtesy luncheon at Hotel Settles Thursday noon, tendered by Big Spring citizens.

Carl Wilcox, regional engineer for WPA, New Orleans; T. E. Flaherty, bureau of air commerce, Little Rock, Ark.; H. M. Smith, bureau of air commerce, San Antonio; John Burnside, district director, WPA, San Angelo; E. C. Rogers, area engineer, WPA, Abilene; and F. W. Callahan, district supervisor of operations, WPA, San Antonio, were in attendance.

Dr. P. W. Malone, president of Big Spring chamber of commerce, presided. City Manager E. V. Spence introduced each guest, who spoke briefly. Others in attendance were, W. C. Blankenship, Charles Frost, R. F. Schermerhorn, C. W. Cunningham, Joe Galbraith, Glenn Golden, J. H. Greene and Nat Shick.

Project Soon to Start—The department of air commerce officials, who were en route to El Paso on official business by plane, stopped briefly in Big Spring to inspect plans for improvement of the local airport, which will get underway May 4th. The project, to be carried out through a WPA grant, will entail expenditure of $119,000 calling for three new runways of 4,000 feet each, with width of 800 feet of caliche and 150 feet of asphalt, and other improvements. The improvements, according to both WPA and department of commerce officials, will give the local airport the finest facility in this part of the country.

Burnside, who spoke briefly, congratulated the city on its airport, "and when the WPA project is finished," he said, "you will have one of the finest of any airway center in Texas."

Flaherty, air commerce bureau official, stressed importance of the air mail feeder lines, predicting for the future "an overnight mail service," in the United States which would provide delivery of mail the following day to any point in the country.

"It is essential to have airport facilities throughout the nation to put such a plan into operation, and certainly improvement of your airport here will be a step in this direction. Everyone should use the airport for the feeder lines on May 19th, which will determine in a large measure just where the first lines will be established."

DOOMED SLAYER DUE TO WALK TO THE CHAIR A SECOND TIME

HUNTSVILLE, April 28 (AP)—Barring an 11th hour stay of execution, John W. Vaughn, 37, will go to the electric chair in state prison here shortly after midnight tonight. It would be his second trip into the death chamber.

Last Friday he came back, relieved for a week, because the electrocution machinery broke down.

Mack Gates, his attorney, predicted last night the San Antonio upholder, convicted of the slaying of a policeman, would not die in the chair. Gates would not elaborate on his plans. Previous arrangements and Orville Bryant is to be in charge of the program.

Mrs. Vaughn, after a brief visit with her husband in death row here yesterday, returned to San Antonio with the announced intention of seeking funds for a legal fight to halt the execution.

In Austin, two members of the state board of pardons and paroles indicated they would not interfere with the execution. Chairman Bruce Bryant said the three-member board probably would make a formal recommendation today.

Bishops Favor Methodist Merger

Address Read At The Birmingham Conference

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 28 (AP)—Union with northern Methodists, decried by opponents as likely of church destruction, was "commended" today to the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in a history-making address from the college of bishops.

Read by Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs of Shreveport, La., the episcopal address embodied recommendations of the bishops to the general conference, and "commended" the unification plan to be formally presented tomorrow as worthy of "thorough consideration and such action as is best fitting the most important matter" before the church since its organization followed the split in 1844 over slavery.

Two retired bishops, Collins Denny of Richmond, Va., and Warren A. Candler of Atlanta, Ga., did not agree with the plan of union, and did not sign the episcopal address.

In a supplementary statement they termed the unification plan a "dangerous arrangement" and "challenged the legal right of this conference to act on it."

Racial Question—The racial question also was one of the objections raised by opponents. Senator Carter Glass of Virginia said simply the proposal "would bring the negro into our southern churches."

Unification advocates included Bishop John M. Moore, presiding today who said "the racial question is not involved."

Votes of the individual conferences were read, showing 7,650 ayes, and 1,247 noes and the address pointed out the affirmative vote was about 86 per cent of the total vote cast.

Bishop Denny and Candler in their dissenting opinion said: "We cannot subscribe to those portions of the address which indicate that this general conference has power to complete the adoption of the plan (of union)."

"We cannot subscribe to those portions of the address which are tantamount to a recommendation that this particular plan be adopted."

Bishop Moore was confident that unification would be approved by an overwhelming vote.

"There is not the slightest doubt in my mind," Bishop Moore said, "that we are on the verge of perfecting the greatest union of Christians that has ever been accomplished since Christianity began."

The merged church would have approximately 8,000,000 members, including some 300,000 negroes to be segregated in a central conference.

Levine Hunt Is Shifted

Santa Fe Man Saw Kidnapped Boy

SANTA FE, N. M., April 28 (AP)—A cafe owner's identification of a picture of Peter Levine as that of a boy he saw here Tuesday night drew official interest in the kidnapping of the 12-year-old New Rochelle, N. Y., boy to the Santa Fe vicinity today.

John Karavonis, the restaurant man, was quoted by State Police Sergeant H. K. Dalbey as saying he recognized a police poster picture of the boy as that of a boy who was in his eating place late Tuesday with two well-dressed men.

The Levine youngster, son of Murray Levine, well-to-do New Rochelle resident, was kidnapped February 24. No trace ever has been found of his abductors, although several arrests have been made for attempted extortion in the case.

Hundreds Due At Round-Up

Scouts Of Area To Gather Here Next Weekend

An attendance of 800 to 1,000 scouts and leaders here next week end for the Round Up was forecast by Ed McCurtain, field scout executive, before he left here Thursday to supervise a district rally in Colorado.

After talking with A. S. Darby, chairman of arrangements for the affair, McCurtain said that details were well in hand and that 1,000 boys could be accommodated. Darby has his committee organized and functioning.

The Round Up, set for May 6-7, is to be held in the area south and east of the original park unit. E. J. McDaniel, city superintendent, and equipment installed at the new location for the boys.

Contest grounds are to be cleared and staked for the events to be held May 7. Boys flocking here for the events will camp on specially selected sites in the immediate area.

Talks With Other Business Leaders Planned By FDR

'Doing Best He Can' Ford Says Of President

Motor Maker Thinks There'll Be Change For The Better

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Henry Ford, fresh from his White House conference with President Roosevelt, told interviewers today the president "is trying to do the best he can like everybody else."

Improvement Ahead—The remark was prompted when someone commented that Ford had never appeared to be in such a genial mood. Was it because he came away from the White House with new optimism?

"Well, you never heard me say anything about the president, did you?" the automobile manufacturer smiled. "What's the use? He's trying to do the best he can like everybody else."

But of the conference itself Ford would say nothing. Conditions generally are going to change, he said, and change for the better. And, he said, he doubts if there will be war in Europe in spite of gloomy dispatches from abroad.

Ford's son, Edsel, and W. J. Cameron, Ford Motor company executive, sat with Ford during the interview in a small private dining room of the Ritz Carlton hotel.

Edsel said nothing, save when his father asked him the precise location of their big cooperative farm in England where the Fords are "teaching England she can feed herself."

Son Helps Out—"Where is the farm, Edsel?" Henry asked. "It's in Essex county at Boreham."

Ford thought it was two or three thousand acres in size. Edsel said 1,000 would be closer to fact. Henry Ford is going over for a visit to the farm this summer. It's run, he said, chiefly by teamsters, drivers and other workers.

People generally, he said, have got to "wake up and go to work." "Too many people try to live off wealth. It's just a token of wealth. It's just a taken of wealth. We must create wealth and we must do it by doing something. People should be their own leaders."

"Too many people are half asleep. They're looking for security instead of making it for themselves. And so they are easily fooled by their leaders."

He mentioned no one by name, and in reply to a specific question as to whether he meant labor leaders, said:

"Conditions will change, and change for the better, he said, when industries are approved. "There's plenty to be done and it ought to be done now. Forty years ago people could not foresee all the work the invention and manufacture of automobiles was to bring. Now it's the same with other things. Every thing, railroads, manufactures, and things like that ought to be overhauled and improved."

Residents of Big Spring are still signing up for the summer residential irrigation rate offered by the city. Thursday morning, after most of the current bills had been delivered, a total of 821 persons had signed for the contract. The number was about 100 less than last year after all contracts for the rate had been signed.

MIDLAND SELECTED FOR P-TA MEETING

DEL RIO, April 28 (AP)—Midland was selected as the site for the 1938 convention of the Sixth District Parent-Teachers association today and all officers were re-elected.

The three-day session was attended by 170 delegates. Among Wednesday night's speakers was Mrs. C. T. Womack of San Angelo.

Touring Toad Returns Home

'Big Jim' Covers The Nation Advertising Air Mail—"Big Jim," the first horned toad to circumnavigate the vast expanse of the United States, was due back here at 4:30 p. m. Thursday.

Nine days will have elapsed, when he is set down here aboard the American Airlines plane, since he took off on an 8,230 mile trip around the nation to advertise National Airmail week May 15-21.

During that time, he has made 15 stops at strategic points on the airmail map—boosting not only national airmail week, but Big Spring. Postmaster Nat Shick, who conceived the idea of sending the toad on the aerial jaunt, received a wire from George H. Todd, Phoenix, Arizona postmaster, that "Big Jim" would be aboard the plane this afternoon.

The horned toad, wired Todd, arrived at Phoenix at 1:30 a. m. Thursday from San Francisco. It had about a ten hour lay over in Phoenix before being put aboard the American Airlines transport that was to carry him back to his starting point.

Arrival of the horned toad was to be broadcast at the airport over radio station KBST, Howard Barrett, radio station manager, announced. A large crowd was expected to be on hand to see the native horned "frog" that went around the nation in nine days.

Big Navy Measure Is Termed Exclusive Idea Of President

LaFollette Asserts Navy Department Didn't Ask For Increase, No Events Justify Program

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis) expressed belief in the senate today that the $1,196,546,000 naval expansion program originated with President Roosevelt and not with the navy department.

Denouncing the program, LaFollette told the senate: "I am convinced that in finding the final responsibility for the initiation of this program, we must look to the president of the United States."

The Wisconsin senator said naval officers had not asked for the expansion during frequent appearances before congressional committees in recent years. That, he asserted, was "conclusive proof" of the program was not conceived by the navy department.

LaFollette said he did not believe there had been any development that would justify expanding the navy.

"I am forced to the conclusion that these new scares, these new hobgoblins that are being shaken in the faces of the people are being used primarily to force this program through congress, and there is no justification," he declared.

There is a "growing fear" among many people, LaFollette said, that the naval expansion program might be designed to "distract attention" from domestic economic affairs.

Skipped Domestic Situation—Taking the floor to oppose the measure, LaFollette declared that for "seven long weary months" while the present recession was deepening, business and political leaders "turned their eyes away" from the domestic situation to talk foreign affairs.

LaFollette quoted Charles A. Beard, the historian, as saying there was a tendency for armaments to increase as business activity declined, increasing the possibility of war, but diverting public attention from distressing economic conditions at home.

The Wisconsin progressive said that on the same day President Roosevelt sent a message to congress asking for expansion of the navy, the state department made public a series of reported indignities to Americans at the hands of Japanese in China.

"Perhaps this exact timing was merely a coincidence," LaFollette said, "but it had a tendency to arouse support for the naval expansion bill."

COUNTY PURCHASES ROAD MACHINERY

Howard county commissioners court Wednesday afternoon purchased a crawler type tractor and hydraulic loader for use in a projected lateral road construction program.

The machinery, used a short time for demonstration purposes, was bought on a bid of $2,300, about 40 per cent under the list price.

The tractor, of the crawler variety, develops 40 horsepower and also powers the half cubic yard shovel. The latter attachment is to be used in loading caliche, commissioners declared.

MORE SIGNERS FOR IRRIGATION RATE

Residents of Big Spring are still signing up for the summer residential irrigation rate offered by the city. Thursday morning, after most of the current bills had been delivered, a total of 821 persons had signed for the contract.

The number was about 100 less than last year after all contracts for the rate had been signed.

EXPLORER SAYS HE HAS PROOF THAT PAUL REDFERN IS DEAD

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, April 28 (AP)—Theodore J. Waldeck, New York explorer, returning from four months of perilous search for traces of Paul Redfern, missing American aviator, declared today that Redfern was dead.

"I found the place where the plane crashed and definite proof that the gallant airman is dead," Waldeck said.

He gave no further details of his discovery, saying first he must forward a report to Dr. Frederick C. Redfern of Columbia, S. C., father of the flier.

Redfern disappeared in August, 1937, in an attempt to fly non-stop from Brunswick, Geor-

Secrecy Prevails After Manufacturer Meets President

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Administration officials, silent about President Roosevelt's "family luncheon" conference with Henry Ford undertook today to arrange an early meeting of 16 business men who have promised their aid in establishing economic stability.

The country's All Right—The negotiations were being made by Secretary Roper and John W. Hanes, securities commissioner who conceived their pledge of cooperation with the president.

The extent to which similar cooperation might be forthcoming from Ford remained undisclosed after his two-hour conversation in the cream-tinted oval dining room of the White House.

"The country is all right and always will be all right," the 74-year-old auto manufacturer told reporters.

He declined comment on the president's pending lending program or on his general business policies, which he frequently has opposed.

"Everything was very pleasant," Ford said of his talk with the president, whom he last had met while they were associated in naval department work during the World war.

"Did you reach any definite conclusions with the president?" Ford was asked when he reached New York last night. He had remained in Washington only seven hours.

"That's a long story," was the barely audible reply.

"Family Conversation"—Ford was told that G. Hall Roosevelt, the president's brother-in-law who arranged the meeting, called it "just a pleasant family conversation." Then the motor magnate was asked:

"Does this mean you patched up any difference with the president?" "I've never had any falling out with him," Ford said. "What makes you think that? I have never criticized him."

The auto manufacturer was accompanied to the White House by his son, Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, and W. J. Cameron, with them and the president around a mahogany Duncan Phyfe dining table were G. Hall Roosevelt and Mariner Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board.

Though he was chary in all his comments to newsmen, Ford indicated that no specific business subject was discussed, but that the president and he dealt only in the most general terms about "what's going on and what's being done in the country."

Dallas Group Visits City

A goodwill delegation from Dallas—over 90 business men, bandmen and entertainers—look over the streets of Big Spring for a 40-minute period Thursday morning, exchanging good neighbor gestures with a large crowd of local people who welcomed them.

The Dallasites included Big Spring as a stop on a business tour which, by the time it is concluded this weekend, will have taken the trade trippers 1,700 miles through West and Central Texas. The trip will have lasted five days and 29 towns are on the itinerary.

The visitors staged a 30-minute entertainment program on Third street in front of the Lyric theatre and the proceedings were broadcast over station KBST. It was a program of music and fun, after the welcoming formalities were over with.

The visitors were welcomed by Dr. P. W. Malone, president of the chamber of commerce, and Charles Frost, head of a special committee. Weaver Holland responded for the Dallas group, and then the radio entertainers came on. W. V. Ballew presented the program and Roy Cowan of the Dr. Pepper program on the Dixie network was master of ceremonies. The Daltons band, under direction of Wilbur Ard, played several selections, and song numbers were offered by Peg Moreland, J. B. Scoggins and Freddie Martin as a duet, and the Plainmen's quartet. All are WFAA entertainers. Local talent was represented by

Here's A Tip For All Mothers Watch Your Hands, Eyes, Neck

By BETTY CLARKE AP Feature Service Writer

The mother who takes pride in her appearance gives her children all the more reason to be proud of her on Mother's Day.

For a mother's housework and worries, and the passing of years make grooming more difficult for her than for her fresh-skinned daughter. Mother has to counteract the attacks of dishwater and scrubbing brushes. And her skin doesn't replace itself so quickly as it did in her youth.

There are three things she should pay most attention to—her neck, her hands and her eyes.

Always sitting as "tall" as possible will help keep her neck muscles in good condition. If she is given to slouching, here's a corrective exercise:

Sit down and slump to the limit. Then pull the stomach in, lift the chest. Lower the chin as far as possible, push it straight out and draw it back in a line parallel to the floor.

Thoroughly washing and creaming the neck every night will be a big help. For skin dryness brings wrinkles.

Occasional eye washes and application of astringent pads around the eyes will keep away that tired look. Doing eye exercises once in a while and getting plenty of sleep every night will knock off years.

For the hands, the best care is regular manicuring. Spasmodic attention to the hands not only is bad; often it points up Time's destruction.

Want to Know Why You're Constipated?

Would you give a million to shake off that dull, dopey, played-out feeling that often comes with common constipation? Then stop a minute and think. What has your diet had to do with this week? Just meat, bread, eggs, potatoes? Probably the reason you're constipated is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't entirely digested, but leaves a soft, bulky mass in the intestines which helps a bowel movement. What to do? Eat some Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. This crunchy toasted cereal is not only rich in "bulk"—it also contains both the intestinal tonic vitamin B, and iron. Eat All-Bran every day and drink plenty of water. See if you don't get off your stools and on your toes! Kellogg's All-Bran is sold by every grocer.

Fickle Spring Appetites Usually Call For Delicious Lamb Roasts

By MARTHA LOGAN

Fickle spring appetites call for a complete renovation of our menus. At this time of year, we are all taxed to get variety into our meals, to serve taste-tantalizing dishes in order to satisfy the whimsies of a family adjusting itself to seasonal activities.

Lamb has long been associated with spring menus because, with modern transportation, lamb was literally a spring meat. Even now with "spring" lamb available the year around, we still think the savory goodness of lamb gives just the right touch to the April dinner. A lamb shoulder roast is reasonably priced and is one of the most tender and flavorful cuts. To facilitate carving, we usually remove the thin paper-like covering on the roast. It may be left on, however, because the fat on the well-dressed lamb now found in our markets has practically no flavor. The old idea of a strong flavor in this skin covering is carry-over from crude dressed lamb.

The loin, ribs and leg may be roasted in the same way as the shoulder. Place the meat fat side up on a rack in an open pan. As the roast cooks, the fat will melt and run down over and around the meat—in a self-basting fashion. Lamb is very tender meat and we, therefore, use no water with the roast. Seasoning may be rubbed over the surface, then place the roast, uncovered, in a moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.). If the shoulder of lamb was not too cold when the roasting time started, you should allow about 35 minutes per pound for a well done roast, or 30 minutes per pound if you wish a medium done roast.

Do not be afraid that the fat won't brown without a preliminary searing. By the time the roast is done, the fat should be well browned, and the drippings should be brown enough for gravy. Of course this slow roasting method makes less drippings because the juices stay in the roast, making the lamb juicy and delicious.

If you have the shoulder of lamb boned and rolled, an extra 10 minutes per pound will be required in roasting.

To serve with this shoulder lamb roast, try minted fresh peas and new potatoes in cream sauce. Currant jelly is also a good companion food. For variation, spread the currant jelly over the roast just before it is brought to the table.

Spiced gooseberries, pickled peaches, watermelon pickles, ginger pears or guava jelly also go well with the delicate lamb flavor.

Don't you forget, be sure to serve the lamb roast very hot on hot plates. Lamb is delicious hot or cold, but all in-between temperatures seem to detract from the excellence of this savory meat.

READING AND WRITING

"THE FIGHT FOR LIFE," by Paul de Kruif (Harcourt, Brace: $3).

Long ago Paul de Kruif started to beat the drum and throw roses for the self-sacrificing, poverty-stricken scientist and medic who brought humanity new boons by their labor. Notable among his productions was "The Microbe Hunters." It's still being read.

Now he offers another volume, "The Fight for Life," in which his admiration for the painstaking workers in the valleys of sickness and misery is just as boundless as it ever was, just as exciting to read, for the man has a way of communicating his enthusiasms, and that, after all, is a good trick for a writer. Particularly in so difficult a field as he has chosen.

For Paul de Kruif wants you and your friends and all men and women to become excited about the new methods that have been discovered to keep the death rate down—in child-bearing, syphilis, tuberculosis, infantile paralysis. The drugs, the formulae, the instruments are all there—but the money for their widest possible use isn't there. He thinks it will be if people become sufficiently excited about the new discoveries and demand that the power that be start setting a higher value on human life, regardless of the money cost.

He is at his best when he tells how an obscure doctor discovered something to revolutionize the treatment of a death-dealing disease, and of the long, uphill fight to bring his discovery before the medical world so that the greatest number of patients might benefit.

Such a story is that of Dr. Joseph E. De Lee of Chicago, indefatigable "mother-saver," and San Francisco's Dr. Charles Robert Elliott, who lived obscurely and died with no money and hardly known except to one or two distinguished American doctors who recognized his great contribution—fighting woman-killing microbes with heat.

De Kruif ends his tocsin-sounding volume with a frank statement of his beliefs for the future: "All consideration of private profit are not only wasteful but infamous if they frustrate the fight for life, if they deny the right of one human being to live."

Diversion Of Fifty Years Ago Revived By Big Spring Couple

"And she looked so sweet on the back seat of a bicycle built for two—" A mere mention of that little ditty to grandmother brings back heart-stirring memories of Sunday afternoons spent in her youth. She forgets about her rheumatism and dyspepsia and she fondly recalls the days of bicycles and bustles—days when the Sunday diversion consisted of riding on a seat behind, instead of beside, a lover merrily peddling about the countryside in search of romance. Favorite pastime of grandmother and grandfather 50 years ago was recently revived in Big Spring by Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Griffin, 303 East Eighth, who ride on a "bicycle built for two" since Griffin seized upon the idea of constructing a wheel of the earlier days.

Without instructions and equipped only with an insatiable desire to reproduce a picture of an antiquated velocipede seen in a periodical, he set out some two or three months ago to build the bike.

First, Griffin said, he wrote several outstanding bicycle houses for plans but each wrote that they possessed no such specifications—that is, all but one concern did and they referred him to a map who had built one for his son. Thinking even the smallest hint might be of benefit in this novel adventure, he wrote the man but received no answer. But Griffin was not discouraged. He proceeded to build one according to his own idea from two second-hand bicycles. At the end of times he worked on the tandem and admitted the only difficulty encountered was in making the wheels track.

But grandmother wouldn't recognize Griffin's new version of an old idea. Theoretically it is identical to the original model but after all the modern gadgets have been added, "cycling" is going to be more fun than a day at the circus.

The frame is an omnibus orange and has chromium streamlined fenders. Griffin plans to install an electric headlight and horn. He will also add a speedometer, and as a second means of checking-up, a handbar mirror so the driver can keep in touch with the second rider who is often tempted to become a passenger instead of a pedaler!

Local Woman Is Victim Of Stroke

Victim of a stroke she suffered only a few hours earlier, Mrs. Elsie Raymer, 46, wife of Chestnut Raymer of north Big Spring, succumbed in a local hospital Wednesday afternoon at 3:50. Mrs. Raymer was stricken at the residence at the cemetery, where her husband is caretaker and was rushed to the hospital.

The Raymers have lived here for eight years, and for the past two years made their home at the cemetery. Surviving besides the husband are a son, William Floyd Raymer of Sweetwater; a daughter, Mrs. G. H. Lacy of Big Spring; three grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Louise Cross of Tylahana, Okla.

The funeral service was held at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Eberley chapel, with Melvin Wise, minister of the Church of Christ, officiating.

WORKERS AT DAM GO ON A STRIKE

SAN ANTONIO, April 28 (AP)—Work on the Marshall Ford dam, 18 miles north of Austin, one of the largest federal flood control projects now under construction, was halted today when eight men struck for higher wages, according to A. J. McKenzie of the McKenzie Construction company, San Antonio, contractors for the job.

Walkout of the men, who were signal operators on the cable way, stopped operations on the entire project, McKenzie said.

To Take Bids On Warships

Navy Prepares To Build As Money Bill Signed

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The navy, armed with a record peacetime $548,986,094 appropriation, prepared today to ask bids with a minimum of delay on two more battleships and a score of other craft.

President Roosevelt yesterday signed the regular appropriation bill for the next fiscal year, providing $140,000,000 to start work on the 22 new craft and continue construction of some 60 others.

Detailed designs of the battleships are complete, officials said. They will be 1,000 tons or more larger, but otherwise similar to the 35,000-ton U.S.S. Washington and U.S.S. North Carolina, which were started late last year.

Construction of projected "super battleships" of about 45,000 tons depends on congressional approval of the separate $1,156,000,000 fleet expansion bill which the senate is debating.

The next pair of battleships will be known merely as Nos. 57 and 58 until they are named for states, probably several months hence. They will replace the Texas and the Nevada, which in 1940 reach the treaty average status of 26 years.

Henry Fielding, 18th century English novelist, was at one time judge of the peace for Westminster.

Town Is Stunned Over Mine Blast That Killed 8

ST. CLAIR, Pa., April 28 (AP)—This little mining town in the heart of Pennsylvania's anthracite region lay stunned today by the greatest tragedy in its history—a mine explosion that killed eight men and injured 10 others.

Tight-lipped miners stood on street corners with bowed heads as widows and fatherless children arranged funerals for the men killed yesterday in the blast that rocked the St. Clair Coal company's mine.

It was the nation's second major mine disaster in less than a week. Nearly a half hundred died in an explosion in a bituminous mine at Grundy, Va., last week.

The injured, burned so badly that physicians said three may die, were unable to tell exactly what happened.

"All of a sudden," Adam Horniak said from his hospital bed, "a big hole opened in the ground. A big explosion, a big sheet of flame, then another big sheet of flame curling back."

DO IT RIGHT, OR NOT AT ALL

NEWARK, N. J., April 28 (AP)—Samuel Rothfelders denied in traffic court a charge of "one-armed" driving.

"I didn't know the girl well enough, your honor," he told Judge William McEnroe last night.

It's spring, I know," acknowledged the judge, "but you should do a thing right or not at all."

"Five dollars fine."

22 Held In Oil Field Thefts

Great Quantity Of Equipment Is Recovered

LONGVIEW, April 28 (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Stanley Dean said today 22 men were being held in jail here in connection with the theft of more than $50,000 worth of oil field equipment.

No charges had been filed but officials indicated the grand jury would begin tomorrow an investigation of activities of what Dean called one of the biggest theft rings ever uncovered in East Texas.

Dean said the men were arrested over a period of 10 days at Gladewater, Longview, London and other points. Their arrest was not announced until today.

An acre of the Gregg county courthouse lawn here was covered today with oil field equipment of various warehouses, supply houses and leases from which it was stolen.

Ranger R. A. Holliday, state Policeman Bob Crowder and K. N. Dickson, and special officers for oil companies, assisted in the arrests and recovery of the equipment, Dean said.

INSTRUCTOR AT TEXAS U. DIES

AUSTIN, April 28 (AP)—Jacob Lorenz Neu, 65, English instructor at the University of Texas, died of heart disease while eating breakfast today.

He is survived by a daughter, Lucille Mary Neu, instructor in Seguin high school, and two sons, Lorenz Jacob and Ernest George Neu. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Neu was a native of Ehrenham and had been instructor and president of Elin Memorial college at Ehrenham before coming to the university in 1924. He held the B. A. and M. A. degrees from the university and had written several books on English and composition.

GIFFORDS BACK FROM EXTENDED TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Gifford returned Wednesday afternoon from an 18-day trip to points in the Middle West, including Chicago, Flint, Mich., and Akron, Ohio. At the latter place they were guests of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company for a school of instruction on the manufacture and sales of Goodyear products. They visited friends in Chicago, later going to Flint, Mich., where they purchased a new car. They also spent a few days in Rochester, Minn. Before returning to Big Spring, the Giffords visited relatives in Fort Worth and friends in Denton. They also spent a few days with Mr. Gifford's parents at Lueders, Texas.

RETIRED JEWELER DIES

NEW ORLEANS, April 28 (AP)—G. A. Bahns, retired jeweler, died today at the home of his son, Dr. Charles A. Bahns. The body will be taken to Austin for burial. Dr. Bahns is his only survivor.

Britisher Hasn't Started Yelling Yet About Tax Boost; He's Been Paying Plenty All Along

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Writer

NEW YORK, April 28—That was a powerful peace sermon the British chancellor of the exchequer preached when he whooped the income tax for even the little fellow up to 27 1-2 per cent to pay for England's terrific armaments program.

There has been no outcry as yet from the man-in-the-street, probably because he has been paying a 25 per cent tax so long that he has become immune to pain. When you get that high, another boost doesn't matter so much.

And the income tax is only one item in the long line of taxes which keep hammering on the poor man's door until he can't sleep nights.

Take it all in, all the British young man's fancy isn't turning lightly to thoughts of love this beautiful springtime. He can't even afford to think of love, much less get married—unless he can demonstrate that two can live as cheaply as one, which Mr. Einstein perhaps would characterize as a mathematical absurdity.

What They Pay

To give an example of what the new tax means, a single person with an earned income of $2,000 (which is good money in England) must pay about $173, after deduction of various allowances. A wife is worth $400 in allowance, and each kiddie $200.

If you earn $5,000 (which entitles you to a choice place in the British sun) you pay $838. As a single person.

The surtax starts at $10,000—and how! As a $10,000 individual you pay $2,070, and by the time you reach the shameful earning of $100,000 you are donating more than half to the government. Millionaires just about have to borrow money to pay their taxes.

The income tax just greases the wheels for the other assessments.

Jackie Finds He's No Millionaire

LOS ANGELES, April 28 (AP)—Jackie Coogan dropped out of the millionaire class today.

Of the $4,000,000 "the kid" claims to have earned as a film star, only $548,924 now remains. And $171,900 of that represents sums advanced for his clothing and expenses by the Jackie Coogan Productions, Inc.

It was a blow to 23-year-old Jackie—this deflationary inventory filed by a court-appointed receiver in his multi-million dollar accounting suit against his mother and stepfather, Lillian and Arthur L. Bernstein.

Receiver John Biby phrased the problem thus:

"I have found no evidence of any illegal or irregular transactions, but I am at a loss to explain wherein is the differential between the amount Jackie claims he made and what is left."

Jacobs Thinks Derr Max "In"

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Joe Jacobs returned from Germany today and predicted Max Schmeling would knock out heavyweight champion Joe Louis in the Yankee Stadium June 22.

Jacobs, Schmeling's American representative, saw the German stop Steve Dudas in five rounds at Hamburg April 15 and declared he "never looked better in his life."

Jacobs said he had wanted to attend services at a synagogue in Berlin during the Passover holidays and was surprised to find there were several from which to choose. He attended one, he said, and found many other Jews worshipping there.

FOUR DROWNED AS CAR RIVERS INTO RIVER

CHICAGO, April 28 (AP)—Two brothers and their wives drowned early today when their automobile crashed through the barrier of an open turntable bridge during a rainstorm, and plunged into the Calumet river into 15-foot water.

The dead were Stanley Lowinski, 34, and his wife, Pearl, 32, of Hammond, Ind., and Edward Lowinski, 28, and his wife, Adeline, 25, of Chicago.

FORD COMPLAINT AGAINST LABOR RELATIONS BOARD

COVINGTON, Ky., April 28 (AP)—The Ford Motor company, in an affidavit filed in the Sixth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today, charged that the national labor relations board was "improperly influenced by extraneous considerations, political and otherwise" in handing down its order against the firm to require compliance with the Wagner labor act.

The affidavit, prepared by Frederick H. Wood of New York, Ford company counsel, sought continuance of a hearing scheduled for May 9, to permit the taking of depositions from 32 officers and attaches of the NLRB, including Chairman J. Warren Madden of Washington.

Wood petitioned that the hearing on Ford company's contest of the order be delayed until the June session.

Seal hunting reached its peak from 1850 to 1880, when annual catches ranged from 500,000 to 700,000 skins.

NATIONAL INCOME DOWN 5.4 PERCENT

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The national income in the first quarter of 1938 was 5.4 per cent less than in the corresponding period last year, commerce department statisticians estimated today.

Wages suffered the most severe decrease, 7 per cent, while payments of dividends and interest declined 2.4 per cent.

March income was estimated at $0.5 per cent of 1929 averages, compared with $0.7 in February and $0.5 in August, 1937. Although March income was slightly below February totals, the decline was the smallest since the recession began.

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Uncle Sam, taking a peep into his checkbook, decided today he will be able to run regular government departments more economically next year.

All the household bills aren't in yet, but he calculated, on the basis of what he has spent this year, that he will get along with about 5 1-2 per cent less for customary annual expenses.

The relief program, however, may send his total living costs far into the red, compared with this year. No relief funds for 1939 have yet been voted, nor have any pump-priming appropriations.

The house has voted to give Uncle Sam $5,329,895,683 for regular expenditures for the year beginning July 1—about $300,000,000 less than the same items cost him in the current months. Relief costs for both years are excluded.

Five portions of this total have been approved by the senate and President Roosevelt. The other bills either have not yet gone through the senate or have not been accepted finally by both chambers. Minor changes may be made in these incomplete bills.

The house trimmed about $14,000,000 off January 1 estimates of government expenses for the 1939 fiscal year.

SAYS WAGE-HOUR MEASURE IS FAIR

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Chairman Norton (D-NJ.) of the house labor committee declared today that the revamped wages and hours bill was "the most fair and equitable" one her committee could draft.

Mrs. Norton made the declaration in urging the house rules committee, which bottled up the original wage-hour bill for months last year, to give the revised measure a legislative green light.

Chairman O'Connor (D-NY.) of the rules committee, told newsmen no decision would be made until tomorrow on Mrs. Norton's request that the bill be given preferential status on the house calendar. He indicated members opposed to the legislation would be heard tomorrow.

OPPOSES LISTS OF 'BEST SELLERS'

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Pearl S. Buck wants to abolish "best-seller" lists—which in the past have included some of her own novels—on the ground they regiment public taste.

"I wish to heaven we could do away with the best-seller list entirely," she told a luncheon of book-sellers and authors.

"The best-seller list is not a thermometer. It is an iron mold clamped upon the public mind."

The original gag rules in the house of representatives were adopted in 1836-44 to bar anti-slavery petitions.

PIONEER METHODIST CIRCUIT RIDER IS TAKEN BY DEATH

DALLAS, April 28 (AP)—The Rev. J. F. Archer, 60 of Van Alstyne, pioneer Methodist circuit rider, died here in a hospital early today.

He had been a patient in the hospital two years, a paralytic.

Of his 40 years as a minister, 32 were spent in North Texas. He organized the first Epworth league in Sherman in 1894.

Once he preached to a congregation of two.

"I rode 15 miles through bad weather and preached to a woman and her 12-year-old daughter," he recalled.

His first charge was 40 miles long, with nine appointments reaching into three counties.

FARMER ON TRIAL

CLARKSVILLE, April 28 (AP)—Gene Hill, Red River county farmer, was on trial here today for the second time in connection with the death of his niece, Martha Durum, 14, near Detroit, Texas, in August, 1936.

In a previous trial Hill was given 15 years in prison, but the case was reversed and remanded.

Mrs. Nora McClanahan of Coleman is here with her daughter, Mrs. Edgar Johnson. Mrs. Johnson has been sick this past week.

Miss Zan Grant has come home for the summer, her school at Mt. Olive having concluded its term.

Rev. George Rickles was a visitor in the J. D. Hatch home Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hammack, who have been here for the past four months, left Sunday for their home in Salt Lake City.

Mrs. J. G. Hammack was reported greatly improved this week.

The Grants' new home is about completed, and the family is moving in Mr. Reed is in his new home at Fairview.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wooten were guests on the Guitarr ranch Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Weathers, who recently moved there from Clyde.

A talk on bedroom improvement was given by the county agent, Miss Lora Farnsworth, before the Fairview home demonstration club at its recent meeting in the home of Mrs. W. A. Langley. Miss Farnsworth stressed the importance in the room decoration of windows and the bed. Miss Farnsworth suggested making window finishing the center of the room's style arrangement, and told how old-fashioned beds could be modernized. Use of lye water, or a mixture of alcohol and turpentine, was suggested for removing varnish from pieces to be refinished. The old varnish should be removed, the agent said, for satisfactory repainting.

During the business session, members discussed plans for a party, and a menu was made out for members to serve at the district H. D. meeting in Big Spring Friday. Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. W. H. Ward, Mrs. Willard Smith, Mrs. Ray Smith, Mrs. Gabra Hammack, Mrs. Ralph Hammack, Mrs. J. W. Wooten, Mrs. Clotis Langley, Mrs. Walker Reed, Mrs. Charles Creighton, Mrs. G. J. Couch, and Miss Farnsworth. Next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. W. H. Ward, on May 6.

Fine Lot Kept On Display At Market For A Day

I. E. "Doc" Caudle returned Thursday from Fort Worth where he marketed 27 long yearling steers bred and fed by him at his ranch on Elbow creek.

The steers, averaging 1,062 pounds at Fort Worth, were bought by Swift & Co. for $9.60 per hundred. Buyer for the company estimated that they would dress $4 to 65 per cent.

Jim Farmer of the Farmer Commission company, handling the sale for Caudle, said in a statement to the Fort Worth Press that "They are the best to arrive on this market for more than a year... better even than the carload lots from the last stock show."

Caudle had the animals on feed at his ranch for six months, feeding a ration raised on his farms (with the exception of cottonseed meal). He fed maize heads and threshed beets, meal molasses, and topped with some yellow corn. Every one of the yearlings was a registered calf from Caudle's show-bred herd. Caudle advertised these as the "finest lot of calves ever to come out of the west to the Fort Worth market."

BANK CLEARINGS UP FROM LAST WEEK

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Bank clearings at twenty-two leading cities in the United States in the week ended April 27 were sharply above the preceding week, but sagged under the corresponding week a year earlier for the twenty-fourth consecutive time, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

The April 27 week clearings totaled $5,379,815,000, a rise of $430,581,000 over the preceding week. This was a direct reversal of the trend last year at this time when there was a drop of $259,897,000 between the two similar weeks.

Declines under a year ago appeared at all reporting centers, except New York City. Biggest drops included Detroit 36.3 per cent and Dallas, 20.0.

Newspaper is Called Best Seller

Public Retains Interest in Press, Stahlman Says

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—Newspapers have sold and will continue to sell more merchandise than any other medium yet devised, James G. Stahlman, president of the American Newspaper Publishers association, told the New York Advertising club today.

"One of the silliest views held by some advertisers," he said, "is that the public is losing its interest in the press and is turning to other media for its information."

"The daily newspapers are still the primary news disseminators, and, likewise, the most powerful agencies of public opinion."

Stahlman said the fact that the daily newspapers of America have a circulation of more than 42,000,000—an all-time high—is "the best answer to loose assertions that reader interest in the press is on the decline."

"The press is still the most powerful agency of opinion in America," he continued.

"It will continue to be that dominating force in the life of our

Marital Clinic Helps Couples Cut Business Of The Divorce Lawyers

By SAM JACKSON
AP Feature Service Writer

SAN FRANCISCO—There are about 160,000 lawyers in the United States to help you get a divorce, but how many agencies can give you expert help in staying married? The latest official count is 32.

That is the number of the "family relations centers" that have sprung up to get Mr. and Mrs. to talk to a consultant instead of a judge.

The San Francisco center, founded in 1928 and claiming to be the first out-and-out marriage counsel institution, handled 161 cases last year.

"It was the woman who brought in her problems in well over half the cases," said Henry M. Grant, director. "This conforms with sociological research findings, that the wife is quicker to admit both to herself and others that a marriage is not a success."

Objective Talks
People have been observed to walk up and down before the building for two hours before getting up courage to bring their emotional troubles to a stranger. The interview is held across a desk in a pleasant, simply furnished room.

"The atmosphere is entirely objective," the director explains. "I show them I don't consider any part of their behavior wrong, and encourage them to give me the facts."

The ideal procedure, he believes, is to have two interviews with the wife, two with the husband, and then talk with them together.

Sex Important Factor
And what about? Grant finds that sex problems are the chief cause of marital unhappiness, with finances and the question of who's boss also important. For a statistical report on the subject, he refers you to opinions of 100 men and 100 women gathered by G. V. Hamilton, psychologist.

The men complained of temperamental dissatisfaction, physical dissatisfaction, lack of personal freedom, illness, and of troubles over children, money and relatives—in that order.

The women went along with them in complaining of temperamental and physical dissatisfaction and lack of personal freedom as first three on the list. From then on they set down in order finances, lack of affection on their husbands' part, jealousy and "everything wrong."

After study of the returns, the conclusion was that only 51 of the 100 men and 45 of the same number of women had "reasonably satisfactory mates."

The San Francisco institution is an independent agency governed by a board of directors of which prominent physicians form a substantial part.

In addition to the consultations, information is spread by lectures, extension courses, occasional large conventions and by circulating libraries.

Diamonds Not Pampered Like Floors Of Marble In Library Of Congress

WASHINGTON (UP)—People think they take good care of their biggest diamond ring.

The chances are 10 to 1 they take less care of it than the Library of Congress takes with its floors. People wash their rings in any soap, and bump them against metal objects.

There is no such "rough stuff" with the classically beautiful marble floors in the Library of Congress.

Those floors can not even be scrubbed with a mop, for fear of the metal pails chipping the edges of the marble slabs, according to W. C. Bond, superintendent of the building. Instead a corps of charwomen each night goes over the shining marble with soft cloths, scrubbing the stone with painstaking care.

To Sink Test North Of The Wilkinson

Acreege Block On Gular Land Completed
Repps Gular announced here Thursday that he had consummated a deal with Ward Powell, Fort Worth, for an acreage block just north of the territory blocked by T. G. Shaw for the Texas Co. No. 1 H. H. Wilkinson, wildcat test which had oil shows in sandy lime below 3,200 feet.

The block embraces six sections of the Gular land. One of the considerations for the lease, said Gular, was the starting of a well within 90 days somewhere about the center of section 17, B & C survey. This would be about four and a half miles due north of the Texas Co. No. 1 Wilkinson, which was reported still drilling in lime Thursday morning at around 3,350 feet. It had a gallon of oil on each run from 3,214-32-25 feet.

Drilling up was in progress on the S. Owens No. 1. Dr. G. G. Wright, wildcat test in section 33-35-35, T&P, Howard county, and prospects were that it would spud within a few days. The test is on a 4,000 acre block and is about 18 miles north of the Wilkinson test.

Entries Taken In Essay Contest On Airmail Week

Several entries are expected in the Airmail Week essay contest closing Sunday, W. C. Blankenship, chairman of the essay committee, said Thursday.

After blanks were sent to high school students, many of them contacted Blankenship in interest of the contest, he said.

The contest is to compose an essay entitled "Wings Across America" and dealing with the ideas, purposes and advantages of air transportation as it effects modern communication. Essays must not exceed 250 words and will be judged on originality of ideas, continuity, construction, spelling, punctuation, and neatness.

Winners will receive air trip to an from Washington, D. C. Second prize will be a trophy, and third place a plaque. Entries must be sent airmail not later than midnight, May 1, to the state chairman, national airmail week essay contest, in care of the local postmaster.

"Pin The Tail On The Donkey"

When you were young, you played that timeless game. Blindfolded, you weaved your way to the painted donkey on the wall, and tried to pin his paper tail in approximately the right position. You hit his nose, his ear, his leg—or you missed completely, and your blind stab landed on the empty wall.

Do you still "pin the tail on the donkey" when you go shopping? Do you make your purchases "blindfolded," leaving your choice to chance? That is literally the "unenlightened" method. It wastes your time, your energy, your patience—and your money.

Don't buy haphazardly. Know beforehand what to buy, and where to buy it, and how much to pay for it. Read the newspaper advertisements! Scan the shopping columns; compare prices, compare values—decide upon your bargain. Then go directly to the store which advertises it; make your purchase—and be content!

No more hit-and-miss buying when you follow the advertisements. They lift the blindfold; they make it easier to find the best values.

Woden To Open In Midland Friday

Johnny Woden would pitch the opener in Midland against the Cardinals, Cliff Neighbors, tomorrow, Manager Charlie Barnabe decided after Clarence Trantham admitted the black shirts in the game Wednesday afternoon.

He is calling upon Patrick Stacey, former Big Spring independent outfielder, who can pitch a mean ball on occasions to do the duties today.

Trantham admitted he tired badly in the late innings of the game but he pitched great ball and seemed most effective in the eighth. The 13 men he left stranded on the sacks shows that he can bear down when the need arises.

Heat Strategy Of Barnabe's Worked

The hit strategy Barnabe employed on the Cards in the seventh inning was just about the smartest ever witnessed here and went very well with the fans. Benny Franklin, the Indian hurler, had pitched two hit balls until that stage but he suddenly lost control and handed "comedian" Henderson a one-passer, got in trouble when manager missed Harkey's fly ball for right field and set the stage for the play when he walked Harkey. Joe Saporito came in to send a long fly in center field and score Henderson and then Allen Berndt laid down a perfect sacrifice bunt down the third base line. Harkey was sneaking home on the play and had to stop until Berndt's bat connected with the ball. Third baseman Larrieu came in to take the ball and, having no chance whatsoever to get Harkey at the plate, tossed to first for the putout but Siefert was following in Harkey's footsteps and crossed the plate before the throw had slipped Berndt.

Jake Suytar, elongated Midland first sacker, resembles Tommy Hulbert. Siefert, Joe Saporito came in to send a long fly in center field and score Henderson and then Allen Berndt laid down a perfect sacrifice bunt down the third base line. Harkey was sneaking home on the play and had to stop until Berndt's bat connected with the ball. Third baseman Larrieu came in to take the ball and, having no chance whatsoever to get Harkey at the plate, tossed to first for the putout but Siefert was following in Harkey's footsteps and crossed the plate before the throw had slipped Berndt.

Speaking of Henderson, that boy is headed places and he's going to waste very little time in doing it. Only 19 years old, he twice went to the right for what looked like certain base hits.

The Midland team appears to be better and more experienced than was the local crew but Manager Wither has installed either the fight nor the pepper that the locals have.

Heavy Champ Is Back In Town

Red Cunningham, the Golden Gloves heavyweight boxing champion here, has returned from his trip to Dallas where he was billed to the bedside of his mother who was seriously ill. Red doesn't intend to don the gloves here for some time yet.

Incidentally, the local boxing team probably won't make the trip to Abilene Friday. According to information received here the fight might have been cancelled there. Five local boys—Alton Bostick, Johnny Owens, Red Womack, Ynes Yanez and Ellis Reed—were scheduled to go.

Football may have to be dropped at Garner high school if more interest isn't taken in spring training. Coach Floyd Burnett said. Only eight boys are reporting for practice now. The Billies are scheduled to oppose Courtney Friday. Two other games are scheduled but Burnett said he may cancel both of those.

The mentor is sporting a bruised hand, suffered when he took part in the scrimmage session Monday.

GIANTS CONTINUE TO WIN AS BILL TERRY ALTERS ATTACK

Bucs Tied For Nat'l. League Lead

By GAYLE TALBOT

The biggest change of the baseball season has come over Manager Bill Terry, whose New York Giants, by the way, were in a dead heat with Pittsburgh today for the leadership of the National League, with eight wins and a single loss.

Bill is doing his coaching now from third base and he is spending practically all his time signalling his men to hit the ball. In past seasons Bill's idea of offensive strategy was to draw a walk, then sacrifice and then score, if possible, on a two-base error.

It must not have been bad strategy, as witness the Giants' record of three pennants in five years under the old colonel. But now Bill has his boys swinging from their shoe-tips. They have hit 13 home runs and are overwhelming the eastern half of their opposition.

Terry considers his present Giants team the best he has managed, even with his regular second baseman, Burgess Whitehead, back in the hospital for perhaps a month as an aftermath of an appendectomy. It appears to have some of the power that he has craved since the Yankees caved in his last October.

In swamping the Phillies twice yesterday, 7 to 5 and 11 to 6, the Polo Grounders pummeled a total of 27 hits, and Terry didn't signal for a bunt all afternoon. In the seventh inning—a home run with the bases loaded, Larry French was his victim.

Snaps Losing Streak The Brooklynans snapped a four-game losing streak by belting four Boston Bee twirlers for 17 hits and a 13 to 2 victory. Lon Warneke brought the St. Louis Cardinals out of their prolonged slump with a 5 to 0 shutout of Cincinnati. Cleveland's Indians remained on top in the American League, although they suffered their first defeat since opening day at the hands of the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 3.

The Yankees finally won two in a row at the expense of Philadelphia 9 to 2, and their 16 hits would indicate that the champions are at least finding the range.

Jimmy DeShong pitched the surprising Washington Senators into second place with a 5 to 2 performance over Boston. The St. Louis Browns gave Detroit a 7 to 2 beating.

Speaking of Henderson, that boy is headed places and he's going to waste very little time in doing it. Only 19 years old, he twice went to the right for what looked like certain base hits.

KNOW YOUR BS BARONS

CLARENCE TRANTHAM

This Texas son was born in Fairy, January 8, 1915... Is the tallest member of the local squad, stands six feet, four inches, or thereabouts, and uses all of that attitude to good advantage... He's a fire baller, a slow and easy worker... Never excites but burns inwardly sometimes when Andrews or some of the other "blind toms" didn't notice that corner of the plate being cut squarely in two... Has the Elstein hair which makes him look even taller... Is strikeout artist but will work a batter any way he can... Has seen professional service in two leagues, having worked with Wray Query in Tyler for about four months and was with Jack Hutcherson at Monahan last season... Was throwing men over in the Industrial league in Fort Worth in 1935 where he won 24 games... Played for the Southwestern Casket company... Has been in the United States army... Named as an all-post pitcher... Won 18 there... Joined McCamey of the Permian Basin league for a while... Won 14 for Hutch last year... Was with him all season... Likes the American League especially the Yankees... Baseball wasn't his only sport... Played a fair game of basketball, made the all-county center for three years... A weight man in track, he lettered as a thirly clad for two seasons... Struck out Bates, Midland catcher, four times in the starter yesterday and wants to lead the league in strikeouts... He will be as effective as he was against Midland...

Lazzeri, at that age, has what it takes to continue in baseball. When Philip K. Wrigley, youthful owner of the Cubs, engineered the deal five months ago for the Italian veteran's release by the New York Yankees, he was engaged as a coach, strategist and utility second baseman.

To date the Cubs have played nine games and Lazzeri has been in seven, assaulting National league pitching for eight hits, including five home runs on successive days, in 21 times at bat and driving in seven runs. The home runs, belted out in Pittsburgh, put the Cubs out in front. They didn't stay there, but Tony's blows nevertheless were important in the progress of the play.

Lazzeri, judging by his performance, gives the Cubs a reliable infield substitute, the lack of which was a factor in the Chicagoan's failure to win the National league championship last year. Originally Tony was cast for the roles of pinch-hitter and understudy to Billy Herman to fill the talented second baseman's post if he were injured.

Lazzeri has yet to play second base. Nor has he appeared as a pinch-hitter. But he has performed admirably at both third base and shortstop, positions strange to him. In three games he filled in for Stanley Hack at third base and then shifted to short for four more when Billy Jurges injured his right thumb.

In seven games Lazzeri acquired a batting average of .381 putting him high up among Cub hitters. Lazzeri is one of the strangest members of the Cubs. He speaks only when he has something important to say or to pull an occasional wisecrack. Ordinarily, he is silent as a tomb and wouldn't open eight words in a month unless spoken to. Lean and thin, he appears in perfect physical condition. His hair is beginning to thin perceptibly, revealing a bald spot that belies his age.

WEST WARDERS VICTORS, 12-9

West Ward's Bulldogs slashed out a 12-9 softball victory over South Ward Wednesday afternoon on the Young street diamond. The Bulldogs combined seven hits with 14 walks to cop the game. Leon Randall contributed first works in the fourth frame when he clouted out a home run with the bases populated. The blow came in the final inning. Freddy Wilkerson twirled evenly for the victors, setting the South Ward team down with two hits.

FORSAN CLUB AND OILERS OF TEXON MEET HERE SATURDAY

FORSAN, April 28—Marion Forbes announced this morning that the Forsan Continental Oilers had altered their plans for the weekend and would meet the Texon Oilers in but one game in Big Spring's baseball park. The two teams will open their engagement here Saturday in a game called for 3:30 p. m. and then move on to Texon for the Sunday game.

Maxie Beard, who lost a hard fought go with the Big Spring Barons last week, will try his luck in Baron park again while Tip Gressitt will hurl the Sunday bat.

Lazzeri Is Ace-In-Hole

CHICAGO, April 28 (UP)—"Poosh-Em-Up" Tony Lazzeri, handy man for the Chicago Cubs, is giving a remarkable demonstration that 35 years is no handicap for a man with a bull-dog spirit.

Steer Gridders To Play Squad Game Today

Murphy Moves Clovis, Hobbs Encounter Up From Friday

Smith, With Jones In Lineup, Seek First Victory

The intra-squad football game between gridders of the local high school will be played this afternoon instead of Friday afternoon as originally planned, Coach Pat Murphy announced.

The squad has been divided into two teams with Chuck Smith leading one team and Ross Callahan managing the other. Today's game will be the second of three games, the Callahans having won the first 13-0. The winner of the majority of the games will be treated by the losers to an ice cream supper.

Scene of action is the Austin street field where the players have been in spring training for the past two months.

The Callahans won last week when Alton Bostick and Bobby Savage scored touchdowns but the Smiths will be favored in today's tussle due to the fact that Chuck Jones, hard running back, is in the lineup for the first time. Chuck was out with injuries during the last encounter.

JOCKEYS FAVOR STAGEHAND IN MAY 7 RACE

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—By the narrow majority of two votes, a jury of 12 of the country's foremost jockeys today named Maxwell Howard's Stagehand as the probable winner of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, May 7.

The early Sande-trained son of Rocke, conqueror of Seabiscuit in the Santa Anita Handicap, received votes of confidence from five of the experts. Three cast their ballots for William Woodward's Fighting Fox, two for Dauber from William Dupont, Jr.'s Foxcatcher Farm and one each for W. S. Kilmer's Nedyar and Hal Price Healey's Menow.

Stagehand received the support of Nick Wall, Johnny Gilbert, Lester Balaski, Johnny Longden and Earl Porter. All agreed it will take a mighty good horse to hold off the Howard ace when he makes his bid in the stretch.

Score 9-2 Win Behind Steady Pitching

Trantham Gives Up 9 Blows; Saporito And Berndt Sparkle

Sparkling work by his teammates helped Clarence Trantham through the late stages of Wednesday's WT-NM league opener here in Baron park Wednesday before 1,000 baseball fans as the big righthander chalked up his first victory of the season at the expense of the Midland Cardinals, 9-2.

The gangling hurler tired during the final frames of the game but he was never in serious trouble. He gave up nine hits but had the decision in his pocket after the third inning, the frame that the charges of Charlie Barnabe garnered six runs.

He sent eight Cards back to the bench via the strikeout route, walked but four and left 12 runners stranded on the sacks.

Meanwhile the Barons, displaying an ability to make runs even without base hits, confined their run-making to two big innings. They sent 12 men to bat in that interesting third, scoring their six runs on three hits, two walks and a pair of miscues, and came up with the remaining tallies in the seventh without the aid of a base hit.

Hank Froeschauer wobbled along for two and one-third frames for the Midlanders, giving way to Benny Franklin when he choked down with runners on first and third and six runs marked up against him. Franklin hurled effectively through the seventh but was removed for a pinch-hitter at that stage. Parks finished, Bobby Decker finding him for a line double in the eighth to account for the only material damage he suffered.

Harry Siefert signalled what was coming later on when he led off in the second frame with a screeching triple in deep center field but the locals were to be denied any runs until the third. After Saporito had grounded to Zemek at short, Siefert attempted to race home on a ground ball but Berndt but Zemek tossed him out by inches.

An error by Suytar on Larrieu's throw across the infield after George Quigley had lined one out paved the way for the big noise in the third. Pete Joiner followed with a single, sending Quigley to second and Decker, attempting to sacrifice, was safe at first when Larrieu miscued. Hank Henderson singled, driving in Quigley, Harry Siefert walked, forcing in Joiner, Joe Saporito hit a money blow into short left.

AN OVER-TAXED INDUSTRY

Any industry that pays out two dollars of every three it earns to the support of the government is being pretty heavily taxed. It is doubtful if any industry but that of petroleum could stand the gaff—and even that gigantic industry is beginning to reel under the burden.

Judge J. C. Hester of Abilene, president of the West Central Texas Oil & Gas association, told the annual meeting of the West Texas chamber of commerce in Wichita Falls Tuesday that oil is paying a billion and eight hundred million dollars a year in taxes. It amounts to $1.98 per barrel, equivalent to 8.6 per cent of all its invested capital. Of the gross return of 12 per cent, the government took two dollars and the industry itself, he said, had to be content with one dollar.

The oil business offers a convenient target for legislators looking for something to tax. The burden has been piled higher and higher, until at this time the oil promoter has become so onerous that the goose that lays the golden eggs may be killed. If through unwise legislation and unjust taxes the oil industry becomes crippled or defunct, the government will lose a prolific source of revenue and the legislators will have to look for other resources.

An increase in the cost of government in Texas of 2,500 per cent in 28 years was cited by Judge Hester. There you have the answer to the oil industry's present over-taxed condition. Politicians have so stretched the cost of carrying on the public business and the industry offers such a convenient source that it has become the unwilling victim of a system of taxation that would put a less hardy type of business out of existence.

It has reached the point where oil men have to fight to prevent the tax-gatherers from taking their last pair of trousers.

Senator Minton is authorized by the president to embarrass, worry, terrorize and destroy those particular taxpayers who, Mr. Minton feels, had no right to oppose a bill sponsored by Senator Minton's party. If this is not to be described as arbitrary government and capricious tyranny what is the accurate way to describe it?

To be sure, this same power to inspect income tax returns has been granted to other congressional committees. But I think I am right in saying that never before Mr. Roosevelt entered the White House have income tax returns been opened, except by special authority of congress, to any committee concerned with anything but the tax laws themselves. The law itself, Section 257 (E) of the Revenue Act of 1926, opens the returns to "the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives, the Committee on Finance of the Senate, a select committee of the House or Senate specially authorized to investigate returns by a resolution of the Senate or House, or a joint committee so authorized by concurrent resolution."

The intent is clear, that returns should be open to committees that are legislating about taxes.

Until Mr. Roosevelt's time it had never, I think, occurred to any one that other committees not named in the law, committees not interested in taxes but in altogether different matters, should also have the right to delve into tax returns. Nor had it ever before occurred to any one that the president had the power to say which committees of congress might do this and which might not.

I do not know, not being a lawyer, whether any justification can be found in the letter of the law for the power which Mr. Roosevelt has conferred so quietly upon Mr. Minton. But surely it is contrary to the spirit of the revenue law or of any law that conforms with the American conception of civil rights.

Since the beginning it has been a fundamental principle of the income tax law that the returns are confidential; it is, in fact, a prison offense under federal law "to divulge or to make known in any manner whatever not provided by law" the financial assets disclosed in an income tax return.

Can it be argued that the law intended to give a committee like

NEW MEXICO'S OIL CONTROL LAW OLD AS PRODUCTION

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 28 (AP)—New Mexico has had oil regulation since it first had an oil well, and now its petroleum control code "has come to be looked upon as a model for other states to follow," Lieut.-Gov. Hiram Dow said here today.

Addressing a physical sciences section of the Association for the Advancement of Science, southwestern division, Dow said that, despite strict regulation, "the oil industry has largely written its own ticket in New Mexico."

He said it was "amazing" that to this day there had been no litigation challenging any provision or conservation order.

New Mexico's first oil well, Dow told the scientists, was brought in near Dayton, Eddy county, in 1909. Although its production was not more than 15 barrels a day, it prompted the 1909 territorial legislature to write New Mexico's first oil control law.

A CASE FOR THE CIVIL LIBERTIES UNION

A few days ago, on Thursday of last week, newspaper men in Washington learned that the president had ordered the treasury to let Senator Minton's committee inspect the income tax returns of individuals and corporations for 1936 and 1937. The order was actually issued two days previously but, curiously, at least three of the five members of the committee, Senators Schwelmbach, Frazier and Gibson, did not know the order had been issued until they were asked about it by newspaper men.

This is the committee of which the former senator from Alabama, now Mr. Justice Black, was chairman. It is the committee which was set up in 1935 to investigate lobbying against the holding company bill and is now, with Mr. Minton as Mr. Black's successor, investigating the opposition to the reorganization bill. The treasury ever giving Mr. Minton the right to inspect income tax returns was signed by the acting secretary of the treasury, Mr. Magill, on Saturday, April 9. The reorganization bill was defeated in the house on the evening of Friday, April 8.

Under the power vested in Senator Minton, he may now put any taxpayer or any corporation on trial before his committee, he being the judge, the prosecutor and the jury. He may now make public the financial condition of any taxpayer who has opposed the reorganization bill, and his victims have no protection. Senator Minton may attack any one he chooses. He can destroy his reputation. There are no rules of evidence. There are not the ordinary legal safeguards which even the worst criminal enjoys.

Can there be any question that this is a lawless abuse of official authority, and that it is irreconcilable with any American conception of justice through law in order to obtain revenue, the government compels individuals and corporations to disclose facts about their financial condition. Then, under an administrative ruling, this information is made available to a senator engaged not in studying the tax laws, but in investigating something wholly unconnected with the raising of taxes.

The information concerns only a relatively small number of citizens. Of this small number some must face the ordeal of having their private affairs published to the world; others will not be subjected to this punishment. The selection of those who are to be punished is the prerogative of a senator engaged in a partisan campaign. He alone has the authority to decide who is to be punished and who is not to be punished. There is no pretense that all citizens are to be treated alike, that every citizen must have his private affairs published. There is no pretense that all income taxpayers who might be charged with tax evasion or avoidance are to be treated alike.

Senator Minton is authorized by the president to embarrass, worry, terrorize and destroy those particular taxpayers who, Mr. Minton feels, had no right to oppose a bill sponsored by Senator Minton's party. If this is not to be described as arbitrary government and capricious tyranny what is the accurate way to describe it?

To be sure, this same power to inspect income tax returns has been granted to other congressional committees. But I think I am right in saying that never before Mr. Roosevelt entered the White House have income tax returns been opened, except by special authority of congress, to any committee concerned with anything but the tax laws themselves. The law itself, Section 257 (E) of the Revenue Act of 1926, opens the returns to "the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives, the Committee on Finance of the Senate, a select committee of the House or Senate specially authorized to investigate returns by a resolution of the Senate or House, or a joint committee so authorized by concurrent resolution."

The intent is clear, that returns should be open to committees that are legislating about taxes.

Until Mr. Roosevelt's time it had never, I think, occurred to any one that other committees not named in the law, committees not interested in taxes but in altogether different matters, should also have the right to delve into tax returns. Nor had it ever before occurred to any one that the president had the power to say which committees of congress might do this and which might not.

I do not know, not being a lawyer, whether any justification can be found in the letter of the law for the power which Mr. Roosevelt has conferred so quietly upon Mr. Minton. But surely it is contrary to the spirit of the revenue law or of any law that conforms with the American conception of civil rights.

Since the beginning it has been a fundamental principle of the income tax law that the returns are confidential; it is, in fact, a prison offense under federal law "to divulge or to make known in any manner whatever not provided by law" the financial assets disclosed in an income tax return.

Can it be argued that the law intended to give a committee like

Man About Manhattan
 NEW YORK—This reporter, who plays hooky whenever a chance to go hunting or fishing hops up, slipped quietly out of town the other day for a 48-hour survey of some favorite fishing waters, and while the fishing was good and the strikes were frequent, the trip turned out to be a very costly one. He lost a friend.

I will not mention this man's name, because I think a lot of him and he might not like it. Nevertheless, you have heard him many times on the radio. He has a summer place on this private lake where I like to angle for favorite pan fish.

As you know, the season is now closed on bass and pickerel. But one may legally take yellow perch, which are a choice fish, and game fighters on light tackle. Well, it was raining hard and the fish were biting, and I was having a fine time. And suddenly a bass took the hook. When you take a bass out of season you carefully release him, if he isn't hooked in the gills. They die, you know, when the gills are punctured, and in small lakes it is not good to throw back fish that will die.

Furthermore, I had been instructed by some friends of mine, two ladies who own the lake, that if such a contretemps took place not to return any injured fish to the water. So I whacked the bass on the head and tossed it among the yellow perch.

And just then my friend drove up. He had come down to look over his cottage and make plans for summer occupancy. It was good to see him, and we chatted enthusiastically for some minutes. His wife was in the car, and while I walked out on the dock to see the fish.

In about five minutes he strode back to the car. He was livid with rage. He gave me the sort of look a cop gives a sneak-thief, and then said: "You're a fine one to take bass before the season opens. I think it is a cheap, lousy trick. I don't suppose you know what sportsmanship is."

Well, how to explain... Any excuse I would have made would have sounded unconvincing... That is one thing that isn't easily glossed over... Furthermore, I was getting angry... And embarrassed... Because, there I was, caught red handed... He climbed into his car and with a final "cheap, lousy trick," jerked his car into gear and drove away.

So I made no explanation whatever. Later, I related the experience to the owners of the lake, and they said, "Well, don't let it bother you. Besides, we own this lake. It has never been stocked by the state or the government, and if we give you permission to fish all year round that is our business."

Which was true. But, talking with my friend during those few blistering moments, when I stood there with a dead "illegal" black bass at my feet, really made me feel like a heel. You have to go through something like that to understand how crummy you can feel.

I suppose I'll run into him some summer dawn, with the mist rising from the water on this lake, and I'll probably yell, "Hi, Butch." But he is a musician, and funny. And what he'll answer I don't know.

Union went into action. In this instance it is the American Liberty League. If only the rules could be reversed, one would feel more certain about the future of liberty in this country. It would be exhilarating indeed to see the American Liberty League defending the rights of C.I.O. against the lawlessness of Mayor Hague in Jersey City and to see the Civil Liberties Union leading the fight against the lawlessness of men like Black and Minton. I have a notion that if this happened, even once, both organizations would rise greatly in public esteem.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds
 by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The oddest literary office in town at present is on a movie set. Two writers and a girl secretary labor there, the click of the portable keys at intervals while the current scene for the movie they're writing is being filmed and recorded.

The office is a canvas shack, about eight feet square. The writers are Bruce Manning and Felix Jackson. From the door, the scribes can peer out and see how the scene they're just written is being played, and a few (more pertinent) how much longer they have to turn out the next.

All this sounds very much like the movie business as caricatured in those stage lampoons like "Once in a Lifetime" and "Boy Meets Girl." And yet—when the kidding's finished—and you get down to facts—it isn't such a funny, inefficient mode of moviemaking. If it is then it's the same that turned out "Three Smart Girls" and "One Hundred Men and a Girl"—and that, to movie fans and fainting bankers alike, should be argued enough that Henry Koster's way of making pictures is a good way.

The picture in question is "The Rage of Paris." That's the story in which Danielle Darrieux of France is bowing to the Hollywood camera. She's getting $4,000 a week, and she was getting it all the weeks she waited while they prepared a story for haste which might make waste.

Must Be Smashed
 But from the movie point of view this Darrieux is a mighty important property. They couldn't rush into production with just any story, even to save time. Darrieux is with Universal for five years, and to realize the maximum return in five years the first picture has to be a smash. So they had not one, but two stories, ready to shoot before "The Rage of Paris" was selected as best for an introductory vehicle.

And now, even though they're writing as they go along, Manning and Jackson are writing from a finished script. A scene at a time—just a jump ahead of the camera, and sometimes only a 10-minute jump at that—they polish, revise, point up scenes, twist dialogue. From 7:30 a. m. to 11:30 p. m., they're with Koster who is a brilliant young director as his work attests. Each night they plan out with him the next day's shooting.

Not Temperamental
 By all the laws this "Rage of Paris" set should be a madhouse, but it would be interesting to report that it is. The dull truth is that it's a pleasant place; that Miss Darrieux, who as a foreigner could "get by" with temperamental explosions, doesn't have them but persists in being agreeable, democratic, and unassuming; that the other actors—Doug Fairbanks Jr., Louis Hayward, Micaela Auer—uniformly respect and like Koster and his work with them; and that everybody's happy.

Before this reaches print, of course, I may be a liar. The delightful Danielle may have exploded, young Fairbanks may have walked in a huff, or Koster may have had a nervous breakdown—but all that would be another story, not forecast by today's study of the set barometer.

Director James Hogan is back from Texas where he went on location for "The Texans," a historical outdoor picture. Asked him if he thought he had an "epic." His reply:

"If better be. We've got stuff of a thundering herd going through a blizzard, through a brush fire, through dust storms, and through water. And we brought back four carloads of cattle—just for closure!"

The Good Barrier

Chapter 29
 IN ALL ITS FURY
 by BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

The cabin was dark when Judith whispered goodnight to Gary. She was going to get a divorce—Reuben wanted to marry Clary—Suppose Reuben asked for a divorce first?—Suppose she beat him to it?—Gran would never think kindly of her again—Jim would call her a poor sport—a piker—Clary was going to get a new deal—She was going to get on top, she must conquer her old fashioned ideas. Clary said that—Said it with a sort of unconscious envy—

The thought that Clary might be forgiving sleep caused Judith to get quickly in bed. She lay on her back, very still, and tried to quell her thoughts. No use. Might as well let them ramble at will. A hectic period lay just ahead of her—

Her contrary mind would not stay where she sent it, but went hopping hither and yon like an unruly grasshopper. Reuben loved Clary—Funny—Galbreath was going to discharge Gary—

Her breath ragged unevenly at this thought. If Gary lost his job—if she was deserted by Reuben, she would be without anchor—waiting—one of those free women.

She scurried from this idea as though it had been a rattlesnake.

Over the backward trail she wandered involuntarily—Her wedding day—the day she had vowed to stick—

Reuben had offered to let her go then because he loved her—now—

How different her life, and his had she gone—No Judykin—No Jimmy—No freezing nights and cluttered hot days in Fordney's Gulch—She had promised to be true in him, to have faith—

She started up. In all fairness she should tell Reuben Gary was about to discharge him. Unkind to have him go all those miles to meet humiliation when she went to know she had been discussing him with Gary—Anyway he had to get his wages—

It was almost dawn when Judith fell asleep.

The twins' usual morning gallop awakened Judith. She felt more tired than when she went to bed but calm and clear-headed. The events of the preceding evening marched before her like so many grim-faced sentinels through whose lines she must pass. Search as she would for escape there was no evading them.

"I'll tell Reuben about his job," she was positive about the rightness of that morning. It wasn't like Gary to do such an ungentle trick; to exact his pound of flesh. Quickly she got into robe and slippers. In the bed near her own Clary slept—one white shoulder bare of her black lace nightgown—all sophistication washed from her unconscious face. Clary looked very tired, very innocent, very defenseless.

What Would She Say?
 On the sleeping porch only the twins greeted her. Reuben was up and gone.

"Velly early he go," Lu Wing, broom in hand, informed her. "Him take velly little breakfast."

Very little breakfast. Reuben knew! Was worried. He was always hungry in the morning.

On the smaller table right back from the twins' crib was some paper money weighed down with a can of talcum powder. On a bridge score Reuben had scrawled: "Make this go as far as you can."

Reuben knew! Clary had told him—of course.

Mechanically Judith picked up the money. Thirty-five dollars. The last she would get until—until when?

Panic seized her. What an extravagant fool she had been! Had she been less lavish of her new friends she could have saved money this summer. Reuben came tonight—

She shuddered away from the thought, went back to it, drawn irresistibly, could she do anything over sensibly? Would sullen, horrid silence hang between them like a fog or would the storm break in its fury? Sooner or later they must have it out—

"Up, up!" indignantly Jimmy pulled himself up and started to climb over the side of his crib. "Up!"

The slant of his eyebrows, the cock of his head reminded her so strongly of Reuben that suddenly Judith wanted to evade all argument with her son. "All right," she agreed weakly.

Pouring milk into glasses, putting porridge into bowls, being polite to Clary, Judith's thoughts went round and round like squirrels in a cage. Raging, dirty now—by nine tonight Reuben—

Judith speeded her departing guest. She did not want Clary under the roof tonight when Reuben came.

"Au revoir, darling. When I see you again you'll probably be the superintendent's wife," Clary said.

"Have your little job, Clary," "I never go further from a joke in my life."

"Or nearer," Judith said.

"Now what did she mean by that?" Clary wondered she sent her roadster zipping across the mountain, "if she told Gary what I said—and I'll bet a cookie she did—"

Clary stopped on the gas. "In that case there will be fireworks galore tonight. I'm going to be on hand to collect the falling stars—"

Judith went through the morning with an eye on the clock. What would she say to Reuben when he came? What would he say to her? At one o'clock Gary telephoned. "I've had to change my plans, Judith."

"Ten?" It didn't surprise her. Wasn't Gary always changing his plans?

"I'm leaving in 10 minutes for Portland with Galbreath."

"I'm Mad!"

That meant Reuben wouldn't

Change Scene Of Barn Dance

KBST Mikes To Pick Up Program At Night Club

The KBST Barn Dance, held each Friday night for the past three weeks at the Settles hotel and broadcast for one and one-half hours over the local station, has been discontinued. Friday night at 8:45 o'clock KBST microphones will be at the Wally Simpson club on the east highway for an extended broadcast of a Barn Dance to be started there. Beginning next week, the Barn Dance at the Wally Simpson club will be changed to Tuesday nights and these will be broadcasts over KBST. On the high school program at 6 this evening James Underwood and Raymond Lee Williams will again sing a group of old favorites. Selections to be heard today will be a 1928 hit tune titled "A Precious Little Thing Called Love" from the "Shopworn Angel"; Irving Berlin's famous "Alexander's Ragtime Band"; "Old Fashioned Garden," one of Cole Porter's early successes; and the very popular "One Song" from "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

The chamber of commerce program at 5 p. m. tomorrow afternoon will present a large group of talent for their regular weekly program. A mixed ensemble, under the direction of Mrs. Harry Hurt will be heard. Lucia Hurley will play two piano solos titled "The Winding Road" and "Flapperette." Jean Elliott and De Alva McAllister will sing several numbers. Ina Deason will play "The Majesty of the Deep."

Charles Johnson and his orchestra will again present 30 minutes of "Swing Music" on their regular broadcast to be heard at 5:15 this afternoon.

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 28 (AP) The course of true love—past rock-bound parental disfavor, thorny lawsuits, and personal detours—smoothed into a honeymoon trail across the continent today for Tommy Warner, millionaire heir, and the former Jean MacDonald, blonde divorcee. In a Baptist parsonage of this busy desert town, Warner, 28, and Mrs. MacDonald, 24, were married by the Rev. Charles H. Sloan last night. The couple was flown from Los Angeles in a private plane by Warner's partner in an aviation sales agency, Carlton Darnell. A few minutes for the ceremony, a post-nuptial kiss and congratulations—then the honeymooners boarded a streamline (Union Pacific) train after midnight for New York and Bermuda. By the time Warner flies his bride back to the west coast in a new plane, there may be little left of the tangled litigation which marred their courtship. Still pending against his father, Thomas W. Warner, Sr., motorcar accessory magnate, is the $1,250,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Pearl Antibus, woman detective, whom young Warner hired to find out whether Mrs. MacDonald loved him for himself or his future fortune. This love spying, it was testified, took place last June when Tommy listened in on a secret wire provided by Mrs. Antibus and became convinced of the truthness of his fiancée's affections.

Army To Face Severe Tests In Maneuvers

Mock Battlefield Zones To Extend Over Nation

WASHINGTON, April 27 (UP)—The army's newly streamlined fighting forces will "go to war" next month against an imaginary foe in the greatest series of military maneuvers in the country's history.

With official Washington concerned over the rapid spread of dictatorships and the daring "success" of totalitarian governments, orders have been issued to "lift the wraps" from the army's war machine and turn it loose at full speed.

The "battlefield" area will extend from coast to coast and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico, with all branches of the service receiving the most severe tests possible except under actual war conditions.

Most spectacular part of the extensive maneuvers will take place from May 12 to 17 when the air force attempts to defend the northeastern section of the United States against a theoretical enemy aiming to destroy the nation's chief industrial area.

To Continue Through Summer

Similar military problems will be worked out in all other sections of the country, continuing until late summer or early fall.

Details of the program to mass the air fleet have not been announced, but hundreds of the world's finest fighting planes—ranging from huge four-motored bombers to subsonic pursuit ships—will participate. In addition, thousands of infantrymen and units of the mechanized cavalry and field artillery will be massed to guard airports.

During the maneuvers, the air corps will conduct tests with "pressure cabin" planes, now in the experimental stage, which may radically change future design and aerial tactics.

Major Gen. Oscar Westover, chief of the army air corps, recently announced that "while not capable of true stratospheric flight, it is planned to conduct experiments at high altitudes and to collect extensive data on the reactions of personnel and material under varying conditions."

Radical Changes in Prospect

"High hopes are held for the results of these experiments," he said, "and it is believed that the data obtained may result in radical changes in the design of future long-range, high altitude and possibly pursuit types of airplanes.

The efficiency of the FXM-1 type—a two-engine, pusher type ship—will be tested thoroughly. The fact that the engines are mounted behind the wings permits a much greater frontal angle of fire than would otherwise be possible and frees the gunner from operating in the propeller blast, thereby increasing the accuracy of fire.

The plane is a low-wing, all-metal monoplane and carries a crew of five, including three gunners.

ALIMONY INCREASE ASKED SO SON MAY HAVE MONEY

LOS ANGELES, April 28 (AP)—Mrs. Gregory La Cava, divorced wife of the film director, needs $300 a month to "develop the personality" of their 13-year-old son.

She cited the need today in explaining why her alimony should be increased from $125 to $350 a month.

"William, our son, is very artistic—he takes after me," she said.

"He gets his creative ability from his father. Because of his artistic nature, he must have proper surroundings: good pictures and books, music, the best plays, a studio, and all that sort of thing."

La Cava, who charges his wife is teaching communistic doctrines to the boy, has sued for his custody and a hearing is set for May 5.

His counsel told the alimony court his net worth is $201,116.14.

Liberals To Meet Tonight

Meeting Watched As Possible Hint Of A Third Party

MADISON, Wis., April 28 (AP)—Governor Philip F. La Follette's program for a political realignment of liberals awaited revelation tonight at a mass meeting which may be the precursor to a national third party.

Aides to the governor, estimating an overflow crowd of possibly 10,000 in response to his radio plea for a depression-routting public action, set up flood lights and erected a loudspeaking system on the grounds outside the meeting site.

The conference was removed yesterday from a smaller building to the University of Wisconsin stock pavilion, which seats 3,500.

While La Follette has declined to comment on his address, close friends expected he would discuss the third party plan and discuss party ideas.

Some expressed the possibility he may modify his criticism of Roosevelt administration recovery policies, which he described as tending to restrict rather than increase production and as "tinkering and patching."

At Washington mutual friends of President Roosevelt and the governor and his brother, Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr., were said to be seeking to prevent a recurrence of further La Follette attacks.

Discounst Reports Of Economic Crisis And Disorders

MEXICO CITY, April 28 (AP)—President Lazaro Cardenas wishes to assure his people that reports his administration faces an economic crisis, disorders and armed revolt as a result of oil expropriation are "alarmist versions."

The Mexican president declared yesterday at the celebration of "Soldier's Day," the Mexican people could view such reports with "serenity."

The gist of the reports he summed up as follows:

"That the stagnation of our agricultural production attributed to the lack of responsibility and ability of our farmers, will lead us to a crisis of serious consequences; that the release of funds to pay the petroleum debt will make money scarce; that direct participation in the administration of the petroleum (industry) by the workers will bring it to anarchy and failure because of their lack of preparation; that the poverty of the people and the reduced resources of the public treasury will not permit the meeting of the obligations contracted in the expropriation (of the 17 foreign oil companies March 18)."

The president criticized the oil companies "for attempting to bring foreign powers into an affair of domestic nature."

WILL PAY OFF

DALLAS, April 28 (AP)—Dr. J. Silva Herzog, technical advisor to the treasury department of Mexico, said last night that foreign oil companies whose properties were expropriated by Mexico recently will be paid in from three to five years.

He said Mexico will sell her oil only to democratic countries and sell at market prices.

Explaining he was not speaking as an official but as an individual, Dr. Herzog said the government took foreign assets of approximately $50,000,000 as against reports of $400,000,000 or more. He pointed out that his figure did not include concessions which the government had made to the companies. The status of these concessions, he said, "will take international lawyers years to determine."

No contracts have been made for sale of oil, he said, but numerous negotiations are in progress.

2,000 To Compete In Drake Relays

DES MOINES, Ia., April 28 (AP)—Athletes from many of the nation's colleges and universities converged upon Des Moines today for the 29th annual running of the Drake relays tomorrow and Saturday.

Though there were some early arrivals yesterday, most of the athletes were expected today. Drake university officials predicted that nearly 2,000 would compete in the two-day meet.

Six teams tested their skill on the Drake track yesterday. They were the representatives of Rice Institute, Texas, Oklahoma Baptist, Fresno State, Compton Junior college and Tuskegee.

Urges Cultivation Of Plants As A Drug Supply

OMAHA, Neb., April 28 (AP)—Dr. Perrin H. Long of John Hopkins university of Baltimore, urged American farmers to consider the possibility of cultivating plants for the domestic drug market in an address at the fourth annual National Chemurgic council meeting here today.

He pointed out many drugs are imported from foreign countries with soil and climatic conditions similar to those in various parts of the United States.

Among these he mentioned licorice, grown, he said, mainly in Russia; castor beans from Brazil; menthol from Japan and bella donna from Hungary.

Last night the council was invited by Gov. Hugh L. White of Mississippi to make that state the "proving ground" of the farm chemurgic program.

Collegians Test Colored Baseball

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—The jury is still out on the new yellow baseball. Fredrick H. Rahr hopes to introduce to the national game.

The colored missile, which Rahr, a color engineer, claims is easier to follow in flight and on the ground, was used in Columbia's 8 to 7 victory over Fordham yesterday. A crowd of about 1,500, which included a sprinkling of professional and semi-professional baseball officials watched the "test game."

The coaches, Art Oakley of Columbia and Jack Coffey of Fordham, agreed the fancy spheroid had not had a fair test.

"One game isn't enough," said Oakley, "but I'm inclined to like it."

Coffey declared he thought the ball was dead in the first seven innings. The players themselves agreed it was easier to see at the plate but added there was little or no difference in the field.

Schools Share Heavily In Oil Taxes

Industry's Payment Equivalent To $11.27 For Each Pupil

DALLAS, April 28 (AP)—Every public school district in Texas and all of the 1,564,000 school children in the state benefit directly from taxes paid by the oil industry, according to a report just issued by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association.

Last year the oil industry contributed in taxes to all Texas public schools the sum of $17,630,888, equivalent to $11.27 for every child attending the free schools in the state. In 29 independent school districts of Texas, where tax levies plus the state apportionment averaged $128.57 per pupil, the oil industry contributed an average of $96.43 per pupil. In these oil districts the scheduled tax income per pupil ranged from $102.21 to $278.96, of which oil was the source of from $60.30 to $245.48 per pupil.

The average cost per child in all independent schools of the state last year was $54.33 of which $12.47 was for bond purposes and $41.86 for maintenance. In all independent school districts of Texas, the oil industry paid last year an average of $11.95 per pupil, regardless of whether or not oil is produced in any particular school district.

Oil not only pays a large share of local school taxes in many counties of the state, but also is the direct source of 32 per cent of all money apportioned to all common and independent school districts of the state. Last year, state tax collections allocated to the public school fund aggregated $29,301,000, of which the Texas oil industry was the direct source of $9,262,250.

In 107 independent school districts, embracing 64 oil producing counties of the state, the oil industry paid last year an average of 40 per cent and as much as 91 per cent of all school tax levies. In 49 independent school districts located in oil producing centers, the oil industry pays an average of 72 per cent of all school tax levies.

AMOS THE SEA LION CAN FLEE NO MORE

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Amos, the errant sea lion of Prospect Park zoo, can flippantly flee no more.

But he basked happily today under a coping erected to prevent a fifth escape over the barred wall of his tank—for he is famous in Flatbush.

For one thing, he was the subject of an editorial yesterday in a local paper which called him the "Marco Polo of Flatbush"; for another, his picture was featured in a 2-column display ad of a fur-storage company which boasted no seals wandered from its warehouse.

Amos' escapades have paled even the exploits of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

First he was found waiting for a

TYLER WINS 7TH ET GAME IN ROW

By The Associated Press

Outhit 11 to 8, the Tyler Trojans won their seventh straight East Texas league game last night by defeating the Texarkana Liners, 13.

It took three pitchers, two of them in the eight and ninth innings, to hold the Liners in check. Kilgore took a 6-5 victory from Jacksonville when Dave Short's single in the eighth inning scored Bob Price.

Marshall's Bill Howell outpitched Elmer Rice to give the Tigers a 4-2 win over the Palestine Palms.

Orval Grove pitched the Longview Cannibals to a 4-2 victory over the Henderson Oilers.

Garner Hill Billies To Take Field Friday In Weakened Condition

GARNER, April 28 — Garner's gridders, smarting from a 25-7 licking administered by the Coahoma Bulldogs last week, will go into the game with Courtney on the Courtney field Friday without strong reserves. Several of the players were injured in the Billies' first football game and will not be able to play.

Cochran Floyd Burnett has only eight men working out at the present time. Of that number only four were present for the first workout two weeks ago.

Burnett announced that he would start C. Thomas, e; Bailey, c; Jeffcoat, e; Lawley, qb; Brown, s; and Daugherty, b. V. Thomas will not be able to play due to illness.

The Courtney team will carry a weight advantage of about 10 pounds to the man into the game.

Chile Star Beaten

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng., April 28 (AP)—Anita Lizana of Chile, American singles title-holder, was the victim of a major upset in the British hard courts tennis championship today.

The Chilean girl, defending champion in the women's singles division, was eliminated by Nancy Wynne, Australia's No. 1 ranking player, 6-1, 7-5, in the quarter-final round.

In the men's division, the defending champion, Henry (Bunny) Austin of England whipped Henri Bollett of France, 6-2, 6-3, 6-0.

MISSIONS DROP THREE PLAYERS FROM ROSTER

SAN ANTONIO, April 28 (AP)—The San Antonio Missions of the Texas League, preparatory to getting within the league limit, dropped three players from their playing roster today. Ewald Pyle, left handed pitcher, went to Oakland of the Coast League; Outfielder Art Bartell to Johnston of the New York-Penn league, and righthanded pitcher Russ Olsen to Springfield of the Three-I league.
