

Danzig Change May Be Taken As Aggression

Chamberlain Expected
To Outline Britain's
Views On Monday

LONDON, July 7 (AP)—Parliamentary circles believed today Prime Minister Chamberlain would not declare any German-supported change in the status of Danzig, except by a Polish-backed agreement, would be considered an 'act of aggression' by Germany.

Statement Delayed
The prime minister had been expected to make a statement in the House of Commons today but postponed it because of technicalities in parliamentary procedure.

Some indication of the nature of the proposed declaration was seen in a question filed in the House of Commons by Harold MacMillan, a member of the conservative party.

The question, which informed sources said was framed at Chamberlain's request, asks whether "the government will issue a declaration that any change in the present status of Danzig, other than by agreement to which the Polish government is a party, whether brought about externally by military action on the part of Germany or internally by a movement initiated or supported by the German government, will be regarded as an act of aggression on the part of Germany and therefore covered by the terms of our pledge to Poland."

It was understood the prime minister would give an affirmative reply.

(The undertaking as announced last March 31 by Chamberlain was: "In the event of any action which clearly threatened the Polish independence and which the Polish government accordingly considered it vital to resist with their national forces, His Majesty's government (and France) would feel themselves bound at once to lend the Polish government all support in their power.")

Count Edward Raczyński, Polish ambassador in London, will return to his post from Warsaw by air tomorrow after a series of talks with his government on the Danzig situation.

Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin who came to London earlier this week and reported on the German attitude to Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax, was received by King George VI this morning.

FIREMEN GOING TO MARFA CONVENTION

Five members of the Big Spring fire department, two of them on the volunteer staff, will leave here Friday morning for the regular quarterly conference of Permian Basin firemen at Marfa.

The delegation will be headed by Ole Cordill, fire chief. Other regular firemen who will make the trip are H. V. Crocker and Howard Beene. Elton Taylor and Rowan Settel will represent the volunteers at the session.

Flood Victims Still Sought

JACKSON, Ky., July 7 (AP)—Health authorities today hastened disease-prevention work in eastern Kentucky mountain sectors where at least 48 persons perished in "sudden death" floods early Wednesday.

With that many bodies recovered in Breathitt, Rowan, Lewis and Lee counties, the grim search continued in the mud and silt for others. As 47 persons still were reported missing. By order of health officers, identified bodies were buried as quickly as possible.

The revised fatality toll by counties: Breathitt 21 (34 missing), Rowan 25 (13 missing), Lewis 2.

Sheriff Walter Deaton estimated 75 persons drowned in Breathitt county's Frazier Creek valley. Searchers expressed opinion bodies of some of the victims might never be found.

Dr. P. E. Blankerby, assistant Kentucky health commissioner, said in Louisville it would be impossible to reckon the full loss of life and property for several days.

DATES ARE SET FOR CIVIC MUSIC EVENTS

Dates for two of three concerts to be offered here during the coming season for members of the Civic Music association were announced Friday.

Douglas Beattie, outstanding young baritone, will be heard on the evening of Oct. 10 in the opening concert of the season. Hortense Month, talented pianist, is scheduled to appear on Feb. 22.

Date for the appearance of Margaret Sparks, nationally famed soprano, has not been fixed. Miss Sparks is perhaps best known of the trio for her radio work over the National Broadcasting System.

WHY 'FLASH' FLOODS TOOK SUCH A HEAVY TOLL

The villages and towns in the eastern Kentucky mountains—like Farmers pictured above from the air—are built close to streams because there is so little level ground. The mountain folk seldom built on the high spots, shown in the background, because the ground is uneven. The small streams rise rapidly when there are heavy rains and flood the lower ground. Farmers in seven miles west of Morehead where 36 were reported drowned by a cloudburst. The same rains caused the rise of the Licking river, above.

Former Construction Chief Of LSU Faces U.S. Charges

U-T PREXY IS READY TO RETIRE
FROM BASEBALL, IF HE'S PAID

HOUSTON, July 7 (AP)—Dr. Homer T. Rainey, new president of the University of Texas, will step out of organized baseball soon.

Dr. Rainey, on his graduation from Austin College of Sherman 20 years ago, signed a contract with the Houston Buffs of the Texas league. A crack right-handed hurler, he was traded to Galveston, then recalled by the Buffs.

That was in 1919. At the end of the season, Dr. Rainey decided to go into educational work. He went on the voluntary retired list of the Buffs—and he still is there.

Fred Ankenman, president of the Houston baseball club, today received a letter from the Texas University president that he would be glad to come to Houston to receive his official release if he receives back pay for 20 years, is reinstated and other Texas league clubs waive on his services.

The date for Dr. Rainey's retirement will be set in a few days, Ankenman said.

Coahoma Adds Strikes Close Farm Course

Introduction of vocational agriculture into the curriculum of one of the county schools was assured Friday with the announcement by George Boswell, Coahoma superintendent, that such a teacher had been employed by that district.

He is Emmett Cavin of Eden, said Boswell, and will assume his duties on Monday. Cavin received his degree from Texas Tech in June, having majored in agriculture.

Vocational agriculture is being added as a full time program in the Coahoma schools and will operate under the Smith-Hughes act to July 1, 1940.

While announcing the election of Cavin for a one year period, Boswell said that Lloyd Devan, high school principal for the past three years, has been given a year's leave of absence from the system. Devan holds a degree in agricultural work, but needs a year in Texas Tech to qualify under the Smith-Hughes act. In all probability he will return next year to assume charge of the work in the Coahoma schools.

Three courses will be taught this year, said Boswell. One will be in farm shop work, another in animal industry and a third in farming.

Polish Flyers To Use U. S. Helium

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—The first exportation of helium from the United States, the only nation producing the gas in commercial quantities, will be used this summer by Polish flyers in an attempt to break the international altitude record for free balloons now held by Americans.

Polish consulate officials here in announcing the plans today, said Capt. Albert W. Stevens, famed free balloonist, has been aiding the Poles in their plan to shatter his own record of 72,384 feet, established in South Dakota in 1935.

The United States government approved sale of helium to Poland last month, about a year after it turned down persistent efforts of Germany to make similar purchases.

HOGANS LEAVE FOR LIONS' CONCLAVE

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Hogan left Friday morning for Pittsburgh, Pa., where he will attend the 23rd annual convention of Lions International.

Dr. Hogan, president of the Big Spring club, is serving as official representative of the club at the gathering on July 15-17.

Seek To Halt Purchasing Of Silver

Treasury Says It
Will Not Boost
Its Prices

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Senate republicans, seeking to reverse their monetary defeat, started a new drive today to prohibit future treasury purchases of foreign silver.

Price Unchanged
Although the senate originally adopted a republican amendment to the monetary bill banning the purchases, it was knocked out by a joint senate-house committee before the legislation was enacted.

An authoritative treasury official said, meanwhile, the treasury hereafter would pay little, if any, more for foreign silver than market conditions warranted.

The foreign silver price of the treasury was unchanged at $6.75 cents an ounce.

Failure of the treasury to change the price from yesterday's quotation marked at least a temporary cessation of cuts which had brought both the United States treasury and the world prices of silver down from 48 cents per ounce on June 28.

The unchanged price maintained, however, a narrow differential which the treasury established recently between the London market and its figure to make it unprofitable to ship silver across the Atlantic.

Today's London price, posted several hours before the treasury's noon quotation also was virtually unchanged.

The treasury began slashing its price after the senate voted to prohibit further purchases of foreign silver. Although that ban was eliminated before the administration's monetary bill finally cleared congress, the issue remained alive to ward motorists of the two hour limitation on parking.

Accused Of Mis- using WPA Labor And Materials

NEW ORLEANS, July 7 (AP)—George Caldwell, rotund former construction superintendent at Louisiana State university, was arrested here this morning on a federal warrant charging him with diversion of WPA material and labor to the use of private individuals.

Caldwell, whose resignation at L. S. U. was asked and accepted earlier this week, was taken into custody as he left the federal grand jury room. The grand jury has been sitting for ten days investigating charges of improper use of WPA materials and labor at the state university.

Specifically Caldwell is charged with "knowingly and willfully diverting for the benefit of persons not entitled thereto, services of certain Works Progress workers and personal property, which services and personal property were acquired under the appropriations of the emergency relief appropriations act of 1938 aforesaid."

The charge was preferred by Paul Hansen, special agent in charge of WPA investigation in five southern states. Hansen recently was summoned to Washington and ordered to make a full investigation of the WPA-LSU situation.

The complaint alleges the violation occurred May 29, 1939. Court attaches said it was understood the transaction involved the use of WPA labor and materials on Caldwell's new home in Baton Rouge, La., which he recently occupied.

Caldwell was dismissed from the university by acting President Paul M. Hebert last Monday soon after Governor Earl K. Long had disclosed that Caldwell had been receiving two per cent commission on See U. S. CHARGE, Pg. 5, Cl. 1

JAP ENTHUSIASM FOR WAR HAS GIVEN AWAY TO RESIGNATION

TOKYO, July 7 (AP)—An undercurrent of pessimism and resignation ran through quiet services with which Japan commemorated today the second anniversary of the war with China.

The traditional moment of silence was observed at noon. Solemn services were conducted at all national shrines and Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako offered prayers at palace shrines for the repose of the souls of the dead.

Premier Baron Kichiro Hirano led the entire cabinet to Yasukuni shrine, the "Japanese Arlington," and afterwards relatives of slain soldiers went there quietly for brief devotions.

The attitude of the people is one of "It cannot be helped." It implies resignation. It does not mean approval. Many seek eagerly some sign of peace and finding none, they plod on, trying to forge higher taxes, increased living costs, restrictions on manners and customs, death of some fathers, husbands.

The continued Chinese resistance causes perplexity among the Japanese. Since childhood they have heard their army is invincible.

It would be too much to say the army's prestige has been lowered in the eyes of the people. A controlled press tells them of victories or gives explanations.

It is explained that Soviet Russia, Great Britain and France are preventing the long-expected Chinese collapse.

The day when friends and relatives and members of the local patriotic associations paraded with the China-bound recruit to the station amid sounds of brass bands and crimson and white flags is gone. Now enthusiasm is forced and excitement has given place to weariness.

Claud A. Swanson Secretary Of Navy Claimed By Death

Veteran Public Official Succumbs
To Cerebral Hemorrhage; Had Long
Sought To Build A 'Big Navy'

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Claude A. Swanson, 77 year old secretary of the navy—whose one aim was to build up a "big navy" for his country, died today.

Death came at 7:08 a. m. at his Rapidan camp in the Shenandoah National Park in Virginia. The navy was advised it resulted from a cerebral hemorrhage yesterday.

He had been at the camp more than a month, resting and convalescing from a long illness.

A member of the Roosevelt cabinet since 1933, Swanson followed in the navy post the same precepts which guided him as chairman of the senate naval committee—striving always to keep the American navy up to a commanding strength in world armaments.

Illness prevented much attention to detail and he left actual direction of the navy department largely to Assistant Secretary Charles Edison, and to Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of operations.

On Swanson's death, Edison automatically became acting secretary.

Swanson had spent most of the last several summers at the Rapidan camp, which is maintained by the marine corps.

Behind Swanson's service in the cabinet lay a long record of other work, as a senator for 23 years and governor of Virginia for four.

First word of Swanson's death came from the White House when President Roosevelt issued this statement:

"It is with profound sorrow that I have learned of the death today at the Rapidan camp, Virginia, of the greatly loved Secretary of the Navy, Claude A. Swanson."

"I join with the entire country in mourning him as one whose many years of faithful service to the nation have endeared him to all. His wise counsel and his See SWANSON, Pg. 5, Cl. 1

Admits Cleveland 'Torso' Slaying

Man Denies Guilt
In 11 Other Similar Crimes

CLEVELAND, July 7 (AP)—Sergeant Martin L. O'Donnell quoted a 52-year-old bricklayer as saying today he had killed Mrs. Florence Polillo, 42, one of 12 "torso murder" victims found here since September, 1935.

O'Donnell said the man disclaimed any connection with the other 11 slayings.

"Yes, I cut her up," O'Donnell quoted the heavily-muscled unemployed former WPA worker, who once worked in a slaughter house.

"I took me three trips to dispose of her body. I took her head down to the foot of East 48th street and threw it into the lake.

"I did not weigh it down. The wind carried it out into the lake. "Please don't send me to the electric chair."

The sheriff said the man, held without charge, told county authorities he killed Mrs. Polillo after a fight in his room "the night of the murder."

Parts of Mrs. Polillo's de-capitated body were found Jan. 26, 1936, on a rubbish heap and other parts were located two weeks later. She had been dead about two or three days.

O'Donnell said human blood was found on some of four knives located in the man's house, and human blood also had been found on the bathroom wall and a half-inch space between the tub and the wall.

The man lived near Mrs. Polillo. The sheriff described her as a prostitute.

That Mrs. Polillo came to his room about 9 o'clock that night, attempted to borrow some money and several hours later struck at him with a butcher knife because he refused to loan her $3.

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Senator Connally said today the president had approved a $1,270,776 WPA allotment for Texas-wide educational activities for underprivileged adults and others in general literary and vocational education.

PHYSICIAN DIES
KANSAS CITY, July 7 (AP)—Dr. Charles Salaberly, 67, died today of equine encephalitis, a sleeping sickness limited chiefly to horses, for which he was seeking a cure.

BYRD EXPEDITION IS APPROVED BY FDR

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—President Roosevelt approved today plans for an Antarctic expedition in October headed by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, retired, with the avowed purpose of claiming land already explored there by Byrd.

Following a White House conference on the $340,000 appropriation in the interior department bill for the purpose, Admiral Byrd said he believed the expedition would start between October 1 and 15.

He said the primary purpose was to "substantiate claims to territory already explored, mapped and claimed" and particularly that area in the western hemisphere covered by the Monroe Doctrine.

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Dr. Charles Salaberly, 67, died today of equine encephalitis, a sleeping sickness limited chiefly to horses, for which he was seeking a cure.

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Admiral Byrd said today he had agreed to eliminate a provision for $500,000,000 in foreign loans from legislation authorizing the president's lending program.

As a result, some critics of the foreign loan proposal were said to have given assurances they would not oppose an increase of $100,000,000 in the Export-Import bank's funds.

They were known to have conditioned their acceptance on a provision that loans by the bank should be confined to the financing of export transactions.

Calculated to eliminate much of the criticism which greeted the president's program in the senate, the move to compromise the foreign loan provision was credited to Jesse Jones, administrator of the new federal loan agency, active with Secretary Morgenthau in whipping the legislation into shape for congressional study.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) was understood to have told Jones he would not oppose the Export-Import bank increase if the money was made available only to American exporters and no funds were to be loaned to foreign governments.

Borah had made similar criticism last week of the president's proposal to advance $200,000,000 next year and $500,000,000 the following year. This would have given $1 billion to South American governments to promote their foreign trade and in finance, administration and reconstruction projects in Latin American nations.

WPA Workers Over Nation Remain Idle

Some Plan 'Fight To Finish' To Force
Relief Changes

By The Associated Press
Thousands of WPA workers throughout the country idled today in protest against extension of laboring hours, while others continued on the job or were reported preparing to return to work in the face of what one labor leader termed a "fight to the finish" to force congressional reconsideration of the new federal relief act.

Continues in N. Y.

George Meany, president of the New York State Federation of Labor, conferred with Mayor La Guardia and indicated the strike of an estimated 25,000 WPA workers in New York City would continue.

Both Meany and Thomas A. Murray, president of the Building Trades Council, representing 125 American Federation of Labor building unions in the city, expressed their hopes, however, that the conference would "lead to something."

In Rhode Island, State Administrator Farrell D. Coyle said the strike had ended.

No strikes were reported in Kentucky, Louisiana or Tennessee. In Harrison County, Miss., where 1,100 workers walked out, Marvin Porter, Mississippi state administrator, said he expected an early end to the strike.

Officials estimates by AFL of the nation put the country total of WPA workers idle at 100,000.

In Cleveland, Frank T. Miskell, district WPA director, estimated 5,000 skilled and unskilled workers were out, while union officials fixed the number at between 10,000 and 15,000.

WPA officials in New Jersey estimated 1,467 skilled workers stayed away from their projects today. In Massachusetts 106 were reported idle. New Hampshire had 14 woodchoppers on strike and Vermont reported no striking workers.

In Rochester, N. Y., Robert G. Hoffman, WPA director for the area, ordered dismissal of 50 workers who left their jobs during working hours. Hoffman estimated 800 of 3,500 employed on various projects walked out.

Chicago reported no concerted strike movement as yet.

Connecticut had no WPA labor troubles.

Several hundred striking WPA workers picketed Scott Field, an army post near Belleville, Ill., and urged workers to join them. About 750 did. Another 100 remained on the job.

Striking WPA workers in Milwaukee were to meet today.

In Pennsylvania, the Workers Alliance, the union of WPA workers, relief recipients and unemployed, called for state-wide strikes strikes to protest the new 120-hour work month.

Throughout the nation, workers laid down their tools yesterday, although in some sections skilled laborers resumed their tasks, faced by Washington's order to return to work in five days or be fired, and by local warnings of no home relief for those who walked out.

Abandonment of the "prevailing wage" principle for skilled WPA laborers, through a flat increase of working hours per month, appeared the crux of the dissatisfaction.

May Abandon Foreign Loans

Two-Hour Parking On Second Street

Two hour parking limits went into effect on a block and a half of new territory Friday.

The limit was restored on E. 2nd between Main and Runnels streets at the request of business men who last year successfully petitioned for a suspension of the restricted zone.

In addition, the two hour limit was imposed on the E. 2nd street from Runnels to the alley between Runnels and Johnson. The city has erected signs along the new zone to warn motorists of the two hour limitation on parking.

Officers Apprehend Burglar Suspects

MOUNT VERNON, July 7 (AP)—Three men overpowered Night Watchman J. B. Black early today and burglarized the Franklin Supply company of three radios, an adding machine, a tire and a small amount of money.

A party of officers led by Sheriff J. R. Godwin arrested three men and a woman near Weaver, 10 miles west, and returned them to jail here.

The suspects said they were from Cincinnati. The property and money were recovered with the arrests.

A Good Employer

In all manufacturing industries of the United States, the average pay is $23.92 for thirty-seven hours of work per week. But in the oil industry, so important to Texas, the U. S. Department of Labor reports not only that there has been a steady increase in employment since 1932 but also that the wage scale has risen steadily and the number of hours worked has decreased. In crude oil production employment, the average hours worked declined from forty-six hours per week in 1932 to forty hours in 1938. Average wages per week increased during that period—from $26.50 in 1932 to $33.30 in 1938. Workers employed in oil refining receive an average pay of $34.45 for thirty-six hours of work. During the last four years, hourly wage rates of representative classes of oil field employment have shown an increase of more than 18 per cent.

The Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas reported recently that Texas payrolls have been maintained at levels far above those recorded by the nation as a whole. Oil payrolls undoubtedly had much to do with the existence of this condition. The Texas oil industry is a good employer, and every section of the State profits because of that.—(Texas Weekly).

Teaching Speech

Current number of The Outlook, magazine of Texas Teachers Association, has an article by Howard Townsend, University of Texas, advocating teaching public speaking to practically all students in Texas schools and colleges—not only those who show promise of becoming "fair haired children with the silver tongues," but all who indicate an interest and desire to become speakers who can hold an audience, and who want to learn what to say and how and when to say it. It is an excellent idea, for few people nowadays have the ability to speak in public—for that matter many apparently do not realize the difference between speaking to an audience and holding a conversation with a group of friends. They appear to believe that the more vocal noise that can be made the more impressive their words will be. It would be well for the schools and colleges to teach not only public speaking, but conversational vocalism. The speaker whose words make the best and most lasting impression is not one who raises his voice at some point in every sentence and waves his arms about like the sails of a windmill. Emphasis is necessary at times, but used where it is not called for is a waste and gets little attention. By all means let us teach speech—public and personal and social and business.

George Tucker

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—If I were commissioner of food in New York I would have my men visit every restaurant in the city, and those found guilty of serving bad coffee would have their licenses revoked. In many ways coffee is the most important item in America today, because it has a political significance as well as a social one. In New York we drink about 20,000,000 cups a day. A lot of it is bad. This isn't the coffee's fault. It is because a lot of it is improperly made. It may surprise you to know that this country drinks half the world's coffee crop every year. And 90 per cent of what we buy comes from Central and South America. This ties in with our good neighbor policy, and is important because the more coffee we buy, the more merchandise we sell the Latin republics.

Coffee, in many ways, is still a mystery. No one knows where it developed as a beverage. It came from somewhere in the Orient, centuries ago. We became a nation of coffee-drinkers when King George III set a tax on tea. That was when this country gave the Boston tea party. South America and its coffee-making nations should feel very kindly toward King George for this. If we drank tea they wouldn't be half so well off as they are today. In New York there are more than a hundred thousand restaurants. Seven million people live here. Most of them take coffee, and some men take many cups each day. Voltaire, the great French philosopher, drank 72 cups a day. Most of the great poets have rhapsodized about it, and the great painters have traced its influence on customs and manners.

The other day a rainstorm drove me indoors and when I looked around I discovered that I was in the public library. I reached for a book, and for the next several hours I sat there and read about—coffee. Fascinating was the fact that the French, too, had trouble because of it. A tax on coffee was one of the things that led to insurrections which, later, developed into the revolution. It used to be known as a heathen drink, but a Pope blessed it and called it "a truly Christian beverage." In Dr. Johnson's day, the coffee house reached its peak in popularity. There Boswell, between signs, scribbled his notes for his great biography of Johnson. These coffee houses in many ways were the forerunners of our modern newspapers. People met there to gossip and exchange news. When the necessary came, the coffee houses lost some of its attractiveness. No longer was it essentially a rendezvous for great minds. Today I think the next best bread, coffee is the most important item in our national life. It is, in short, I hope you remember this if you ever invite me to your home.

FOUR BLIND DATES

By Edwin Rutt

Chapter 28. FERLINDUS PLANS. "Listen carefully, Chiseler," said Miss South. "There's a little room off the library that has French doors..." "What's French doors," asked Coletti suspiciously. He had a deep-rooted distrust of all things foreign. "Doors for Frenchmen to walk out of, you galoot. As I was saying, Chiseler, when you go through these doors you're on a small porch..." "Ah," said Chiseler, nodding comprehendingly. "Chiseler, old boy," said Miss South, "I do believe you're half a lap ahead of me already. You're right, though. When this shindig gets well under way, I'm going to tuck my arm through Mr. Harkness's and suggest a stroll in the moonlight..." "Dey ain't no moon," Coletti pointed out lugubriously. "Thanks a million, Observatory Hill. Anyhow, there's a flight of steps leading off the porch. As Harkness and I reach the bottom step, you—she indicated the Ape—"can come up from behind and kiss him very gently over the left eyebrow. And don't miscue and sock, Alligator Face." "What'll I do den?" Coletti inquired. "Then," said Miss South disgustedly, "you'll take out your trusty piccolo and play the 'Earp That Once Through Tara's Hills.' Honest, Coletti, when they carve up your head for billiard balls, I'll take two sets." The Chiseler interposed. "You seem, Dorothy," he said approvingly, "to have thought this out very well. May I put in a query or two? Pending your arrival at the foot of the steps, is there a convenient place where we can conceal this—this..." he broke off and pointed to the Ape. Miss South nodded vigorously. "There is. That can hide itself in the ivy. The whole side of the house is covered with it. I'll admit the spot is fairly close to the house, but it's away from the main rooms and I don't just know where I could send Harkness to in the grounds. So it's the ivy for yours, Coletti. And listen, Honeybunch. After we leave you languishing in the greenery, don't go prowling all over the place like a coyote hunting for prairie dogs." "Pay attention to what she says, Coletti," advised the Chiseler. "You will, of course, Dorothy. I make dead certain that you and Harkness come out alone. Coletti. "Goodnight, Chiseler," said Miss South aggrieved, "did you think I was going to make a picnic out of it?" The Chiseler bowed his head upon his breast. "Very good. Now, Dorothy, I have one or two slight additions to make to your plan." "Oh, is that right?" said Miss Smith, with asperity. "I thought it was pretty foolproof myself." "It is excellently thought out," conceded the Chiseler. "But—forgive me for saying so, but it lacks what I might term the master touch. For example, I deem it advisable for you to be found in a fainting condition some distance up the driveway." "Oh, you do, eh? And what kind of apices does that buy us?" "It places you in a condition and position," explained the Chiseler smoothly, "to give a rambling, incoherent account of what happened. According to your version, told in a dazed and half-hysterical manner, Mr. Harkness was struck over the head from behind. One of his assailants clapped his hand over your mouth to prevent your screaming. You then staggered blindly up the driveway and were in time to hear a car start. After that, you fainted again. You get the idea? You will be in a position to misdirect the pursuit, if any. You will state, of course, that from the sound of its motor, the vehicle went in a direction away from New York." Miss South subsided as before a superior power. "Okay, big boy," she said. "I'll swoon—and how." "Soek Him—Gag Him!" "Well, that's settled," said the Chiseler. "Now, Coletti, I want your undivided attention. In all probability, I will be close at hand when Dorothy brings this Harkness chap out of the house. If that is the case, I will direct you as to how to proceed next." He peered at Coletti. "Are you listening? Good. Now if I'm not there, here are your orders. In a moment I will show you a small disused smokehouse that I discovered while looking over the grounds. Probably it was on the land and the owner has left it to give the old-fashioned touch. Well, Coletti, if I'm around, you are to carry Harkness to this smokehouse, gag him and stay with him till I get there. Is that clear?" Coletti counted off on his fingers. "I'm to sock him, take him to the smokehouse, gag him and stay with him, huh?" he said, exhibiting a high order of intelligence. "Ape, you're wonderful," said Dorothy South. The Chiseler passed a hand over his brow. "Have you discovered yet, Dorothy," he asked, "who the owner of this establishment is?" "I have, me lord," said Miss South. "I pumped Harkness on the way down. It's a man named Adams, the big shot in some oil company." This information afflicted the Ape with a sudden brainwave. "Hey," he said, his eyes glistening, "why'n't we ditch dis Harkness lug an' snatch de old er guy?" "Because he's in Europe, you sap," explained Miss South. "Anything more, Chiseler?" "No," said the Chiseler, "I fancy that's all I suggest that you go to your post now, Coletti." They picked their way through the trees and the Chiseler acquainted the Ape with the location of the smokehouse. Then, guided by Miss South, they stole silently to a position beneath the small porch. "And listen, you," Miss South whispered to the Ape. "Don't get stampeded if I don't show up with Harkness for a couple of hours. This is a party, see? And I don't propose to leave it till I'm outside of a good supper and a pint of two of champagne. But when you hear my silver laugh ring out, you look alive. And don't come charging out of the shrubbery, either. This thing requires finesse, Coletti." "You should be getting back, Dorothy," urged the Chiseler. "Right you are, professor." She blew a kiss off her finger-

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—Even while the headlines played on Tientsin and the diplomatic strip tease, State Department observers watched Danzig. It has been the real trouble spot. Japanese sentries stripping men and women of the British colony in Tientsin stir up the kind of hatreds that were aroused in America by Spanish atrocities in 1898. Yet the opinion generally held here is that war will not grow out of the Tientsin business unless there is some event such as the "sinking of the Maine." And both sides are guarding carefully against that.

Neither Japan nor England wants war in the Orient. Japan could gain little from it and England nothing at all. In Europe the situation, as viewed here, has held ten times as much danger of real trouble, all along. A competent source tells us that advice from inside Germany supported the occasional stories indicating that the Hitler regime is again confronted by serious internal difficulties. Each time a "crisis" came up in the past an aggressive program was possible that diverted public attention from heavy internal burdens.

There is nothing sinister about these internal difficulties, although the Hitler government on occasion has met them by sinister methods. But the difficulties are the same as confronted here and in other nations in far less degree. Debts grow and armament expenditures mount and the tax revenues are not what they are supposed to be.

Germany is having trouble in raising money to finance her continued rearmament and her periodic mobilizations. Siegrided lines are not built for nothing. It is known that Germany already is spending taxes not yet collected. She is simply issuing tax IOUs to continue the expenditure that keeps her factories booming. Floating of government bond issues, so easy here, is far from easy in Germany.

As long as there is something which can be presented to the people of Germany to justify expenses, the element of discontent present in every country is inactive. Expansion of Germany to include neighboring German territory always has been a justification and can be again in the case of Danzig.

Meantime German officials are playing the ace card of "encirclement" by the enemy, always a good rouse to Teutonic blood. The threat of "encirclement" is as menacing to a German as violation of the Monroe Doctrine to an American.

The menace of "encirclement" will continue effective for some time as a stimulant to keep German morale high but there is fear both here and abroad that German leaders see the need of even more stimulant by early fall and that seizure of Danzig may be it.

At that point the thing becomes clear as a lens. England has virtually committed herself to fight if Danzig is Nazified. Politically she cannot back away much more. On that basis then, the means of avoiding war is to persuade Germany it will be unwise to move on Danzig.

To help with the persuasion, England has moved forward fleet maneuvers from September to August. Maneuvers for the navy amounts to a mobilization.

England is giving signs of meeting Russian terms for an alliance. And in the United States? The State Department is pulling every lever to put across the new Bloom neutrality bill which will make Britain's threat even more potent.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

"STRONGER THAN DESIRE." Screenplay by David Hertz and William Ludwig from novel by W. E. Woodward. Directed by Leslie Fenton. Cast: Virginia Bruce, Walter Pidgeon, Lee Bowman, Ann Dvorak, Ilka Chase, Rita Johnson, Ferike Boros.

"HOLLYWOOD"—In 1934 Myrna Loy and William Powell followed up their phenomenal success in "The Thin Man" with a movie called "Evelyn Prentice," and here it is all over again, virtually unchanged five years later except for different players. Where "Evelyn Prentice" did well as a follow-up to a team's success, the present re-make has no such hit to capitalize on. Standing on its own, it is a well-acted, nicely directed piece of domestic-courthouse melodrama, with little or nothing to distinguish it aside from its engaging cast and usually effective presentation.

The material is shop-worn. The busy, successful attorney (Pidgeon) is devoted to his wife (Bruce) but has no time for romance. Involved against his will with a pretty client (Johnson), he is thrown into bed enough light that his wife is led further than she intended into a flirtation with a charming, smooth-talking blackmailer (Bowman). Just when attorney and wife have patched up their troubles and are ready to sail, second-honey-mooning, for Europe, the blackmailer strikes. The wife, going to his apartment to forestall his tactics, scuffles with him and there is the inevitable bullet. Fleeting, believing herself guilty of murder, she learns that the victim's brownstein wife (Dvorak) is accused. She talks her husband into forgetting Europe, undertaking the defense. Finally—at the trial—she speaks up, taking the blame. This puts hubby on the spot, and he stands there squarely, as good movie husbands do, until all is smooth sailing again.

Miss Dvorak (where's she been?) clicks in the trial scene and Miss Boros, in a single sequence, is delightful. "THE SAINT IN LONDON." Screenplay by Lynn Root and Frank Fenton from story by Leslie Charteris. Directed by John Paddy Carstairs. Cast: George Sanders, Sally Gray, David Burns, Gordon McLeod, Henry Oscar, Athene Seyler, John Abbott, Ralph Truman, Charles Carson, Carl Jaffe, Norah Howard, Ballard Berkeley. That man's here again—for the third time. For the present adventures, he is in London, where the film was made by RKO. The Saint, as detective fiction readers know, is a smooth individual who goes about, Robin Hood-like, leading a charmed life the while, and foils criminals—usually himself under suspicion by the police. The Saint gets on the trail of a gang of international crooks who are maneuvering for a million-pound stake. He picks up two confederates in his fight on crime: Dugan (Burns) who is an ex-convict (and comedian) going straight, and Penny (Miss Gray) who is a London society girl hungry for adventure. Penny alternately aids and hinders, unwittingly, the Saint's wily tactics—and does it so charmingly, with such pleasant blonde beauty and skill that she'll doubtless come to Hollywood. The Saint, with customary daring and quiet suavity, walks into death traps and escapes blithely, leaves notes around, tangles with Scotland Yard, fights and shoots, speaks in cryptic sentences, rounds up the crooks, and escapes (as always) the heroine's romantic objective. It's good fun, with action to spare.

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

The fighting stand which Jimmy Morris and his orbed baseball Apaches, late of Abilene, has been taking is amazing, universally admirable. Long has it been known that the club had no port, that judgment might be forced at any time. Seemingly that the incentive to scrap all the more. Their position in WT-NM league today (first place) is a suitable reward the exhibitions they have been contributing. Last night, as usual, they made the Big Spring club like a bunch of 12-year olds, seemingly completely the spirit of the Regemen long before the termination of the game. Apparently they are able to turn the trick as ever they so want. Today their efforts have been rewarded. They're going to Sunday. It was only announced Thursday the long rumored transfer of the club from Abilene to Big Spring had been completed that the new terminal see its first home game with Big Spring's as its guest.

Big Spring and the league general can expect the related aggregation to be in more trouble from on out. It is a "new deal" Morris and his boys.

With the transfer of the franchise to Borger in this town Fincher Withers, who closed house as the skipper. It might interest you and Big Spring fans to know that I had needed many advices that I received moving to Abilene. Had that advice, I would not have many hundreds of dollars off now. It might interest you to know the exact average daily attendance in Abilene, up to the time the franchise was sold, was 237 including children 10 cents and bleachers at 10 cents. There were only 179 at the game that was our consecutive game when it had its last streak.

You would desire to know that I will state that the Boosters of Abilene agreed to interest by selling 1,500 5 day tickets. I agreed to and equip 5 park with the Boosters club must make an effort toward their end and sold less than 700 after their president, Mr. Bacon, advised me about weeks before opening game they had sold over 1,300 at the time.

A failure of the Boosters along with that haphazard, schedule was forced upon the Boosters. The reason was the Boosters were the ones who had the floor in Texas who has become the "baseball in West Texas" of baseball in West Texas.

The "legal" schedule is not the one which was adopted at our schedule meeting at Lubbock. I am sorry to say that I am not sure that I am correct in my rights. I call your attention to the fact that the Boosters of Abilene notified the Boosters of Big Spring of this meeting and schedule. The Boosters of Abilene notified the Boosters of Big Spring of this meeting and schedule. The Boosters of Abilene notified the Boosters of Big Spring of this meeting and schedule.

It is no secret that there is a dislike between the real leader, Mr. Faulkner, and I am of the opinion of the cause of the franchise being snatched from my clubs in this league and leagues have been in the financial predicament as but they have received awards. For example, look at last season. Mr. Price that I spent nearly $200 own money in organizing the league in the spring of 1938. I am promised to be returned but to date I have never

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 7 (AP)—Britain's Kay Stammers will play tennis with Alice Marble of San Francisco for the women's championship tomorrow afternoon—and if Kay wins it the biggest British surprise since Waterloo. Kay's heart naturally is set on Katy winning but their skill is Alice. Mathematical maniacs have estimated Miss Marble's favorite and even at that, Marble's a bargain. At the moment, Miss Stammers is to Miss Marble what the Phil Athletics are to the New York Yankees. They're in the same boat that's about all. True that a year ago in the Wightman Cup matches Stammers' favorite, but Alice got even in the United States championship of this last fall and even that wasn't the Marble who's seeing over the top. It's Youth Vs. Age In Texas All-Star Game

Eaves To Toe Rubber For South; North Is Powerful

BY FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
SAN ANTONIO, July 7 (AP)—Power, pitching and speed in their lineup, a rolling band of kids on their way up tackle a grand bunch of crafty, but willing veterans in the Texas League fourth annual all-star game here tomorrow night.

Position by position, the youngsters of the Southern division pack a trifle more steam, enough to shift odds in their direction and cause general predictions for a fourth consecutive defeat for Northern forces.

Only two veterans are in the Southern lineup, Nick Cullop, the Houston lurrer, and playing manager Homer Peel of Shreveport, both starring outfielders. Peel, however, is expected to give over his left field post after a few innings to Tony Crivola, of San Antonio, a line drive hitter.

The youth vs. veteran angle will be most evident on the pitcher's mound.

Fifteen game winner to date, and tagged for certain delivery to the Majors come the end of the Texas League season, Willie Eaves, Shreveport's ball of fire, will start for the Southerners.

His earned run average is slightly less than 2.75 and only five losses have been charged to his account.

On the Northern side will be one of the minors' most colorful veterans, Ed (Bear Tracks) Greer a mountainous fellow having one of his best years. The Fort Worth heaver, who zooms over pitches with some six feet, four inches of frame, has salted away 13 victories against six losses to date, and led the entire roster in the fans' balloting.

After Eaves three inning stretch, will come more youngsters, Bobby Coombs of Shreveport, Managers of Beaumont, Emil Bildlill and Ed Cole of San Antonio, both slated to go back to the St. Louis Browns, and Harry Brecheen of Houston.

The northerners will have more versatility in its pitching staff, three left-handers being included in the batch of six. Clay Touchstone of Dallas, Ray Starr of Ft. Worth, Jack Brillhart of Oklahoma City, and two Tulsa oilers, Max Thomas and Verne Olson, complete the staff.

No Noticeable Part Northern fans argue, and perhaps with soundness, that age won't play a noticeable part in the game. None of the old timers will be called on for more than three innings of mound duty. However, two of the Northern pitchers, Brillheart and Touchstone, have been credited with losing two of the four games played.

Still another point in favor of the "Yankies" is the construction of their in-field, three of the four being Dallas players who know each other's habits. Roy Mart will start at first base, Jim Levey at short and Grey Clarke at third. Les Mallon, figured a cinch at second, failed to make it as all-Dallas layout when he fell behind Fort Worth's Clyde McDowell in last minute voting.

Starting line-up as announced by Manager Happy Morris and Peel: NORTHERN—Levy, Dallas, SS; McDowell, Fort Worth, 2B; Easterning, Oklahoma City, LF; Stoneham, Fort Worth, RF; Trent, Dallas, CF; Mort, Dallas, 1B; Clarke, Dallas, 3B; Dickey, Oklahoma City, C; Greer, Fort Worth, P.

SOUTH—Lucadello, San Antonio, 1B; Hopp, Houston, 1B; Criscola, San Antonio, LF; Cullop, Houston, RF; Kennedy, Shreveport, 2B; Gerlach, Shreveport, SS; Swift, San Antonio, C; Eaves, Shreveport, P.

Apaches Trample Barons Behind Yeager, 8-4

Southpaw Holds Locals To Six Base Blows

BY HANK HART
The Abilene menace officially came to an end last night at Baron park and the most was made of the situation. Jimmy Morris' Apaches, who this morning were notified that the base of their operations would hereafter be Borger, defeated the Big Spring Barons, 8-4, and thereby pulled into a tie for first place in WT-NM standings with the Regemen.

The Apaches made it embarrassing indeed for the L'Al Yankies what with Lloyd Yeager pitching a six hitter and tossing shutout ball.

BORGER, July 7 (AP)—Harry Faulkner, business manager of the Lubbock Hubbers, and Charles Wilson of Dallas, representing the West Texas-New Mexico League, will meet today with a Borger committee to arrange final details for this city to take over the Abilene franchise and baseball team.

Borger fans raised the financial backing last night, and looked forward to Borger's first game, scheduled here Sunday with Pampa.

Borger will play Lubbock's remaining schedule and Lubbock will play Abilene's, leaving the teams divided: southern division—Lubbock, Lamesa, Midland, Big Spring; northern half—Pampa, Clovis, Borger, Amarillo.

In eight of the nine innings played, outside of the sixth inning when Don Wolin doubled with the sacks populated and later came home on Barney Barnhill's error, the locals might just as well have "stood in bed."

The Apaches went to work on Louis Janicek in the first heat when Barnhill tallied on Benny Franklin's double and by the fourth had scored the youngsters completely out of the fray. A five-run rally in the third round put the game on ice for the invaders.

Short Homers Barnhill, Franklin, Short and Bell had two licks each for the Apaches. One was Short's circuit blast over the right center field barrier, the blow coming in the sixth stanza with Barnhill up front.

Of the six hits the Barons garnered off the southpaw slants of Yeager, Bobby Decker had a pair of them.

Either Johnny Tysko or Benny Franklin were slated to go to the slab for the visitors tonight. There is a possibility Morris may rely on his left hander, Howard Parks, for hill duty, however.

Edson Bahr or Art Gigli was to work for the locals. The Barons complete their three game series with the Apaches Saturday night, moving to Lubbock Sunday after a three day stand. The new schedule, giving Borger Lubbock's original schedule, sends the Apaches home against Pampa.

Hypnotic Eye May Aid Boxer in Title Bout

Jimmy Grippo Practices On Charge, Melio Bettina

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—As proof all the gags have not been exhausted, comes Jimmie Grippo with a daily job of hypnotism for his fighter, Melio Bettina, who meets Billy Conn for the more-or-less light heavyweight title here next Thursday.

Grippo, a genuine hypnotist and sleight-of-hand expert, demonstrated his novel training technique yesterday in Bettina's camp at Bescon, N. Y. Commissioner Bill Brown promptly declared Grippo would have to do all his evil-eying and hand-waving before the fight-ers enter the ring.

"We don't care if he hypnotizes his fighter," declared Brown stoutly, "but he can't do it during the weigh-in or in the Garden ring."

Grippo said that was all right with him. As a matter of fact, he intends to have Bettina shocked full of hypnotism by the end of this week he won't need another shot before the bout.

Grippo isn't fooling about the beneficial effects he believes hypnotism has on Bettina. He points out Melio hasn't been licked since he began giving the fighter the eye, and now is recognized as light-heavy champion in New York state.

Willing Subject Yesterday, after Bettina had finished banging four sparring partners about, Grippo sat him down in a chair and went to work. Bettina was a willing subject. He relaxed and appeared to slip into a deep sleep as Grippo gave him the old hocus-pocus.

Leaning over his gladiator, Grippo then began telling in a voice that echoed off nearby Mt. Beacon: "You're going to be strong and fast next Thursday night. You're going to obey instructions. You're going to hit hard with both hands. You're going to knock Conn out before the end of the seventh round. You're going to obey instructions."

He kept that up for maybe five minutes, then he brought Melio around, and the lad did look a little starry-eyed.

"He doesn't know a thing I said to him while he was asleep," Grippo explained, "but it is planted in his subconscious mind. I've dinned into his brain. The moment he sees Conn facing him in the ring it will begin to act on him. He won't be hypnotized at the start, but he will be faster, stronger and more impervious to punishment than he would be normally."

Bettina doesn't know whether there's anything to it. All he knows is he keeps on winning, and he isn't sucker enough to object to that.

Midland Youths Shine At Muny, Wells Low

Local Interest Increasing In Tournament

Three Midland youngsters came to town and the Muny golf course Thursday to get in their drill rounds for the July 13-14-15 West Texas Junior golf tournament and clearly displayed their familiarity with the layout with some fair country shooting.

Harry Sindorf, medalist last year and counted upon as a leading threat for the title this time, was pronounced ready after a swift maneuver around the course. He did not post his score but was said to be hitting them straight and true.

Two of the youngsters who made the trip with him contributed good rounds. Billy Wells, going out in 48, came home with a sparkling 32 which exceeds a very tough par by but three strokes. Lotus Green went out in 41 and negotiated the back nine in 40 strokes.

Local interest in the meeting is increasing daily. Pro Harold Akey said this morning. Players who intend to enter inter-competition need only register the opening day of the tournament. Entry fee is $1.

Cooke Beaten By Bob Riggs

WIMBLEDON, England, July 7 (AP)—Bobby Riggs of Chicago, beat his roommate and doubles partner, Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2 today in the all-American final of the All-England tennis championship.

Though he was within a point of losing the first two sets, Riggs, playing with that sublime nonchalance which has baffled the British critics, pulled Cooke back almost as he liked and never really looked like a loser after the start of the fourth set.

Riggs, making his debut at Wimbledon, now has won 13 straight from Cooke, who was not even considered good enough by the United States Lawn Tennis association to have his full expenses paid to the tournament. The only other American ever to win the Wimbledon title on his first visit was Ellsworth Vines in 1932.

Deviils, Buffs Record Muny Victories

Anderson's Devils and the Forsan Buffs scored Muny softball league victories at the city park Thursday evening, defeating Montgomery Ward, 10-3, and Jack Frost Pharmacy, 16-2, respectively.

Held scoreless in the first inning, the Devils tallied a single run in the second, then really got to clicking in the third when they chased four runs across the dish.

Lonnie Evans, twirling for the Devils, limited the Redders to singles by Holmes and Loving and hurried four scoreless innings before the Ward crew finally broke loose in the fifth.

Bobby Martin had two of the five hits the Devils collected off Klennert.

In the aftermath the Bison tallied in every round in their rut of the Druggists, working across five tallies in the first heat.

First game: Ward 000 030—3 2 4 Anderson 014 22—10 5 4 Klennert and J. Wallace; Evans and Wells. Second game: Forsan 516 13—16 10 1 Jack Frost 000 200—2 5 7 Griffith, Lonford and Smith; Montgomery, Batts and Moody.

Johnny Bulla Takes Lead In British Open

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 7 (AP)—Long-hitting Johnny Bulla of Chicago slammed out a par 73 for his final round over the wind-lashed Royal and Ancient course today to take the lead, and a good chance at the title, in the British open golf championship with a 72-hole score of 292.

The Carolina-born professional's fine closing bid overhauled Jack Fulton, the known British pro who led with 215 at 54 holes but, over-cautious and nervous, blew to a 79 this afternoon.

As "Johnny came marching home," the wind was raising hob on the back nine to improve his chances of taking the crown.

Swanson

Philosophic understanding of human problems will live after him... He brought to the public service not only ability and integrity but a loyalty to principle and to duty from which no consideration could move him.

Swanson went from the chairmanship of the senate naval committee to the cabinet.

Behind the veteran official was 44 years of public service, which began with minor offices in Virginia, several terms in the house, then a term as governor of Virginia, to be followed by the beginning of his senate service in 1910.

Swanson was born at Swansonville, Va., March 31, 1862, the son of a tobacco planter. He is survived by his widow and stepson.

day so it might tell congress how a prohibition against foreign silver buying would affect the "good neighbor" policy in Latin America.

The development was the latest stemming from the fight over extension of President Roosevelt's monetary powers.

Senate republicans decided to seek separate legislation. The banking sub-committee met to begin consideration of that legislation but agreed on postponement in order that Secretary Hull might testify.

It was reported authoritatively Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky) advised the committee that President Roosevelt felt any termination of foreign silver purchases might have an upsetting effect on negotiations with Mexico for settlement of the controversy over Mexican seizure of American oil properties.

U. S. Charge

all building construction at the university under a resolution the governor charged Dr. James Monroe Smith, former U. S. U. president, "faked" on the university board minutes.

More Indictments

BATON ROUGE, La., July 7 (AP)—District Attorney Dewey J. Sanchez today said he anticipated additional indictments against Dr. James Monroe Smith would be returned by the parish grand jury, adding "it looks as if the charges will probably be forged or public bonds and records."

As the specially summoned grand jury here reconvened in its probe of L. S. U.'s tangled finances, Sanchez said anyone "who expects a whitewash of any individual is due for a surprise."

The district attorney said the probe would be thorough and would probably last for months. He said while the grand jury now is concerned mainly with investigating the state university's affairs the inquisitorial body may reach into other matters after finishing its work with L. S. U. Sanchez refused elaboration on this point.

Another Resignation

BATON ROUGE, La., July 7 (AP)—Governor Earl K. Long announced today he had accepted the resignation of L. F. Abernathy, chairman of the state highway commission, as a member of the Louisiana State university board of supervisors.

Long said Abernathy resigned from the L. S. U. board because of duties with the highway commission prevented his devoting proper attention to university affairs. A further reason given was that Abernathy was not an L. S. U. graduate.

The governor announced he was appointing in Abernathy's place on the board John J. Dolan, an L. S. U. graduate who is president of the First State bank of Plain Dealing.

Evening Worship, 8 p. m. Subject, "Is It Worth the Cost?" A cordial invitation to all to worship with us!

FIRST BAPTIST

C. E. Lancaster, Pastor. The difference between people is largely due to their different use of life's opportunities. The determining factor is not difference of opportunity, but difference in the use of opportunity.

The lesson before us ought to impress upon us our moral accountability to God. The correct conception of life is stewardship. How are we using it? For these three months we are studying various leaders of Israel. How did they use their opportunities? What is the explanation of their success and failure? How did some of them rise to high levels of influence, while others dissipated their opportunities and defeated God's purpose? What opportunities beckon to present-day Christians? How shall we rise to the level of victorious living? What judgment may we expect if we fail to accept and use the gifts God has invested in us? These are problems of vital interest to our spiritual lives.

The lesson presents a great character with a great opportunity and along with his chance, a great temptation. Is Jeroboam strong enough to grasp his opportunity and overcome his temptation? We shall see.

Morning service broadcast. The pastor will preach at 11 a. m. B.T.U., 7 p. m. Evening worship, 8 o'clock.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

Room 1, Bellows Hotel. "Sacrament" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 8. The Golden Text is: "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me" (Psalm 51:10).

Among the citations which accompany the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Jesus said unto them: Children, have ye any meat? They answered him, No. And he said unto them, Cast the colling. In fine, a good and thoroughly indigestible time was being had by all—thats, all but one.

That one was Matheron, a trip-planned importation from England, who held the office of butler at Saiter Acres. Matheron was a huge man with iron-gray hair, a pontifical bearing and a punch as big as the state of Rhode Island. His general aspect was somewhat withering, like Westminster Abbey in a fog.

Matheron could have tolerated the entire affair better had it not been for the presence of the East brothers at the table and the advent of Sullyaki who had been relegated to the kitchen. On sight Matheron had considered the East brothers something unseemly. And Sullyaki, now getting outside of a light, but embracing, repeat at the kitchen table, simply had no place in his scheme of things.

Upon these matters he spoke confidentially to Monsieur Marcel

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The nature of Christianity is peaceful and blessed, but in order to enter into the kingdom, the anchor of hope must be cast before the veil of matter into the Shekinah into which Jesus has passed before us" (pages 40 and 41).

MAIN ST. CHURCH OF GOD

Cor. 10th and Main. Robert E. Bowden, Minister. All services at the usual hour Sunday. Sunday school 10 o'clock; morning worship 11 o'clock, sermon by the pastor. Young People's special service now sponsored by our church. Come and join the young people's group. The evening sermon at 8 o'clock. Our Wednesday night prayer meetings are growing in interest and inspiration. Next Wednesday night we have a special sing song. Either sing or have it sung, your favorite hymn. The service will be devoted mostly to singing hymns. All who love good singing are cordially invited. "Christ said, I am the door, by me if any man enter in he shall be saved." Friend, are you trying to find Salvation from sin, in some other way? Are you trying to fool yourself in believing you can get by, by entering some door man has opened? Jesus Christ said, all who were trying to climb up some other way were thieves and robbers. We believe the Bible way and leave all the other WAYS alone. We preach and practice the Bible way and invite YOU to go along with us.

National Glider Meet Dominated By Two

ELMIRA, N. Y., July 7 (AP)—Two ranking glider pilots, one of them holder of a newly-invented American altitude record, led the national soaring meet held by a sizeable margin today as sail ships were groomed for the last 48 hours of competition.

Chester J. Decker of Glen Rock, N. J., boosted his pace-making point total to 2,550 yesterday with a 100-mile flight to Oriskany Falls, N. Y., while naval aviation cadet Robert M. Stanley, his 17,284 feet Independent Day altitude flight an official margin, was close behind with 2,520.

Dr. Karl O. Lange, U. S. government meteorologist, announced yesterday Stanley's flight through the half-belt center of a cumulus cloud on July 4 represented a new American altitude record.

The old record was 6,700 feet, established in 1926 at Elmira, by Richard C. Dupont of Wilmington, Del.

MEETING CANCELED

Townsend Not Ready For A Second Vote

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend made it known he does not want to risk another congressional beating for his old age pension program at this session.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) Townsend plan advocate, made public today a letter from the pension leader which asked it be withheld from consideration during senate debate on proposed changes in the social security act.

Townsend wrote that an adverse vote on his plan undoubtedly would "intensify our so-called 'defeat'."

The house recently voted overwhelmingly against the plan for pensions up to $200 a month.

The letter suggested it would be better to let the program "go by default" and concentrate on approval of an amendment to the constitution which would let congress levy taxes for the specific purpose of paying old age pensions.

Although many authorities contend such taxation already is constitutional, Townsend has said an amendment is desirable in order to clarify the question.

The senate finance committee last yesterday recommended acceptance of house-approved amendments broadening the social security act.

The committee suggested only minor changes in the house bill. It recommended exemption of fishermen, newboys and commission insurance agents from the security act and increased from $8,000,000 to $12,000,000 the amount the government may contribute for state public health programs.

A house provision that state unemployment insurance taxes should not be less than 2.7 per cent of payrolls was stricken out.

Joe Wood returned Thursday night from a trip to East Texas, South Texas and Louisiana points. J. L. Wood, who accompanied him, remained in Georgetown to visit his grandmother.

BEHIND THE BUILD-UPS

Webster Was Right; The Man Who Wins Elections Gets Most Votes

McNutt's build-up is typical of what may be expected of the other candidates.

His last blast is costing 12 cents a foot through Mr. Farley's postal system. Fifteen pages of praise, and the pamphlet of slogans will use a McNutt best seller—"He's a born leader." The next bet is "McNutt, the budget balancer."

That goes back to Indiana's house budget when he was governor. Budget talk will figure in other build-ups, you can be sure as dirt on Aunt Nelly's shawl.

Most of those on the favorite son list, though won't make a heavy bid for public favor, why do they hang on? Because state delegates may yet be pledged to them, and a pocketful of state delegates in a tight convention may be very good trading material at the showdown.

MISS 'LANEOUS NOTES By Mary Whaley

After months of sneaking around to the bowling alley hoping to play a game and losing nerve at the last minute, the other night I took my courage in my hands and played three games.

There were titters when the first attempt put the ball down the alley but when the next ball landed behind me in the crowd, the lookers-on grew respectfully silent and moved to the other side of the room.

First it was my form that was bad, then the angle I assumed, and then the way I held the ball! I got a lot of advice but couldn't seem to profit by it. Then, too, while I stood poised to throw one down the alley the ball would get so heavy that I would have to let it go regardless of my angle, form or what have you.

I was about to give up and call it a night when with a "Dead Eye Dick" aim I succeeded and the pins all fell down. I know now how whoever it was felt when he slayed the dragon.

There was only one sad result to the evening and that was my thumb will be all out of kilter for a month. As a hitch-hiker I would be a total loss as it was worn down to a nubbin when the games were over.

Some of my scores I am willing to forget but I am a little proud of the last one, a 93, and I'll never get over that feeling of two strikes—it will probably never happen again.

City, County Commissioners Mix In Friendly Fashion At Barbecue Given At The E. V. Spence Home

City and county commissioners, most of whose relationships are of a business nature around a council table, dropped all work and worry Thursday evening for an informal get-together of fun and entertainment.

The occasion was a barbecue supper tendered by City Manager E. V. Spence on the spacious lawn of his municipal park home, with the county and city officials and various men associated with the water development program here as guests.

Friendly rivalry between "city" and "county" developed in some contests between Mayor R. V. Jones and Judge Charley Sullivan, but the competition ended in a draw as Sullivan copped a horse shoe pitching contest and Jones was ruled victor in a so-called "weight lifting" event.

Following the serving of a delicious meal of barbecued chicken, beans and salad, the guests were treated to a motion picture showing development, from inception to date, of the city dam projects. The pictures were damed in color by City Commissioner Elmer Cravens, and screened by him. He is working on a complete documentary film of the project.

With Jones, Sullivan and Cravens, guests were County Commissioners Arch Thompson, Ed Brown and Jim Winslow; City Commissioners Grover Dunham and Vic Mellinger; County Auditor Claude Wolf; City Attorney Tom Coffey; James Little, who is working on right-of-way deals for city and county; Cal Boykin, president of the chamber of commerce; J. Floyd Malcolm, contractor on the dams; S. W. Fresse, consulting engineer; Otis N. Key, resident engineer-inspector for PWA; E. L. Dalton, contractor on the pipeline, filtration plant and pump station; E. E. Scott, superintendent for Dalton; J. K. Alewine, resident engineer for Fresse and Nichols; Boyd McDaniel, superintendent of city operations; Herbert Whitney, city secretary-comptroller; Chas. L. Kelsey and Bob Whippley.

Jessie Morgan, formerly of this city and now residing in Phoenix, Ariz., is visiting here with friends.

The local Buick dealership that has been operated under the name of Keisling Motor Co., will change its name to McEwen Motor Co. R. E. Keisling, well-known gin man of Howard and Dawson counties, has completed arrangements by which he has bought out Mr. Keisling's interests.

The only thing that will be changed, McEwen said, is the name. Management and personnel will be the same with the same "old timers" serving Buick customers in this section.
