

Mustangs on the Road for Encounter with McLean Tigers

The Wheeler Mustangs might be literally stepping into the Tigers den this Friday night when they visit McLean for a battle with their rivals from a way back.

can take the Tigers lightly, they had better do their homework again if they think McLean is any pushover. The Tigers sport a 1-1 record against the Mustangs 2 and 0 mark but the Tigers loss came at the hands of the Shamrock Irish 27-7 and the Irish appear to have one of the best clubs in District 2-AA.

Coach Jack Dorsett, in his second year at McLean, has the Tigers playing their best football in years and most of the Tigers that take the field Friday night were starters in '79.

McLean led Shamrock at halftime and Wheeler's scouts said that the Tigers defense kept them in the game until late in the second half. McLean came back last week and trounced Silverton to the tune of 39-0.

On offense the Tigers use a split backfield and will run out of the tandem I at times. Defensively the Tigers give opponents the same look as the Mustangs as they run the split 4 defense but they probably stunt their linebackers more than the Mustangs.

"McLean isn't a big ball club but they have a lot of quickness and they play real well together," Coach Joe Allen told the weekly gathering of the Mustang Booster Club Monday night.

"I am real glad that our Booker game is behind us. Homecoming is always hard to get up for and we showed it as first last week," the head coach continued. "I thought we Played pretty well offensively, even in the first half, but our defense didn't play up to par. We played with no emotion on defense and to play well, you have to play with emotion."

The Mustangs sustained no injuries in the Booker game that will keep any player out of the Tiger contest that has an 8 PM kickoff.

Not only will the Mustangs try to keep their season's record perfect but will be after their 17th straight win stretching back over the 1979 season.

BOOKER FALLS AT HOMECOMING

Stunned by Booker's opening drive for a touchdown, the Wheeler Mustangs roared backed to notch their second win of the year last Friday night before a packed homecoming crowd at Nicholson Field to the tune of 49-19.

The high scoring affair certainly gave the heavily favored Mustangs some anxious moments, especially in the first half when the Mustangs held a narrow one point margin until they scored their third touchdown with just 27 seconds remaining on the clock before intermission.

Friday night's win really wasn't anything new for the Mustangs on homecoming. In years past, the Mustangs have seemed to have more on their mind than football and Friday night was no exception.

Led by Brett Maxfield, their nifty quarterback, the Kiowas came to play and methodically used up half of the first quarter with an 85 yard drive that put the Kiowas on top 7-0. Dominating the line of scrimmage, Booker stayed on the ground for all but two plays in the 13 play march to the end zone. Maxfield passed to Rory Wilmoth for 12 yards for the TD and Mark Bechthold kicked the extra point at 7:51 of the first quarter.

The seesaw first half saw each ball club come back and score after the other had put points on the board until the Mustangs drove 70 yards in just under 2 minutes to give them an eight point cushion at halftime.

Farm Tour Set Wed., October 8

The Livestock Committee and Crops Committee will sponsor a tour of cotton and brush control result demonstrations on Wednesday, October 8. The tour will begin in the meeting room of the Maverick Restaurant in Shamrock at 2:30 p.m., immediately following the Soil and Water Conservation District director election.

Dr. Frank Petr will be on hand to discuss the cotton varieties on the John McDowell, Fr. farm west of Shamrock and the Clay Walsler Farm north of Kelton. The tour will also include stops at Grassland shinoak control plots east of Shamrock and on the Bus Dorman farm south of Wheeler.

The tentative schedule is to go first to the Texas Tech brush control plot east of Shamrock, then to John McDowell's, to Bus Dorman's and then to Clay Walsler's.

I hope you will plan to attend these 2 programs. Both should present information that will be of benefit to you in your farming and ranching operation.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Co. Agent Sets Cattle Meeting

Dr. John McNeill, area Beef Cattle Specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will be in Wheeler County for an educational meeting Tuesday, September 30. The meeting will be in the District Courtroom in Wheeler beginning at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is being sponsored by the Livestock & Range Committee of the County Program Building Committee and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. McNeill will discuss ways of getting stocker cattle off to a good start to help, reduce death loss and maximum gain. He will present a stocker health program and talk about preconditioning of stocker cattle.

Another topic to be covered by McNeill is the new brucellosis program that went into effect this summer. There are several new regulations that should be understood by all beef cattle producers so they can comply with the new law.

All beef cattle producers and other interested people are welcome to attend this meeting. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Benny Baker returned the kickoff following the Booker touchdown from his 23 to the Wheeler 45 to get the Mustangs first drive to paydirt started. The big play in this 55 yard drive was a 26 yard pass to Mike Gallagher from quarterback Ty Henderson to put the ball on the Kiowa 24. Baker banged out a couple and Henderson added 10 more on a keeper before Willie Valencia broke loose on a trap at the left side and went over from 14 yards out. Russell Gaines booted the Mustangs into a tie at 5:48.

The first quarter ended in a 7-7 deadlock but found the Mustangs on the Booker 33 headed for their go ahead touchdown. The drive began back on the Wheeler 26 where the Mustangs had put down a threat by the Kiowas to go back in front.

Wheeler stayed on the ground in this drive with Valencia and Baker pounding out most of the yardage. Valencia got his second touchdown from the 5 yard line and the Mustangs weren't to be headed anymore.

Booker drove 51 yards for what could have been the tying touchdown late in the second quarter but the Kiowas opted for a two point try, which failed and left them one behind. Maxfield passed to Wilmoth for this six pointer.

Taking the pigskin at the Wheeler 30 with just 2:13 to play in the first half, the Mustangs used their two minute offense to perfection and marched the 70 yards for their third TD. Using their timeouts and plays to the sideline to save time on the clock, the Mustangs sent Valencia into the end zone from the 1 one play before the first half ended. Gaines kicked the extra point and the Mustangs had a 21-13 halftime lead.

The second half all belonged to Wheeler as they scored touchdowns the first four times they had the ball to mount a 49-13 margin before Bechthold raced 80 yards for the final Booker score midway of the final quarter.

Wheeler took the second half kickoff and were in the end zone in just four plays. The payoff came on a 41 yard pass from Henderson to split end John Harris and the rout was on as the Mustangs started to eat up the real estate in chunks.

Westmoreland recovered a Booker fumble at the Kiowa 45 to set up the Mustangs next scoring drive and it was a quick one. Baker almost broke loose for the distance on first down but was hauled down on the 24 after a pickup of 21 yards. Henderson kept at left tackle for 8 and then Valencia found a hole at left guard and jacked into the end zone to climax a 16 yard run.

Aided by a personal foul penalty on a punt return, the Mustangs had only 37 yards to travel to paydirt on their next

VERY CORMAN. THE OLD NEIGHBORHOOD. The Linden Press/Simon & Schuster. 219pp.
Steven Robbins has achieved everything he thought he wanted, and nothing, not any of it, has turned out to be what he thought it would be.

As a young man, he left his neighborhood in the Bronx to be a success. He had become one of the best advertising copywriters in the field; he has a beautiful successful wife and two lovely daughters. But his relationship with his career-minded wife is less a marriage than a corporation. His children are independent and growing away from him. His career has turned into a monotonous game of being clever.

Steven Robbins embarks on a personal journey that has relevance for us all, and, in his past and in his heart, he learns about life as it should be and about himself as he should be. This is a novel for everyone who has ever left a place to be someone else, to do something else. It is story of contemporary values. It is an important novel, poignant, human, hilarious, and wonderful.

ISABELLE HOLLAND. COUNTERPOINT. Rawson, Wade Publishers, Inc. 295 pp.
COUNTERPOINT is a remarkable and perceptive novel about a woman who is successful in every aspect of her life, except the most important. And it is that crucial aspect—the emotional—that precipitates the crisis that threatens everything she has achieved and endangers her own life.

When Kate received the doctor's call, telling her that her adoptive sister had been hospitalized after a suicide attempt and asking Kate to come and look after the children, her first instinct was to refuse. Why should she come? She had spent her life running away from her family and hadn't seen her sister in 20 years. But eventually she went, spending the nights at her sister's home in the wealthy suburb and her days in New York City at her job as a senior editor in a publishing house. Kate had finally made the gesture as a kind of offering on the altar of guilt and common decency.

But as she stayed and attempted to cope with the alienated young people and with her brother-in-law who had returned from an overseas assignment, she finds that she must confront once again the commitments she was never able to make. Who is it, finally, that Kate loves? Paul, her brother-in-law, in whom her old choice is reborn? Graham, the married man she loved and once lived with? Joel, who is more threatening because he is younger? Or Jed, who is different from anyone she has ever known before.

Church Honors Pastor Moore
The General Board of the Church of the Nazarene has designated 1980 as "The Year of the Minister." The West Texas District has set aside Sunday, September 28, 1980, as "Minister Appreciation Day." In recognition of this special celebration, the Wheeler Church of the Nazarene would like to honor its pastor, Harold Wayne Moore, and his family.

Harold Wayne was born and raised at Wellington, where he was a member of the Nazarene Church and a member of the Wellington Skyrocket football team. After graduation, he attended Bethany Nazarene College at Bethany, Okla.

He came to the Wheeler Church in March, 1971. At the time, he was a teacher and football coach at Pampa Junior High, working many hours a week. But he dedicated himself to serving God by ministering to the Wheeler Church, which he has continued to do for almost 10 years. Several years later he resigned as coach and returned to Wellington, where he works long hours as a farmer during the week.

On Sunday, he and his family travel 45 miles to preach two services and minister to the needs of the people. His wife, LaDonna, is a dedicated Christian who works with children and adults. She works in the community at Wellington as a girl Scout leader. She is also active in the Wellington Nazarene Church during the week.

Harold and LaDonna have four children, all dedicated to the Lord. Debbie is a senior at Bethany Nazarene College, where she will graduate in 1981 in Early Childhood Education. Dick and his wife Rhonda live near Sherman, Texas, where he works on a drilling rig. David is a Junior at Wellington High School and plays in the Skyrocket football team. Dione is in the fourth grade and participates in 4-H and Girl Scouts.

The Wheeler Church of the Nazarene is proud to recognize this outstanding family! The sacrifice and dedication of Brother Moore and his family are much appreciated.

2. Locate Two Exits From Each bedroom.

Select a window in each bedroom as an alternate escape route. A window that is painted shut or is blocked by a screwed on screen is not an exit. Latched screens or sliding screens are the safest and easiest to operate. Be sure that everybody can reach and operate all latches, locks, doors, bolts and chains. Be sure that you can get out by every escape route you plan.

Being sure means more than knowing a window can be opened. Will you fit through? If the window is stuck and no other route is possible, is there an object nearby, such as a chair or a baseball bat, that you could use to safely break the glass?

Be sure your children know that breaking through a window is a proper and acceptable method of escape. Caution them to remove sharp pieces of glass from the window frame and to cover the sill with a rug or blanket before crawling out.

Stop the discussion now to demonstrate how to use a chair or bat, by standing to the side of the window to avoid flying glass shards, and swinging the chair or bat toward the window. Have the children practice opening the windows, too. For easier exit from upstairs windows, but a rope or metal escape ladder. Some escape ladders can be permanently bolted to the bedroom wall. Others hook over the window sash. Every body should practice using the escape ladder.

3. Draw A Floor Plan Of Your Home.

Even if you built your home and know every nook and cranny, you should use the pencil and paper to draw a special floor plan of your home. The floor plan will alert you to all possible fire exits at a glance and will provide information to visitors if you hang it on a bulletin board or on a closet door. This is especially important for babysitters who need to know the plan, the various escape routes and the fire department phone number.

4. Include all windows, doors and outdoor features in your floor plan.

Remember to mark all windows and doors and every outdoor feature and possible obstacle. It's important to know if you can climb out on a roof, or balcony or garage. Perhaps there is a tree that can be reached from a window. Be sure that any of these outside

Cole Reunion Held at Pampa

The third biennial S.E. Cole Reunion was held Labor Day weekend, August 29-31, at the Optimist Boys Club in Pampa, Texas. Registration began Friday afternoon at 3:00 p.m., and by 3:00 p.m. Sunday afternoon, 129 relatives and guests had registered.

Some out-of-town relatives stayed with Pampa kin. Several brought campers, while some inhabited Pampa motels. Others living close enough commuted each day.

Hostess for the occasion was Joan (Burns) Nail, assisted by Ann (Johnson) Rapstine, Bobbie (Burns) Ehmman, Dale Burns, and Delphia (Burns) Biggers. All meals were delicious and a highlight of the occasion. Meats were prepared by the hostesses and several other helpful people. All who attended brought covered dishes. Tables were loaded with delectable casseroles, vegetables, salads, relish plates, and desserts! Everyone enjoyed the food.

Ann Rapstine acted as Mistress of Ceremonies. Entertainment included much visiting and reminiscing, ball games, music by Bill and Wendell Ridgeway, a $1.98 Beauty Contest (won by Edna Ridgeway) and much picture taking. Gene Biggers was the official photographer, with all others who had cameras along participating. Prizes were awarded to Hub Cole (87), of Wheeler, for being the oldest in attendance, Virgil and Vannie Cole and families for having traveled the farthest. They came all the way from Santa Paula, CA. The youngest in attendance was Christina Ehmman, from Miami, TX, who was just four weeks old. Sean Rapstine did a bit of entertainment, too. He brought his dog whom he had trained and did several neat tricks. Sean may just grow up to be the greatest animal trainer of all times. This reunion was enjoyed immensely by all and Joan Nail and assistants are to be congratulated for their expertise in planning and managing this reunion. All voted for Joan to be in charge of the next S.E. Cole Biennial Reunion to be held Labor Day weekend in 1982m, at the Optimist Boys Club in Pampa, Texas. Y'all come!

Those attending were: Ayner (Jaco) Cole, Susie (Cole) Bonner, Delmer and Maureen (Cole) Thomas, Mickey and Patsy (Thomas) McCarter and Bradley, Jack and LaRue (Cole) Sims, Mark and Sharon (Sims) Jolly, Brynn and Bryan, Kyle Sims, all of Canyon; T. Challenge To Panhandle Communities

"Panhandle area communities are meeting the challenge!" reported Marilyn Van Petten to members of the Panhandle Area Cancer Center. By July 25, more than $360,000 had been donated by generous area residents, after hearing the story of what the Don & Sybil Harrington Cancer Center will mean to themselves, loved ones, and their neighbors.
In April, Harrington Foundation officials issued a challenge to Panhandle communities to match a final $1 million grant for construction of the Harrington Cancer Center. Responding to the challenge, the Development Committee for the Center geared up and made plans for an area-wide capital campaign, along with the $1 million goal to complete the Center, one of their major goals is to organize and area-wide network of volunteers in a sustained effort to assist cancer patients from their own communities. In the present campaign, community leaders are asked to participate in a fund drive and want help from an ongoing volunteer support group. This group will utilize already existing available resources to meet patient and family needs. Another responsibility will be dissemination of information on cancer treatment and care to the community. Each community will design its own support program, based on its volunteer resources and current needs.
The one million dollars presently being raised will provide final financial support needed to fully equip, provide staff, and allow the Cancer Center to open on schedule, June 1, 1981, to treat patients in the Panhandle area.

Paint Like A Professional—Your Home Interior

You can paint the interior of your home like a professional would—and yes, you really can do it!

Homeowners need only a few basic skills to make the job good looking and long lasting.

Before You Start

Before you actually paint a room, assemble your materials, cover the floor and furniture, patch cracks, remove loose or peeling paint and old wallpaper.

Also, dust the walls, wash them to remove dirt and grease if necessary and remove mildew stains and kill the spores by washing the wall with any house hold bleach or cleaner.

Mixing Paint

If the paint needs mixing, ask your paint dealer to do it on a machine when you buy the paint. Just before your paint, check to see if it is well mixed.

Stir it with a paddle to see if the heavy pigment has settled on the can's bottom.

If so, pour most of the liquid into another can. Stir the thick part until it's smooth. Stir from the bottom of the can to the top—NOT IN A CIRCULAR MOTION.

Add a little of the liquid you poured off, and stir. Repeat until the paint is evenly mixed.

Thin paint only if you must. Be sure to thin water—base paints with water and oil—base paints with turpentine or thinner.

Using A Brush

Dip the brush down into the container to about one-third or one-half the length of its bristles.

Slap the side of the bristles gently against the inside of the can.

Then apply paint to the wall.

How To Paint

Hold the brush comfortably near the base of the handle, and exert light pressure with your fingertips.

Unload the brush with sweeping, crescent-shaped strokes in a small square area.

Then "finish—stroke" all the same direction for a uniform appearance.

ALWAYS finish—stroke IN TO the previously painted area—not out to the unpainted area.

Cutting An Edge

If woodwork and wall are to be painted, then enamel the woodwork first.

Next, apply a strip of paint around the edges of the woodwork—and apply a strip of paint where wall and ceiling meet and down wall corners.

This is called "cutting an edge."

Where To Start
 If ceilings and walls are to be painted, do the ceiling first.

Filling A Roller
 Roll the roller slowly into the well or the lower end of the tray, that is.

Roll it back and forth until the roller is well covered with paint. Then roll it back onto the ridges in the slanted upper portion of the tray—and lightly roll it back and forth to remove excess paint.

Ceilings
 In painting ceilings, use a ladder or a long-handled roller to paint. Always start in a corner and work down the width of the room.

Paint as wide a strip as possible.

Avoid spinning the roller by going to fast.

Using A Roller
 Paint a large "V" or "W" in a two or three-foot-wide area of wall.

Then roll crosswise to spread the paint evenly. Finish with light up—and-down strokes. Heavily textured areas cover more completely when a long napped or lamb-wool roller is used. Smooth or lightly textured areas should be painted with a short napped roller.

Do not move the roller too quickly because it will spray droplets of paint everywhere!

Walls
 In painting walls, start in one corner.

Complete rolling the paint on by rolling up to the strips you previously painted in corners and around woodwork (the areas we called "edge" when we discussed "cutting an edge").

Missed A Spot?
 If you missed a spot—and if you used a roller, go over the spot with very light, slow strokes.

If you used a brush, use the tip of the brush to cover the missed area.

Cleanup
 Clean brushes or rollers immediately after use.

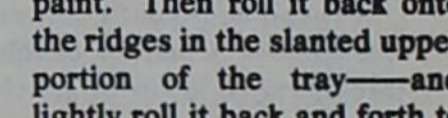

Good brushes and rollers are worth caring for.

Brushes and rollers used in oil—base paints will clean nicely with turpentine followed by detergent and water.

Clean water—base paints off brushed or rollers with detergent and warm water.

Hang brushes and rollers to dry, so bristles and nap won't be distorted.

4-H Is Aimed At Education

4-H, the youth development program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, is aimed at educating young people.

4-H can help youth between the ages of 9 and 19 develop intelligent behavior by providing them information or knowledge, a positive self-concept and an awareness of their social setting.

Without information or knowledge, a young person has no basis on which to act. But just learning a list of rules and facts will not satisfy personal or social needs. Instead, an effective youth program focuses on relevant knowledge and the development of a knowledge-getting process. When a 4-H'er identifies what 4-H project he wants to do and how he wants to do it, he is learning how to learn.

Along with information and a knowledge-getting process, a young person must feel that he or she is capable of solving a problem. When he does feel able or capable, he has developed a positive self-concept. In contrast, when a youth has a negative self-concept, or feels inadequate, he will not act even if he has the necessary knowledge to solve the problem confronting him.

In any youth program, the interaction of a young person with an adult leader and other youth allows opportunities for praise, encouragement and rewards. And this kind of feedback can strongly influence the way a youth thinks about himself.

Living in a social setting also leads to the development of intelligent behavior. A youth's behavior is motivated by his needs. For a newborn, physical needs such as food and comfort are a main concern. But the older youth, the more his behavior will be motivated by acceptance from his peers.

As a youth learns through trial and error the kind of behavior that is expected of him, he also learns the acceptable values, beliefs and goals of society.

Through individual projects, group activities and adult volunteer leadership, the 4-H program attempts to help boys and girls acquire skills that will lead to self-directed and life-long learning.

Youth interested in more information about the 4-H program should contact the county Extension office.

4-H program in Wheeler County are open to all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

If you are interested in joining a 4-H club in your community contact the Extension office at 826-5243 or Linda Daughtry, Box 505, Wheeler, Texas 79096.

DEAR FELLOW CITIZEN

I realize that as a preacher, I put myself in a position where some folks may be very critical because I speak out on the subject of politics. The old argument people use is that "you shouldn't mix politics and religion" or that "you are violating the principle of separation of church and state". But, what many fail to consider is the fact that I am as much an American citizen as anyone else in this country; therefore, I have as much right to speak out on the subject of politics as any other American. The humanistic-minded people in the media (especially on a National level) do not ever seem to recognize the fact that in advertising themselves as being open-minded to any and all differing opinions in this free country that the one group they do not want to hear from is the fundamental, born-again Christians. They want us to think that because we believe in God and give Jesus Christ first place in our lives that we seriously violate "separation of church and state" by even thinking about being involved in politics.

I realize that as a preacher though, I have a greater responsibility to God to propagate righteousness. Therefore, at the risk of being misjudged by some and criticized for my stand, I am urging you to help us preserve freedom, morals, decency, traditional families, and righteous principles by voting for conservative candidates in the coming election. I sincerely believe that if Christians don't get involved in politics that the "separation of church and state" issue that humanists try to use to dissuade us from involvement is the very thing that will be destroyed due to the fact that our lack of influence on the political process and government of the country will lead eventually to a state-controlled church like they have in Russia and Czechoslovakia and Rumania. The atheistic, humanistic-minded people in politics will not voluntarily stand out of our churches if we Christians don't stand up and get involved and keep them out. Soon, there will be no such thing as "separation of church and state" if we sit back (like we have been doing for a long time).

Now, to get a little more specific about the purpose of running this letter in the newspaper at this time. I am very much concerned about the President's kindness to homosexuals. Several meetings with homosexual leaders have taken place in the White House during this current Administration. A very committed humanist was appointed by the President to head the newly formed Department of Education which will be very influential in determining what is taught in public schools. Our President is against prayer in the public schools. He is for ERA and caters to the pro-abortion, pro-feminist groups. This bothers me to have this kind of leader believe that he needs our prayers, but not our votes.

If you aren't registered to vote, October 3rd is the last day to register for this coming election. I urge you to get registered if you aren't. Next, I urge you to vote for Ronald Reagan because he has not backed away, in spite of criticism and pressure from his stand against abortion, the ERA amendment, ever-increasing federal bureaucracy, and the Departments of Energy and Education. He is a strong supporter Israel and is committed to pro-family, pro-moral, and Pro-American principles. He speaks of America's need for spiritual revival.

Watch this newspaper during the next few weeks leading up to the election for more, important information that I will be sharing. Also, listen to KBYP radio (1580 on the dial) at 10:20 on Saturday for additional comments I will be sharing pertaining to this year's election and politics.

SHOCK PROBATION

A way of getting a person's attention. Texas Courts are using a technique to "shock" a person back onto the straight and narrow, according to a recently conducted survey by the Texas Probation Commission (TAPC).

Shock Probation a Rehabilitation technique by which a defendant is given a brief taste of prison or jail and then is placed on probation for the remainder of the sentence, was authorized by the Texas Legislature three years ago.

ADULT PROBATION

During the period August 29, 1977 to April 8, 1980 some 1,078 adults have been placed on "Shock Probation" by Texas Courts.

The concept of Shock Probation originated in Ohio in 1965 and Texas is one of seven states which now have this sentencing alternative. The Texas Statutes allow for the use of the technique in both felony and misdemeanor cases.

In the instance of a felony case, the individual is confined in the Texas Department of Corrections for a period of two to four months, then released to the supervision of the local Adult Probation Department to serve out the remainder of the sentence.

A vast majority of Adult Probation Departments surveyed rated Shock Probation as being effective in discouraging probationers from violating the conditions of their probation and from becoming repeat offenders, according to TAPC Survey results. At the time the survey was conducted nearly 80% of the persons on Shock Probation were considered successful in meeting the conditions of their probation. Whereas, only 20.5% of the Shock Probationers were evaluated as unsuccessful.

The TAPC survey report also contains a cost comparison if Imprisonment vs. Shock Probation. With the cost of maintaining a prisoner in the Texas Department of Corrections estimated at $7.50 per day and the cost of supervising a probationer estimated at $6.65 per day - the Shock Probation option is also an economical decision. The report conservatively estimates a net savings of $2,787,059 in tax dollars from the use of Shock Probation for 667 cases. In addition, the estimate does not include indirect cost savings, such as: taxes paid by the probationers, family support paid by taxpayers, and restitution to victims, payment of court costs, fines, and fees all paid by probationers.

Although Shock Probation has been in effect a short time, Jeane Roper, Probation Officer for the 31st District noted, "this is preliminary survey to assess the usage of this sentencing technique by Texas Courts. Our Agency will continue to track the use and effectiveness of Shock Probation in the future. I'm sure as we (The Criminal Justice System) become more acquainted with Shock Probation, we'll see more of the benefits which occur to the Community and the person placed on it."

Adult probationers in Texas are estimated to have paid in excess of $200 million dollars in taxes during 1979, according to a recent study by the Texas Adult Probationers in the state are estimated to have paid: $92.7 million in state and local taxes; $62.5 million in Federal Income Taxes; and $46.3 million in Social Security Taxes - all for a total of $201.5 million in taxes during 1979. The study also estimates the typical felony probationer paid a total of $1,552.29 in taxes; while a typical misdemeanor probationer paid taxes totaling $1,855.74.

The commission staff analyzed file data on nearly 6,000 probationers to arrive at approximated averages - which, in turn, were applied to the number of adults on probation in Texas. Using 1979 IRS tax schedules, a percentage for FICA/OASI, and the 1980 edition of the "U.S. Master Tax Guide" calculations were made to achieve the tax estimates.

In addition to paying taxes, Texas adult probationers often are required to make restitution to their victims ($4.4 million in '79), pay a portion of their court costs ($1.8 million in '79), and pay fines ($5.1 million in '79). In fact, probationers are also required to pay a fee of up to $15 per month to defray some of the supervision costs incurred during their probationary period.
