Politics

GOP strategists refuse to subscribe to the theory that the democrats have a mortgage on the west for 1938. Their private polls lead them to believe that the states beyond the Mississippi are a debatable battleground.

Although glad to accept AAA bounty, the wheat and corn-growers are reported to feel that a more permanent agricultural policy is needed. The legal and political attacks on the bounties and processing taxes warn them that the rest of the country won't stand for this setup forever.

In the northwest the republicans say they find a different feeling. In that country the farmers are supposed to favor inflation as against the temporary AAA program. GOP publicists therefore are spreading word that the inflationary Frazier-Lemke bill was kept from passage by White House intervention. They blame its defeat on President Roosevelt himself.

But the republicans have discovered no substitute for the Wallace-Roosevelt program. Although they don't talk about this problem publicly it's in the back of their minds as a party-splitting issue—like the liquor question in 1932.

The Springfield "grass roots" conference denounced agricultural control measures by speeches but not by resolutions. The Young Republicans meeting in Yellowstone Park called vaguely for "something just as good." The Old Guard wants to junk the whole works.

If western GOP presidential candidates balloted together the AAA would win easily. Except for Messrs. Borah and Vandenberg every prospective nominee in the senate voted for it. House possibilities—Snell, Wadsworth and Fish—lined up against it. It is popular in Illinois and Kansas, the ball-wickets of Frank Knox and Alf Landon. No wonder platform makers are stumped.

Secretary Roper is rapidly losing caste with the conservative interests while the real New Dealers chastised them. He hasn't made good any of his claims as a pal of Big Business. The president has listened to the Corcorans and Cohens instead of him.

Members of his Business Advisory Committee will demand a showdown at the first fall meeting after the summer recess. A majority have already gone on record as favoring disbandment of the agency which was designed as an arbitration committee between the White House and private industry. They have suffered a summer of joshing for their failure to function.

Roper's group may not precipitate an open break. But they will not complain if directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers deplore and denounce at their fall convocations late this month. Big Business is set to denounce the New Deal on all fronts.

Comptroller General McCarl must be slipping or submitting to the personal charm of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The president called in the hard-bolled financial watchdog when the death of the third deficiency bill killed the appropriation for setting up the Social Security board. As expected, Mr. McCarl ruled that other funds could not be allowed to pay old age or unemployment allowances. But he resorted to a legal ruse to permit the tapping of other appropriations for establishing administrative agencies.

Mr. McCarl held that members of the board and technical staff could be paid from relief money on the theory that this expenditure provided jobs for needy people. It is, perhaps, the first time in 16 years that the comptroller general has let his heart rule his head, although not the first time he has wanted to.

The New Deal's major political prophet—Emil Hurja—coffs at suggestions that President Roosevelt face a hard re-election campaign. Despite his admitted prejudice Washington listens to him respectfully because his forecasts rang true in 1932 and 1934—uncannily true.

FDR Says New Deal's Basic Program Reaches "Substantial Completion"

Gives Views In Letter To Roy Howard

Asserts Conditions At Moment Offer Widespread Recovery

HYDE PARK (AP)—President Roosevelt Friday declared the New Deal's "basic program" had reached a "substantial completion" and a "breathing spell" for industry is "here—very decidedly so."

He asserted "at the moment conditions are such as to offer substantial and widespread recovery."

He gave his views in a letter, made public Friday, to Roy Howard, publisher of Scripps-Howard newspapers, who reported fears of business men.

The president said there was "no need to undo the damage done by misinterpreters of the New Deal."

Roosevelt said he claimed no "magician's wand," but "claim we helped to restore public confidence, which offers the foundation of recovery."

He said he believed he had a "duty to clarify purposes to the honest and non-partisan critics."

594 Men Are Assigned To Fort Russell

Small Detachment Of Men Already At Marfa, Texas, For

WASHINGTON (AP)—The War Department Friday announced organization of the 7th Field Artillery and its assignment to Fort D. A. Russell at Marfa, Tex.

When reorganized Fort Russell will have 572 men and 22 officers, in addition to the small detachment which now is preparing the post for occupancy.

The following officers, now on duty with the 82nd Field Artillery, Fort Bliss, Tex., have been ordered to Fort Russell for duty Oct. 1: Maj. Melvin L. Craig; Capt. Robert A. Ellsworth; Roy H. Donaldson; Clarence J. Kanaga and Thomas M. Tiernan; First Lieut. James M. Evans, Paul A. Gavan and William R. Huber, and Second Lieut. John R. Brindley and Paul E. La Rue.

Officers now on duty with the 12th Field Artillery at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., ordered to report at Fort Russell Oct. 15 are: Lieut. Col. John G. Burr; Capt. William H. Dixon; First Lieut. Gordon W. Stewart; and Second Lieut. William J. Daniel, Joseph L. Cowhey, William Y. Frenzler and Lassiter A. Mason.

Senators Connelly and Party On Mexico Trip

LAREDO (AP)—Senator Tom Connelly and a party of friends left Laredo Friday by automobile for a trip to Monterrey and Saltillo, Mexico. They expected to spend a week or 10 days in the southern republic.

With Connelly were his son, Ben, Congressman Luther Johnson of Corsicana, Dr. N. D. Butte and his son, Neal, of Marlin.

WEST TEXAS DENTISTS IN CONVENTION HERE

Hurricane Death Toll Is Unknown

Reports Conflict As Men Enter Zone To Remove Bodies

MIAMI (AP)—Armed with muskets and gas masks, entered the hurricane-devastated Florida Keys Friday for the gruesome task of returning the dead.

The damage and death reports are conflicting.

The Red Cross estimated 256 dead, and announced 320 of 817 war veterans were missing and 144 bodies had been recovered.

One hundred thirty-two were counted in Miami morgue and funeral homes. Disposition of bodies created a real problem.

Relief Administrator Hopkins approved an initial allotment of $200,000 for relief. He said the weather bureau had not warned keys residents in time. The bureau said it had.

Gov. Sholz said there was "gross carelessness somewhere."

One hundred families on isolated fishing communities on the west coast were believed in serious straits. Food, clothing and water were low.

There was no sewerage or lights. The hurricane generated storms in the Carolinas, Virginia and Maryland before going to sea.

One person was killed and a dozen hurt in Virginia. Two were killed in North Carolina.

Possibly the only key as to the exact number of casualties of veterans lies in the battered filing cabinet wreckage in Matecumbe Hotel, containing records of three camps.

Two Days' Meeting Is Full Of Technical Discussions

Dentists of West Texas convened their twenty-sixth annual convention here Friday to hear outstanding dental authorities lead in two days of technical discussions, and clinics.

Garland A. Woodward, local attorney, delivered a brief address of welcome on behalf of the city and was followed by Dr. E. O. Ellington, who spoke for local dentists. Dr. R. A. Maddox, Abilene, responded for visiting dentists.

Dr. Joe A. Kennedy, Abilene, announced the appointment of a board of censors, and Secretary Dr. Sed A. Harris, Snyder, read last minutes before Dr. J. G. Hicks, Snyder, brought his message as president-elect. Dr. G. C. Turner, Lubbock, made appointments of a committee on the president-elect's address.

Little more than an hour later dentists swung into real business of the convention when Dr. J. M. Temple, Joplin, Mo., recognized dental specialist, began his lecture on "Periodontics."

Dr. Guy M. Gillespie, Abilene, opened the afternoon session with a paper concerning suggestions for dentists and physicians to aid in preventing irregularities in children's teeth. More than an hour later Dr. W. R. Moody, Amarillo, gave an illustrated lecture on immediate dentures and was to conduct a clinic on immediate dentures.

His was due to be the last item of business for the afternoon before the dentists participated in a golf tournament at the Country Club and a gun shoot at the Big Spring Gun Club.

Feature of the first day was to be the banquet starting 5 p. m. from the Settles hotel with W. T. Strange, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, serving as toastmaster. Dr. C. D. Baxley, Big Spring, was to award the golf prizes and Dr. C. W. Deats was to present the gun shoot awards. A dance was scheduled to follow the banquet session.

Saturday is to be taken up with professional discussions during the morning, a final business session immediately following the noon recess, and table clinics in the afternoon.

Several dentists' wives were being entertained by the wives of local dentists Friday morning.

Comparatively little of the lighter vein running through most conventions accompanied the sessions Friday since dentists took their lectures seriously.

MAN ELECTROCUTED

WACO (AP)—Kin (Buck) Willis, 32, a construction company employe, was electrocuted here Thursday afternoon when a power drill he was operating came in contact with a steel pipe. Willis was working on a job at the high school.

Rio Grande Flood Crest At Laredo

Farmers Move Livestock, Machinery; Bridges Under Repair

LAREDO (AP)—The Rio Grande was rising as the crest approached Laredo Friday and began receding at Eagle Pass after a thirty-foot stage early Friday.

Farmers moved their livestock and machinery.

Del Rio reported two highways and ten railroad bridges repaired after the flood damage.

A serious threat was seen between Presidio, Hidalgo, as Mexican and American tributaries were pouring torrents into the main stream.

EAGLE PASS (AP)—Torrents of flood water raged down the Rio Grande Friday causing dangerous rises in this section and driving lowland residents to higher ground.

Cloudbursts in New Mexico last week, and more recent downpours on the Southwest Texas and Mexican watersheds swelled the border stream and its tributaries to flood stage.

22-Foot Rise at Del Rio.

The river reached 20 feet here and on the Mexican side, overflowed recently-constructed, polo-highway bridge, 60 miles from Del Rio. Hard rains in Maverick county last night filled Las Moras river, Cow creek and other streams, motor traffic from Maverick county was disrupted.

The Pecos, large tributary of the Rio Grande, was on a 35-foot rise but the mass of flood water had not yet reached the confluence of the two streams.

Flood waters caused by the New Mexico cloudbursts inundated more than 1,000 acres in the valley below El Paso in passing downstream. Las Cruces, N. M., was partially under water.

Severe Threat.

Warning that conditions along the lower Rio Grande threatened the greatest flood in the history of the river was issued today by L. M. Lawson, international boundary commissioner at El Paso.

Jimmie Jones is visiting with his parents in Ackery for a few days.

Anxiety Lessened As Withdrawal Of Italy Not Effected

GENEVA (AP)—French delegates announced Friday France, Britain, Spain, Turkey and Poland would form a subcommittee of the league of nations council to deal with the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

Baron Aloisi, Italian delegate visited the league secretary, General Avenol to complain of Professor Jeze's speech Thursday answering the Italian indictment of Ethiopia.

The report of a walkout of Italians Thursday was not preliminary to Italian withdrawal from the league lessened anxiety.

The executive committee of the International Federation of Trades Unions adopted a resolution urging the league to apply "the whole covenant including sanctions" against an aggressor in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

It was planned to ask cooperation of the American Federation.

French officials expressed confidence that war would not spread beyond Ethiopia and the league would emerge safely.

More troops left three Italian cities Friday for Naples. For embarkation to East Africa.

ROME (AP)—The semi-official journal, Azione Coloniale, stated Friday Italy will demand exclusion of Britain from Egypt if Britain poses question of Italy being a threat to the British empire by invading Ethiopia.

By The Associated Press

GENEVA—Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy made good his threat to abstain from any international discussion to which Ethiopia is a party by walking out of the league of nations council session Thursday night.

Italy's Demands

He left when Prof. Gaston Jeze, representing Ethiopia, began a reply to the indictment of Ethiopia voiced by Aloisi yesterday. A substitute remained but withdrew almost immediately.

There followed in quick succession an Italian characterization of the Jeze remarks as "defamatory and insulting," a request that the session be suspended until Aloisi could talk by telephone to Premier Mussolini and action by President Ruiz Guinazu of Argentina adjourning the session.

Meanwhile the labor unions' steering committee of the International Federation of Trade Unions, conferring in the thick of the tense Geneva atmosphere, drew up a resolution pledging the support of organized labor to the league of nations in anything the league may do to throttle a war in Africa—even if it means sanctions and "sanctions are answered with war."

The resolution is expected to be passed by the federation's executive committee tomorrow, when an international boycott of Italian goods; labor leaders said, may be discussed.

Urges League Action

The adjournment of the council did not come, however, before Maxim Litvinoff of Russia had told the council that the league is confronted by the direct menace of military operations. Italy does not deny this, he said; Italy confirms it.

Litvinoff urged the league to act. He criticized the methods employed by Italy. He insisted military operations should be restricted to

WPA Applications Reach Almost Million Dollars

District WPA Director R. H. McNew left at 2 a. m. Friday for the state office in San Antonio with almost a million dollars in applications in hand.

McNew was rushing to get the projects into the state office before the deadline of Friday is past.

Part of the applications had been given to a district approval board only tentative approval.

Almost half the applications were for work on state highways. Second largest single item was for federal road construction and improvement.

Big Spring asked for $100,371.48 in federal funds to be supplemented by local moneys and equipment. Of this amount $21,115.46 was for five school ground improvement projects and the remaining $79,256 was for three street surfacing and one park project.

Howard county applied for $172,574.55 on six lateral road projects ranging from $17,000 to $41,000 in federal funds. An additional $3,630 was asked by the county for a visiting housekeeper project.

The highway department submitted an application for highway No. 1 improvement in the amount of $109,870, thus boosting the total applications from this county to $386,452.01.

Total federal funds asked in all types of projects handled by the district office to Friday morning was $995,016.12. Of this $474,205.39 was for state highway work.

Miscellaneous road projects from several counties aggregated $377,992.77. Miscellaneous projects ran to $14,545.50. Eight visiting housekeeper projects amounted to $25,502. Four library projects totaled

Rabbi Speaks Here

DR. ALEX WIESEL, Rabbi of Amarillo, is in Big Spring this week to conduct a campaign to raise funds for the Jewish refugees in Germany. He spoke Thursday evening to a group of interested citizens in the interest of the campaign.

$500 Quota Is To Be Raised For Refugees

Local Committee Named To Solicit Funds For Jew Refugees In Germany

Dr. Alex Wiesel, Amarillo rabbi, who is in Big Spring this week in the interest of a campaign for benefit of Jewish refugees in Germany, spoke to a group of interested citizens at Hotel Settler Thursday evening.

Following the address, which centered on the Jewish situation in Germany, Rabbi Wiesel went into details of a campaign to be waged locally to raise funds to assist in caring for the Jewish refugees in Germany.

A committee, composed of Victor Mellinger, chairman; Bernard Fisher, Rev. C. A. Bickley, Rev. R. E. Day, Shime Phillips and David Merkin, was appointed to raise a quota of $500 in Big Spring. This group will launch the campaign immediately.

The movement is sponsored in the United States by the Council of Federated Churches of Christ and other Protestant organizations, Rabbi Wiesel stated. He also said the league of nations had sanctioned this movement.

In a recent issue of B'nai B'rith, a California Jewish publication, Dr. John Haynes Holmes, famous preacher, had the following to say regarding Nazi control of Germany:

"Nazi control of Germany is absolute and unbreakable and the obsolete reign of terror has been replaced by a growing enthusiasm for the government which is overwhelming."

Asserting that the masses of Germans are "increasing with Hitler" and the importance of Hitler's leadership and the faith of the German people in that leadership cannot be exaggerated, Dr. Holmes stated that the anti-Nazi opposition is impotent.

Referring to the Jewish situation he said it is desperate and that "there is no possibility of exaggerating the black tragedy of German Jewry."

"That in the face of such a horror there can be American Jews who counsel patience, forbearance and calm is more than I can understand," he added.

GERMANY HARKS BACK TO MEDIEVAL RULE.

After Sept. 1 a defendant summoned into a German court will not be able to help his case by proving that he did not break the law. Nazi judges will be empowered to punish him anyway if, in their opinion, he has sinned against "the popular sense of what is right."

This amazing change in judicial procedure was outlined the other day by Dr. Franz Guertner, Nazi minister of justice, before a conference of German criminologists and prison directors.

"We regard as wrongful everything which is injurious to the interests of the community," said Dr. Guertner. "Wrong may exist, accordingly, in the Germany of the future, even where there is no law providing a punishment. And, beyond this, everything will be wrongful which is counter to the vital objective sought by the community."

An arrangement like this might not sound so bad, at first glance, in a country like ours, where the ability of high-powered lawyers to steer crooks through the wide-open meshes of the law is notorious.
A country that was able to punish its most conspicuous murderers only through its failure to file an income tax return, and which seems quite unable to punish some of the slickest financial jugglers at all, could easily see something pretty sensible in an arrangement whereby you can send a man off to prison on general principles, so as to speak.

Yet this new criminal code, more than anything else that has happened in Germany, emphasizes the profound difference between the social order that we are familiar with and the one which takes shape under a dictatorship.
It is a fundamental of our government that everyone knows the precise limitations on its powers.
What it can do and what it can not do are covered by an elaborate and definite code. Within this code, the citizen can do as he pleases. It provides "the framework for that individual liberty which has always seemed to us to be mankind's most precious possession."

It is not new, of course, to state that individual liberty vanishes under a dictatorship. But nothing brings that fact home quite so much as does this new criminal code. The legal framework that we are used to is gone.
The powers of the state become indefinite; and since they are indefinite, the citizen has no way of knowing exactly what is required of him. No protection for his own liberties can exist. He is at the mercy of the whims of a ruling class whose tenure he is powerless to change.

The point is that dictatorship is not simply a variation on the modern form of government. It is a throw-back to the middle ages, when the king's will was all the law there was. It represents a discarding of all of those painfully acquired safeguards which have been won through the centuries.
It is the most backward step any modern people can take.

EAGLES HAVE HEAVY EXPENSE AT CLOVIS TOURNEY

$50 GOES TO 16 PLAYERS

Ackerly Pitching Staff Fails; Lose Two Games To Roswell

Despite the fact that the Ackerly Eagles collected $200 by winning third place in the annual Clovis baseball tournament, there will be less than fifty dollars for the players, according to Miller Harris, who was one of the Ackerly recruits.

Expenses amounted to approximately one hundred and fifty dollars, Harris stated, leaving about fifty dollars to be split among sixteen players.

The Eagles lost two games in the tourney, going down before the Roswell Recorders in both encounters. The Cowboy manager blamed the Ackerly defeats on lack of pitchers. The Eagles hit freely in all games.

The tournament was played in an old fair ground where it was almost impossible to drive the ball enough for anything better than a single or double. Fielders played way back and had little difficulty in snagging the hard hit balls.

Good crowds witnessed the games.

BIG EXPERIENCED RICE SQUAD TO REPORT FOR PRACTICE TUESDAY

By UNITED PRESS
A bigger, more experienced football squad than that which began a successful drive for the Southwest conference football title a year ago will report for drills at Rice Institute next Tuesday.

Coach Jimmie Kitts hopes to produce a better team this season than in 1934, but he expects trouble from the University of Texas and Texas Christian University. He said that neither Southern Methodist, nor Texas A. & M. College should be under-rated this year.

"This is going to be the toughest year ever in the conference," he said. He showed no gloom, however, over prospects of his champions, although he predicted at least one loss for each of the seven Southwest teams.

Coach Kitts' Owls will embark upon an 11-game schedule only 11 days following the opening practice date. This contest will be with St. Mary's at San Antonio on the night of Sept. 21. Rice will meet Louisiana State in another night game at Baton Rouge, La., on Sept. 28, and then play host to D'Quezette at Houston the following week-end.

The first conference battle will be with Southern Methodist University at Dallas on Oct. 19.

McCauley and Wallace
John McCauley, senior quarterback and all-America last season, and his running mate, Bill Wallace, halfback, head the list of 21 returning letter men to begin the ambitious 1935 schedule. The squad contains 42 aspirants.

Familiar faces will be seen among the ball carriers. Halfbacks include the veterans Harry Witt, 198-pounder of Houston, and Roy Royall, 168, Houston, augmented by Wade Owen, 163, Athens; John Neece, 173, Mexia; Tom Vickers, 184, Fort Worth, sophomore, and Charles Caldwell, 170, Amarillo.

Hard-plunging Johnny Friedman, 190-pound junior of Austin, will lead the huskies at fullback. Jesse Atkins, 190, Beeville, will alternate. Kitts rates both men highly.

Coach Kitts called attention to his practice of shifting his backs to familiarize them with all positions and plays. He said he would use the same tactics this season.

"We will use Witt as an alternate man plays anywhere," he said. "Friedman and William Brandon will work at quarterback and halfback."

One Lineman Missing
Only Percy Arthur, captain last year, will be absent from the line of champions. The center position will be filled by Howard Nichols, 215, San Antonio, who has two seasons of play remaining. Alternates will be Herbert May, 200, sophomore of Houston, and Winfield Cook, 170, second-year man of Waco.

The old standbys at guard are Melbert Hale, 189, and his home town partner, Carmen Brandon, 190. They were the starters last season. Billy Ard, 180, Greenville, and Joe Morris, 183, Houston, who saw service last year, will be back.

Captain Rayburn (Bub) Mays' understudy at left tackle will be Robert Bering, 204, San Antonio. Mays weighs 190 pounds and is one of the main cogs of Kitts' championship machine. The other tackle position will be filled by John Frankie, 190-pounder of San Benito. His substitute will be big Ralph Miller, who weighs 221.

SOFTBALL MEET IS POSTPONED

Weather Forces Postponement of All-West Texas Tournament Until Next Week

SAN ANGELO (Sp.)—Unprecedented as well as unnecessary postponement of the all-West Texas softball tournament scheduled to start here Friday morning.

The championship meet has been shifted to Thursday and Friday of next week.

The entry list, also, has been opened. If there are teams that wish to compete they will be bracketed if they put in entry by 6 o'clock Saturday night.

The Cosden Oilers of Big Spring were entered.

The impressive features of Joe Louis broke into a very slight smile when he was introduced from the ring in Madison Square Garden at the Buddy Baer-Jack Doyle fight.

Mrs. S. A. McCombs took her son, Dell, to Abilene Friday to undergo a tonsillectomy.

"BUCKY" WALTERS, one of the big league pitchers, attributes his success as a pitcher to a bite on the ankle from an insect or insecta unknown. It probably was a flea that enabled him to pitch a ball with such a hop to it that the batters are baffled.

ADD TRIALS and tribulations of a sports writer: Frenchy Bordagay's wife doesn't like criticism of the Brooklyn outfielder by the scribes and she wrote one of them: "If you don't lay off my husband, I'll break a milk bottle over your head." We've been threatened with everything else, but never a milk bottle. There is, however, always a first time. Only a day or so ago a man threatened us with his lukes.

JO-JO WHITE is getting a wrinkled brow. For the life of him, he can't figure out why entertainment committees insist on serving chicken at banquets. He attended one recently. "And I was hungry," he said. "But when I saw that chicken a comin' I wish with all my body I'd went and eat some hamburgers afore I came to the banquet. Nobody can get any good out of chicken with a knife and fork. It's a two-fisted attack that makes it good."

HERE IS an interesting yarn on a member of the sports writing fraternity, related by a scribe for the Sporting News: "Bob Hooley, the editor of the Ohio State Journal, has a name that is intriguing at times. At least, Ernest Mehle of the Kansas City Star found it so when he attempted to introduce the Ohio scribe to a friend who had imbibed too freely.

"Meet Mr. Hooley," Mehle said. "Wash that?" inquired the friend.

The sports expert of the Ohio State Journal, seeking to help things along, interjected: "Hooley." "Wash that? Hooley? Shay that, will you?" "My name's Hooley," said the Columbus writer.

WHAT'S GOOD FOR THE GRIDDERS IS GOOD FOR COACH T. THORNHILL

GOLF As The Stars Play It

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—It's a man-sized job coaching a squad of husky football players says Claude Earl (Tiny) Thornhill, so the good natured mentor of Stanford university gridders turned up during late summer days with a training routine not rigorous if not pleasant nature.

The giant whose guard and tackle activities at the University of Pittsburgh earned him all-American recognition from the late Walter Camp in 1916, found himself down to a mere 138 pounds after chopping up cords of wood, massaging a few acres of land with a pick and painting all the barns and fences in sight of his Palo Alto home.

"It's hard work is good for the players it ought to be good for the coach," says the man whose teams have won the Pacific Coast conference championship the last two years.

Favored to win its third coast title, Stanford will put a team manned almost entirely by veterans on the field this fall. Coach Thornhill does not share the popular belief his team will breeze in though.

"We are due for some mighty tough seasons this season," he predicts. "All of the others will be aiming at Stanford. It is the same old story—knock off the top team and be 'made' for the year. But we will be in there leveling from the start. And the first team that beats us will get me so riled up I'll chop my whole woodpile into kindling."

Dudley's long drive put him within mashes distance of the green. Burke, a weaker hitter off the tee, used No. 4 iron on his second and the ball rolled just over the green and on the bank of a trap. Dudley used a No. 5 iron, putting the pellet on the green 80 feet from the cup. Burke chipped and was left with an eight-footer.

Dudley's put never left the line and hit the cup squarely in the center for a birdie three.

When putting Dudley uses the reverse overlapping grip. The four fingers of the left hand grip the club, with the index finger of the left hand overlapping the little finger of the right. This is the reverse of the grip that Dudley generally uses in shots off the tee and through the fairway.

Dudley probably is better known for his iron play than his putting. In iron play he aims to keep the left arm straight throughout the swing. He takes the club back slowly and starts it down in the same manner, guiding the club with the left hand until it is in position to hit the ball. Then he brings the right hand into use, whipping the clubhead down on the ball and into the turf.

Down The Fairways

Eddie Morgan, Big Springs new Country Club golf champion, surprised the gallery in his final match with Southworth by his accurate putting on the tricky grass greens. Morgan was not as used to the grass as Southworth, but did remarkably well.

Eddie responded to a plea of young brother Frank that he "get up-and get gone on the afternoon round." Eddie was only 1 up at the end of the morning round, and the outlook was not so good, but Frank's little pep talk must have done some good because Ed galloped away with the first five holes on the final stretch.

Frank is a fair golfer and may be expected to make a niche for himself in West Texas' hall of golf fame before long.

Lee Hubby, Obie Bristow and Charley Akey are ready to challenge any trio of golfers anywhere. They say it's a perfect combination—with Bristow driving, Akey approaching and Hubby putting.

"Why Bobbie, what did you Do to that blouse?"

YES, Bobbie's clothes are pretty much hors de combat, So are Elinor's. But remember, Mother, it's been a strenuous summer. And, anyhow, you wouldn't exchange those coats of healthful tan they're wearing for many times the cost of the clothes they've romped into tatters.

Furthermore, replenishing the children's wardrobe is not such a purse-wrecking task. In fact, even in the price-climbing times youngsters can be outfitted at surprisingly small cost—IF you watch the advertisements.

Frocks, suits, coats, knickers, hats, shoes, stockings, blouses, jackets, underwear—don't buy them blindly. Makers and merchants are constantly putting their best values forward. The place to find them is right here in this newspaper. . . . And the time to buy is right now—in September.

Read the advertisements as carefully as you do the regular news and editorial columns. They, too, are "news" . . . news directly addressed to you—in the interest of your family and your pocketbook.

SOUTHERN TEAMS VIEW LATERAL PASS AS THE BEST PLAY

GRIDIRON GLEANINGS

Only Two 1934 Regulars Will Report To Coach Jock Sutherland

By HENRY SUPER
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Early-season punts and passes:

Pittsburgh gets the championship for laying down the first 1935 gridiron roster. Only two 1934 regulars will report to Jock Sutherland. Bob LaRue, halfback, and Vern Paxter, end. Princeton is erecting temporary stands at Palmer stadium boosting the seating capacity from 52,000 to 60,000. West coast agents report California will be the "mystery team" out there with a new coach and a squad of youngsters promising some fireworks.

Southern coaches believe the lateral pass is going to be THE offensive weapon down there this season. Columbia will open practice with practically an all-sophomore squad.

Coach Gar Davidson of Army won't designate his assistants as line coach, end coach, etc. they are all going to be assistant coaches. "We will continue to hold group drills on fundamentals," he says, "with the coaches having about the same duties as last year. We are going to work the staff more as a unit than as three or four separate coaching organizations."

Knox Seeks Pushover.

Jack MacDonald, former New York university star, will coach the Stapleton, Staten Island, N. Y., pro team this year. Pete Reynolds, coach of Knox College, is looking for a team which Old Siwash can beat on opening day in order to end its losing streak. Art Kahler, former assistant to Tuss McLaughry at Brown, will head Dickinson College this year. Stanley (Toots) Kasper, St. Mary's star of eight years ago, is

TIRE BURSTS AS BLUEBIRD SETS NEW LAND SPEED

Above left is shown Sir Malcolm Campbell, the daring little Britisher, after his speed run on Utah's salt flats past his cherished goal of 300 miles per hour. His two runs over the measured mile averaged 301.33. He averted a crash at a terrific speed when the left front tire of the Bluebird burst. now a lieutenant in the navy flying corps at San Francisco. John (Red) Welch, backfield star, and Jerry Buckley, tackle, will share the post. Duke More Optimistic Wallace Wade down at Duke thinks his team this year will be a little better balanced than the 1934 team which was weak defensively. Amos Alonzo Stagg, Jr., is coaching Susquehanna this year. Reports from the West Coast have it that Fresno State College is going to be a factor this season. The little school down in the San Joaquin Valley plays Santa Clara and there might be an upset. Coast fans still remember what Nevada did to St. Mary's last year, and are ready for the worst. Andy Kerr of Colgate gets the year's first crying towel honors. Reports from the West Coast include Iowa, Holy Cross, Tulane, and Brown, Andy said. "It's a tough assignment—meeting these teams."

Colorado Calls Off Scrimmage

Scheduled scrimmage here this afternoon between the Steers and Class B Colorado Wolves was called off late Thursday afternoon by Colorado school officials.

The Coloradoans did not give a reason for calling off the engagement but it was presumed the Wolves had not been out long enough to condition themselves for a tough scrimmage. Steer coaches said the boys would continue practice with a scrimmage among themselves.

Faurot Brothers Are On The Spot In New Grid Job

KIRKSVILLE, Mo. (UP)—When punts and passes start boring through the autumn air two of the most difficult coaching tasks in the midwest will occupy the Faurot brothers.

Donald B. Faurot left a few modern colleges at a school where he transferred from Northeast Missouri State Teachers college here to become head football coach at his alma mater, the University of Missouri, and he also left his brother Fred in a rather tough spot.

Fred succeeds Don at the northeast Missouri school, and he probably is doing considerable talking in his sleep as he contemplates the task of running that 26-game string to a new all-time victory record of 30 straight games. The record of 29 consecutive victories was completed by the University of Michigan in 1903.

Don's job as Missouri is no bed of roses. He is stepping into the shoes of a school where for the last three years points meant only something that the other team scored. He succeeds Frank Carideo, whose stay there was marked by a most disheartening string of defeats. It will be Don's task to get the Tigers to do an about-face and regain their former high rating.

Coincidental with Fred's attempt to break the victory record set by Michigan is the fact his father, F. W. Faurot, obtained his gridiron experience under Fielding H. Yost, whose Michigan teams set the mark of 29 straight.

Hugo Black Has Home Town Folks Looking His Way

By SIGRID ARNE
WASHINGTON (UP)—In Ashland, Ala., some elderly attorneys are exchanging a grin "I told you so" about the little shining-faced Hugo Black they knew years ago as a persistent but amusing little pest.

Summer vacations found him constantly under heel at the red brick court house. He was one of nine orphans living with aunts and uncles. He sat in the courthouse absorbed as cases were tried. He cornered attorneys to ask "What next?" He hero-worshipped. He dug through law books instead of playing baseball.

Now crowds wait in the senate office building to hear Senator Hugo Black, democrat of Alabama, direct the questions which are piecing together a picture of the jigsaw puzzle of lobbying in Washington. Black is chairman of the senate's lobby investigation. Smiles Innocently

He looks much like the shining-faced boy who tagged the lawyers he admired, although he is 49 years old now. He still is persistent, and—judging from the squirming of some witnesses before him—still something of a pest.

He smiles innocently as he brings out a witness the large salary he is paid for representing a utility company here. He chews an unlighted cigar as he talks. His eyes sparkle and the more difficult a witness becomes the more Black seems to enjoy it.

When a witness becomes addicted to the answer, "I don't remember," Black reads away, "Who did you say was in the dinner party?" "What did you talk about?" "Well, what did 'A' say to 'B'?" "Now this dinner was only 24 hours ago. Can't you remember what happened?" "Let me see, what did you say your salary is?"

Questions Large Salaries
Black's questions stay persistently after the matter of large salaries and bonuses. He has been against them for years. When the first RFC act was passed he proposed an amendment attempting to limit salaries in companies borrowing from the government to $17,500. The amendment failed. Since then he has raised the ante to $50,000, and then to $100,000. But still without success.

He was a fighting friend to TVA. He championed the 30-hour week. He can't see "anything glamorous in war" although he was a captain in field artillery. "All we ever need to stop abuses," he says, "is an informed public."

Final Rites Held For Arch Thomas

Attendance At Baptist Revival Is Increasing

The attendance upon the revival in progress at the First Baptist church is increasing with every service.

The messages of Dr. C. Roy Angell, visiting pastor-evangelist from First Baptist Church, San Antonio, are being presented in the most forceful manner.

Dr. Angell's subject for this evening will be "A Full Priced Religion." The subject for Saturday evening will be "Behold the Man." There will be service at the usual 8 o'clock hour Saturday morning.

At the Sunday School hour Sunday morning Dr. Angell will speak to the Young People's department. This will be a most important message. Sunday evening he will

Empire Air Links Seen By Britain's Director Of Posts

LONDON (AP)—Clearer and speedier air mail links within the empire are seen by Sir Frederic Williamson, director of postal services following a 29,000-mile trip to India, Australia, New Zealand, Canada and the United States.

Clearly impressed by the rapid strides taken in aviation in the dominions and the popularity of air mail contacts with England, Sir Frederic returned full of optimism about inauguration of almost daily service with India within two years, and tri-weekly to bi-weekly service to even the farthest of the dominions.

Dominions Like Scheme
"Everywhere I found the greatest enthusiasm for the scheme," he reported. "When it is fully working it will mean revolutionary changes. There has been nothing like it in the history of postal communications."

Sir Frederic said the plans included bi-weekly service to Australia, with a link to New Zealand, tri-weekly service to the Straits Settlements, four or five times weekly service to India, and tri-weekly service to Kenya, with two planes regularly going on to Cape Town.

Dodges Atlantic Question
"We expect," he continued, "to do the Australia journey in seven days. We already are pressing forward with plans for improving landing fields on the India, Australia and African routes."

Williamson shied at detailed discussion of improving air service with Canada, inasmuch as the question of transatlantic air routes still is under discussion.

MORNING STAR

— BY MARIAN SIMS —

Chapter Three
NEW LIFE

It ended by Emily's producing linen and making the bed, while Judith unpacked frothy underwear and talked incessantly.

"I'm a lucky brute to draw a roommate like you," she said, throwing garments carelessly into a drawer. "I can see that you're the mothering kind."

Emily laughed. "Just the opposite. I've been thoroughly mothered all my life."

Judith grinned implacably. "Then that's where you learned the trick so well. Perhaps you'll be an ex-

She wore for one week a large placard on her back, bearing her full name. She participated in the Freshman-Sophomore stunt, which culminated in a truce and the ceremony of burying the hatchet.

After that she settled down to the routine of college, swiftly passing days of study, nights of soft beauty on the campus, when the moon silvered the roofs and etched the tower of Main in dark grace against the sky.

She made friends; not with the easy catholicity of Judith, but quietly and surely. She made the class tennis team, and found herself appointed to various minor offices delegated to freshmen. There was apparently a great deal more to college than books, and because she had promised Frances to do her best she took it all as it came.

Under Judith's expert tutelage she even learned to laugh, heartily and often, and was amazed to discover how unimportant her troubles seemed so long as she dared to laugh at them.

She went home for week-ends twice a month, and on the last trip before Christmas took Judith with her. Jeffrey was entranced, but Frances thought her rather dangerously attractive and wondered if she wasn't a demoralizing influence for Emily.

Edwin eyed her with distrust, as one of the major planets entirely outside his orbit, and confided privately to Emily that he thought her frivolous.

Emily agreed promptly. "She is. But what a bore it would be if everyone did his duty and took life so seriously."

"Not half as boring as if everybody took life as she does," Emily looked thoughtful. "I'm not so sure. Anyhow, I wish I were built that way."

"I don't," Edwin told her firmly and significantly. "I like you much better as you are."

When the Easter holidays arrived Judith extended her own invitation. "Why can't you come home with me and see the Carroll menagerie?"

Emily glowed. "I'd love it, but I'm not sure how Mother would feel about my not coming home."

Judith's assurance was boundless. "I don't believe she'll refuse ample for me; I might even become reconciled to Ardmore."

"You didn't want to come here?"

"Not much. It's the penalty for having the family intelligence. But I didn't mind enough to make an issue of it," she added.

As she fell asleep that night Emily wondered what would have happened if she had "made an issue of it." The possibility of such a course had never occurred to her.

David, Emily had learned before this, was Judith's brother. He was twenty-two, just out of Tulane, and the ball-and-end-all of Judith's existence. His picture adorned her desk: a figure that was gay and careless and smiling, that wore dilapidated riding breeches and a shirt thrown open at the throat.

There was a horse in the picture, and a shining Irish setter at his feet. The thought of meeting David left Emily a little shaken and breathless.

"I'm scared to death!" she admitted.

"Rats!" Judith cast a critical eye at a dinner-sock of autumn-leaf chiffon in a nearby case. "The secret lies in looking sweet and not being shocked at anything they say or do."

A large order, Emily feared, for where all the women are large and raw-boned and either horsey or doggy. David will have a cerebral hemorrhage.

WHERE STEAMER DIXIE GROUNDED

This map shows the location of Carysfort reef, 50 miles south of Miami, Fla., where the steamer Dixie, bound from New Orleans for New York with 369 persons on board, ran aground. High seas lashed by a tropical storm balked efforts of other craft to aid the Dixie. (Associated Press) met them in Montgomery and drove them the fifteen miles to Carrollton. It was one of the few real plantations left in Alabama, Emily had learned, and there were miles and miles of it devoted to cotton and corn, horses, dogs, and quail. Mr. Carroll played the cotton market when the hunting season wasn't on, with varying success.

"We have our fat years and our lean ones," Judith had explained carelessly, "and this is one of the fat ones. Next year we'll probably be selling the cars and jewelry to pay the taxes."

"Why not save something on the fat years?" Emily wanted to know. "Because if we did that, we'd never have any fun. As it is, we really enjoy life about half of the time."

She had, never before encountered such pure hedonism as went to make up Judith's creed. Her reaction was compounded of fascination and repulsion.

The car swept into a driveway, and Emily caught her breath at the beauty of it. There were houses, she realized suddenly, that repelled your advances; and there were houses that held out their arms and said, "Come in, come in!"

Judith's house held out its arms. (Copyright, 1935, by Marian Sims) Emily is introduced to the Carroll "bedlam" tomorrow.

NEW NASH "400" REVOLUTIONARY IN DESIGN

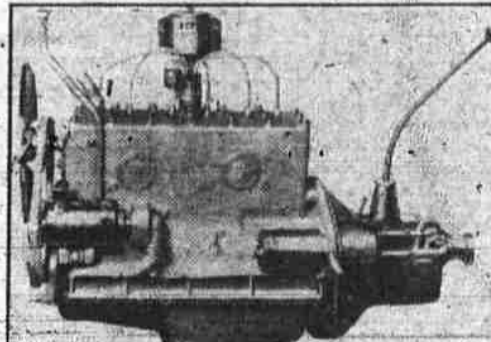

The touring sedan with trunk, shown above, promises to be one of the most popular of the six models offered in the new Nash "400," an addition to the company's present line of cars. Wheel-basis 117 inches and the Aeroform bodies, of all steel construction with seamless steel top, are built for six passenger comfort.

Practical, as well as convenient, is the "service down" concealed under the hinged radiator ornament, which provides easy access to water and oil filler caps. With the oil gauge mounted on the dash, hood-lifting by service station attendants is no longer necessary.

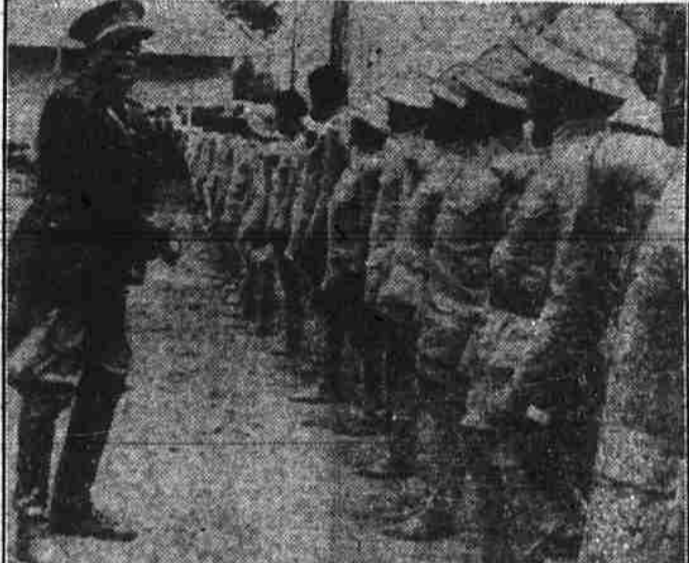

From the front the "400" presents a striking view of aerodynamic efficiency. Hood and radiator are mounted as a unit, the grille bars blending without a break into the speed lines on the hood. Massive fenders and large headlamps of tear-drop design complete the ensemble. Concealed spare tire, on all models, also contributes to the car's effective streamlined design.

The new 90 h.p. Nash "400" introduces the industry's first "Monitor Sealed Motor." Intake, exhaust, and oil manifolds are sealed in the block, eliminating hundreds of previously necessary parts. Greater power with increased economy, uniform operating efficiency regardless of outside temperature and simplified service are advantages claimed for the design.

"Rizpah" Subject Of Sermon At First Baptist Church Thursday Evening

Dr. Angell took the old testament story of Rizpah as his theme in the revival at the First Baptist church last night. Tennyson has already immortalized this story in one of his poems. David gave seven sons of Saul to the Gibeonites as compensation for the mistreatment of their country by his predecessor. They were crucified and their bodies left for the beasts, and the birds to tear down from the crosses.

Two of these boys were sons of Rizpah. For four months she stayed on the hill with the decaying bodies and "drove off the beasts by night" and "birds by day." The bodies were finally taken down at David's command and buried.

The evangelist emphasized three things: (1) How the sins of the father oftentimes wrecked, ruined, and killed a son; (2) How deadly revenge is, how it breaks up homes and churches and spoils happiness; (3) A mother's love is the best replica of the Father's love.

Many people have accepted the invitation of the evangelist in the last two nights.

Tonight Dr. Angell will preach on "Full-price Religion." The services will continue through next week, also, there will be services Saturday morning and evening. A hearty welcome awaits every one.

Old Soaks Blossom As Cold Snap Gives Excuse For Spirits

After several weeks of apparent retirement, old soaks have blossomed into full bloom during the first five days of September, a check of city and county records showed Friday.

For the first five days of the month, 32 persons have been jailed by city police, 31 of them charged with drunkenness.

The county, representing the sheriff and constable, have picked up seven in that length of time.

Prior to the turn of the month, comparatively few arrests had been made for drunkenness.

Officers took the influx to be a sample of what may be expected when cold weather and cotton picking season arrive. One officer expressed the opinion that during hot weather drinkers had stuck to beer, but the recent cold snap had furnished an occasion to use hard liquor more liberally.

... WE SHALL look at our houses, to see if they had better be repainted or reroofed before the rigors of winter set in. . . . We shall figure the needs of the coal bin (or perhaps decide to install that oil burner we've long wanted) . . . We shall take stock of the living-room, bedrooms, bathroom, kitchen and clothes closets, to find out what replacements are needed.

And if we are as foresighted as we ought to be, we will buy now for future as well as immediate needs. For September is the month of advantageous buying; of inviting close-outs and attractive pre-season sales. Knowing where to find exactly what we want is certainly knowing how to save money. Look on the pages of this newspaper — in the advertisements. There is no better or easier way.

Remember: Money saved through judicious buying is money earned—and as real as that gained from any wage increase. Read the advertisements.

have about a plan for a plane-ship liaison service with the use of the relay boats Westfalen and Schauenband.

Carries 70 Passengers.

The Lieutenant Paris, which was completed last November by the Latécoere factory near Toulouse, finished its test flights with a hop from Biarritz to Cherbourg and back a few weeks ago, and it is now ready for a long flight. It is generally believed here that the machine, whose six motors generate 3,580 horsepower and which is capable of carrying 70 passengers, can break many records, possibly the long-distance straight-line flight record.

Built originally for the Franco-South American service, the Lieutenant Paris is the first of three planes of this type. There has been discussion of its being sent soon on a non-stop flight either to South America or to the Antilles, carrying passengers, but many consider the plane's most urgent job to be a flight to the United States.

Technical Survey Scheduled.

Little was done during the summer toward inauguration of a north-Atlantic air line. Preliminary study previously had been undertaken by the French Air Ministry of possible routes, and it was indicated that the route via the Azores was considered the best and safest for a regular service. Accordingly, the ministry decided to send a French technical mission to the island for study of necessary building on the ground, with the permission of the Portuguese government, but this mission has not yet departed.

It was understood that this study of the Azores route was to have been done with the idea that eventually the United States, Britain and France would co-operate in establishing an air line. Now, apparently, some aviation authorities feel that there is no assurance those nations will co-operate and that France should do something decisive on its own, such as promoting a commercial flight by the Lieutenant Paris. Later the technical mission can go to the Azores in any event.

report that injunction proceedings against proposed PWA projects have increased twofold overnight. Many have been inaugurated by private utility companies against federal financing of competing public plants. Others have been started by taxpayers who plead the increases in local taxes which may result. The idea behind these legal moves is to stall off negotiation of contracts until local communities cannot benefit from New Deal grants.

Mr. Ickes has not abandoned hope of changing the presidential mind. But Mr. Roosevelt wants to put the unemployed back to work before snow falls and he sees little chance of that in the slow, long-time Ickes program. There is no sense in clearing slums, the White House feels, unless you can give work to the dwellers in the dark and dingy places.

Boeing, Douglas and Curtiss are all working along these lines. There are no new engineering problems involved—but designs must be worked out in detail and operating efficiency exhaustively tested. Such planes will be in regular service by 1938.

There won't be much increase in air speed—50 m. per hour is planned now—but transcontinental schedules will be shortened by fewer stops (because of greater fuel capacity) and greater efficiency in taking off and landing. An added feature will be a revision of design to permit level landings—more comfortable for passengers and safer.

70-Passenger Flying Boat May Hop To U. S. To Fix Priority

By HAROLD ETLINGER United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP)—The suggestion is being put forward in aviation circles here that the French send their huge flying boat, the Lieutenant Paris, pride of the commercial air fleet, on a flight over the North Atlantic with passengers in the immediate future.

The purpose of the flight would be to establish France's position in the north Atlantic field before Americans, with their own large passenger and transport planes, or by Germans. The latter already

Mr. Hurja backs up his opinions with private bets for dinners and hats. He has wagered that Mr. Roosevelt will carry any state which has advanced a favorite son for the GOP presidential nomination. He has also bet that the president will sweep Louisiana, even against the Kingfish. If he is right, the democrat will win New York, New Jersey, Michigan, Iowa, Kansas, Oregon, Illinois, Idaho. All these commonwealths have produced republican hopefuls.

Mr. Hurja offers no complicated reasons for his conclusions. He has not begun to make samples of political sentiment. He simply says: "The people are for Roosevelt." He also knows—but won't tell—what democratic field agents have been doing to insure victory.

Longer?

Establishment of a deadline for PWA applications and contracts has had an effect not intended by the White House. Secretary Ickes is using the argument to obtain an extension of the deadline date and exceptions to its application. Interior department field forces that he will yell for the termination of emergency expenditures.

Patted—

A number of big business leaders have quietly developed a more responsive attitude towards labor's aims and problems in recent months. Not that they have suddenly gone altruist—it's just a case of realizing that the dollars-and-cents motive makes it worth while to keep labor disturbances at a minimum while recovery is taking root. You hear a lot of talk in high conservative quarters about stabilizing employment and labor conditions—a topic which most executives would have dismissed with a shrug even a few months ago.

One motive behind plant renovation activities is to keep the workers better satisfied. In the motor industry, for instance, installation of certain new machinery will eliminate bottlenecks of production and help to smooth out the employment curve over the year. Other industries are using their own men for modernization work during slack periods when they would otherwise be laid off. This altered attitude doesn't mean at all that capital is becoming so labor-minded as to abolish future friction. It does mean that big business would much prefer to postpone labor showdowns until its profit position is more securely entrenched.

Sid by side with this development is the growing realization among business chiefs that the Federation of Labor is their staunchest bulwark against the dangerous growth of radicalism among workers. So word has been passed that the Federation should be patted on the back whenever this can be done without weakening industry's position for future controversies.

Angling—

The textile industry is confronted by a burning problem which is keeping its executives awake nights. It isn't—as you might think—the possibility of another strike nor the wage differential between northern and southern mills nor even the menace of Japanese competition. It's the question of money left in the AAA in declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

Processors and distributors both want that dough and are angling feverishly for contracts which would assure their getting it in case. But everybody is so cagey about it that nobody is making much progress.

The leading air transport companies are all planning a new type of plane. They have four-motor 40-passenger ships in mind. The outstanding manufacturers—Sikorsky,

Demand—

The machine tool industry is a sensitive business barometer. Last year machine tool orders were only about 50% of the 1926 average—but since this spring they have climbed rapidly to about 130%.

There will be a Machine Tool Builders' exhibit this month for the first time in six years. 85% of metal work machinery is now more than ten years old and requires replacement. Also there have been tremendous improvements in labor-saving devices and precision which should keep demand at a high level for some time. This will help reemployment—as there is a shortage of skilled mechanics in the machine-tool trade.

Help—

Further light on the shrinkage of New York City: The Transit Commission recently published figures showing a loss of passengers on all transport lines of 11.9 per cent from 1930 to 1934. Observers remark that if this sort of thing keeps up New York will be a deserted village in 50 years. Of course it won't continue at that pace—but the drop is big enough to be highly significant.

Last year's loss was very small—but that was largely because it was a convention-year. Comment runs that conventioners may boost subway revenues some—but they aren't a bit of help at paying taxes. (Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

New York conservatives are planning to feature the improvement in the steel industry as proof that government spending is a futile burden on the taxpayer. They will claim—and will offer statistics in support—that steel has made its comeback without assistance from the work relief fund. The argument will be that if steel can do it, so can other industries—so what's the sense in squandering federal funds when recovery and reemployment are on the way regardless?

It sounds like beautiful logic—but impartial critics point out a couple of flaws. They remark that the striking increase in building construction—which the steel makers are especially happy about—traces definitely though indirectly to the stimulus of federal encouragement. Without it home-building would still be scraping bottom. Farmers are buying more agricultural machinery—and Uncle Sam's benefit payments have a lot to do with that. The railroads buy steel equipment only when the government loans them money to do so.

So comment runs that all in all the steel boys are a trifle ungrateful when they assert that New Deal outlays haven't helped them. But the main point is that steel's alleged independence of government assistance in any form will be ballyhooed as the first salvo of a powerfully backed national campaign to make the public budget-conscious and to prod the average taxpayer into a state of indignation about "costly and futile experiments" so
