New Club To Get Charter Here Tonight

Big Delegations Are Due From Lubbock And San Angelo

Large delegations from the Lubbock and San Angelo chapters of the American Business clubs are expected here this evening for the charter dinner of the newly organized Big Spring unit, W. D. Carnett, president, said Monday.

Carnett visited the Lubbock club Friday and reported that a special bus has been chartered by members of that chapter to bring 25 men and women here for the installation ceremonies. San Angelo is expected to send 20 members.

From Amarillo will come a small group headed by Roy Burke, national second vice-president, and Ernest O. Northcutt, district lieutenant-governor.

Charles A. Frost, member of the local chapter board of directors, will serve as toastmaster for the dinner which will be held from the Settles ballroom beginning at 8 p. m.

Carnett will welcome guests and pledge cooperation of the new club with other civic clubs in all projects for community improvements. Greetings to the new A.B.C. will be extended by Marvin K. House, president of Rotary; Garland Woodward, president-elect of Kiwanis; Joe Pickle, president of Lions; E. V. Spence, city manager; and W. T. Strange, chamber of commerce manager.

Ernest Northcutt, Amarillo, will pledge the new members and install the elected officers. Herman J. Smith, Ponca City, Oklahoma, district governor, will present the charter and bring the principal address of the evening. P. E. Neumann, field representative for A. B. C., will also be present for the charter dinner.

It is estimated that fifty men will be stationed in the camp which will remain here until April 1, 1936 if that much time is required to complete the project.

Nazis Strike Severe Blow At Churches

Protestant Synod Stripped Of Authority In New Move

BERLIN, Dec. 2. (AP)—Hans Kerrl, head of the national department of church affairs, today dealt a deadly blow to the Protestant Confessional synod by depriving it of all authoritative and administrative rights. Nazi church officials were given full authority.

Rev. Martin Niemöller said the synod was being placed in "absolute subjugation by the state."

Non-Nazi theologians viewed apprehensively today the declaration of a Hitlerite student leader that the Christian, Marxist and Nazi philosophies are involved in a death struggle.

The statement was contained in a report by a young university student of theology, in a convention at Darmstadt attended by members of the National Socialist Student League and addressed by a district school official named Schinte.

The speaker was quoted as saying that Reichsführer Hitler supports the neo-paganistic ideas of Alfred Rosenberg, that the student league this winter will be Rosenberg's "shock troops," and that Christianity must be fought "as an error that is destructive to society."

Certain church circles regarded these assertions—purportedly made with Hitler's knowledge—as conflicting with assurances of peace in a long-standing religious battle, of Hitlerite desires for a positive Christianity, and of Nazi efforts to recognize established creeds while working for a state church.

Blankenship Given Office

Big Spring delegates returning from the annual convention of the Texas State Teachers association Monday brought word of an honor paid by the group to W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of the Big Spring schools.

Blankenship was elected to the executive committee from district 19, a territory that corresponds with this state senatorial district. Nominated from the floor, he was elected by acclamation.

The local superintendent will take the committee post on Jan. 1, to serve for three years. He will succeed V. Z. Rogers of Lamesa.

Blankenship formerly represented the district on the executive committee, from 1930 to 1932. When a redistricting of the state duplicated a part of his territory with that represented by Rogers, the Big Spring man resigned to permit Rogers to serve another term.

A large number of Big Spring teachers attended the convention at San Antonio last week.

City Asks Permit For Police Radio

Application for a construction permit for a 50-watt telephone radio transmitter was mailed to the federal communications commission Saturday by the city of Big Spring.

The station would operate on an assigned frequency of 2,458 kilocycles and would be used exclusively for police work.

Unusual procedure of the commission requires that a construction permit first be granted, the station installed and then application made for operation of the plant.

Big Spring city commissioners previously had authorized preparations for installing a police short wave radio system with the view of cooperating with the state safety commission network and with the aim of making more efficient the operations of local police.

Business In Italy Is Hit By Sanctions

Women Aid II Duce In Furthering Program Of Resistance

(By the Associated Press)

The British cabinet today debated the problem of tightening sanctions against Italy as peace talk languished. England turned attention to the oil embargo as a measure to force Italy into submission.

Nine hundred mothers, widows of the war dead, "mobilized" by Mussolini, took the Italian program of resistance to sanctions to the nation's communities, bearing slogans reading "Resist."

Italian business leaders said trade was slackening and that problems of labor and business credit were developing as a result of the league of nations sanctions.

Ethiopia today informed the league that all Ethiopian troops were leaving Harar, an important eastern city. It was said the point would be used in the future as a center for care of the wounded and for civilians.

An Italian communique reported that a skirmish in the Tembien region resulted in fifteen Ethiopians and six Italians being killed.

Reports of plans for an Ethiopian offensive were circulated about Addis Ababa. It was reported that Emperor Haile Selassie, in Dessay, was believed to be preparing to go north to meet two lieutenants, Ras Seyoum and Ras Kassa, whose combined forces of 400,000 would attack the Italian forces entrenched along the Makale-Antalo line, possibly tomorrow.

Canada today disclaimed initiative for the proposed extension of sanctions, saying that such an impression was a "misunderstanding."

Pierre Laval, the peacemaker, met a "blank wall" in his efforts to wean from Benito Mussolini a gesture of peace before Dec. 12, said Paris diplomats.

The French premier sought such a gesture in the next twelve days—before the league of nations sanctions committee meets to discuss and perhaps to apply, a sweeping oil embargo against the fascist kingdom.

But instead, said the Paris sources, Il Duce repeated his warning that Italy would look upon oil sanctions as an "unfriendly act" and even threatened to send back to Libya the division of troops he recently called home.

Libya adjoins Egypt; the troops have worried Great Britain in no small degree.

Tax Figures Show A Gain

Collections In November Reported Best In Several Years

Best collections of taxes in several years were reported Monday morning by three local tax collecting agencies after checking week end receipts which were boosted materially by first half taxes under the split payment plan.

County and state collections headed the list with a total of $51,063 current and delinquent taxes for November. Of this amount, $5,342 was delinquent.

Current collections for the month were $10,326 more than for November of 1934. Current collections for the first two months of the tax paying season are $12,267 ahead of the same period last year.

Big Spring independent school district, by collecting $8,311 during November of which $6,045 was current, ran its season total to $37,645, $33,338 of which is current.

City of Big Spring reported a $7,633 collection of current taxes in November besides $2,380 delinquents. The first two months of paying on the current roll has brought $13,015 into the city tills.

Should the biggest tax paying period around January 31, hold the same proportional advantage as earlier payments, county, city and schools, already in sound financial condition, will find their fiscal status greatly enhanced.

Around And About

The Sports Circuit

By Tom Beasley

IT IS interesting to note that the sixteen district schoolboy championship teams scored a total of 3,543 points during the season. Only 181 points were chalked up against the sixteen teams during the season.

COURTNEY DAVIES furnishes one of the best laughs of the season. A hot football fan, it seems that Davies had made preparations for some time to ride the special train to Sweetwater to see the Steers gore the Mustangs. He rushed down to the station Thursday morning, bought a ticket, climbed on the train, and started reading a newspaper he had taken along. Before he realized it the train was almost in Stanton. HE WAS ON THE WRONG TRAIN AND GOING THE WRONG WAY. They tell me Courtney caught a ride from Stanton to Sweetwater in time to see the game.

GEORGE GENTRY, back from San Antonio where he wrangled with San Angelo school officials and others over the district championship, said he was sure the committee of three disinterested men flipped a coin to settle the matter. "It didn't take much brains to figure that out," Gentry said. The jury was composed of T. Guy Rogers, principal of Thomas Jefferson high school (San Antonio); Henry Foster, superintendent of Lonestar school; R. H. Williams, principal of John Reagan high school (Houston).

BOTH GENTRY and Kenley promised not to question the committee on the manner in which they reached their decision. If they DID flip a coin, as suspected, it was a poor way of reaching a decision. If those men didn't have the nerve to settle it on the team records, they didn't have any business serving on the committee.

SUPT. W. C. Blankenship, who was also in attendance at San Antonio, said they had difficulty in locating anybody who would agree to serve on the committee. They all shied away, not wishing to take any part in the argument. A large majority of the teachers expressed the opinion that Big Spring should have the title, but none wished to take part in giving it to the Steers.

SAN ANGELO note: "By the way, there is a movement afoot either to get Big Spring placed in another district or have San Angelo bracketed in another district in an effort to sidetrack these court room fracas and bull-necked wrangling by George Gentry, the Big Spring high school principal. The San Angelo public and the San Angelo school board would rather have San Angelo high school football team play the game on the football field—and settle the issue each week-end there and then."

IF SAN ANGELO would rather see it out on the field instead of in the court room, then WHY didn't they agree to another game when league rules would permit them to play. They knew they'd take a licking.

AND AS for the movement to get Big Spring out of this district, local authorities have already started the gears clicking to oust San Angelo. Big Spring doesn't want to be associated with such a lousy bunch.

H. D. GREEN of Abilene, one of the fellows who ran-rod-ded the 18-year rule, has changed his mind. Gentry reported that Green made a long-winded speech at San Antonio the other day for a 19-year rule. Gentry said it was one of the hottest meetings he had ever attended and that representatives were about 6-to-1 in favor of a referendum.

ROY HENDERSON was round-ed-up by the delegates to make a speech on the 18-year rule but the representatives hooted and boomed.

Fistic Hope From Balkans

Giant Lumbers Into Paris, Training For Series Of Ring Wars

By JOSEPH D. RAVOTTO
PARIS, Dec. 2. (UP)—From the eastern plains of Rumania has come a new white heavyweight hope.

No ordinary mortal is fighting Gogea, Mitta, christened Goga Stefanico, who is now in Paris. Like a character from "Gulliver's Travels," Gogea measures 7 feet, 8 inches in height and tips the scales at 330 pounds. He wears shoes No. 22, and mind you, he's only a youngster. He is not yet 21 and there is no telling what proportions he may assume when he has really grown up.

This Rumanian giant is the son of a Rumanian gentleman farmer, who is also mayor of his village. The only work Gogea has ever done is tinkering about his father's farm. Two years ago he put on boxing gloves and he liked it so much that he decided to become a pugilist. This summer he opened his pro career with a one-round knockout over the Italian, Saverio Grizzo.

In his second fight he flattened Angelo Pavlesko in a couple of rounds to become champion of all categories of the fabled ring of Rumania. With more promise and ambition crowded out by visions of greater ring glory, Gogea decided that Rumania after all was too small a place for all his 7 feet, 8 inches.

Hearing that Jeff Dickson in Paris is ever in search of promising material and being told that it was this American promoter who discovered gargantuan Primo Carnera, he wired Jeff that he was on his way to Paris.

Now he is in Paris and he threatens to put Rumania on the fight map. Despite his bulk, he is not such a prepossessing individual. He is not thin or lanky. There is plenty of flesh on Gogea. His arms and legs are heavy, but there is little muscle on them. The shoulders are wide and the chest barrel-like, while his head, which is small in relation to the body, is dominated by a prominent nose. To get a rough idea of Gogea's size, he is to Carnera what Carnera is to Tony Canzoneri.

His principal weapon is his left jab and that is only a defensive blow. With his right Gogea vainly attempts an uppercut which starts somewhere in the region of his knee, or at about the level of his opponent's shoulder. No blow ever lands, of course, for it has been telegraphed. Except for his size, he inspires no awe from his opponent. He ambles about the ring, looking for all the world like Mickey Mouse when he nervously walks up and down with some problem on his mind.

Ponies Boast Excellent Record

Score Total Of Two Hundred, Sixty-Four Points

DALLAS, Dec. 2.—The SMU Mustangs proved their right to represent the east in the annual Rose Bowl game in Pasadena, California, by defeating the powerful TCU Horned Frogs Saturday, 20-14, in Fort Worth, and proved to the 40,000 fans that crowded into Froggie Stadium that they were a real "money" team.

With such stars as Wilson, Finley, Smith, Shuford, Burt, and Sprague in the backfield and Spain, Orr, Stewart, Tipton, Wetzel, Stamps, and Johnson in the line, the Methodists have undoubtedly one of the most versatile football machines in the nation.

Beginning with the Denton Teachers in early September, the Ponies swept through three straight opponents before their goal line was finally crossed. They defeated the Eagles, 33-0, Austin, 30-0, and Tulsa, 14-0, before Washington University of St. Louis tallied a lone touchdown. The score of that game ended, 35-6, in favor of the Texans.

They returned to Dallas the following Saturday to turn in one of their greatest performances of the season in defeating the Rice Owls, 10-0, and the next week went to Wichita Falls to defeat Hardin-Simmons, 18-6.

The eleven from Abilene became the second team to score on them but they returned to Dallas to keep their conference record clear with a 20-0 victory over Texas University.

Matty Bell and his men turned their eyes toward California for an Armistice Day clash with the powerful UCLA Bruins of Los Angeles and a 21-0 victory in that game made them just about the most popular eleven in the United States.

That victory, however, cost them the services of the great Harry Shuford, and it seemed to be a rocky road ahead for the Dallas lads. However, they solved a passing offense thrown up by the Arkansas Razorbacks the following Saturday and defeated the Hogs in Fayetteville, 17-6. The touchdown made by the Porkers was the first in a conference team had been able to score on them.

Baylor gave Bell a scare by holding them for three quarters, but young Wilson snapped the team back into line and they tallied 10 points in the last period.

By this showing, the odds on their game with TCU last Saturday shifted and they went to Fort Worth the decided underdogs, but came through in fine style, scoring two touchdowns in the first half and another in the fourth quarter for a 20-14 win.

Brackenridge—The Olympic Committee is expected to hold a meeting in this city later this month, chiefly to discuss further plans for participation. There is a slight possibility that the subject of whether America should compete may be brought up on the meeting floor. In that case, the committee is expected to re-affirm its acceptance.

The Committee on Fair Play in sports, formed to keep America out of the games, presents the following points in a pamphlet, "Pre-serve the Olympic Ideal":

1. German sports and Olympic preparations are controlled by the Nazi government, and therefore the Olympics become a political matter.
2. Germany violates the Olympic code, which states that race,

OLYMPICS TO BE TOPIC AT ANNUAL MEET

A.A.U. Parley Scheduled In New York This Week

By HENRY SUPER
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Dec. 2. (UP)—The Amateur Athletic Union opens its annual meeting here Friday with the question of American participation in the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin expected to be a major topic for discussion.

Principal business at the meeting will be consideration of suggestions for rule changes, but there is a possibility that the body may be asked to make a resolution on whether this country should send a team to the Berlin Olympics.

The A.A.U., which governs much of American amateur sport, is powerless to decide whether to withdraw an acceptance which this country made to an invitation from Germany on Sept. 9, 1934. There is nothing to prevent the A.A.U., however, from going on record against the games.

The original invitation was accepted by the American Olympic Committee, which is in charge of selecting a team and raising funds to cover its expenses.

Wide Protests Voiced
Since the invitation was accepted, various organizations and individuals have been campaigning to keep America out of the games on the grounds that there is religious prejudice in Germany.

Judge Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the A.A.U., has violently denounced American participation. Throughout New York City and in other parts of the country, organizations have been formed to "keep the Olympics from Germany." Many athletes and interested groups of men have denounced these attempts looking to non-participation of this country as political moves and unsportsmanlike attitudes.

The American Olympic Committee, headed by Avery Brundage, is proceeding with plans for sending a team abroad despite the controversy. Tryouts already have been held for places on the Winter Olympic team which will participate in Germany in February and reservations have been made for an entire line to take the summer team abroad.

Counter Drive Started
The committee, composed of 70 organizations, claims that its entire membership favors sending a team abroad. Supporting its view, the committee recently issued a pamphlet entitled "Play for American Athletes." This was intended to counteract the attacks made by organizations opposing American participation in the games.

A reason in sports, not politics, must support any non-participating movement. And the International Olympic Committee has found no such reason. Acceptance does not endorse policies of any government.

The Olympics are not German, but international, being controlled by I.O.C. rules.

3. Alleged charges of discrimination in selection of Germany's team are not supported by evidence.

4. Interests of American athletes chief cause is to be upheld. Athletes should not be denied a chance to compete for Olympic laurels.

Committee Meets Soon
The Olympic Committee is expected to hold a meeting in this city later this month, chiefly to discuss further plans for participation. There is a slight possibility that the subject of whether America should compete may be brought up on the meeting floor.

Wooly Knitted Slippers For Winter Boudoir Use Returns To Fashion

They look something like a cap in the box. You're inclined to view them with polite interest, and wonder just what they are and how on earth they can be useful on a cold night!

In fact, if you look at the picture in which lovely June Knight of the films holds up one of them, you'll see that the clever knitted "slipperette" looks something like the old-fashioned stocking caps that Granddad liked in cold weather.

They are all-wool, well knitted, and may be purchased in almost every color to harmonize with boudoir costumes. Modest in price, they are less than a dollar per pair.

Be sure to get your money's worth

It's your money. You've earned it. It will be spent. For fuel, clothes, furniture, food, all sorts of necessities . . . and if there's any left, for luxuries.

The way to make that hard-earned money go farthest is to purchase products of certain value. Products backed by well-known manufacturers. Products that are widely bought and used, that are carefully and painstakingly kept to high standards of quality, and that have been found over and over again to give full worth. Advertised products!

When you buy a watch or a rake, a set of china or a radio set that is advertised in this paper, you are buying a product whose maker is willing to talk about it, tell about it, put what he knows about it in print and sign his name to it. When you buy advertised merchandise by name, you get the utmost of purchasing value from every dollar.

Because it doesn't pay to advertise poor products, it DOES pay to buy those advertised.

ENFORCE THE TRAFFIC LAWS Of all the weapons being used to combat motor traffic accidents, enforcement is ultimately the most important.

People who are otherwise law-abiding, deliberately break the traffic laws every day. The result last year was 36,000 killed and close to a million injured.

A second requisite of good enforcement is intelligent application of the law. All offending motorists are not alike, either in their attitude or the degree of their offense.

Real enforcement, therefore, is self-enforcement. Death and destruction on streets and highways will practically cease when every driver—and every pedestrian—becomes his own agent of enforcement.

Man About Manhattan By George Tucker

NEW YORK—There was a dinner, a sort of test flight for members of the Wine and Food society the other night. I wandered into the Gold Room of the Savoy Plaza with possibly 200 other people to partake of a menu that had been six months in the making...

There was Norman Bel Geddes, the producer, too, with the satisfied expression of a man who has a gold mine in his back yard. Then there was Crosby Gaige, another Broadway explorer who goes in for cooking as a hobby.

I really made great progress until encountering the Noix Sales, and on that note the evening had what for a moment I fancied was a flippancy turn.

WASHINGTON — Behind the budget conference at Warm Springs is the decided uneasiness in inner administration circles over the public outcry against spending.

This resulted in a secret White House conference before the president departed for Warm Springs, at which a counter-offensive was mapped out.

Figure marksmen have been at work preparing statistical grape-shot ever since. The line of counter-argument most favored is to show that the public debt is not what their foes say it is, and that it is far from alarming.

On Nov. 12 the gross public debt was approximately 29 1/2 billions. By June 30, 1936, the total will be around 31 billions.

The high point of the gross public debt after the World war was 26 1/2 billions. By 1930 it had been reduced to 16 billions. From then on, the trend was again upward.

On the basis of these calculations the new deal will have piled up by June 30, 1936, an additional 11 1/2 billions of public debt.

However, say the new dealers, from this 11 1/2 billions must be made several major deductions: (1) 4 1/2 billions of collectible savings...

This, say the administrationites, is not yet the whole story. There is still another major item to their credit.

The new deal has effected great savings in the interest rate on government obligations. At the peak of the public debt after the World war, interest charges amounted to more than one billion a year.

His latest enterprise was drafting a three-page brochure on typing which he distributed to his stenographic staff.

Use a quick, light, staccato touch, allowing the fingers to rise from the keyboard—thus avoid "bunching" of letters and sticking of keys.

After inserting the paper in the typewriter put clip in center of pages to keep paper from rolling.

When releasing the paper from the carbons, take hold of the upper right hand corner of the paper, then pull out carbons, thus releasing carbons from the typewritten pages.

NOTE: Dr. Marshall received $8,500 Italian Enemy No. 3

Here is an authoritative inside glance on how the fascist propaganda spigot was turned off and on to further the whims of Il Duce: During Hitler's "purge" of the Nazis in June, 1934, Mussolini was on friendly terms with Berlin.

Then last summer the spigot was turned the other way and England, not Germany, became the enemy of Italy.

In approximately one year Italy's idea of international enemy No. 1 had made the round of three different countries, with the Italian editor going to bed at night not knowing who the enemy of his country was to be next morning.

HIGH COURAGE

Chapter 35 SUMMONS TO DUTY Anne scarcely left the window that day. She had promised to wait until John's return before trying to do anything herself.

"There he is!" Anne jumped to her feet. "He?" Lisa was on her feet rushing towards the window, "what, who, where, what are you talking about?"

"The 'Star of Lapland'! See the tug's going out." "Wonder if Milna will come live with me," came the response from Lisa.

"When a sensible girl like you, Nikki Nielsen, calls a boy 'he', then it's time for her room-mate to look for another one. Now let me get back to that book and see if Bill meets the other letters."

But on the morning the U. S. S. Houston anchored off Charleston, Smith turned up and sent a messenger to Maybanks asking for his tickets to the stadium where the president was to appear. Testily, Maybanks informed the messenger to tell Smith no tickets had been reserved for him and that if he wanted any he would have to communicate that wish personally.

Smith then climbed off his high horse. He sent Maybanks a telegram. The mayor responded with an invitation to board the Houston to welcome the president. Cotton Ed accepted with alacrity and put on a great show of cordiality toward Roosevelt.

Later, when the president made his speech, Smith was right in front on the platform, for all South Carolina to see and note.

Below her houses burst into radiance. In the Eskola kitchen the high white light revealed Mrs. Eskola rushing around, putting fresh coffee in the big pot, stirring the fire in the kitchen stove, stirring the pot of stew.

Perhaps someday, thought Anne, she would do this for John. Now his mother and Molly would be hurrying about, preparing for him and his father. John would go home first. She pressed her face to the window watching for figures to emerge from the gathering darkness into the blue pool of street light below.

Ah, there was someone. But no, the man was too short. He was square and stocky, and his arms were filled with bundles. A shout of welcome sounded from the Eskola house, as the father mounted, his now silent children trooping behind. The door opened, then closed on their hushed happiness. A moment later it opened again to release a small boy who ran to the top of the steps below Anne's window.

"Nikki! Miss Nikki!" Anne threw up her window. "John," he says he will come later. He had to stop by town after the payoff.

"Thanks," called Anne. "Sure," shouted the small boy and dashed back as though afraid of missing one word of his father's adventures. Minutes ticked along. Slow old clock, it rambled so aimlessly. Eight o'clock, what could be keeping John? Surely he had had time to finish his business and his dinner.

"Eight-thirty," Anne discarded the paper. Lisa deeply engrossed in a new story, looked up. "You give me the fidgets," she announced. "Sorry," Anne caught her breath. Footsteps were coming, hurrying. Should she rush to the door or wait? She rushed to the door, threw it wide and saw Orvi standing there in oilskins and gow-west-

"Nikki," he panted, "Hell's broken loose on the Farnsworth wharves. John says you're to come at once. He says you're the only one who can keep our people from—"

"From violence," he says, "came from George, who followed, breathing hard." Anne waited for nothing more. She dashed to her room. A white figure would catch attention quickened. The men had seen her that day on the float, when the "Ahti" had docked. She would don Luke's favorite "fingling" which she hadn't worn since. White slacks, white sweater, the blue neaman's jacket, white shoes and white beret.

Like a slim ghost she joined the boys, who were trying to explain to Lisa. "Come on," she cried, "you can explain on the way, where do we go?" Orvi stopped short as they rounded the house. He pointed down. Ring lights were showing on the river. The fleet was moving out. "We may be too late. They've left the wharves, they're on their way to wreck the fish trap." There was no time for words as they rushed down hill through the rain, scurried across the highway and down the wharves. Orvi dropped into the boat and Lisa was warning Lisa not to see from the wharves making too many hauls a day to be true. Farley always checked this. And then the other night Hannula came in on his trawler. It was foggy and he got off course. He cast anchor while he tried to get his bearings and found out he was nearly alongside the abandoned fish trap. Blind cave, a drifts or the seining grounds. "Well, one of his crew heard voice, then heard a boat pull up. Hannula doused his riding light and listened. He heard loading, and followed the boat when it started off. It was a cruiser, and it headed for one of the other traps where it shifted the load to the trap. He then headed for the Farnsworth canneries. "Well, Hannula's a pretty decent fellow. Instead of coming back and spilling everything and starting a fight, or turning things over to the commission, he hopped the train and went to Portland. He went right to Lee Farnsworth and told him everything. Farnsworth said he was sick and tired of hearing complaints, that they'd better start checking other canneries. "Hannula didn't get serious. He tried to explain that they were bootlegging salmon, and that unless someone were there while they were operating, they probably wouldn't be able to notice it in daylight. They could rig the scales up so they'd drop below the place would look abandoned to anybody who happened by." (Copyright, 1935, Jeanne Bowman)

Bobcats Prep For El Paso

Concho Team Has Only Slim Chance Of Trimming Tigers

The San Angelo high school Bobcats, carrying the District 3 standard, go into first round bi-district play Saturday on their own field against the El Paso high school Tigers.

Big Spring Steers, representing the sector last year; thumped the Tigers by a two touchdown margin in the Border city. In 1933 the Bobcats trimmed Bowie (El Paso) for the bi-district title.

The El Paso representative this year is considerably stronger than District 4 winners of the past three seasons. In nine games, the Tigers have had only six points scored against them. They reached a peak last week by romping over Austin for the district crown, 33 to 0.

El Paso's season record: El Paso 46, Las Cruces 0. El Paso 6, Lubbock 0. El Paso 16, Albuquerque Indian School 6. El Paso 66, Yaleta 0. El Paso 41, Fabens 0. El Paso 6, Bowie (EP) 0. El Paso 26, Cathedral (EP) 0. El Paso 39, Tucson 0. El Paso 33, Austin (EP) 0.

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 2.—The San Angelo high school Bobcats, the only Class A team other than the El Paso Tigers, in West Texas high school football, that has not met defeat this year, did a mopping-up act with the Oil Belt eleven and club from the Fort Worth and San Antonio districts before swinging into its drive for the District 3 championship.

The San Angelo team of today, undefeated but tied twice, boasts a more powerful line than the Bobcats of 1933 who stormed over Bowie at El Paso for the bi-district title and then swung on to shade Pampa for the all-West Texas high school gonfalon, but where the Concho forwards of today are stronger, the San Angelo secondary is considerably weaker.

In Harry Hays, younger brother of Curly Hays, the Bobcat mentors this year have a lad who is swift and dangerous both offensively and defensively, but Hays lacks experience—and the backfield of today is incapable of giving him the support that the backfield of 1933 gave his big brother and gave that broken-field menace and aerial bomber, Herbie Reid.

Are Kick Blockers

This year the San Angelo team's defense has been its offense. Coaches Harry Taylor and Teato Coleman have welded a forward wall that is the most aggressive defensive salient in the history of the school.

In a majority of this team's games the line has blocked at least one punt for a touchdown. That is to say, in each game of most of the games played the Bobcats have scored at least one touchdown on a barricaded kick.

Smith, end, was a member of the 1933 team that toppled Bowie. Smith, weighing only 150 pounds, for two years has been the greatest defensive wingman in West Texas high school football.

Heavy Backfield

Brown, a keen diagnoser of plays, weighs but 151 pounds. He is fast on the start and at knifing through and around.

The center post is flanked by two veteran guards weighing 170 and 175 pounds. These guards, Elwell and Strom, have made the middle of the Bobcat line almost impregnable.

THREE TEAMS TOP THE LIST

Minnesota, Princeton And Mustangs Are Undeclared

On the tall end of one of the most hectic and thrilling grid seasons in history, only three major eleven's now boast perfect records.

Bernie Bierman, coaching at Minnesota, brought his boys through another season undefeated and untied. The Gophers share the Big Ten title with Francis Schmidt's Ohio State team.

Princeton was the only unbeaten and untied major team in the east. The Tigers, who won nine straight games, were nosed out for the Rose Bowl bid Monday by Southern Methodist.

Southern Methodist's Mustangs now headed for the Rose Bowl, won eleven straight games, setting the pace in the Southwest where football was of the most terrific brand.

Civilization Falls on Ranger VANCOUVER, B. C. (UP)—"Uncle Tom" Drury, veteran Grouse mountain hiker and ranger, is recovering from a severe attack of "homesickness." Drury left his mountain home two years ago to live in England, but missed the British Columbia wilds so much he couldn't get settled and decided to return.

CLEVELAND, (UP)—"Aikie," the "G-Dog" who gave his master away to liquor agents when he bounced out of a door on which the agents were spying, has a new house. Agents are to keep the German shepherd puppy because his master, Joseph Urban, is in jail for operating a still.

CHICAGO, Dec. 2. (UP)—There's a trip to the "beauty parlor" facing thousands of America's finest farm animals.

It'll be their first stopping place when they arrive in Chicago for the 36th International Live Stock exposition in the new stock yards amphitheater which runs to Dec. 7.

The "beauty" treatment comes just before the formal opening.

Animals Visit The 'Beauty Parlor' On Way To Annual Livestock Show

The autumn season, has been one round of "beauty parlors" for "Sultan Brownie." The prize shorthorn bull has been grand champion at many state fairs this year and freshly "curled, curled and manicured," is expected to carry high honors at the International Livestock exposition in Chicago.

Some breeds of cattle look best with curled coats, accomplished by applying special combs to dampened hair. Horns and hoofs are scraped, sand-papered and polished. Horses' manes and tails are braided and trimmed with rosettes; pigs are washed and oiled, and sheep must be sheared by experts to bring out the blocky forms that shepherds consider ideal.

Many in Competition
 B. H. Heide, manager of the show, says great interest in this year's exposition is due to the notable success of recent state fairs, many of which established all-time records for both number of exhibits and visitors. He expects more than 12,000 animals to be competing.

Beef cattle herds are to be entered from such distant points as New England—and the Pacific slope states, in addition to the provinces of Alberta, Ontario and Quebec in Canada.

Sheep breeders from fourteen states and Ontario have made entries for ten different breeds. Swine exhibits, largely from the corn belt, are 40 per cent in excess of last year's entries.

King of Steerdorn

Draft horses, says Heide, are coming from nine states and Canada to stage one of the biggest shows in the history of the exposition.

Some of the contenders have recently been imported from Scotland, France and Belgium, the native lands of the Clydesdale, Percheron and Belgian horses.

Interest in the exposition will center in selection of the grand champion steer, scheduled this year for Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 3. The judge will be Walter Biggar who annually makes the trip from his home in Dunbarton, Scotland, to officiate in this important ceremony.

Next in importance is the sale of the grand champion on the auction block after a two-day reign as the king of steerdorn. Last year's champion sold for $3 a pound on the hoof, far under the record price of $8.25 a pound bid for the 1929 champion.

American Airlines Names Winner Of National Slogan Contest

"Makes a Neighborhood of the Nation."

For these six brief words, Frederick S. Randall, of Ann Arbor, Mich., has been named winner of American Airlines' national slogan contest. C. R. Smith, president of the company, announced today.

Mr. Randall's winning slogan was selected from approximately 200,000 entered in the contest. Mr. Smith said. Entries were received from practically every state in the union and from Canada, Mexico, Europe and South America. So great was the flood of suggestions that judges required more than a month to complete their ultimate choice.

By virtue of his victory, Mr. Randall will be awarded two free trips over American Airlines coast-to-coast system of airways whenever he chooses to claim them, Mr. Smith said.

Commenting on the new slogan, the air line president said it had been selected because, "in our opinion, it typifies one of the greatest benefits air transportation can offer America.

"By breaking down the barriers of distance and bringing the furthest extremities of the United States within a few brief hours of each other, air transportation is doing much today to weld this country into a unified community of common aims, common problems and common understanding.

"The history of progress in the United States has been the history of transportation. Considerably less than a century ago the Rockies constituted virtually foreign country. The war of the states, in the 1860's, was the result of a lack of common understanding which can be traced to isolation caused by inadequate transportation.

"The advent of the railroad which reduced travel months to days, may be credited with making America a unified nation for the first time. Now the air line further reducing travel days to brief hours, are fast making this nation one great community neighborhood.

"Because American Airlines serves more people in more cities and more states than any other air line, we feel it is particularly fitting to take as our slogan: "Makes a Neighborhood of the Nation."

inserting such advertisements are those of unwed British mothers. Some well-to-do European families adopt a child to satisfy a whim, soon tire of it and pass it on to other persons. Often, it was charged, those adopting the British children have shameful purposes. Transferred for Profit The adopted child may be transferred time and time again for profit, the Home Office said, and grows up in a foreign country without any understanding of the English language. In course of time it is discovered that the child is a foreigner—no naturalization is possible for adopted children in some countries—and it is deported to England, unable to speak its language. The Home Secretary's Office said that details of some of the foreign adoption scandals brought to light have been kept secret in order that persons suspected of engineering the traffic will not escape prosecution. Although Britain established a new adoption law in 1926 parents and persons adopting children are not required to proceed under its provisions, and strengthening amendments, probably will be sought by the organizations investigating the "baby farm" evidence.

Employment In State Improved

AUSTIN, Dec. 2.—Moderate improvement has been apparent in employment conditions in Texas during November, both in comparison with the preceding month and the corresponding month last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Reports from about 1,300 representative Texas establishments give an aggregate of 59,980 employees, an increase of 1.2 per cent over the number of workers in the same establishments during November last year and 1 per cent over the number during the preceding month. Total payrolls of these establishments for the week ended November 16 increased 6.5 per cent over the corresponding week last year and about 17 per cent over the preceding month.

Cities showing increases over the State average in the number of workers compared with November, 1934, were: Abilene, Amarillo, Brownsville, Denison, Houston, Port Arthur, Waco, and Wichita Falls. The groups of industries showing an increase were: Census plants, cotton oil mills, electric railway car shops, foundries and machine shops, hotels, men's clothing stores, millwork, petroleum refining, quarrying, and structural iron works.

Scoring Plays Of SMU-TCU Game Show

Some of the best action shots ever taken of a football game are being shown at the Ritz theater today at the Southern Methodist-Texas Christian game at Fort Worth Saturday. The film gives close-ups of all the scoring plays, including the sensational pass play that won the game for the Mustangs and Sammy Baugh's desperate aerial barrage in closing minutes of the game. Evidence in possession of the Home Office was said to show that the trafficking is carried on brazenly without any attempts at concealment with advertisements even being inserted in some Continental newspapers for British children. In many instances, of course, the children that reach the persons

France Is Behind U. S. In Smoking

PARIS, Dec. 2. (UP)—Does the speed of American life account for the fact that the average American can smoke nearly three times as many cigarettes as the average Frenchman? That is the figure which statisticians of the land of Jean Nicot have produced for tobacco consumption in France, and as they have demonstrated that the bigger the city, the more cigarettes per capita are consumed, it might seem to follow that the sedative effect of the cigarette is necessary to calm the jaded nerves of the taxi-dodger. America smokes, per person, some 1,000 cigarettes yearly—50 packages. In France the figure is 379. There must be plenty of non-smokers to bring the average figure down to that total, because statisticians announce that the average for smokers is 7,000 cigarettes a year—about a pack a day. The department of the Seine (greater Paris) smokes the most—933 cigarettes per capita per year—with the department of the Var (the hectic Riviera) second, with 867. Last on the list is the Haute-Loire, completely agricultural, where the per capita consumption is only 131 cigarettes a year. France's yearly cigarette consumption totals 17,000,000,000—

Holly And Poinsettias Herald Return Of Old-Fashioned Christmas Spirit

NEW YORK (UP)—Old-fashioned Christmas red has staged a comeback this year as the popular color for the season's greeting cards. After several years of fantastic color combinations and exotic designs in orchid, aquamarine and similar sophisticated hues, 1935 Christmas cards are back to the holly and poinsettia period. There are solid-color red cards with designs in silver and white. There are red mountings and border treatments. Some of the cards even are matched with bright red envelopes. Green is the second reigning favorite, or seasonal combinations of red and green. Blue is mainly confined to cards of religious inspiration, to which its soft colorings are especially adapted. Combinations of gold and beige and brown are novel and smart, and there also are cards which sponsor a combination of coral and bright blue. Holly and poinsettias are used in a wide variety of designs, as for example, a cord of white pearls in red and silver. Santa Claus, who has been absent from most of the cards lately, appears often this year. Smoothing his beard of real cotton or chatting with a hopeful gamon who offers to "Carry yer bag, Mister," he is depicted almost any way except with his reindeer. Children of today are air-minded and think he travels by plane. Cards of religious motif are widely favored. Many of them are color-prints and etchings. Cotton Closes On High, Stocks Off Cotton closed on the high Monday and was up about six points on the day's trading but stocks were generally weaker. Rumors growing out of the uncertainty of the Italian-Ethiopian war were conceded to have had a marked bearing on the trading. Straight domestic issues closed off while industrials which could be utilized in the war rose.

Slain Girl Is Identified As Suspects Wife

KANSAS CITY, Kans., Dec. 2. (UP)—Officers accepted as positive today the identification of a young girl, found slain here over a year ago, as Elizabeth Comer, suspect in the disappearance of nine persons, who died in Oklahoma City last week. PURCELL, Okla., Dec. 2. (UP)—A thousand leg-weary searchers ended at darkness last night a final mass attempt to locate four of the supposed victims of Chester Comer, slain hitch-hiker, with only a pair of buttons, a ticket stub and a smugged photograph turned up as possible clues. "We simply have reached the end of our rope," said Sheriff Walter Mosier of Pottawatomie county, who directed the systematic foot-by-foot hunt that covered 150 sections Sunday in the vicinity of Criner, Okla. "Every inch of farmland, underbrush and woods has been walked over by our posse," Mosier said. "We don't seem to be any nearer solution of the fate of these missing people than when we started."

State Auditor To Supervise State Pensions

AUSTIN, Dec. 2.—Orville R. "Dick" Carpenter, Dallas business man and state auditor, has been named executive director of the old-age assistance commission by the new three-member board. As state auditor, Carpenter made a survey in September and reported to the legislature on the "Cost and General Plan for Old Age Pensions." The pension law reflects his report in many ways. Carpenter came to Austin when Alfred appointed him Aug. 1 to reorganize the office of the state auditor. Surveys on pensions, liquor, and fees were presented the legislature. Other reports have been on taxation, bank deposit insurance and a number of minor subjects. At present the state auditor is conducting audits of the banking department and state treasury. Carpenter will resign as state auditor and take the pension directorship when the new law goes into effect next February.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning! The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink. Laxatives are only makeshifts. A new bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

The proof of the cigarette is in the smoking... and it always will be

Smokers—both men and women—want a cigarette to be mild—yet not flat or insipid. At the same time they want a cigarette that gives them taste—taste they can enjoy.

Chesterfields are outstanding for mildness—outstanding for better taste. You can find that out by smoking them.

Just try them—Chesterfields are what they say they are
