KENT SIMS ENTERS RACE FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

M. Kent Sims, a lifelong resident of Wheeler County, has filed his candidacy for the office of Wheeler County Attorney subject to the Democratic primary in May.

Sims, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon H. Sims, received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Civil Engineering from Texas Tech University in 1969 and a Doctor of Jurisprudence Degree from Texas Tech University in May, 1972. With special permission from the Texas Board of Bar Examiners, Sims was able to take the Bar exam prior to graduating from law school and having passed the bar, setup his practice in Wheeler in June of 1972.

While in undergraduate and law school Sims received numerous honors such as serving on the Law Review Board of Editors, being named to the Dean's Honor Roll on several occasions and receiving recognition as the top student in Estate Planning at the Tech law school. Sims practiced law as a sole practitioner until January of 1974 when Lowell Lasley from Tulsa, Texas became his partner to form the general law partnership of Sims & Lasley.

Sims served as County Judge of Wheeler County in 1974 when Judge G.W. Hefley resigned and the Commissioner's Court appointed Sims to fill Hefley's unexpired term. Sims feels that his experience as Judge brought to him a new understanding of the importance of serving the county and feels he could best serve the people as County Attorney.

Since he has come to Wheeler, Sims has been called on to serve in numerous civic and church capacities having served as President of the Wheeler Chamber of Commerce in 1974, as President of the Wheeler Kiwanis Club in 1974-75. He is presently serving on the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club and Administrative Board of the Wheeler First United Methodist Church. He is also very active with young people, serving as Kiwanis sponsor for the Key Club and as youth sponsor for the Methodist Church.

In his announcement, Sims emphasized his desire to serve the people of the county of Wheeler and points to his experience as City Attorney for the City of Wheeler and points to his experience as City Attorney for the Cities of Wheeler and Miami and as attorney for the Wheeler Independent School District, as qualifications for the Office of County Attorney.

Sims is married and has one daughter.

Lyndon Sims after the insistence of some of his friends, decided at the last hour to become a candidate for County Commissioner of Precinct 1. I will do my best to serve my Precinct in the best interest of all people therein."

Sims was born in Texas, and have lived in Wheeler County on the same place since 1945. He was a High School graduate and has served on the Wheeler Independent School Board for 12 years. The Indian Tribes of the Southern States were the first to enjoy the fruits of the pecan tree. Because the pecan is native only to North America, these Indians were the only ones aware of its existence for several hundred years.

Early explorers in Texas noted the Indians dependence on the pecan as a food source. Cabaza de Vaca wrote "it is the substance of the people for two months in the year without another thing." The Indians would travel so that their journeys always took them to the river of nuts when the pecans were in season. "The river of nuts" later became known as the Guadalupe River.

George Washington became a noted lover of the pecan. Historians have observed "the celebrated General always had these nuts and was constantly eating them." A 1794 entry in his diary mentions planting several of these trees.

Today the pecan is the most important horticultural crop in the United States, native to the country. It grows naturally in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Mississippi.

Wheeler County's "Liberty Tree," which is to be de-dedicated as a Bicentennial project, is one of these historic and fabled trees. It was supplied by the Texas Forest Service.

Let us hope, when this tree bears, others will be planted from it that may grow and multiply as does the love of country of all Americans.

Group Purchases Abilene Bank

Controlling interest in Abilene National Bank was acquired Friday by a group of stockholders headed by Don Earney, a former Federal Housing Administration director from Lubbock. Earney, 41, was elected president and chairman of the board. He announced the purchase of the bank following a board of directors meeting Friday afternoon.

The control group purchased 10,000 shares, 55 percent of the bank's stock. Former president Joe Hodges remains active in the bank as senior vice president and a director.

All other bank officers retain their previous positions and all directors will remain with the exception of Jack P. Chapman of Odessa, who tendered his stock for sale and is leaving the board, and Henry Grubbs of Abilene, who earlier had asked to be allowed to resign from the board. Grubbs was named director emeritus Friday.

Besides Earney, new directors named Friday are Pete Burton of Wheeler, owner of a Ford dealership, director of the First National Bank of Wheeler, and former mayor of that city; Dr. Jim Granberry, a Lubbock orthodontist and former mayor who was the Republican candidate for governor in 1974; and Chester Glancy, Jr. of Shamrock, a motel owner and businessman and present member of the city council.

The new directors were added to fill the two vacancies and to add two additional directors under the bank's new bylaws.

Directors remaining are Hodges, Kolly, Andy Anderson, M. Eddie Boykin, J. Bryan Brabury, Max Ferguson, Darrell Knight, Billy B. Massey, Dr. Donald I. McDonald, Jim Skinner, John R. Thompson and Charles F. White.

Named as advisory director.

CHRISTIANITY TODAY

Lee Henry
One of the most difficult things in the world is to forgive a person who has mistreated you. I can think of only one thing harder and that is to forgive yourself when you have miserably failed or committed some terrible sin. Every adult I know carries a burden of sin in some form - a sin committed, or a sense of regret for something done or undone.

One episode in the life of Jesus shows clearly how he faced people who knew what it was to fail, and the solution represented to the problem. The story is found in John 8: 2-11. It relates how the scribes and Pharisees, having caught a woman in the act of adultery, presented her to Jesus asking him whether to stone her. Jesus, before saying a word, bend down and wrote on the ground with his finger. When they kept on questioning him, he straightened up and said to them, "If any one of you is without sin let him begin stoning her." Upon hearing this the crowd began slowly to disperse until only the woman and Jesus were there. Jesus asked, "Woman, where are they? Has no one condemned you?" "No one sir," she said. "Then neither do I condemn you," Jesus declared. "Go now and leave your life of sin."

This story shows how men react to sin and how Jesus deals with their reactions. He rejected the approach of the Pharisees and in this place proposed a radical solution - God's forgiveness freely offered and freely received. To the accused who recognized the depth of her sin, he issued pardon! He directed in a way that demonstrated acceptance and hope. He lifted the burden and gave her back her life. The one who expected the worst because she knew she was a sinner was not condemned. These who were condemning found themselves under condemnation. To the one who admitted her sin, Jesus offered acceptance and hope in the shape of God's forgiveness. To those who refused to acknowledge their own sin he spoke harshly. The people in the days of Jesus were astonished.

Consumers soon will have a better chance to "fight back" when dissatisfied with mail-order shopping.
Beginning Feb. 2, 1976, a new Federal Trade Commission ruling states that a mail-order company must notify the consumer within 30 days after receiving an order if there will be a delay and the merchandise will not be shipped within the stated time.
And if the delivery can't be met, consumers can cancel their order and receive a refund, if they ask for it. Other avenues open for action on consumer complaints are the Consumer Advocate's Office in the Postal Service, Washington, D.C. 20224, and the mail-order industry's Direct Mail-Marketing Association, Six East 43rd Street, New York, N.Y. 10017.

But before even placing an order, consumers can help avoid problems by reading the catalog carefully for company policy on returns and estimated delivery dates. A seller with a knowl place of business is easier to complain to than an anonymous post office box number.
If the firm is unfamiliar, certify its credentials through the seller's local Better Business Bureau of Chamber of Commerce. A couple of phone calls may be worth it if the order is over $25.
Consumers also can ask the firm to supply a local reference from a trade association or bank.

Senior Citizens Gather for Evening

The Senior Citizens of

Wheeler met Monday evening at 6:00 o'clock to enjoy a sumptuous covered dish dinner with the Methodist Church as hostess. The Methodist Pastor, Bro. McGoughy, gave thanks for the assembling of the meal. The president, Mrs. Clarence Killingsworth, welcomed four new members, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Turner as this was their first time to attend. Also a guest was welcomed, the father-in-law of Brother McGoughy, Mr. Kelly was visiting from Knoxville, Tennessee.

After the delicious food, was enjoyed by the 43 persons present the President introduced brother McGoughy, who gave a short and very impressive talk on "It's not time to quit and let the younger people take over," pointing out that because oldsters had aches and pains, and were tired they are capable of continuing many things that they have talent for that life experiences have given them great insight into many things that we must not forget to thank God that we are as well and can do as much as we do. The finishing thought was that maybe we are slightly guilty of not being thankful enough. These thoughts were meant to apply to everyone young or old he pointed out.

Those enjoying a specially baked birthday cake were: Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Denson, Mrs. Crowder, Mary Finsterwald, and Clarence Killingsworth. No one told their age or when they were born, they were just all glad to have another birthday.

Colonial Plowman Was First Custom Operator

Custom operators — those who perform a specialized service for others in farming — are not a new development in American agriculture.

In fact, as far back as early Colonial days, there were custom operators at work in the settlements of the New England and Mid-Atlantic areas.

The original custom operator was the community plowman.

Although they were the most basic of farming implements, plows were very scarce in the Colonies. The Plymouth Colony did without plows for more than 12 years and farmers depended entirely on hoes and mattocks for breaking the soil.

Likewise, the Swedish Colony along the Delaware had few plows. But these implements were in greater supply on the farms of Massachusetts Bay and around Philadelphia. Due to their scarcity, a plow soon became a sign of agricultural distinction. The services of a plowman were in great demand.

Many towns paid bounties to farmers who had plows and kept them in operating condition. These farmers performed a vital service for the entire community.

Plowing was still quite rudimentary. Two men using three horses or six oxen took an entire day to plow an acre or two.

Today, custom operators are still very much a part of American agriculture, particularly at harvest time. Custom combine operators move across almost an entire continent following the ripening crops. To help keep these modern-day harvesting caravans on the go, Sperry New Holland, a combine manufacturer, keeps a large van of parts on the road to service the custom operators.

Another major area of custom operation involves the age-old farming task of hay-making. Today, equipped with modern machinery, a single operator can put up many tons of hay in one day. Such modern equipment like the automatic bale wagon can pick up, haul and stack more than 2,500 bales in a single day.

There's no comparison between farming's present mechanized custom operator and his original counterpart behind a bulky, crude plow in Colonial America. But the services they perform are just as important today as they were when the nation was being born.

Legal Notice

Notice affording opportunity for public hearing corridor (location) and design (combined hearing)

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation is planning the improvement of U.S. Highway 83, extending from the Hemphill County Line, south to State Highway 152 in the City of Wheeler, a distance of approximately 130 miles, in Wheeler County.

The proposed project consists of widening, reconditioning, and resurfacing of the existing 24 foot pavement to provide two 13-foot travel lanes, with 9-foot paved shoulders, and an additional 12-foot climbing lane in areas where steep grades warrant. Also included is a curb and gutter section, beginning at S.H. 152 in the City of Wheeler and extending approximately one-half mile, to provide four traffic lanes and two parking lanes.

Route of the proposed project is along the present location of U.S. Highway 83. Additional right of way will be obtained as required to provide a minimum right of way width of 150 feet throughout the project, with the exception of the curb and gutter section where no additional right of way will be required. In areas where steep slopes occur, maximum right of way requirement will be approximately 200 feet. There will be no displaced persons, or relocations of businesses or farms, as a result of this project. Maps and other drawings showing the proposed location and geometric design, environmental studies, and tors were Jim Campbell of Pampa, ranching, banking, and investments; Earl Harwell of Childress, real estate and insurance; John Rogers of El Paso, Mortgage Investment Co.; Eugene Sanders, Dallas Attorney; Leonard Wilson, Lubbock builder and developer; Bill Sheppard of Big Spring, investments.

Commenting on his plans for Abilene National Bank, Earney said, "We are the low man on the totem pole and we expect to be number one."

Abilene National was the last operating bank chartered and it is legitimate that it is the smallest, he said.

According to the bank call report as of December 31, 1975, Abilene National had recorded the largest percentage gain in deposits over the previous year.

Abilene National's 28 percent gain was better than any one of the other four banks in Abilene.

Abilene National had

$21,470,104 in deposits and $13,572,416 in loans at the end of the fourth quarter last year.

Earney said he expected the Abilene economy to continue to grow and prosper. Earney also praised the efforts of former president Hodges, saying he has done a "tremendous job."

"I simply felt the position of senior vice president would give him more time to work within the community to develop the bank," Earney said.

He is a former resident of Wheeler, where he was publisher of the newspaper, involved in ranching, banking and the oil business. He is a former mayor of Wheeler and past president of the chamber of commerce there.

He moved to Lubbock in 1971 to become director of the Federal Housing Administration for an area covering the western half of the state.

Earney said he now lives in an apartment in Abilene and will be joined by his wife Barbara and family as soon as their home is sold in Lubbock.

Here & There

Laura Guthrie

Just coming to us through the mail is the Defender Chiefton, a bi-weekly publication from Socom, New Mexico and what do you think was planted on a page there in? The familiar face of a friend. There was the image of Clarence Robinson, and the story that was a welcome to their town. Well, I can tell them that their gain is our loss.

Today we have sunshine and moderate temperature. Yesterday was ground hog day. Not a cloud in the sky. Maybe we can stand another six weeks of winter if it will just rain or snow.

But despite the weather people can still enjoy coming and going. Like our editor with his busy week. His daughter Kathi had a birthday on Sunday. On Friday afternoon here came Grandmother Gas from Cadumet, Okla., and Aunt Melba Arnold and her family from Del City. They all had a great time until time to go on Sunday afternoon.

Now today (Tuesday) is my granddaughters birthday. I gave her my gift Monday afternoon after school because after trying it for fit I would have to whip the hems. It was an overall suit-shirt and pants. That night when she took her pajamas and started for the bath she said, "I like your present better than any I ever had." Could anything be more rewarding?

Paul and Gordie Shumate recently had occasion to enjoy their great grandchildren. Jack Wilson, a grandson from Dallas, with his wife and three children spent the week end here. Gordie was still smiling a week later.

Juanita Levitt has been having a good time lately, as well as profiting from the occasion. Her son Bill from Amarillo comes on the weekends and is putting paneling in her house.

Willie Mae Stevens went to Childress Sunday and visited her daughter Janel Halsford.

Shelby and Grace Pettit went to Pampa Sunday to celebrate the birthday of granddaughter, Lisa, who is the daughter of Carroll Pettit.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagner and children went to Hereford Sunday to visit with Charles' parents.

Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Miller are proud to announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Peggy to Larry Anderson. The couple will be married February 10th. There will be a reception for family and friends in the home of her parents at 605 E. Oklahoma at 7:00 P.M.

Over night guests in the Roy Morse home Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carmichael and Faye Staulee from Berryville Arkansas, Dean Carmichael of Ft. Bret Stewart was a week end guest in the Richard Green home.

Mrs. Deon Lester and children from Amarillo were over night guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Boydston.

Charles Weibe came from Cactus Monday and took his mother, Mrs. Erma Weibe home with him for a few days stay. Mrs. Weibe is on the sick list.

Mrs. Doris Newsum's name was omitted last week who attended the Evangelistic Conference at Borger last Thursday evening.

Last Thursday, Wheeler went to Shamrock to play them in a tournament. Tanya Raden was sick and wasn't able to make three games.

At half time the score was 16 to 10 Wellington's favor. At the closing of the game, the score was 31 to 17. The high pointer for this game was Misty Muse with 8 points and Tina Collins with 7 points.

Lynette Gaines had 5 rebounds for the person with the most rebounds. The high pointer for Wellington team was Miss Cahndler with 16 points.

Having lost the game we then played for 3rd place against Memphis. At half time against Memphis the score 20 to 11 their favor.

Thursday night the Wheeler Colts traveled to Shamrock for the Shamrock Tourney. Our first game we played Shamrock and came out on the bottom end of the deal 48-28. We had already played them once before and they beat us 48-22.

That night Russell Bisson and Jeff Christner each had 8 points for Wheeler and Gary Ogburn had 8 points for Shamrock.

Friday night we played the Eric Beacats to see who would play for consolation. Wheeler came out on top 34-17. Russel Gibson was high with 11 points for Wheeler and Huddster was high with 7 points for Erick.

Saturday night we played McLean for consolation and we beat them by 5 points 37-32. We had them up by 23 points most of the game and at the end they started catching up. Russell Gibson was high again with 12 points and Smith was high with 11 for McLean. Russell Gibson made the all tournament team. Please come to our last 2 games. We need your support.

The judging for the fifth grade sod houses was Tuesday. The houses were judged on originality, effort, details, realism, materials used details, surroundings. The votes determined by the number of flags on ribbon.

Happening

This is the happening in the Junior High of Wheeler School. Terry Semster a seventh grader, is going to move to Kansas. She is checking out today.

Remember the interscholastic league contest is coming. Wheeler will be journeying to Clarendon to enter the contest of all different kinds like poetry, spelling, storytelling, and so on. These are the things that are happening in Wheeler Junior High.

The eighth graders are writing their own autobiography for our English teacher, Mrs. Rogers. They are very hard to do because you have to remember when you were a baby and on up to the present time.

Meeting Called

Wheeler County Historical Society will meet tonight, Feb. 5. The meeting will be held in the Commissioners Courtroom at 7:30.

Emory Archer In Pres. Club

Modern Woodmen of America representative Emory L. Archer, Jr., Sayre, earned membership in the fraternal insurance society's leading production club, the President's Club, in 1975.

The local representative won a place in the select group for exceeding the premium income volume requirement and meeting standards of production.

Archer is a member of Modern Woodmen's Texas Northwest agency, which is lead by Agency Manager Larry G. Fincher, Amarillo.

Modern Woodmen President T. W. Cheney praised the efforts of President's Club members. He cited the society's 12 monthly production records and all time sales and premium income records for a single year established in 1975.

Butter Was Farm's First Dairy Product

Butter was the main source of dairy income for many years, and it's said that excellent butter came out of Colonial springhouses. This was true even though little was known of the necessity for sterilizing utensils, and no refrigeration was available but cold spring water and ice. These methods of preserving were inadequate in the summer, when butter was salted down in wooden buckets and kept sweet in the springhouse until winter when the price was better.

The farm wife of the day took competitive pride in the quality of the butter which she sold to year-round customers - the village doctor, lawyer, banker or to the village store. Private customers paid her 15 to 20 cents a pound for butter, while the storekeeper paid only 10 to 12 cents either in cash or barter.

Production for sale as fluid milk was limited to farms near cities and towns where delivery could be made daily. In cities like New York and Philadelphia, dairy farmers in the early 1800's would trudge the streets weighted down with a yoke carrying two large kettles of milk.

"Here's the milk! Yo!" they'd call to let their customers know they were coming. Some farmers drove around in covered carts, selling their fluid bounty for six to ten cents a quart.
