Activities Of Key Club; Flag Sale In Progress

By STANLEY BAKER

The Wheeler Key Club and Wheeler High School are supporting Americanism in Wheeler. The real way to show your loyalty to America is to fly a flag on the local, state and national holidays.

The Key Club has been selling flag kits to all who want them. Our goal has been set at "A flag in every home and business in Wheeler." This is a pretty high goal, but we feel that Wheeler citizens are loyal Americans.

Mr. Daughtry, mayor, has proclaimed Monday, January 21, as Flag Day in Wheeler. All homes and businesses who have flags are urged to fly them with pride. The Key Club for the present, is out of flag kits, but we plan to order some more soon. We are still taking orders and you can order your kit the following ways: Phone Stanley Baker at 4811, or David Dunn at 3831; or call the high school and ask for either of the above; or see any Key Club boy.

Count Your Blessings
Time after time I said: 'Tis but a dream; I shall awake to find things only seem grand as they are!'
Yet, still he lingered on till year on sweeter year had come and with a song because God let me go. My heart is filled forever have my companion so long.
He was my own and I fully knew and never could forget how deep and true a wife's love for her own companion can be.
It drew me nearer God for He has loved His Son.
(These are but grateful tears that he was with me all those seventeen happy years.)

March of Dimes Helps Save Boy

Here's Johnny at age one after first operation . . . and today, leading a normal life at age four.

At his fourth birthday party, Johnny Wilson's big blue eyes sparkled as his mother carried in the most magnificent cake he had ever seen.

It was shaped like a huge boat plowing its way through mountainous waves of whipped cream and icing. Johnny's winsome smile beamed at friends and he gave out kisses all around.

It was a happy affair. Yet at one time, Johnny's parents had little hope he would live to celebrate even his first birthday. For he was born with the often fatal birth defect of water on the brain, or hydrocephalus.

Surgical treatment saved Johnny's life when he was three months old. At that time, doctors performed what is known as a shunt operation. They inserted in Johnny's head a plastic tube which allowed excess fluid from the brain to be harmlessly absorbed by the youngster's body.

Without the operation, fluid within the brain is prevented from taking its normal course, and causes the head to swell enormously. This is what had happened to Johnny. (If shunt surgery is not performed in time, mental retardation and blindness may ensue, even death, in certain cases.)

Since 1958, doctors have performed two other shunt operations and have treated Johnny for gastroenteritis and septicemia.

Today, Johnny leads a relatively healthy, happy and care-free life. Like any other little boy who lives on a farm, he loves to hug lambs, chase cows and tease chicks on the family's 100 acres near Columbus, Ohio.

He is a good example of thousands of afflicted children being helped to live nearly normal lives through a unique medical care program financed by The National Foundation-March of Dimes.

Babies with birth defects are born every other minute in the United States, 250,000 of them each year, almost 700 each day.

Johnny goes regularly to a special Birth Defects Clinical Study Center at Children's Hospital, Columbus, supported by March of Dimes funds.

It is one of more than 30 similar centers across the nation set up for the study and treatment of birth defects.

At the center, trained specialists work together to help children with many kinds of birth defects. They include a neurosurgeon, orthopedic surgeon, internist, psychiatrist, physical therapist and medical social worker. They have put their skilled hands and minds to work on Johnny's behalf.

Every four months, Johnny's mother drives him to the center for his check-up. A doctor always measures his head to make sure there is no change in size. Since 1959, his head size has remained relatively constant.

Johnny is growing up to be an impish, energetic and friendly little boy who likes to do everything and go everywhere. Especially, he likes to wheedle rides on a pony at the next farm. He'll settle, though, for a tour on the tractor with his mother or father, Julia and John Wilson.

Like Johnny, other afflicted children who receive proper treatment may live to enjoy shooting cap pistols, watching television, singing songs or playing a toy banjo—with the best of four-year-olds.

Black & Gold Diary

The halls of WHS were brightened this week by the addition of six new students. The freshman class was thrilled to add Linda Lee and Melinda Wetzoski from Gainsville and Judy Fennikin from Canadian.

Members of the sophomore class welcomed Richard O'Dell from Oklahoma City and Larry Flenniken from Canadian with "opened arms". These handsome boys are making tremendous progress with the girls and with their studies. Richard has shown an interest in dramatics and Larry is already memorizing poetry!

Sarah Wetzoski from Gainsville joined the junior class. A student of journalism, Sarah will be a member of the Corral staff.

We are very happy to have these students and hope they enjoy being a part of our school.

The sophomores are working feverishly on their assembly for next week. Sounds as if they are planning a dandy program.

Seems as if the junior rings are still coming in—at least I noticed a new one the other day.

Someone reported seeing Mel Ray in the beauty shop. Surely this is a false report.

The boys are extremely nice to the girls lately. Wonder if the Sweetheart Banquet to be held at the Corrado Inn, February 2, could be the reason.

Bobby and Henry tell me they hope to have the first issue of the Corral out next week. Am eagerly awaiting for the big scoop.

Connie Farmer had a ball at Perryton. But what girl wouldn't enjoy attending an FFA banquet!

Congratulations to Richard Parks for being chosen Teenager of the year. Another well-deserved honor to add to his long list of achievements.

Lize Wiley is walking on cloud nine and spreading sunshine all along her path. She has that personality plus.

Need to study, so goodnight.

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCES PLANS

A five year construction program which anticipates the investment of an additional $130,000,000 in new facilities to meet the electric needs of this area, has been announced by A. R. Watson, president and general manager of the Southwestern Public Service Company.

"In all sections of our 45,000 square mile service area, the indications are that the fast growth which has marked recent years will continue. We have a two fold obligation to have facilities available for our customers before their need, and to keep their rates low and service efficient. Our construction program is designed to fulfill that obligation", Watson said.

The 1963 portion of the 5 year program calls for an investment of nearly $25,000,000, with new generating and transmission facilities accounting for the bulk of the figure.

"I'm not sure that our customers are aware of the vital part that new equipment plays in keeping their rates down. Our fuel rates, for example, are up almost 100% in the last ten years. Yet, by constantly investing in new and efficient equipment, plus the fact that our customers are using more and more electric service, we have managed to keep our rates at the same level that existed 11 years ago", Watson said.

Watson emphasized that the United States strengthened its world leadership in the production and transmission of electric power in 1962, contrary to some reports from government sources that Russia was gaining on this country.

"The United States, with only 6 percent of the world's population, produces nearly 40 percent of the world's electric power. We generate three times as much as Russia, and have four times the miles of transmission lines. Thanks to the foresight and action of our industry, Russia isn't even close as far as electric power is concerned and they're getting farther behind", Watson pointed out.

"When the American people have an opportunity to look at the record of the investor-owned, tax-paying electric companies of this country, they see that the arguments of the advocates of a government controlled, socialized electric power system will not hold water. We have kept the rates low, we have kept service efficient and ahead of the needs of our customers, and we have kept the United States far ahead of Russia in electric generation and transmission facilities. And, we have done all this at the very same time that we have paid to various state, federal and local government taxing bodies approximately twenty five cents of every dollar that we have received from our customers", Watson concluded.

CARD OF THANKS

To my friends, neighbors and loved ones, I want to thank each of you for all the cards, visits, prayers, gifts and words of encouragement that I received during my stay in the hospital.

A special thank you to Dr. D. E. Blacketter and the nurses who patiently waited on me so faithfully after I had surgery.

May God bless each of you.

Mrs. Black, and her family, are completely happy with their electric heating. Their home is not only heated, but is also cooled by an electric heat pump. They are impressed with the over-all warmth throughout the house. Mrs. Black is particularly happy with the cleanliness of electric heating and the "wall" test she is making in the top photograph proves it. You, too, can now enjoy electric heating in your new home or you can convert your existing home with little inconvenience.

ALL ABOUT YOUR SCHOOL

By Arling Cordell
Wheeler Schools

If you weren't present for the P-TA meeting Monday night, you missed one of the best programs this year. A panel discussed all phases of "A College Education for Your Child?" We were also entertained by some fine singing.

This is the week of decision for our student body when once again they face the mid-term examinations.

One of the fine projects being promoted by our Student Council this year is forming an Honor Society which will also admit its members to the National Honor Society. This will be a high academic honor based upon scholarship only, and is limited to the upper 10% of the high school student body. Many opportunities for scholarships also are made available to its members.

In still another area we are proud of the progress being made. The Americanism program here in school is being augmented by the Key Club members who are selling flags. Watch for some very important news concerning Wheeler Flag Day.

Perhaps if you haven't already done so, you would like to call David Dunn and order a flag kit for only $5.00.

Flying the flag of our country may seem a small thing, but think what it does to you when you see Old Glory waving in the breeze, or when you drive into a town and find the streets literally enclosed by this beautiful symbol of our American Heritage. Of course, it is proper to fly the flag each and every day during the daylight hours (except in very inclement weather) but all of us should fly it on all holidays.

Our school and its faculty are pleased and proud to welcome our many new students. We want these new families to feel at home here and we will do everything possible to make their stay with us both pleasant and profitable for their future.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this means of expressing my sincere appreciation to everyone who has been so thoughtful to me and my family during the past few days since my automobile accident.

For the cards, visits and words of encouragement I am grateful. To those who helped with the feeding during the extreme cold weather I can simply say it is appreciated more than you will ever know.

Bus Dorman

Weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dunn were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Latimer of Foss, Okla.

A recent study of marine angling reveals that salt water boat fishermen catch approximately 75 more fish per man a year than surf and pier fishermen.

The study also pointed out that by averaging the weights of all the marine sport fish taken in 1960 — the average fish weighs 2 1/4-pounds. If we're sport fishing for fun and food, the figure certainly gives a boost to light salt water tackle. For the meat fisherman who manhandles a 14-pound tuna or a 6-pound yellow tail on 3-thread line, a net would get more fish with about as much fun and satisfaction.

The finest sport fishermen swear that the fun is in the catching. A couple of hundred yards of 17-pound test monofilament on a Mitchell salt water spinning reel or an Ambassador 6000 is more than enough to take a 14-pound tuna in 15 minutes with plenty of thrills and a feeling of pride.

Fresh water trout and bass fishermen have given up on heavy line long ago. Inland fishing today is done with ultra light tackle and hair-thin line to keep the sport in it. It's about time salt water anglers earned their fish with technique and not just muscle.

Taken in conjunction with the 1960 national survey of fishing and hunting, the study by Fishery Biologist John R. Clark estimates the total marine sport catch in 1960 at 633 million fish weighing over 1.4 billion pounds. To get the figures, outdoor writers, sport fishing groups, magazines, charter and party boat operators, conservation agencies, and government and private marine laboratories were polled.

Clark found that "regular" salt water fishermen caught an average of 102 fish per year per man. Approximately, 369 million fish were taken by Atlantic coast fishermen, 185 million on the Gulf Coast, and 79 million by Pacific coast anglers.

The 10 most commonly caught species were seatrout, croaker, flounder, sea catfish, mackerels, porgy, whiting, bluefish, spot and grunt.

California yellowtail were caught in large numbers according to the report. Clark estimated that 2,370,000 yellowtail were taken in 1960. A quarter million yellowtail or more were taken by party boat fishermen alone.

I hope that all the anglers who caught all those fish had a good time doing it — that's what sport fishing is, isn't it?

Give for the life of a child!

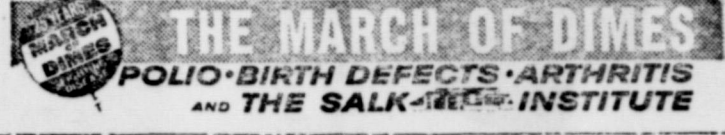

IS IT POSSIBLE that every child can be born into this world free from physical or mental defects?

Is it possible that there can be a cure or a preventive for arthritis, an affliction which has plagued people of all ages since the dawn of mankind?

These two questions—which concern every family everywhere—are the prime challenges of research supported by your March of Dimes . . . research which already has produced two polio vaccines and two Nobel prizes.

The answers will not be found for some time. To help speed the quest, The National Foundation-March of Dimes finances a nationwide, multimillion dollar research program and helps support the Salk Institute for Biological Studies in San Diego, Calif., where world-renowned scientists will study and work together to solve the most fundamental problems in the life sciences.

Until these problems are solved, your March of Dimes must devote millions of dollars each year to saving lives and alleviating suffering—helping patients afflicted with birth defects, arthritis and polio through direct aid as well as a rapidly expanding nationwide network of study and treatment centers which provide the best, most modern medical care possible.

"THE DELICATE DELINQUENT"

Jerry Lewis
Martha Hyer

ROGUE THEATRE

Wheeler, Texas

MOVIE REVIEW

By Laura Guthrie

It is true that THE DELICATE DELINQUENT is one of Jerry Lewis' first performances, nevertheless he is funny—in complete control of audience interest with his powerful pantomime solo scenes. But this movie is not all comedy. The story deals seriously with juvenile problems, demonstrating the theory of patience and understanding. Rating: Good.

THE INTERNS is based wholly on a recent Best Seller by the same title. The sequences have been ably transplanted on the screen. It is not just another "doco picture", but a series of dramatic, attention and attention-compelling high spots in the year of internship of a group of young doctors. There is a light side to this production which offers relief from tension, it is not a picture for the very young. Rating Excellent.

THANK YOU

I appreciate so very much all the nice cards and visits during my stay in the Shamrock Hospital. Your thoughtfulness and kindness means a lot to me.

NEWS & VIEWS

By J. Loyd Rice

The biggest news since I last wrote is the weather! Busted pipes, dead batteries, pulling cars to start them, and trying to keep warm. Guess we won't have any insects next spring.

One day I pulled Bill Lang's pickup to get it started, killed my motor and he had to pull me. I found out I needed a new battery.

Woke up Saturday morning, no water any where in the house. To cold for fixing pipes, or trying to crawl under the house. Just waited and let them thaw out.

When I came home from Church Sunday night I heard water running and noticed at the garage apartment that water was running out the door. I had left the faucet on while it was frozen and it thawed out. I had a mopping good time until about 9:00 p.m. and it froze.

I had a delicious lunch Monday Mr. Lantz, Mr. Fowler, and James at the High School Cafeteria with Lantz.

On my plate was a patch of round, brown, flat food of some kind and I was so busy talking I did not pay much attention. I got my knife and started cutting and it was crumbly. I said, "I can't exactly tell what this is."

James said, "That is a cookie." It was hard for me to change my mind after I had decided to eat hamburger, but the cookie was really better. This is the way life is.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

The fact that Internal Revenue collects 97% of our taxes without any enforcement effort on the part of Internal Revenue is one of the finest compliments to the American citizens that could be paid. Tax folks believe that most American taxpayers want to do what is right. They also want IRS to see that other folks do what is right.

None of us want to pay any more than we owe but we are willing to do our share if the other fellow is made to do his share.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammy Herd of Wheeler and Mrs. Leroy Herd left Thursday for Ft. Worth to be with Leroy Herd who underwent Surgery Friday morning at the Carswell Air Force Hospital. He was improving Sunday when they returned home.

WATER SPORTS AREA LOANS NOW AVAILABLE HERE

The United States Department of Agriculture announced in Washington that it is ready to help develop new water-based recreation areas.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said today the U.S. Department of Agriculture was "ready to go ahead" with public recreational developments in water shed projects as authorized by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1952.

U.S.D.A. was authorized to help create, enlarge, or improve bodies of water within watershed projects to provide for a full range of water-based sports, and to assist in developing recreational areas bordering the water.

"These developments will help meet the growing demand for new outdoor recreational facilities, and at the same time broaden the scope and local benefits of watershed projects," Secretary Freeman said.

The recreational facilities would lure outsiders to the area, and would provide the type recreation that industrialists seek for their employees in searching for new plant sites. Soil Conservation Service officials explained.

On nearby land, private landowners could develop supporting recreational facilities, such as weekend or summer cottages, hunting preserve, and ski slopes.

The development would bring town and country interests closer together, and thereby promote soil and water conservation activities which protect and improve farm and ranch lands, according to SCS.

This, in turn, would contribute to an improved agricultural economy.

"The Department is ready to help local watershed sponsors develop these recreational areas," Secretary Freeman pointed out.

Funds are available under USD A's regular $60.6 million watershed appropriation for fiscal year 1963. Construction could begin on the first of these projects early in 1963.

USDA was authorized to bear up to 50% of the cost of (1) land, easements and rights-of-way, (2) construction, and (3) minimum facilities needed for public access to and use of the recreational area. This cost-sharing and technical help would be provided through the Soil Conservation Service which has leadership for U.S.D.A.'s watershed program.

Land bordering the water could be developed for picnicking, camping, hunting, or other outdoor uses. SCS would provide local sponsors with funds to cover up to half the land costs, and also would help local sponsors pay for the land undated for recreational purposes.

Minimum basic facilities which could be cost-shared include: (1) boat docks and ramps, (2) beach development, (3) picnic tables and fireplaces, (4) parking lots, (5) public water supply, (6) sanitary facilities, including toilets and garbage disposal, (7) power facilities, (8) plantings and other shoreland or area improvements, (9) roads and trails, and (10) other similar and related facilities needed for public health, safety, access to, and use of recreational area.

Local sponsors could charge an admission fee to meet their annual operating and maintenance costs. Watershed residents also would derive other benefits from the development.

"There has been a dramatic increase in the Nation's need for additional recreation areas during the past decade," secretary Freeman said. "City dwellers and suburbanites are seeking the outdoors as never before."

At present, some 62 million acres of privately-owned land are being used for recreation. Estimates are that by 1980 we will need 85 million acres for this purpose. Watershed projects can go a long way in helping fulfill this need.

12 MISHAPS ARE REPORTED IN CO.

Highway Patrol investigated 12 rural accidents in Wheeler County during the month of December according to Sergeant J. W. Wilson, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for one person killed, two persons injured and an estimated property damage of $3,790.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for Wheeler County from January through December of 1962 shows a total of 81 crashes resulting in 2 persons killed, 47 injured. The estimated property damage amounted to $45,225.00.

When the final reports are tabulated in March of 1963, it is estimated the death count will be approximately 4% above the 2314 killed in 1961. This increase should be a challenge for every individual to put forth his best defensive efforts to prevent accidents for the new year.

The Veteran Patrol Supervisor cautions all motorists to beware of icy patches at bridges, underpasses and in shadows. Reduce speed before you reach the slippery area.

Martha and Earl Helton of Bakersfield, Calif., have been visiting friends and relatives here.

AGRICULTURAL AGENT'S NOTES

By CHARLES JACKSON

This past week I discussed feeding Vitamin A with Richard Brown, a Wheeler County Rancher that is wintering quite a number of calves on dry grass. He feels that Vitamin A increases his daily gain and that his calves winter in much better condition. He plans to add synthetic Vitamin A to his winter ration.

Vitamin A, the most important vitamin in beef cattle rations, has created a lot of interest recently in feeding beef cattle. This interest has been stimulated due to vitamin A deficiency which is usually noted by animals showing symptoms of "night blindness" or slowness to adapt to dim light resulting in temporary partial blindness during dim daylight hours. Accompanying this condition is a reduced daily gain and an increased feed requirement per pound of gain.

The common feedstuffs of plant origin are devoid of Vitamin A. However, green plants contain various yellow pigments called carotenes which can be converted by cattle to Vitamin A. Generally the total carotene content of plants increases with the greenness of the plant or the hay or silage produced therefrom. This is due to an association existing between the plants green and yellow pigments with the green masking the yellow pigments. Feedstuffs devoid of green pigments but containing carotenes are yellow pigmented (for example yellow corn, carrots, etc.

Carotene and Vitamin A in excess of the animals immediate needs can be stored in body and effectively utilized later. The ability of cattle to store Vitamin A and carotene depends upon their age. Young calves previously receiving green forage may exhibit vitamin A deficiency symptoms within 30-40 days after being placed on a ration devoid of carotene.

Yearlings, similarly treated, may not show deficiency symptoms for 3-4 months. Thus important considerations in deciding whether or not to include supplemented Vitamin A in fattening rations are (1) age of cattle (2) previous feed and (3) length of feeding period in addition to the carotene content of the ration to be fed. Cattle can convert one mgm of beta-carotene into approximately 400 I.U. of Vitamin A. According to a present recommended allowance a 400 lb. steer should receive about 24 mgm of carotene for normal growth and liver storage which would be equal to 9600 I.U. (International Units) of vitamin A.

Rations containing at least 5% dehydrated alfalfa meal, 15% bright green, leafy sun-cured alfalfa, 35% or less leafy, partly bleached hays, or 30 lbs. of sorghum silage should be adequate without vitamin A supplementation. Rations containing not less than one-half the amounts of green roughage indicated should be supplemented to supply 10,000 I.U. of supplemented vitamin A per head daily. This recommended supplementation may not be required by cattle possessing adequate Vitamin A stores but is recommended as adequate vitamin A stores. Rations containing some but less than one-half the amounts of roughage indicated above should be supplemented to supply 20,000 I.U. of supplemented Vitamin A per head daily. Rations containing no green roughage should contain sufficient Vitamin A to supply 30,000 I.U. of Vitamin A per head daily. This applies to "all-grain" rations.
