News Behind The-News

THE NATIONAL Whirligig

Written by a group of the best informed newspapermen of Washington and New York. Opinions expressed are those of the writers and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial policy of this newspaper.

WASHINGTON By George Durso

Choices—

A group of representative Republicans were lunching informally the other day. They hadn't gotten together for the purpose of discussing party politics but it eventually fell around to the C. O. P.'s future. It began with debate over the Lincoln Day speeches by former President Hoover, President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin, and Theodore Roosevelt, in which the New Deal variously was indirectly and directly attacked.

Several of those present had been wheel horses in past national campaigns. It was agreed generally that the Republican Party wasn't functioning very well at the moment for a rather obvious reason. It has no alternatives to offer the public as substitutes for New Deal policies—unless general return to the old order be considered an alternative.

There was general criticism around the table of such things as a $4,000,000,000 public works program without strings attached, NRA codes and the business of plowing pigs under. Yet when the board was canvassed as to one who was able to suggest alternatives that the others thought might hold general appeal for the public.

Burdens—

Order books present held out one large ray of hope for their fellow party men. It involved sitting tight a while longer and waiting for the Roosevelt administration to run the public debt a few billion dollars higher. They counseled that the debt be up around $36,000,000,000 next year. It should be possible to emphasize public fears about the burden of repayment.

More—

If Congressional mail is any indication the masses aren't giving a hoot how much Uncle Sam's bill runs up just so long as he keeps shelling out. Many Senators and Congressmen are convinced sentiment is swinging left of the program for which the New Deal stands.

One Western Senator, for example, revealed that a year ago 80 per cent of his mail was made up of demands that he stand back of President Roosevelt four-squars. Today, although FDR personally isn't being especially attacked, this Senator finds his daily mail mostly made up of complaints the administration program doesn't go far enough.

Stuck—

Long Gets Bomb, Strange Message In 3 Languages

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Examination of a bomb received in the mail Monday at the office of Senator Huey Long, disclosed Tuesday that a piece of paper used in constructing the instrument bore a strange message.

The war department interpreters informed Long's office that the message contained Greek, Yiddish and Turkish words.

The package was post-marked at Medford, Oregon.

A GOOD THING

People of Big Spring Monday did what was a good thing for the city. And yet more was wrapped up in it than a swimming pool.

It indicates that the tide of ultra-conservatism is apparently turning. In the immediate future when Big Spring must take, of necessity, some important forward steps, Big Spring will need an electorate that is progressive.

When only slightly less than 95 per cent of a people stand squarely together on any issue it is something more than an overwhelming majority. It means community unity.

While this does reveal a new spirit of oneness in the city, it does not follow that future elections will be of such lopsided proportions. Where money expenditures, to be repaid by taxation, are involved, look for hotly contested votes.

The main thing for which the election was called was to assure the city of a municipal, modern stadium. Now with this strong, positive vote, PWA can see clearly that Big Spring wants the pool.

When Big Spring has the new swimming accommodations, people of the city will have an adequate place to play during summer months. Not only this, but people from miles and miles around will come here to swim. And when they come to the city, they will spend money. And when they spend money, they are building Big Spring.

Even when they come to just swim, it is helping to make Big Spring the logical center of this vast area which is its rightful territory.

Brownwood Rancher And Helper Killed In Crossing Mishap

BROWNWOOD, (AP)—J. L. Matlock, 62, ranchman, and Bill Webb, employed by Matlock, were killed Tuesday at a railroad crossing six miles east of here when a train demolished their automobile.

Dr. M. H. Bennett left Tuesday for Abilene where he will appear as a witness in a federal court case.

Money Policy Sound, FDR Studies NRA

Administration Authorities Study Needs After Court Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt turned his attention to completing his new NRA recommendations Tuesday, completely satisfied that Monday's supreme court decision leaves his monetary program in a position so sound no further action is needed.

The White House said the message proposing a revised national recovery administration would probably go to congress Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration authorities gave special study Tuesday to possible legislative needs arising from the supreme court's ruling.

Though White House officials said immediate action is unnecessary, legal experts were especially hushed regarding Chief Justice Hughes' finding that government alterations of its own bonds was unconstitutional and might constitute breach of contract if damages could be shown.

Mrs. A. C. Hart and son, Howard, have left for Cross Plains where they will join Mr. Hart at the bedside of his mother, Mrs. J. E. Ellis, who is not expected to live.

Annual Ector County Livestock, Poultry Show To Draw Crowd

The annual Livestock and Poultry Show of Ector county apparently will draw a large crowd of ranchmen to Odessa again Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Some of the choice Hereford strain will be on display at the show as well as fine lines in poultry. There will be a grand auction sale at 2 p. m. Saturday.

Friday noon there will be a luncheon in connection with the event. Many local ranchers and business men will attend the show.

Ex-President Hoover And Son Lunch Here

By O. R. F. Ex-President Herbert Hoover and his son, Allan, narrowly escaped being the luncheon guests of the city of Big Spring Tuesday noon.

They would have been if Mrs. Gordon Phillips could have persuaded Mr. Allan Hoover, to let the chamber of commerce pay the luncheon bill. She was thoughtful enough to offer and he gallant enough to refuse to allow a lady to pay for his fried egg on hash.

Very good eggs they were, anyway; both father and son testified to that.

The two Hoovers were motoring along when they passed through Big Spring on their way to California from Chicago. They said they were glad to get out of the rain and wet of the east and into good old western sunshine.

Swimming Pool Project Wins By Strong Vote

By the overwhelming majority of 217 to 12 votes, Big Spring Monday voiced its positive desire for a modern municipal swimming pool.

Of the 229 people who voted, 94.7 per cent wanted the pool to be erected. It was one of the very strongest majorities ever recorded in the history of this city.

The city commission Monday evening convened in a called session to pass an ordinance authorizing issuance of general revenue bonds against the pool and the municipal golf course.

At the same time it was announced that bids would be opened February 25 and that the concern receiving the contract would be expected to actually start work within ten days.

Copies of plans and specifications may be had from Peters & Co. of Longview. A copy of the plans and specifications is on file at the city and is available for inspection by anyone.

Until late Monday afternoon, voting in the election had been extremely light. Then a rush of favorable votes began piling up and continued until poll closing time. Two persons, who said they wanted to vote for the issue, were refused a vote seconds after the month's time.

It is likely that the natatorium and bath house will be rushed to completion in less than three months' time.

The swimming pool will be located directly south of the city park on a slope. It will have a maximum depth of 10 1/2 feet and a minimum depth of 3 1/2 feet. The length will be 150 by 60 feet.

A modern two story bath house will be constructed at one end of the pool. The upper floor will be occupied by the caretaker and his family.

The city golf course lay out will be changed to permit teeing off and finishing of the round adjacent to the pool. The golf shop will also have quarters in the bath house.

In the election Monday the issue involved was the application of net golf course revenues with net pool revenues to retire the debt against the pool.

Of $32,000 being made available for construction of the pool and bath house, thirty per cent will be a direct grant from the federal government, the remainder to be repaid out of revenues from the pool and golf course. The indebtedness cannot be retired by a tax against property, real or personal.

Two Families Go To Austin When Bitten By Dog

Two families were enroute Tuesday to Austin to take Pasteur treatment against rabies.

C. M. White and family and C. P. Fills and son were advised Monday evening to go to Austin after a report showed that a dog which had bitten them, was afflicted with rabies.

Dr. Otto Wolfe sent the animal's head to Austin for an examination after the dog had bitten a number of people. The report on the animal's condition was received Monday evening.

Several weeks ago a mad dog terrorized families in the Knott community and several persons went to Austin for treatment. Many took the anti-rabies treatment here.

Fisher Meets M. Barackman

Tommy Gibbs Tackles Tricky Wilson In First Go

By HANK HART
 A double main event will feature Tuesday night's opening of Toby's and Fuhrer's new Athletic club which has been moved from its former location on Bunnels street into the Gary building on Main.

Two new lads, Clayton Fisher, who held semioficial of a reputation in the United States Navy, and Tommy Gibbs, who has a nationwide reputation as a doctor of the bone twisting art, will fill the bill along with a pair of local favorites.

Fisher will tangle with the ever popular Mervin Barackman while Gibbs will come to grips with the tricky Benny Wilson, former champion of the Southwest's middleweights.

Both Barackman and Wilson are undefeated in the Big Spring ring but will undoubtedly run into plenty of trouble in tonight's matches.

Fisher is widely known throughout the wrestling world and can be put into the same class with Sattler Moran, Otis Clingman, and Joe Kopecky, a trio who are highly rated by the recognized Arena magazines.

Gibbs is equally as famous, having defeated Yaqul Joe and Jack Reynolds. The fight with the latter was a non-title bout and the champion managed to sidestep the scientific Tommy after their single meeting.

Gibbs also went to a draw with Gus Kolko, who incidentally is the middleweight champion of the world at the present time. Gibbs can match everything Wilson has except experience.

Herman Fuhrer will have his share of labor when he crawls into the ring as the third man. Fuhrer one of the few nationally known referees of West Texas, is a veteran of many ring wars.

The bouts will start at 8:15.

Daniel's Calves To Participate In Moore Meet

Coach Daniel's Calves will journey to Moore Friday where they will enter the Moore Junior tournament.

The local team has been holding daily workouts and are shaping up in an ideal manner. A good defense was shown in their recent game with the Broncs when only three points was scored against them.

The Danielmen are in need of a pivot man but have nearly overcome that handicap with a set of good forwards and guards.

The Moore Tournay is expected to attract practically all of the junior teams within the county.

Texon to Take Lead In Organization of Semi-Pro Ball Loop

Plans are being completed to hold a meeting in Big Lake of all persons interested in forming a West Texas Semi-Pro Baseball circuit. The meeting has been called for February 24 at the Big Lake Oil company club house.

Big Spring representatives are urgently requested to be present to aid in forming a league.

R. E. Johnson, manager of the Texon baseball club has written Dr. M. H. Bennett of this city in an effort to arouse interest here.

Dozen Teams To Compete In Tourney

Henninger Says Teams From Panhandle Will Take Part In Cage Contest

About twelve teams are expected to compete for the trophy which will be awarded to the winner of the Couden Invitational Basketball Tournament. No dates have been definitely set, but the tourney will be held late in February.

Spike Henninger, manager of the Couden Oilers and sponsor of the meet has received word from Paducah and Morton that teams from both cities will arrive to take part in the meet.

Henninger has been dicker with a quintet from Sweetwater but it is not known yet as to whether a team from that community will enter.

The Oilers will play their first game since the recent Christoval Tournament, Tuesday night when they take the court against the Dixie Bakers. The Bakers recently finished on top of the Munny League, whose schedule has been completed.

Three members of the Oilers recently took part in the Loraine meet of which the sponsor city was victor. The local lads who joined up with Loraine were "Carhu" West, "Ice Wagon" former role of first string catcher of the Yankees for his injured hand has had sufficient time to heal completely. His other teammate, Dixie Walker, will try to come back into the fold after having been forced to go on the voluntary retired list by a sore arm.

Another victim of the sore arm plague was Lefty Grove, of the Boston Red Sox. Lefty reports that he has not felt the slightest twinge or tweak in his famous left flipper during the winter vacation of walking, hunting, bowling and working on the rowing machine. He doesn't claim he will regain his blazing 1931 form which netted him 31 victories but he does promise the Red Sox 20 games.

Joe Hauser, Milwaukee's home run king, suffered a broken knee in a base running accident in Kansas City last summer. But that's ancient history to Joe now. He's ready to start producing homers on a wholesale scale as soon as the season gets under way.

You can't help but admire the courage of these "hard luck" boys — may they get a better break in 1935.

Charles Gelbert, former Cardinal shortstop, has steadfastly refused to admit that the accidental discharge of a shot-gun ended his playing career when it tore the muscles of his left leg. His persistent efforts, after several operations, have resulted in such improvements, his physicians said, that there is an excellent chance that he will be able to play ball this season.

Gelbert has been signed by the Cardinals and will try to prove his worth. Quite a job he has cut out for himself, trying to regain a place on the team which won the world's championship in such dramatic fashion last fall.

The New York Yankees have three "cripples" to look over at St. Petersburg—Earl Combs, Bill Dickey and Dixie Walker.

The gray-haired Combs was nearing the end of his big league days when he crashed into the wall in St. Louis and seriously injured himself. For days after the crash his very life was despaired of, the question of playing ball again seemed too remote to consider. But time and proper attention have worked wonders for this popular outfielder, and today, to all outward appearances, he looks ready to pluck up the loose threads on short notice.

Bill Dickey should have little difficulty in stepping back into his

Cripples To Star Again

Baseball Boys Getting Impatient For The Big Grind

(By the Associated Press)
 "I'm in great shape. Never felt better in my life, etc." or words to that effect, is the chorus of the brigade of stars whose careers on the diamond were interrupted by injuries.

Here is one group of baseball players who are most impatient for the training period in the Southland to get underway for they are anxious to prove that their effectiveness has not been impaired.

The veteran "Rabbit" Maranville, refusing to be relegated to the coaches' ranks, insisted on signing a player's contract with the Boston Braves. At 43, he is certain he can come back after the unfortunate spring training accident which kept him out of the game all last season.

Late last March Maranville's leg was broken when he crashed into Norman Kies, a young catcher for the Yankees. It was the beginning of a series of unfortunate developments. The bone failed to mend properly and had to be broken and set four times.

In preparing himself for the comeback, the game little veteran has been jogging several miles daily. His heart is set on making good all over again and having watched this miracle man of baseball for these many, many years, I, for one, would not care to wager against his chances.

Charlie Gelbert, former Cardinal shortstop, has steadfastly refused to admit that the accidental discharge of a shot-gun ended his playing career when it tore the muscles of his left leg. His persistent efforts, after several operations, have resulted in such improvements, his physicians said, that there is an excellent chance that he will be able to play ball this season.

ON TONIGHT'S MAT CARD

The boy with the mean expression is none other than Benny Wilson, the undefeated ringmaster here who needs another history to Joe now. He's ready to start producing homers on a wholesale scale as soon as the season gets under way.

His persistent efforts, after several operations, have resulted in such improvements, his physicians said, that there is an excellent chance that he will be able to play ball this season.

Gelbert has been signed by the Cardinals and will try to prove his worth. Quite a job he has cut out for himself, trying to regain a place on the team which won the world's championship in such dramatic fashion last fall.

The New York Yankees have three "cripples" to look over at St. Petersburg—Earl Combs, Bill Dickey and Dixie Walker.

The gray-haired Combs was nearing the end of his big league days when he crashed into the wall in St. Louis and seriously injured himself. For days after the crash his very life was despaired of, the question of playing ball again seemed too remote to consider. But time and proper attention have worked wonders for this popular outfielder, and today, to all outward appearances, he looks ready to pluck up the loose threads on short notice.

Bill Dickey should have little difficulty in stepping back into his

Deed To Tract Of Land in 1792 Museum Exhibit

One of the interesting items in the Museum collection is a deed to tract of land in West Virginia signed by Henry Lee, famed in Revolutionary War History as Lighthouse Harry. The deed is now in the possession of William Mann of Big Spring. Mr. Mann is lending this deed to the Museum temporarily.

The deed states that for two pounds sterling in money the tract of 960 acres is awarded William Mann, great great grandfather of William Mann and of Mrs. W. F. Cushing of this city.

The land was then in the state of Virginia, now in West Virginia. The ink is faded but the writing legible and the script of Henry Lee, governor of Virginia at that date, 1792, is quite bold and fascinating. The seal of the Commonwealth of Virginia is faded.

Mr. Mann who is the oldest son of the oldest son owns the deed. The land is still in possession of the Mann family living in West Virginia, with the exception of a small farm that was sold out of it. Mrs. Cushing was born there.

The Museum is open this afternoon and every other afternoon this week throughout Sunday from 3 to 6 o'clock, for the second week of open house. Open house celebrates the second anniversary of the location of the Museum in its present site, the former fire station.

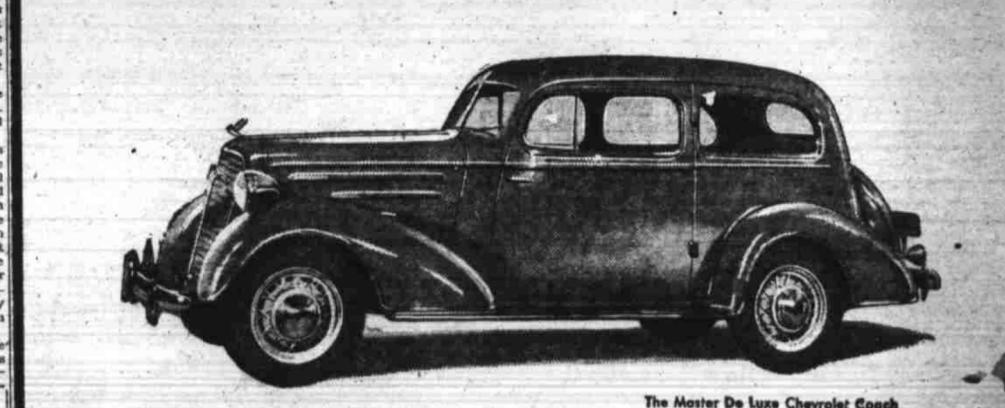

Different club women of the city and high school girls are acting as hostesses and guide. The public is invited to see the many interesting relics and object on view.

NATURAL LAXATIVE FOOD WINS NATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Helps Millions to Regular Habits

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is one of the most popular laxative foods in the country today. Millions have found it thoroughly satisfactory for correcting constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

In addition to its popular approval, ALL-BRAN has been accepted by science. Research shows it offers mild "bulk" to aid elimination. Also vitamin B and iron. The American Medical Association Committee on Foods has granted Kellogg's ALL-BRAN its Seal of Acceptance. This delicious cereal is also approved by Good Housekeeping Institute.

Within the body, ALL-BRAN forms a soft mass which gently clears out the intestinal wastes. More effective than the "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down in the body.

Isn't this food better than patent medicines? Unlike cathartics, it remains effective with continued use. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. ALL-BRAN is much more satisfactory than part-bran products. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty at this session has just completed a confidential poll of the Senate. Those in charge refuse to divulge figures but they concede privately it was rather disappointing.

Backers of the Lakes-to-the-Atlantic waterway had been confident they would pick up an adequate number of votes in last November's election finally to put it across—provided of course Canadian politics happen to be in a quiescent state.

When last seen they were rummaging around for leverage that would prop up a few doubtful votes.

Beheading

Word is going around Washington that Mike Tighe, veteran president of the Amalgamated Steel and Iron Workers' Union, is on the verge of getting a two-edged sword swung at him.

The rank-and-file boys who stirred up trouble last year are back again but they aren't the major worry in Tighe's life at the moment. The Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor feels Mike down on the job of organizing the steel industry.

It is said that organizers are to be sent out to drum up business all around him. If and when enough recruits are signed up, there will be a new head of the steel union.

Soft

Just toss a bill in the hopper that contains an experiment of patronage and the boys will discover it faster than they would a horse shoe in a plate of hash.

Senator King of Utah introduced a measure to appropriate $5,000,000 to wind up any and all claims arising out of the old Mexican Border trouble. It provides that three commissioners will do the job.

The bill hasn't even gone through committee yet but eager hands are on the pie counter. History shows there is nothing sadder than one of these commission jobs where there are only a couple of meetings a year.

Revenue

Hard, cold figures impelled the government to announce its war to the finish on bootlegging.

Before prohibition it was a low year when taxes were not paid on at least 80,000,000 gallons of liquor. During the first year of repeal, despite a sustained thirst, revenue was collected on only 38,000,000 gallons.

Results already have begun to show. Treasury figures are creeping up steadily month by month—allowing for the Christmas rush.

For one thing Uncle Sam has put gaugers in rectifying plants to cut off a big outlet for bootleggers. Within the next few days of the permit this was not deemed necessary. Now we need the revenue.

Defense

Pacific Coast naval defenses are well looked after in the naval bill. The program has the hearty support of the President. One of the greatest weaknesses of the Navy on the West Coast has been the lack of drydocks to care for capital ships. This is to be remedied by building docks at Puget Sound and Pearl Harbor. The submarine and other defenses of the Panama Canal are to be greatly strengthened. Air bases along the West Coast are to be enlarged and provided with all facilities.

No mention is made of defenses west of Hawaii. If bases are to be established the fact probably will be concealed. The Joint Board and the Navy General Board do not report their activities.

Notes

Three members of the NRA board want to quit. Birth controllers in Washington conclude that the good time's coming when Congress will suspend the last remaining public lands out of homestead entry.

House leaders can't shove off the bonus vote much longer. FDR will be asked to give landscape and mural artists a lift under the work-relief bill.

Mrs. Henry Morgenthau Jr. is working for this and no one is closer to Mrs. Roosevelt.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

Oblivion

Dismissal of Jerome Frank and other liberal members of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is seen here as foreshadowing a fundamental change in policy. Within a week after they were fired Secretary Wallace sent through some official recommendations to Congress for amendments to be enacted along with the renewal of the AAA's charter. His suggestions indicated a subtle shift to the right which passed almost unnoticed.

For instance, Wallace was definitely hostile to agricultural cooperatives a year ago. He tolerated their existence—but that was about all. Now he advocates that they be given complete recognition in reframing the Act.

Furthermore, experiments with regional farm groups under direct federal control—in opposition to privately owned cooperatives—will be abandoned. This marks the knell of the "collectivism" for which Tugwell and Frank were shooting. Conservative farm interests privately hope that Tugwell will soon follow his theories into official oblivion—at least so far as the Department of Agriculture is concerned.

era. A five-course dinner was served.

Present were: Mary Louise Inkham, Mary Louise Wood, Eloise Kuykendall, Nancy Phillips, Winifred Pinner, Wynell Woodall and Mary Alice McNew.

After the dinner, the guests played games, danced and ended the evening by going to the fortune teller's.

Sacrifice

New Yorkers who have had dealings with the AAA have been complaining about Frank and his legal division for some time. They claim that on several occasions they apparently reached a satisfactory understanding with Chester Davis as to the terms of marketing agreements. Each time these were upset because the legal division—whose job was supposedly merely to draft these agreements in suitable phraseology—changed their meaning so much as to make them unrecognizable when they were returned for ratification. Finally several farm organizations made it plain they would have nothing more to do with the AAA as long as Frank was in a position to alter their ideas to suit himself.

Protests on this score have been numerous and heated lately. It's understood that Wallace and Davis decided it was better to sacrifice Frank than to take a chance on queering all hopes for practical progress.

Credit

Financial conversations point to the figures for commercial loans as proof that the government is barking up the wrong tree in its efforts to expand private credit.

Federal Reserve member banks recently enlarged in an attempt to get this credit money in circulation through every possible channel.

Mortgage

Did you ever stop to count up the government agencies that finance mortgages in one form or another?

There are no less than six—the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Federal Housing Administration, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, the Home Loan Bank, the Federal Savings and Loan Administration and the Farm Credit Administration. A patent seventh, the Federal Reserve System, has to be added if it is when the pending amendments to the banking law are enacted.

Comment runs that real estate certainly ought to get somewhere with all this assistance. But so far it remains as depressed as a playboy at a prohibition picnic.

The new home loan appropriation—which will probably be authorized by Congress—calls for $250,000,000 in cash that wasn't accounted for in budget estimates. But what's a budget among friends?

Riddle

Anti-New Dealers make merry about the miscalculations in the social security bill. They claim the President would be obliged to veto the very law he recommended if it should pass in its present form—and call that a lovely sample of Washington efficiency.

The boys who doped it out got their figures twisted somewhere and the President is launched without an adequate check-up. It has now been discovered that it would lead the government into progressive bankruptcy—and that would make a sweet issue. Secretary Morgenthau is reported as plenty bothered.

This dumps a tough riddle in Congress' lap. It would hardly do for the President to repudiate his own program publicly. So the lawmakers must work out sweeping changes which will satisfy the national demand for social security without sinking the Treasury for keeps.

Gaff

Experts agree that half a billion dollars could be spent to advantage to eliminate railroad grade crossings. The plans are all set and thousands of men could be given jobs at once. The big question is who's going to pay the bill. The railroads can't. The government doesn't want to. It looks as if John Q. Public would stand the gaff once more—this time in the form of a tax on railroad tickets.

Handicap

You may not have noticed, but the American Bankers' Association is running a publicity campaign to try to offset the assaults of Huey Long and Father Coughlin. Hundreds of "constructive" articles have been released to the press.

But the bankers are handicapped because they must retain their dignity. Comment runs that dignity against such opposition is a four-mile handicap in a five-mile race.

Sidelights

Liberalized discount provisions in the new Federal Reserve Law should help the bond market.

Taxes on gasoline and motor lubricants amounted to $784,000,000 in 1934.

Sweeping

New York rates the new tobacco code a consistent follow-up to the renewed motor code and a neat example of balance between industry and labor.

In the first place, a tobacco code was necessary as part of the stage setting for prospective legislation of NRA. It was the most important industry outside the fold. Who could expect business to take NRA seriously when its chairman belonged to a group that had never signed up?

Naturally the Federation of Labor didn't care for the 40-hour basic work week and the 25 to 40-cent minimum wage. Here again there were two basic motivations: (a) Not to let the Federation dictate terms and (b) To get some kind of wage and hour code into immediate effect with a minimum of argument and readjustment. Tobacco interests have no kick coming at present but they do have nervous premonitions about the future.

The informed predict sweeping changes in June with marked gains for labor—as in the case of motors—assuming FDR gets the necessary powers to push them through.

Tacklers

New York sharpshooters say that Senator Carter Glass will be a more prominent figure in this congress than anyone had expected—including himself. He's been made a sort of unofficial field marshal of the twenty-odd senators whose chief aim is to block New Deal leftist leanings.

It's understood that the peppy Virginian had no hankering for the job. He would have preferred to concentrate his fire on his specialties—banking and currency. But McAdoo of California, Bennett Clark of Missouri and Harry Byrd of Virginia—who were also considered for the post of opposition quarterback—failed to fit the role for one reason or another and Carter found it wished on him.

The strategy of the opposition is based on the experience that FDR is always ready to split the pot rather than face a showdown. Therefore—in spite of their numerical inferiority—they hope to force several important compromises. The Republican minority can be counted on to be useful.

They are especially determined about one thing. Utility holding legislation in its present form simply must be tackled for a loss for the sake of big business in general as well as for the utilities themselves. New York leads the cheering section.

Stake

Keen political observers see a curious political situation developing for 1936 which may give FDR plenty to think about. They visualize the possibility of a four-cornered contest which would have the voters running in circles.

As they see it, apart from FDR himself, Huey Long may be in there covering the left wing. Jesse Jones the right wing, and Governor Alfred Landon of Kansas the

One thing the proposed holding company legislation has accomplished is to bust up the private feuds in the utility camp. Disagreements as to tactics have vanished in the face of the common danger. The industry is really pulling together for the first time in years.

Assurance

It's all very well for Joe Kennedy to tell the boys they have nothing to fear from the Securities & Exchange commission as long as they act in good faith—but Wall Street wonders just how much weight his views will carry with lawyers who make a business of fostering strike suits. They are in a menace that cannot be disregarded.

Threat cards in the process of a squeeze must be over the adversary that is to be squeezed. In other words, the adversary must be forced to discard ahead of the hand of the contracting partnership in which a card will prove a winner unless that adversary can keep a higher one.

And so, sometimes, while a long suit is in the declarer's hand, after it is run, the final squeeze must be done by the dummy because of the holding of adverse cards. In illustration:
