As you can see, I finally found what I wanted for the heading on the paper. We will be using this heading for awhile and if I find a farm scene that I like, I will ad it to the heading, since this is a farming community --- One would get the idea that our town is on the move, and it is. The razing of the two buildings at the end of Texas Street was completed Thursday and Clarence Robison was out measuring for the new Mobil Station which will be erected on the location. Some of the dirt work was done on the motel location and work is to be completed in not more than 90 days. Don Earney and R.J. Holt, Jr. announced that the motel will consist of 16 units, living quarters and office----Nora Watson has completed the remodeling of her Cafe and had her anniversary reopening last Sunday----The Joe Anderson home east of town is nearing completion with the family planning to move in shortly ---- R.J. Holt, Jr. and Don Earney have purchased the gin lot recently vacated by the Wheeler Gin and are in the process of leveling it off----The Albert Chapmans have moved to their remodeled home - - Albert is celebrating the fourth anniversary of his station April 7th----Mr. and Mrs. Bill Topper and Linda will move into the Albert Chapman's the latter part of this week --- Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Adams and Mrs. Laura Guthrie and Cor. ky returned Tuesday from a trip to the cabin in New Mexico---- The family and I had an enjoyable three days in Oklahoma. Hope we didn't inconvenience anyone by closing the office Friday. ---- Vera Bricky found herself locked out of H&B Appliance Tuesday and was doing business on the side walk ---- Went to the District Clerk's office and found out that she has all sorts of goodies to ad those lbs. Guess I will have to limit visits ---- Is anyone busier than the Tax Office on January 31 and March 31. Yes, I was one of those who waited until the last minute to spend that $22.18 for a license plate. Might as well have gotten them when they were on sell, I don't have anymore money now than I did then ---- Wheeler County Farm Bureau's newly redecorated office surely looks nice. It is located next door to Nation's Barber Shop in the Marl Jaco building.

The afternoon meeting will begin at 200 with a program of singing and talks by former members, and also records will be read that will be of interest to all. More Wheeler County farmers are having soil samples tested this year than ever tested in the Texas Extenwere run in 1963 and the ty-four were tested in January and February and from the reports already received March and April will be the largest soil testing months Board Members, County ever recorded.

Farmers are finding that and also nutrient requirement will vary for different fields within a farm according to the crop grown, soil type, previous fertilizer treatment and terrain. The plant nutrient most deficient in the phorus is deficient in most of the samples tested. Potassium is recommended in some cases on alfalfa and midland burmuda, but thus far this element hasn't been deficient in most soils in our county.

A big surprise to some farmers has been that they may have been adding too great a quanity of one element and not enough of another, but generally the soil test report indicates that a higher rate of actual nutrients could be added for a higher yield and profit. Soil tests have pointed for each crop grown and the amount per acre on a given soil. Wheeler County's agricultural industry has the potential of testing over six hundred samples per year will naturally follow. and this would be allowing for a soil test to be appliable to a given field for two years. The main thing that soil test is doing is helping RDT -- Dickson Distributing to take the work out of farm-
