WHEELER COUNTY Salary Grievance Comm to Meet

The Wheeler County Salary Grievance Committee will meet Tuesday, Oct. 17 at 2:00 p.m. in the district courtroom in Wheeler, to discuss the possibility of raising salaries of county officials and employees 10% and instituting the retirement program prescribed by the Texas Retirement System at the rate of 7%, County Judge George W. Hefley told The Times today. The meeting will be open to the public.

If approved, the increase would lead to a deficit of approximately $24,430.50 at the end of the county's fiscal year, September 30, 1973, according to estimated figures prepared by County Auditor Gene Hall.

According to county records, county employees and elected officials received a $25.00 monthly raise since the first of the year. A new law passed during the last session of the state legislature provided for the creation of salary grievance and three members of the grand jury and chairmen by the county judge.

The Wheeler Mustangs had what it takes in the clutch last Friday night at Silverton and although they outplayed the Owls from start to finish, they had to come from behind to get a 14-12 victory.

It was the district opener for both clubs and left the Mustangs in a four way tie for the lead with going getting rougher from here on in.

A blocked punt for a touchdown gave Silverton a 6-0 halftime bulge and forced the Mustangs to play catch-up after having two promising drives in the first half blunted by a fumble and a pass interception.

After Wheeler had what appeared to be a safe lead in the closing minutes of the game, the Owls got a short punt at the Mustang 36 and in two passes had scored with the final 31 yards coming on a toss from Ken Wood to Stanley Martin.

The Owls went for two with 2:56 in the game which would have tied the ball game up but Wood was smothered by Calvin Sechrist and Kent Ware and the Mustangs rode out the clock after the kickoff.

The Mustangs looked sharper offensively than they had in the past but still were plagued at inopportune times with penalties and other mistakes.

Taking the opening kickoff, the Mustangs ate it up on the ground to the Silverton 26 with the big gainer being a 22 yard scamper by tailback Lewis Britt who followed crisp blocking around his left end.

The drive ended there when an Owl broke through and hit Gary Fischer just as he was getting ready to hand the pigskin off and Silverton recovered the loose ball.

Wheeler's forward wall and lead blockers in the backfield gave the Mustang ball carriers good running room throughout the game with 304 yards being carved out by Mustang backs.

Late in the second quarter the Owls were forced to kick from their 37 and a high snap was recovered by Randy Hanks at the 19.

Two plays later, Terry Culwell intercepted a pass on the 2 to thwart the drive.

Silverton moved the ball out of the danger zone but had to punt and Fischer returned the kick to the Mustang 35.

Wheeler was guilty of clipping on the return and set up shop on their 17 after the fine.

Just 46 seconds remained in the scoreless first half when Terry Culwell broke through and blocked Dale Stevens kick on fourth down and the Owls pounced on the loose ball in the Wheeler end zone for a 6-0 lead after having made just two first downs up to that point.

Ware blocked the extra point kick but time ran out on Wheeler as they vainly tried to score in the remaining time.

Fischer passed to Larry Rives for 15 yards to the Wheeler 47 and then the Mustangs got another first down at the Owl 41 as Fischer ran for 12 and out of bounds.

With 7 seconds left, Stevens broke off left guard on the counter and appeared to be a snakebit first half.

The Mustangs had the ball twice in the third quarter before they made the go ahead TD.

Their first drive came to an abrupt halt at the Silverton 28 as Ware fumbled but it didn't take the Mustangs long the next time they had the ball.

Moving from their own 23, Wheeler got a first down at the 36 in a couple of runs and then Stevens broke loose at left end on the option and raced 60 yards down the sideline before being hauled in on the Owl 4.

Britt got the call on a climb at right guard and stuck it in the end zone to tie the game.

Stevens booted the extra point and the visiting Mustangs were finally on the scoreboard after what appeared to be a snakebit first half.

A short kick out to the Silverton 41 by John Minyard put the Mustangs in business for the winning touchdown.

A hole at right guard and right tackle on successive plays opened up for Britt to ramble for 10 yards each trip and two first downs at the 21.

Three more runs by Britt got seven before Fischer picked up 5 and a first down on a keeper at left tackle to the Owl 9. The touchdown came on the seventh play of the drive as Britt broke at left tackle for the score with 7:45 to play in the contest.

Once more Stevens booted the extra point and it loomed real big minutes later.

Atterbury Purcell Visits Here; Honored With Tea

Atterbury Purcell, Congressman Graham visited in Wheeler Wednesday, Oct. 4 and honored with a tea given at the home of Mrs. Grainger Purcell. While here she presented two books to the Wheeler Public Library. Mrs. Purcell pointed out the books chosen, "We the People" and "Mount Vernon", are particularly important for every citizen to see vividly portrayed our nation's capital as it is today.

As described "We the People" as portraying the life of George Washington. Graham spent most of his time in the past eleven years. Mount Vernon is an illustrated handbook on the life of our nation's first president, George Washington. When Congress met in 1793, the Purcells lived in an area which was part of President Washington's farm. When he visited from Texas, they enjoyed taking them through the area. The buildings and monuments in Washington are beautiful and gardens and flowers are in bloom. They travel daily to George Washington

NEW LIFE FOR DYING BOOMTOWN

The following article was sent in by Mrs. Charlie Burnett in Miami as it is a parallel to the story of Old Mabetie.

By Nancy Gray
By all rights, Jacksonville, Ore., should have wound up in oblivion, just another one of those Gold Rush boomtowns that has long since been forgotten. After its heyday in the 1850s, when millions in gold were wheeled up the main street and it was the most important stop between Portland and San Francisco, the town practically perished. Jacksonville, bypassed by the railroad, lost out as county seat to upstart neighboring Medford watched population drop from its Gold Rush peak of 15,000 to 1,500 a decade or so ago, when "Dogpatch" was the kindest of a long string of Jacksonville nicknames. "Why, you had to work to get anyone to admit he lived here," an old-timer recalls. "He'd just tell you 'Medford Period.'"

A Letter from Jimmie

EDITOR'S NOTE:
The following letter was received by Mrs. Doris Forrester from our exchange student in Europe, Jimmie Cole. She has been nice enough to share it with us.
Dear Doris,
How are things in your home? Are you still keeping Wheeler on the ball? I miss seeing you and talking to you but I am doing fine here and having a very good time. I have a very good family here, I think. They are very friendly and understanding. They are rich but other than that they are fine! Really they are nice and want to buy me what I don't have. They have stereos and record players and radios all over the house. My new house is three stories high with more rooms than your church nearly! I live in the 3rd floor alone but have a stereo and do just fine. We have a dog that runs around and barks and makes noise. It's fun to play with though. All are nice and try to make me happy. I believe it will be a good year.
The 30th of Sept. we are going to travel for 1 week through Germany. They have had the trip planned by a travel agency here, so it should be very good.
Around here there are trees galore! All you can see besides houses and people is trees. It's rained almost every 2 out of 3 since I've been here at least some part of the day. It's beginning to get cold already. It has been over 50° F. five days since I've been in Germany seems like. I like snow though so I'll be alright.
School is really fun because I have German classes with the 10-13 year old kids and the rest with the other kids my age!
They asked me if I was a cowboy.
Your sort of son-Friend,
Jimmie

Wellington Skyrocks Next Grid Foe For Wheeler Mustangs This Friday

In quest of their second district win, the Wheeler Mustangs host the Wellington Skyrocks Friday night on Nicholson Field with a 7:30 kickoff slated for this second district battle for both clubs.

The Skyrocks are one of the two new members of District 2-A with the other being Valley High, the consolidated schools of Turkey and Quitique. District favorite Clarendon defeated Wellington last week to the tune of 41-20

Mustang JV's Seek Win After Losing to Lefors Last Thurs

In a return game with Lefors JV last week, the Mustang Junior Varsity lost a narrow 6-0 verdict on Nicholson Field.

When Silverton cancelled their game with the Junior Varsity, Lefors JV was a schedule fill in with Wheeler seeking to avenge a two touchdown loss to the Pirates.

Wheeler held off the Pirates at their 4 yard line as the second quarter opened but had the ball just a couple of plays when Jerry Earle fumbled and Lefors recovered on the Wheeler 11. It took Lefors four plays to score and it was the final margin in the game.

Wheeler came up a yard shy on fourth down at the Lefors 22 in the first quarter for the deepest penetration the young and improving JV's could muster in the first half.

The second half of play saw Wheeler get to the Lefors 24 and 25 but stalled out each time.

Wellington will be the opponent for the Junior Varsity this Thursday and the game will be played in Wellington with the start right after the conclusion of the Colt-Wellington game.

COLTS AND SILVERTON DEADLOCK 0 - 0 THURSDAY

Still undefeated, the Wheeler Colts saw their winning streak halted last Thursday as the Silverton Jr. High and the Colts duelled to a scoreless tie.

The Colts didn't look like the same ball club against Silverton as the one that had gotten opening victories against Shamrock and Clarendon.

Fumbling seven times and losing it four times cost the Colts dearly and they had to fight off a late rally by Silverton to keep the game scoreless.

The Colts drove to the Silverton 22 the first time they had the ball but Massick fumbled and Silverton recovered.

Twice in the second quarter the Colts had drives stopped and lost the ball on downs each time, once at the 18 and the other time at the 34.

was hit at the line of scrimmage and the ball floated free.

This was the only threat of the last half the Colts made and their defense was put to the test late in the game.

Silverton drove from their 40 to the Colt 9 where Silverton called time with 1:41 to play and the Owlets had a first and goal.

Ricky Markham came up with two big plays to throw the Silverton ball carrier for losses and with the aid of a big 15 yard penalty for illegal use of hands, the Colts took over on their 20 as time ran out.

The Colts will be after win No. 3 this Thursday when they travel to Wellington for a 6 PM encounter with the strong Wellington Jr. High.

It is doubtful that the Colts will have the services of their quarterback, Bobby Guthrie, who sustained a dislocated thumb in the Silverton game.

PAT'S PARAGRAPHS

PAT'S PARAGRAPHS
BY: Patricia Palmer, CEA
As you read this I will be in Denver, Colorado attending the annual meeting of Extension Home Economists. So I'm really having to think ahead in writing this.

There is a guide available to you from my office to help you understand and follow the brief care instruction found on permanent care labels on garments. Just call or write for it.

Delicious, nutritious and economical chickens can be found in many kitchens across America and around the world. And chickens can also be found in ageless proverbs from many different countries.

Perhaps the most common "chicken" proverb in America is "Don't count your chickens before they hatch." In China, there's a saying: "One needn't devour a whole chicken to know the flavor of the bird."

A Frenchman might comment, "He that eats chicken gets chicken." The Spanish say, "A chicken is not hatched for itself alone," and from India, the Hindus provide this one: "Women and chickens get lost by wandering from house to house."

"Broiler-fryers are expected to be plentiful in October" is not a proverb - but shopping advice by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service. October broiler-fryers production is expected to be 3% more than a year ago, assuring abundant supplies of broiler-fryers at attractive consumer prices.

You needn't put all your eggs in one basket" but your family will be glad you did if you try these savory chicken suggestions.

BUTTERMILK BAKED CHICKEN
1 cut up frying chicken
1/4 cup flour
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 can condensed cream of chicken soup
1 1/2 cups buttermilk
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 1/2 tsp. salt
Dip chicken into 1/2 cup buttermilk. Then roll in flour seasoned with salt and pepper. Melt butter in a 13 x 9 x 2 inch pan. Put chicken in pan, skin side down, and bake (uncovered) at 425° for 30 mins. Turn chicken and bake another 15 min. Blend remaining buttermilk and soup and pour around chicken. Bake 15 min. more, or until drumstick is tender when pierced with a fork.
Serves 6

1 chicken (about 4 lb.)
1 qt. water
1/4 tsp. pepper
3 medium onion, sliced
3 tsp. salt
1 tall can evaporated milk (1 2/3 cup)
10 large potatoes, peeled and cut in cubes
Cut up chicken. Remove pieces of excess fat and save for some other purpose. Place chicken pieces in a large kettle with the water, 1 tsp. salt and pepper. Cover and cook slowly until chicken is tender, about 2 or 3 hours. Remove chicken. Add potatoes and onions, together with the 2 tsp. salt, to broth in kettle and boil until vegetables are tender but not mushy. Meanwhile, remove chicken from the bones and cut into small pieces. When potatoes are tender, add chicken and evaporated milk and heat. Makes 6 to 8 servings.
NOTE: Carrots, green beans or peas may be substituted for part of the potatoes.

RICE WITH CHICKEN AND CHEESE
1 1/2 cups cooked diced chicken
Chicken bones
1 onion, chopped fine
1 1/2 tsp. chicken fat
1/2 cup uncooked rice
grated cheese.

Cover chicken bones with water and simmer an hour or longer. Drain off broth. Add water, if needed, to make 2 cups broth. Add salt to taste. In a large frying pan, cook onion a few minutes in chicken fat; add broth. When it boils rapidly, add the rice slowly. Cover the pan. Simmer rice about 25 min. or until grains swell and become soft. Stir with a fork from time to time to keep the rice from sticking. By the time the rice is done, it will have absorbed the broth and the grains will be large and separate. Then add the chicken and more salt if needed. Turn mixture onto a hot platter and sprinkle generously with grated cheese.
Makes 4 servings.

Jay Thomas to give the Skyrockets a fast tandem.
"Wellington has a big, fast club and they have a lot of good people on their team and you can forget their record when you look at the folks they have played," Coach Jim Bateman said.
"I don't imagine they have forgotten that the Mustangs have beaten them the last two years and this will give them a lot of incentive too," the coach added.

The head mentor of the Mustangs went on to add, "They can fly out of that backfield and we have got to contain them from getting outside to stay in the ball game with them."
The entire Mustang team drew plaudits from Coach Bateman for their team effort in the victory over Silverton.
"Our offensive effort was much better than it has been but we are still hurting ourselves with mistakes," Bateman said.
"Gary and Lewis did real fine jobs of running the football and both came with big runs when we needed them," continued the coach.

After grading the film, the coaching staff concluded that Dale Helton probably had his best game of the year defensively from his nose guard position.
"Calvin and Wayne did good jobs for us and Ken had a good game at line-backer and Rusty played well," the Mustang coach said in praising the defensive play that held Silverton to less than 100 yards 600 people a day.

One of the West's finest local historical centers, it was once the county courthouse--neglected for many, many years. Two blocks away, on California Street, a number of century-old buildings have been reclaimed to house antique shops and art galleries. The 92-year-old United States Hotel now shares most of its renewed grandeur with a flourishing bank. There are restaurants, an inn and an old fashioned mercantile store. And here and there, dotted along crisscross streets, several carefully restored homes are open to the public.

But there is nothing precious or put-on about this place, it is a real living, breathing, working town that has simply made history its industry, the result of a giant effort on the part of residents who visualized its potential. The reclaimers are as heterogeneous a group of people as you would ever hope to meet--old and young, newcomers attracted by the quiet and gentle life of Jacksonville and members of pioneer families who had given up all thought of ever being heard. What snapped them to life was the news, one morning in 1963, that a four-lane highway was destined to slash through their town. "We'd pretty much taken the place for granted until this came along," was the general report. "But it really got some of us going."

After an often bitter fight that pitted citizen against citizen, and almost everyone against the highway engineers, the plan was rescinded. The idea of cutting the place apart, throwing the surrounding rolling hills and rich pear-studded valley open to bulldozers, was out-and-out heresy. However, reflects lumberman Robertson Collins, who has served as a sort of catalyst for the activist forces, "the trouble was that once the highway was licked, we had to face the fact that something had to be done about Jacksonville. It was saved, all right, but what exactly had we saved it for?"
Collins rallied a group to examine the options. A study grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development produced a report that recommended restoring Jacksonville's main business section. Although the city council turned it down, the idea of restoration took hold. Now, however, it was clearly up to historical groups and private businesses, which found themselves blessed with a bit of ironic good luck: Jacksonville had been impoverished so long that there had never been any desire--or need--to replace its decaying structures with new and bigger ones. The town that once was, for the most part, still existed.

For starters, the handsome old courthouse was standing serenely intact. It already cradled the beginnings of a good museum, assembled by a member of a pioneer family. The Southern Oregon Historical Society set out to beef this up. (Happily, such groups are tax-supported in Oregon.) Private investors were encouraged to buy important properties and restore them. A few investors, including Collins, have done so; others have projects under way. Townspeople brought together a committee of outside experts, such as the University of Oregon's noted professor of architectural history, Marion D. Ross, to help point out to local businessmen the economic advantages of preserving the town. The net result was that Jacksonville was designated a National Historic Landmark, and the die was officially cast.

Citizens groups have been able to restore the condemned shell of the old United States Hotel, built in 1884, and persuade the U.S. National Bank of Portland to move in. They have turned a colorful old electric transformer station, one of two left in the state, into an information center for visitors. And in place of a new government-issue concrete-block post office, they have held out successfully for a sensitive brick design that comes close to capturing the town's spirit.

This has not been the work of old fogies in tennis shoes; not by a long shot. A host of young people has become deeply involved in the destiny of the town. Says native son Don Wendt, a young schoolteacher whose father drove the stage out to the mining and farming region known as The Applegate, over the hills east of town, and whose grandfather's dairy is still immortalized in the fading paint on the side of a building, "This has been the effort of a lot of people and their long evening vigils. There's someone from the preservation interests at every meeting that has the slightest bearing on the future of the community. There have been a lot of knocked skulls and harsh words, but you have to have them. Though we don't enjoy fighting among ourselves, we don't want to sit back and see Jacksonville dissolve."

Nor do the others who are placing an increasing value on the history and the basic good living here. Artists Bruce and Ann Butte, who with their two boys have moved into a broad, old Victorian, call it "old-time, old-fashioned ease." Audrey Reis, mother of two, explains: "We don't want to lose what we came here for. The children can ride their bicycles right down our main street, for example, and nobody ever worries."
Adds Audrey's husband, Alvin, a newsman and prize-winning poet, "There's something about living here that you feel but find hard to articulate. There's a sense of kinship with everyone. We have no real generation gap, though some of our friends and neighbors are well over 70--even 80. And there's no social gap either. We're all just living in Jacksonville."

Pretty Betty Jones recently moved back to Jacksonville with her banker-husband and children. "The five years we lived here were probably the most interesting years of our lives," she recalls. "The best thing that's happened to us is coming back."

DON'T TAKE RURAL TEXANS FOR A RIDE... AND DON'T TAKE US FOR GRANTED.

HERE'S WHAT NIXON IS DOING TO RURAL AMERICA
WHEAT SCANDAL - Giant wheat exporters made huge profits at the expense of individual wheat farmers, many in Texas, on Soviet trade.
TAXES - Wall Street Journal says federal laws favor the corporation or investor who farms on the side for a tax write-off.
FARM ISSUES - Under Nixon, parity dropped the lowest since 1933. Nixon held up payments of nearly $400 million for feed grains in 1970, forcing farmers to borrow at highest interest rates in history.
CONGLOMERATE SCANDALS - Big Business first, the public second - that's the Republican philosophy. Anti-trust suit against ITT dropped at the same time ITT pledged $400,000 to finance Republican Convention.
Harry S. Truman said, "The Republicans admire our government so much they want to buy it."
Let's face it. The Republicans just haven't changed much since the days of our grandfathers. They still favor Big Business over the average working man and woman. And while they're taking us for a ride, they keep telling us what a 'dangerous radical' Senator McGovern is.
That's what they said about Harry S. Truman.

HERE'S WHAT McGOVERN IS DOING FOR RURAL AMERICA
HIS STANDING - George McGovern has been elected time and again as a Democrat from a Republican farm state . . . because they know where he stands.
TAXES - His tax proposal would end the loopholes for tax-loss farming by giant corporations and the wealthy individuals who compete unfairly with family farmers. McGovern's proposal calls for the same tax on capital gains as on earnings.
FARM ISSUES - He sponsored and co-sponsored: Meat Import Limitation Law; Dairy Import Act; Wheat, Feed Grain, and Soybean Emergency Reserve Bill; Rural Development, Rural Job Development, and Rural Telephone Acts; Farm Credit Act; and other pieces of important legislation.
HIS BELIEFS - George McGovern knows that the answers to many of our most pressing problems in America today can be found by developing genuine opportunities for everyone in our small towns and rural areas throughout the country.
Let's not be taken for granted by the Nixon Republicans. Rural America has always fared best under a Democratic administration. If you want to stand up and do something good for rural America, the answer is to help put a Democrat in the White House. We need George McGovern . . . and George McGovern needs us.

RURAL TEXANS NEED A DEMOCRAT. RURAL TEXANS NEED McGOVERN

Tom Christian State Representative

TOM CHRISTIAN "stop wasteful spending"

As the parents of four children, Tom and Anne recognize the responsibility of providing a wholesome atmosphere around the home and neighborhood. Food, clothing, medical bills... all must be paid out of take-home pay. Waste in government spending creates an unnecessary tax burden on every family.

TOM CHRISTIAN "more jobs, better wages"

With the knowledge that comes from first-hand experience, Tom knows that new industries are needed to create more jobs. His ability to work with all levels of government to create job opportunities for the Panhandle is proven by his efforts in helping to establish the Texas State Technical Institute.

TOM CHRISTIAN "water is vital to us"

Tom, a Navy veteran, is a man who has earned a living by farming and ranching. He knows the need for water. Conservation and increased supply are two key factors in the program that must be developed to meet future water needs. Tom has earned a reputation in the Texas Legislature as an effective leader in the agriculture industry.

Pol. Advt. paid for by Wheeler County Christian for State Representative Committee, Charles Brown and Glynn, co-chairman.

the time left until frost for late planted fields to make. Cotton fields are coming along real fine. The big concern of growers is what they're going to do with the crop. There's a bumper crop all over the state. The big crop is due to increased acreage and good yields. Favorable prices last fall caused producers to increase plantings this spring. Most of the cotton is going into the loan.

We've been receiving a lot of good feedback on the meeting at Kelton last week. Some folks are getting concerned, me included, that one-fourth of the people between 20 to 44 years old left our country the past ten years. The only way we can see to stop or slow down this type of out migration is to start to work right now. We believe that a balanced agriculture with cattle and grassland as an integral part can help stabilize our farm income and stem this out-migration. That's why we try to emphasize grassland management at every opportunity.

We've had seven screw-worm cases reported in Wheeler County this past month. We still have plenty of the mailing containers. Perhaps next year the eradication program will work better for us. It's been close to ten years since the screwworms have been up this far. Some of the younger cowboys may not have ever seen a case. It may be worthwhile for you to spend a little time with the younger cowboys. Sometimes a watchful eye can save a few calves.

Had an opportunity to attend a fine range tour last week. A lot of Wheeler County folks turned out. The Prime Feeders Feedlot sponsored a barbecue. A number of ranchers in the area are still growing native grasses and getting good results with them.

Dick DeArment, Biologist with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept., Dick Hefley, rancher and manager of Prime Feeders Feedlot, and Joe Norris, Field Specialist for the Soil Conservation Service were on the program.

Don't forget to vote in the Zone 4 election of the Wheeler County Soil and Water Conservation District. They'll meet to elect a director. The election will be held on Thursday night, October 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Mobeetie Church of Christ. Any man or woman and their husband or wife who is 21 years of age and owns land in Zone 4 of the Wheeler County Soil and Water Conservation District can vote. We encourage you to do so.

Rodney Chambers, a 1971 graduate of Texas A&M University is on the job now with the Wheeler County Soil Conservation Service. Rodney is real interested in grasses, is a native of Wise County and did his initial work at Spur.

If your six year old saw something like this, would he know how to phone for help?

It's too important a question to leave to chance. That's why we're running this ad. If there are any six- or seven-year-olds around your house, teach them how to report emergencies. Tell them to dial "0", give their name and tell our operator where they are and what's wrong. With older children, train them to dial emergency numbers direct, since that's the fastest way to call for help. But don't stop there. Copy down the emergency numbers listed on the inside front cover or first page of your telephone directory. Add your family doctor's number. And the number of the nearest hospital. Next, tuck up the list near your phone. Then get your kids to memorize it, in case it gets lost. By the time they're through memorizing those numbers, they're going to have every grownup in the house knowing them, too. Which is also why we're running this ad.

GROUNDWATER MANAGEMENT POTENTIALS

An item of interest appearing in the June issue of Water for Texas, a magazine published by the Texas Development Water Board, summarizes the status of our Ogallala groundwater treasure. It estimates that approximately 280 million acre feet of water are economically recoverable from the Ogallala formation in the High Plains and that the replenishment amounts to only a small fraction of an inch annually by rainfall. In 1969, 6.5 million acre feet of water was being used from the Ogallala for irrigation. This article further reminds us that while there are large reserves north of the Canadian River (some areas of the north Plains are estimated to have reserves in excess of 100 years at present rate of depletion), the South High Plains reserves are being seriously depleted.

The New Testament Church Its Beginning

BY: Marlon McWilliams
The church set forth in the New Testament rests upon seven cardinal principles. These are: (1) the death of Christ; (2) the resurrection of Christ; (3) the ascension of Christ; (4) the sending of the Holy Spirit by Christ; (5) baptism by His authority; (6) baptism "into the name of the Father and of the Son and the Holy Spirit"; and (7) salvation in the name of Christ. Apart from these foundation stones there could be no NEW TESTAMENT church.

It is axiomatic, therefore, that there could be no New Testament church until these foundation stones were all firmly laid. We ask, then, when and where were these first laid?

Some six months before the death of our Lord, He said: "Upon this rock I will build my church" (Matt. 16:18). At that time the building of our Lord's church was still in the future. But from the first Pentecost following His resurrection the church was always spoken of as something in existence, and people were being "added to it" (Acts 2:47). It follows then that the church had its beginning between the time Jesus promised to build it and the close of the next Pentecost day.

When we read the second chapter of Acts we note for the first time the announcement of all the seven cardinal facts upon which the church rests. Speaking by the Holy Spirit, the apostle Peter publicly declared that Jesus had been "delivered up by the determinate council and foreknowledge of God," and that "by the hands of lawless men" He had been crucified and slain, whom "God raised up, whereof we are all witnesses."

He then explained: "Being therefore by the right hand of God exalted, and having received of the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, he hath poured forth this which you now see and hear"—thus alluding to the outpouring of the Holy Spirit.

Those who heard the words of the apostle were pricked in their hearts, and cried out, "Brethren, what shall we do? And Peter said unto them, Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of your sins; and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit" (Acts 2:32-38).

Acting under the Great Commission (Matt. 28:19,20) which the apostles had received of the Lord to go and "make disciples of all nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit," the apostle Peter thus announced for the first time baptism by the authority of the Lord Jesus Christ, and "into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit."

Thus, baptism was first proclaimed by Christ's authority on this day; it was administered—according to the Great Commission of Christ—"into the name" of the Triune God; and remission of sins, or salvation, was proclaimed in HIS NAME on this day for the first time (Lk. 24:46-47). A few days later Peter explained, "And in none other is there salvation: for neither is there any other name under heaven that is given among men, wherein we must be saved" (Acts 4:12, A.S.V.).

Since all of the foundation stones upon which the church rests were firmly planted upon the first Pentecost following the resurrection of our Lord—in the city of Jerusalem—it is understandable that the church was henceforth spoken of as being in existence. Indeed, the apostle Peter actually spoke of this day as "the beginning" (Acts 11:15). Jesus also spoke of it as the beginning date for the erated electricity. Some petroleum sources are reporting that we have gas reserves for less than 15 years.

The foregoing touches briefly on a subject that is vitally important to our Panhandle region. Isn't it about time we started an in-depth study of this problem?

proclamation of the Gospel of Christ. Thus the laws governing His church became functional on the very day it was started, and all men from then until now enter it the same way.

Truly, Pentecost marked the beginning of the church set forth in the New Testament. It was also the beginning of the kingdom of God, or the kingdom of Christ in its operational sense. It was the beginning of Christ's reign over His kingdom. This day marked the beginning of the law of Christ as King over His kingdom. It was, in reality, the beginning of the entire Christian system.

We do not, therefore, go back before the death of Christ upon the cross to learn the terms of entrance into His church, or kingdom. We do not go back to the law of Moses to learn how to worship God in the church set forth in the New Testament. Neither do we look forward to Christ's return for the establishment of His reign upon this earth. He is our King now, we are His subjects now. We are amenable to all of His laws now. When He comes again it will not be to set up a kingdom, but to raise all that are in the graves, either to "the resurrection of life" or to "the resurrection of condemnation" (Jno. 5:28).

Any church that did not start in the City of Jerusalem, on the first Pentecost following the resurrection of our Lord, is not His. Any system found in the New Testament constitutes no part of the church therein set forth, or the principles governing it.

All that we know about the church of our Lord, or the principles by which it is governed, we learn from the New Testament, and it alone.

Here & There

BY: Laura Guthrie

Your writer has just returned from what should have been a wonderful trip. But instead, she is sad, weary, exhausted and perplexed. After one night and next morning breakfast, the Texas Teepee burned. My good friends Grace Porter and Mary Finsterwald were with me. In spite of the fact that we were not dressed for the rugged outdoors, we had time to dress and get our clothes. (We had not unpacked our suitcases) Due to the type of construction there was a slow burn, but smoke prohibited entry into the house. Area fire departments were prompt but there wasn't too much they could do to save the upper part of the house and the A type roof. I've heard it said that firemen never lose a foundation. These men did save the lower floor and contents (slightly water drenched!)

But I'm grateful for unharmed lives, willing neighbors, concerned and helpful relatives, and comfort, help and consolation of my friends Mary and Grace.

Despite all the upset we did have a chance to do all the things we planned to do, except relax, of course.

This was the 25th anniversary of Ruidoso's Ascendade on Saturday morning. After the fire was extinguished, we were escorted to ring-side (inside) seats for the parade. Then my brother had tickets for us to the Barbeque at the park. After that we settled ourselves in a complementary mobil home on my brother's place. Next morning we boarded a bus for the Sierra Blanca Ski area. We loved the grandeur of the mountains and color of the forest. That afternoon my sister-in-law took us on a foliage tour of the lower hills and canyons. Monday afternoon she showed us some of the residential subdivisions of those hills. The houses, contour of land and extent of building is unbelievable. Tuesday morning was spent with insurance representative and general business. Leaving boarding up of the house to my devoted and helpful brother, we had a quiet trip home.

Irene Dyer went to Ruidoso with the above mentioned parties and visited her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Esslinger. Roy was helping with the boarding up of the cabin as we left our retreat.

Could I leave the personals to some one else this week?
