Fair Is Planned

Plans are taking shape for a Wheeler County Fair. A group of people met in the county Extension office Thursday night, June 12th to begin making plans for the 1975 Wheeler County Fair. The fair is scheduled for Septembet 12 and 13th and will be held in the Wheeler County Agric ult ural Center according to Joe Hefley, president of the Wheeler tendent of the fair. Other addition to the Wheeler County Livestock Show Asso ciation and general superin-County Agricultural Center. Preliminary plans call for and cratts, amusements, foods and clothing, bicentennial division, commercial booths, garden club section, and concessions. Other divisions may be added as by the Wheeler County Livestock Show Association. Hefley said, "Our primary objective in having the fair is to get as many people as possible involved in a county-wide project. We hope to have something of interest for everyone in the county."

DAMAGED STURDAY EVENING: The trailer home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Jones had the roof removed about 10:30 Saturday Evening. The trailor is located northwest of Wheeler, just outside of the city limits. The sound was similar to that of a jet passing over at the time of the damage. The Jones had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marv in Underwood until about 10 when they went home to go to bed. The inside of the trailer recieved some water damage. A few limbs broken around the Underwood home was the only other damage.

Water play is fun and ed u cational for children--but only when they learn to "play it safe." Adults must closely supervise water play activities. Water that is two-three inches deep is just as dangerous as water two-three feet deep. When children congregate ingim, Phyllis and Brian, E.G. in the backyard to swim in washtubs, play with water hoses or swim in the pool, be consious of water safe-

> Wading pools or larger pools should be fenced. Insist that flotation belts or life jackets be used by all children. If a neighbor's child fusses about safety precautions, insist that he get out of the water--tell him it's a rule in the pool.

Families with larger swimming pools need to remember to check underwater lights. Improper installation of light can shock swimmers. Rules about running on concrete with wet feet should be enforced. Cleanliness in the home pool is just as important as in the public pool. Children learn much from water play--physical coordination of legs and arms. about textures and liquids, buoyancy, temperature changes and concepts of up an down in and out, forwards and backwards.

If a child is gradually introduced to water play, he is less likely to fear water. Being forced may cause fear or withdrawal.

Texas families are younger and very much a part of today's mobile society-and Texas' population is growing Currently 11.8 million persons call Texas "home". According to recent surveys even as the birth rate is lowering, Texas' population is increasing.

Establishment of more famalies, along with longer life spans of individuals are contributing factors for the population increase. Also, the age composition of Texas' population is changing--from a 27.9 medium skills for working with younger

Nearly 175 young leaders from 4-H clubs in 20 South Plains counties will partici pate in a district leadership lab July 1-3. Those attending from Wheeler County are Kimberly Hathaway, Zana Corse and Phoebe Meek.

Site of the three-day summer workshop is Texas State Techinal Institute, according to, Paul Gross and Mrs. Sue Farris, district Extension agents with the Texas Agricul tural Extension Service.

A team of 12 older teens will ass ist with sess ions throughout the lab. They 'll arrive on campus a day earlier to map plans and deve lop di scussion topics.

The youths, supervised by 4-H adult leaders and agents, will perform a variety of activities ranging from group learning and disc ussion se ssions to game tournaments and special morning and evening ceremonies.

Activities will be geared toward helping the young leaders le arn to express themselves and their ideas, and to develope sol utions to problems through group precesses. Emphais will be on personalit y development.

Time for relaxation and fun will provide the teens with opportunities to make new friend s.

lation shifts will be to the south, and southwest -- climate year 'round recreation and availability of space are factors which contribute to long-distance moves. Concerning education, the educational attainment of Texans has increased over the past several decades. The need for edcation -- to prepare for life and to make a living--is expanding at an accelerating rate. More young people are going to school for longer perios of time--and more are graduating from high school. More persons of all ages are going to college, vocational and te chinical schools More than 28 percent of all Texans, 25 years of age and older had graduated from high school in 1970--15 percent had some college training. About one-fourth of Texans, 25 years and older, had an eighth-grade edcation or less.
