Bargaining Provision Is Ruled Valid
Roads Required To Deal With Employees In Settling Disputes
TRIBUNAL UNANIMOUS IN ITS DECISION
Affect On Wagner Statute Studied By Administration Leaders

WASHINGTON, Mar. 29 (AP)—The supreme court unanimously upheld today provisions of the railway labor act requiring railroads to engage in collective bargaining with their workmen in an effort to settle industrial disputes.

Views on Wagner Act?
Justice Stone delivered the unanimous opinion, which was studied by administration leaders for possible indications of what the court's views would be on the Wagner labor relations act.

The Wagner act, involved in other litigation, does not apply to railroad workmen.

The decision was delivered in a case brought by the Virginian Railway company against a group of its employees who belonged to the American Federation of Labor.

The tribunal affirmed a ruling by the fourth circuit of appeals directing the railroad to engage in collective bargaining.

Cold Causes Fruit Losses

North Texas Well Blanketed; Moisture General In The State

By The Associated Press
A post-Easter renewal of winter brought a heavy, beneficial snow to a large part of Texas Monday after a week-end of frost which damaged fruit and early vegetable crops.

Peach Crop Ruined
In the Panhandle-Plains region, where a heavy snow was general, the moisture was regarded as a distinct benefit to crops. Stinging frosts Saturday and Sunday nights in North Texas hurt fruit.

At Sherman, Parker county's "million dollar" peach crop was wrecked by Saturday night by the cold. Orchardists in that region had no smudge pots to combat the cold.

At Sherman, nurserymen said the fruit may be badly hurt. County Agent E. P. Gray said the continued cold spell may cause corn to rot in the ground. Truck gardens were ruined. It was snowing heavily there Monday morning.

Decisions In Earlier Cases Are Reversed

5 To 4 Ruling Holds Valid Washington State Law For Women

SIMILAR STATUTES HAD BEEN NULLIFIED
Litigation Had Brought FD's 'No Man's Land' Statement

WASHINGTON, Mar. 29 (AP)—The supreme court deferred today until at least next week a final decision on the constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 29 (AP)—The supreme court reversed previous decisions today and upheld constitutionality of the Washington law establishing minimum wages for women.

5-4 Decision
The 5 to 4 decision was delivered by Chief Justice Hughes. Justice Sutherland delivered a dissenting opinion in which he was joined by Justices Van De Vanter, McReynolds and Butler.

Hughes concluded his opinion by referring to a decision 14 years ago holding unconstitutional a minimum wage act for women in the District of Columbia.

"Our conclusion," he said, "is that the case of Adkins vs. Children's Hospital should be, and it is, overruled. The judgment of the supreme court of the state of Washington is affirmed."

The court also in the past has held unconstitutional similar laws for New York, Arizona and Arkansas. It upheld by an evenly divided vote a statute for Oregon.

"No Man's Land"
The decision on the New York law last June 1 caused President Roosevelt to remark that a "no man's land" had been established by the court in which neither the states nor federal government could function.

The Washington statute required wages sufficient to supply women with the "necessary cost of living" and to maintain them in health.

COURTROOM LIKELY SCENE OF NEXT HEAVY BATTLE

GOULD MAY TURN TO SCHMELING

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. NEWARK, N. J., Mar. 29 (AP) - Heavyweight Champion Jimmy Braddock today was served with a court order designed to prevent his bout with Joe Louis at Chicago June 22 until he first has gone through with a championship defense against Max Schmeling in New York June 3.

NEW YORK, March 29 - Whether or not heavyweight champion Jim Braddock carries out his announced program of appearing at his attorney's office today and accepting service of "them papers," it seems certain the various factions in the fight middle will finish their battles in a courtroom with John Law as referee.

Three separate proposals are under consideration and the latest possibility seems to be that Joe Gould, Braddock's manager, has decided to reconsider Schmeling's offer of $350,000 for a bout in Berlin as a possible 'out' in case affairs on this side of the ocean become too involved.

Here are the various announcements that have come to light in the past two days: (1) Joe Gould says Braddock will accept service of the court order obtained by Madison Square Garden, requiring him to show cause on April 5 why he should not be enjoined from going through with the Chicago bout.

(2) Col. Reed Kirpatrick, Garden head, and U. S. Deputy Marshal Robert C. Forrest, in charge of the Newark office, maintain Braddock was served at Woodcliff, N. J., Saturday despite protest of "mistaken identity."

(3) Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's American manager, says Gould got in touch with Schmeling by shore telephone a few days ago in talk over the Berlin offer, which was withdrawn before the German sailed, and that Schmeling said reopening would have to wait until he reached Germany.

SPORT SLANTS

By TOM PAPROCKI (Associated Press Sports Writer) If you think of Dizzy Dean when you think of National league pitcher, you won't be surprised that, for almost 35 years, no National twirler ever slipped into a managerial seat until Eurling Grimes came along.

Returning to his old stomping grounds in Brooklyn, Burleigh is the first ex-hurrier to guide a National club since Fred Mitchell handled the Boston Braves. At that, Mitchell wasn't exactly a pitcher. He started as a twirler, but no sensation—he wound up as a big milt man.

Mitchell had led the Chicago Cubs to a pennant in 1918 before he took over the Braves. He is the only former major pitcher ever to drive a National club to a flag.

But there have been several other hurriers who had flings at managing in the senior circuit. Jackie Connors bossed the Phillies in '21. The Late Christy Mathewson heard the Cincinnati Reds for a couple of seasons until ill health forced him to turn over the command to Pat Moran. Matty did well. He'd raised the Reds from the cellar position in 1916 to third in 1918. Moran won a pennant with the team that Matty had built.

Bill Terry started as a pitcher, hurrying from 1914 to 1922. But he left the mound before he got to the big time. Terry moved over to first base when he went to Toledo in the American association.

While pitcher-managers are rare, catcher-managers are common. Johnson gave way at Cleveland to Catcher Steve O'Neill. There are three other big milt men bossing big leaguers: Connie Mack, the Philadelphia A's boss at major managers; Mickey Cochrane, Detroit Tigers; and, in the National, Jimmy Wilson of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Gelbert Is Happiest Man In Ciney Camp

Charley Wins Praise From Dressen For Quick-Footed Work Afield

TAMPA, Fla., Mar. 29 (AP) - Charley Gelbert, slugging Cardinal, probably was the happiest man in the Cincinnati Reds' camp today. "Life and feeling," he said, is returning to the foot he almost lost in a 1932 hunting accident.

"I'm sure my foot is returning to normal," he grinned. "I discovered it when my little daughter tickled me on the bottom of it. It's a good sign because for two years I've had no feeling there."

"When I'd go out on the field I felt as though I was carrying a wooden leg. I couldn't get the ball on the ball and I was easy chances were scooting by me for years."

Gelbert, a candidate for a regular berth on the Cincinnati, had been out of the lineup for a while because of a bad leg. He had a good play yesterday, the first in which a lower leg was injured, his lower left leg and that with shot.

Acquired last year from the Cardinals, he has returned to form quickly, and repeatedly has won Manager Chuck Dressen's praise for quick-footed work afield and slugging ability at the plate.

Arlington Is Ready For 28 Day Race Meet All Stables Expected To Be Filled By Wednesday—Opening Day ARLINGTON DOWNS, Mar. 29 (AP) - Arlington Downs was ready today for the opening of the 28-day spring racing meet. General Manager Trav Daniel said nearly every stable would be filled by Wednesday, when the meet starts with the inaugural handicap for three-year-olds over the six and one-half furlongs. Yesterday was visiting day at the Downs, several thousand racing enthusiasts coming here in response to the Texas Jockey club's open invitation to inspect the plant. A bronze plaque, honoring the memory of the late Col. W. T. Waggoner, instrumental in bringing racing back to Texas four years ago, was unveiled at the club house with Judge J. H. Barwise, Fort Worth jurist, officiating. Annual Mineral Wells Tourney Opens April 12 MINERAL WELLS, Mar. 29 - The annual invitation tournament of the Mineral Wells Golf and Country Club will open with qualifying rounds Thursday, April 29 and match play through Sunday, May 2, according to announcement made by Frank Mahurin, chairman of the tournament committee of the club. The annual tournament has proven extremely popular throughout West Texas in past years and has, more or less, inaugurated the West Texas tournament season each year. Local committees in charge of the various events claim they are going to make the 1937 invitation the best meet ever held at this early date. Recent rains and work on the course, a thorough grooming, the planting of additional shrubbery, special attention to the greens, is putting the course in fine shape and making it very attractive—a month later should find the layout in wonderful shape for the invitation tournament. An invitation is extended to clubs and individual players and a program will be mailed out in the near future, Mr. Mahurin stated. "We are planning an elaborate program that will attract the best talent in West Texas to Mineral Wells at this time," he stated. POCKET BILLIARD TOURNNEY NEW YORK, Mar. 29 (AP) - Twelve star players, the cream of America's pocket billiard field, will start in pursuit today of $5,000 prize money and the pocket billiard championship of the world. SPORTS ROUNDUP by EDDIE BRIETZ NEW YORK, Mar. 29 (AP) - Note to American League batters: Lefty Charlie Johnson, who has been watching him in Florida, says Lefty Gomez is fifty per cent better pitcher than last year. Boston Bees may go to Bradenton, where the Cards formerly trained, if Bob Quinn decides against returning to St. Petersburg. Joe Evers, who used to do a grass job ballpooching Minnesota's Golden Gophers, will be back on the firing line next fall. The week hitting of Buddy Hasset has Burt Grimes and Co. worrying. Big leaguers who have seen the Bees this spring say Vince DiMaggio isn't in Joe's class as a hitter. Max Schmeling has made two trips from Germany to try to land that Braddock fight and may make a third. If so, the ocean mileage will total about 18,000 miles. Clyde Castman, who just will not get in shape, has been handed the dunce cap by Bill Terry and left with the Jersey City club to think things over. Connie Mack may bring Ralph Kress and Dusky Coak to back to the American League from Minneapolis if the price is right. Ernie Lombardi of the Reds big catcher, can hold seven baseballs in each of his ham-like paws. Of 14 outstanding Italians in the majors, eight hail from San Francisco and vicinity. Lou Gehrig is taking no chances with his eyes this year. He's wearing sun glasses every minute he isn't on the ball field. Those who know their baseball say old Bill McKechnie of the Bees is one of the three smartest managers in the big time, and that Charlie Dressen of the Reds is going to make it a foursome. Kid Chocolate continues to be a big box office attraction in the small clubs up and down the New York subway circuit. When he isn't talking baseball, JoJo Moore of the Giants will spend hours telling you how Sammy Baugh of Texas Christian can throw a football. Rogers Hornsby will use Joe Voisik, former Indian, in the clean-up spot for the Browns this year. If Bob Quinn of the Bees had his choice of all the major league franchises, he'd select one gussied it—Brooklyn. "Best ball town in the country," he says. Miss Laura Bell Underwood was the weekend guest of friends in Lubbock.

CATCHERS FIND SALARY IS LOW, GLORY ELUSIVE

By HENRY SUPER
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Mar. 29 (UP)—Catchers, considered the most important cogs in a baseball machine, are the diamond's least-paid workmen.

Backstops, who work usually in two-thirds of a team's games, down through the years have received less money than players at other positions.

While the record for outfielders is $40,000, for pitchers, $25,000, and for infielders $20,000, the best pay a catcher ever has drawn is $23,000. And the best paid catcher in the business today, Bill Dickey of the New York Yankees, gets $18,000.

Baseball men declare that catchers are too close to the game—too busy worrying about handling pitchers and running the team from behind the plate to develop keen business acumen like other players. Then, too, they point out, the catcher seldom shares glory like the others—that he is just an ordinary but important, unsung cog in the machine.

Brennahan Paid $8,000
Roger Brennahan of the Giants, considered the greatest of all major league catchers, never received more than $8,000. Mickey Cochrane of the Detroit Tigers now draws $23,000 but that cannot be considered a record salary for Cochrane also is manager.

The catching record was set by Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs and he did not actually receive $23,000, Gabby, because he caught in 141 games in 1930, batted .339 and hit a flock of home runs. He was given a $5,000 bonus on to a regular salary of $18,000.

The record for outfielders, $40,000, was set by Babe Ruth in 1931 and 1932.

The $25,000 pitching record was shared by Dazzy Vance and Lefty Grove until Dizzy Dean came along this season and signed up for $500 more than those men had received in 1925 and 1932, respectively.

Gehrig Sets Pay Record
The record for an infielder also was set this year—by Lou Gehrig of the Yankees, who accepted a $36,000 contract and received a bonus of $750 for signing. Rogers Hornsby received $40,000 one time for playing second base, but he also was a manager.

Record salary for coaches is $10,000 paid to Art Fletcher of the Yankees. Dave Bancroft received $12,000 from the Giants in 1932 and 1931, but that price was because Dave pinch-hit most of the time for the ailing John McGraw.

Joe McCarthy of the Yankees is the highest paid manager, receiving $35,000. John McGraw had a record contract of $45,000 and his salary frequently reached $50,000 when dividends and bonuses were added.

HANDBALL BEST FOOTBALL TEST, SAYS GRID COACH
ATCHISON, Kas., Mar. 29 (AP)—Handball is an important cog in Coach Lawrence Mullins' system of testing football talent.

Mullins, who is leaving St. Benedict's to become Loyola university's grid coach, wants his players big, active and studious. If the candidates measure up to these qualifications, the coach has one final test—a game of handball.

In his opinion it's a quick way to size up the muscular coordination of a football candidate. If the candidate satisfies Mullins on the court he gets the coach's o. k.

"We had a big fellow come in to look over St. Benedict's several years ago," said Mullins to prove his point. "He was a giant physically and had good grades. We tried to get the prospect into a game of handball. He passed it up. We passed him up."

"I saw him again last fall on a rival football team. Much smaller St. Benedict players, who have perfect coordination, almost ran him into the ground."

New Serial By Margaret Widdemer Will Start In The Herald Tuesday

Margaret Widdemer, whose "Eve's Orchard" starts Tuesday as The Herald's new serial, has a few points in common with her attractive heroine.

Eve Mannerfield had one year at college and was reared by a maiden aunt. Miss Widdemer was educated entirely at home by a grandmother who had been a trained teacher. She boasts she has "never been in any institution of learning except to lecture or receive degrees."

She began to write as a very little girl, both prose and poetry. Her stories and poems began to appear in national magazines while Miss Widdemer was still in her teens. Her first novel, "The Rose Garden Husband," was a best seller.

For some time, she acted as librarian to A. S. W. Rosenbach, the collector of rare books and manuscripts.

Miss Widdemer also collects folk songs and light mid-Victorian novels. Her other hobbies include physical research, modeling statuettes and long distance swimming.

Born in Doylestown, Pa., Miss Widdemer comes of colonial stock. Her father was an Episcopal rector at Philadelphia.

She lives in Larchmont Manor, Westchester county, New York. But she spends her summers at Canada lake in the Adirondacks, where she follows a secluded routine of writing, swimming and climbing. Unlike most writers, she works best in summer. She spends a short time in New York City each winter.

An earlier novel of Miss Widdemer's, "Golden Night," was serialized in this paper last year. "Eve's Orchard" is a delightful romance about a girl who thought until she went back to her old home and orchard in Connecticut. She loses her lover, but the beloved old home gives her contentment and finally she finds happiness. The story is written with rare charm.

OPPOSING REPLACING BOUNDARY OFFICIAL

EL PASO, Tex., Mar. 29 (AP)—Congressmen of states lying in the Rio Grande watershed and along the Mexico-American border had joined today with El Paso civic and engineering organizations in protest against a move to replace L. M. Lawson, chairman of the American section of the International Boundary commission.

Reports of the move to obtain endorsement of W. R. Montgomery, Edinburg, Tex., attorney, to supplant Lawson came from the house appropriations committee rectification several days ago.

Representative R. E. Thompson, El Paso, said Senators Tom Connally and Morris Sheppard of Texas had endorsed Montgomery's appointment.

El Paso officials insisted retention of Lawson is imperative to avoid delay in completion of $10,000,000 in rectification projects in the El Paso vicinity.

'DINGLE DOGS' IS SUGGESTED FOR HORS D'OEUVRES

WASHINGTON, Mar. 29 (AP)—Rep. Maury Maverick, the Texas epicurean, dipped into his linguistic hoard today for a new name for hors d'oeuvres. "Let's call them," he said in a burst of creative pride, "dingle dogs!"

Maverick was goaded into action by the hors d'oeuvres reform committee of mid-western hotel men, which put up a loving cup for a prize.

"Americans have been bullied by that tricky name for years," he said. "Time has come for action."

This reformation of the archaic and its dainty caviar and cheese cousins was started by Otto K. Eitel, a hotel host. "Strong men have become stut-trees," wailed Eitel in Chicago, "trying to say hors d'oeuvres. Anyone who invents a simple pronounceable substitute will be a public benefactor."

Shunning a gourmet's glory, the burly Maverick explained he was interested only in fixing things so a hungry man at a party can get something to eat without needing a french accent.

"And what," he asked, "is better than 'dingle dog'?"

Don't Sleep When Gas Presses Heart

You want to really GET RID OF GAS and terrible bloating, don't expect to do it by just doctoring your stomach with harsh, irritating alkalies and "gas tablets." Most GAS is lodged in the stomach and upper intestine and due to old poisonous matter in the congested bowels that are loaded with gas-causing bacteria.

If your constipation is of long standing, enormous quantities of dangerous bacteria accumulate. Then your digestion is upset. GAS often presses heart and lungs, making life miserable. You can't eat or sleep. Your head aches. Your back aches. Your complexion is sallow and pimply. Your breath is foul. You are a sick, grumpy, wretched, unhappy person. YOUR SYSTEM IS POISONED.

Thousands of sufferers have found in Adierika the quick, scientific way to rid their systems of harmful bacteria. Adierika rids you of gas and cleans out poisons out of BOTH upper and lower bowels. Gives your system a REAL cleansing with Adierika. Get rid of GAS. Adierika does not grip—is not habit forming.

Reading AND Writing

By John Selby

A long procession of theatrical biographies, memoirs and such like has gone past this desk, and almost without exception they have been boring. There was one on Marie Tempest, lately.

Nobody knows just why it is more difficult for an actor to write about himself than, for example, a doctor. It just seems to be the case, so when the exception comes along, hats should fly the higher. The exception is Noel Coward.

Coward's "Present Indicative" is the best job of theatrical reminiscence I have ever seen. He writes about himself as truthfully and as objectively as if he were creating a play. He does the same for the persons with whom he comes into contact, and still he doesn't sound impertinent or smug. You know, somewhere, that what you read is what Coward honestly thought at the time of which he is writing, and because he turns his all-seeing eye just as frankly on himself in the next paragraph, nobody could be offended.

The story begins around the turn of the century, with Master Noel Coward singing little songs at school, and with his family (his mother was a lady of "good family," he somewhat wryly remarks) being as genteel as possible on the money in hand. It was a step from the school entertainment to the stage proper, and it was negotiated easily, except for certain fearful scenes in court. It was necessary to secure the court's permission for each production in which a child appeared.

Coward's boyish remembrances are delicious. His early ups and downs are equally so. His first experiences at writing, his nervous breakdowns, the first visit to Hollywood (marvelous!), the description of Mae Murray's New York apartment, the awful fiancé of "Sirocco," the managerial tangles, Coward's sudden journeys hither and yon, the little bickering and the big quarrels—all are truly told. There is, however, more in it than this. There are moments of such acute analysis as his estimate of "Cavalcade." It is difficult to imagine a chap who can be playwright, actor, producer and still be the most astute critic of the drama imaginable. Mr. Coward is,

Citizens Asked To Join TB Workers At Meet This Evening

Youth Adds To Charm of Singer Scheduled Here

Ho-Te-Ma-We, brilliant new concert attraction, who will be presented by the Music Study Club on a program with a fellow Indian, Ish-Ti-Opi, although comparatively new to the public has charmed those who have heard her by the naive and ingeniousness of youthful enthusiasm.

The singer, prodigy of the Indian Princess Tainina, famous concert artist, was born in Texas, although Hollywood and Southern California now claim her as a native daughter. She possesses a rich mezzo-soprano voice and brings to her audience a depth of interpretation and versatility which is remarkable in one so young.

She has worked unceasingly to perfect each number on her varied repertoire and as a result gives a thoughtfully painted word picture to her audience. She is said to be quite as entertaining to children as to the older listeners as she offers songs of France, Italy, Germany and Spain in addition to those of her native Indian group which she performs in traditional Indian costume, which is not only unusual but given with an understanding and interpretation of Indian lore which is seldom attained.

The Music Study Club has taken advantage of the fact that this pair of singers will stop in this city one night enroute home from a concert and has secured them for a presentation here on Monday evening, April 12. The program is to be held in the Settles hotel ballroom. Prices have been set at 25c and 40c.

Useful Oval Doilies

By EUTH ORR
Pattern No. 447
The number of pieces that need doilies of this shape is endless. First of all, we had in mind your bread tray for the smallest doily (6 1/2x9 inches). And then there's that end table on which a round doily never looks well; either of these larger ones (13 1/2x12 1/2, and 16x10 1/2) would be just right. Or use the large and two of the small ones to make a buffet set to match your bread tray doily. For your bedroom, you can have a vanity set and cover for the bedside table.

The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with three block and space diagrams to aid you; also what crochets hook and what material and how much you will need.

To obtain this pattern, send for No. 447 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address Big Spring Herald, Needlework department, P. O. Box 300, Station D, New York, N. Y. (Copyright 1937, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Artificial Fever Now Being Used Widely In Treatment Of Disease

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
NEW YORK, Mar. 29 (AP)—A great spread in new uses of artificial fever, to treat more than 25 diseases, was reported to the first international conference on fever therapy which began today.

Today's conference dealt with mysteries mostly of the lost two years, puzzles discovered in using fevers made by two new devices, radio wave machines and hot air boxes of 160 degrees Fahrenheit.

Fever running temperatures up to about 105 degrees, it was explained by Professor Pierre Abram, of the University of Paris, quit a variety of dangerous bacteria just below the point where the heat becomes dangerous to human life.

But medical men also have seen, he said, cures with scarcely any raising of temperature. Two things, he explained, seem to be involved; shock, which sometimes helps to cure instead of to kill, and the cleansing effect of fever.

There are at present two completely distinct methods of inducing artificial fever, he went on.

One is vaccination, which proteins like milk or beer yeast, even with common table salt and inoculation with malaria fever. The other is heating the body by radio waves, hot air, electricity or water.

Shocks, Professor Abram said, accompany the first type of treatment. The second method produces no "shock" in the medical sense.

"It is a remarkable fact," Dr. Abram said, "that two methods so different in nature can give similar therapeutic results."

The diseases in which cures or partial relief have been reported with use of artificial fever, nearly always used as an aid to some other treatment, include rheumatic fever, some forms of arthritis, St. Vitus dance, multiple sclerosis which is hardening of certain brain and spinal cord tissues, and several skin diseases.

Also shaking palsy, sciatica, inflammation of the inner coating of arteries, varicose ulcers but not varicose veins, Raynaud's disease, a form of hand or leg paralysis, angina pectoris, and high blood pressure.

Several eye troubles have been relieved, along with shingles, endocarditis, an inflammation of heart linings; neuritis in some forms; psoriasis or skin herpes; and adenitis, a form of gland inflammation bone inflammations, diphtheria and broncho-pneumonia.

Govt. Operative Successful After Three-Year Hunt

DENVER, Mar. 29 (AP)—A relentless, three-year hunt by a secret service man called only "Operator L. A." brought about the arrest of five persons in the Housetake gold mine "high grading" case.

The disclosure was made today by Rowland K. Goddard, head of the Denver branch of the secret service.

Goddard refused to divulge the agent's name because "this case is by no means completed by the secret service."

"He never weakened in his belief he could make out a case," Goddard said, explaining the operative entered the investigation on a tip from officials of the mine, the world's gold producer, located at Lead, S. D.

Termining the man one of the "aces" in the government service, Goddard said "L. A." had shadowed figures in the case ever since without his identity being suspected.

Officials filed a federal charge of conspiracy to violate the federal gold act of 1934 against Lon L. Smith, under arrest in Denver. A similar charge was filed Friday against Harry D. Williams, held at Billings, Mont.

REPORT FANS CUT OFF BEFORE FATAL BLAST IN MINE

DUBOIS, Pa., Mar. 29 (AP)—District Mine Inspector Tom Lewis said today he was investigating a report that "ventilating fans had been cut off" for several hours in the Kramer mine where two miners and seven rescue workers died in two explosions.

Lewis in charge of the DuBois area in northwestern Pennsylvania, said he had been told the fans were idle "from 7 a. m. until 3 p. m., Saturday (two hours before the first blast) because of a clange at the power house."

Vandenberg Finds He's Turning From Conservative View

WASHINGTON, Mar. 29 (AP)—The approach of his tenth year as a republican senator from Michigan led Arthur H. Vandenberg to declare today that "contact with naked realities here" had altered his original conservatism.

ARTHUR H. VANDENBERG

"I am aware that I arrived in Washington as a complete conservative, but I believe every day has enlarged my viewpoint, that I have progressively developed a very liberal sympathy with many objectives that once were anathema to me."

He said democracy faces a zero hour, that procedural reform in the judiciary was needed, that capital should share profits with labor.

"The immediate situation," he said of broad issues confronting congress, "so far transcends a party question that it would easily produce party realignment in its ultimate repercussions."

U. S. FREIGHTER IN DISTRESS AT SEA

HONOLULU, Mar. 27 (AP)—Ships in a wide area of the northwestern Pacific turned today to the aid of the leaking and helpless American freighter Volunteer, which was fighting a losing battle against the sea 840 miles off the coast of Japan.

A second distress call within four hours turned the big liner Empress of Canada off her course to go to the rescue. At the same time several Japanese freighters began a race to the Volunteer's side.

In the van of the rescue ships the British freighter Fresno City neared the scene in a 240-mile run she started when the Volunteer sent her first call for help at 12:30 a. m. (PST).

The various messages indicated the Volunteer's crew of about 40 had been fighting trouble, since being buffeted by a severe storm two days ago.

New London School Opens

Wood Fires Prove Heat For First Assembly Since Blast

NEW LONDON, Mar. 29 (AP)—Surviving children from the school explosion and their parents hovered around wood fires today as a preliminary assembly to re-opening of classes tomorrow was held.

J. W. O'Bannon of the state department of education told them: "With your determination, you will build back the school for God and for humanity."

A snowstorm fell as the 200 pupils reported back for the first time since the explosion. No gas stoves were lighted. The wood for the fires came from debris gathered from the wreckage of the shattered high school building.

Of the original high school enrollment of 308, only 64 were checked as present this morning. In the grade school section, 123 were checked. There were 306 on the rolls. School officials believed many others would return.

One bus driver who said he ordinarily picked up 1655 students drove up to the building today with six.

W. C. Shaw, superintendent of schools, said classes would be resumed Tuesday morning. The hand-house, gymnasium and cafeteria, which escaped the blast, are to be used as classrooms. The grammar school building, about a block and a half from the high school ruins, also was left standing.

Nineteen teachers who survived the blast are to finish their work, Shaw said.

Yesterday hundreds of relatives and friends, standing with bowed heads at Easter Memorial services, heard words of consolation from the president of the United States. The president's personal message was conveyed by Gov. James V. Alfred in an address by radio.

PLUMBING CODE

LONGVIEW, Tex., Mar. 29 (AP)—A plumbing code "to insure the protection of the public's health and safety" was urged here yesterday at a meeting of East Texas plumbers. A committee was appointed to draft resolutions asking such legislation. The meeting was called after the New London school explosion.

SPRING SCENE

MARCH would be a dismal month indeed if man had no imagination. Fortunately, hope springs eternal, and each returning Spring sees new ideas, new aspirations brought once more to life.

"We'll do that in the Spring," is a familiar expression. Plans shelved during the Winter are dusted off. Now, the family talks about replacing the old car . . . buying new clothes . . . a new radio . . . dahlia bulbs . . . paint for the garage. A thousand things are needed . . . a thousand tasks must be done.

Here in the advertising pages of this newspaper is real Spring news. Articles you need, carefully selected and arranged, are paraded before your critical eyes. Read the advertisements thoughtfully . . . and so choose wisely. For advertisements, the maker's guide to good values, will be your guide to a happier, more cheerful Spring.

TODAYS ANNIVERSARY—John Tyler, tenth president, was born March 29, 1790.

RURAL ELETRIFICATION

In some parts of West Texas, as elsewhere in the state, good progress is being made in extension of electric service to rural homes, yet Morris L. Cooke, rural electrification administrator, said some time ago that Texas ranks forty-fourth among the states in percentage of electrified rural homes per capita, having only two per cent of rural homes connected. Mississippi stands at the bottom with only one per cent.

Recently figures showed a little less than two million dollars allocation made for Texas for rural areas, which will build about 1,800 miles of rural lines. In the nation as a whole $37,000,000 has been allocated for building 122,000 miles of rural lines. In California and New Hampshire half the rural homes are electrified but there are exceptions. The low percentage in Texas, and for the whole nation, makes a poor showing against such a country as New Zealand, where two-thirds of the farm homes are electrified, yet generally speaking we feel that we are far ahead of countries like New Zealand in every respect. But when we study the conveniences in rural areas of other countries we may have the answer, at least in part, to why some of them have successfully handled the farm tenancy problem while we have utterly failed in the past to do anything to help the deplorable tenancy condition.

While the government is making self-liquidating loans for this rural electrification work, it is wholly up to the various communities to institute the move for the service. On the other hand, it may be said to the credit of the power companies that they are doing good work right now, and seem to be determined to go ahead with the expansion. They are wise in doing this and while at first the patronage may not seem to justify the expenditure, eventually it may be developed into profitable business.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Ever since Mussolini called Rosa Pauly "the true woman" there has been a singular amount of interest in this dark, jet-eyed European "Electra."

Can you imagine attending a dinner with Il Duce and not recognizing him? That is what Mme. Pauly did, but she was quick to offer the Italian dictator a courteous apology.

"You will have to grant me pardon, Your Excellency," she told him, "but I do not follow politics. That is why I did not recognize you."

Chuckling immensely at so unusual a situation (for him), Mussolini quickly put the dismayed opera star at her ease. "Think not on it at all. You are a true woman." Then Il Duce went on his way, and, so they say, told the story all over Rome.

Well, Mme. Pauly is in America now, though she owes her appearance at the moment to the indisposition of another. She was called from Vienna to come immediately so that she could sing before New York when the Philharmonic orchestra gives its concert. The artist who was to have appeared became ill and could not continue.

These concerts, to save you from asking, will be given under the direction of Arthur Rodzinski, guest conductor, who is a Pole and vastly satisfied with such a situation. A flashing, vigorous man in middle years, he is a tireless worker and also a tireless player. Next to his family and his career, his most cherished possession is a tiny Sealyham, who understands only Polish. Address him in English, speak to him in German, yell at him in any language save that of his master and he pays not so much as a wag of his stumpy white tail to you. But call out to him in phrases couched in the beloved lingo of the Poles, and Lashie (in English this means La La) bounds joyously about, understanding everything down to the last unpronounceable syllable.

"Confidentially," says Rodzinski, "he's just fastidious."

In case you'd like to write it into the minutes, this bronzed Polish maestro (and he is all of that) is a refreshing contradiction to the belief that directors of Philharmonic orchestras present their publics with only dull and long-winded compositions.

In fact, he has been choosing programs so pleasing to the ear that one metropolitan critic has warned him about such excessive generosity saying, "If you aren't careful Arthur you will be guilty of actually permitting an audience to enjoy itself."

That Rodzinski.

Abe Lyman personally knows more sports figures than anybody in New York.

Sit-Down Conference Forced by Congress Leaders.
Protest Mail and G. O. P. Have Them Worried.
Coolness On "Hot Money" Credited to Hull.
Wallace Seems to Win Farm Backing for Court Plan.

Hurt Feelings—

WASHINGTON, Mar. 29.—President Roosevelt's congressional leaders pushed him into that White House conference on sit-down strikes and the state of the union. Announcements implied no protest called the gathering, but neglected to mention that it was by earnest request.

The leaders went about their appeal for it in the manner of men who have done everything for the boss and would like to ask just this one favor in return.

The fact is they have been abused all around lately. They felt a little hurt when Mr. Roosevelt neglected to consult them about his court plan in advance. But when he went to Warm Springs, they felt they had been left holding the sit-down bag, or bags, representing the protest mail from back home. Also, the Republicans were becoming very annoying each day, asking whether there was a federal government, and such things. On occasions the leaders had to call Warm Springs on the telephone to get the right answers.

Behind this situation, of course, is their supreme court predicament. Their friends do not question their White House loyalty, but know they would like to have the president palliate the furor by something less drastic than his original proposal.

Note—An outside authority not far from the White House is suggesting privately that the president has received less optimistic reports concerning his chances in the senate from his leaders there than from his downtown lobbyists.

Ice Man—

The fact that "hot money" has become a cold subject is being credited to State Secretary Hull the only man in the administration who has never been beaten in an inside fight.

Any news reader who has a 60-day memory will be able to recall that the administration was, that long ago, literally burning to do something about incoming gold from abroad. Messrs. Eccles and Morgenthau held conferences, the president commented and coined the phrase "hot money."

The incoming gold was then supposed to be causing our inflation, and something had to be done immediately. Nothing came except comment, and even that has been increasingly diminishing.

They say Hull was the man who coiled the gold arbor of Eccles and Morgenthau by asking, what about his foreign trade policy. His Tennessee Mountain wrath balked darker than the great scorpions (They say) against anything which would interfere with the export market and his Yankee trading business.

The story has increased the great respect of all insiders for the relentless Mr. Hull as a warrior to be avoided.

Farm Sentiment—

Agriculture Secretary Wallace has been saying 80 per cent of the farmers are for the Roosevelt court program, but he would like to be able to prove it.

Those who have asked for some tangible basis for the statement have been given a few letters from local farm organizations out in the country, stating: "We are 100 per cent for you."

The fact seems to be farm opinion is in deep thought. Washington non-combatants on the inside of that situation say the majority of individual farmers are inclined to support anything Mr. Roosevelt would propose, so deep is their confidence in him. Their leaders, however, are obviously hanging back, reluctant to get too far out on the court limb. The grange, of course, is against. Ed O'Neal of the Farm Bureau is Wallace's friend and personally inclined to be for, but his organization is not committed. The others have been sending statements suggesting the matter requires deliberation.

This is of controlling significance, because the farmers realize their leaders know more about the ins and outs of the situation than they do, and generally go in whatever direction their leaders may point.

Note—Wallace has been doing some quiet stumping for the president down South. He made a court speech last week in Georgia, will make two more this week in North Carolina, but so far he has remained out of the West. By-stayers here have not been able to detect any flagrant use of pressure by the vast agricultural department regime to rouse favorable sentiment for the program.

Experience—

Those who generally know what Father Coughlin is up to say he is through with such organizations as his short-lived National Union for Social Justice.

The real reason, as reported before, seems to be his discovery during the last campaign that some local chairmen who handled the money were looking out more for the wife and kiddies than for social justice. Dr. Townsend made the same discovery.

The Timid Soul

Father Coughlin's friends assert he was doubly crossed, or at least completely misled, by many local leaders who said they could deliver votes.
It is doubtful whether he will get mixed up in politics again, but, if he does, he will use the radio and stay out of organizations.

Hollywood

Sights and Sounds
By Robin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Except that the basic idea is the same, you won't recognize "Swing High, Swing Low" as a new version of the old stage hit, "Burlesque."
When the late Hal Skelly did it on stage and screen (they retitled it "The Dance of Life"), he played a shiftless hooper inspired to success by his love of Bonnie, the girl. She left him and he succumbed to his natural urge to bumhood until she returned for the regeneration act.

The new treatment makes Fred MacMurray the same a miable, shiftless character, his talent trumpet tooting instead of hoofing. Carole Lombard is the girl (retitled Maggie) and she is the same loyal, straight-shooting fellow Bonnie was. But the setting is the Canal Zone instead of the burlesque halls, and Maggie sends her man to New York fame from a henky-tonk. Dorothy Lamour is the seductress.

Brightness of dialog and situation, plus a jazz-symphonic musical score of distinction, plus Charles Butterworth and Jean Dixon, make it all entertaining. Carole Lombard, too, is better. And Mitchell Leisen gives his direction that certain swing.
Garbo having loved Robert Taylor in "Camille" she resigned that duty to Jean Harlow, who takes over in "Personal Property." This is another remake, which you'll have no difficulty in spotting as "The Man in Possession," one of Robert Montgomery's early talkies. This is drawing room stuff, occasionally rowdy, about the debt-ridden American girl engaged, for his money, to the stuffy Englishman marrying her for hers. Taylor is the acceptance kid brother who steps in and saves the girl for himself.

Harlow Can Catch Lips
Good for scattered laughs, "Personal Property" leans toward the thin side but it gives Harlow fans a chance to hold their heads up in the presence of Garbo, Crawford and Stanwyck addicts. She can notch her lipstick in token of having loved Robert Taylor, too.
You can't overlook Reginald Owen, Una O'Connor, E. E. Clive, Cora Witherspoon, or Maria Shelton, the new vamp.

EXPAND SEARCH FOR MISSING ARMY FLIERS

MARCH FIELD, Calif., Mar. 28 (AP)—Ground crews augmented a search by air today for two army fliers, missing since Saturday night on a 64-mile flight to their base here.

The lost men are Lieut. Robert C. Love, 28, and Private Emory J. Parsons, 28.
Army hopes that they would be found safe washed yesterday when 25 planes of the 17th attack group failed to sight the single-motored, two-seated craft along the route from a Glendale airport.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN

BY FREDERICK JACKSON

Chapter 45
A DIAMOND FOR ANNE
Austrelitz and Bigelow parted at the door and took separate taxis as they were going different ways. Bigelow went back to his hotel to have a bath and change.

And as he lay in his warm tub, he thought about Paris. No use pretending otherwise, he did look upon it as home. He doubted that he could ever settle down anywhere else, now. He had found New York beautiful and exciting and stimulating and interesting, and he had enjoyed his visit enormously. But it had been only a visit. He hadn't ever felt as though he had come home. He had grown up in the long years that he had been away and had come to look upon America as a strange country, in consequence. It wasn't his fault nor the fault of America; things had just happened that way.

The question was, would France seem the same to him when he went back? Wouldn't he miss Anne's companionship unbearably? But if he asked her to go back with him and she agreed, could she be happy there?

And would she agree? The way she had swiftly changed the subject in the park when he was speaking of her in Paris inclined him to doubt. Of course, he had never made love to her—not in so many words—not in the usual stale, stilted phrases—but somehow they had slipped into a sweet sort of affectionate understanding. Or so he had thought. He knew that he had come to love her because life had become unthinkable without her. But had she come to love him? Or had she just accepted him as a kind of cousin and as a cousin admitted him into that sweet intimacy?

Bigelow Books Passage.
He dressed and wandered out into the street, conscious of a lack of objective and a sense of inner rest. He looked into shop windows.

When he came to a shipping office he went in and inquired about accommodations and discussed sailings. He had not really made any definite plans before he went in there, but when he came out he had made reservations.

At one o'clock he telephoned to see if Anne was awake, and learned from Walters that she had gone out to lunch with Philip Whiteley. He lunched himself solemnly at Savign's where the food was really something like French food.

Afterward, he went to look at diamond rings. He thought it most likely that she would marry Philip Whiteley, but there was no harm in being prepared, and if she didn't accept it, he could always keep it in memory of an episode in his life. He bought a very large blue-white diamond, oblong in shape and most charmingly set.

As he came out into the street again, it was nearing four o'clock and boys were shouting an extra. He bought one. Across the front sheet in huge headlines he read:

MILLIONAIRE AND DANCER KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

He hailed a taxi and drove to the Phelps house. Anne's car was standing before the door, so he knew that she had come in. He rung the bell.
She was in the drawing room alone, reading the paper.
"Have you seen this?" she asked, looking up, and he saw that her eyes were wet.
"Yes. Perhaps it's the best possible finish for her," he said gravely.
"Perhaps. But I wanted her to be happy," said Anne. "I don't think she ever stopped to think about them. And I'm inclined to the opinion that if she had a choice, the drama of such a finish to her career would have appealed to her."

A Plain Gold One, Too

Anne nodded and folded the paper in her lap. "I suppose the doctor can show her statement to the police now, and Dryden will be released and Lorna can come back."
"Yes," said Bigelow.
"And everything will go on as before—except that Vronski won't be here."
"Yes," agreed Bigelow. "Even I am planning to take myself off."
"Oh?" She did not look up.
"When?"
"Two weeks from today. I booked quite a large suite—the chances that you might like to take this—and come with me." He produced the diamond.
"No girl could refuse that!" gasped Anne, staring at it. "But would it be quite proper for me to go—with just that—even if we are almost cousins? Shouldn't there be a plain gold one to go with it—a kind of guard?"
"Yes," said Bigelow, producing that, too. She took them both into her hands and held them tight. He lifted her up into his arms, and kissed her.

MUST ADVERTISE WHISKEY PURCHASES

CLIFTON FORGE, Va., Mar. 28 (AP)—Hereafter any man in Clifton Forge who uses relief money to get drunk, and is caught at it, will have to wear upon his back a placard proclaiming:
"My money went for whiskey, not for food."
The signs will be worn at the order of Mayor Frank H. Wheeler, who also is police court judge and city reiner administrator.
Wheeler conceived the plan when his police court docket one morning showed four relief workers arrested on charges of drunkenness.

Personally Speaking

Leander McAllister and a friend, Frank Elliott, who have spent the Easter holidays with Mr. and Mrs. O. H. McAllister, left this morning for Norman, Okla., where they are students in Oklahoma University.
Miss Melba Wilson of San Angelo spent the week end here with her mother, Mrs. Mary Wilson. She was accompanied here by her sister, Miss Erma Lee, who has been touring with her in San Angelo for several days.
Mr. and Mrs. James T. Brooks and two children and Mrs. Blanche Richardson went to Grand Falls and other West Texas points Sunday afternoon.
WONT REPLACE BULLET
PARIS, Mar. 28 (AP)—Joseph E. Davies, U. S. ambassador to Russia, arriving here today with Mrs. Davies on route to New York from Moscow, discredited reports he would replace William C. Bullitt as ambassador to France. If Bullitt was named assistant secretary of state in Washington.

Govt. Wins In Norris Perjury Litigation

WASHINGTON, Mar. 29 (AP)—The government won today in the supreme court in its effort to punish George W. Norris, Broken Bow, Neb., grocer, for purging himself of false testimony.

In a unanimous decision delivered by Justice Roberts the eighth circuit court of appeals ordered a new trial to determine whether the grocer had purged himself of false testimony.

The Nebraska federal district court had sentenced him to jail for three months and fined him $100. Testimony by the grocer before a senate investigating committee headed by Senator Nye (R-Ind) produced the litigation. The government contended the grocer first said he had received no money from opponents of Senator Norris and later changed his testimony after other witnesses had given contrary statements. Counsel for the grocer argued that this purged him of any offense.

Loyalists Shift Attack To New Rebel Stronghold

MADRID, Mar. 29 (AP)—The government suddenly shifted its center of operations to northwest of Madrid today and, carving out a 36-square-mile arrow head salient, menaced the insurgent divisional headquarters at Avila.

The full boom of heavy field guns on the heights above Navalperal de Pinar, strategic communication center only 35 miles from Avila, signalled the end in the early dawn of the spontaneous truce that halted fighting on all fronts over Easter.

The artillery, implaced in the Sierra de Malagon range during the night, battered the important railroad center to cover a general advance on the El Escorial front.

Insurgent batteries outside the capital meanwhile dropped eight shells in central Madrid during a morning bombardment, causing a number of casualties and breaking a gas main in the Gran Via, Madrid's principal business thoroughfare.

Most of the projectiles fell into a crowded area near the Puerto del Sol. The smell of gas lingered over the entire district adjacent to the broken main. Firemen, wearing gas masks, rushed to repair the damage.

Navalperal, 38 miles west by north of Madrid, is the peak of the salient formed by the government advance and its fall would mean the loss to the insurgents of their northern concentration point to the west of Madrid.
