

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., Indicted By Federal Jury

$1.35 Per Bale Sliced From Cotton Freight Rate From Big Spring Area; 70 Cents Allowed For Compresses

Wolters Says Arms May Be Used In Field

Overthrow of Proration Would Be Opposed By Land Owners

AUSTIN, Oct. 16. (AP)—General Jacob Wolters, commanding the East Texas martial law zone, predicted today that armed violence would result if wells in the East Texas field are permitted again to run unrestrained.

Wolters said land and royalty owners would resort to arms and dynamite tanks and pipe lines if proration is overturned. The price of East Texas oil was ten cents per barrel before martial law was invoked. It is now 63 cents. One company recently obtained a temporary restraining order in federal court, against proration. Governor Sterling disregarded the decision, holding that the court was powerless to restrain martial law.

If the purchasers will post a price of fifty cents or more for Howard and Glascock county crude oil production to further restriction of production will not materialize to any great degree.

The railroad commission's order for this afternoon fixed the daily allowability of the local field at 26,000 or about 6,000 below the flow of the past few months.

The most informed and authoritative observers agree that the condition of the industry now actually is more stable than has been the case for many months. Production is under control. The gasoline market is steadier.

Thirty-five cents is not enough for this oil if production in East Texas and Oklahoma is worth 65 and 70 cents.

Of course, 25 cents may be enough insofar as the desire of major purchasers to take this crude when they can get East Texas crude is concerned; and 35 cents may be more desirable from the refiner's standpoint.

But for the producer and the royalty owner it is ruinous. Production costs here will not allow any profit at 35 cents. True, much of the producing properties south of town have been paid for, and some to boot, before the market collapsed, but that does not mean profit is being earned today on operation of those properties.

Big Spring, Coahoma, Colorado, Westbrook, Iatan, Loraine and Roscoe are very fortunate in obtaining a cotton freight rate to the gulf $1.35 per bale lower than the existing rate. The compresses are for instance in that having the carriers original application granted—cutting the compress allowance to 30 cents per bale and making compression more optional.

And, cotton went up a little today. Better than a further slump.

Unfermented Grape Concentrate Ruled In Violation of Law

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 16. (AP)—Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis held today that sale of unfermented grape concentrate for manufacture of alcoholic beverages is in violation of the constitution.

He convicted the Utah Grape Products Corporation, Inc., of New York on seven counts in a test case, fining it $100 on each count.

Albert E. Brunett, local manager for the company, was fined $40 in each of five counts for sale of the product and the company drew an additional fine of $100 in each of two counts charging possession. An appeal is planned.

It was shown the product contained ten to fifteen per cent of alcohol after three weeks. An undercover agent working as a salesman for the company testified it was sold as an alcoholic beverage and not as grape juice.

Pulse of Inventor Becomes More Faint

WEST ORANGE, Oct. 16. (AP)—The pulse of Thomas A. Edison, in a coma from which he no longer momentarily arouses, is becoming weaker. His physician said the critical point had not been reached. He still has taken no nourishment.

The Texas & Pacific Railway company and cotton growers of the Big Spring section came out of the railroad commissioner's hearing in Austin Thursday with a greater reduction in freight rate on cotton to Houston, Texas City and Galveston than they had sought in the original application.

Furthermore, the allowance given compresses was fixed at a higher figure than the original application sought.

R. H. Jones, local agent of the T. & P., was informed Friday morning that the new rate on cotton from all stations between Roscoe and Big Spring, inclusive, will be 62 cents per hundred, or 27 cents per hundred less than the existing rate of 89 cents. The net reduction per 600 pound bale is $1.35.

This rate will apply either to compressed or uncompressed cotton, as does the existing rate. The railroad had asked a flat rate of $3.25 per bale for uncompressed and $3.55 per bale for compressed cotton, with an allowance of 30 cents per bale for compressing.

The existing allowance for compressing is 15 cents per hundred or 90 cents per 600-pound bale.

Witnesses at the hearing testified the growers would benefit directly from lower rates and railroad hauled the lower schedule as an effective weapon to combat truck competition.

No change was made in rates from points west of Big Spring on the T. & P. nor from Lamesa north on the Santa Fe.

Cooperative Cotton Plan Is Presented

Public Opinion Best Force To Allow Farmers To Hold Product

The necessity of creating a community spirit which would enable farmers to hold their cotton and sell for advanced prices was emphasized by E. S. Burgess, director of field service of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, before a group of Howard and Martin county farmers at the court house Friday morning.

The heaviest buying of the year has taken place during the last three weeks with approximately one half million bales being sold weekly he said.

"The condition this year is different from anything the company has ever experienced," said Burgess. "In 1921 and 1926, only a small part of a crop was under mortgage. The farmers this year are laboring under a condition which finds about 80 per cent of the land and 90 per cent of the crop carrying a mortgage. The only thing in the world the farmer and the country have left is the present crop and if forced to sell at the present damaging prices, the condition of the country will be worse than it is now," Mr. Burgess continued.

A surplus of 9,000,000 bales was on hand at the beginning of the year. Approximately 4,000,000 bales of this surplus was cotton that under ordinary conditions would be on the shelves of the merchants in manufactured form, Mr. Burgess said. Cotton at the present price is a good speculative investment and the large concerns able to buy cotton and hold it will come out of this depression infinitely better off than they are at present and the farmer in a more serious condition. Foreign countries are buying cotton and storing it in anticipation of an advance in price. As much as 62 per cent of the Texas cotton is being bought by Japanese and Chinese firms, the cooperative man informed the group.

The government is ready to make the farmers a loan of one cent a pound on the present crop, if held. This money, with the cooperation of the banks, can be spread out to cover the obligations of the farmer enough to enable him to retain possession of his crop until an advance in price.

"The only way the price can be brought back is for the farmers as a unit to take a firm stand on holding their crop and merchandising it for the greatest possible price that the consumer will pay," Mr. Burgess declared.

Pioneer Dies

DR. L. W. HOLLIS, SR.

Dr. L. W. Hollis Buried Friday

Widely-Known Physician Father of Big Spring Woman

Funeral services for Dr. L. W. Hollis, Sr., one of the earliest pioneers of his profession in West Texas, were held Friday afternoon from the family home in Abilene, with Rev. Millard A. Jenkins, pastor of the First Baptist church officiating.

At the bedside when death claimed Dr. Hollis at 11 p. m. Thursday was his daughter, Mrs. Marvin K. House, of Big Spring and her children, as well as her mother, her sister, Mrs. Bernard Hanks and brothers, Dr. L. W. Hollis, Jr., and Dr. Scott Hollis, all of Abilene. Mr. House left for Abilene on being informed of his father-in-law's death.

A heart attack that sent him to bed three weeks ago and a week later caused his condition to be regarded as critical, brought death.

Palbearers were George S. Anderson, Henry Sayles, Jr., Thomas L. Blanton, T. A. Bledsoe, W. A. Miller, and C. G. Walden.

As a pioneer doctor his fame was widespread. He practiced in hundreds of West Texas homes and in the early days traveled hundreds of miles to patients, in all kinds of weather. In 1885 Dr. Hollis performed the first operation for removal of the appendix of which there is any record. Going to a ranch house near Anson he operated on a 15-year-old girl for an "abcess." The operation was recognized two years later. He retired from active practice five years ago when his health became precarious. At one time he served on the state board of health.

He was an avid sportsman, particularly relishing big game and deer hunting annually for bear and deer, even last year. One year in the shinnery north of Abilene he and friend killed 600 deer. That was before game laws had been enacted and when the supply seemed limitless.

The son of a Confederate surgeon he was born in St. Augustine, Texas. He was a graduate of the Louisville school of medicine and followed one year of practice in Kaufman county, came west as a young doctor of 23 years.

Coming to Jones county with his brother, W. H. Hollis, now living at Hawley, he settled at Anson in 1883. At the time, the Texas & Pacific was extending west from Abilene, W. H. Hollis being employed by the railroad.

The physician practiced medicine and owned a drug store at Anson "until the town burned up"—destroying his store and home—in the early 1890's, when he moved to Abilene. He was married in 1884 to Eva May Scott, daughter of T. S. Scott, pioneer of Phantom Hill.

In 1904 Dr. Hollis built the first sanitarium in the Abilene section and operated it until it was destroyed by fire about eight years ago. Besides his wife, children and several grand children, he is survived by the brother at Hawley and four sisters, Mrs. Mack Merchant of Abilene, Mrs. Max Andrews and Mrs. W. T. Russell of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Jim Skinner of Dallas. All were in Abilene for the funeral.

Origin of Law Speech Topic

Kiwanis Club Hears Classification Talk By T. J. Coffey

Origin of law was the topic of a classification talk before the Kiwanis club Thursday at the Crawford Hotel by Thomas J. Coffey.

The program was in charge of L. A. Eubanks, general program chairman. Mrs. Eubanks led assembly singing with accompaniment by Miss Katherine Sangster.

Guests of the day included Marvin Adams, Coke Williamson of Sweetwater, Jesse Maxwell of American Airways, and R. C. Pysatt.

D. H. Reed urged attendance at the football game in Midland Friday and his talk resulted in purchase of several special train tickets by Kiwanians, most of them turning the tickets over to Principal George Gentry to be given students.

Felton Smith, Sr., chairman of the underprivileged children committee reported that five tonsil operations would be financed by members of the board and called upon members to join in the work. Operations on children, designated by the county health nurse, Mrs. M. R. Shewart, and suffering from diseased tonsils, will be done by local physicians at $12.50 each. Approximately 30 children need these operations.

Mr. Pysatt, a guest and prominent member of the Lions club, reported that every member of that organization had promised to finance an operation.

GENEVA, Oct. 16. (AP)—Premier B. Gilbert, United States consul general here, received tonight American acceptance of the invitation to participate in consideration of the Manchurian trouble with the council of the league of nations.

The council today formally ratified the invitation over objection of the Japanese delegates by vote of 13 to 1.

Chairman Aristide Briand explained an objection of constitutional and judicial nature offered by Kenkichi Yoshizawa remained in reserve. Yoshizawa contended the issue was one of substance and not procedure and thus required a unanimous vote.

International observers regarded the vote as evidence of the league's vigor and an omen for happy settlement of the Chinese trouble.

TOKYO, Oct. 16. (AP)—Governmental spokesmen today reiterated their stand against American participation in the league of nations discussion of the Chinese-Japanese trouble in Manchuria.

They said there was no intention of declaring war on China, thus the Kellogg Pact was not involved. Other nations fail to understand Manchurian activities of Japan are in self defense, it was declared.

Katsujii Debuchi, Japanese ambassador at Washington, called his government he believed it advisable to reconsider and agree to American participation.

Prisoners Will Be Made To Work Out Fines

Henceforth men convicted of an offense against the ordinances of the city of Big Spring and assessed a fine, and who are unable to pay off, may be put to work on the streets or other public works to "earn" their fine at unskilled labor at $1.00 per day.

An ordinance, bearing an emergency clause, was passed Thursday night by the board of city council members and covering the city officials to take this method.

It was pointed out by the city manager that, in absence of such an ordinance, those unable to pay fines can oftentimes very easily "beat" a fine at least temporarily unless committed to jail and, in that case, the city is put to considerable expense in food and "heat" paid the county for use of the jail.

Provisions of the ordinance include the following:

Persons assessed pecuniary fines who are unable to pay them shall be put to labor upon the public streets or other public works of the city, upon which work or labor shall require only unskilled labor; they shall be required to work not less than eight hours nor more than ten hours each day, Sundays, excepted; when not at labor they may be confined in the jail or other place provided by the city for keeping prisoners.

Women Exempted

This ordinance shall apply only to persons who have been convicted of an offense against the city and committed to jail for failure to pay a fine and costs assessed against them; it shall in no case apply to any female convicted of an offense.

Any person put to work under terms of this ordinance shall be entitled to credit of one dollar per day for such time as they are working and when the fine and costs against them shall be liquidated by such work the sentence shall be discharged.

The chief of police is empowered to carry out provisions of the ordinance and the city manager shall provide suitable arrangements for working prisoners and instruct the chief of police as to what work shall be done and provide guards whenever necessary.

Reduction In Rates Refused By Telephone Company; Statement of Income, Expenses Filed With City

OBIE BRISTOW Head Coach

GEORGE BROWN Assistant Coach

The Southwestern Bell Telephone company cannot agree to lower rates in Big Spring, the board of city commissioners was told Thursday night by N. H. Moore, Abilene, division manager.

With R. T. Hunter, Midland, district manager, and J. F. Blount, district traffic chief, Mr. Moore appeared on invitation of the commission.

Rates here are: private line residence telephone, $2.50 per month; business telephone, $5.50 per month.

Mr. Moore presented a certified financial statement of the Big Spring exchange, signed by W. L. Pehn, general manager, Dallas, for the period of six months ended June 30, 1931.

The conference was attended by members of a Chamber of Commerce committee which recently was named to ask the city commission to investigate rates of all utilities operating here, as well as some members of the board of city development.

Nearly two hours was spent in informal discussion, marked by numerous questions from City Manager Spence, Mayor J. B. Pickle and the commissioners as well as others.

Manager Elsewhere

The discussion brought out that there was some dissatisfaction locally because of the fact that neither the district manager or traffic chief are stationed here, but at Midland and that complaints of transaction of business with the telephone company requiring the decision of either of those officials often is greatly delayed.

It was brought out that Big Spring is the largest exchange in the district, which extends westward and into the Big Bend country.

Mayor Pickle stressed that merchandise of all kinds had decreased greatly in price, that no business was making the profit or doing the volume it experienced a year or more ago and that the utilities should be expected to join in loss of business and of profit.

Lower earning power is offset by lower prices when one buys food or clothing but utility rates remain at the same levels as before commodity prices fell, it was declared by commissioner's and the city manager.

Several of those present said they had no complaint to make on the service given by the local exchange, while one or two complained of the service.

As To Toll

Mr. Spence told the telephone company men that he felt the basis on which the financial statement was made did not provide a true picture of the situation. This he declared, arose from the fact that long distance tolls are not credited to the local exchange, that much of the income created by the exchange is credited to the parent organization, American Telephone & Telegraph.

The financial statement, based solely on income from local telephone showed that net income on the property here for the six months ending June 30 was $3.31 per cent.

Mr. Moore said a state law allows telephone companies 10 per cent profit. Mr. Spence said it was his understanding the courts had ruled that various figures from six to ten per cent represented a fair return in various situations.

The statement of revenue for the six months was:

Exchange service revenue $33,715

Long Probe Of Anti-Al Smith Scrap Ended

Woman Secretary Also Named; Corrupt Practices Act Is Basis

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., and Mrs. Ada L. Burroughs, treasurer of his anti-Smith campaign of 1925, were indicted today for violation of the federal corrupt practices act. Date of trials had not been set.

The indictment was based on failure to report the $68,500 contribution of Edwin C. Jamison, New York republican capitalist, it cited eight over acts.

The indictment followed a brief investigation by the grand jury, which heard the same witnesses who appeared before the campaign funds committee headed by Senator Nye.

The committee also heard evidence that former senator Fredling-huysen of New Jersey contributed $10,000.

Miss Burroughs and Dr. Sidney J. Peters were summoned but refused to testify. Peters, however, testified before the grand jury.

The senate investigation followed adoption of a resolution by Senator Glass, democrat, of Virginia, after Rep. Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts, accused Bishop Cannon and demanded grand jury action. Cannon challenged authority of the senate committee, saying it was a matter for court action and sought an injunction successfully.

However, when the grand jury began to function, he claimed he was immune from federal law, saying he worked only in Virginia, and that the provisions of the corrupt practices act governing selection of presidential candidates is unconstitutional.

Both were set at $1,000 each. The law's maximum penalty is $10,000 fine and two years' imprisonment.

Cannon, who was attending the executive committee of the College of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, in Atlanta, refused to talk until after that meeting ends.

Woodcraft Club Organized Here

McNew, Walter Bomper, Woodrow Campbell, J. D. Phillips, Milton Bullard, George Miller, Harry Jordan, Milton Coleman, Herbert Fletcher, William Wright, William Campbell, Robert Anderson.

Appel To Be Made From Dismissal Of Settles' Injunction

Notice of appeal was given by attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Settles early this week when a Dallas court sustained a general demurrer to their petition for injunction to prevent the Milano Furniture company from offering at public sale Howard county properties of Mr. and Mrs. Settles.

The sale twice has been delayed by granting of temporary restraining orders. The general demurrer was filed by attorneys for the Milano company and no argument was made against it by Wilburn Barcus, who represented Mr. and Mrs. Settles.

Now That's Over
THE long-forever verdict of acquittal for Dist. Judge Price has been returned. The people of Texas will be well satisfied that it is finished, with its attendant expenses of over $600 a day, and with the fact known from the beginning that it could only prove futile.

Former Sen. Paul D. Page, who gave his services free of charge to defend his aged friend, summed up the whole sorry spectacle in a single sentence:
"It is not this honorable judge that is arraigned in this trial."
It is obvious that the very legislation which dragged the "Price trial through weeks of futile effort is more responsible. The legislature could have remedied them.
He couldn't.

Friends of Judge Price—practically every person in his district—never for a moment had their confidence in the venerable judge shaken. So the verdict could have been but of little comfort to them.
The house managers were put in the unhappy position of having to carry through a distasteful and meaningless "trial."

It is unique in that it is the only one in history in which the prosecutors were on record admitting the accused man innocent, and part of the jurors on record as asserting him guilty before the trial even started.
The only satisfaction the people of Texas get out of this matter is that it is over.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Wage War On Road Hogs
San Francisco Chronicle:
"LAW has been added to the California law recently made effective prohibiting the practice of 'hogging the road.' It is evident in a communication received from E. Raymond Cato, chief of the highway patrol, by the California State Automobile Association.
Relative to dealing with so-called
'roadhogs' Cato said:
"The California highway patrol officers have been instructed to keep a sharp lookout for those drivers who insist upon monopoliz-ing the road and cutting in and out of traffic needlessly. We will press a vigorous campaign against such drivers in the hope of correcting this serious menace to traffic."
Attention to the matter of slow drivers obstructing or endangering traffic without due cause by traveling in the center of the roadway or by other means, is particularly appropriate in view of the recent month-long campaign of education and enforcement by the California committee on public safety. The end results of failure to keep to the right and "hogging the road" were pointed out by the committee, which advanced the slogan "Keep to the Right, or Get in Wrong." What the term "hogging the road" includes, in addition to driving in the middle of the highway and forcing other drivers to stay behind or take to the ditch, these practices:
Driving beyond the left of the center of a road which has two or more lanes, contending for the right of way at intersections, passing other cars on the crest of a hill or at curves or intersections where the view is obstructed, making left turns without an adequate signal, weaving in and out or cutting in on other traffic, parking on the traveled portion of the roadway and passing street cars taking or discharging passengers.

Mrs. E. O. Ellington, Dorothy,
and Mrs. Ralph Hix left yesterday morning for Dallas. They picked up Mrs. Vera Hall in Abilene who accompanied them for the rest of the trip.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by Dr. Lago Goldson
As told by the New York
Dr. Lago Goldson As told by the New York

Eczema in Infants
When an infant is affected with eczema the condition proves a trial to the child, parents and physician —to the latter because of the difficulty establishing the cause of the eczema, and in treating it successfully.

Eczema is, in the last analysis, a symptom rather than a disease. Behind it may be any one of a number of causes, some of which are ill defined.

In the serious, that is, extensive and chronic forms of eczema in children, the proper procedure requires that the child should be tested for sensitiveness to certain of the food items in its diet.

This is, at times, a long drawn out test, but essentially it is simple.

In substance, the child's skin is scratched and into it is placed an extract of the food tested. Sensitiveness to the food is indicated by a red swelling which forms about the scratch.

By eliminating the food or foodstuffs which the child is found sensitive to is at times relieved of the eczema.

A condition resembling eczema is at times found in children in the region of the buttocks and over the diaper area. This condition is due to chafing of the skin and subsequent invasion of the chafed area by pus-producing germs.

Treatment requires complete cleanliness, thorough washing of the diapers and protection of the affected area until healing takes place.

The affected area appears red and moist. It should be kept as dry as possible. Boric acid in the form of lotion, ointment, or dusting powder may be used to inhibit the further action of bacteria.

As a general rule, all eczema affected areas should be treated gently. The child should be restrained from scratching them. Water and soap should be used but sparingly on the affected regions which should be protected against injury.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON — There's a spot in the senate wing of the capitol which doubtless will be a highly interesting place this winter when the 72nd session of congress gets in full swing.

It is in a little side room off
the senate restaurant on the first floor.

In there is a big round table
where every day
those senators variously referred to as "insurrepublicans" and "progressives" gather for lunch. At their head is George Norris of Nebraska.

Off by itself, if one is lucky enough to see the door open, six or seven men whose names are familiar to everyone may be observed seated around this table.

There will be in addition to Norris, probably Biram Johnson of California, Gerald Nye of North Dakota, "Young Bob" LaFollette of Wisconsin and others of that group.

Round Table Conferences
Perhaps the face of Burton Wheeler may be seen. For the Monday democrat frequently joins his republican friends at these little noon day confabs.

It probably wouldn't be far wrong to say that those occasions when this group has shown a well organized front in the senate might be traced to this big round table.
The strategy of many a hard fought battle may have been pondered out about it. If the table had the gift of tongues what a story it might tell.

SAM

BY FREEMAN LINCOLN

SYNOPSIS: Sam Sherrill begins spending money and having a good time when funds gained from her stepfather's invention end the family's poverty. She has managed the family affairs since her mother's death. Fourth Aldersea, her stepfather, is an unusually poor business man. To relieve financial pressure, Sam has become engaged to a young millionaire, Peak Abbott. He realizes her motives and offers to release her when Fourth suddenly becomes wealthy. But Sam keeps her promise, although she is in love with another man, Freddy Munson. While the family was poor, the aristocratic Fourth sold books, and thus met a rich widow who has become interested in him. He has shown the widow Mrs. Frye, his invention. Sam fears at first that Fourth got the money from Mrs. Frye, but Peak investigates and reports that business men are backing the invention.

Chapter 22
TROUBLE RETURNS
One afternoon more than two weeks later Eugenie Frye called at the stable.

Sam, who has just finished dressing to go out to tea, received the news with a frown of annoyance. She said to the maid: "Mrs. Frye? What on earth does she want? I can't see her, anyhow. Tell her I'm busy, Mary."

Mary hesitated. "I said that you were just going out Miss Sherrill, but she said it was important."
"All right," Sam shrugged resignedly. "Tell her I'll be down immediately." "There was something different about Eugenie Frye. Sam recognized that fact at once, even though the change lay in nothing tangible. The widow's manner had altered. She seemed subdued—that was it. Her air of bravado and of defiance to the world was gone, as was her nervousness in Sam's presence. She shook hands and apologized for her intrusion. "I know you are very busy, Miss Sherrill, and I hate to bother you. I can't help it though, for just a few minutes. I—I need your help."

"My help?" Sam was mildly surprised. "Why, of course, Mrs. Frye. If there's anything I can do—"
"Thank you," the widow nodded and glanced wistfully about the room. Then she said abruptly: "How is Mr. Aldersea? Is he well?"
"Fourth? Why, yes, he's well. He's quite well, thank you. Had you heard he was ill?"
"No," Eugenie took a long breath. "I hadn't heard anything. That's why I came to see you, Miss Sherrill. I haven't heard anything from Mr. Aldersea for weeks."

"Oh," Sam was beginning to understand, and she realized at once that she must proceed fairly. "I see. Well, to tell you the truth, Mrs. Frye, Fourth has been busy. He's been so very busy that he hasn't had a moment for social matters. You can understand that, of course."
"Yes, I can understand that. The other nodded. "But I wasn't expecting to see him socially, Miss Sherrill. There was a little matter of business."
"Business?" Sam sat up very straight. "What sort of business?"
"It was the widow's turn to be surprised. "Why, books, of course. I ordered a set of books from Mr. Aldersea some time ago, and they haven't come."

"Oh—books," Sam relaxed and sank back in her chair. "It wasn't anything but books!"
"Just books, I thought perhaps—"
"One moment, Mrs. Frye. I can see you haven't heard," she spoke gently. "Fourth isn't selling books any more. He has given it up."
"Oh," the widow said the word quietly, but Sam noticed that she suddenly burned brightly in her cheeks. "Oh, he isn't selling books any more."
"No," there was a pause, so long and so awkward that Sam finally felt called upon to amplify her statement. "He never liked it very well, you know, because he always realized that he isn't a natural salesman. He says that it's a great relief now that he's out of it altogether."
"How can he be out of it?" Eugenie spoke sharply and with blunt earnestness. "I thought he had very little money. Has he found another job?"
"In a way," Sam frowned thoughtfully, being uncertain as to just how much she should say. Then she shrugged. "As a matter of fact Mrs. Frye, Fourth has had an extraordinary piece of luck in a financial way."
"Oh," it seemed for a moment as though Eugenie were ill. She swayed slightly and her eyes closed. When she spoke her voice was dull. "He's inherited money, I suppose."
"No," Once more Sam shrugged. "The fact is, Mrs. Frye, that Fourth has found someone to back his invention. They bought the patent rights and are paying him a salary to help them get the thing ready for the market. It's all very surprising, but it seems to be true. Fourth says—"
"Wait a minute!" Eugenie was on her feet, staring. "Wait a minute till I get this straight. You aren't talking about that circuit breaker thing, it can't be that!"
"But it is, Mrs. Frye," Sam shrugged. "Fourth never invented anything else, and I doubt if he ever will."
"I don't believe it!" The widow seemed shaken by something very much like excited indignation. "That circuit breaker isn't worth a nickel! It's impractical!"
"I know. That's what we all thought. The A. A. Burke Manufacturing Company, however, felt differently. They bought it."
"How could they?" Eugenie's bewilderment was complete. She made incredulous gestures. "How could they spend good money for something that isn't worth anything? I tell you, Miss Sherrill, that it isn't worth a cent! I had it investigated, and I know!"
"Of course!" The words tumbled out breathlessly. "If there had been anything in it at all I'd have backed it myself. My agents told me that I'd just be throwing my money away, and my agents are reliable people." She was tense and grim. "There's something funny about all this."
Eugenie paced the floor, her eyes flashing, and then, abruptly, there came a change. She hesitated, turned to her chair, and collapsed into it, fumbling for her handkerchief. "It's worse than peculiar," she said in a tone that had suddenly become low and hopeless. "It's much worse than that—it's terrible."

Sam learns—tomorrow—that Mrs. Frye is going to fight for what she wants. She also learns the reason.

Important Test Of Motor Truck Statute Is Filed

AUSTIN, Oct. 16.—A test proceeding of statewide effect, to determine whether overloaded cotton trucks and other common carrier vehicles can use county roads without permission of county commissioners courts has been filed.

It was brought by Warren S. Freund, Travis county commissioner, in a request to County Atty. Bryan Blalock for a ruling from either Blalock or the attorney general's department.

Mr. Freund charged that the cotton trucks operating illegally are cutting away from the state highways to avoid arrests under the motor truck law, and because the gravel roads are not built to stand such loads, are damaging and destroying the county roads.

Mr. Freund asked legal guidance with a view to the county's closing the roads built from its funds to foreign-owned trucks carrying excessive loads of cotton or other commodities for profit. Truck permits of the state do not cover county roads; but many types do not prescribe routes of haulers.

TASTE-TEST PROVES SUPERIORITY OF ROASTING METHOD

Hills Bros. Coffee, Roasted Differently, Has Flavor No Other Coffee Has

To drink Hills Bros. Coffee, after you have been drinking other brands, is certainly a revelation. It has a marvellously rich, satisfying flavor that no other coffee has. This delicious difference is due to the way Hills Bros. Coffee is roasted. Instead of roasting in bulk, as others do, Hills Bros. use a process they invented and patented. It's called Controlled Roasting.

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow... a little at a time... so the delightful, unvarying flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is insured by this patented process that roasts evenly, continuously... a little at a time. Temperature and flow of coffee through the roasters are always under control. (Hence the name "Controlled Roasting.") A uniform roast, such as no bulk method equals, is absolutely assured. A perfect, unvarying flavor results in every pound.

This delicious coffee comes to you in vacuum cans. Air, which makes coffee go stale, is removed and kept out of these cans. Ordinary "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale! Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trademark on the can.

What a laugh! Colorado Midland McCamey Sweetwater Big Spring San Angelo McCamey Midland Colorado

We have two more suggestions similar to the above.

Here go the Steers: Big Spring Sweetwater San Angelo Midland McCamey Colorado

We have it on good authority from Midland that the Dogs have only eleven men—but those eleven are just as good as the Steer first string. We would like to see no substitutions during the game in order that even the most rabid Midland fan may see that the idea of the equality of the two starting teams was—well, just an idea.

We were informed by a female fan from the West last evening that the triple threat terror of the Bovines was a two year man from Oklahoma University. We also informed the misformed that a line composed of Southwest conference stars would oppose the Doggies this p. m.

The convincing manner in which the Black Devils took the Colorado team into camp yesterday is most pleasing to us. The future Steer play lots of football, and the outlook for the Bovines of the future is promising indeed.

Fans not able to make the trip to Midland will be able to get the score by quarters from the Herald office this afternoon. The first report will be here about 3:30.

The German government has decided to proceed slowly in its military cuts.

The suggestions received yesterday were numerous and some of them quite humorous. (The day's worst). Here's the first.

My WINNING PLAY

A greatly improved Ohio State football team invades Ann Arbor October 17 for a struggle with Michigan, 1930 co-champion of the Big Ten. In this, the fourth of a twice-weekly series written by outstanding coaches themselves, Sam William, Buckeye coach, explains a tricky "outback" his team will have in store for the Wolverines.

By SAM S. WILLIAM Head Football Coach, Ohio State University

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 16. (AP)—The football system at Ohio State this year will be much the same as was employed during the 1930 season. I plan to use two blanking backs, generally referred to as the winged back system.

However, the formation this year will be more open than the one used last year in Ohio. The two flanking backs tend to spread the defense, giving the front cover and at the same time it keeps the backs in such relationship so that all points can be reached in the shortest length of time.

This type of offense requires careful handling of the ball and more precision in timing. In fact, we will spend a greater part of our time in timing plays in an effort to get every move off with clock-like precision.

It is possible from this formation, due to the use of deception and pivots, to make the maximum use of your interfering linemen by swinging them in front of the play and at the same time four eligible receivers may be cut loose instantly down the field.

By using the double winged back system one can build an entire sequence of plays, repeatedly drawing the opponents out of position until the situation presents itself for the key play.

Several times last year we worked up to the point where we had our opponents looking for pivot and guard against Feiler's passing. After two or three plays we spread the six man front line wide open and then a pivot play was called. This year's captain, Stew Holcomb, cut back through tackle for a 30 yard run, during which he was untouched, for our first touchdown.

As long as he is governor a man had sole authority to declare martial law. I am not venturing an opinion as to the legality of Mr. Sterling's present course but merely stating the theory of martial law. The judiciary and the governor or each are superior in their own right and it is conceded that the executive will declare martial law when there is sufficient cause.

"A lawyer, after his academic training, must strive to develop a judicial mind. He must be familiar with his library and sources. Preventative law today is one of the most important phases of the profession, just as preventative medicine has been developed. It is just as important for you to consult your lawyer to keep you out of trouble as to seek his services after you've gotten into trouble. In many things business men can satisfactorily handle for themselves certain routine legal matters. But in the preparation of written contracts and similar matters advice of an attorney is important.

"Ethics of the profession affecting relations with the court are important. Solicitation of business in violation of the code of ethics. We want our profession to be clean and honorable and to an attorney of that type only regret is created when he sees violation of ethics of the profession."

SICK HEADACHE From Constipation

HERE is a purely vegetable medicine which has benefited thousands of men, women and children, and which you should try when troubled with constipation, or biliousness. Mr. H. H. Rogillo, of Lake Charles, La., writes: "When I let myself get constipated, I feel dull and sluggish and all out of sorts, not equal to my work. When one has this feeling it is time to take something before he feels worse. I certainly have found Black-Draught quick to relieve. I used to have severe headaches and suffer a great deal. I found this came from constipation, and that Black-Draught would correct it. That is why I began using

Supreme Court Has Test Case Of Tax Statute

AUSTIN, Oct. 15.—Rep. Vernon Lemens suit testing the tax moratorium law, as to taxes already delinquent, is before supreme court. It was certified to the final court by the third civil appeals tribunal, as requested by both Rep. Lemens, and Atty. Gen. James V. Allred, who held that part of the law was void. The case went through from district court to supreme court in less than a week. Decision was necessary before Jan. 31, 1932, to permit the law to have any effect. The case on the appeal is that of Moses Jones against J. R. Williams, Travis county tax collector. This suit does not involve the taxes payable this year, on which a delay until Oct. 15 was granted, and on which the new law waives penalties and interest through next Jan. 31. Atty. Gen. Allred said the law, as to all taxes that had not gone delinquent when it was passed, is valid.

'Diary of a Deb' Society Girl Tells Story Of 'Coming Out' Days

Want to know the inside story of a debutante's life? What she does during the "coming out" season all about her clothes, parties, and what she thinks of it? A real debutante will tell you. Jean Woodson, Washington society girl, makes her debut in December in the brilliant social life of the capital. In a series of eight illustrated features, she reveals how a 'deb' feels about the strenuous days before the climax of her own formal introduction, how she does her shopping, the social functions she attends, what her friends say, do and think.

Miss Woodson is the daughter of a prominent Washington family, a descendant of Peter Van Rensselaer, a Dutch colonial pioneer, and of the Brock family of Virginia. Her father, an important railroad attorney and accounting expert, is vice-chairman of the Conference of the Association of Railway Executives.

Her own story in eight articles, "The Diary of a Deb," answering your questions about gowns and dances, partners and parties, starts in the Daily Herald tomorrow and continues daily. Start reading it tomorrow.
