Former Wheeler Boy Sets Air Mail Record

Jack Frye, TWA Flier, is Grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frye—Attended School Here

A record transcontinental air mail flight the latter part of the week, set by Jack Frye, vice-president of TWA, Inc., held more than passing interest for Wheeler people. Frye, a son of Will Frye and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frye, with whom he made his home on the ranch east of town for several years, is well known here as well as throughout the county. He attended the Wheeler school a few years ago.

Frye's record flight was made from Los Angeles to Newark and was made in 11 hours and 31 minutes.

The ship's elapsed time, which included a 10-minute refueling stop at Kansas City, was considerably lower than the previous mail record of 13 hours, 2 minutes established February 19, when Transcontinental and Western Air whisked its final load of mail across the continent before surrendering the job to army fliers.

The company meanwhile has been reorganized into TWA, Inc. This was the first transcontinental trip under a new mail contract.

The plane, piloted by Jack Frye, vice-president in charge of operations, left Los Angeles at 5 a. m. Eastern standard time and landed at Newark at 4:31 p. m. It averaged 227 miles an hour on the 2,609-mile trip.

Frye's elapsed time, while setting a new mail-carrying mark, was nearly an hour slower than the transcontinental record of 10 hours, 43 minutes, established by James Hailip.

The ship carried 335 pounds of mail and 85 pounds of express, TWA officials said.

The plane is the first of a fleet of specially designed mail and express planes constructed to make possible overnight delivery of air mail between the East and West Coast.

This record flight was the first step in the resumption of air mail service on regular schedule under private contract since the army's fiasco in attempting to handle the mail some weeks ago.

Four ships per day are scheduled through the Amarillo port.

4-H CLUB COUNCIL HAD BUSY DAY HERE SATURDAY

"The 4-H Club Council which met in Wheeler Saturday, May 12, was a moving van," declares Viola Jones, home demonstration agent. Continuing, she says the first assembly was held in the district court room for the opening exercises.

At 10:45 they moved to the Methodist church to see the movies. Two films, "Scenes from Yellowstone National Park" and "The Lady of the Lake," were presented. This show was made possible through the courtesy of the Methodist Sunday school and the pastor, Rev. J. Edmund Kirby.

After the show, the assemblage went to the Stanley grove for a picnic lunch, and then to the Church of Christ basement for their games.

Beginning at 1:30 p. m., a business session was held in the district court room. Ollie Marie Erskine, Exie Creekmore and James Passons compose a committee appointed to select the time and place for the annual 4-H club encampment. Club reports were given.

The council was entertained by Miss Willetta Templeton with a reading, "Johnny at the Circus," and a reading by Mrs. J. L. Gilmore, "The Skating Rink."

Stunts were judged by Misses Leona Crossland, Lucile Thornton and Bertha Goad. Allison was awarded first place with "The Village Blacksmith," Briscoe took second with "School Life," and Plainview placed third with "Dumb-bell."

The council adjourned at 3 o'clock. The Home Demonstration Council will meet in the club room in the court house basement on Saturday, May 19, at 2:30. Each club is requested to have representatives present, as important matters must be attended to.

Propose Bargain Day in Wheeler

At a meeting of the directors of the Board of City Development, held Wednesday afternoon, plans were discussed for a "dollar day" or some other suitable trades day idea to be launched in Wheeler in the near future. Only tentative arrangements were made at the meeting. The secretary, C. R. Weatherly, was instructed to visit Wheeler merchants and business men and outline the proposed plans and ascertain the sentiment toward such a project.

In view of opinions expressed from time to time by various merchants, the directors are inclined to believe that a "trades day" plan adopted to local conditions—and properly publicized—will meet with unanimous approval of Wheeler business interests.

"Business men and women," declared R. E. Brazil, president of the Board of City Development, "are requested to give some thought to the idea and be ready to offer a definite expression on the subject when the secretary calls."

If it is found that a majority of the business people wish to enter into such an undertaking, steps will be taken to institute the plan at an early date.

WEDNESDAY STUDY CLUB LED BY MRS. PENNINGTON

The Wednesday Study club met at the club room in the courthouse Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. Floyd Pennington as leader of a program on health. Roll call was responded to with a good health rule.

The next meeting will be on May 23, when each member is expected to bring a book to be placed on the library shelves.

Amos Page gave a party Tuesday evening in honor of Troy Lee Carver, who is going to McLean to live. Mrs. J. A. Page served punch and cake to the following: Parilee Clay, Jonnie Lewis, Imogene Jamison, Louise members and guests: Mesdames Raymond Waters, Jim Risner, Floyd Pennington, A. B. Crump, R. E. Brazil, W. O. Puett, J. M. Burgess, Ernest Dyer and C. G. Miller. Guests: Mrs. J. M. Lawrence, Master Paul Waters and Mrs. Lucille Foss and daughter, Carolyne, of Borger.

NEW PLAN OFFERS RELIEF FOR FARM DEBT PROBLEM

There is now a new hope for thousands of farmers who, burdened heavily with debt, live constantly in fear of foreclosure and dispossession of their farm homes and life savings.

Governors of more than two thirds of the states have taken steps to further farm-debt adjustment work. This work is directed at bringing about voluntary debt settlement, either by composition and scale-down of all indebtedness to a point where it can be handled as a new loan, or by an extension agreement that will permit worthy debtors to work out their financial difficulties.

At the request of Henry Morganthau, jr., former governor of the Farm Credit Administration, the governor of this state named a state committee, to assist in selecting the county committees to carry out this great work.

Although the Farm Credit Administration is advising with the governor in this effort, it is not the work of the federal government. It is primarily a responsibility to be shouldered by leaders in each community at the request of their governor.

The local committees are selected to represent both creditors and debtors, and every effort was made to choose members who will deal fairly with both groups. They will not help the farmer who has knowingly dealt unfairly with his creditors, or who has abandoned his property and has not provided for its proper care.

No greater responsibility and no greater test of true patriotism and good citizenship has ever been put to these men by our state and nation, and they should receive the support of every agency available in the task of restoring our farm and ranch homes to a profitable and going basis with the aid of the governmental agencies at their command.

In the presence of this impartial local committee the debtor tells his problems and the creditors list their claims, and all discuss in a private hearing what might be done. Frequently, merely getting the parties together is sufficient to bring about a settlement. Creditors, as a rule, would prefer to have their debtor retain possession of his farm, if reasonable settlement can be reached where he makes an equitable distribution to his creditors of the income he can pay on his indebtedness.

If the farmer has made an honest effort to meet his debts, if he is a good manager and farmer, and if his inability to pay in full has been due largely to general conditions beyond his control, it is likely that this farmer would be a pretty good type to remain on his farm. Frequently such debtors will be able to pay more to their creditors than farmers who might replace them. It is also likely that if this farmer remains on his farm, although in debt, he would do a better job of farming as a title-holder than a tenant. This would be true especially if some arrangement were agreed to whereby he would have a chance to repay his debts in time. In most cases creditors will appreciate these conditions. If the debtor's case is not hopeless, foreclosure will be avoided in a large percentage of cases handled by the committee.

Whatever agreement is suggested, however, will come to nothing unless it is accepted voluntarily by the creditors. Although the local farm debt adjustment committee are appointed by the governor of the state, the committees cannot and will not compel acceptance of any proposals they put forward. Their usefulness lies in their capacity to propose a sane, workable plan of debt settlement, some plan that will appeal to the intelligent self-interest of both the debtor and his creditors, and which will at the same time avoid unnecessary foreclosure.

Committees have been very successful in making hundreds of adjustments in this state and have stopped numbers of foreclosures. They are ready to assist any farmer in distress and to see that his creditor interest is justly protected.

Farmers wishing to take advantage of this service should contact the local county committee, and failing to make proper adjustments, the county committee will then call upon the state committee if the occasion demands.

The Wheeler county committee is composed of W. Veale, chairman, Ben Wofford, Gerald Mayfield, L. C. Atkinson and J. W. Henderson. The chairman states that several cases have been considered. Four have been satisfactorily settled. The committee works without pay, not even expense money being provided, but their efforts are of great importance and help to parties who are in difficulties coming within their jurisdiction and the results are well worth while.

ATTENTION, SCOUTS!

There will be no meeting of Troop No. 77, Boy Scouts, Friday night but the two troops will meet Monday night at 8 p. m. in the basement of the Church of Christ. All members of both troops are urged to attend. Plans for the summer will be discussed at the meeting.—Scoutmasters Kirby and Yeakley.

Civic Organization Banquet a Success

Board of City Development Held Big Get-Together Meeting Thursday Night

Assembling at the Lewis cafe last Thursday night, for a banquet and get-together meeting, members of the newly-organized Board of City Development and a few invited guests staged a rousing session. A total of 51 persons participated. Several more people would have been present but could not be accommodated because their intention to attend was not made known until after the list was closed.

Among the speakers at the banquet were the following: H. M. Wiley, Jake Tarter, R. H. Forrester, Glen Porter, R. E. Brazil, A. B. Crump, Mrs. R. H. Forrester, Gladys Gunter, Nathan Lummas, W. M. McMurtry, Clyde Fillmore and H. Briley.

The talks were notable for the fine spirit expressed, indicating an enthusiastic attitude toward the new organization. Leaders in the movement derived much encouragement from the enthusiasm shown.

During the brief informal program, Miss Willetta Templeton gave a delightful reading. Music for the occasion was furnished by Tucker Veale, Warren Mitchell and Bill Guynes.

Up to date, 46 members have been enrolled in the Board of City Development. This is according to C. R. Weatherly, secretary-treasurer. It is reported that several others have signified their intention of joining the organization in the near future.

Plans are being worked out for a number of projects soon to be undertaken by the group, designed to benefit Wheeler and the surrounding community.

Jim Williams, Amarillo, representative of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was in Wheeler Monday, conferring with officers of the local civic body concerning affiliation with the district organization. Steps are being taken to join forces with the West Texas group.

ALL SIDES SHOULD BE FAIR

During the last few months there has been growing criticism, from many quarters, of various government activities—particularly those which are of an experimental nature, and are without legislative precedent. And, in return, the defenders of experiments have naturally been more zealous and aggressive in bringing their beliefs and arguments before the public.

A grave responsibility rests on both these groups—those who defend and those who criticize. The American government is attempting to do a great and fine thing—to bring more happiness, more opportunity, more useful leisure to the average man. There is no place for criticism and denunciation which is purely partisan and selfish, and represents an effort of those who are politically "out" to get themselves back "in." And there is no place for enthusiastic praise which is likewise based on partisan grounds, and represents misguided loyalty to a political group.

There is unquestionably fear on the part of many citizens that in conducting its experiments, the government is losing sight of certain American fundamentals—that it is endangering the existence of economic and social individualism, that it is weakening the foundations of democracy. There is fear that we are nearing the shoals of fascism, and a bureaucratic dictatorship. That is the issue that must be widely discussed, by both the friends and enemies of the new order. It should be discussed frankly, fairly and authoritatively, and all sides should be heard.

Neither dogmatic praise nor partisan criticism does service to a government, an administration, or to the public. Honest differences of opinion, honestly argued and thrashed out, are of immense benefit.

THE LIQUOR REVENUES

Marshall News: The national supervisor of alcoholic drinks has called on the country to help the government in its fight against the bootlegger. In an official statement he says more illicit liquor is being sold than liquor on which the government collects revenue. His statement is almost unbelievable. Weren't we told that we must abolish prohibition in order to get rid of the poisonous liquor the bootlegger was dishing out to the American public?

The national supervisor probably magnifies in his own mind the size of the bootlegging industry. It was always magnified, for that matter. Certain it is that the revenues from legal liquor have been disappointing. This fact, no doubt, leads the authorities to suppose bootlegging is in a flourishing condition. May it not be, indeed is it not positively affirmable, that the disparity in the calculated and the actual revenues is due to less drinking than expected? The people of this country, the bulk of them at least, let liquor alone for twelve years. The young drinkers fell away, and the older ones lost their taste for ardent spirits. Naturally there was some hip-flasking, some raw boozing in raw surroundings, but the amount of liquor consumed in these states during the prohibition era was as thimbles to tubs in comparison with former times. Fountain drinks, generally called soft drinks, built up an amazing volume of trade. The young people and many who were older found the soft drinks suited them. They still suit. Intoxicating liquor has found a slow market, as the tax returns show. The 3.2 beer, non-intoxicating unless swilled, has not proved excitingly popular.—State Press in Dallas News.

THE TAX PROBLEM

One-third of the taxes you pay are to make up the difference of those who do not pay. In other words, if your taxes amount to $60 annually, you pay $40 tax and $20 to help carry your delinquent neighbors along, according to the Texas Tax Journal.

The delinquent tax problem has now assumed alarming proportions when it is remembered that many people are not in position to pay anything, while others who are able to pay take the attitude that they should not have to support the government alone. Some are advocating cancelling all delinquent taxes and beginning anew with a strong collection policy, but this will in all probability never be done, and would not solve the problem equitably anyway.

Perhaps the best way would be to begin forcing collection of current taxes and worry along with the old delinquents, which would slowly cut the balance down.—McLean News.

ARE YOU A SAFE DRIVER?

Summer isn't far away when the streets and highways of the nation will be crowded with traffic. Fine dry weather will bring out thousands of motorists—and roads will resound again to the roar of motors.

Now is the time to ask yourself if you are a safe driver and don't answer too hurriedly. You can give yourself a little quiz that will help. Are you thoroughly conversant with the driving laws of your state? Do you adapt the speed at which you drive, to local conditions—in other words, are you aware that 20 miles an hour is dangerously fast at times, and slow at others? Do you stick to your side of the road, and make certain that you can stop, under any circumstances, in the assured clear distance ahead? Are you careful not to pass on hills and curves?

Other questions of that kind will suggest themselves to you. But even if such a test, honestly answered, puts you in the safe driving status, you aren't through. How about your car? When were the tires, the brakes, the steering, the lights, last inspected by a good mechanic? A substantial percentage of motorists put off repairs till tomorrow—and sometimes that tomorrow never comes.

Last year was one of the worst in the history of the automobile so far as needless sacrifice of life and property was concerned. Every motorist should give himself a safe driving test now—and if he is uncertain as to how to do it, traffic departments and safety organizations exist to help him. Bring accidents down in 1934!

WANTED: MILLIONS OF HOMES

The gravity of the housing problem in America can be simply illustrated by a comparison of the number of families provided with new residential units in recent years.

In 1922, some 370,000 families secured new homes. In 1925, when the all-time high was reached, close to 500,000 home structures were built. The ten-year average from 1921-30, was 361,000 units each year. In '33, new home construction dropped to less than 30,000.

Making the problem still more severe is the fact that during depression depreciation and obsolescence of existing homes were more than normally great. Thousands of houses literally went to pieces, due to lack of upkeep.

The result is that a heavy percentage of our people live in sub-standard dwellings. Doubling up, with several families occupying one home, is commonplace. It was recently estimated that 4,000,000 families lived in this manner. And population shifts have gone on, depression or no depression, creating tremendous home shortages in various localities.

Better times are the herald of stimulated construction. A jump in building is coming as certainly as the tides, and it is going to advance building costs—both for materials and for skilled labor. The wise property owner, with money to spend, is beginning to realize that this is really the time to build and repair, while bargain prices still exist.

"THE DEPRESSION" has taught us that modern civilization, with all its worth-while achievements, is diseased. It has taught us that there are a great number of opinions as to the cause of the disease, and a still wider variety as to the remedy which will effect a cure.

The present adult world, abandoned to its vulgar instincts, to think its greed, dishonesty, and selfishness are just the progress toward what?

If our progress in control over natural forces, and in civilization in which the highest aspect is to be found, is to comfort for a class which can afford it, and its lowest aspect is to crude vulgarity of its recreations, we may well question whether progress has been made or is being made.

"In a time in which official corruption was rampant nor human misery more appalling," to use the words of Lovett, it is high time we return to the teaching of the things which will assure lasting progress. One of these things is honesty.

The disease of dishonesty can be cured by the injection of honesty. It should be injected into the mind of the child at an early age. Frequent doses should be given every few weeks throughout the life of the patient. These doses may well be given at home, because it is there the first principles of honesty are learned.

When the child becomes enrolled in school the teachers, the parents, give the injections. Other organizations which cooperate with the home and school with the injections are: the church, the Girl Scout movement, and the 4-H club movement. The cooperation of the County Farm and Home Demonstration Agency is also essential.

Thus, it becomes the duty of each of us who are engaged in the building of a lasting civilization to lend our support, time and money, to the above mentioned organizations in order that they may grow a citizenship that will be free from the disease of dishonesty.

BACK TO THE FARM

Experimental education as it is in Germany, is a wise plan to follow. People may study and continue to study, but if some action is not taken the learning has no important value. Many of the students in Germany are studying agriculture and there is no better place for their knowledge to be applied than on these experimental farms. This plan will provide assigned duties that must be performed by each co-worker. Through the organized work the students on this farm will be given an opportunity to become better citizens for their country. While associating with other types of people, the student will take a wider view on life. Those who seem to have no aim in life may find a vacant place that will fit his needs. This plan would help to improve the health conditions of the country. The crowded cities with the stale air is no place for millions of people who do not have normal health. Many of the student's problems of unhealthfulness could be solved with a few weeks of pure air and sunshine. A busy person is the most content, so why let many students do nothing but feel sorry for themselves, when they might accomplish much on these farms.—E. C.

DR. NICHOLSON INSTALLS NEW P.-T. A. OFFICERS

Installation of the new Parent-Teachers Association officers took place Monday night at eight o'clock, in the high school auditorium. Dr. H. E. Nicholson read the duties attendant upon each. New officials will be Mrs. D. A. Hunt, president; Mrs. Lee Guthrie, vice-president; Mrs. Lloyd Davidson, secretary; and Mrs. Frank Lawrence, chairman of the program committee. The program consisted of two folk dances, presented by the dancing class, a talk by Mrs. J. L. Gilmore on the cultural value of music, and a chorus from the Home Economics club operetta; after the program refreshments of lemonade and wafers were served to all present.

INTERVIEWS

This reporter has found another prominent member of the senior class. She is none other than Mary Eunice Noah. She does not know just how long that she has attended school in Wheeler, but it has been ever since she was in the fifth grade. Seems that she isn't for sure about her hobby, but she says that she "kinda laks" to collect stamps. Her ambition is to be a great Spanish instructor in the years to come. She only hesitated when asked just what her by-word was, but I'm sure that it isn't anything very bad. Every year since she has been in high school she has held office in her class. She is salutatorian of the senior class this year. Mary is a member of the Spanish and Home Economics clubs. She hopes to go to Lubbock to school next year if possible. She says that she does not know anything else great about herself except her feet.

Yes, she has a beau, whose initials I think are Bill Owens. She says that every time her name is put in the paper this name seems to be tacked to it. (This is one reporter that is going to be different and not print his name.) Her name is Doraean Wood and she has attended school at Briscoe, Tehoma and Wheeler since her high school career began. She says that she don't got "nary" hobby as yet. Doraean's ambition is to be a nurse. She plans to go to school next year, but she does not know just where.

Doraean is and has been a prominent member of this class for the past two years; she is a member of the Home Economics club. Christopher McClain (Chris) seems to be an old pioneer of the senior class of this year as he entered school here when he was barely in the primer and has been here since. Chris says he doesn't have very much ambition, but that he wishes that the people would help him to become president of the United States some day. Now that isn't much. He is fond of aviation; it seems that his hobby would be playing with toy aeroplanes during his spare time if he has any. He says that his girl is no one but if he finds a better one he hopes that she is a blonde.

John May is one of those senior boys who talks very little and at times he has been known to blush. He has been attending school in Wheeler ever since he has been trying to get educated. He says that his ambition is to be a ranchman so that he may put into use the things that he has learned in high school. He says that he doesn't have a girl, but if he did, he preferred that she should not be too fat, not too tall, about muddledized, and he had rather that she be a brunette. He does not know just what type of girl that this would be. John thinks that his ambition is to travel. He has been a member of the track team and the Spanish club for the past two years. Just the other day it was found that he had a hidden talent and it is playing the French harp. In case you don't think that he can play, girls, just give him a chance. Although John is a popular member of this class he does not have any nickname as he does not talk enough to gain one. Maybe he is just lucky.

Helen never says O. K., because she is cultured. Wonder what attracts the Wheeler kids to Shamrock. It must be the skatin' rink. Wonder why Warren seems so interested in the Insurance business? Wonder why Curtis' face turns red when you say, "How do you like to survey?" Inez is wearing a new watch. Can you explain this Tuffy? It looks like Creeky has forgiven Liz, as he was seen with her last Friday night. The basketball girls have been very excited the last few days. Reason: Their sweaters have arrived. Wonder who Lorene was with Monday night? Gee, the sophomores sure did pull a fast one. They went on a picnic and not anyone knew anything about it until they came back.

As the result of selling flowers for Mother's Day, the juniors are to receive four dollars commission from the Ribble's Floral company in Shamrock where the flowers were obtained. The funds will go to the class treasury to pay off debts made on "Junior Day." Those who bought flowers received them early Sunday morning.

 2.—Chub could talk without using sarcasm.

 7.—Canadian lost its lure on Wheeler boys.

Home Ec. Club Honors Mothers With Program

In honor of their mothers, the Home Economics club girls gave a program Friday afternoon, May 11, at 3:15, in the high school auditorium. As each mother entered the building a red or white flower was given to her. The first number on the program was a welcome address by Anna Mae Puett followed by a song for the mothers. Next Willie Mae Hollabaugh gave the reading, "Home," by Edgar A. Guest. Orveta played a piano solo and Elizabeth Joss gave a reading. Exie Creekmore, Inez Shipman, Willie Mae Hollabaugh, and Anna Mae Puett then sang, "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver." Next a group of folk dancers gave a short dance. Ruth Dill made a talk on the accomplishments of the year. The last number was a song by the second year class and the honorary members. The mothers then gave a yell in honor of their club sponsor, Miss Bernice Williams, who also told the need of a third year in home economics training.

Refreshments of lemonade, cookies and sandwiches were served to Mesdames W. L. Coward, E. T. Hollabaugh, W. L. Williams, Robert Bowers, J. W. Barr, C. M. Hampton, J. E. Willard, J. B. Roper, H. A. Burke, H. H. Greenhouse, C. Bryon Witt, W. W. Perrin, A. L. Bean, A. E. Buchanan, Dan Craig, Troy Shipman, Alamo Starkey, John Ficke, W. O. Puett, Miss Dean Jenkins and the club girls.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL SWEATERS ARRIVE

Nine girls' basketball sweaters were received Tuesday, May 14. They are black sweaters with gold trimmings on the cuffs of the sleeves, tops of pockets and down the front. The stripes, representing the years each played, are also gold. On the left front side of each sweater is a black "W" outlined in gold. Those who received sweaters are Coach Miss Winona Adams, 3 stripes; Captain Anna Mae Puett, 4 stripes and a star; Co-captain Dorris Tolliver, 3 stripes; Secretary Willie Mae Hollabaugh, 2 stripes; Lena and Beulah Hollabaugh, each were awarded 1 stripe; Cosette Crofford, Exie Creekmore and Laney Mae Tillman, each got 2 stripes.

Tourist Trade Due for Big Increase this Year

"As the nation's business goes, so goes the tourist business. And that is just one of several reasons why the Conoco Travel bureau is predicting that 1934 will bring Wheeler merchants the biggest income from sightseers they have experienced in several seasons."

This piece of optimistic news came from Charles S. Ritchie, commander of the large, well equipped bureau bus that arrived here Wednesday and spent several hours spreading scenic information and checking over the free automobile travel service now being rendered by Conoco stations and garages.

"We know that the nation's business is swinging upward steadily," said Ritchie. "It's hardly necessary to say that people have more money to spend, and are spending it. A definite increase in both our travel service and gasoline consumption has been felt since the first of the year. So we can be certain that the next few months will find a surprising number of strangers on the highways of every community."

Since its inception, the Conoco Travel bureau has enjoyed a steady growth. In 1932, for example, 143,097 groups of tourists were served. In 1933, this number jumped to 196,415 groups—an increase of more than 37 per cent in one year. Of the 1933 total, 59,000 groups were routed to Texas, and 4,100 through Wheeler. Since there is an average of three people in each of the groups served, well over half a million people were given assistance by the bureau last year. Thus far, 1934 has shown even more phenomenal increases, and it is predicted that 300,000 trips will be this year's total.

Vacationists living in every state in the Union, as well as in Canada and Mexico, are being heard from regularly.

In four years the Conoco Travel bureau has grown into the largest organization of its type in America. It was founded by Continental Oil company in response to the demands of motor vacationists and everyday travelers who wish to be certain they are taking direct, trouble-free routes to their destinations and yet see the most interesting sights found in the country they journey through.

The Bureau's second major aim is to increase tourist travel to all of the nation's scenic regions. Though approximately 18,000 company and dealer service stations and hundreds of newspapers, hotels and chambers of commerce, the bureau is distributing attractive maps and literature featuring this city and its surroundings, as well as numberless other interesting points in America.

This unusual service, to which every motorist is entitled without spending a cent—even for postage—goes farther than literature distribution. In the bureau's central offices in Denver, more than a hundred carefully trained employees consult daily road reports from every state in the Union; note even the shortest detours, and incorporate this information into the routes they mark on all maps sent out.

Motorists who apply for free travel bureau service also receive a special "passport" which helps them to keep a careful expense record of their trips, identifies them wherever they may be and secures additional privileges for them at all Conoco stations. Each station acts as a field branch of the bureau and is prepared to furnish valuable local information to all tourists. All cottage camps and hotels throughout the country have been catalogued and described in free literature now being sent out by the bureau.

Conoco division officers accompanying Ritchie were T. H. Joyce, divisional representative; Ed Fleming, district superintendent; M. A. Naylor, district superintendent, and R. H. Robinson, operator.

The Conoco bus is equipped with special loud speakers which make it possible to broadcast radio and phonograph music, as well as announcements made by the bus commander, for almost a mile in any direction.

Free Conoco Travel bureau service is available to all readers of The Wheeler Times and may be secured by writing direct to the bureau's offices in Denver, Colorado, or filling out special application cards distributed by all Conoco service stations and dealers.

"The Last Mile"

As school draws nearer to "the last mile" or rather to the last six weeks, all of the students are almost too excited to study very much. Some are sorry for the school term to end while others are anxious for it to terminate.

All try harder to co-operate with their teachers and fellow school mates. More of the students spend the 3:15 periods with a book "poked" under their noses, studying the subjects in which they are especially deficient.

The faculty takes more interest in the students, trying to get them to do their work well so they will pass their subjects. Not a single teacher hesitates or "holds back" to keep from helping the students, but instead they do their "dead level" best to urge them forward on "the last mile."

One should not wait until "the last mile" to do his best work, but after all, even if he has done his work well, the rest of the term, he probably will not pass if he does not do it well the last few weeks. Yes, indeed, "the last mile" is what finishes the school "journey."—H.A.M.

Junior-Senior Banquet

The junior class honored the senior class with a banquet Friday night, May 4. The class colors of pink and green were carried out in the color scheme. The 4-H club women served for the affair, with the club girls as waitresses.

The guests were: Allan Smith, Mrs. Dodd, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Rev. and Mrs. Kirby of Wheeler. Eight members of the faculty were present.

The toastmaster, Myrl Dixon, announced the program as follows: Invocation, Mr. Rogers; welcome address, Bernard Wilson; response, Pauline Higdon; reading, Winifred Barnes; music by Mr. Montgomery and J. R. Hendrix. The principal speaker of the evening was Rev. Edmund Kirby from Wheeler.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the program and dinner very much. All we seniors can say is that we wish the juniors who will be guests at the banquet next year, as delightful a time as we had this year.

An Interesting Pair

Mrs. S.—"Sam, I just don't see how I can help you sweep this evening. I have so much to do elsewhere."

Mr. S.—"Now, Sorghum, I won't get through by dark unless you help me, and I'm about sick now."

Mrs. S.—"Yes, I never had an ache in my life that you didn't have one worse. Well, I'll come if I can."

And so, readers, we take great pleasure in presenting Mr. and Mrs. Sam Standlee, the two who with the aid of their small son, Jiggs, keep our school "spick and span."

Now, we will see them as they return home from work.

Mrs. S.—"Sam, oh Sam, there isn't any water in this bucket."

Mr. S.—"Good Lord, every time I turn around somebody says, 'they ain't no water in that there bucket.'"

Now, folks, haven't you enjoyed meeting Mr. and Mrs. Standlee? We hope you have because we like them and their work a lot.

THE STORY

3 TER I.—Seeking death by herself from the summit of Mesa, to escape dishonor, Savarin allows herself to be by her suddenly sobered and attacked. The girl is a self-physician to the Navajo living on an Arizona sheep with her brother Serge, his wife, and their small daughter, Babs. Near she has been engaged to Blake, wealthy New Yorker. heart is with the friendless and she evades a wedding.

ELI d better go to the trading post, ngers," she told him, "and get or as if they had not penetrated his consciousness.

"Yes," he said, "it will, though it has been cold."

"All right," said Sonya, reaching for Darkness's rein. "Let's go. I'm ready, and so is Darkness. He's been penned up too."

She did not finish, for another sound came out of the profound stillness of the sunrise—the shuffle and slide of a man's booted feet this time—and around the bulge of the hogan a tall figure in a blue shirt, worn chaps, and high-heeled boots appeared.

A strange, half painful shock of recognition went over Sonya.

It was the man of Lone Mesa. Taking in the unexpected group with lightning swiftness, his gaze came back to her, rested upon her as if against his own volition, and a slow red tide flowed up along his lean face. As Rod a moment before had not been conscious of Two Fingers, so now this man was not conscious of anyone but the slim girl in riding clothes with her foot arrested in the stirrup.

He stood so long looking at her that Rodney Blake's face changed. "Sonya," he said sharply, "shall we go?"

As if a spell were broken, the stranger looked up sharply. The eyes of the two men met and held.

It was as if two blades struck and crossed as if armed forces clashed. There was instant hatred in it, instant opposition.

Then Sonya swung into her saddle and was away at a lope, Rod following close behind.

"Who was that man?" he asked thinly when he had caught up with her. "Do you know him?"

"I don't know, and I do not," said the girl crisply, "and I don't like your tone. Oh, Rod dear, I do wish you would understand me better."

"Forgive me, Sonya," said Blake, "but I hate all men who look at you—too long."

The ride back to the ranch was beautiful beyond words with the newly risen sun bathing the weathered peaks and pinnacles of desert stone, but somehow its glory missed the girl's heart.

Whether it was seeing again the face of the man of Lone Mesa, or Rod's unreasoning jealousy, she could not say. At any rate, she was silent and preoccupied, and more than once Blake looked at her sharply.

"Sonya," he said presently, "I know you are tired, that you've had a hard night, but I want to have a talk with you, and this seems the best chance I'm likely to have, since you are so busy all the time. My longing and love for you are an old story. I'm not going into it again. I'm just telling you that I'm leaving for the East day after tomorrow, and it has been my hope to take you back this time. Sonya darling, will you come?"

Rev. A. C. Wood filled his regular appointment at the Corn Valley school house Sunday afternoon in a Mother's Day service.
