Sterling Cuts East Texas To 150 Barrels Per

This bit of philosophy is from Tom Thompson, editor of the Howard (Kansas) Courant.

The feda most every person has mind nowadays is to cut costs of everything. There are a lot of ways to look at it when you try to figure what will be the ultimate reilt of such an attitude on the part

Many there are who hall the wave as healthful to 'economy' wave as healthful to make the country more prosperous and happy. Others feel sincerely that it is better for all costs to be higher, along with wages. Our friends of many of the organized labor groups are bitterly opposed to reductions in wages of any one.

Signals Of Prosperity

Kansas City Star:

THE late Senator Dwight Mor row once declared that he would not expect to recognize an improvement in business condi-tions until it had been under way for several months. Certainly the stock market failed to note the de-cline of business for several months in 1929 before the crash in security values. More than usual ance, therefore, may be attached to the comments of so cautions and competent an observer as Thornton Cooke, the president of the Kansas City Clearing House Association and head of the Columbia National Bank. Rockhold And Koberg Offensive Stars Of Monday

The Black Devils Monday after-noon roasted the young Blaons from Stanton on the local grid to the tune of 39-0 to take the second game from the Martin county gridaters.

Using every man on the squad, Coach Daniels had little trouble stopping the offensive thrusts of the heavier elevan while the Demons counted for six touch-downs and annexed three extra points to walk off with matinee performance.

The offensive play of the locals featured Rockhold and Roberg, the former with three touchdowns and one extra point and the latter with two markers and one additional point. Neal at a halfback position accounted for the sixth score and place kicked the oval for the added point.

The line play of the Devils was outstanding as the forwards broke through time after time to smear the Buff backs before they reached the scrimmage section . Moore and Hall played a good

"Sitting in" On these home conferences?

Dad's foot is up, and so is the subject of family necessities. Buying! That's what they're doing. One or more important decisions on purchases will be made right here at home, now. Wouldn't you like to be there?

No, they haven't any goods to look at, but today, and every day, they have the next best thing. Mother is reeding the advertisments, comparing items on one page with those on another, or with goods advertised yesterday or last week. She's the purchasing agent. Right now she is deciding on one or more stores where her shepping will be done.

What a time to meet the femily—right there at home, when important decisions are in the balance. Today, because many luxuries were out or depreciated in 1930, families are meeting in buying conferences, choosing carefully, intelligently. What a time and place to tell them about your goods and your quality and your prices. You can't afford NOT to invite them. "Sit in" with them now!
