District Court to Start Next Monday

November Term for 31st District Convenes Nov. 11—Fairly Heavy Docket

Under direction of Judge W. R. Ewing, who was in Wheeler recently, Holt Green, district court clerk, has prepared a schedule of procedure for the November term of court for the 31st district, which convenes at Wheeler next Monday, Nov. 11. Proceedings each week, together with the opening date of the week, follows:

First Week, Nov. 11—Non-jury.
Second Week, Nov. 18—Jury, civil.
Third Week, Nov. 25—Criminal.
Fourth Week, Dec. 2—Civil, subject to criminal.
Fifth Week, Dec. 9—Jury, civil.
Sixth Week, Dec. 16—Civil, subject to criminal.
Seventh Week, Dec. 23—Non-jury.
Non-jury divorce cases will be heard at any time during the term to suit convenience of the court and counsel, except during the noon recess.

The appearance docket will be set upon the calling of same. The non-jury docket will be called for trial at 9 a. m. Tuesday of the first week, Nov. 12. All cases not disposed of by judgment during that week (that is, cases in which final judgment might be properly entered, either by default or on hearing) will be reset for another non-jury week of the term, or for some jury week, subject to the jury docket.

Cases in which there is no appearance, upon the call of the docket, will be dismissed for want of prosecution, or placed upon the retired docket, as the circumstances may warrant. A number of cases have been called from term to term, with no one appearing for either side; these must be disposed of.

Several cases on the jury docket, passed for various reasons since 1931 and prior thereto, have been placed on the retired docket but will be reinstated upon request of either party when action is ready to be taken therein.

Preferential settings for the term include: L. C. Burcham vs. Lone Star Gas Co.; J. D. Purcell vs. Lone Star Gas Co., subject to above case; L. B. Sims vs. Lone Star Gas Co., subject to above cases; J. W. Stauffer vs. Northern Texas Utilities Co., subject to above cases.

Thirteen non-jury cases are set for Tuesday, Nov. 12, which includes cases in which jury has been demanded but jury fee not paid.

Seven jury cases are set for Monday, Nov. 18, subject to preferential settings for this date.

Some 75 appearance cases are listed for the term, giving promise of a fairly heavy docket. The number of criminal actions to be heard will be determined later.

A list of 29 divorce cases is included in the November docket.

GRAND JURORS

Although the grand and petit jury panels appeared in The Times three weeks ago, for the benefit of readers who might have mislaid that issue, the grand jurors names are again published. They are:

A. M. Abernathy, L. J. Hudson, Ed Johnston, Millard Brown, Carroll McLennen, Chas. R. Flynt, T. C. Webster, Tom Britt, C. Mixon, F. A. Mooney, Harvey Close, L. C. Griffin, R. A. Nichols, H. S. Rippey, D. F. Spruill and G. Hoffman.

National Pool Asks More Certificates

Surplus Cotton Exemption Slips Should be Surrendered, Says County Agent

Cotton tax exemption certificates are being sold out of the national pool faster than they are being received, according to information received this week by County Agent Jake Tarter from E. L. Deal, national pool manager.

The brisk demand for surplus certificates is creating a shortage, the county agent says, and he urges Wheeler county farmers who have more certificates than they will need to place them in the pool as early as convenient.

In this connection, it is pointed out that surplus certificates for 1934, exchanged under article 9, should also be placed in the pool. Farmers are reminded that this class of certificates may be used in the spinning of cotton, but the subsidy cannot be drawn on them. Only certificates on 1935 contracts are eligible for the subsidy.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Johnston and baby of Magic City, were Tuesday business callers in Wheeler.

WHEELER COLTS TOSS SKYROCKETS 19 TO 12

In a game played tonight (Thursday) under the floodlights on the new Wheeler football field, the Wheeler Colts, Coach Bob Clark's future "hoses," tossed the Wellington Skyrockets for a loss to the tune of 19 to 12.

Annual Boy Scout Registration Is On

Council Members, Scouters and 17 Boys Signed Up—More Boys Wanted

Annual Boy Scout registration activities got under way this week for continuation and development of the organization in the community. As announced by C. J. Meek, the following officials and Scouts were registered and their dues received early in the week:

Council—Dr. H. E. Nicholson, H. M. Wiley and C. G. Miller.

Scouters (Scoutmasters and Assistants)—C. J. Meek, Rev. J. Edmund Kirby and Bill Miller.

Scouts—J. D. Badley, J. B. Crowder, Harry Clay, Theodore Cooper, Albert Gunter, Louis Havenhill, Harrison Hall, Clowes Jones, Joe Field Meek, Wendell Meek, Harold Nicholson, Alton Nation, Howard Nation, Amos Page, R. J. Puckett, Wayne Rogers, H. E. Young.

Rev. Kirby, who has much to do with maintaining interest in Scouting in Wheeler and adjoining community, expressed pleasure at the favorable start off in this year's registration. However, he is far from satisfied with the present membership figures, believing there are many more boys who should make the slight sacrifice and raise the necessary fees to admit them in good standing.

"As a matter of fact," Kirby volunteered, "several boys have signified their intention of joining and as soon as they can obtain the small fee they will be added."

"If too many members for one troop register, another troop will be organized. Room will be provided for all boys who wish to take membership in the Boy Scouts of America," concluded the Methodist pastor.

MRS. PENNINGTON HOSTESS TO LONDON BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Floyd Pennington entertained the London Bridge club Thursday afternoon of last week at her home. Mrs. Cora Hall won the cut prize and Mrs. Buck Britt was honored with high score.

The Hallowe'en motif and colors were carried out in the house decorations and in the lovely refreshments that were served to Mesdames Jim Hyatt, Ed Watson, A. B. Crump, T. M. Britt, Buck Britt, Cora Hall, Bronson Green, Roy Puckett, Glen Porter, Al Watson, Fred Farmer, Miss Reba Wofford and the hostess.

WHISKEY ADS REFUSED BY THE WHEELER TIMES

This week The Wheeler Times received an inquiry from a New York City advertising agency wanting to know if the paper accepted whiskey advertising and if so, to please advise the rate for such publicity.

Well, The Times refuses to accept whiskey advertising. The management believes it possible to get along without money from that source, although the revenue would doubtless mount up considerably.

In taking this stand, the publisher does so knowing that the advertising will be run in other publications with less compunctions about what appears in their pages. The Times does not believe that its refusal to accept this advertising will prevent—or materially reduce—the use of whiskey, here or elsewhere.

But The Wheeler Times is established here as a representative county seat newspaper; it caters to readers in the homes of Wheeler county and its ambition is to print a clean publication, fit to be read by every member of the family, both in text and illustrations. It will not, knowingly, be instrumental in harming anyone nor of placing temptation in the path of those who might thereby be influenced to their undoing.

The Times seeks no bouquets nor special commendation for doing what it believes to be right. In this step The Times, though far removed in many respects from that great daily, follows the policy recently announced by The Dallas News—refusal of whiskey advertising.

1935 Red Cross Poster

THE compelling appeal of the most famous of Red Cross world war posters has been adapted by the distinguished artist Lawrence Wilbur in the 1935 Red Cross roll call poster.

"The Greatest Mother in the World" was the title given to the original creation of Alonzo Earl Foringer, eminent mural artist and illustrator of New York. The poster gave the keynote of the Second war fund drive of the Red Cross, and millions of copies were distributed throughout the nation.

In submitting a design for the 1935 poster, Wilbur, who has painted a number of posters for the Red Cross, placed the shadowy heroic figure of mercy in the background, with the practical Red Cross nurse succoring a sick and wounded child in the foreground. "Still the Greatest Mother" is his title.

The posters are distributed through 3,700 Red Cross chapters and 9,000 branches in an appeal to every man and woman to join as a member during the annual roll call.

More Cotton Checks Arrive Here Monday

Arrival on Monday of this week of another batch of 1935 second rental cotton checks is reported by Jake Tarter, county agent. This lot consisted of 79 checks, with an aggregate value of $2,381.52.

Notices were mailed out the next morning, stated Tarter, to those who were entitled to one of the magic slips of paper.

SUNDAY PICNIC ON WASHITA BY BEGERT-ZYBACH FAMILIES

Four families of Begerts and four families of Zybachs met Sunday on the Washita to celebrate their sixth annual reunion with the picnic they have come to call their "fall festival."

Bacon, weiners, eggs and potatoes were cooked over the camp fire, and steaming pots of coffee and cocoa hung from the pole over the fire. Carl Zybach officiated as chef, and believe it or not, no serious illness had been reported as a result.

After the feast some of the men pitched horse shoes, the main event being the seven-game "tournament" in which Frank Begert and Elbert Zybach defeated Fred Begert and Carl Zybach by a score of 21 to 19 in the last game. The sixth game had the series tied.

The holding of their fall festival has become quite a tradition among these relationships, and how the children enjoy roasting weiners over the fire and romping through the persimmon groves.

Those present were: The patriarch, F. Begert, sr., and Mrs. Begert, Mr. and Mrs. F. Begert, jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Begert and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Begert, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Zybach and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zybach and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Zybach and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Zybach and children.—Canadian Record.

BIRTHS

Charles Milton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Finsterwald, was born Oct. 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl McCoy of Allison, are the happy parents of a baby boy, born Nov. 3.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. George R. Null of Kelton, a son, Wednesday, Nov. 6.

Rev. A. C. Wood spent Saturday night and Sunday in the Bethel community and preached at that place Sunday.

Deweese Now Deputy Sheriff and Jailor

Appointment of W. O. (Kid) Deweese as deputy sheriff and jailor was made this week by the Sheriff's office. The new custodian of the county bastille has moved to living quarters in the building, formerly occupied by Sheriff Waters and family, who moved to their home, Wednesday.

Deweese is well known and popular throughout the county; is considered competent for the duties he now assumes, and should prove a valuable member of the sheriff's force. Until acceptance of the new position, Deweese was a deputy constable in the south part of the county.

BAPTIST DORCAS CLASS HAS REGULAR MEETING TUESDAY

Mesdames George Porter and W. W. Jenkins were co-hostesses to members of the Dorcas class of the Baptist church at the Porter home Tuesday afternoon. Roll call was "Something You Are Thankful for." Mrs. Floyd Pennington read the 136th Psalm for devotionals. Mrs. Bob Rodgers gave a reading entitled "Grateful."

During the business meeting the class changed their monthly meetings from the first Tuesday to the fourth Tuesday.

During the social hour games were enjoyed, after which lovely refreshments were served to Mesdames R. E. Brazil, A. B. Crump, Bob Rodgers, Floyd Pennington, C. R. Weatherly, W. E. Collins, Roy Esslinger, Ernest Dyer, J. H. Watts, W. O. Puett, T. C. Newkirk, B. F. Morgan, E. W. Carter and the hostess.

JOHN PEEPLES HOME IN ALLISON BURGLARIZED

According to Sheriff Raymond Waters, the home of John Peoples in Allison was burglarized Sunday night while the family was attending church services. Losses included $50 in government checks and sundry articles appropriated by the marauders. No trace of the guilty parties had been reported up to late Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Bert Keiper of Allison, was in Wheeler today shopping.

Public Auctions

LEONARD GREEN, Auctioneer Nov. 9—R. Y. Sims, new town Moebette; livestock, implements, household goods.

HIGH SCHOOL AID DEADLINE HAS BEEN NAMED

B. T. Rucker, county superintendent, has been notified that Monday, Nov. 11, is the deadline for applications to be filed for high school aid under the NYA setup. Following that date the quota will be withdrawn and reallocated with preference for counties who have reached their quota.

Rucker is urged by Calvin Hazlewood, assistant NYA director at Lubbock, to complete the allotment if possible.

Killing Frost Hits this Region Monday

No Argument Concerning Date of Visitation—Some Question Arose Last Year

There can be no argument nor doubt as to the date of the first frost in Wheeler county this year. It came Monday night, Nov. 4, accompanied by a sharp freeze that brought to an end the season's growth of vegetation.

Threats of frost and colder weather had prevailed for several days.

A number of farmers had expressed the belief that frost would be more beneficial than harmful, since it would strip cotton plants of the heavy foliage and hasten maturity of the lint. Almost total cessation of growth indicated but little more development of feed crops. It is generally reported that kafir, maize and other feeds were practically matured and therefore suffered the minimum damage.

Fortunately for the entire county, frost was as late or later this year than usual, a great help because of late planting season.

Last year's first frost, on Saturday, Oct. 27, was virtually as much freeze as frost, some contending that but little if any frost was noted. It was generally conceded—and the effect was the same—that a killing frost came on that date.

CANNING SCHOOL WILL BE HELD HERE NEXT FRIDAY

The office of Miss Viola Jones, home demonstration agent, announces a canning school here Friday, Nov. 15, beginning at 1:30 p. m. Mrs. John Henry Watts will be hostess for the occasion in the club room in the basement of the court house. Miss Lela M. Vaughn, representing the Kerr Glass company, will conduct the school. All ladies who may be interested are invited to attend.

NEW ROLLER RINK OPENS THIS WEEK IN WHEELER

Announcement of a new roller skating rink, located in the White Way cafe building, is made this week. A good floor, clean amusement and healthful exercise is offered. John Ficke is manager of the new enterprise.

MONSTER PUMPKIN—LOVELY FLOWERS—FINE WATERMELON—SUPERB TURNIPS

Thus it goes—and the pleasure of The Times in reporting the wonderful products of Wheeler county increases by leaps and bounds.

The latter part of the week, Troy Shipman—the Watkins man, you know—brought to this office a huge pumpkin bought from W. W. Underwood, who grew it on his place a short distance northwest of town. The vegetable weighed 57 pounds when brought in. Many have stopped to admire it in the office window and some have threatened to furnish the milk and eggs for a mess of good old "punkin' pies. Oh boy!

The better nine-tenths of the Miller family received as a token of esteem this week a beautiful bouquet of flowers, sent in by Mrs. Lem Guthrie. The colorful mass of posies comprised too many varieties to enumerate here. Suffice it to say that Mrs. Miller was delighted with the bouquet.

For immediate consumption and substantial content a remembrance from L. W. Newkirk, brought in Saturday, exactly suited the editor's fancy. It was a dandy watermelon, nice and cold, and tasted better than watermelons do at any other time—unless it be the first to ripen in early summer—a season for which your writer will wait with great impatience.

As a finisher to the foregoing, late Thursday afternoon, Mrs. J. F. Witt favored the office with a sample of superb turnips grown at their place southwest of Wheeler. The place harvested about 30 bushels of excellent quality turnips.

Sunday Service to Observe Armistice

Scott and Goodrich to Speak on Evening Program at the Baptist Church

Because Armistice Day, Nov. 11, falls on Monday this year and due to the fact that many members of the local post reside on farms and are busy with harvest duties, officers of the organization have decided to observe the day with an appropriate program at the Baptist church Sunday night, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Commander Chester Lewis announces that Attorney Emmet Scott of Amarillo and Lewis M. Goodrich, district attorney from Shamrock, have been secured to make addresses. Dr. H. E. Nicholson will introduce the speakers and assist in conducting the program, which begins promptly at 7:30.

The following tentative program, subject to possible changes or additions, has been arranged:

Song—"My Country 'Tis of Thee," Congregation.

Invocation—Rev. J. Edmund Kirby.

Song—"Star Spangled Banner," Congregation.

Introduction of speakers—Dr. H. E. Nicholson.

Address—Emmet Scott.

Address—Lewis M. Goodrich.

Benediction—Rev. Taft Holloway.

Efforts are being made to provide several additional numbers, including readings and special songs.

Members of the local American Legion post are requested by Commander Lewis to assemble at the hall by 7 o'clock, when the column will form and march to the church. The Legionnaires will be seated in a section reserved for them. Both Lewis and Adjutant Risner are anxious to have as good a turnout as possible. Hence, every member of the post is urged to make special efforts to attend this service.

No attempt will be made to conduct exercises Monday, therefore the Sunday night's program should receive the support and participation of all Legionnaires.

County Is Awarded Centennial Marker

Grant of $200 Made for Erection of Monument at Site of Fort Elliott

Word was received this week from the state advisory board of historians by Dr. H. E. Nicholson, member of the county advisory board for Centennial observance, that a grant of $200 has been allowed for the erection of a marker at the site of old Fort Elliott, just west of Moebette, and some 12 or 13 miles west and north of Wheeler. It will be a highway marker giving the history of the county and town and a sketch of Royal T. Wheeler.

Placing of markers or monuments at historical spots, otherwise not marked, is a phase of preparations for the big celebration next year.

The markers will be made of granite, four feet high, 30 inches wide and 12 inches thick and are to be set in concrete. A bronze plaque attached to the stone will contain suitable historical data. The state board expects to place the markers within the next three or four months. Their dedication will be attended by suitable ceremonies.

Besides Dr. Nicholson, other members of the county Centennial advisory board are Mrs. D. F. Spruill, Shamrock, and Judge W. M. McMurry, who lives on a rural route out of Shamrock.

METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS GIVES PARTY-SHOWER

Mrs. J. Edmund Kirby and her Sunday school class gave a party and handkerchief shower in honor of Louise Craig, who is going to Panhandle to live, at the formers home Tuesday night.

The evening was spent playing 42 and dominoes. Delicious hot chocolate and cookies were served to Fero Pickett, Bonnie Adams, Aline Buchanan, Ruth Barr, Irene Hunt, Ruth Faust, Mrs. J. W. Barr, the honoree and Rev. and Mrs. J. Edmund Kirby.

CORRECTING PRICE ERROR McILHANY'S GROCERY ADV.

To make amends for an error perpetrated by The Times in M. McIlhany's grocery advertisement, attention is called to the item which will be found in his adv. again this week. Peaberry coffee was quoted 3 pounds for a dollar, when it should have read 8 pounds for that sum, making considerable difference.

THEY DON'T WANT WORK

Writing under the heading "Washington Digest," William Bruckart offers the following observations concerning relief work and the dole:

"In this country we now have a certain percentage of the population who are wholly unwilling to work because they have found that the government will take care of them in times of stress. In consequence, this segment of the population is making no effort to obtain jobs and is quite vocal in its lambasting of a government that will not feed its people.

"In addition, information that I get from industrial leaders, men who know what labor problems are, tell me that a percentage of the workers whom they have taken back on the jobs—taken them off of relief rolls—are unwilling to do their jobs efficiently; they seek to fill in their time and just get by, and they resent any admonitions from foremen or bosses that a certain amount of work is required of them if they are to remain on the pay roll. Some instances have even been reported that workers of this type have replied to their employer's requests for honest labor: 'We don't care. We can go back on relief.'

"It is a tragedy. Unfortunately, it is going to be with us for some years to come and when I make that statement I do not mean in any way to withhold praise from those men and women who, when they get a job, try to do an honest day's work for a day's wage. Obviously, most of the American people are of this latter type. But I believe it cannot be refuted that the American government's experiment with the dole has created several millions of new panhandlers."

FOOTBALL AND FALL TRAFFIC

Do you know what is the most dangerous driving period of the year? The statistical truth is that we are now in that part of the year which is most fraught with peril to the motorist and pedestrian.

October is usually the worst of the 12 months, the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters reminds us, and November comes next. The last three months of the year are the most dangerous quarter season.

The reasons for this intensification of danger are to be found in the combination of a false sense of security and the increased hazards of natural conditions.

The days grow shorter. Nightfall, notorious for its accident possibilities, gradually produces yearly peaks between 5 and 9 p. m. The weather is often crisp, bracing, ideal for driving, and the roads are crowded—always an important element in accident frequency. A number of subtle, unobtrusive causes contribute: The skidding menace of wet leaves, roads slippery with frost in the early morning, car windows shut in chilly weather with a consequent failure to use hand signals, longer working hours causing greater fatigue when driving after dark, week end concentration of traffic in particular areas augmented by the great crowds driving to football games.

This last calls for special attention. Every Saturday there converge in stadiums throughout the country multitudes of spectators, sometimes 100,000 in one place. Most of them drive, approaching their destination on the same roads at the same time. Such conditions breed accidents, and if the accident peril is imminent before the game it is doubly so afterward. Then the thousands of automobiles choke every radiating highway, all in a hurry to get away and get home. The reaction setting in after the excitement of the game reduces driving alertness. Add to all this the likelihood that many drivers are under the influence of alcohol and the situation is distinctly menacing.

These are occasions for great care in driving. Usually the roads leading from the stadiums are lined with police, stationed to get you there and away as quickly and safely as possible. Co-operate with them, lest what starts as fun end in tragedy.

VITAL TO PUBLIC WELFARE

The cost of food is the largest single item in the average family budget. And, the lower the total family income, the higher becomes the proportion needed for food.

Any sound means of reducing retail food prices, thus liberating money for other purposes, is obviously in the interest of the entire country.

It is in the interest of the consumer who, if his food costs him less, will have more to spend for clothes, amusements, a thousand luxuries and necessities.

It is in the interest of the producer, who has a great deal to gain from cutting the spread between the wholesale and retail price of farm products. If foods are cheaper, the consuming market is automatically increased. More quality foods are bought. Home truck gardeners produce less, and turn to commercial sources of supply.

It is in the interest of every industry, which will receive its share of the money liberated. The man who cuts his food budget, for example, may use a month's savings to purchase a pair of shoes. Workers are employed—transport systems receive more business—tax payments rise—dividends are earned by stockholders—advertising budgets are increased. And so it goes, all along the industrial line.

Much progress has already been made in reducing the spread between wholesale and retail food prices by doing away with needless overhead and middleman costs. Much remains to be done, and progressive food retailers are working on the problem. Today, with food prices tending to rise much faster than the average income, that work becomes constantly more vital to the public welfare.

Items of interest culled from newspapers on The Times' exchange list.

The jury, after 24 hours of deliberation, was unable to agree upon a decision in the case of Ora D. Leisburg, charged with the murder of R. A. Ten of the jurors favored conviction, according to Sheriff Guy Pierce, and two were for acquittal.—Clarendon News.

The American government is the only one which has an independent supreme court, free from political party and political influence. The courts of Italy, Russia, Germany and many other European nations are tools of the dictators in power. W. F. Decker was telling about the football game between the Wellington junior team and the Wheeler junior team. The Wellington boys won by a touchdown, but the method in which the Wheeler touchdown was made seemed really interesting. When one of the quarters started, the referee blew his whistle as usual, and the Wellington team was a little slow in lining up. In fact, by the time they got around to lining up, the Wheeler team had already crossed the goal line unopposed.—Jimmie Gillentine, in the Wellington Leader.

It is gratifying to note that many counties are observing the law on publishing quarterly financial reports. It is a strange brand of reasoning that officials sometimes use in refusing to make public their use of the public's money, with argument that they are thereby saving money. The object of the law is to insure economy in expenditures. Non-observance of the law tends in the opposite direction.—McLean News.

Chapter One

Thirty minutes before sailing time Captain Alan Gaskell, his white linens badly mussed and his face dark with a stubble of beard, stepped out of a rickshaw and shouldered his way through a mob of sweating coolies to the gang-plank of the steamer Kin Lung, moored to her Hong Kong dock. Beneath his pith helmet his strong young face, with its gray eyes sharp as a blade of Transgannu steel, reflected his sour mood. A three-day hangover had left his nerves on edge, and the famous Gaskell temper was primed for instant eruption.

Sir Guy, hard-bitten owner of the Kin Lung, stood chatting with a woman passenger as Gaskell came up the companionway.

"She tells me," snarled Sir Guy, whirling on his captain, "that you've been sensationally botto ever since you've been ashore—"

Gaskell ignored the horrified protests of the lady gossip.

He barked at Sir Guy: "If you don't like my behavior ashore—or aboard ship—you can always get a new boy. In fact, I wish you would."

Sir Guy laughed. He had a pretty fair understanding of the man beneath the brusque front of Alan Gaskell.

"You wouldn't leave her if you could!" Sir Guy scoffed. "I've heard men say that for fifty years. The weak ones sneak out of the China Seas—but the bullheads like you stay on!" He glared fiercely at Gaskell, and abruptly his gruffness vanished.

"How about a little spot to keep your brain from adding?"

"No time!" snapped Gaskell. His jaws clamped angrily. "I've got to get the pride of your fleet under way."

He went to the bridge, where Dawson and Kingston, the first and second officers, felt the biting edge of his temper. The third mate lay in Sepoy Hospital with a knife wound in his kidneys. His successor was a hunted, uneasy little man named Davids, whom Gaskell recognized as a disgraced captain whose ship had been plundered by pirates.

"No time to look for a man now," Gaskell grunted. "You'll have to do."

After a few minutes Gaskell left the bridge and went down to his quarters. He was surprised to find the door of his bedroom locked.

"Who's in there?" he shouted. "Just a minute, darling—I've been showering the dew drops off the body beautiful." The gay voice was feminine, very bright and very flippant.

Gaskell's dark brows met in a straight line of anger. He waited stiffly until the door opened. The girl whom all the Archipelago knew as China Doll—her slightly more formality, as Miss Portland—smiled out at him tantalizingly.

"What the devil are you doing aboard?" Gaskell greeted her. "Didn't we spend about seven hours saying goodbye, or whatever you call it?"

China Doll's smile widened slyly. "I thought you could use all the money we won at the Tai Fan—"

"So we were there after all!" His mood softened as he accepted the bills she handed him with a reminiscent chuckle. "Now get going. We're pulling out in a few minutes."

"Why are you so anxious to get me out of sight?" He was used to her passionate changes of mood, but the note of jealousy puzzled him. "Is she making the round trip?"

"What are you mumbaling about?" "That red-headed Russian princess who was aboard from Singapore—"

"Just a minute, Dolly." The gray of Gaskell's eyes deepened and his voice was curt. "We're great pals—have a lot of fun, together—but I don't remember making any vows to you. Nor do I recall asking for any—"

"Don't get polite at me! When you talk with a high hat on I know you mean it—and it scares me!" Her humility was swept away suddenly by fiery indignation. "Who do you think you are, anyway? If I had five cents worth of pride—"

"I'm not standing in your way, if that's how you feel!" The flame died down in her. He was so strong, so vital, so disapproving and aloof that her anger was burned away by her need of him.

"That's just the soup I'm in—I don't feel that way at all—you no-account dog!" With a tremendous laugh of surrender, she threw her arms around his neck and kissed him passionately.

"That's more like it," said Gaskell softly, grinning down at her. "Now come on, nuisance—over-side with you!"

"But Alan, dear—" In another lightning change of mood she assumed the bewildered innocence of a young bride. "What am I going to do with my ticket—all paid for and everything?"

turned to the dock. Several seamen were lashing down a huge steam roller as deck cargo. A shipment of pigs in cigar-shaped crates of split bamboo was being lowered into a hatch under the supervision of Jamesy McArdie, a trader well known to Gaskell. McArdie, his linen suit two sizes too large, waved a friendly hand at him.

The last trumpet call was sounding as Gaskell weaved his way through the crowd of passengers saying last minute goodbyes. And suddenly his face set into an incredulous, staring mask. A dark-haired girl with the clear skin of the English countryside stood at the rail waving to a couple on the dock. Gaskell's shock was the stricken, numbing kind that comes to a man who sees a precious dream come to life before his eyes. Her slender figure and aristocratic profile fitted a pattern etched deeply into his memory.

He raced across the deck and grasped the girl's hands with astonished delight, and thrilled to the amazed recognition which deepened the dark violet of her eyes.

"Sybil!" he cried. "Sybil Barclay!" "Alan!" The eager throb of her voice ran through him like a searing flame. "It is Alan!" Her fingers once had driven him to bitter flight. Sir Guy, fuming at the boat's delay, stepped up beside him.

"Look here, Alan—can't you get this boat—?" He stopped as he caught a view of Gaskell's face. "You look as though you'd seen a ghost!"

"I have," said Gaskell quietly. "With the Kin Lung standing well out to sea, Gaskell had time at last to remove the physical evidences of his three-day spree ashore. He was standing in his cabin, shaving the last bit of black stubble from his face, when he heard his cabin door slam.

"It's the girl friend, Toots," said China Doll.

He glared blackly as her face appeared in his mirror.

"I know it's hard to get thing through your head. But when I told you to stay out of here, it wasn't an Einstein theory."

She waited in the cabin while he wiped the last bit of lather away.

"That's right," she said viciously. "You don't have time to fool around with passengers."

"It's your own fault. You wanted to be one."

She affected not to have heard him as he came out to join her.

"Except maybe with that snooty English dame," said China Doll vindictively. "I saw her when she came aboard. And I also had a hunch when you moved her into the Royal Suite. Why didn't you lay out a red plush runner?"

"Just a throw-back to my old manners," Gaskell's remoteness left him armored against her sharp challenge. "The lady happened to know me when I acted that way for the sheer joy of it."

"Oh," China Doll was elaborately casual. A home town lassie, eh?"

"You don't have any home town when you're in the service. I met her in Gibraltar."

"She married?"

"Was then," said Gaskell shortly. "He's dead now."

"What'd she do—break a cricket bat over his scalp?"

The caustic jeering words crashed into the tenderness of Gaskell's memories. His calm was deeply with suppressed fury.

"Don't start spouting any of your waterfront jokes about people who happen to look civilized!"

China Doll walked toward him, transparent in her jealous directness.

"Was she in love with you?" "She was in love with the Admiral and I was in love with the Admiral's grandmother!" he flared.

China Doll's cheeks were flushed as she went down to dinner at the Captain's table. The saloon was uncrowded. Mr. and Mrs. Timmons, a Mrs. Aiken, Romanoff, a pearl buyer, Mrs. Vollberg, obviously an adventuress, and a novelist named McCaleb, in search of local color, sat together. At the captain's table, Sybil Barclay sat at Gaskell's right. At his left was Miss Yo-Lan, daughter of the man reputed to own half of China. Sir Guy and Jamesy McArdie filled out the table, except for China Doll's vacant chair. She caught a fragment of conversation as she came into the saloon.

"Squadron ball at Gibraltar?" Sybil was saying. "Music, lanterns, uniforms—all the attractive men at the post."

"And it was my luck—when I met the most charming person there—to find her already married. Her husband was at sea, though, so I claimed every dance."

We walked back to the hotel together. That was six years ago—and here I am! End of chapter!"

China Doll sat down. Her voice strident with bitter purpose.

Mobeetie Teachers Attend Homecoming

Hear Gen. Johnson In Educational Talk—Attend Barbecue and Football Game

Friday evening, Nov. 1, the Mobeetie teachers motored to Canyon to the annual W. T. S. T. C. homecoming.

On Saturday morning, General Hugh S. Johnson, a new deal critic, made an educational talk about the "Pink Fringe Around the New Deal." He did not attack the NRA problem, but he gave the principles of it. He is for President Roosevelt.

There was a large barbecue prepared by the famous barbecue king, John Snider. He is known the world over for the preparation of barbecues.

At approximately 3:00 o'clock the Canyon Buffalos began their game with the Saint Benedict Ravens of Atchison, Kans.

Practically all the Mobeetie teachers were at the W. T. S. T. C. reunion. Almost all of them returned on Sunday.

HALL OF FAME

"I'll take Stephen F. Austin." "I'll take David Crockett." "Give me Ben Milam." These and many similar expressions were heard in the Government and Texas History classes last week. These classes decided to sponsor the election in this school of the ten men for the Texas Hall of Fame that is being conducted by the College of Industrial Arts at Denton.

The Hall of Fame will be erected at Denton as a part of the Centennial, and the high school students have the privilege of choosing the men to go in this hall. When the ballots arrived, it was discovered that the students knew very little about the twenty-two men on the list; so the teachers decided to acquaint the students with them before holding the election. Each student in the Government and Texas History classes is going to write a summary paragraph on the life of one man. Mimeographed sheets will be made of these, and the sheets will be placed where the students can study them.

TEACHERS JOIN STATE ASSOCIATION 100 PCT.

The teachers in the Mobeetie school system have joined the Texas State Teachers association 100%. The faculty this year is made up of: M. D. Blankinship, superintendent; J. M. Knowles, high school principal; W. H. Fowler, Mrs. M. D. Blankinship, Mrs. G. W. Harris, Miss Elsie Simpson and Mrs. Winnie Hinson, high school instructors; Noah Cunningham, grade school principal; J. A. Neece, Mrs. J. M. Knowles, Mrs. Leonard Green, Miss Lulu Mae Cook, Miss Ethel Brasuel, Miss Lillian Davis, grade school instructors.

Hornets to Go to Memphis Nov. 15th

The Hornets play the Memphis Cyclones at Memphis, Nov. 15. This is the last scheduled game of the season and also the last conference game. The Hornets are working hard this week on blocking and other fundamentals to be in readiness for the Cyclones.

Mobeetie does not have a game this week end but is trying to engage a tussle for the home fans.

OUTLOOK TO BE PRINTED IN THE WHEELER TIMES

The Mobeetie Outlook staff had its weekly meeting in the home economics room Monday. Each member of the staff was assigned their parts in publishing the paper for this week.

On Monday of last week C. G. Miller of The Wheeler Times paid us a short visit and made a proposition to the Mobeetie Outlook staff as follows: For 50 subscriptions to The Wheeler Times at $1.00 per year he will publish our school paper twice a month.

The paper will be a much better one than we have been able to put out on a school mimeograph. It will have a much wider circulation throughout the county. The Outlook staff wishes to ask the help of the citizens of this county to make it possible to keep our paper in The Wheeler Times. You can do this by subscribing for The Wheeler Times or by the renewal of your subscription.

We plan to join the Interscholastic League Press conference, which opens again this Fall.

REFERENCE BOOKS ARRIVE FOR TEXAS HISTORY CLASS

The Texas history class received six new editions of Eugene C. Barker's Texas History. Those green backs certainly look handsome in the library, but that isn't even the half! There are several books and pamphlets on the way. Among them are Garrison's Texas, Bolton and Barker's With the Makers of Texas, and The Lure of the Southwest.

A Secret! A Secret! Let me tell you a secret. Mr. Blankinship told me not to tell anybody, and if I did, to tell them not to tell. Now I say the same thing to you. But here's the secret. The Texas History class with the aid of the civics class is planning to present a Texas history pageant. The proceeds are to be used—

Oh, I forgot. Mr. Blankinship has a list of reference books to be used in Texas history, and almost every book is marked with an "x". That means that we plan to buy them. Now, the proceeds from this pageant are to go to buy some of those books. Don't forget! Not a word to a soul!

New Equipment

After a period of extreme need, a set of maps were added to the school equipment. Practically all of the maps that the school had were out of date and worn.

A Texas history chart was also added. It will prove valuable to the Texas history class.

Merchants Sponsor Football Banquet

The merchants of Mobeetie are sponsoring a football banquet to be given Nov. 21, at the gymnasium.

Those to attend are the business men, the faculty and the football boys. Each merchant will buy a ticket for a football boy and himself.

The speakers for the evening will be S. H. Condron and D. A. Shirley, both of Canyon. The Blue Bonnet club will prepare the food and select the girls who will serve.

Explosion Causes Great Damage

Many of the people of Mobeetie have been asking what the explosion was at the Mobeetie high school on the twenty-first of October. Well, it was not much. Only the six-weeks examinations that hit the football team. When the smoke cleared away only 14 Hornets were standing. Among the dead were five first string men, namely: J. F. Cook, who played guard; Gudgel, tackle; Sims, center, and Farmer and Sietz, backs. Also several substitutes flunked. The damage done has caused the Hornets much grief.

MEMBERSHIP IN T. S. T. A.

The Mobeetie teachers will have a 100 per cent membership in the Texas State Teachers association this year. The high school teachers have already signed membership blanks, and the grade school teachers will do so in the near future. Principal J. M. Knowles has just received a letter of congratulations from the president of the organization.

Last year Mobeetie had only one teacher, J. M. Knowles, as a member of the organization. The community is very proud of this improvement, and it feels like it will be an inspiration to the entire school.

The past year the organization was active in securing the submission of a plan for teacher retirement, in getting the $17.50 per capita, the $6,000,000 equalization fund, the compulsory attendance period, in getting the high school tuition law simplified and clarified, conservation of the state's permanent school fund, and it helped defeat Amendment No. 7 on August 24. Mobeetie should be proud of this interest on the part of the teachers in such a worthwhile organization.

Whir-r-r!

What's all the noise? Why, they are mowing the lawn!

"Of course they are," replied a staff member. "Didn't you read the last Mobeetie Outlook? There was an item in it expressing a wish that the school house lawn be shorn of its summer finery, and Advertisements in the Mobeetie School Outlook Always Bring Results.

Thanks to Mr. B. Lancaster for this kind act.

Annual Basketball Tourney Jan. 10-11

School is Looking Forward to Big Event—45 Girls' and Boys' Teams Invited

We are looking forward to the Mobeetie Annual Basketball Tournament which is to be on Jan. 10-11. At the present time, 45 boys' and girls' teams have been invited to attend this tournament of which several have accepted. Coach "Lefty" Fowler has very good prospects for a championship boys' team. The first string will probably average six feet. Competent officials and free rooms will be furnished for the visiting teams and suitable awards will be given the winners. Let's all remember these dates because it will take the co-operation of everyone in Mobeetie to make a success of this tournament.

LIBRARY IMPROVEMENTS

WILL ADD CONVENIENCE

This year the library is being run on an activity credit basis. Last week some rearranging had to be done due to the arrival of some new Texas history books. The addition of the Texas history shelf is a great improvement and we are very proud of the new books.

Many of the best books are on the repair shelf, and the students are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the mending material so the books can be mended and put back on the shelves. The material is expected to arrive this week.

Supt. Blankinship had the newspaper rack moved into the study hall this year where it will be easier for the students to get the papers. This is to encourage the students to read some current events.

LOOKOUT! YOU'LL FLUNK!

Mr. Knowles requested that a list be made of all students who are doing unsatisfactory work the first three weeks of this six weeks. This list will be posted on the bulletin board so the students will know how they stand and will have a chance to raise their grades before it is too late. This is for the benefit of the football boys and the basketball girls especially.

The Panhandle Plains Historical society has secured $200.00 from the Texas Centennial Fund to be used in erecting a monument on the first site of Mobeetie.

The Mobeetie Texas history class is to take an active part in the location of the site of the mother city of the Panhandle.

Let's give three cheers for the P. H. S.! What do you say? Here goes. Hip! Hip! Hooray! Panhandle — Plains — Historical — Society! And one more for good measure—Hooray!

SPORTSMANSHIP

Almost every day we hear some one express the idea that some individual possesses the qualities of sportsmanship. But what is sportsmanship? This term seems almost beyond definition. But now that our interest in athletic contests has aroused a like interest in sportsmanship, it seems eminently proper to define it. Although the term "sportsmanship" may be applied to business, politics and society, let us deal with it in regard to athletics.

Practically everyone has observed athletic contests in which he thought there were exhibitions of both fine and poor sportsmanship. I recall an incident that occurred in a recent basketball game. Two of the players, Numbers 16 and 32, had made three personal fouls. That meant that if either of them fouled again, he would be put out of the game. Suddenly the referee blew his whistle, calling another foul on Number 16, who was then taken out of the game. Number 32, who had made the foul, walked back to his position, laughing about the mistake. This act certainly did not show sportsmanship on his part.

The fine principles of play have long been dominating factors in all branches of our athletics that have both recreation and physical fitness as their prime objectives. Several years ago William T. Tilden met Norman E. Brooks of Australia in a tennis match of international interest. Tilden was keen for the decision. In a sharp, rapid-fire volley when both men were drawn close to the net, Brooks returned the ball at top speed. Like a flash it came back for a clean pass and the point. But before the umpire called the point in his favor, and while the applause was still ringing, Tilden hurried to him to explain that which none had noted. The ball had struck his forehead at a time when his racquet was held in such a position that everyone believed it had rebounded from the wood. That, we all will agree, is sportsmanship.

When J. S. Parke, the versatile Irish athlete representing England, was playing this same Brooks at Boston in the internationals, he had Brooks within the point of winning during the fifth set. Brooks apparently gave him the victory when his volley just got by Parke's attempt for it and went out of bounds. But Parke was game to the core; he immediately had the decision reversed because his racquet had slightly touched the ball as it was passing. This fine sportsmanship cost him the match.

Sportsmanship then must mean determination, fairness, modesty and courtesy. It has come to us from chivalry and is essentially an attitude of mind. The great opportunity for sportsmanship training is the match game of the high school and college periods. There is no form of character training that is more important and no form of education which the school is giving that is more far-reaching and practical. Doing our level best to the end of a losing game is a form of training that life requires. It is not less valuable than being on a winning team. Sportsmanship must not be sacrificed for victory. Everyone is familiar with the poem whose last lines are:

"It's not whether you win or lose my boy;

But, how you play the game."

Sportsmanship between rival teams always leads to mutual respect and usually to friendship. Since sportsmanship means determination, fairness, modesty and courtesy, it may be said to be the golden rule applied to contests: Do ye also unto others as ye would that they should do unto you.—W. H.

Note: Examples of sportsmanship taken from article in Country Life.

Your School

The school takes its hat off to A. B. Lancaster. Mr. Lancaster brought his mower to the school grounds, and the forest that once covered the school ground is no more. The school does not belong to the teachers and students as many think, but to the taxpayers and citizens of the Mobeetie district. We are glad to note that one citizen is interested in the appearance of "his" property.

There is other work that should be done on the school ground and around the building. It would help the looks of the high school 100 per cent if any one of the following things were done:

- (1) The lake in front of the building moved to a place where it would be appreciated.
- (2) Walks erected where needed.
- (3) A fence placed around the front of the school yard.
- (3) Trees set out and provisions made to insure their living.

TEXAS HISTORY FIELD TRIP

The Mobeetie Texas history class paid a visit Monday to the monument which commemorates the Battle of Buffalo Wallow. The monument is on the farm of W. Y. Berden. It is six miles east of the paved highway running between Canadian and Wheeler, eight miles north of the railroad, and 18 miles northeast of Mobeetie.

The inscription on the monument was this: Buffalo Wallow Battle Ground. Here on Sept. 12, 1874, two scouts and four soldiers defeated 125 Kiowa and Comanche Indians.

Scouts: William Dixon, Amos Chapman.

Soldiers: Sergeant Z. T. Woodall, Co. I; Peter Rath, Co. A; John Harrington, Co. H; George W. Smith, Co. M, 6th Cavalry.

Stand silent! Heroes here have been who cleared the way for other men.

Erected by Panhandle Plains Historical Society, Sept. 12, 1935.

This site marked under direction of J. J. Long, Mobeetie, Texas, and Mrs. Wm. Dixon, Miami, Texas.

Mobeetie Athletic Fund

The Mobeetie football club has paid for all the new equipment this season. Full audit of the athletic fund will be published in the next issue. There shall be shown how much was taken in and how much spent on the equipment.

It will be similar to a financial statement, and it is estimated that $350.00 has been spent for equipment.

NEWS BRIEFS

C. W. Post, a salesman and curriculum expert, was a caller at the high school Friday afternoon. He made a very interesting talk on sportsmanship to the senior basketball girls. He concluded his talk by reciting the poetical fragment. "It matters not who lost or won, but how you played the game."

Post has spent 10 years as a high school teacher, and he has also taught in college. He is now working in the interest of the curriculum changes.

The faculty was favored with a talk on the new curriculum movement in Texas by Post, Monday afternoon at 3:30.

Dr. V. R. Jones, optometrist, from Shamrock, was in the Mobeetie high school two days recently. He tested the eyes of the high school students and found that several students are suffering with their eyes.

Last week Mobeetie was favored with a call from Jim Dyer, superintendent at Briscoe, and J. L. Gilmore, superintendent at Wheeler. We are very glad to have them, and we cordially invite them back at any time.

Prof. L. F. Sheffy, head of the history department at W. T. S. T. C., Canyon, will make a talk on local history here in the near future.

Supt. M. D. Blankinship will attend a meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Superintendents association, Saturday, Nov. 9.

Homecoming week end was observed at W. T. S. T. C., Canyon. Those from Mobeetie who attended the event are Misses Ethel Brasuel, Lillian Davis, Nellie Bartram, Lulu Mae Cook, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Knowles, Mrs. Winnie Hinson and Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Blankinship.

The Pep Squad was greatly disappointed because they could not attend the game at Lefors. They realize that their absence was one good reason for the boys losing the game. The girls surely do like to wear those red blouses, too. Almost every day one can see one of the red blouses at school.

Miss Nell Bartram spent the week end with her cousin, Miss Fanny Bell Scribner, who is attending college at Canyon.

Miss Embell Knight from W. T. S. T. C., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Blankinship over the week end. Miss Knight was captain and forward on the state championship basketball team in 1931.

HARDWARE, LUMBER WELL MATERIAL COAL

READY! AIM! FIRE!

So much has been accomplished in the Texas history class and there is so much more to be done that the telling would fill an entire volume.

A study has been made of the history of the entire state of Texas. Themes have been prepared on the "Spanish Period in Texas History," and now the class is hard at work on another theme. A theme, a map, and an interview each week besides study in the regular text and work on outside projects in local history will be used to keep the members of this class out of mischief.

The class planned at the beginning of the year to interview the old settlers in Mobeetie and vicinity. Each student in the class was to interview one old timer, and the one with the best interview was to receive a prize of $5.00 and the second, $2.50. This is still in effect. In addition, at the end of the term the material is to be compiled by the class into one book. Two interviews have been published in the paper, and the boys, Charles Hix and Hugh Bailey, are revising their work on the lives of I. N. Bowers and W. J. Johnston before turning their papers over to Mr. Blankinship to be appraised by his eagle eye.

The class has already visited the Buffalo Wallow Battle Ground and are to make field trips to other points of importance in local history, among which are the Fort Elliott grounds, the old jail in Mobeetie, and the Panhandle Historical Museum in Canyon. They plan to present a Texas history pageant. Several new books have been bought and others have been ordered. The members of the class have unearthed books, pamphlets, papers and articles of every size, shape, color, age, etc., in regard to Texas history. There is much more to tell, but the space is limited. Anyhow, you have heard that old adage "Actions speak louder than words do." Now, get set to watch the smoke of the Mobeetie Texas history class!

Grade School News

The pupils of the intermediate grades are enjoying playing with some new indoor balls which were purchased with part of the carnival fund. We hope to have a slide for the lower grades before long and some other playground equipment as soon as possible.

Misses Cook, Brasuel and Davis and Mrs. Knowles spent the week end in Canyon attending the Homecoming at W. T. S. T. C. and visiting with relatives.

Teachers of our school who have enrolled for the extension course in Texas History which meets at Wheeler each Monday night are Mrs. Knowles and Mr. Cunningham.

The third and fourth grades wish to thank the school trustees for providing the material for sandtables, and they also thank Mr. Cunningham and his helpers for making the tables. Mr. Seedig and J. Y. Wright provided enough sand to fill all the tables and it is very much appreciated.

The fourth grade is working out a health project in the sand table. It is centered around a health house which looks very gay because its walls are covered with pictures of fruits and vegetables.

The first project carried out by the third grade in their new sand table is an Indian scene. The other work of the grade is centered about Indians and they have made some Indian's pictures and Indian rugs.

The class in choral singing meets with Miss Davis in the auditorium twice a week after recess in the afternoon. There are members from each of the four upper grades.

The pupils of the seventh grade enjoyed a Hallowe'en party at the home of Mr. Neece. Almost all members of the class were present and a very enjoyable evening was spent playing games. It is reported that Edward Johnson had a very black face part of the evening.

The first grade is building a play house in their vacant room. The pupils are doing the work and are also trying to find boxes to complete the house and make furniture for it.

All the teachers in the grade school who have not already joined the State Teacher's association are planning to do so at once, so that the Mobeetie teachers will belong 100 per cent.

OCTOBER 31—IN MOBEETIE AND IN MEXICO CITY

In Mobeetie we celebrate the night of Oct. 31 and call it Hallowe'en, meaning all hallows tide or vigil of all saints. It is known to us principally because of the practical jokes played on our neighbors.

In Mexico City there is an entire week beginning with the night of Oct. 31 during which the Mexicans commemorate the dead. It is not a time of weeping and sadness as we would suppose. The cities are dressed in mourning, but in a very capricious way. For example the bakeries and confectioneries show in their windows sweets and cakes in forms of skeletons, bones and corpses. Postal cards bear pictures of caskets and the dead. Children pass down the streets singing songs about the dead.

For two weeks in all the theatres the drama, "Don Juan Tenorio," which concerns death, is shown. During this season are two important days. The first day, Nov. 1, is the "Day of Dead Children." During the entire day a procession of carriages and coaches pass, without ceasing, to the cemeteries. There on the tombs, parents of the dead place a sumptuous meal consisting of favorite dishes of the child. There they place their toys. After arranging on the tomb the meal, flowers and toys, the family sits down and eats the meal, with much pleasure.

The second of November is the "Day of the Older Dead." It likewise is a gala affair. On tables around the tombs, they spread sumptuous meals and partake with good appetite. The Indians and the superstitious people believe that the Spirit of the Dead returns invisible and silent to eat and enjoy the meal. The Indians have a special feast in the home on this day instead of carrying food to the cemetery.

The Mexicans of the highest class do not spend this season in such a fantastic manner. Instead, they buy crosses and flowers which they carry to the cemetery. They go to church, pray for the soul of the dead and later go to the bull fight, the theatre, or the cabaret.

These festivities of the dead seem to us curious and grotesque but the Mexican, who has suffered much, has no fear of death. He accepts it without terror or repugnance.

The sophomore class met yesterday and discussed plans for a class party to be given Friday night at the gym. The class president, Paul Harrel, appointed a committee composed of Eunice Mae Dyson, Odessa Cruce, Helen Dyson, Roy Moore and Elwin Zell to make plans for the event. They have a class of 43 members.

HOME EC. NEWS

The home ec. I class is rather small because it was cut down so much the first of the year. The girls who are taking home ec. I are learning and having a very nice time. The home ec. I girls have already handed in their pillow cases, and are working on their underwear problem; and are those girls going to feel smart when they get those little "red pajamas" finished? The home ec. I girls have covered a dressing screen with flowered cretonne and made three machine covers to match. They have also covered the ironing board that is built in the cabinet. One member of the class was real industrious and took the window curtains home and laundered them.

The home ec. II class is about twice as large as the home ec. I class. Home Ec. II is taking up cooking this semester. During the study of food serving the girls prepared and served meals in the home ec. room. On Tuesday, Oct. 2, Alma Gober, Odie Mae Porter, Ola Mae Baird and Marcie Slaughter served Mr. and Mrs. Blankinship. Wednesday, Oct. 3, Ina Zell, Venita McCain, Margaret, Seedig, Rosa Mae Tubbs, Bulah Brewer, Arlie Lee, Susie Sims and Clevel Lamon served the trustees. Thursday, Oct. 4, Rena Mae Whorton, Louise Biggers, Ona Lee Brown and Wilma Robinson served Mrs. Harris, Miss Simpson, Mr. Fowler and Mr. Knowles. As to results of the meals those served can testify to that.

The girls have been studying public meal service. The girls divided into four groups and served lunches to the high school students the last four days of last week. Proceeds will go to pay our home ec. food bill.

The home ec. girls plan to serve food at the annual basketball tournament this year.

Both classes organized a Home Ec. club some time in the latter part of September and elected officers as follows:

President, Eunice Dyson; vice president, Susie Sims; secretary and treasurer, Margaret Seedig; reporter, Dora Goodnight.

Mildred Eubanks was elected chairman of social committee.

The girls decided to have two meetings each six weeks, one for a social affair and the other for the purpose of doing needlecraft work. It was voted that each girl should pay dues of 10 cents a month for the purpose of buying material for the needlecraft work. By the way, it is past time for those dues to be in and they are not all paid; girls, let's try to pay them so that an order can be sent off for material for the Christmas bazaar the girls are going to sponsor.

Members of the club assembled Thursday night, Oct. 17, for a candy party. Among the candies made were chocolate fudge, taffy, caramel, divinity fudge, butterscotch and lollypops. Some were successful and few were failures, but all were eaten. Mrs. Hinson's radio furnished music for the affair. Everyone reported a grand time and adjourned at 10:30 o'clock.

"Wanta" Go Up!

The elevator and the alarm clock have done more than any other inventions to help men up in the world.

Whew! Isn't One Enough?

It is rumored that R. L. has found a girl from Clarksville that he likes extremely well.

SERVICE FEATURES OF THE LEAGUE PRESS CONFERENCE

Part of the service of the Inter-scholastic League Press conference is as follows:

Mimeographed pamphlets dealing with various phases of high school journalism. These pamphlets are issued about five times a year and offer instruction on some phases in which Texas high school papers are weak. Pamphlets are under preparation for the coming year on sports writing, feature writing, and new-feature writing. Other subjects will be selected later. Last year, the conference issued four pamphlets, dealing with the writing of various kinds of columns.

Instruction and criticism offered through the "High School Press" column in the Leaguer.

Information bureau for matters concerning high school journalism and school papers.

Much of the work of the Inter-scholastic League Press conference consists in helping individual sponsors and editors solve problems faced with their paper. Last year the conference answered 300 letters dealing with such problems.

Serving as a clearing house for the best ideas developed by Texas papers so these ideas are passed on to editors of all our member papers.

Stimulating interest among staff members of papers published twice a month or more often, by conducting a series of journalism contests for them and holding a state journalism contest.

Stimulating interest among staff members of all papers by holding a state convention in Austin in the Spring.

The Fish Pond

Enrollment of the freshman class has been lowered greatly since cotton picking began.

If you want to know about the show Saturday night, ask Thressa and Dora.

Mr. and Mrs. Blankinship, the freshmen sponsors, attended the homecoming at Canyon Saturday.

There has been several failures in some freshman subjects and an attempt is being made to raise them.

We wonder if the freshmen have all their books covered.

Ask Eileen why she likes cowboy boots.

The freshman-sophomore football squad, at least are getting a lot of practice.

Mildred: "Am I an alto or a soprano?" Mrs. Blankinship: "Neither, child, you're a freshman."

Ask Glen who he and his companions went to see Sunday.

Several beneficial business trips have been made by the Junior Business class. They were to the post-office, telephone office and telegraph office. Valuable information was given by the head of each firm.

Ask Mildred what kind of Hallo-we'en gift she received between 12:30 and 2:30, Thursday night and Friday morning.

ABER AND JABER

Mr. Fowler: "What is more pleasant than a cold bath before breakfast?"

Travis: "No cold bath before breakfast."

We wonder what happened to Edd after the football game at Lefors Friday night?

Walter Brannon and R. L. Dunn are both secretly in love with Margaret Johnson, but it seems that R. L. can't keep a secret.

We certainly almost lost Horsie Gordon the other night at Lefors. The Pep Squad nearly carried him away.

Nell Bartram: "Well, have you decided on what business you're going into?"

Charles Hix: "Well, I've a good mind to be a traveling salesman."

Nell: "You certainly have! It's simply crammed with dirty stories!"

A. B. Crump: "My sister has a wooden leg."

Bill Bartram: "That ain't nothing. My sister has a cedar chest."

(Mrs. Blankinship's contribution to this column was found on Edd Dart's English paper): "The people of the Age of Dryden and Pope thought they were smarter than the people of Shakespeare's age, but I think they were dumber."

Wilbur, we'll have less of this running into three foot ditches! It's extremely dangerous!

SENIORS

"Here, let me see that card!"
"Which printing do you think is the prettiest?"

"I like this the best, don't you?"
"Where is that card, I haven't seen it yet."

"I don't like number 28 because people can't read it very easily, and I want people to know who I am."

These are some of the remarks made by different seniors when they were trying to decide what type of printing they wanted on their cards and invitations. The Inter-Collegiate Press, Kansas City, Mo., wants the class to get their order in this week. After much discussion it was finally decided that each student could choose the type of printing that he or she wanted. Several different kinds were selected.

"Has the mail come in yet?" "Will those rings ever come?" The seniors are very anxious for their rings to come in. They are expected to be here some time this week.

SENIOR CLASS PARTY

The senior class enjoyed a Hallo-we'en party given at the home economics room in the high school on Oct. 31. Everyone joined in on the candy making. After several games were played, the candy was eaten. Everyone reported an enjoyable evening.

L. F. SHEFFEY TO LECTURE

Supt. Blankinship has invited L. F. Sheffey to speak to the Mobeetie school on local history, and Sheffey has kindly consented to do so. Sheffey is the head of the history department in the West Texas State Teachers' college at Canyon, and is conducting a Texas History Extension course in Wheeler at the present. He has made an intensive study of the history of the Pan-handle and has edited a pamphlet on Mobeetie, the Capital of the Panhandle. The lecture is sure to be interesting as well as educational.

The Texas history class, which is sponsoring this feature under the leadership of Blankinship, extends a cordial invitation to the Blue Bonnet club which has been making a special study of local history. All others of the community who are interested in the subject of local history are invited to listen in with us.

Watch the paper for the date of the lecture.

Five Students In N. Y. A.

Five students have been selected for the N. Y. A. jobs given to Mobeetie high school. These students have been selected for their ability as well as their need. Each student must make good grades and no student who is failing is eligible. The five students are Betty Elder, Fern Myers, Viola Tubbs, Travis Patterson and Jarvis Ridgway.

Happenings of Interest by and for Home Demonstration Club Women of the County.

The Wheeler 4-H club went on an inspection tour Wednesday, Nov. 6. Leaving the school house at 12 we arrived at the home of C. R. Flynt about 12:15 where we inspected the closet which Helen made in her wardrobe demonstration two years ago. After this we went to Mrs. F. D. Ferguson's where an inspection was made of the products she has prepared during the past year. On her shelves were fruits, vegetables, pickles, and soups. There were also exhibited sweet potatoes, popcorn, pumpkins and dried peas and beans. After our inspection was completed we were served hot cocoa. A few games were played, after which we motored back to Wheeler in the school bus.

Those enjoying the trip were: Elva Willard, Jonnie Faye Templeton, Lombre Brazil, Silvia Louise Ficke, Juanita Griffin, Martha Jane Shipman, Willie Dee Lawrence, Caroline McBee, Norma D. Robinson, Elsie Newkirk, Norma Webb, Otha June Cummings, Leolde Revious, Presly Guynes, Viola Lamb, Alice Moran, Winona Reed, Willa Mae Browning, Mary Helen Jones, Margie Mary Mullins, Mary Nell Burke, Francis Company, Helen Flynt and Ruth and Joyce Faust.—RUTH FAUST, Reporter.

"Educate your taste to a variety of foods," said Mrs. Brady Meadows of the Gageby Home Demonstration club in the home of Mrs. J. E. Dodd, Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 22.

We may educate our tastes in preparing foods in different ways. A talk on "Foods Essential to Growth," was given by Mrs. Dodd.

New officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Farmer Hefley; vice president, Mrs. J. E. Dodd; secretary, Mrs. Lawlis Pace; reporter, Mrs. Brady Meadows; parliamentarian, Mrs. Clyde Meek, and delegate to council, Mrs. J. G. Haralson.

Refreshments were served to four members and the hostess. The next meeting will be Nov. 12. Visitors are welcome.

The Wheeler Home Demonstration club and several guests made a tour Wednesday and visited the homes of all the club members who have been demonstrators since 1927. They also visited Mrs. Jess Crowder and Mrs. J. E. Willard.

At the noon hour a covered dish luncheon was enjoyed at the home of the pantry demonstrator, Mrs. F. D. Ferguson, who was honored with a handkerchief shower as she is moving to Pampa to make her home.

During the business meeting the following officers were elected: Mrs. J. H. Watts, president; Mrs. O. O.

Green Tomato Pie Recipe

Green tomatoes have practically the same food values as ripe red tomatoes, says the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. They make a most tempting dish when fried, or stuffed, or made into preserves, or pickles, or pie. Since the season is practically past for tomatoes to ripen on the vine, gather all you have and put in the pantry to let ripen or to use green. They can also be made into mincemeat.

Try this green tomato pie: 4 or 5 medium-sized green tomatoes, 1/2 lemon sliced very thin, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 tablespoons corn starch, 3-4 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon butter.

Slice the tomatoes. Heat slowly in a sauce pan with the sugar, lemon, salt and spices, until the tomatoes are tender. Add a little water if the tomatoes are not juicy. Melt the butter and combine with the cornstarch, and cook until the cornstarch does not taste raw. Line a pie tin with pastry and bake this crust in a moderately hot oven until a delicate color appears. Put the tomato filling into this baked crust. Moisten the edge, and press the upper crust firmly over the edge of the baked lower crust. Bake until the upper crust is brown.

Kellerville 4-H Club Meets

The second meeting of the Kellerville 4-H club was held at the school house Oct. 17. The lesson subject was table etiquette. Problems in proper service and preparing an attractive table were discussed. Dish towels which had been made were inspected and graded.

Miss Jones, our leader, instructed the members in the opening prayer, the club motto and pledge.

At the first meeting an election of officers was held, as follows: President, June Blackerby; vice president, Mary Jane Coffin; secretary, Elwanda Brock; asst. sec., Reba Leverette; song leader, Bonny Cumby; reporter, Norma J. Carter. The club has 31 members.

The lesson on Friday, Nov. 1, was a discussion of wild animals. Our dish towels were to be completed by that date.—NORMA JEAN CARTER, Reporter.

BITS OF EARLY-DAY HISTORY ABOUT TEXAS

(This is one of a series of articles taken from the Bexar archives at the University of Texas. This collection, considered the greatest single historical treasure of the North American continent, has been catalogued and is now being translated by the university and supplied to the press for publication.)

SERIES I, NO. 40

Forceful entry into Texas had repeatedly ended in disaster; therefore, the Anglo-Americans commenced a peaceful invasion of the coveted territory of Texas. Nolan and his men, who entered Texas with the excuse of capturing wild stock were cornered and captured or killed by the king's troops. The Gutierrez-McGee expedition, although successful for a few months, was thoroughly annihilated near San Antonio. The intrepid Perry was surrounded and cut to pieces near Goliad. Lastly, Dr. James Long's fiasco convinced the altruistic lovers of freedom that the king of Spain did not welcome their overtures of friendship. Consequently, when Moses Austin conceived the idea of colonizing Texas, he went about it in a totally different way, it is shown in records in the Bexar Archives of the University of Texas library.

Moses Austin was born in Durham, Conn. While still young, he moved to Philadelphia. There he was employed by a prominent firm; and soon afterwards, he was transferred to Richmond, Va. While in Philadelphia, Austin had married Miss Maria Brown of Morris County, N. J. A few years later he moved to Wythe county, in southwestern Virginia, and established himself there as the manager of some lead mines belonging to his firm. These mines, however, were not productive.

Having heard favorable reports from "Upper Louisiana," or Missouri, in 1796 he made a prospecting trip to that section. Austin was pleased with the prospects offered by Upper Louisiana, and decided to move there. Consequently, he applied for and obtained a grant of land from the Spanish government. To do this, of course, he had to become a Spanish subject. With the consummation of the Louisiana Purchase, however, Austin found himself again within the territory of the United States.

Austin's mining business brought him prosperity; but the failure of the Bank of St. Louis, in which he was a stockholder, took away his fortune. He was now ready for a new venture.

Early in 1819 Moses Austin and his son Stephen decided to establish a colony in Texas. Stephen spent most of the years 1819 and 1820 in Arkansas Territory. In the summer of 1820 it was agreed that Moses Austin should go to San Antonio, Texas, to open negotiations for the proposed colony. In the fall of the same year Moses Austin reached San Antonio and attempted to explain his plan for colonization of Texas to Don Antonio Martinez, governor of the Province of Texas, who would not listen to him because he had received strict orders from the commandant general not to allow any Anglo-Americans to settle in Spanish territory.

Greatly disappointed, Austin was about to start back when he chanced to meet the Baron de Bastrop, whom he had met once before in New Orleans. The baron, who has been called "the god-father of Texas," immediately interposed for Austin.

As a result of his timely assistance, Governor Martinez and the ayuntamiento of San Antonio jointly approved Austin's plan, and forwarded the petition for colonization to the authorities at Monterey.

The representative of the province took up the matter in Monterey, and succeeded in getting approval of Austin's colonizing scheme. The original letter reporting this fact is found in the Bexar Archives. The following is a translation of this welcome message, addressed to Governor Colonel Antonio Martinez, and dated Monterey, Jan. 17, 1821:

"Dear Sir:
"I have kept in mind the needs of that province in every meeting we have had. Inasmuch as I have promised you and the inhabitants of that province to try to provide for their needs, I have earnestly endeavored to do so. The superior officer has attended the request of the delegation for the settlement of families from Missouri (Missouri) as you requested. I have worked diligently to get the government to accede to the request of the interested parties. The permission requested is being forwarded in this same mail. Nevertheless, I am writing this letter in order to congratulate you on your success. Likewise I have obtained the opening of the port of Bahia de San Bernardo. On this date I am mailing this legalized document to the honorable ayuntamiento. Please let it be known, whenever the occasion may arise, that I waste no opportunity to insist on the acceptance of all the points of their memorial.

"I shall report to you any future developments.

"Ambrosio Maria de Aldatoro."
Unfortunately, however, Moses Austin was forced to return to the United States for lack of funds before he received this information. A few months later he received the good news, but by that time he was desperately ill as a result of exposure. He died before he was able to carry out his plans. But his colonization plans did not end with his death for his son, Stephen F. Austin, came forward and took up the task where his worthy father had left off.

Laurel and Hardy in Bonnie Scotland

Those ace comedians, Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, are familiar to and popular with theatre-goers everywhere. Their two-reel comedies are unsurpassed. Each year they make eight comedies of two-reel length and one feature picture which is always the sensation of the year. Their latest feature picture is Bonnie Scotland which will be at the Rogue, Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee. We will not attempt to tell you that it is good, but we will tell you that it is the funniest bit of nonsense that you have ever seen on the screen. So, if you cannot stand to laugh, we advise that you stay away. Also, a two-reel comedy, "Dame Shy."

Janet Gaynor

One of the most popular and best loved young ladies of the movies, Janet Gaynor, will make her appearance at the Rogue, Monday and Tuesday in "The Farmer Takes a Wife." This is Janet's best picture since "The Man Who Came Back" and "State Fair." Her leading man is a newcomer to the screen, Henry Fonda by name. You probably do not know anything about him, but once you see him you will be wanting to see him again. Don't miss Farmer Takes a Wife. It is a treat. Also, the Radio Rascals in a good comedy.

Hold 'Em Yale

Now is the football season of the year with Amarillo losing her Butler Field tradition and Pampa wondering why the Harvesters do not click, but with all eyes on the Turkey-day tilt. Then, there is Wheeler with the best team in years, fighting along in a conference in which they are outclassed but nevertheless doing a fine job. No wonder that old Lee Guthrie at the Rogue theatre is inviting the entire football team out to be his guest next Wednesday night to see a really swell football picture, "Hold 'Em Yale."

Why Not?

Wheeler is our community. This is where we live. This is where we must rear our children. This is our home as long as we live here. This community as it is today is just what YOU and I who live here have made it, and it will be in the future what we continue to make it. Is there anything we can do to build our community? Here are a few things to think about.

Now that we have a lighted football field and gymnasium, why not have a year round program of supervised recreation for the community? By carrying out such a program a community spirit of team work would be developed. Our boys and girls would not be left to find their own amusement. Old and young would learn to play together. Tendencies toward crime would be reduced.

WHY not grade our streets, clean up and fix up and beautify our houses and yards? Why not build a park? Why not have several small parks and flower gardens about town?

WHY not have a community forum? Such a forum would be a help in discovering local talent, and would give opportunity for discussion of community matters.

WHY not get behind the Boy and Girl Scouts?

WHY not give our boys and girls a community to live in that is free of questionable places?

WHY not as a community encourage honest citizenship and Godly living?

It is not any particular man's job to do these things, but it is a JOB for every man, woman and child in the community.

Wheeler has been growing long enough, it is now time to begin building.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1935

WHEELER, TEXAS

Wheeler to Lead In Home Ec. Meeting

Local Organization to Be Hostess for 14 Towns of District This Month

From 14 Panhandle towns, Wheeler was chosen to act as leader in organizing a Home Economics club. District No. 1 is divided into seven sections. In each of the other groups there were at least two towns selected, but Wheeler was the only one underlined in group 2.

The meeting will be here some time in November, but the exact date has not been set. Mrs. Gordon Whitener, instructor, plans to have the business session in the morning and entertain the guests with a tea at the home ec. cottage in the afternoon.

The other schools placed in this club are: Shamrock, McLean, Clarendon, Hedley, Memphis, Wellington, Dodsonville, Estelline, Mobeetie, Claude, Groom, Amarillo and Quail.

Last year the Wheeler Home Economics club entertained the district in the spring. This year the clubs were requested to have several meetings, with the first to be at Wheeler.

The bulletin contained outlines to be used in preparing the programs. The general theme for the year will be the Texas Centennial.

Executive Committee of P.-T. A. Forms Plans

Various Entertainments Planned to Secure Funds for Purchase of Piano for School

In order to discuss plans for the future, the executive committee of the Parent-Teachers association met Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the old library room. Due to the absence of the president, Mrs. E. W. Carter, Mrs. C. B. Witt, vice president, presided.

Since the organization has planned to purchase a new piano for the school, the committee decided to give several entertainments for the general public during the year. "The Old Maid's Convention" will be presented some time during the first of December. Other projects suggested were a Christmas carnival and a high school popularity contest.

This was the second meeting for the year. All members showed enthusiasm over the work for the coming months, according to Mrs. G. O. McCrohan, chairman of the program committee.

Those present were: Mrs. Roy Puckett, Mrs. J. M. Lawrence, Mrs. G. O. McCrohan, Miss Ruth Ewing, Mrs. R. E. Brazil, Mrs. Lloyd Davidson and Mrs. J. L. Gilmore.

Hill May Lecture Here On South Pole

Who: Joe Boy Hill.
What: A lecture on the South Pole expedition.
When: Before Christmas.
Where: In Wheeler.

Joe Hill, jr., member of the Byrd expedition, may be booked to speak in Wheeler under the auspices of the journalism class on a date to be set before Christmas.

The talk will consist of interesting incidents, description of extreme hardships and constant dangers as well as thrilling adventures experienced while in Little America.

Hill illustrates his lectures with pictures of the exploration. "Neeka," an Eskimo dog presented to Joe by Admiral Byrd, accompanies Hill on his tours and performs tricks taught her in the Antarctic as a part of the program.

The journalism class will receive 40 per cent of the door receipts while Joe will take 60 per cent, 25 of which he will give to the Byrd exploration fund. The share of the money turned over to the sponsors will go into the treasury of the journalism class to help defray expenses for delegates to attend the Interscholastic League meet at Austin in the Spring.

If Joe Hill's itinerary can be arranged, he will make an appearance in Wheeler at a date to be announced later. Joe Boy has been acclaimed as an excellent and interesting lecturer in the larger cities in which he has spoken and Miss Bernie Addison, journalism instructor, feels confident that the people of Wheeler will appreciate the opportunity to hear him speak.

GILMORE MAKES FRONT PAGE

Supt. J. L. Gilmore seems to be very important. By being elected director-general of the Wheeler County Interscholastic League at a recent meeting of the superintendents and principals, his name, with other names of important officers, appeared on the front page of the Prairie, a paper printed by the journalism students at Canyon, Texas.

This is the second time Gilmore has been elected to this office.

New Books Arrive for Music Students

A new literary book to be enjoyed by music students arrived last Tuesday. The title is "Artists in Music of Today" and it is by Kaufmann and Hansel. This book contains portraits of 50 present day musicians by Lupas and the story of their lives. It was purchased with money set aside from the library fund.

As Armistice Draws Near, Thoughts of World Are Turned to Rumbles of War

Will America ever have the occasion to celebrate two Armistice days? Do you think a world war will develop from the Italian-Ethiopian dispute?

Now that Nov. 11 is right around the corner, America and the whole world turns its thoughts to rumbles of war in Europe. The following opinions were obtained from interviews with the two history teachers in Wheeler high school, Miss Winona Adams and Robert Mayne.

There are many different views on the situation at present and probably no two individuals will agree on it. A majority of the people think that America is wise in her policy of isolation and neutrality, as they want to keep out of the war. People in this part of the country are steadily building up sentiment against war.

As for the problem of high school and college boys training in military academies, this is not thought necessary because America has a fairly large standing army now and in case of war additional soldiers could be trained soon enough. Boys and young men should continue to prepare themselves for future life by getting an education as complete as possible. From the standpoint of patriotism, probably it would show more loyalty if they were in military training.

People who ask to be exempt from warfare because of religious views should be allowed this privilege because if they do not believe in fighting they would disillusion the other soldiers against war.

It is the general idea that America should join in the boycott against Italy so it would show her that we disapprove of her actions but many contend that we shouldn't because it might draw us into a war.

The possibilities of America's joining the war are very few at present. For one thing, there is no real war yet, and if there were, America is not ready for bloodshed. If this dispute continues for two years there is a possibility that America may join in the conflict.

War is a cruel story, a story written in bright red blood of millions of young men. It is pictured by row upon row of little white crosses, with occasional memorial gateways leading into cemeteries, by veteran's hospitals, hopeless homes, and hundreds of examples of poverty and want. The price of war is misery, destruction and death. The prize of war is profits. The people pay the price and the greedy get the profits. Can all this be stopped? Can future wars be killed before they begin? What do you think about war?

Wheeler Announces First Tournament

Basket Ball Teams from 25 Schools Invited to Attend Contest to Be Jan. 3, 4

Wheeler is making plans for its first annual basketball tournament. On Jan. 3 and 4 a tournament of schools in this territory will be held in the new gymnasium, which will probably be completed by Dec. 15.

Invitations have been sent to 25 schools, asking coaches to bring senior boys' and girls' teams. Those accepting will receive additional information a week before the event.

"In order to have this tournament, people in Wheeler will have to furnish rooms or some means to accommodate those who do not live within a radius of 25 miles," states Coach Bob Clark, manager.

Patrons, students and faculty members have a right to be proud of the gymnasium which they are inviting their guests to use. According to officials, it will be the best in all the Panhandle in construction, floor and equipment.

When finished the dimensions will be 75x131 feet, with a 19-foot ceiling. It will seat approximately 700. There are two dressing rooms with six showers each which will take care of two teams. The new stage scenery to be installed rivals that of colleges and a new piano to be bought by the Parent-Teachers association will also be a valuable asset.

CANYON HOMECOMING DAY ATTRACTS WHEELER FACULTY

Homecoming Day at Canyon last Saturday attracted several teachers of the Wheeler school. Those attending from here were Supt. J. L. Gilmore, Miss Lois Kirby and Miss Frances Alice Clark.

This day was set aside for all ex-students of Canyon college to gather for a reunion. General Hugh S. Johnson spoke at 10 o'clock in the auditorium to the homecoming assembly. A barbecue was a feature at the noon hour and the afternoon's entertainment was a football game between St. Benedict and Canyon. A dance that evening closed the day.

FOR MUMPS SUFFERERS

Question: What must one do when he takes the mumps?

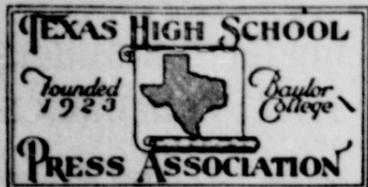

Answer: One must eat only three meals each day. They should be alike; sugar, one pint of vinegar and three pickles for desert. If these orders are carried out I will guarantee that if you do not die within three weeks you will be well in less than six months.

LEST WE FORGET

To youth when war only is talked of, it appears glorious. War symbolizes death—the sacrifice of a patriot for his country. It is noble instead of the cold-blooded calculation of war profiteers to inveigle the strength of the nations—the youth—in heartless, useless animosities, to line their pockets with money eked from munitions and from each life destroyed, it would be different.

A simple term for war is murder, a barbaric tendency among so-called civilized peoples. The toll of Death's rapier swung by Murder in the last war alone, mounted upwards of 8,500,000. But the soldiers can not be blamed. They were but commanded indirectly by the grafting politicians who accumulated fortunes through the slaughter of their fellow man.

The youth of Wheeler—the world—does not want war, but an opportunity to advance to a higher degree, the present civilization. Tomorrow's citizens, wish a chance to reach the peak of diplomatic international relations through continued peace and prosperity. They demand enlargement of the League of Nations so that all dissension can be settled through its meditations.

Yes, a peace treaty, dubbed the Armistice, was signed by international powers exactly 16 years ago Nov. 11. This movement has failed miserably, evidenced by the fact that two countries of the world are now at war.

The future men and women of Wheeler make this heart-felt plea: that a protective measure may be adopted whereby they or their children will not be used as "cannon fodder" to satisfy the profiteers; that the next Armistice Day will be celebrated as it should with the world in peace, and that through civilized methods this may be prolonged indefinitely.—B. M. M.

SAVE THE COW GIRL CLUB

Whoever said "A house divided against itself cannot stand" must have meant the Pep Squad. Anyway, it surely fits perfectly into the condition of that shattered organization.

The trouble probably began with the disagreement over the uniforms. That was finally decided, but by the time the whole suits got here there was practically no Pep Squad to wear them.

The Wheeler Cow Girls, as they proudly called themselves at the beginning of the season, have been slowly melting away into nothing ever since they were organized. Most of the girls still belong, there are plenty of members, but all the team work, all the co-operation, has evaporated. The girls just can't get together. Every time they try to give a yell there is such an argument that the exciting point in the game is over before they get started. They sometimes wake up to find themselves chanting, "hold that line" as the Mustangs run across the line to score a touchdown for Wheeler.

Why not make those cowboy hats, black slacks and gold blouses symbolize something? It isn't too late. A little tolerance from each member and Wheeler high school could have a Cow Girls' club the whole town would be proud of if everyone would do her share.—M. A. W.

Science Students Do Interesting Work In Making Experiments

"Although some students do not enjoy science, we are doing very interesting work in both classes," states Miss Lois Kirby, instructor.

There are 14 students in chemistry and 39 in general science.

The chemistry class has been studying molecular compositions in all forms, and sulphur. They have already made many interesting experiments such as learning how to change the form of glass, preparing oxygen, making hydrogen, purifying water and decomposing things to learn their composition.

The students don't even seem to mind their discolored fingers—in fact they are rather proud of them. They are now discussing noted scientists of the world and under what a great disadvantage they worked.

Members of the general science class have been "star gazing." They have been studying astronomy and were required to draw star maps. The unit they are now in is a brief study of physics, which takes up work and energy and the more simple machines. Some of the experiments and tests they have made are: Determining whether there is air in the soil and water, making oxygen, proving that carbon-dioxide is present in the air, and the purification of water.

A chemistry laboratory was completely equipped several years ago, but since the supplies have diminished greatly, it was necessary to purchase new materials this year before experiments could be performed. The new apparatus consists of test tubes, flasks, Bunsen burners and rubber hose. Miss Kirby has both classes perform experiments every week and she states that new equipment is highly appreciated.

The Sigma Gamma club, made up of students now taking science or those who have had one year, has set up as their goals the following: To broaden their minds in the field of science, and to be able to perform unusual experiments before an audience. The club, which meets three times a month has a very full year planned.

Witt Takes Extension Course

Principal C. B. Witt is the only teacher from Wheeler who is enrolled in the extension course in Texas history, taught by Prof. S. F. Sheffy of W. T. S. T. C. This class has been meeting on Monday nights but because of the Miami football game next week, it will be postponed until Wednesday night.

Home Ec. Girls Turn Carpenters for Week

Bang, whang, zowie; of all the noise you ever heard issue from the home ec. cottage the first two periods in the morning. The third year girls are turning carpenters, at least for this week.

It's awfully funny to see how awkward the poor dears are with the hammers and saws, but one simply has to sympathize with them when they let the great big saws come sliding down on their tender little fingers and out comes the blood. They have courage because after the wound is all bound and doctored they tackle their jobs again. The cause for all this suffering is small articles of furniture which the industrious girls are learning to make for their homes.

PEP RALLY ENCOURAGES TEAM

A pep rally of the business men of Wheeler and the student body was held last Friday afternoon at 1:45. Several of the men made talks to encourage the boys to play their best in the game with McLean that night.

The men attending the rally were Roy Puckett, Chester Lewis, Bill Perrin, Homer Pitcock, County Supt. B. T. Rucker, Rev. J. E. Kirby, C. G. Miller, Rev. Taft Holloway, H. E. Young, sr., Lonnie Lee and Dr. H. E. Nicholson.

GYMNASIUM ROOF SCHEDULED TO BE COMPLETED IN 10 DAYS

With bricklayers again at work, putting the finishing touches on the walls after assembling roof trusses, work on the gymnasium is progressing at a rapid rate.

The roof trusses, five in all, were put in place last week. Roof joists were added Wednesday. The bricklayers will complete their work this week and the roof is scheduled to be completed within 10 days.

When the walls and roof are finished, inside work such as building the stage, laying the floor and arranging chairs will be all that remains to be done before the gymnasium is completed.

STUDENTS, TEACHERS GIVE NUMBERS AT P-T. A.

Teachers and students contributed a large share of the Parent-Teacher program Tuesday afternoon at 3:15 in the music room of the high school building.

Mrs. J. L. Gilmore read the poem, "I Have Found Such Joy;" Miss Lois Kirby gave a discussion of the topic, "Is there a tendency to make things too easy for high school students?"; Orveta Puett talked on "Developing a Finer Citizenship."

Pupils of the second grade, under the direction of Mrs. Roscoe Morgan and Mrs. C. C. Crowder, furnished two entertaining numbers. The first was a dramatization of a few lines from "Hiawatha" and the other a little playlet entitled "The Seed."

Mrs. J. M. Porter mentioned pointers on parliamentary law and Mrs. Buchanan spoke on "Necessity of parent-teacher co-operation in helping the student realize that attainment comes through self-effort and sacrifice."

Business transacted included decisions to furnish money to erect three swings for the primary grades and to buy books for a play to be presented soon. It was decided that Miss Frances Alice Clark and Robert Mayne would furnish numbers for a Parent-Teacher association radio program to be broadcast from Amarillo.

The Wampus Cat

(With Apologies to Odd)

This and That: Could anything more have happened at the McLean-Wheeler game? It seems as if most everything was taken care of: a bitter night, mist (some said snow) defeat for the Mustangs. . . Though scarcely anyone knows about it, there is to be a classified want ad column in The Corral this week. . . Wish intelligence were sold by the pound and some one advertised it for sale. . . Junior claims he's getting to be wallflower. Don't despair, Junior, that happens to every popular boy, once.

Well, students are to know their Texas now, with a new state map adorning the wall of the study room. . . Perhaps the reason for the Texas Centennial should be explained. . . At least one student admitted she did not know. . . She was only the miner's daughter, but she was never boring.

Which certain girl friend of Jack's was he so anxious to double date with, so they could carry on their heated discussion? Mrs. Thomas Edison has married again. . . Though a lumber man's daughter, she'd been through the mill.

A popular song, though extremely hard to find, is killed off by the radio in six weeks. . . Finicky funny Fred Allen and poor panned Portland prostrate themselves before the mike on Wednesday nights.

James Passons' hobby is playing football. . . Mary Genthe collects snap shots. . . Jaunell Perryman's secret thrill is a uniform.

The mists the Panhandle has been the recipient of, could be likened to a "pea-soup" fog of London or the "tule" fogs of California—but isn't it typical of the variations of Texas weather?

"G-Men" have been given various appellatives; but mine is "Great Guys". . . "Tillie" Tillman has everyone taken care of with honey and sweetheart for their names. . . Celebration of Armistice day is rather a mockery with two world powers in conflict. Add your bit to the Rogers' Memorial.

The senior basketball teams have new suits ordered and with a gym soon to be complete, what will hinder hanging up some trophies for "Ye Olde Schoole" through their valliant efforts?

FACULTY ASSEMBLES FOR SEMI-MONTHLY PROGRAM

Meeting in the home economics cottage, the faculty of the school assembled for its semi-monthly program last Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Gordon Whitener, teacher of home economics, talked on "The Value of Home Economics In Our Curriculum." After the discussion, hot rolls, made by the girls of home economics II class, were served to the faculty.

SPARKS FROM THE CAMPFIRE

If you want your boys and girls to turn out well, see that they turn in early.

The best way to break a habit is to drop it.

A mule cannot kick while he is pulling and he can not pull while he is kicking. Neither can you or I.

Remember that "American" ends with I-Can.

You can't think on a low level and live on a high plane.

Caught in
The Lasso's Noose

Coach Bob Clark thought that if he made the football boys stay at home they would have to be good Hallowe'en, but he didn't know Lewis Cain, Ray Norman, Ocie Pace or Ford Newkirk as well as he thought he did.

About 30 spooks went down to Buchanan's to scare them, but they got fooled, too. Dippy, Lewis, Ocie and Ford ducked almost all of the trouble makers in some tubs of water. From all reports, those spooks won't bother four certain boys any more.

My! The high school students are so peppy when it comes to singing, they should be awarded a medal. (Do you recognize the irony?)

Grady Havenhill was out until 2 o'clock Hallowe'en night. (We mean knocked out after the Pampa game).

Junior (in English IV): We have something to write today and I ain't got no ink, no paper, no pen, or no sense.

Noise, noise! If you want to see some real carpenters go to the home ec. cottage and see for yourself. Why, only the other day Elva almost sawed off her hand. When the furniture is all finished and polished up, the girls probably will not mind a few scratches.

Harry, after unexpectedly making a better grade than anyone else in music, was very happy. He said that he had made the highest grade once before at Pampa and that he had loved that teacher ever since. Did Miss Clark's face get red? I'm asking you.

What is going to happen? Some of the football boys, and even seniors, stayed at home Hallowe'en night. Can you imagine it?

Students! You had better drain that water and pack your brain with sawdust. Jack Frost has already made his first visit.

Picture Louise Craig in such a hurry to ride home at noon that she forgot and wore her home ec. apron.

If those Cow Girls intend to be a Pep Squad they will have to get a little pep in their songs.

Italy is wanting to capture Ethiopia because she is like the old lady who lived in the shoe: she had so many kids she didn't know what to do. The old boot is getting so overcrowded that old Man Mussolini is looking for a place to put some of his people.

Wonder if the faces of the goblins and witches are as ugly as the original face under the mask?

Orveta: "I wrote a feature about a worm and it was never printed."
Carlisle: "Maybe it crawled away while it was at the printing office."

A little bird told me that W. J. went with the exchange editor of The Corral last Wednesday night. I wouldn't have thought it. Tut! Tut!

Students and teachers, we should arrange to send Imogene and Mildred to a singing school. They entertained the group that went on the bus Friday with their melodious voices.

HOME EC GIRLS FIND
BOUQUET MATERIALS
IN FIELDS, PASTURES

That there is much material for bouquets to be found in the fields and pastures now was proven by the home economics III students in their class work last week. The girls brought sage brush, grass, weeds, ferns, leaves and flowers, which they arranged in lovely and colorful bouquets. The class also studied preservation, care and beauty of flowers.

One way of making a beautiful bouquet suggested was: take sage brush, fern, some colorful flower, Johnson grass and leaves and arrange them loosely and bushily. Now stand back and admire them—other people will.

Jack Frost Blows Breath Over Earth

At last Jack Frost has been loosened from the bonds that were holding him. He has painted old Mother Earth with his frosty breath. Old Jack Frost has caused the flowers to wilt and the old heating stove to be brought down from the attic. He has made it possible for old man snow to sprinkle his white flakes over the brown earth and to cover the animals in their cozy nests with his warm blanket.

Jack Frost has come to make the grass wilt and to bring the cows lowing from the pastures. He has converted an ugly old earth from a beautiful garden of happiness. But after all, this old fore-runner of winter isn't so bad. He helps us to enjoy the old family fire place, to appreciate the warm cover and the soft beds. He causes our crops to ripen. He tells us that over a year has passed since his first visit last year. So three cheers for jolly Jack Frost.

RINGS, PINS, WRISTLETS TO COME LAST OF MONTH

A letter was received last Friday from the Star Engraving company stating that the deposits for the senior rings and the junior pins and wristlets had been received. The orders will be shipped some time between Nov. 20 and 30.

All students who ordered jewelry are urged to bring the rest of the money for the article ordered as soon as possible so when they arrive there will be no delay in purchasing them, according to Dorothy Burgess and Bonnie Adams, treasurers of the two classes.

Cordie Lee Farris spent the week end with Helen Sanders.

Did you know that Coach Bob Clark didn't allow the girls to give any parties Hallowe'en night? However, they had a good time anyway.

The home ec. girls made ice cream last week. It would probably have frozen if they had only set it outside.

Wallace (to O'Neil): "Even when I don't come to school but every other day, I learn something when I come."

O'Neil: "Yeah, so do I, I learn that I should have been here the day before."

Lowery is all swelled up about the Wheeler-McLean game. Don't get us wrong he only has the mumps.

Pals (pills) Dorothy Mae, Dawn and Rutha Mae.

SAGE BLOOMS

The Highway Man

The road, on which the robber came, was like a ribbon in the cloudy night.

Richly dressed was he, with his hat cocked on his forehead and lace at his chin. His coat was velvet and his trousers were doe-skin. On through the night he rode, until he reached the inn. The shutters and doors, he found, were all locked. So he whistled a tune and glanced to her window. She was there, plating a love knot in her hair!

Tim, who loved the landlord's daughter, heard the robber say as he started away, "Watch for me by moonlight," and he was gone.

Next day the king's troops came marching to the inn. They sought Bess! That night she was tied to her bed post, with a musket barrel at her heart. The soldiers kissed her and told her to watch cheerfully for her lover.

Bess tried in every way to loosen her hands so she could warn him.

At last! Her fingers had found the trigger! Then came the sound of his horse, so with one breath, she pulled the trigger. She had warned him, but too late. He was shot down in the road, like a dog!

Otha June Cummings,
Seventh Grade.

Hallowe'en Parties
Amuse Fun Seekers

Hallowe'en parties galore filled the streets this year with spooks and more spooks. Because Coach Bob Clark asked the boys not to break training before the McLean game, none of the entertainments were given on Thursday night.

There was a Methodist League party at the Methodist church last Wednesday night with 24 present. The members of the League and their guests were entertained.

The same night the senior B. T. S. Union of the Baptist church gave a party in the basement of that church. There were 15 present.

Last Tuesday night the members of the intermediate girls' Sunday school class of the Baptist church were entertained in the home of their teacher, Mrs. Jim Risner. Refreshments were served to 20 guests.

Ruth Faye Garrison was hostess to a group of friends in her home Saturday night. Decorations accented Hallowe'en. The 13 guests present made candy and popped corn.

Orveta Puet entertained a group of friends in her home Monday night with a party. Games were played at four tables. At a late hour refreshments were served to 16 guests.

Sixth Grade Hears Houston's Life

Mrs. G. O. McCrohan is reading "The Raven," Marquis James' life of Sam Houston, to her sixth grade Texas history class. In addition to learning interesting facts about Houston's life, the students are gaining information about customs and habits of the people during that period.

Harry Clay was in Shamrock Saturday.

Lowery Deering is absent from school with the mumps, and will not be able to play in the football game Monday night against Miami.

Fisher Discusses Russia at Banquet

At the Lewis cafe last Thursday night, a meeting was held for the superintendents and principals of Wheeler county. Supt. R. B. Fisher of Pampa, gave an interesting discussion on "The Social and Economic Conditions in Russia." Fisher visited that country in his travels abroad last summer.

Music Hath Charms

Music has a great effect on those taking the course. Those who study music even go about the school building singing little melodies and repeating songs that were sung in the music room.

Some say that people sing because they are enjoying the song itself. Others declare that one sings to concentrate. Probably all of these sayings are wrong, for Curtis Weeks sings because he is in love.

Huh, what about Wallace Pendleton?

COLTS

Since Hallowe'en is over, the grammar grade students are back at school with more serious problems to face. The honor roll students are struggling to get their names on the honor roll again. The mischievous boys were warned last Monday that the time for all foolishness is over and that now is the time to prepare to add more wrinkles to their brains.

The second grade has completed two number booklets, one reading booklet and a Hallowe'en booklet. Scrap books are being made in which all of the papers that are handed back will be kept.

The third grade is still studying about Indians and are building an Indian curio shop. This is an exhibit of the things used by the Indians years ago. The shop is decorated with pottery, beads, head dresses, tomahawks and arrow cases. The third grade is going to make a booklet on Thanksgiving very soon.

The first grade students wrote their mothers a letter persuading them to come to the P.-T. A. more often.

Some of the grammar students are still absent from school because of the mumps and some of those who have been absent are returning to school with swollen jaws as a result of this disease.

MUSTANGS LOSE TO TIGERS 26-0

Wheeler Eleven Goes Down Under Opponent's Brilliant Passing, Smashing Running Attack

Displaying a brilliant array of passes as well as a smashing running attack, the McLean Tigers rolled over the Wheeler Mustangs 26-0 Friday night at McLean.

The Mustangs outplayed the Tigers the first quarter by tackling hard and refusing to give ground. Breaking through the McLean forward wall time and again to smear the Tiger backs for losses, the Mustang line stopped their attack cold. With Ford's good punting and the line's defensive play, the first quarter was played in McLean territory. Late in the first quarter an intercepted pass placed McLean in their first scoring position.

Early in the second quarter Stratton crossed the goal line for the Tigers' first score. Stratton also kicked the extra point. Taking to the air the Tigers scored two touchdowns and kicked one extra point in the same period to bring the score at the half 20 to 0.

In the third quarter Wheeler started passing and took the ball deep into McLean territory several times. They advanced into scoring position in the fourth quarter only to have a pass intercepted and their scoring threat stopped.

McLean's fourth and final touchdown came late in the fourth quarter. The try for extra point was blocked and the score was 26-0.

Newkirk switched from tackle to end on the defense and did some good playing. Tillman, Tate, Newkirk, Connor and Deering were outstanding in the line, while Weeks and Ford were outstanding in the backfield.

Stratton, Cunningham and McCarty were star players for McLean.

CORRECTION

Through an error made in turning in the seventh grade honor roll last week, The Corral stated that Norma Webb, seventh grade student, was on the A and B honor roll, but she made all A's for the first six weeks.

COACH'S ORDERS KEEP BOYS OUT OF MISCHIEF

Good thing the football boys obeyed Coach Bob Clark Hallowe'en night or the same thing might have happened to them as happened to the boys of Grossett high school in Arkansas. Five members of the team there broke training and were held in jail for several hours for Hallowe'en pranks and the schedule for the rest of the season was called off.

This same thing might have happened to our squad if the boys had disobeyed orders from the coach. Just the same it didn't and are we proud?

Colts Are Defeated By Monkeys 26-7

Last Thursday afternoon the Wheeler Colts met the Junior High Monkeys from Pampa on the local gridiron. Outweighed several pounds to the man, the Colts put up a gallant fight but were unable to match the weight and speed of their larger opponents and took the small end of a 26-7 score.

Pampa started their scoring in the first quarter and scored in each quarter from then on. Wheeler's score came in the third quarter when they recovered a Pampa fumble behind the goal line. Young's try for extra point was square between the uprights. The Colts threatened to score several times during the second half but were unable to push the pigskin across the pay stripe.

"Although they were outweighed, the Colts never gave up and played better football than their larger opponents," said Coach Bob Clark, who is planning several more games for the team.

The Colts all played good ball with Tucker, Badley and Jolley outstanding in the line. Robison, Young, Havenhill and Puckett all turned in fine playing in the backfield.

The starting lineup for the Colts was: Jones, le; G. Havenhill, lt; Badley, lg; Flynt, c; Passons, rg; Tucker, rt; Page, re; Puckett, qb; L. Havenhill, hb; Robison, hb, and Young, fb.

G. Havenhill was injured in the

Miami Warriors Will Seek Revenge Nov. 11

Monday night, Nov. 11, the Wheeler Mustangs and the Warriors from Miami, will clash under the floodlights on the local gridiron for the second time this year. Having defeated the Warriors 6-0 in their first game of the season, the Mustangs are out to show the fans they are a better club now than when they met Miami before. The Warriors will be fighting to revenge the defeat and the game is expected to be a good one.

Coach Clark states: "Cotton picking and injuries have torn up the squad considerably and we will have a tough time Monday night."

Lowery Deering, first string center and captain, is sick with the mumps and is not expected to be in the lineup until after the Lefors game. Injuries and colds have kept a large part of the regulars on the bench most of the week and few are expected to see service in Monday night's game.

Wheeler's starting lineup was not available, since Coach Clark has not decided upon the starters.

SPEED BALL TEAMS TIE IN HARD FOUGHT BATTLE

A hard fought game of speedball last Friday afternoon at 3:15 on the football field was witnessed by a few girls who are interested in the sport. Because most of the girls rode home on the busses, there were seven girls on each team instead of eleven.

The two teams led by Bonnie Adams and Laney Mae Tillman were made up of those who could stay that afternoon. Bonnie's players were dressed in white shirts and dark skirts and Laney Mae's wore dark dresses.

After the kick off the girls on Laney Mae's side went tearing down the field to score a field goal, which counts 3 points. The next kick off gave the opposite side a chance to score. After some battling a goal was kicked, leaving the score tied.

Girls on Laney Mae's team were: Mazie Bean, Norma Lou Maxwell, Alvern Hampton, Helena Jones, Mary Genthe and Helen Flynt. Those helping Bonnie were: Margie Bowers, Ferrol Ficke, Gladys Warren, Lois Ficke, Martha Alice Wiley, Aline Buchanan and Wilma Riley.

PEP SQUAD GOES TO GAME AT McLEAN IN SCHOOL BUS

Attendance of the Pep Squad at the Wheeler-McLean game Friday night was made possible by taking school bus No. 1. Leaving the school house at 6 o'clock, the group arrived at McLean about 7:30.

Supt. J. L. Gilmore, Principal C. B. Witt, Roscoe Morgan and Miss Lois Kirby accompanied the girls. Harold Robertson drove the truck.

The Floydada Whirlwinds danced away with a score of 33-12 from the Paducah Dragons, but they say that their hardest game will be with Matador.

first quarter and his position was taken by Jolley. Rackley, Crowder, Forrest and Gunter also saw service in the game.

Now for some football BUNK. This team of Colts could give most any team a lesson on team work and good football sense. They have more nerve and play harder all the time than do most first stringers. And that is what it takes to make a football team, so the coaches say. These little fellows are going to be good in another year or two.

The Mustangs may not win all of their games, but I have never heard a word against the sportsmanship of Wheeler. I have heard no complaints against the fairness and clean playing of the Mustangs.

The Mustangs surely are proud of the new dressing room. The coach can hardly get the boys to leave the bath house for practice after they are suited out and they are always willing to get back into it after practice. Then after they have dressed (they take plenty of time dressing, too) they just will not leave. It may be laziness, though; you can't ever tell about these Wild Horses as they call themselves.

My nomination for an all-district tackle, Clifford Tillman. He has the experience, the spirit, and above all is the best sport and the best player I have ever had the pleasure of playing with.

Now, come to think of it, why shouldn't all of the Mustangs make all-district? They are good enough to.

One of the best examples of the old adage "Never Give Up" was shown Saturday in the Notre Dame-Ohio State game. The Fighting Irish lived up to their name and scored 18 points in the last period to win the game. Do you Mustangs take the hint?

That game last Thursday afternoon between the Wheeler Colts and the Pampa Monkeys surely was a good one. Wheeler lost the game but they played those tree-climbing insects from the Plains to a standstill.

"Monkeys"! Such a name. I may be a monkey but I am darn sure not going to brag about it. No hard feelings, I hope. What is in a name anyway? They must have lots to eat up around Pampa or they surely are dumb, because that team from the Junior high (so they said) certainly was big.

MEMORY LANE

(This Time Last Year)

Getting revenge for their 19 to 13 defeat two weeks ago, the Mustangs defeated the Pampa Gorillas, 12 to 7 Friday afternoon on the local gridiron.

The seniors entertained in chapel Wednesday morning. Several musical numbers and two short plays were given. The concluding number on the program was a song, with the entire student body participating.

(This Time Two Years Ago)

Playing on a muddy field with five regulars out, the Mustangs dropped a conference game to Canadian, 13 to 0, Friday afternoon.

The seniors will present their play, "The Antics of Andrew" the last of November. Practice began Wednesday.

IS YOUR CAR A "Sleeping Beauty?"

Phillips 66 POLYmerized Wakes up cold, drowsy motors

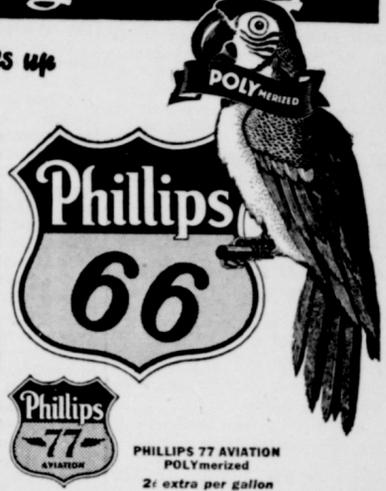

IF YOU wonder whether POLYmerization makes any difference in gasoline, your doubts will vanish the instant your toe touches the starter.

With Phillips 66 POLY Gas in the tank, your cold motor gets going with split-second speed. And does so every single time, regardless of the weather!

The reason? POLYmerization crams an extra supply of heat units and ultra-volatile elements into every drop of this vastly improved gasoline.

Result: Marvelously quick starting... exceptionally rapid warm-up... quiet, silent action... added pep and power... and the specific saving of more miles per gallon.

For convincing, conclusive proof that this latest scientific development in gasoline means something to your motor and your pocketbook, try just one tankful of the new, high-test Phillips 66 plus POLYmerization. It costs nothing extra.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

Club Member Serves Fine Buffet Dinner

Mrs. Tinsley, of Four-Leaf Demonstration Group, Shows What Can Be Done

With a buffet dinner at which everything served, excepting the fruit, was something she had grown, and a visit to her pantry, Mrs. J. C. Tinsley, 4-H pantry demonstrator of the Four-Leaf Home Demonstration club, entertained 12 members of her club and 10 guests at her home east of Shamrock, Friday, Nov. 1.

The menu included the following: turkey, giblet gravy, dressing, cottage cheese, baked beans, carrot salad, chow-chow, peas, potato salad, stuffed pickles, relish, home-made cheese, cranberry sauce, hot biscuits, white bread, pumpkin, banana pudding, two kinds of fruit salad, angel food cake, coconut cake, pie and coffee. The table was laid with a white tablecloth, with orange border, and a vase of orange and yellow flowers of the garden variety marked the centerpiece.

After the dinner and the business meeting of the club, those present visited Mrs. Tinsley's pantry, where she has approximately 50 varieties of food canned. Since she has been pantry demonstrator, she has painted her pantry a pale green. Four shelves 1x15 feet, four 2x10 and two 1x12 have been built. Mrs. Tinsley has canned over 1,200 quarts of vegetables, meat and fruit this year, part of which was canned for friends. She has more than 300 empty jars yet to be filled. On the floor of the pantry is a 10-gallon jar of kraut, a large can of dried peas and a basket of sweet potatoes.

On her emergency shelf she has a breakfast, dinner and supper prepared. The breakfast consists of sausage, hot biscuit, butter, strawberry preserves and coffee; the dinner of green beans, corn, carrots, chicken, peaches, tomato cocktail, relish and milk, and the supper of asparagus, spinach, potatoes, tomatoes, pear preserves, light bread and milk. Just recently Mrs. Tinsley sold two 3½-lb. cans of chili for 50 cents each and bought 12 cans of tomatoes.

The 12 members of the club present reported 5,034 quarts of vegetables, meat and fruit canned this year.

While at Mrs. Tinsley's, the visitors saw her young chickens. She has 289 remaining out of 300 she bought; one of the missing 11 being killed by a cat. When dressed, these chickens only six weeks old, weigh 1½ lbs. They are Buff Orpingtons.

PRAYER PROGRAM AT M. E. CHURCH

On Monday, Nov. 11, beginning at 10 a. m. and lasting until 3 p. m., there will be a Week of Prayer program at the Methodist church. The program will be worthwhile and those who attend will be well repaid by coming. An offering will be taken.

All ladies of the Missionary society as well as others of the church are urged to attend. Visitors are also invited.

A light lunch will be served in the basement. Members are requested to bring sandwiches and pie.

Car Owners Learning Semi-Annual Checkup Gives Best Insurance

Profiting from the experience of large fleet operators, automobile owners are rapidly learning that a semi-annual checkup of their cars is the best insurance that they can buy against cold weather damage and expense, Fred M. Lege, Jr., vice president said in announcing the annual "Winter-Proof" campaign of the Magnolia Petroleum company.

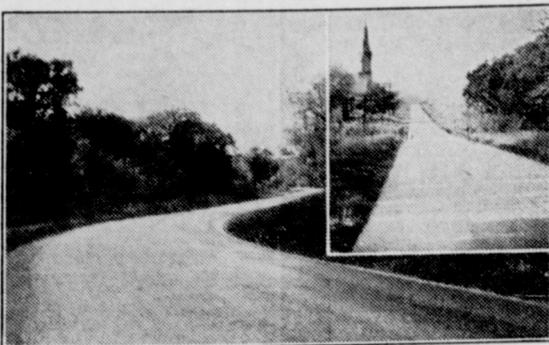

"Thrifty Americans have learned that it is good business to carry insurance that protects them against damage to their persons and their homes," Lege said. "They insure their automobiles against fire and theft, and often against damage from accident—and now they realize that it is equally as essential to 'insure' an automobile against the ravages of weather and wear by protecting the engine, the body, the cooling system and other vital parts by means of two semi-annual checkups—one in the Spring and one in the Fall.

"In response to this demand for motor vehicle protection, Magnolia dealers and stations provide what has become popularly known as 'Winter-Proof' service. This service, originated by Magnolia several years ago, has been growing in favor each fall as car owners learn that it is cheaper to 'insure' than to wait and pay a repair bill later.

"Magnolia's 'Winter-Proof' checkup covers seven vital points, the engine, transmission, differential, chassis, fuel, radiator and battery. Dirty summer lubricants are replaced with clean, fresh Mobiloil and Mobilgreases of the correct winter grade recommended by the manufacturer of the motor vehicle."

Miss May Bell Johnston had her tonsils removed today at the Gaines hospital.

TAKING THE FARMER OUT OF THE MUD

Federal, state and county highway departments are turning to the asphaltic or bituminous mat in their gigantic task of taking the American Farmer out of the mud. Smooth and durable, bituminous mats like those illustrated, are proving far more economical than gravel when investment and maintenance are considered. Their cost ranges from $1,000 to $5,000 a mile. The high type asphaltic surfaces are used extensively on the main arterial highways and city streets.

Asphalt Once Entirely Imported Now Produced By Petroleum Refining

Discovered by Ancient Egyptians Asphalt Now Paves City Streets and Highways—Its Purity and Strength Determined by Laboratory Tests

Washington—One more industrial product which the United States formerly imported is now obtained almost entirely through domestic manufacture. The U. S. Bureau of Mines reveals that more than nine-tenths of the asphalt used in this country comes from petroleum refining. Less than one per cent is taken from the native deposits such as the famous pitch lake on the Island of Trinidad, British West Indies.

Man no longer relies on Nature in his needs for asphalt. It is manufactured to specifications as exacting as those for gasoline and lubricating oil. Laboratory tests and precision instruments determine its purity and strength. Skilled engineers apply mathematical formulae to its use.

Asphalt, natural or refined, has been used for centuries as a cement or binder, a preservative or waterproofing material, according to the National Geographic Society. Native asphalt was used by the ancient Egyptians to impregnate mummy wrappings. The basket in which the child Moses slept in the bulrushes was waterproofed with asphalt and it is believed Noah coated his ark with asphalt to make it sea-worthy.

Asphalt was first used as a paving material by Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon when he decreed about 600 B.C. that the wheels of his golden chariots should roll over asphalt surfaced streets. Today asphalt is the cement or binding material used in almost 90 per cent of our city streets and about half of our state and local highways whose surfaces are of a higher grade than untreated gravel. Indication of its adaption to modern as well as ancient civilization is seen in the use of asphalt runways on improved airports.

Although the product enters the fields of sports, entertainment, fine arts, field surgery, electricity, building and flood prevention, its greatest use, and the one with which the public is most familiar is as a paving material.

Asphalt type highways vary from the simple application of "road oil" on the country lane to the very high type paving on arterial highways and city boulevards. A federal engineer said recently that "asphalt surfaces laid on an adequate base are equal to the highest type pavement and cost $12,000 less a mile to build."

Extensive use of the low cost asphalt type construction is being made by state and county engineers in the farm-to-market road program.

Chemical research and laboratory experiments are constantly discovering new uses for asphalt and improving present methods of manufacture and application.
