"Wheeler, town of friendship and pride."

Congratulations, 2006 Graduates! Ft. Elliott will graduate Friday evening at Briscoe's new gym. Wheeler Jr. High graduation will be Thursday evening, May 25, and the Seniors will graduate Friday, May 26.

Thanks to all the school employees and individuals helping get this edition of the paper together. It got to the point that some did not want to hear my voice when I called.

We attended the graduation ceremonies at SWOSU in Weatherford on Friday night and Saturday. Friday was the 'Hooding Ceremony' for the pharmacy graduates.

Ronal Wayne Jr. received his degree in the school of pharmacy.

At the 'Hooding Ceremony' Friday evening, I wondered if I knew any of the people there. As we were leaving, Hiram and Darenda Begert came up to me. They were there for the graduation of two former Allison students, Glenda Dukes and Nathan Rainey.

Saturday evening we had a reception for Ronal Jr. and Julie Schmidt. Jennifer and Greg furnished the house for some of our family members, friends of the family, Jim and Susan Schmidt (Julie's parents), and other relatives of Julie's. We had hamburgers, w/trimmings, hot dogs, polish sausage, salads, cookies, cake and ice cream.

Did not get to play cards Monday evening, we had to work on the paper.

All the family gets together, brings food and you know how it is, everyone talks at once! And Pastor F.R. Johnson joined in for awhile. Tonight we are all going to Reydon, Oklahoma for a very delicious meal together. Pastor F.R. Johnson and wife will be joining us. They are very special to us. He was always trying to make other peoples lives better. He was a very vital part of the bank in Wheeler for several years and a vibrant part of the Baptist Church and the community. He will be greatly missed. His wife, Dorothy, preceded him in death in 1999. Their daughter and family were their pride and joys. Cobby, we will miss you. Darla and family have lived in the Tuttle, OK area for several years.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to Guy and Sharon Thompson and the family and friends of Billy Thompson. He passed away Saturday at the age of 43. He was buried at Fairview Cemetery in Pampa under the direction of Carmichael-Whatley Funeral Di-

Jackie and Fred Thrasher were in Amarillo for Jackie to see two of her doctors. They both were very impressed with her progress. They even gave her a little break and she won't have to go back for 3 weeks. That's quite a mile stone for Jackie. Their son and family from Amarillo came and visited for the weekend. On Saturday evening Fred and Tony went to Oklahoma to do some fishing. They caught lots of small fish but only three worth bringing home and filleting. Jordan and Joshua really like Pee Paw and Naw Naw's new van. Fred and Jackie have really enjoyed it. The new Quest van has much more leg room and does better than their Ford Focus wagon did on gas. Jackie has only gotten to drive it Getting together recently for once and now it will be another family visiting were Richard and month before she can drive it. The Helen Dyson from Sayre, Buzz grand kids wanted to go for a ride and JoAnn Bresciani from in the new van. Jackie and Pat got Crawley, Wynola Sanders from to the van just fine and off to Pampa, Kenneth and Brenda Wheeler they went. Pat thought the van handled very well, even in the wind. When they got home they all watched movies. Fred cranked up the old grill and fixed an awesome Mother's Day dinner,

So glad to hear that Christi (Baker) Pettit is doing fairly well after some extensive surgery. Hope your soon feeling much better Christi and will be able to do what you want to soon. We are all anxious for Charles and Christi to get moved back to Wheeler. Imagine it will be sometime in July, after Christi gets released.

Monday the "Fun Bunch " met at Earl and Leola Farris' for an afternoon of canasta and visiting. Earl was very patient with all of us. Thank you for a lovely afternoon.

Mary Margaret Dodd enjoyed the Mother's Day weekend with all of her children. Jack and Diane Cody came up from Graham and John D. and Jacque Foreman came from Lubbock to visit Mom and C. G. and Rosemary. They all had a wonderful visit. The girls took on the challenge of going carpet shopping with Mom. They had a lot of fun together.

It was good to talk to Pam Thompson on Mother's Day. She sounded so perky. We miss you. Rhonda Gallagher is holding down

Our sister-in-law was admitted to the university hospital in Oklahoma City last Wednesday night with epileptic seizures that they could not stop. They now have her in a drug induced coma and they still haven't stopped. Please keep Doreen in your prayers that some of the new drugs they are trying will make a difference. But God' will be done.

I don't know who was more surprised Thursday, Michael and Brianna or us. They came from Yukon with their mother so she could deliver some dishes to a friends daughter and visit with Jolene Shreck and family. Michael called us on the cell phone to ask us where we were. They were sitting in our drive way. We were already in Pampa at the doctors office. By the time we were done they were out front. We got to visit with them a little. They went on to visit the Shrecks and Frankie and "Uncle Festus", Jerry. Frankie used to babysit some for the kids when they lived in Pampa. That was before Brianna was a year old. We finished our shopping and picked up the kids for a little while and took them for an ice cream

It was so good to see Clinton and Maurita Stribling looking so well. What a nice surprise. Glad to hear that Buddy, Tom, is doing so well and able to shed that "fancy" orthopedic boot and is now back in his cowboy boots. He feels human again. Maurita gets around very well after her hip replacement

Michael and Brianna stayed in Pampa Thursday night to have a pizza party and watch movies with the Shreck kid's and the Davis boys. The movie theater has reopened in Pampa. Hope they can get some good family movies. There is also an arcade and miniature golf beside it, opening up in the downtown area. It's supposed to be a safe place for kids to hang Orville Greenhouse was pleasantly surprised to get a beautiful ivy plant delivered from the Wheeler Flower shop. Her son, Doyle, couldn't make it home for Mother's Day but wanted Mom to know he loved her. Doyle called and they enjoyed a good visit. Doyle works for Diamond Shamrock in the Fort Worth area. Daughter, Virginia, and grandson, Miles, came for the weekend. Virginia is always so good about taking Orville shopping. They have such a good time together. It was a great weekend topped off by their attendance at the Baptist Church on Sunday morning.

We called Mom to wish her a happy Mother's Day in South Carolina. Bless her heart, she was fighting a hummer of a cold. She and Barb are both doing the count down until they will be back in Texas. They are no more anxious

We went to Cheyenne to visit with Bob's oldest brother, Ralph. Things just seemed so much greener over there. The grasses seemed thicker and the trees fuller. It's either my imagination or the red dirt that makes such a beautiful contrast.

Hunters Excited About Habitat Conserv.

May 9, 2006 - Quail enthusiasts and a variety of other wildlife. from the Wheeler the newest chapter of Quail Forever (QF). The new chapter will be called the High Plains Chapter of QF and is led by professional pointing-dog trainer and Wheeler resident Dale Gamer. The chapter plans to focus their efforts on the promotion of state and federal conservation programs for farmers and ranchers and to improve habitat for quail in the Texas Panhandle and western Oklahoma. The chapter will also devote considerable time and effort promoting youth hunting and conservation programs.

"I moved to Wheeler from Nashville, Tennessee a little less than a year ago. I moved to the Texas Panhandle specifically for the quail," explained Gamer. "I watched the quail disappearing across the southeastern United States the last twenty years. I'm not about to let that happen here. We have good populations of quail here in Texas, but that won't always be the case unless we protect the habitat we have that's creating those birds. I'm dedicating my time to the little bird that I love."

According to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, quail hunters in the "Lone Star State" have seen their annual bobwhite harvest fall from 2.2 million birds in 1987 to just over 700,000 birds in 2004. In fact, the bobwhite harvest didn't even reach a half million birds during the early part of this decade. A loss of habitat suitable to the culprit in the downward trend. Grassland succession to over-grazing, exotic grasses, urban sprawl, intensifiedfarming and the suppression of natural fires during the last hundred years in the loss of quail habitat across the state.

The High Plains Chapter of QF plans to focus their habitat efforts on The promotion of state and federal conservation programs available to farmers and ranchers. Of specific interest to the chapter are acres enrolled as riparian buffers through the USDA's Continuous Conservation Reserve Program (CCRP). Land enrolled as buffers through CCRP takes those acres out of production and plants them to native prairie grasses. Those grasses protect the soil resources from erosion, ensure water quality, and provide habitat for quail

Another program of interest to the chapter is the federal Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program (WHIP). WHIP is also a voluntary program for people who want to develop and improve wildlife habitat. WHIP provides both technical assistance and up to 75 percent cost-share assistance to establish and improve fish and wildlife habitat. By targeting wildlife habitat projects on all lands and aquatic areas, WHIP provides assistance to conservation-minded landowners who are unable to meet the specific eligibility requirements of other USDA conservation pro-

Joining Garner as chapter leaders are his wife and partner Linda as treasurer; Briscoe resident Donald Petrony as habitat chairman; and Canadian resident R.D. Wilberforce as the youth/education chairman. The new High Plains Chapter of QF plans to hold their next meeting at the Bar G Hunting Lodge located at 9301 CR 20 in Briscoe on Tuesday, May 16 at 6PM. The public and media are invited to attend. For more information about the chapter or meeting, please contact Dale Garner at (806)826-0761 or via email at brddg@centraniedia.net <mailto:brddg(¢ramedia.net>. To learn more about starting a QF chapter in Texas, contact Sara Bales at (479)200-4711 or via email at sbales@quailforever.org <mailto:sbales(@qualfforever.org>

QF was formed by Pheasants Forever (PF) on August 10, 2005. QF applies the successful PF model of empowering local chapters with the responsibility to determine how 100% of their locally raised conservation funds will be spent. QF and PF are the only national conservation organizations that operate through this truly grassroots structure. This local control allows members to see the fruits of their efforts in their own communities, while belonging to a national organization with a voice on federal conservation policy in Washington D.C. In just nine months since its launch, 61 QF chapters have formed in 22 different states. In addition to this new chapter in Wheeler, there are Texas QF chapters based in Lubbock and Dallas.

Wheat Seed To Be In Short Supply

in short supply due to drought and HEIRSHIP AFF.—James E. Davis increased demand, wheat officials Jr. to Wanda Lee Sailor Estate, 5- across Texas are requesting the State Seed and Plant Board make RDT-First State Bank fo exceptions in the certified seed program.

Wheat production in Texas is going to be significantly lower than past years, said Steve Brown, dimerce to Kenneth Campbell, et ux, rector of Texas Foundation Seed.

Consequently, certified seed production will be lower than what is needed to plant the acreage in Texas, Brown said.

Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Cooperative Extension, and some private sector wheat developers, have been working with the Texas Department of Agriculture to get the emergency re-certification clear-

The board is being asked to allow certified wheat growing in fields now to be re-certified and sold as certified seed, said Dr. Gaylen Morgan, Extension state small grains specialist.

"It won't cure the shortage in seed supplies, but hopefully it will mitigate the problem to some extent," Morgan said. "What we don't want is the seed supply to be so short that the seed price prevents producers from using quality seed for fall planting.

"We also don't want producers to be forced to plant unprotected varieties," he said. "So if we can keep the cost of certified seed down, which are typically the best yielding varieties, producers are more likely to stay with those vari-

Another problem, if seed prices go too high, is there more probability of violations of the Plant Variety Protection Act, Morgan said.

Most of the recent wheat varieties released by Texas A&M University, AgriPro Wheat, Oklahoma State University and Kansas State University are Protected by the Plant Variety Protection Act, Morgan said.

The most recent crop production estimate forecasts 35.1 million bushels, down 63 percent from last year's crop, Mosier said. The projected harvested acreage for grain is 1.3 million acres, down 57 percent from last year.

'That's the lowest level since 1925," Mosier said. "The grain production hasn't been this low since With reduced yields on the farm, this fall; they may not have enough seed to plant their farm. Timing of the State Seed and Plant Board's decision is critical, because re-certification by a Texas Department of Agriculture field inspector done prior to harvest, Morgan said. Harvest has already begun in parts of the Blacklands and Rolling Plains. Applications for re-certification have to be made prior to harvest and not later than May 31 through Texas Department of Agriculture. This can be an opportunity for producers who planted certified seed last year to sell their wheat this year as certified seed, instead of selling it for grain purposes, the wheat officials said.

However, the crop will have to meet the same certification requirements as the original crop, Brown said. Producers will have to pay their inspection fees, provide a map and supplemental sheet along with the forms and have permission of the variety owner.

One of the requirements for certification in Texas is that the producer either has to be registered as a certified seed grower or in the case of the seed dealer, he has to be registered as a certified seed conditioning facility, Brown said. Those are the only situations to apply for certification.

Producers and seed dealers with questions regarding eligibility for the re-certification program should contact the variety owner Rodney Mosier, Texas Wheat or the Texas Department of Agri-

Joanna participated in Oneighty Leadership team her freshman, sophomore, junior and senior years; classified with Mrs Judith McQuay her junior and senior

Her future plans are to attend Wayland Baptist University in Plainview. Joanna plans to major in nursing and minor in humor, and the application thereof.

Scholarships received, onethird off my tuition, then after two years and a steady GPA bumped up to two-thirds.

Teacher Joanna remembers the most, technically, Mrs. Zybach, "because I write the same way she does, so I'm always thinking of her when I write." Although Mr. Wilbourn's car achieved fundamental frequency. But Mrs. Mercer teaches me how to live for

One of my most memorable moments, we were on our way back from Internationals, I dared Kyle to eat an entire package of Icebreakers liquid ice, cinnamonflavored. Our car smelled like 17 different kinds of Christmas candles and Kyle couldn't taste anything for three hours.

A wish for her parents that as much as I have been blessed with my training, that the world be doubly blessed by my life, by others, and by God.

The surname "Jernigan" is not really Irish, but comes from the Viking Age (700-1066 A.D.) Norman Period (1066-1180 A.D.) in Britain. Also, natural redheads make up about three percent of the entire population.
