WHEELER NATIONAL FARM LOAN ASSOCIATION WILL REMAIN AT HOME-REPORT

(Editor's Note: The following report as supplied to The Times for publication is given practically verbatim. It was prepared by one who is acquainted with the facts in the case.)

When directors and stockholders of the Wheeler National Farm Loan association learned there was an undercurrent threatening to wash away the foundation of their association, paddle it over to Shamrock, and drown their secretary; well, the wind began to blow.

From all directions came the stockholders of the association. Charter members, new members, all members, came forth to fight for their own.

In the district court room here Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, were gathered a crowd of some 100 stockholders who knew what they wanted -and what they didn't want-and with the determination that the association should not be moved to Shamrock, but that it should remain at the place of its birth-in Wheeler. The very idea of moving the association was so unexpected and undesirable that the stockholders, with one accord, began to pro-

At the meeting, many good speeches were made. A number of old-timers who did not know they could make a speech, waxed eloquent. They set forth all the inconvenience of having the association so far from home, and the trouble and expense of having to go to Shamrock instead of Wheeler to transact their business

Not only did the membership resent the idea of moving the association, but voiced their sentiments in the strongest terms about the fact that if were moved, they would lose their secretary treasurer, Miss Agnes Reynolds, who has been with the association since its organization. In fact, Agnes Reynolds is the one who organized the group 13 years ago. The members complimented their secretary-treasurer in the highest terms and expressed themselves one hundred per cent in

After the mass meeting, the president, J. W. Barr, called a meeting of the directors at the association Those comprising the club as office and passed' unanimously a resolution that as the organization has always been in Wheeler that it so continue, and retaining the present secretary-treasurer.

Home Demonstration Agent's Office Gives Two Recipes for Manufacture

Processed and cottage cheese will be an entry in the meat show at Shamrock Feb. 23 and also at the Fat Stock show at Amarillo, March 11. The following recipes will make good entries.

COTTAGE CHEESE

One gallon of skim milk will make about 12 pounds of cottage cheese. To make small quantities in the home without rennet or starter the sweet milk should be allowed to set until it has a clean, sour pleasant Ordinarly this will take about 30 hours. As soon as the milk is firmly clabbered cut into pieces two inches square. Place the pan of broken curded milk in a vessel of hot water so as to raise the temperature to 100 degrees F. Cook at this temperature for 30 minutes during which time stir gently with a spoon at one minute intervals. At the conclusion of the heating, pour into a cheesecloth bag or flour sack to drain. This process should stop when the whey ceases to flow in a steady stream. The curd is emptied from the bag and worked with a spoon or butter paddle until it becomes fine in grain, smooth and of the consistency of mashed potatoes. The cheese is salted to suit the taste. about one teaspoon to one pound of curd. Sweet or sour cream may be added.

PROCESSED CHEESE

Drain cottage cheese until very dry. To one quart add 14 cup butter and 11/2 teaspoons soda. Mix thoroughly and allow to stand two hours. Place in a double boiler over a slow fire, when the mass begins to heat, add 2-3 pint cream. Stir constantly until grain is gone and the mass is smooth as butter, then mold. A little cheese color may be added if desired.

RETIRING ADMINISTRATOR EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

In a communication directed to The Wheeler Times, W. Veale makes the following statement

"Having been relief administrator of Wheeler county for the past 17 months, I wish through your paper to convey my sincere thanks to the editor for the very kind co-operation and for such publicity as we at different times have asked to be published in the paper.

"I wish to thank the commissioners court for assistance in establishing the county relief office in the old jail building, and for such assistance as they have rendered from time to time. I wish to thank those of the general public who have co-operated with me in this, one of the biggest jobs ever set up in this county "I also wish to thank those on relief rolls who have very patiently put up with us through all the past 17 months. We realize that we have made mistakes but they have, in most cases, been of the head and not of the heart. We further realize that while we have had some degree of criticism as being hard-boiled, we want to say that we are the friend of the laboring man and do not hold any malice or hatred toward anyone.

" I furthermore want to thank the gentlemen who compose the Wheeler county relief board as being, we believe, five of the very best citizens of Wheeler county, and appreciate the fact that they have spoken only in the very highest terms of our service."

"W. VEALE."

Mrs. Ethel Anderson, wardrobe lemonstrator for the Davis Home Demonstration Club, has one closet already to begin her demonstration, but she states that she plans to add two more before completing her goals set for 1935.

The closet that she now has is six feet long and two feet wide, with one large 6-foot shelf and two 2foot shelves. She has one extension rod for hanging and four hat racks made of glass jars and bottles. Where lumber was scarce she used heavy building paper to cover in between to keep the dust out. Since there are nine in the family and some more house room is to be added, she plans to add two more closets, shelved and built correctly, so that each member of the family will have a place to store his clothes.

Mrs. Anderson says: "I expect that pasteboard boxes will play an important part in the building of new closets."

Some people just will go modern in spite of adverse circumstances. "When you think you can't have a conveniently equipped home that's when you are making excuses for not trying," said Miss Viola Jones, County Home Demonstration agent. after visiting a real demonstration chen at a total expense of $2.65. This was used to buy material for the top, four boxing planks, four feet long for shelving, 224 inches of grooved framing and four sets of hinges. The rest of the material used was corrugated paste board boxes, pieces of tobacco boxes, pieces of scrap lumber found around the place, orange boxes and some cream and green paint that was on hand. Two large picture frames were used as frames for the bottom doors.

The bottom part of the cabinet is 51/4 feet long and 33 inches high with one shelf, making two compartments for groceries and cooking vessels. The top of the cabinet is for dishes. There are two large shelves and two small ones for glasses and dessert dishes. Both inside and outside of the cabinet is cream color. with the outside frames painted light green.

Mrs. John Wright said: "I am certainly proud of my cabinet and will be glad to have any farm woman come to see it who is interested in having one of her own."

On the contrary many people, especially children, have the idea that they may use the brush several times daily in a haphazard manner and get the job done. This theory and practice is unfounded. No harm is done by brushing the teeth often if a decent job is done but where they are only brushed at, several times daily, most of the effort is of their body there will be much less

Most everyone takes regular baths, wash their faces and comb and brush their hair regularly. Teeth should be treated in the same manner. Some of the most stylish people on earth, from outside appearance, are slouches inside the mouth. This borders on deceitfulness. If everyone could see what a dentist sees each day the majority of people would be scrubbing their teeth with Dutch Cleanser. The lips cover a multitude of bodily sins. Of course all do not come under this heading, but many do.

There is no occasion for anyone to ask or tell people to do something which is unnecessary. My admonition is sound and simple. Here it is. Brush your teeth as often as you like but never do a half-job. If they | - Commercial Feature Syndicate.

Why? Because The brush, or the rag, has little by doing this the daily accumulations are removed at night and the nightly accumulations are removed early in the morning. You also have a clean feeling in you mouth to retire with and to begin the day with. Artificial teeth should be treated in the same manner.

However, it need the brush regularly are in a majority which seem to be 100 per cent. Along with perfect brushing once or twice daily with their favorite tooth paste, powder or salt, a large majority of all teeth should be cleaned and polished by a dentist once or twice each year. Why? Because it is an impossibility for the brush in the home to remove or prevent all stains and tartar from forming. There are few cases which do not need cleaning.

My home remedy is one or two perfect brushings each day. Do this and you have done your part at home.

SERIES I. NO. I

(Note: The following is the first of a series of weekly articles taken from the Bexar Archives at the University of Texas. This collection, considered the greatest single historical treasure on the North American continent, has been catalogued and is now being translated by the University of Texas. This series of articles will consist principally of quotations from the documents, and will reveal for the first time what actually transpired during the century in which Texas was transformed from a wilderness inhabited only by savage Indian tribes to an independent American republic.)

SERIES I. NO. 2

In order to understand the long struggle with the French over the colonization of the territory of Texas, or Tejas, as depicted in the official records of the Mexican government for the province, or department of Texas, found in toto in the Bexar Archives of the University of Texas library, it is necessary to known that this contest had been going on for centuries before the coming of Moses and Stephen F Austin, with their plan for settling the region with Anglo-Americans.

The conflict between the French and the Spanish forms the basis for much of the bulky documentary archives of the Mexican seat of government at San Antonio de Bexar. It may be said without dispute that had it not been for the international aspect of the situation, Texas might have remained a barren wasteland until the natural over flow of population from the congested eastern part of America forced expansion. Neither France nor Spain was particularly anxious to send explorers into the territory but each was spurred on by the exploits of the other. Later, when Spain held Mexico in thrall and France had possession of Louisiana, each was driven to establishing missions and garrisons in order to pro tect their rights in the field

The French claim to Texas was based on La Salle's frustrated attempt to plant a colony on Lavaca Bay in 1685. Spanish exploration of the region pre-dated this effort by fully 150 years.

Following Columbus' discovery of the West Indies in 1492, the Spaniards colonized those islands, and continued their search for a westward passage to India. Their expeditions covered the whole of the Gulf of Mexico in this quest, and charted the gulf coast rather thoroughly. In 1519, Alvarez de Pinedo, an agent of the governor of Jamaica, mapped the whole coast of Texas. and sent back to Spain a glowing description of "Amichel," as the Spaniards then called Texas. This was two years prior to Cortes' capture of the Aztec capital in Mexico. These tales brought numerous exploratory adventurers to the New World.

It was in 1528 that Narvaez's party of colonists, destined for Florida, met with disaster and, attempting to reach the Spanish settlements in Mexico, were wrecked Nov. 6, 1528, off the coast of Texas. It is thought they landed on Galveston Island. The later famous Cabeza de Vaca was one of the small group that reached shore. The narrative of his eight years as the slave of the Indians, as a medicine man and a trader, is more or less familiar.

In 1541, stimulated by reports of Cabesa de Vaca's venture, Coronado made his expedition out of New Mexico over the south plains of West Texas, in search for gold. The following year Luis de Morosco, appointed as his successor by De Soto. discoverer of the Mississippi, on his death-bed, crossed Red River near the present site of Texarkana and penetrated Texas as far as the Brazos. In 1582, Espejo passed through West Texas and explored the Pecos River for some distance. During the next century several Spanish expeditions from Mexico into California and New Mexico touched Texas. In 1682, the village of Ysleta, which is still in existence today, in the upper Rio Grande Valley, was founded by friendly Indians and contained some Spanlards as well.

It was in that same year that La Salle, the first Frenchman to set foot on Texas soil, reached the mouth of the Mississippi. He returned from France two years later with an expedition to plant a colony on that river. He missed his calculations, and landed in Matagorda Bay, on the Texas coast. With his Indian-beset, disease-ridden followers, he established first a temporary colony on Matagorda Bay, then a permanent one near the head of Lavaca Bay, which he called Fort St. Louis. He attempted to reach the Mississippi by traveling overland, going as far as the present town of Nacogdoches, when he was forced to return. He then tried to reach the French settlements on the Illinois River, but was murdered en route. The supposed spot of his death being somewhere in East Texas. Four years after his landing, the Spaniards found Fort St. Louis

La Salle's inadvertent colonization project aroused the Spaniards to the danger of French encroachment. Spain had in recent years been awakened to the menace of other countries in her colonial possessions. The English had in 1655 seized the Island of Jamaica from Spain and eleven years later France had established colonies in several West Indian islands. The French invasion of Texas, immediately adjacent to the Spanish outposts of Nuevo Leon and Coahuila, was the last straw. The Spanish sent out expeditions to search for the French nvaders. Three searching parties were unsuccessful, the fourth, in 689, found the abandoned Fort St. Louis and took two of the few remaining survivors captive.

In 1690, Father Massanet, ac ompanied by military escort, estabished the Mission San Francisco de os Tejas near the Neches River, the first Spanish mission in Texas. It failed, and more than 20 years elapsed before real colonization was

French colonists in Louisiana, however, settled in Louisiana in 1699, and began explorations of the Mississippi Valley. In 1712, Cadilac, new governor of the province of ouisiana, sought to open trade with the Spanish settlements in Mexico, applying to the viceroy at Vera Truz. His proposal was rejected, but it opened the way for future colonization. Through the sub ross ntervention of a Spanish priest, Father Hidalgo, however, who hoped to stir the Spanish to another at tempt at establishing missions among the Indians in Texas, Cadilac sent St. Denis to set up a post on the Texas-Louisiana border. He was to seek out Father Hidalgo and urge him to do likewise

The emissary was successful. This step actually resulted in the opening of illegal trade between Louisiana and northern Mexico. In 1716, St. Denis, having made his way to the city of Mexico, was started back to East Texas as the paid guide of an expedition to establish Spanish misions in that region. Four missions were established in the region of the Neches and Angelina rivers.

Feeling that a half-way station was needed to break the strenuousness of the journey, the Spanish in 1718 founded the presidio of San Antonio de Bexar, with an accompanying mission, the Mission San Antonio de Valera. Thereafter. San Antonio became and remained the center of Spanish and Mexican actthe beginning of Anglo-American colonization, the only permanent settlement in the new province. La Bahia, later removed to Goliad, had been established on the coast to keep out invaders by way of the gulf. However, this settlement and that at Nacogdoches were of fluctuating population and were illy protected against attack.

In 1719, war broke out between Spain and France, and was reflected in colonial circles in Texas, French attacks causing the abandonment of most of the Spanish missions with the exception of San Antonio de

In 1731, the civil settlement, the villa of San Fernando, was added to the military and ecclesiastical establishments at San Antonio. This settlement was comprised of a small number of families recruited from the Spanish colonies in the Canary Islands, 56 persons in all when the colony reached their destination. This was the first civilian colony established in Texas. It was on the arrival of this group on March 9 1731, that the first municipal government was set up in Texas. The Bexar Archives date from this year, in fact, practically from the very day on which these colonists first saw their new home-San Antonio de Bexar, capital of the Province of

What Folks Read 'catchy" head. First in Papers

By Fay Ficke

"What part of a daily paper do you read first?" was a question asked many of the high school students and teachers. From answers received the first page news is read more than any other part of the daily paper. Before the stories are read, the reader, as a general rule, glances at the headlines, and when one attracts his attention, he reads that story. The Hauptmann trial has probably been read by more people the last few weeks than any other

About one-fourth of the students who were asked made the statement that they always turn to the "funny" page first. Some of these were juniors and seniors in high school. They probably have to work so hard in school that they receive a great deal of pleasure from this

After glancing at the first page news, many of the boys turn to the sport page to see what "Dizzy," 'Daffy" and 'Ray" are doing. The sport page is a great favorite with two of our teachers, the superinten- study hall. dent and the boys' coach.

The editorial page is read by several of the teachers, but none of the this year, making a grand total of students expressed a liking for it. 298 books for recreational realing.

Some teachers don't read it unless they see an "attractive"

Several students made the statement that they look for the pictures and then read about them. Two or three said that they never have time to read papers-have to study too hard! How cruel some of the teachers are!

Never ask the journalism students whether they read the paper -teacher does that almost every day. Sometimes the current event test papers show how much, or, rather how little, these reporters for the Corral read the other papers.

Coach Clark Receives Challenge from Magic

Letter Arrives Monday From 'Eagles' Boasting of Superior Ability In Boy's Basket Ball Team

> By Carlisle Robison Sport Editor

Friday night at Mobeetie the Mus. tangs will have a chance to prove their metal. In last week's issue of the Corral it was stated that Wheeler could defeat any team that plays on an outdoor court. Evidently other towns do not think so, for Monday Coach Clark received the following letter.

Magic City, Texas, Jan. 28, 1935 Coach Bob Clark Wheeler High School Wheeler, Texas

We note in the current issue of the Corral that you are quite boastful of the basketball playing ability of your teams-especially with schools who play on outdoor courts.

We wish you luck, but we feel you have failed to consider the real strength of the "Magic City Eagles." In fact, we feel that you do not have the best team (working on outdoor courts) in this locality and we're ready to prove it to you Friday night in Mobeetie.

Here's being after you,

Signed: G. T. Phillips, Coach. Mack Shirley, Ivan Burns, Odie B. Walker, Ray Norman, Troy Derryberry, Harold Harmon, Clyde Dwight, Bobby Graves.

This goes to show what other teams think of Wheeler's basketball playing ability. However, the Mustangs still think that they can carry out their boast. "Magic City may win but if they do they will know that they have been in a basketball game; they will have to prove that they are the better team too," states O. D. Connor, captain.

The Wheeler senior girls will play the Briscoe senior girls and the

"TEXAS JACK"

John Nance Garner. There is a name that thrills any Texan. Mr. Garner as vice president of the United States, holds second highest office in this great land. To other states he may be somewhat obscure. but to Texas he is always the great statesman. He is the first vice president elected from Texas, also he holds the distinction of being the only Texan to be speaker of the house of representatives.

He has been congressman, committee chairman, floor leader, and speaker of the house since he started 33 years ago. All this time his wife has been at his side and served as his secretary.

At his home near Uvalde, "Texas Jack" (as his friends and neighbors call him) dons his rancher's garb and takes life easy. He spends his vacations camping and hunting. He is considered one of the best shots for miles around and is always on hand when the local deer season opens. His method of waistline reducing is frying eggs over a camp fire at the same time keeping out of the fire and smoke.

Found! Thieves in School and Out!

Almost every day last year someone in the school building would steal something-a fountain pen, a bottle of ink, a package of note- to 6:45. book or typing paper, or some other little thing that is needed in school work. Probably this was caused because the student lacked the necessary funds to buy the article for himself, but sometimes the person didn't know any better. Many times it was done "just for fun!" This is immaterial-whatever the case might be the person was stealing. There are many other ways to get something than by stealing it. If the person could not do without these things, it is probable that someone would buy them for him.

When on picnics it is sometimes necessary to have a guard, one or two of the students, to watch over the food, even if the car is locked. On one occasion, the floor board was and several games. taken up and a raid was made on the picnic lunch.

At many of the school parties, thieves break into the room where the refreshments are kept. Generally this is done by two or three individuals who consider the act of person steals once and doesn't get into trouble, he usually thinks he can do it again and have the same success, if that is what it can be called. He is always found out, sometimes by his dearest friend. Wouldn't it be terrible if he were to be deprived of friends and associates? Many times this is the case. Sometimes worse.

When the party refreshments are 'swiped," the person is not really hungry; it's "just for fun." When he is caught and put in jail, the keeper doesn't care what becomes of the person. Dried bread crusts and water is oftentimes the food for every meal, or maybe a change to water and dried bread crusts. Then the individual longs for the picnic lunch or the party refreshments he has stolen.

Persons who steal may not care about their reputation, but what about their fathers and mothers who like to walk proudly down the street and say "that is my boy," or "that is my girl"? Their good reputations are ruined for life. Consider them next time when your fingers feel "sticky." and the thought that "CRIME NEVER PAYS!"-F. F.

After sitting there for what seemed an hour, although in reality it was only 15 minutes, the cork began to bob up and down.

We pulled on the line gently and there was vicious tug from the other end. We gave a harder pull and met with even more resistance. After pulling back and forth for some time we put all our strength into one great effort and brought to the surface an immense bass.

Sport Slants By a Mustang

I am going to start writing my column a little different this week. I am not going to say anything about why Wheeler lost their game in the Canadian tournament. I told last week why we lost at Mobeetie and the cause of defeat is the same in both cases. There you are, the whole thing in a nut shell.

Now for some more dope on basketball. This time it is about Allison. Now there is a school that has a basketball team that anyone would be proud of. Anyone who has seen them will agree with me, too. Allison is not a large school by any means but they surely do have a basketball team. The Allison boys defeated every team in this part of the Panhandle and have defeated Pampa once. If anyone should ask me where basektball was invented, explored, or discovered I would say at Allison, for they know how that game is played.

Friday night Wheeler will meet the Magic City basketball team on the gymnasium court at Mobeetie. This game should be a good one for neither Wheeler nor Magic City has a gym and neither has much of an edge over the other. The senior girls and junior boys will play also. The girls will play Briscoe girls and the junior boys will meet the Magic City juniors. Coach Clark states that he would like to see a large crowd out for Wheeler will get 60% of the gate.

The football boys have been having a tough time. I thought that the workouts last fall were hard but they were easy beside the practice the boys are getting now. It takes plenty of hard work to build up a good team. I surely would like to see Wheeler have a championship team next year. On Mustangs.

I have just about run out of anything to say about a gymnasium. I have said something about that every week so I can't spoil my record. I will just say that we NEED a gymnasium and will until we get one.

Seven high school students met with Miss Ruth Ewing, debate director, Monday afternoon to begin work for the interscholastic league meet. Miss Ewing, who debated three years in high school, discussed a few of the most important factors in debating. Out of this group debating teams will be chosen to represent the school in the county meet.

Those present for the meeting were: Travis Jones, Carlisle Robison, La Veau Cole, Bill Noah, Theodore Conner, Mamie Lee Starkey, and Myrl Jeters.

COLTS

In addition to being a magician, Coach Bob Clark proved to be an artist Monday morning when he entertained the grammar grades with a chalk talk.

With three lines Clark drew a soldier going around a corner followed by a dog.

Faces seemed to be his favorite pictures. Among those he drew were a face of a Chinese man, a face of a boy enjoying the chalk talk, a face of a boy not enjoying the talk, and the way Miss Ruth Ewing and Mrs. G. O. McCrohan appeared to Coach Clark the first time he saw them. The last two pictures looked especially natural, so some of the lower grade children said.

BIRD-CAGE was written on the sixth grade black board at the request of Miss Ewing. Malcolm Crowder was asked why he put a hyphen between bird and cage. He answered, "For the bird to rest on."

Coach Clark showed a chart divided into nine different ways in which an average 70-year-old person spends his life. The nine parts are 25 years working, 20 years sleeping, seven years sports and walking, seven years pleasure, five years putting on make-up or shaving, three years waiting, two years eating, one year telephoning and four months wiping the nose.

A boy fishing in the mountains and a scene in Hawaii were then drawn. Ending the program he wrote THE END and then drew a pig disappearing over a hill.

WELL READ SENIOR GIRL MIXES FAMOUS TOWERS

The idea! one of those well read seniors doesn't even know what the Eiffel tower is.

Tuesday morning in the English IV class the teacher was discussing something about a tower that Edward Bok established. Helen Gilmore said, "Oh! yeah, that is the Eiffel Tower in Florida is it not?"

Did that class give her a laugh? then she was told by another of those bright seniors that the Eiffel Tower was in Paris, France. In case some people have forgotton what the tower is, it is a huge steel tower about 1,000 feet in height. It is used to determine the variations of the wind at different heights. It is also used to find out the rainfall at different heights. Oh, but shucks folks, see Helen about further details of this one of the seven wonders of the world.

GEOMETRY PUPILS DRAW HEARTS ON BLACKBOARD

The very idea! The geometry students "hanging out" in the journalism room. It is evident that it was the geometry pupils because no one else in high school could draw such beautiful figures.

Several hearts were found in the room on the blackboards with letters on them. These certain persons seemed to know very much about the love affairs of this school because they placed such letters as this in the hearts: C. W. and J. H., C. R. and B. M., and several others not important enough to mention. There was also a little poem about an old romance that has been going on for about ten years. The poem cannot be published! Just because.

Robison Takes Leading Play Role

One character has been selected for the journalism play, "Who's Crazy Now,?" to be presented within the near future.

Carlisle Robison, senior, will take the leading role of Smooth, the crook. Results of try-outs for the selection of the cast will be announced next week.

RAMBLINGS ON THE RANGE

Dorothy Tolliver and Ruth Faye Garrison attended the basketball games at Canadian Friday night.

Arthur Burke and Kenneth Roscoe visited school Friday afternoon. Dorothy Burgess was in Shamrock Saturday afternoon.

Julia Lou and Wilma Tinney visited with relatives at Locust Grove Sunday.

Miss Winona Adams and Miss Bernie Addison were Sunday dinner guests of Supt. and Mrs. J. L. Gilmore and family.

Theodore Conner attended the show in Shamrock Saturday night.

Mrs. W. I. Joss is teaching the first grade for Miss Kathryne Bowers, who is ill.

A. B. Turner attended the basketball tournament in Canadian Friday night.

Earl Farris visited school Monday. Miss Ruth Ewing visited her sister in Briscoe during the week end.

CAUGHT in the LASSO'S NOOSE

Wonder why Fay wants to "sell" her boy friend? Has she met another "he's different?"

Since Marvin has become a "city slicker" he has been very busy especially with the freshman girls.

Myrl seems very popular with the boys. The teachers want to know how and why.

If Mrs. G. O. McCrohan had not moved when she did the other day we would have a dead teacher on our hands now. She stepped from under a heavy map case. When she was a few feet away, the case fell with a loud crash. She thanks her lucky stars that the ruler was on the other side of the room.

Cecil has done nothing for a long time, but now is the time to start on that certain girl friend.

There are in this school three boys with the same principles as the Three Musketeers. They are Ford. Wilton and O'Neil. These boys are always restless and want to go places and see things.

Why has Junior been collecting clothes pins? Starting early aren't you, big boy?

Funny how some people get their tongues twisted. Thus a teacher the other day in thinking of Maxilee and Capitola Wilson called one of them Maxola.

Have you seen any of these love notes floating around between freshmen students? One picked up in a wastebasket was gayly decorated with broken hearts, and protestations of undying love.

Won't somebody please compose a new song for La Veau? Everybody is tired of hearing "Man on the Flying Trapeze" and "Rain."

And why should the senior who occupies the front seat find it convenient to face the back while consulting Mr. Webster about a word!

A senior in the back row, too, seems curious about what goes on in the history room during the third period. Not on what goes on but in who stays in perhaps.

There seemed to be quite a commotion out in the hall last Friday morning a few minutes before 9 o'clock. Reason: Miss Adams was confronted by several students demanding, "Isn't this your birthday?

Maybe we bragged too soon about being able to beat all basketball teams in the Panhandle who practice on outdoor courts. Anyway Magic City is challenging us to prove our statement. Come on, boys, let's "get in Mack's hair."

DEEPEST SYMPATHY FOR ANNE MORROW LINDBERGH

Picture yourself as Anne Morrow indbergh, the mother of a curly golden-haired child of almost two ears of age. Think of the ambitions nd plans she must have had for her n. He could be reared and chooled so as to become as great his youthful and ambitious ather, Charles A. Lindbergh.

While the child was being cared or with loving hands of his parnts and nurse, he suddenly disappeared-kidnapped even when he nad pneumonia. Anne made many ttempts to get a promise from the cidnappers that her child was beng given the proper care and pubished her blue-eyed boy's diet in all ewspapers for many days.

Think of the disappointments and uffering she and her husband must ave gone through in trying to seure the return of the child and of he innumerable times that false nformation came to them as to the vhereabouts of their son.

Then after one and one-half nonths of anguished waiting to ave his little lifeless body returned o them in such condition as to be lmost beyond recognition.

Now after almost three years the olice believe they have arrested the aurderer. He is on trial. Try to magine the courage Anne must ave possessed to go into the court oom with the man the world beieves the murderer and testify bout her personal life with her litle child that was just learning to alk and toddle about.

She must be going through much uffering and uncertainty in not nowing whether the man on trial s the guilty one. Surely she would ot want him convicted and taken rom his wife and own small son if ie were innocent. And yet can her onscience tell her which is right? the must feel as Tennyson did when

"Break, break, break on thy cold gray stones, O sea;

I would that my tongue could utter the thoughts that arise in me."

WRS. ALLEN I. SMITH

WILL BE PROSECUTED Yes, Mrs. Smith has to stand trial n Friday of this week. Don't get excited, this will be only a mock rial held by the Civics class. Beryl guitar. Helton will preside as judge; Joe Puryear will be prosecuting attorev with Ruby Hefley as his assisant: Bernard Wilson, with Lois derholt as his assistant, will repreent the defendant, Mrs. Smith. ewis Cain is the plaintiff, with eonard Fulks as his chief witness: he defense has Vetha Carver as a witness. The jury will be selected rom the student body.

Mrs. Smith is being brought to trial for injuring Lewis Cain's nealth by assigning him too much work to do in English. We believe hat she will endeavor to prove that ewis' health has been weakened by is strenuous ball playing.

Miss Ima Scott, instructor in civcs, plans to present the trial in chapel in order to impress her class with legal terms and procedure.

Some students hope that Mrs. Smith will "get 20 years," and others that she will be found inno-

Texas Trucking Lines Hopeful for New Deal

Limit From 7.000 to 14,000 Pounds

Developments strongly indicating a New Deal for truckers broke fast in the capitol the past week, and members of the industry took on a more cheerful attitude.

Major developments included introduction in the senate of a bill to increase the payload limit from 7,000 pounds to 14,000; petitions from a railroad center-Big Spring -to the legislature and governor to hasten this load increase; recommendation from the senate crime investigation committee for creation of a state department of public safety; and a review of the first state. year of the trucking code showing substantial benefits gained by the industry.

Senator Gordon Burns of Huntsville offered the long-awaited and much-needed measure in the senate to speed "transportation relief." His proposal would permit trucks where now limited to 7,000 pounds to carry a payload of 14.000 pounds when semi-trailer equipment is used and each wheel has a brake. Trucks now can only transport 14,000 pounds to a railroad depot under the law.

Senator Burns declared this limitation constituted "a discrimination against ranchmen, farmers and merchants," and "is an undue restriction upon transportation of property and, if continued, will result in a material increase in freight rates."

He pointed out that the state is losing thousands of dollars in registration fees directly because of the 7,000 pound limitation.

The Big Spring petitions, signed by hundreds of public-spirited citi-
